ROAD DRAINAGE.

Our Highway Laws and County Highways.

From the Drainage Journal.

Of all the economic questions affecting the welfare of the farmer and every good citizen, there is none of greater importance than the construction and maintenance of public highways, over which they may pass to and fro in their commercial and social relations with each other. The world, we are told, is maintained by intercourse, and of all inventions, the alphabet and printing press excepted, those inventions that abridge existence have done most for civilization. Every improvement of the means of locomotion benefits mankind morally and intellectually, as well as materially, and not only facilitates the interchange of the various productions of nature and art, but tends to remove natural and provincial antipathies, and to bind together all branches of the great human family.

How often do we hear farmers discussing the financial situation, declaiming loudly against "corners" in the market, denouncing monopolies, or demanding reform in every branch of our government, seemingly forgetting that they themselves are a part of this government, that they are as much to blame for the shortcomings of our laws, and that right here at home many of them make bad laws worse by shirking their duty in regard to them. Where is the intelligent, thinking farmer who has given the subject proper thought, can deny the fact that the highways are in a deplorable condition, and that there is great need of reform in the manner of collecting and expending our highway taxes.

We are told that our highway laws are patterned after those in vogue in the feudal days, when as one of their various duties the tenants were advised to build and repair the highways. Wherever it originated, our present manner of constructing and maintaining highways is common to a large majority of the States of our Union and is a disgrace to our nineteenth century. Some of the European countries, England and Scotland among the number, are now blessed with fine highways, and of which they are justly proud; but history tells us that England was cursed with roads the counterparts of which are so common in the United States today. It tells us that it was about the year 1769 the people of England began the agitation that eventually forced her to repeal her defective highway laws, and to enact the system which today is her guide.

"The whole science of road making consists in furnishing a solid, dry path on the natural soil, and then keeping it dry by a water proof covering of stone which should form a hardened, smooth surface for transportation," but our overseers usually manage to build road beds which will sink in and retain about all the water that falls on or near them. The first heavy rain which comes turns these improvements into quagmires, and in the latter part of June the farmer, who is obliged to use the highways, can be seen picking his way slowly along while the wheels of his conveyance go down through the "improvements" until they reach soil that has not been disturbed by the road makers. July's hot sun dries the artificial quagmire and soon deep ruts and high hubs of hummocks are formed, over which it is dangerous to ride in a light vehicle, and exceedingly trying in any kind of conveyance. A railroad company has men constantly on its tracks, keeping them in thorough repair, but the wagon road has no one to take care of it—no mudhole is drained, no rut is filled, no hummock leveled, and when another June comes around a road is in a wretched condition.

After a century of failure is it not about time to change? That is what the intelligent men of the country are now thinking, and the question of adopting a better highway system is being agitated all over the Union. New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Ohio, Maryland and Missouri have each made changes in their highway laws during the last year or two; but that the reform may be thorough and permanent, there must be perfect harmony in legislation and unity in aim and purpose—good uniform system must be adopted by the States.

Before the railroads became so numerous some of the States built what were known as "State roads." These roads were paid for out of the State funds, and ran from one great market center to another, back and forth across the State, forming a network of highways that were far superior to the other roads, and that were powerful factors in the development of the resources of the commonwealth.

It has been suggested that this system should in a measure be revived; that all highway taxes should be collected in money; that the State should build and maintain the main roads—at least one or two in each county, the work to be done under the direction of a competent civil engineer, who should be a State officer and have control of all the State highways and bridges. Each town should have a commissioner or superintendent of roads, especially fitted for the office, who should have the supervision and control of all highway work ordered by the town board. All bridges costing $3,000 or more should be built by the State.

Often we find a town through which one or two large streams wind in such a manner as to necessitate the erection of a number of large and expensive bridges. Such bridges are of great benefit to the public in general, and it is unwise and unjust to tax one town for the entire cost of their construction and maintenance.

Congressman Kennedy, of Ohio, turned a tirade of abuse at large in the House Wednesday. He is a Republican and got mad because the force bill had been appropriately shelved in the Senate. In the course of his entertaining remarks he said that Senator Quay was the Judas Iscariot of the party, and then added: "The Republican party can not afford to follow the lead of a branded criminal. He has failed to justify himself, though opportunity and ample time have been given him, he remains silent. His silence, under such circumstances, is a confession of guilt. An honorable man does not long delay when his honor is assailed. He has delayed too long to justify the belief in his innocence; and he stands a convicted criminal before the bar of public opinion. Under such circumstances he should be driven from the head of a party whose very life his presence imperils. The Republican party has done enough for its pretended leader. Let him be relegated to the rear. It is no longer a question of his vindication; it is now a question of the life of the party."

The Todd county Enterprise was double number last week—and printed on pink paper—its size, multitude of advertisements, and general write up of Elkton and the county made it a somewhat "pink of perfection."

The census of the city of London will be taken April 5. Forty thousand enumerators are required to do the work in just one day.

WILLIAM NORTHERN.

THE BUCOLIC CANDIDATE FOR GOV.

