Hon. Josiah Harris, Prohibition candidate for Governor, will address the people at Marion on Friday, June 26, at 2 o'clock p. m., and at Princeton the same night.

An earthquake shock was felt at Charleston, S. C., Tuesday night.

The usual weekly bulletin: Secretary Noble will resign if Raun don't.

Saturday two and a half million dollars in gold was shipped from New York to Europe.

In passing judgment on the new constitution compare it with the old and not with your ideal.

The Anaconda mine, at Butte, Mont., has been sold to an English syndicate for $25,000,000.

John L. Sullivan offers to fight Slavin for $10,000. It will be a great day when John L. meets his match.

The newspapers have Mr. Blaine in good health again. This may or may not be good news to Mr. Harrison.

The Nashville Savings Bank suspended payment Monday; and the Florence National Bank, Florence, Ala., is in the same box.

Rev Sam Small has sued a brother preacher, Rev J. Wesley Hill, for libel in charging that Small misused the funds of the Utah University.

Hon. Walter Evans, Judge Tinsley and Congressman Wilson, three of the prominent Republicans of the State, are making speeches against the new constitution.

King, the murderer of lawyer Polk at Memphis, is trying to escape justice by pleading the insanity dodge. Oh, insanity, what crimes are committed in thy name.

Senator Callom, of Illinois, has announced that he is a candidate for President. When the Republicans select their candidates they will not Callom from the Sucker State.

American laborers assaulted a gang of Italians in a contractor's camp near St Louis Monday and drove them off. The same day 1200 Italian immigrants landed in New York.

An agricultural paper at Chicago has received reports from the wheat harvest in several States. It estimates the average yield in Kentucky at ten to fifteen bushels per acre.

According to the report of the Assessors, Kentucky farmers raised last year 166,811,996 pounds of tobacco, 370,642 tons of hay, 41,971,822 bushels of corn, 6,979,749 bushels of wheat.

It transpires that Hon. A. T. Wood, Republican candidate for Governor, was outspoken against the new constitution two weeks before the convention which nominated him for Governor and endorsed the new constitution.

Hon. John S. Rhea had evidently made his arrangements to stump Kentucky this year, and failing to get the nomination for Attorney General he is making speeches against the new constitution.

An express train on the Missouri Pacific road was attached by a constable and held for three hours at Eschels, Colorado, to collect a debt of $17.50 the road had neglected to pay. Moral: The triphammer of negligence can stop the big as well as the little citizen—in some States.

Dr. Erwin, who was suspended from the Presidency of the State Alliance a few months ago, has decided to accept the nomination of the Third party for Governor. He is also a candidate for State Senator in his district. The doctor seems determined to let no honors go floating around loose.

Ex-United States Senator Joseph E. McDonald died at his home in Indianapolis Sunday night. He was a man of sterling qualities, and as a patriot and statesman he stood high in the estimation of his countrymen. He was a champion of the Indiana Democracy. He was born in Ohio in 1819; was admitted to the bar in 1844; was elected to Congress in 1848, and was a United States Senator from 1875 to 1881.

Congressman Wilson, of West Virginia one of the ablest of the Democratic leaders in the fight for Tariff Reform, will edit the Tariff Reform Department of the St Louis Republic, aided by all the prominent tariff reformers of the country. It will be a great feature of the Weekly Republic (issued in two parts, one Tuesday and one Friday) which is only ONE DOLLAR a year. Send for a sample copy, which is sent free.

T. J. Nunn, of Marion, is mentioned as a probable candidate for circuit judge in this district.—Morganfield Sun.

Judge Nunn is eminently qualified for the position. As a man he is clean and upright, sober and discreet, as a lawyer he ranks with the best at the bar of the State. His equitable temperament, his analytical mind, his fine judgment and thorough knowledge of the law, arm him exceedingly well for the bench. Should he be a candidate his own county will give him practically a unanimous vote; and should he be elected he will add to the good name and reputation of the bench in this district.

They Are for It.

A PRESS representative called up on the members of the Marion bar for their positions on the new constitution, and the following was the result:

I think that I am for it. Since I have read and re-read it, I think it is an improvement on the old one. Still there are some objectionable features.—J. G. Rochester.

I have not read it, but I am for it. It's a better constitution than the one we have.—W. I. Cruce.

I am for it. I have read it twice. I don't see how any laboring man can afford to vote against it.—W. J. Deboe.

I like it better than I do the old. Three things that now need constitutional provisions, namely, corporations, railroads and municipalities, were in their infancy when the old was adopted, and our experience with them since that day has taught us the wisdom of making provisions for their government in our organic law.—S. Hodge.

I am for it, while I think it could be better; I think it is much better than the old.—A. C. Moore.

Yes sir, I have read the new constitution from one end to the other and think it is decidedly better than the old. It effectually settles local legislation, which consumes a large part of the legislature's time; it taxes banks just the same as it taxes individuals, which is fair and right; while it treats railroads and other corporations fairly, it curbs their greed; it does away with taxing people to build railroads; it provides for a secret ballot. These are a few things that make it worthy of adoption. There are others that time and experience will prove to be good features.—C. S. Nunn.

