FATALITY SHOT.

John Imboden Puts a Load of Buckshot into Jordan Hughes.

Monday evening, near Weston, in this county, John Imboden shot and probably fatally wounded Jordan Hughes, a negro boy about twenty years old. The particulars as given below were obtained from a couple of negro boys who came up to town Monday night after a warrant for the arrest of Imboden.

The latter with a couple of friends were sitting on the road side about 1/2 mile south of Weston, on Weston and Marion road, when Jordan Hughes and Lon Hughes rode up to where they were, and the latter addressed Imboden and friends in these words: "Good evening, white men." The reply from the party addressed was, "Good evening, niggers," and at the same time Imboden raised his gun and said, "I will kill a negro too," and fired. The contents of the gun struck Jordan Hughes in the back, just as he wheeled his horse, and he fell to the ground with a great hole in his back. His companion put spurs to his horse, and followed by Imboden and friends, left in a gallop. Shortly afterwards some passersby found the wounded man and summoned a physician, who after examining the wounded man, said that he could not live.

Tuesday morning Sheriff Pickens and his deputy left town to hunt Imboden, who is a reckless, drinking man, and when under the influence of liquor is very dangerous.

The wounded man died the morning after he was shot, and Imboden has left for parts unknown.

IS IT CHAS. SONDEMAN?

The Stranger Who Suicided Probably Identified.

The unknown suicide who was buried here some days ago is probably Charlie Sondeiman, son of Wm. Sondeiman, a citizen of the Fishtrap neighborhood, of this county. About three years ago young Sondeiman was working on the O. V. railroad. When the road was completed to Princeton, he took his fathers team and went South. He was not heard of until a short time ago, when he wrote that he would be at home Christmas. He never reached home, and when his father heard of the suicide, and learned the description of the dead man, he felt sure that it was his son; he came to Marion Monday and had the body exhumed and examined by parties who knew the young man. The parties refused to state their opinions after the examination, but the general belief is that all were convinced that it was young Sondeiman. Steps will be taken to legally establish the identity, and if successful, the money and property will be turned over to old man Sondeiman's father.

The money was deposited in Marion Bank, and Mr. L. H. James was appointed administrator of the personal effects of the dead man. If no one establishes a claim to them within twelve months, they will be turned over to the State by the administrator.

Holiday Echoes.

On the night of December 24th, there was a Christmas tree at the Opera House by the Methodist Sunday School. The beautiful Cantata the Frost Queen, was admirably produced, and much credit is due Miss Nellie Wilson, who trained the little folks for the occasion. After the play the presents were distributed.

At the same time two handsome trees were unloaded of their precious fruits at the Baptist church by the Baptist Sunday School.

At 5 o'clock the same evening the Cumberland Presbyterian church was the scene of like proceedings. Many handsome presents were given and a pleasant profitable evening was spent by the Sunday School scholars and teachers.

At the same time a beautiful and unique Christmas house was loaded with presents at the Presbyterian church. Here too the little folks were made happy by the presence and presents of Santa Claus.

The colored people did not fail to join in the festivities of the season. At their church a Christmas play was loaded with Santa Claus goods.

Wedding Bells.

MOORE—HOWERTON.

Married at the residence of the brides father, Mr. G. W. Howerton, Tuesday evening Dec. 23, 1890, Mr. R. L. Moore to Miss Onie Howerton, Rev. W. R. Gibbs officiating. Numerous friends witnessed the consummation of the happy event, and an elegant supper was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Moore took the train for Chicago to spend a week. There are not two more deservedly popular young people in the community. Mr. Moore is assistant cashier of the Marion Bank. He is a perfect gentleman and a fine business man. His bride is one of the prettiest and most accomplished young ladies in the county.

SKELTON—HOWARD.

Married at the Baptist church in Marion, Wednesday evening Dec. 24, 1890, Mr. J. W. Skelton to Miss Laura Bogard, Rev. M. H. Miley, officiating.

PERRY—JAMES.

Married in the Baptist church at Shady Grove, Ky., Wednesday eve, Dec. 24, Mr. L. C. Perry to Miss Susie James. The attendants were Mr. Ed Hubbard and Miss Lonella Pool, and Mr. Geo. Hughes and Miss Maggie Sigler, Rev. J. S. Henry officiating.

After the ceremony we were invited to the Hughes House to supper, where we found a table just loaded with almost everything that could tempt human palate, where if any one failed to do ample justice to the occasion, we failed to learn of it. After supper some one invited us to look at the presents, and among them we found the following:

Pair vases, S. C. Frazier; large mirror, Jas. Hubbard; counterpane, table linen, cake plate, Mrs. John Hughes; preserve stand cup and saucer, Grant Hughes; set of goblets, Mrs. Joe Cardwell; large fruit stand, Mrs. Jas. Hubbard; pair linen towels, T. A. Frazier; large lamp, Geo. Hughes; large dish pan and wash pan, Dr. Todd; pitcher, set plates, dressing comb, Mrs. Bell James; fruit stand, Miss Mittie Hubbard; set knives and forks, J. J. Hughes; set tea spoon, R. P. Hubbard; britain dipper, Donnie Hubbard; lantern, Mrs. Joe Towry; pitcher Will James; coles pot, tin bucket, Jno. Mc Mullen; glass set, Johnie James; moccasins stand, Walter James; pepper box, Miss Tilda Cullen; gentleman's fur cap, S. C. Towry; handkerchief, Miss Katie Harbison; 2 handkerchiefs, Misses Quasie and Lane Cardwell; linen towel; Harriet Leigh. The next morning this happy couple left for Fulton, Ky., their future home. A Friend.

