Remember the primary Saturday.

The new constitution is gaining strength.

Vote for Clark or Summers at the primary Saturday.

Seven and a quarter millions in gold coin was shipped to Europe last week.

President Harrison's electioneering tour has thus far been a pleasant affair.

The money spent by the less Congress amounts to $15.87 for every man, woman and child in the country for the last year.

All Kentuckians are watching Louisville this week. That which politics fails to catch, the horse races catches in.

Reliable reports say that Kansas and Nebraska will have the largest yield of wheat this year ever known in those States.

Reports from the northwest say that the frost last week did irreparable damage to the growing wheat crop.

It is estimated that the strike in the coke regions of Pennsylvania has entailed a loss of from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000.

M. Quad, the famous Detroit humorist, has been added to the New York World's staff, and will write for no other paper.

President Polk, of the National Alliance, is opposed to the third party so long as there is hope that the old parties will concede to the Alliance's demands.

We have pretty fair public roads, and the anti-road working men are on top; but he will be the "under dog" in the mud again when fall and winter comes.

The recent census located the center of population of the U. S. States at Columbus, Indiana, and a monument to designate the spot was dedicated Saturday.

The two former candidates are not making a hot-trout canvass for the Legislature, but while the two are seated now, the lucky one will have the summer.

The Pennsylvania coke men have hired another reinforcement of Pinkerton detectives and feel fully prepared to have McKinley protection go on with its work.

President Harrison has about finished his swing around the circle. Everywhere he was treated as the President of this great country should be, with the highest consideration.

Christian county Republicans instructed their delegates to vote for Mr. V. Monarch, the big distiller of Owensboro, for Governor. A man with a barrel goes a long way in politics.

Last week the Santa, a privateer of the Chinese insurance, steamed out of the harbor of San Diego, California, after having loaded with contraband goods, and while a United States cutter was on board, she was fired at, and a vessel in charge. The act of the Whitefish in carrying supplies to the insurgents of Chili is a violation of the laws of nations, and the United States cruiser Charleston has been ordered to capture insurgent vessel wherever she may be found on the Pacific sea.

The Democratic forces are gathered in Louisville. Nothing can be told of the result until the war of the ballots begins to day. There are 145 contested seats and there will be a lively fight over these.

The people of the new third party of the country are to no alarming extent recruits from the old parties; especially in this true of the more prominent ones who are trying to organize a "new party." They come from the old third parties, and their heads are more or less sore from striking brick walls while madly careering as political leaders.

Detective O'Malley, notoriously connected with the New Orleans affair, has published a long card, defending his glorious self. He says that he has a theory about the death of Hennessy, and that the Mafia had nothing to do with it. O'Malley's infamous record adds nothing to his standing, and the people who believe his statements are few, far between, and very small.

Crop statistics for the past year returned to the State Auditor by County Assessors, show a total of 106,811,998 pounds of tobacco produced in Kentucky last season, Christian county leading with 9,850,500 pounds. This total was an increase of 2,040,855 pounds over the preceding year, and the largest single crop since 1884, when the total was 226,147,027 pounds. The hemp crop of 1890 aggregated 12,445,358 lbs.; hay 243,470 tons; corn 42,116,997 bushels; wheat 8,604,790 bushels; and oats 3,692,020 bushels.

In another column is the call for a primary election to nominate a candidate for the Legislature. Livingston county selected the time, and the Democratic party of Crittenden cheerfully acquiesced, even on short notice. Democrats, turn out. We have two good farmer candidates to select from; take your choice, close up the lines and support the nominee. All the opposing forces appear to be concentrating their strength and preparing to beat the nominee; not because he will be incapable or unworthy, or does not represent the political sentiments of the voters of the district, but because he is the nominee.

The amount of money in the banks and in actual circulation on May 1, is stated by the Secretary of the Treasury at $1,000,000,000 ($1,000,000,000 gold; $57,368,507 minor silver coin) so that, in taking the round numbers, one third of the money supposed to be in circulation is in the paper $346,000,000 in greenbacks; $163,000,000 national bank notes; $312,000,000 silver certificates; $138,000,000 gold certificates; and $37,000,000 bullion notes for the purchase of silver, payable in either gold or silver under the Bullion Purchase act of last year.