William J. Northern, whom the farmers of Georgia have selected as their candidate for Governor, was born in Jones county, Ga., July 9, 1835. His father was a successful farmer, and the son was educated at Mercer University, graduating in 1853 with a declared taste for letters which induced him to select teaching as a profession in the famous Mount Zion high school, where he remained, though several college professorships were offered him. The school netted him an income of $10,000 a year, but in 1875 his failing health forced him to abandon pedagogics for agriculture, in which last pursuit he settled upon a plantation in Hancock county. Finding the letting of his land to negroes for a portion of the crop unprofitable, he began tilling the land himself, and at length discovered that stock farming was the only method of agriculture which was profitable. Mr. Northern was elected to the legislature three times and is now President of the State Agricultural Society. The nomination for Governor was forced upon him, and in the event of his election his past record justifies the conviction that he will make a capable executive.

Eight Convicts Escape from the Eddyville Prison.

The Guard Knocked Down.

Eddyville, Ky., Sept. 8.—Eight convicts escaped from the branch penitentiary here this afternoon at about 5 o'clock. Two of the men were engaged at work on a house on top of the northern boundary wall, under the surveillance of a guard. At a concealed signal one of the prisoners, a trusty, stepped quickly up behind the guard, knocked him down, seized his gun and pistol and then called to those who were in waiting to come on. Six prisoners quickly appeared at the foot of the ladder as it by magic sprang up to the top of the wall and over to the outside and to liberty. Redmon covered the guard with his gun until all were over except his fellow workman and himself, both of whom followed at once, Redmon keeping in the rear of the squad and still covering the guard.

As quickly as possible the alarm was given and a pursuing party was organized, the blood hounds were loosed and put upon the trail, and mounted and armed men followed in hot chase. The escaped prisoners are eight desperate men, and armed partly as they are, they will be ugly customers to capture. The names of the men are: Riley McCoy, of Lawrence county fifteen years. Jim Way, Bourbon county, three years. Frank McDonough, Jefferson county, two years. William Quinn, Jefferson county, five years. John Iern, Jefferson county, six years. Dan Harlin, Letcher county, five years. Brice Redmon, Jefferson county, six years. Thos. Callahan, Pulaski county, three years. They are all white and all young men except McDonough.

Skipped. Pete Bucklew, who was shot by Mrs. Beard, has skipped out for parts unknown. There was a charge against him for attacking Mrs. Beard Thursday night. Constable Bradley, having grown suspicious about his standing trial, with a posse went to the house where Pete was supposed to be and found that he was gone. The neighborhood was searched but no Pete was found.

Married.

Thursday Mr. Sam Henry, of this place, and Miss Lucy Jennings, daughter of Mr. J. R. Jennings, who lives two miles west of Marion, went to Elizabethtown, Ill., and were united in marriage. Their many friends wish them unalloyed happiness.

Married, at the residence of Jas. Lowery Sept. 8, 1890, Silas F. King to Miss Elizabeth Drennan, Rev. B. F. McMeen officiating.

From Monday evening until Tuesday the county was without a coroner; yet there was no clash of worlds. Monday evening Della Flannery, who has made an excellent officer, qualified as assistant assessor and left the office of coroner vacant until Tuesday when his successor, Mr. Belmeur, qualified.

On Thursday of last week representatives of nine iron bridge companies, were in town to bid for the construction of an iron bridge across Claylick creek on Salem and Dycusburg road and on the line between Crittenden and Livingston counties. Henry Hodge, commissioner for Crittenden county; and J. H. Clifton, commissioner for Livingston county, met the agents here, and after a comparison of all bids, let the contract to the Wrought Iron Bridge Co., of Canton, O., for $1200.

For the next 30 days J. H. Morse will sell you the right to sell his patent Kitchen Rack in one State for $50. He will sell but 30 States this way. Parties wanting to make a few hundred dollar in the patent business will do well to see him at once.

Messrs. J. B. Kevil, S. C. Haynes and J. W. Skelton left for Middleboro Tuesday afternoon. That city will entertain members of the Kentucky Press Thursday and the gentlemen mentioned will represent the Marion papers.
The contested election case from Bells Mines was called us for trial Monday. On account of the irregularity of the papers, the matter was postponed and will be tried hereafter.
I have an elegant line of plushes, velvets and silks for dresses and hats.
Mrs. Lovings.

Now goods! Now goods!

At Dorr's.

Mr. Ed McFee took a degree in the Knights of Pythias Friday night.

Hays now has a full line of groceries in all its branches. Call and examine.

Before you buy see Flannery & Son's line of fine hats, styles and prices to suit all.

Dorr is receiving his fall and winter stock. Now is the time to get bargains.

Don't take in all you see advertised, but see Hays' goods and get his prices and save money.

We are closing out our buggies, carts, and harness. Come and get a bargain. Pierce & Son.

Flannery & Son will carry the largest and best assorted line of shoes ever brought to Marion, Ky.

Why don't you bring in your dried apples and get your money while prices are good? Schwab.

All who buy $25 worth of groceries for cash at Schwab's will receive a gold pen free of charge.

Mr. H. A. Hodge, of Salem, was in town Thursday. He has been at his father-in-law's, Capt. Northern.

Mr. J. P. Sullivan was in town to attend the colt show. His fine colt is certainly a magnificent animal.

Hays has just received a car load of sugar and coffee, more or less, which he intends to sell lower than ever.

The new county attorney had his first case as representative of the county at Dycusburg last week. He got a fine of $7.

The attendance at school at this place demanded the fourth teacher, and Mr. Bart Sumnerville has been employed.

The grandest line of hat trimmings ever shown in Marion, embracing every design in patterns.