I have no read the entire document but so far as I have examined I think it is an improvement on the old and shall vote for it.—J. W. Blue, Jr.

I have just commenced reading the new instrument and have not digested enough to say whether I am for or against it, when I am through, I will give you my views.—L. H. James.

Storms were reported Saturday in various sections of the country, but Kentucky escapes with but little damage. At Bevier, in Muhlenburg county, seven houses were destroyed and one life was lost. The Methodist church in Lewisport, Hancock county, was wrecked, barns were blown down and one man was killed. Wheat and corn were washed out in Graves county, and some damage was done in Davies. Kansas was the heaviest sufferer. There was some loss of life, some loss of property and great damage to crops. Fort

Scott was deluged by a cloud burst; Arkansas City was struck by a cyclone; Emporia was shaken by a tornado, and Channah was damaged by a plain, hard blow. In Missouri the loss is principally around Osceola, where crops were damaged to the extent of $500,000. In Illinois there is some wind wrecked country. A cyclone struck the town of Effingham, and several buildings were blown away.

A tornado passed through Hancock county Saturday, doing great damage to crops, fences and barns. David Ray, a young man, was killed in the debris of a falling barn.

A cyclone passed through Monroe and Metairie counties Saturday, tearing down buildings and destroying crops. A number of people were injured but none killed.

Death of C. G. Colmisenell.

The writer of this paragraph has just heard of the death of Charles G. Colmisenell, brother of Capt. W. F. Colmisenell, the able conductor on the O. V. railroad, which sad event recently occurred in far off Washington. The writer had the pleasure of being associated with the deceased as correspondent of the Galveston News, and Houston Post. Tex., and desires to pay a tribute to the memory of an accomplished journalist and most elegant gentleman, and one in whom were embodied every qualification which goes to make up a most worthy citizen, and we heart tender our heartfelt sympathies to his brother and other relatives and friends throughout Kentucky.

Cro a in Crittenden county are in good shape. A good wheat crop is being harvested; the growing corn is clean of weeds, and the recent generous rains have put it to growing rapidly. An average tobacco crop will demand the attention of the farmers through the summer.

Gray & Alley brought sixty head of cattle to Marion Saturday for shipment. The cattle averaged 1350 pounds each, and were as fine a lot as has been shipped from this place in many a day. They sold out here to an Evansville man, and made money by selling out just when they did.

Marion people think little of their dead, if we are to judge them by the condition of the cemetery. Weeds, briars, decaying fences, tumble down grave stones and the rambling hog greets one on every side of the misnamed enclosure. This should not be and will not be if the people will take the time to think about it.

Mr. A. C. Moore has been authorized to practice before the Department of the Interior and Bureau thereof. He will give special attention to pension claims and claimants will find him a safe and reliable man to deal with. If you file a claim for a pension you can do no better than place it in his hands. See his card in another column.

We acknowledge the receipt of a copy of "Crop Statistics," a circular issued by Hon. U. Y. Wilson, Commissioner of Agriculture, showing the amount of corn, hay, wheat and tobacco raised in each county in the State in 1890. There are 19 counties that raise more corn than Crittenden, and 97 that produce less. In the other products we fall nearer the foot of the column.

The school at this place next year will continue under the management of Rev. James F. Price as principal. Miss Addie Crawford has been employed as primary teacher. Mr. Kelly will not teach here, having found a more remunerative position. Under the management of Mr. Price the school has been doing splendid work and his continuance as principal was a wise thing.

Thos. Peak, a colored boy sixteen years of age, was accidentally shot and killed at Thomas Lowry's, near Salem, Sunday. Three negroes were in their room on the place; Sam Bowden, one of the three, attempted to take his pistol from the pocket of a coat that was hanging on the wall; the weapon was accidentally discharged and the ball struck Peak in the back of the head, passing through his head and out just above the eye. Death was instantaneous.

Dr. T. H. Cossitt, the Marion dentist, was in town today. He came over to do some dental work, for which he was specially called. While here he decided to make regular visits to this place, and he will give due notice of his coming. He is a first-class dentist and the people will be much pleased with his work. We can say that a job he did for us sixteen years ago is as good today as it was the day it was done.—Stargis Enterprise.

Mr. James R. Summers, the Democratic nominee for the Legislature, was in town Monday. He is cheerful over the outlook, and expects to poll an old time Democratic vote. Mr. Summers is an excellent man, and the general opinion of the people is the longer you know him the better you like him; his unpretentious character, modest ways, yet frank and plain manner show that he is in no wise a politician, but every inch a fair, honest man.

Eli Adams, one of the prisoners taken to Frankfort by Sheriff Cruce, returned with him Friday. He was pardoned by the Governor upon the petition of the jurors and the court. His feeble mind kept him from serving a term in the penitentiary. He is wanted in Livingston county to answer a charge of stealing money.

His taste for obtaining valuables without the consent of their owners needs punishment of some character. There ought to be a house of correction for such a class of criminals.