A movement is on foot in Washington to pension the old worn out clerks in the government service; the pension to come out of the salaries of the United States Treasury to come from the rich, prosperous and gamblers on our hillside and in our valleys. No doubt these poor, decrepit, ill used, abused clerks in the various departments need careful attention. Uncle Sam ought to be ashamed of himself for forcing people to accept clerkships and wear their poor lives away working eight hours a day.

The situation of the railroad and mining enterprises of this country is not exactly pleasant to those who expected good things. The Passes find a little shaky about the future of the Marion, Princeton and Ohio River railroad, but still the devil has no grip on it yet, and as long as there is life there is hope. Some other enterprises are not moving as rapidly as they might, but stringency of money matters, and mismanagement, largely chargeable with this. The gentlemen who have been devoting their time and some of their money to developing the minerals of the county, were novices in that line of business, and while their most sanguine hopes have not been realized, and tardiness of affairs brings some discouragement, they are still in the ring, and if not as full of fight they have more mature ideas, gathered from experience, and will not give up the ship. In due season they will be developed. In the meantime let us let no opportunity to move forward be lost.

A CALL.

DEMOCRATS, ATTENTION!

At a meeting of the Democratic County Committee held this day at Marion, it was ordered that a PRIMARY ELECTION be held in Crittenden county on Saturday, May 16, 1891, to nominate a candidate for the Legislature and that polls be opened at all the regular voting places in each precinct and at Weston, Shady Grove, Moore's Store, Needmore, and Barnett's School House in addition.

All persons who will agree to support the nominee at the August election are entitled to vote in said primary election.

The Democratic Committee of each precinct is required to prepare poll-books and to see that proper officers for holding the election are appointed. The polls shall be opened from 8 o'clock, a.m. until 5 o'clock, p.m.

The officers holding said election are required to deliver the poll-books to the Chairman of the County Committee on or before May 15. The Chairman, in connection with the county committee, shall on that day open the vote and certify to the result.

An old man by the name of Copeland died Sunday; he was from Tennessee and had been a kind of faith doctor around in the edges of Crittenden and Caldwell.

W. J. Stone, of Lynn, was in town Saturday. Stone has made the best Representatives in Congress this district has ever had, and he should be re-elected continuously for the rest of his life, for he has proven himself worthy of the position.

A first class hotel could be rented at good rates if some one will build it at once. There has been several applications for a hotel in Kelsey, but there is none for rent; somebody is losing money by not building one at once.

The Sunday School went on a fishing expedition to Livingston creek last Saturday and had a jolly good time, but very few fish were caught. They had a fine dinner on the ground, in fact a first class picnic in every respect.

Go to Jacobs & Deane, with your hams, lard, young chickens, eggs, feathers, rags, live young squirrels and money, and they will pay you the best market price and sell you goods too cheap to talk about; and tell your neighbors to go to Jacobs & Deane for low prices and good bargains.

Notice, Customers! We have 24 oil paintings to give to all who buy $25 worth of goods at our store. Choose of them and get paintings so that you can know it desired who the 24 paintings go to.

Freedom Church.

When Freedom from mountain height she tore the azure robe of night, And placed its stars of glory there!

And I am proud to state that the banner of Old Freedom again waves through for several months she has hugged the flagstaff "without a flutter."

Will Hughes is running his father's farm this year.

Alderson Neal is running the Wilson farm, formerly occupied by Will Hughes.

My old friend J. C. B. McMeen has been changed into another school district. Jim is a good fellow and we are sorry to lose him.

I learn another effort is to be made to grade the Boone hill. If this improvement can be made it will be a good thing for our people.

I also made the acquaintance of Mr. Spruille's family, who occupy another rancho of mine, known as the McGregor farm. The Spruilles are strangers in this section, but they seem to be nice people, and their neighbors all speak well of them.