Mrs. Lovings.

Go and get some of the best calicoes at 5 and 6 cents per yard at Wolf's, as he wants to make room for his fall stock.

Don't be gulled by slick tongues and beautiful sayings but buy your groceries of Hays who will give you full weight and fresh goods.

A. Wolf has gone east to buy an immense stock of goods, and in order to make room for them will sell all best brands of calicoes at 5 and 6 cents per yard.

Rev. J. E. Price preached at the C. P. church Sunday. The subject of his discourse was foreign missions. After the sermon a collection was taken.

A big lot of fall and winter dress goods, cloth, hats and shoes, hats and caps will be sold low down. Come and see me.

R. B. Dorr.

Salem mill will sell best new wheat flour $2.50 per cwt.; best old wheat flour $2 per cwt.; second rate $2.00 per cwt.; bran 60 cents per cwt.; 25c less per bbl in five bbl lots.

Dr. Jenkins, dentist, remains in Marion next week and is prepared to extract all teeth absolutely painlessly and by the use of a new preparation is enabled to fill teeth without pain in nearly every case.

Dr. Jenkins makes a specialty of filling badly decayed teeth with gold or silver and making tightly fitting artificial teeth for difficult mouths. Office over Clark & Co, where the doctor remains for a few days.

The Camp-meeting.

The camp meeting at Hurricane closed Monday. There were about 140 conversions and sixty odd additions to the church. The entire community was stirred up religiously by the meeting; it was the greatest meeting ever held in the community. The management was good, and denominational lines were cast aside, and church people went to work. The closing scenes were impressive, and will long be remembered in that community. Every thing will be arranged for the meeting next year, and it is thought that there will be between 50 and 100 families in camp.

Radam's Microbe Killer Co., Nashville, Tenn.

Gentlemen—I take pleasure in testifying to the remarkable benefit I have recently received from the use of Radam's Microbe Killer. I have been much troubled with chills and night sweats for months, and after trying a great many remedies to no avail, bought a jug of Microbe Killer and was completely cured in ten days. Respectfully, J. J. Smith.

Frankfort, Ky., March 15, 1890.
For sale by Hillyard & Woods.

TOLU DEPARTMENT.

CHAS. A. GRAY, ED. & AGENT.

S. C. Haynes, of the Monitor, was here Friday, as was Dan Browning also.

Rammoores has a curiosity in the shape of an egg. It resembles a previousness that is distressing to contemplate.

We noticed some Marionites at the camp meeting last week, viz: J. G. Haynes, Bob Moore, H. T. Flannery, etc., etc.

There is a splendid opening at this point for a roller mill. The nearest mill on this side of the river being 12 miles away.

Excuse as this week as we had a three days twings of the gout. O those "cowcubers."

News of a local nature left at the business house of Clement & Croft, will be gladly received.

We are teaching "skewl" during this autumnal warmth, at Caney Fork school house. The attendance is very good; that is I have not attempted to whip either of the two scholars yet. The house is of the great men style—logs with mother earth betwixt them. The door was a pretty fair piece of furniture until some thoughtful imbecile used it as a target and perforated it at short range with iron bolts. What in the world the man shot those slugs out of we know not, except it was an ash hopper.

Beard & Belt, the grocers, have added a new line of goods to their stock, consisting of gents furnishing goods, jeans pants, etc.

A. J. Bennett, the jovial river bottom planter, has some of the finest watermelons we ever beheld. Sir Wallace is the tradesman and drives a good biz, as good melons are in demand. We still live back of Hurricane church, Mr. Bennett.

The recent rains have brought the corn out very much.

Some timber men were here last week buying hickory timber. It won't be long until they will want the apple trees and rose bushes.

P. B. Croft's new house on the hill is of the style of H. H. Lovings' and is a very pretty edifice.

Did you ever let it steal across your benighted mind, (Bobby, that Tolu has some slap up good looking boys—Beau Brunnel fellers, out and out. As Walter Clement wears eleven dollar trousers you might suppose he was the greatest of them all; but my, verily, his hair, his hair; yet not exactly his hair, but the place where the root ought to grow, sally mars his olive complexion. We understand he purchased a bottle of curl restorer from a bald headed man last week, and has already ordered a ringletty wig.

Next week we will tell you all about one of the finest, and continue each week until we describe the gang.

We will sell you for 30 days, for cash only:

Country bacon	8 1/2 ct
" lard	8 1/2 "
12 boxes matches	10 ct
3 brooms	25 ct
1 set tumblers	25 ct
14 piece glass set	25 ct
1 paper water bucket that will last 10 years	25 ct
6 bars celebrated elarot sugar	25 ct
Schwabs celebrated Sturgis flour per bbl	5.00
Princeton Chrystal Patent flour, best that was ever in Marion
4 quart tin bucket	10 ct
6 " " "	15 ct
8 " " "	20 ct
Washboards from 10 ct up
2 bars banjo soap	5 ct
6 lbs soda	25 ct
Set of cups & saucers	20 ct
13 lbs granulated sugar	$1.00
15 " beautiful light C sugar	$1.00
2 pint cups	5 ct
1/2 gallon cup	5 ct
Peach and apple peelings wanted.
In canned goods we beat the world.

The very best 150 test coal oil that you have been paying 20 cents for we will sell you for 15 cents.