A Card of Thanks.

We extend our sincere and hearty thanks to the good people of Salem, Ky., and vicinity for their kind ministrations during our fathers late illness, and their kind sympathy extended us in our great bereavement.

Sallie Browning, Alice Browning, Dan Browning.

In Good Shape.

(Courier Journal.)

Dr. P. G. Kelsey, President of the Ohio Valley Railway Company, has returned home from his Eastern trip. While absent he contracted considerable business in Philadelphia and New York, giving orders for a new locomotive in the Quaker City. A report rendered by an expert engineer who had thoroughly looked over the Ohio Valley system, was very flattering. The information given the stockholders was to the effect that it was a good property, well managed, and possessing natural advantages that can be made to yield a large revenue.

At a meeting of stockholders in New York, which represented fully nine-tenths of those in interest, they highly complimented the management of the road, which gives promise of the great future value. It unanimously decided to issue a debenture bond in payment of the interest, and this will allow Dr. Kelsey no less than $75,000 per year for "betterments" and new equipments.

We are informed that Mr. Mark Worton, of Smithland, has decided not to enter the legislative race this spring. He has been granted license to practice law and will follow that profession in copartnership with Capt. J. W. Bush.

Disposed of.

Judge Moore disposed of the following indictments found at the last term of circuit court last week.

John Adams, breach of the peace, fined $10, and sent to jail to pay the fine. Adams is the man who was arrested on a warrant charging him with killing his wife.

Ben Wilcox, injuring property, fined $10.

Wm. Taylor, disturbing religious worship, fined $20, and sent to jail to pay the fine.

Notice.

On the 31 day of January 1891, at the late residence of John Belt deceased, I will sell all the personal property of said deceased: one lot of stock hogs, one lot of corn, one buggy, lot of farming utensils, one lot of harness, all the house hold and kitchen furniture. Term made known day of sale, J. S. Belt Administrator.

Fresh oysters, celery, cranberries and bakers bread always on hand at Gibbs & Gilbert.

CARDS AND DEATH.

John Moore Killed at Crofton by John Manor.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Dec. 26.—A distressing shooting affray took place at Crofton, in this county, last evening and resulted in the killing of John Moore, a prominent young man and son of Dr. A. J. Moore, a leading physician, at the hands of John Manor colored. The trouble that led to the tragedy had its origin in a game of cards several months ago, and there has been bad blood between the parties ever since. Meeting on the street yesterday; the quarrel was renewed, when Moore raised his hand if to strike Manor, when Manor drew his revolver and fired, the ball entering near Moore's eye and penetrated his brain. He fell to the ground and almost instantly expired. Manor then struck another of the Moores, who was near, over the head with his revolver, which was discharged in the act. Young Moore fell at the side of his dead brother.

A crowd had by this time gathered, and there were threats of lynching Manor, but Sheriff West was present and arrested him and brought him to this city, where he is in jail awaiting his examining trial, which is set for tomorrow.

Obituary.

The subject of this notice, Mr. A. Browning, was born in Hopkins county Ky., January the first 1837 and came to Crittenden county in 1856 and was married to Miss Mary C. Coker, of Livingston county Ky., in 1859; in 1890 he located in Livingston county and remained there until his death, which occurred Dec. 5, 1890. His first wife departed this life in 1884, being the mother of fifteen children, nine of whom are dead and six living. In 1886 he was married to Mrs. Eliza LaRue, widow of Dr. Marion LaRue of Salem Ky. Mr. Browning was a wonderfully missed in this and surrounding country; he was an honest truthful upright man in all his dealings with his fellow man, he was a quiet good citizen, kind and good neighbor, always ready and willing to accommodate a friend. He had been a member of the Christian church for a number of years. I often talked with him on the subject of religion. Mr. Browning after his health gave down he said he felt prepared to go at any time. He told his daughter and others a few days before his death that he felt prepared to die and long for the time to come that he would get rid of his affliction and pain. His funeral services was attended to by the writer in the church in Salem in the presence of many sorrowing friends. He leaves a wife and six children to mourn his loss. I hope their loss is his gain. The children have the sympathy of all the community. They are all good children and are striving hard to make an honest living. May God bless and protect them through life and at last save them in my prayer. M. H. Utley.

Resolutions of Respect.

Even so Father, for so it seemed good in thy sight, to remove from us our beloved Brother Geo. W. Belt, by death on the 18th day of December 1890. Our Brother was born on the 5th day of July 1864. He professed faith in Christ, joined the Baptist church at Dunn Springs and was baptized in the year 1882. He transferred his membership by letter to Marion church and was a consistent member thereof and clerk of the Sunday school at the time of his death.