Uncle Jimmy Brown looks as young and frisky as a yearling colt, but I am sorry to learn that his wife is in poor health. I have a nice present for little Miss Mary Russell Brown, Uncle Jimmy, and I want you to send to the Press office and get it.

On the Saturday after my return home I visited my enterprising young friend Sam Conner, who now occupies one of my ranches in the country. Sam has a good deal of get up about him, and he is the proud possessor of one of the handsomest pair of twins in the county.

Since my return from Arizona, I have been beating Francis Marion Clement, Jr., out of my hand, and was pleased to meet among the boarders Mr. G. Washington Price, of Nelson county, a number of whose relatives I knew forty years ago, when I had charge of the telegraph office at Bardonia. Last Saturday Mr. Price went on a fishing frolic to the old Ford farm, now owned by Mr. Morrell. The party caught 15 pounds of nice fish and a big turtle, and enjoyed a fine fish dinner Sunday.

George says Mr. Morrell has 50 acres of corn, fine pastures well stocked, and he enjoyed his trip hugely. George is a good fellow and more and better whisky out of three grains of corn than any man in Kentucky. Neither George or Marion ever drink, however.

We feel it our duty, in justice to the church and community here, to say that the church and people can make no more approval of the action of the church at its last session in refusing Rev Best the privilege of taking up collection to aid the American Bible Society in its most excellent and laudable work in our country. We know not the ground for this extraordinary proceeding, but we feel perfectly safe in saying that if the idea and purpose of this society had been presented, the congregation at Union would have welcomed the opportunity and cheerfully given its mite to this work. Suffice it to say, the pastor was not present at the time of that action of the church.

POISONED LIQUOR.

Used as a Weapon of Death in Washington County.

Harrodsburg, Ky., May 8.—News has just reached here of one of the most heinous and premeditated poisoning and murder cases ever committed in Washington county. It is the sequel of a terrible crime committed last February, when Calvin Vest and his wife were shot and killed by their son, who was a member of the Harrodsburg and the room was killed, while returning home, by Jeff Holliday and his two brothers, who began shooting at and killed Vest in the sight of his young bride. The Hollids escaped for a few days but were arrested and young Jeff Holliday is in jail now, at Springfield awaiting trial. Jim Matherly is a cousin of Vest, and a son of Tildor Matherly. Young Matherly has been busy collecting evidence against the Hollids, but has always pretended great friendship for them. Yesterday afternoon one of the Vest boys, a brother of Calvin Vest who was killed by the Hollids, and Matherly were together at a country house in Washington county, when they saw Jeff Holliday, Sr., pass by on horseback. The supposition is that Vest and Matherly fixed the drug to poison Holliday. Young Matherly caught up with Holliday, and knowing Holliday's weakness offered him a drink. Holliday accepted and drank a good 4 angit, when he pulled the bottle from his lips and remarked it had a very bitter taste. He was urged to drink some more, but refused, at the same time asking Matherly to drink one. When Holliday insisted on his drinking some, Matherly frayed the bottle to his lips but it fell on a rock, breaking it. Matherly here left Holliday, who began to feel the effects of the poison, rode to a house near by, and telling the inmates what had occurred died in twenty minutes, in convulsions.

I have been troubled with chronic sore eyes for forty-five years, and during that time I have used many different remedies, but have never found until I procured a box of Chamberlain's Eye and Skin Ointment. I have used only about one third of the box, and can truthfully say, I never had my eyes feel as well, nor look as well as they do now. I expect to cure them entirely with the Ointment. Four Negroes Cremated!

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 4.—At a railroad camp, on the Chattanooga Southern road, twenty miles below Chattanooga, four negro laborers were burned to death Sunday night. The laborers had been gambling and drinking in a box car, until a few minutes before the fire was discovered. They were at once completely stupor and the car was completely destroyed before the camp reached the disaster. The origin of the fire is unknown, but charges are made that the burned men were companions of the burned men for the purpose of robbery, as one of the occupants had been winning in a big game of craps.