In addition to these goods we will sell you everything in our line which are to numerous to mention, at prices that defy competition, and we will pay you in cash, without any grumbling for the following:
Green and dry beef hides, sheep hides, wool, suet, beeswax, eggs, rags, feathers, tallow.

M. SCHWAB.

Sale Notice.

I will on Saturday, Sept. 20, 1890, at the farm I recently sold, near Caldwell Springs, sell to the highest bidder, on a credit of 15 months, a lot of horses, cattle, hogs, corn, hay and farming implements, a crop of tobacco that will be housed by that day. All sums under $5, cash in hand. Notes with approved security required. J. J. BENNETT.

A CARD.

In these piping times of peace, card writing has grown to be an art. The farmer, the merchant, the lawyer, the doctor, in fact every class now and then takes a hand at the business. Some of these cards carry useful facts, and some variegated fancies to the people. Some are worth reading, others are better let alone. Now before beginning this card all these facts, touching the character, make-up and tenor of modern cards were impressed upon the minds of the writer, and he solemnly vowed to write only that which is the truth, and that character of truth that touches the welfare of every man, woman, boy, girl or baby within 20 miles of Marion. With these preliminary remarks, we will say to our mutton:

If you want
A good pair of winter boots.
A good pair of shoes.
A good suit of clothes.
A good overcoat.
A good pair of pants.
A good pair of woolen blankets.
A nice dress

Just come around and see Pierce & Yandell's large stock of FALL GOODS. We have bought these goods to sell, not to keep, and we are going to meet all competition. Now don't go to Princeton, or any other high price time to buy a winter suit. Just come to Pierce & Yandell's, and save time and money. We have one price to all. Our object is to make a customer of you, and we know that if we treat you right and give you the worth of your money you will come back and see us. Our motto is "small profits and lots of sales." Now don't fail to call and examine our winter goods when you come to town. We will sell you mens boots from 1.50 to 5.00; mens shoes from 90 cts to 2.50; ladies shoes from 85 cts to 3.00; childrens shoes from 35 cts to 1.00. Mens suits from 3.00 to 40.00; boys suits from 1.25 to 10. We will sell you a good brown domestic for 6 1/4 cts; jeans at any price you want. Now don't fail to call and see us when you come to town.

How springs eternal in Helen Lockwood's breast. She already has announced herself as the candidate of the Woman Suffrage party for President in 1920.

A French sailing vessel has been organized. There is nothing alarming to the American people in this so long as the herring fisheries of Maine hold out.

The mortality of the globe is said to be sixty-seven every minute, 7,700 every day, or $3,000,000 every year. The birth-rate amounts to 100,000 every day, 36,700,000 every year.

It is authoritatively stated that the manufacturing capital of the United States amounts to $6,000,000,000, and that seven-eighths of this vast sum is directly based on patents.

Columbus discovered America. One good turn deserves another, and now Americans are discovering portraits of Columbus. They find them most commonly in the Latin cities of Europe.

A young scientist connected with the United States ship Hawk, has invented a machine for registering the ebb and flow of the tide. It has been tested and found to be a perfect success.

The United States is now connected with Canada by a 7,000-foot tunnel under the St. Clair river between Port Huron and Sarnia. Citizens of the United States can now take the underground railroad across.

The Indian Government has published a return showing that in the years 1887, 1888 and 1889 372 males and 123 females were tortured by devils in the central division of Upper Burma. One hundred and eighty cases resulted in death.

In his novel, "In God's Way," Bjornstjerne Bjornson speaks of "The Home" as written by the American poet Longfellow. Well, Longfellow will not be degraded by the Scandinavian's mistake. But we wonder if Mr. Bjornson ever heard of John Howard Payne. This is his "one cow lamb," and he should not be deprived of it in any land or language.

ROBERT BONNER, who loves to talk about his wonderful trotters almost as much as he does to drive them, says that he never expects to see the time when Maud S—a mile in 2:28—lowered. Dexter held the record for years, and Mr. Bonner thinks Maud S will do the same. Even when she is 20 years old, she does not alter his opinion, for nothing like that speed could be kept up for a full mile.

It is said that the electric compass is having an excellent effect on the sailors on ships in which it has been adopted, as the steering is much more markedly improved. The object of this invention is to indicate by an electric bell placed in the captain's cabin any deviation from the course laid down through the compass. The man at the wheel. This invention is likely to materially lessen dangers at sea.

Q. You may easily assign the Atlantic liners to the right companies by following this rule: All first-class ocean steamers and their names with the letters "A," all White Star ships with "C," all Allan vessels with "L," all Inman boats are "City of," all Gulf steamers are named after American Territories; all ships of the National Line are named after American States; all life boats are named after foreign countries.

"WHEREVER you find petroleum you won't find mosquitoes," says an oil country man. "The insects can't stand the smell of the grease, and wherever oil wells are planted there is no room for mosquito bars. Over and over again I've seen mosquitoes leave a new oil field as soon as a well flows. Whether petroleum is applied to the face or hands will drive off mosquitoes I don't know. But one of the few compensations of the driller is that he's seldom troubled by mosquitoes."