Therefore be it Resolved. That in the death of Bro Belt, our school has lost a faithful member and officer, and one who had the cause of Christ at heart. And we sorely know how to express the deep sense we have of the heavy stroke under which his father and relatives are prostrated, theirs is indeed a sad bereavement, but we do not rest from their strong faith in Him who doeth all things well, they will be sustained and comforted in the hope that he has gone to a happier sphere. And that what is lost to us, is to him unspeakable gain.

Resolved that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our school and be published in the county papers and a copy delivered to his bereaved Father.

J. H. Morse, S. D. Swope, S. Hodge.

L. S. Leffell & Co., have moved their well drill to Eddyville to drill a 100 foot well for the penitentiary. Two other well drillers have tried the job and made a failure.

A child of Mr. H. L. Elder, who lives a mile west of Marion died Tuesday night.

PRIVATE SCHOOL.

I will open a private school at the residence of my father, S. Hodge, on the 3rd Monday in Jan. 1891. I have the best of school seats, and will give faithful attention to all pupils. Terms of tuition from $1.50 to $2.00 per month. Your patronage respectfully solicited. Mrs. Sue A. Adams.

Personal.

New Good Hope.

Preaching at this place the 4th Saturday and Sunday in each month by Rev. Carter.

The pound party at Mr. Rutter's Xmas eve was a grand success. The many pounds of candy, and oranges showed the liberality of the boys, and the many delicious cakes showed that the young ladies had not forgotten it was Christmas.

Mr. Dick Threlkeld, of Missouri, spent Christmas here.

Miss Kittie Lay and sister, and Messrs James Abel and Jesse Fort, of Birdsville, spent Christmas week with us.

Mr. S. L. Thomas was back in his old community last week. S. L. is a well known man and meets a hearty welcome with all who know him.

The teachers association at Hampton was a failure on account of the ice, and the President of same failed to make his appearance because he had business of more importance to attend to at Mr. Rector's. Dr. Washburn, our Co. Supt., was present cash day, and as usual, ready to do all he could to promote the cause of education. Dr. wish you God speed in the grand effort, for surely on your shoulders rests a greater responsibility than any other office of the county.

We noticed in a former issue of the Press: that some one said "all who wish to obtain a certificate would do well to attend the spring term of the Hampton school." Now we believe anyone wanting an education or expecting to teach next winter, will do well to attend the Hampton school.

But when anyone goes to school merely to obtain a certificate, it would be better for him, or at least for the people, to have a mill stone tied about his neck and cast into the Sea.

Beatie of Antioch, seems to have a con "tread." She had better shine his eyes and shoot him but cr he will get away. No one was more surprised, than was soon to see that Beatie had demised her sex, and claimed to be a he-male. It is in the case, she should dress in he-male attire. Coon.

A BOON TO MERCHANTS.

The Morse Button Case and Exhibitor Heartily Endorsed.

Some months ago we published an article describing the Morse Button Case and Exhibitor, an ingenious, yet simple and very useful article patented by Mr. J. H. Morse, of this place, a man that promises to lighten the burdens of humanity by his inventive genius. He has already obtained patents on two splendid articles, and has a patent pending for another; but this notice is not to bring the inventor but his invention before the public. When the Button Case was first brought to light, the keen eye and good judgement of Mr. T. J. Cameron, one of Marion's oldest and most successful merchants, readily saw and appreciated the merits of the invention. Without waste of time Mr. Cameron purchased the right to manufacture and sell the case in the United States. He has had a number of the cases manufactured, and now has one on exhibition and in use at his store. The following are some very cogent reasons why every merchant who handles buttons will find this case indispensable:

1st. It keeps the stock of buttons clean, neat and new, free from dust, free from soiling by cautious handling.

2nd. It affords an easy, convenient and rapid means of handling buttons in any quantity, and dispenses with the endless search for this or that particular button. At a glance the purchaser can see every style of button in stock, and in a minute it can be removed from the case without disturbing any other button.

3rd. It advertises the buttons, keeps them before the public; your stock is handsomely exhibited at all times, thereby increasing the sale on buttons.

4th. It shows up the buttons so admirably that your old stock which is often thrown aside as worthless, can be placed in the exhibitor and worked off at a handsome profit; otherwise would be a total loss.

5th. It saves time, and time is money, and in this one instance will pay for itself in 60 days.

6th. It keeps each style of buttons separate, and always before the eye of the public, and not a button is dropped from the card and lost, which is often done in handling buttons in the old way, thereby destroying the sale of 1 dozen buttons, for the loss of one destroys the sale of a dozen.

7th. The Cases are neat and attractive and add to the beauty and artistic appearance of the store, and all progressive and tasteful merchants will hail with delight its advent for its many commendable merits.

8th. The spool case has proved a great blessing to all merchants throughout this land for its convenience in handling thread, and they are placed in every store. Now the