At the late term of circuit court, J. H. Walker, trustee of the jury fund, received as State funds:

From circuit clerk, 57 19

From sheriff, 129 29

To petit jurors, 390 00

Edgar McRea, the twenty-year-old son of Mr. W. H. McRea, died at his father's home in this place Sunday June 21, after an illness of ten days. He came from school at Hopkinsville a few weeks ago, and went to Blackford and began work for Mr. Frank McCoy. He was stricken down with flux and remained at that place until Saturday, when he was brought to Marion. He was a promising young man, having just completed his education and begun life for himself. The remains were buried in the Marion cemetery Monday. The bereaved family has the sympathy of the entire community in this sad and trying affliction.

We learn from our esteemed friend the Rev. A. A. Niles, of Cairo, Ky., that a grand work has been accomplished by Rev. J. J. Smith and himself in the counties of Jefferson, Hamilton and Franklin, Ill., and that the Holiness workers will hold the first meeting of the Union Holiness Association at Spring Garden, commencing July 29 and closing the 2d of August. About 500 persons in the counties named have professed the experience of sanctification and more than three hundred others conversion. Some of the ablest preachers in Kentucky of the doctrines of sanctification are to accompany Bros. Smith and Niles to the Association, among them Revs J. W. Bigham and B. A. Cundiff, of Henderson.—Henderson Journal.

The dramatic entertainment given last week were well attended and deserved the good patronage received. The music was splendid and the dramatic personae was not only creditable but a source of justifiable pride to the local lovers of the drama. Mr. E. A. Donakey, the central figure in Nevada, carried his part well; his magnificent voice and thorough conception of the character show that he has considerable talent. Miss Lillie McGowan as Mollie, the leading lady, impersonated the wait to a degree of perfection rarely found in amateur clubs. Miss Grace Perkins makes a handsome and graceful old lady. Miss Ada James has a good voice. As a miner, Henry Stone appeared to advantage, his somewhat elongated physique and grotesque enunciation brings vividly to mind the typical gold digger. Harry Baugh's make up as a Chinaman as well as closely knit oriental dialect carried one to the laundry door. Sandy Adams, as the negro brought down the house. David Kevill, as the lover, and Frank Cossitt, as the detective, played well. Upon a whole it was the best work our local club has ever done.

Everybody should avail themselves of the opportunity to go and hear them in the premises.

Friday a representative of the Press spent a few hours in Blackford, the place with so much notoriety, on the O. V. road eleven miles from Marion. Within the last year there has been a great improvement in the little village, and whatever it may have been it does not now deserve to be under the tongue of disrepute. A few unfortunate affairs occurred there earlier in its history, but it is now peaceful and pleasant, and promises to be a splendid business point. It is surrounded by a good country, and is some distance from any other town, and considerable business is done there in a small way.

The business houses there are

W. H. Hudson, groceries; Sam Morgan, dry goods, with R. L. Morgan as manager; Isaac Scott, groceries; John Simpson, groceries; N. A. Morgan, groceries and postmaster; Joel Taber, dry goods; Jas. Walker, blacksmith. All are doing well and are interested in the growth of the place, and will tell you that Blackford is coming to the front. Alex. Woody and Dave Crowell have a neat saw and grist mill and are enterprising men, who expect to add improvements to their property. But by far the largest business concern in the place is the Tradewater Lumber Manufacturing Company. Mr. Frank McCoy has charge of this business. A new mill, with all the modern improvements and conveniences for handling logs and lumber, has but recently been put up. It cuts from 25,000 to 30,000 feet of lumber per day, and is moving along in splendid shape. It is located on the banks of Tradewater river, and thousands of logs from the dense forest along the banks of the river for forty miles can be carried to the saw at a minimum cost. A switch from the O. V. to the mill also carries in logs and carries out the lumber for Chicago and other markets, where on account of its high grade it finds a ready market at good figures. Mr. McCoy is an experienced lumberman himself, and he has Messrs S. W. Davis and Frank Duncan, expert sawyers and lumbermen, employed. The lumber yards are conveniently located and already have a large lot of fine hard lumber stacked on them. There are a ready thirty hands on the payroll of the mill, and a planing machine will be put in shortly, and the working force increased. It is the largest rough lumber mill in this section of the State, and being situated in the center of an almost inexhaustible supply of timber, it will do an immense business for some time to come. Mr. McCoy is a fine business man, full of enterprise, and will make this mill a success.

Recently the O. V. has put in a telegraph office, and there is talk of a new depot in the near future, which shows that business is on the increase.

Blackford boasts of the second best school house in Webster county.

The Colored Normal.

Our school will close Friday June 26, and we shall give a concert on Friday night for the benefit of the C. M. E. Church and pastor. We are glad to say that the school has been a grand success. Some of the teachers say that they feel ten per cent stronger. We hope the spirit of improvement which has actuated the teachers of this and adjoining counties will spread throughout Western Kentucky, and that such schools may elevate the standard of our teachers generally. We highly appreciate the respect that has been shown us, and the encouragement that has been given us by Prof. Price, Mr. R. C. Walker and other white citizens of Marion. This is the best little city in Kentucky. We go away but Marion will see us again.

Geo. W. Brooks, Teacher.