THE eleventh census bulletin has just been issued. It relates to the growth of rapid transit facilities from 1880 to 1900 in cities over 5,000 inhabitants. Of the fifty-six cities under this head Chicago is a close second to New York in the matter of length of all street railway tracks, including suburbs. New York shows 288.5 miles; Chicago, 265.9; Boston, 229.4; Brooklyn, 224.9; Philadelphia, 224.3; Baltimore, 171.74; St. Louis, 165.9; New Orleans, 159.3; and Kansas City 145.54.

THERE is but one opinion among Western farmers regarding the horse thief. Though they may differ on politics and many other questions they are unanimous in believing that the man who steals a horse is the vilest of criminals and should be lynched on sight. This unanimity of sentiment has led the farmers of Kansas and Missouri to organize for the protection of their horse-herds and the summary punishment of horse thieves. They have formed an anti-horse thief association, and intend to make Kansas and Missouri uncomfortably warm States for the purloiner of horses.

T. B. RICEY, of Carson, says of the cattle losses in Nevada last winter: "I have been riding since June 15 over the ranges. We lost about 30,000 head of cattle in Humboldt County. In one ravine I saw heaps of cattle for three miles. They were piled up as many as 300 or 400 in a bunch. In one ravine a herd which had sought shelter from the storm was covered up with snow and died. Another herd went in on top of them and suffered the same fate. There must have been a terrible struggle for the bones of many of them were broken. Everywhere you go you find the same state of affairs."

EDISON is a cool man. When he struck the phonograph idea he made a crude tin-foil cylinder. He prepared it for the first test and dictated "Mary Had a Little Lamb" into a large paper funnel. Krenz, a friend, stood by and said the verse would not be repeated by the machine. Edison said calmly to Krenz: "I'll bet you $7 that it will talk back." There was silence for an instant and then came the words back through the funnel: "Mary had a little lamb." Krenz jumped all over the room in his excitement, while Edison simply twisted his head and said, quietly: "Krenz, I have won the $7."

THE figure 9 seems to have largely entered into the life of George W. Keene, of Boston. His father died in 1850 at the age of sixty-nine and was buried on January 25. Mr. Keene was married May 29 and on the 10th of the same month he was married for the second time. He was married on June 29 and was discharged July 9. His son was married October 25 and on the 10th of the present month he was injured and had to go to the hospital, from which he was discharged on the 19th. As Mr. Keene is now in his fifty-fifth year he might attribute his injuries to fact.

QUALIFICATION for entrance of immigrants into the Argentine Republic is very strict. In addition to possessing sensible ideas of morality, the candidate must show that he has at least $500 in cash and knows how to farm.

SOUTHERN GLEANINGS.

North Carolina Cotton Crop. Reports received from North Carolina show that the crop is injuriously affected by the cotton and will considerably reduce the yield. It is affecting what is known as the top crop, which usually matures before frost. Cotton is opening with unprecedented rapidity. The crop will be picked early. The Alabama will do all possible to aid the planters in holding their cotton and not pushing it right on the market. The crop will be far larger than that of last season, while it will unquestionably fall below the large estimates made in July and August, which put its percentage of the total crop at 100. It was feared that the exodus of the negroes would render labor scarce in some sections, and even in counties where one-tenth of the negro population left there appears to be a supply of labor. The crop is made more cheaply than any year since the war, thanks to the economy shown by the farmers.

A Big English Enterprise. English capitalists have invaded West Virginia in force, and with a view to founding at Charleston one of the most gigantic industrial and economic schemes yet attempted through foreign capital on this side of the Atlantic. A number of prominent English and Scotch capitalists, headed by such men as Sir John Macdonald, Sir Charles Tupper, Sir Hector Langevin, Sir Alex. Meek, and others, forming the Scotch Coal, Iron & Railroad Company, have purchased 400,000 acres of land in Boone, Mercer and Wyoming counties, the consideration being $5,000,000. The company will colonize a large number of English and Scotch emigrants on the land, open mines, build iron furnaces, construct railroads and otherwise improve their property on a large scale.

A Georgia Horror. Rev. William Boone, colored, who is in the Calhoun County (Ga.) jail, charged with the poisoning of a family of ten on his plantation, three of whom are dead, has a record as a Georgia. He wife makes a confession, which recalls a number of mysterious deaths in Floyd County. Four years ago Rev. William Boone, with a wife and two children, moved to Floyd. He was attracted by the charms of Will McCarter's wife. The woman returned the feeling. Will McCarter, Mrs. Boone and her two children died a few months later. Boone married Mrs. McCarter, and the pair moved to Gordon County, where the tragedy took place. The former Mrs. McCarter is heartily tired of her change of husbands, and voluntarily tells the story of his crimes.

A Hermit Found Dead. The other night the body of Robert N. Eagle, an English hermit, was found dead in his room at Wilmington, N. C. Three years ago Eagle went there and lived alone the life of a hermit. He was very religious, but was always kindly treated, and appeared always to have money. Eagle, who was some eighty years old, had been a Lieutenant in the regular army in the war with Mexico, and was famous for gallantry in that war. He was in 1855 again appointed a Lieutenant. By direction of Quartermaster-General Lathelcher, United States army, he was recruited in the National Guard of Wilmington.

A Murderer's Speedy Trial. A speedy and conclusive trial was that of Ed Morrison, the negro who killed young Hunter in Madison County, Ga., a few weeks since. Righteous minutes' argument for the defense, sixteen for the prosecution, twenty for the judge's charge, twenty for the jury, and then the verdict. One hour and fourteen minutes after the evidence closed the jury returned a verdict of guilty.

The Identity of a Suicide. A few nights ago a man, who gave his name as James Cooper, committed suicide at Houston, Tex., taking morphine. It transpires that his name was Charles Cooper, a brother of ex-Attorney John Tyler Cooper of Atlanta, Ga., and also a descendant of John Tyler, once President of the United States.

Death of Mrs. McCarty. Mrs. McCarty, wife of Judge H. W. McCarty, ex-Chief Justice of the New York State of Tennessee, died the other day after a long illness. She was seventy years old and leaves her husband and nine children.

The Groom Was Hard Up. Memphis (Tenn.) society was given a first-class sensation the other day by the failure of the groom to be present at a fashionable wedding. He pleaded impotency.

Post-Office Burglarized. The post-office at Princeton, Ky., was broken into and the safe opened by experts. The money was $500 in stamps and $100 in money; also two valuable registered letters.

"I was in His Checks." "Bud" Van Buren, a well-known sporting man of Memphis, Tenn., dropped dead of heart disease at the fashionable, while in the act of cashing his checks.

Affairs of a Drunkard. William Budd, of Baltimore, Md., a prominent publisher and secret society man, committed suicide with morphine, owing to a fear of becoming a drunkard.

Her Life for Her Brothers. The seven-year-old daughter of William Budd, who sacrificed her life the other day to save her baby brother. He had fallen into the fire, and in pulling him out her dress caught fire, and she was the only one near to help, she died.

A Marked Trade Increase. The Charleston (S. C.) News and Courier's annual review of the trade and commerce of Charleston during the past year shows total trade amounted to $80,619,717, an increase on the business of the preceding year of $3,000,000.

Died a Centenarian. Dorcas Greenhaw, colored, died at Harnett, Ga., the other day, aged one hundred. She was the mother of twenty-one children, all of whom were present at her funeral.

Atlanta Shipwreck. The shippers of Atlanta, Ga., have organized a freight bureau to be called "The Associated Manufacturers of Atlanta."

A Florida Town Destroyed. A small town on the Indian river in Florida was destroyed by fire the other day.

Destroyed a Wild-Cat Still. Revenue officers found a wild-cat still in Lincoln County, Tenn., near the Alabama State line, and destroyed it. It was a well-camouflaged contrivance, steamboat being used.

Found Dead in Bed. Mr. Ben T. Worthington, a prominent politician and business man, was found dead in his bed at Greenville, Miss. He lived alone.

A Small Cyclone. A small cyclone visited Rytion, a suburb of Birmingham, Ala., a few days ago, and caused considerable damage.

The News of the Week.

BY TELEGRAPH AND MAIL.

FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

TUESDAY, Sept. 2.—Mr. Hale made a speech in the Senate in support of the Maine reciprocity idea, and Mr. Sherman advocated closer commercial relations with Canada. A bill was introduced providing that hereafter no National bank shall issue circulating notes. The tariff bill was further considered. In the House Mr. Cooper (La.) and Mr. Wilson (Ma.) discussed the Clayton-Breckinridge election contest. A bill was passed providing that Rock Island, Ill., a port of delivery.

WEDNESDAY, Sept. 3.—The Senate spent the day, including an evening session, in a discussion on the reciprocity idea in connection with the sugar schedule of the tariff bill. No vote was taken. In the House the Clayton-Breckinridge election contest was further discussed, and Mr. Kennedy (O.) denounced the Senate for its action in shelving the Federal election bill and scored Senator Quay for scathing remarks.

THURSDAY, Sept. 4.—The general debate on the tariff bill in the Senate came to an end. Amendments placing binding time on the free list and reducing the duty on sugar from 10 to 8 cents to 10 a ton were agreed to. In the House a bill was introduced to retire the circulation of National banks and to issue legal-tender notes in lieu thereof. The Senate bill was passed to establish a port of delivery at Sioux City, Ia. The Clayton-Breckinridge election case was further discussed.

FRIDAY, Sept. 5.—In the Senate most of the time was spent in discussing the free list in the tariff bill, and binding-time was placed on the list. Favorable reports were made on the sugar and other labor bills. In the House, the House the Clayton-Breckinridge election case was again taken up, and Mr. Breckinridge spoke in his own behalf. Mr. McMillin (Pa.) denounced the murder of Clayton (Pa.) which the seat of Breckinridge was declared vacant by a vote of 103 to 92. At the evening session thirty pension bills were passed.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The published statement issued on the 1st showed the total debt to be $1,370,113,490; cash in the treasury, $851,557,449; debt less cash in treasury, $518,555,990. Increase during August, $73,200. Decrease since June 30, 1890, $21,911,893.

QUERIES ANSWERED.

BY O. G. W.

Miss —: (1) No: Ministers are not always "modest," but they are sometimes compelled to be retiring.

(2) Yes: The word "trust" is a beautiful synonyme of faith; but used commercially in the plural nowadays, it does not inspire confidence.

(3) No: It is not more machinery your Church wants, but more consecration, a suggestion which some other religious bodies may equally well heed.

(4) The age of miracles is not past. Hercules and Sampson are but pigmies compared with a man in a dime show who lifts a live horse with his teeth, and who is advertised as "certainly the invincible monarch of mankind."

(5) The best contribution to the resources of a church is an industrious man or woman, animated by the spirit of Christ.

Mr. —: "Why don't you write for me — I don't like the Press I don't see what its published for." Well, my friend, I'll tell you. Its published for one dollar a year in advance, and—by the record, you now owe Mr. Walker for three years.

Miss —: (1) "I learn that Byron was clubfooted. That just shows that physical infirmities do not conflict with genius." No, I believe not, unless one happens to be a blockhead.

(2) If you want to be well informed, subscribe for the Press. Even a paper of pins may give you some good points.

(3) Religion is often confounded with emotion. 'Tis a serious mistake, which accounts for the faulty and unfruitful lives of many professors. Of course there is emotion in religion—as there is in life. But these two are not synonymous. A religion of mere emotion is a religion of guh.

—, lawyer: (1) Judge Moore's charge was all right. It was the lawyer's charge that worried him.

(2) No: Domestic skeletons are usually framed of the bones of contention.

(3) A lamp may be polished brilliantly on the outside and may reflect the sunlight during the daytime, but its usefulness at night depends somewhat upon having a wick in the burner and oil inside. There is no objection to a "polished" attorney, provided he will burn when he is needed.

"A dissatisfied church member": As the church is divided about it, and "some say that it will drive them out of the church." I think the wisest course for you is to buy the "organ" and put it in Bro. Robinson's snuggery down at the distillery, and see if it won't keep "the other party" out of that place also.

School Girl: (1) An answer to your question demands, and deserves, an answer that I cannot give in this column. I will endeavor to answer it, in my feeble way, in a separate column. See "Our School Girls."

(2) Those ladies "who wish to keep posted," I would advise to subscribe for the Press at once.

(3) If you cannot agree in matters of faith, you should never be wanting in the courtesy and urbanity which Christians of all denominations owe to one another.

(4) "Are you going to the Chicago World's Fair?" That is so far ahead I haven't given it much thought. But the discovery of North America by the Indians is so interesting, and they were so far ahead of Columbus that I think they ought to hold the World's Fair in the Indian Territory.

(5) No: Paul was never less infallible than when he asked women to obey their husbands. And the women have found it out.

Mrs. —: (1) "I have been married nearly — years and my husband and I have neither of us shown an ill temper, nor have we had the least misand-rentending." If that is really so you have missed the fun of making up, which is, perhaps the best thing in love, after all. To enjoy the claim of the sea one must know the terrors of the tempest.

(2) Is euche an old game? Yes; all as the hills. — When the poor man couldn't go it alone, the Levite passed, and the Samaritan assisted, and won the game.

(3) "He is so persistent in his attention, and watches me so closely that I really think he is not just right in his mind." How discerning you are! Exactly the same idea occurred to me.

Mrs. —, Marion: (1) If your husband worries about not having leisure time, and is honest about wanting it, tell him to take his advertisement out of the Press.

(2) I suppose the reason that griffins, dragons, and devils are the ladies' favorite subjects for embroidery designs, is because they are continually thinking of their husbands.

(3) More than you are troubled with "wanting" in their minds. However, don't trouble about that, you can go far.

Miss —: Yes: I believe there is a Supreme Being who delights in justice and mercy, whom all are bound to obey, and whose worship consists in the practice of justice and charity toward our neighbors.

(2) No: The sin of the Pharisees was not for the eating of camels, even if it "is written," they strained at gnats and swallowed camels."

(3) Yes, it is a sin for you to take pleasure in people calling you "beautiful." It is certainly wrong to encourage anyone to tell a falsehood.

Rail Splitter. No: Political corruption, wide spread ignorance, and moral degeneracy are present and dangerous foes to be faced and conquered. The demagogue to-day is more to be feared than the rebel.

(2) "I have succeeded in getting — school. Couldn't you give me a good puff?" I hardly think it would be safe. Your qualifications are so weak that a "puff" would blow you to pieces.

(3) "Do you believe in the mental cure?" Oh, yes; but one must have a mind, you know, to start with.

(4) "Should a gentleman always sit when he carves?" Carvers who get on the table and have a wrestling match with the chicken or turkey are known by other names. "Attorney." "Bob Walker is a shrewd man. I have known him for years. He seldom asks a person to do a thing unless he thinks he can do it." Yep! What was he about then, the other day, when he asked the writer to say a few words on the subject of "Assurance?"

Sunday School Teacher: (1) The old education, after the style of old ecclesiasticism, was the assumption by the cultivated class of an exclusive right to mold childhood and youth according to an infallible theory. Till the age of Luther, this class was mainly the priesthood; and the reins of church and school were clutched in an iron fist at Rome.

(2) The chief object of prayer is not that we may bend the divine will to our own, but that we may bend our will to the divine.

(3) You need not be troubled about "whether all the saints on earth will see Christ at the same moment of time on his return from heaven, or whether they must await the ordinary revolution of earth, and thus allow some to behold him several hours before others?" We learn that the better way is to learn to see Christ as he daily comes to judge the world through his precept and example. "Why teach men of his second coming who have not yet learned of his first?" President Lincoln.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

A SUCCESSFUL FAIR.

The finances of the last meeting of the Union County Fair Company have not as yet been balanced, but Mr. Virge Givens, president of the company says he is of the opinion the company will clear about $1,000.—Sun.

THINKS IT DISGRACEFUL.

As The Sun predicted the carrying into effect of the whipping post bill passed by the last legislature for the benefit of Union County alone, is already on the go, and the world is being told of the untempered, human and civilized practices of our county.—Morgantown Sun.

CONTAGIOUS INVESTIGATION.

Muhlenberg officers are to be investigated to see if they have kept every thing in shape. Let the good work go on until every officer in the United States is investigated. If he has done his duty an investigation won't hurt him. If he has not discharged his obligations the sooner it is known the better for the people.—Madisonville Herald.

The trial of R. Y. Thomas, editor of the deceased Caseyville Herald, charged with the killing of Geo. Elmore in the above place some time ago has been continued.

The case was set for Tuesday last, but postponed to the physicians of Central City (the present home of Thomas) were received here Monday stating that Thomas had fallen a few days before and broken his leg, thereby rendering it impossible for him to be present for trial Tuesday. The case was therefore continued.—Morgantown Sun.

A SUICIDE.

On last Wednesday night, Maximilian Lauer, of Uhn, Germany, a German about 28 years of age committed suicide at the Hotel Atlanta at this place by taking morphine. There was found a bottle which had just had the wrapper taken off under the edge of his bed and was about half emptied. It is supposed that he took at least half of the bottle. He had been working for Holt & Bradburn up to that evening, when he came to town, secured a room at the above hotel where he committed the rash deed of self-destruction. There was found in his pockets a knife, comb, and 20c in money.—Sturgis Enterprise.

MONTHLY CROP REPORT.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept 3.—The Commissioner of Agriculture to-day issued the following crop report:

CORN. 2276 farmers had, in 1889, 80,266 acres. The same farmers have in 1890 73,032 acres. This makes the acreage of 1890 about 91 per cent of the 1889 acreage. At this date last year the condition was 105. This year the condition is 75, or 30 per cent worse than last year. The crop is very much improved since the rains, and much of the late corn on good land, with good cultivation will make a good average crop. Generally cultivation has not been as good as usual, caused by late planting and excessive Spring rains.

TOBACCO.

According to received from reliable correspondents from the chief tobacco counties of the State, 2845 farmers raised in 1889, 21,580 acres. The same farmers have in 1890, 17,700 acres; of course a larger amount of farmers might chadge somewhat the per cent, of difference, more or less. In my report of Sept. 4th, 1889, I gave the acreage of 89 at 62 1/2 per cent, of the 88 acreage, or 37 1/2 per cent, less than 88. According to comparative acreage of 1889 and 1890 given above, the acreage of 1890 is about 82 per cent of 1889. The 1888 crop was the largest ever produced in this State in both acreage and pounds, and has been held as a constant menace to even remunerative prices for certain grades. This crop was a large that it could not receive proper attention in its culture; handling, curing, and ordering. The result was a larger amount of inferior tobacco that could find no consumptive demand, and has been hawked about without a friend, and has generally entailed upon its owners a loss.

The present crop started out badly, and so discouraging was the prospect during the dry weather, that many of our very best farmers supposed the crop would be almost a failure. But general rains during August has benefited the crop beyond all expectations, and on new land, where it has been properly cultivated many fine crops are promised. On the old land it is very badly missing in the hill, and is not so promising, except where it has received exceptionally good cultivation. Old land crops have been tardy in growth, and are uneven. The new growth given the plant by the August rains warrant late maturity, and rains during this month would seriously imperil all but the early cutting.

At this date last year fully 20 per cent of the crop had fallen before the knife and was being rapidly hoisted. Yet a portion of last year's planting was caught by the frost, and a good deal had frozen.

With an open dry September, much of the crop promises to be of excellent quality. Rainy weather will make it just the reverse.

At this writing the crop is in full blast, but there is not exceeding 50 per cent out. One of the greatest dangers is a frost scare, which will force cutting before it is ripe.

In my report of August 1 I gave condition at 60 per cent; the condition now is 85 per cent, compared with last year. Of course this includes the State, and is not necessarily true in any given county or locality, some being better and some worse.

SORGHUM. Acreage 92. Condition 76. HEMP. Acreage 93. Condition 77. CLOVER.

A great deal of the Spring sown clover has been killed by the drought. The second crop of old clover is seedling very light, and very few, if any, will be saved.

HAY CROP. The hay is the best made for a long time, and was saved in good condition.

APPLES. Condition 25. Peaches 15. GRAPES. Condition 77. In many localities they are being seriously injured by the rot.

GARDENS. The drought did serious damage to gardens, but a fair crop of late vegetables are assured since the rains.

POTATOES. The early Irish potato crop was almost a failure. The sweet potato crop is fairly promising. Cattle, horses, hogs and sheep are in good condition.

There has been an unusually large amount of turnip seed sown, and they are doing well.

Fair progress has been made in plowing for wheat.

Very respectfully, Chas. Y. Wilson, Commissioner.

The Louisville Market.

The more favorable report this week from the growing crop has caused a desire among holders to sell. It isn't exactly a stampede but they are anxious to let go and crowd the breaks with all they will bear. At times the pressure to sell has been stronger than the desire to buy, with the natural results—a dragging market with downward tendency. This is not to be said of the best grades of barley, for their is always so active demand for the tops that they don't decline under pressure to sell. There is not as much of the best barley in the last crop as is wanted. The lower grades however have suffered and barely held to last week's prices. A good deal of the offering is in last order.
