THEY DIVIDE.

THE ANTI-SUBTREASURY LEAVE THE ALLIANCE.

And Will Hold a Meeting at Memphis, Other Matters Concerning the Organization.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 20.—The various farmers' organizations have nearly completed their work, and the Supreme Council of the Alliance which is holding out the longest, will probably finish its work tomorrow. To-day the F. M. B. A. adjourned after amending its constitution so as to admit to membership men and women over 18 years of age. It resolved not to amalgamate with any other organization until the February meeting.

The advocates of holding the Alliance to its present policy and confining it strictly to a non-political organization are jubilant to-day over the selection of officers yesterday, when all the old officers were re-elected, and under circumstances which showed conclusively that the Third party element is but a minor faction in the Alliance.

The only contest made by the latter was in the selection of Willets, of Kansas, as national lecturer. Traveling all over the country and meeting with leading Alliance men daily, his office is an influential one, and the Third party advocates were anxious to defeat him with a man favorable to their policy. They placed Utley, of Kansas, in nomination, but the vote was ninety-eight to eighteen in Willets' favor, showing conclusively that the anti Third party element is decidedly in the majority.

In speaking of the result to-day, Congressman Simpson said that there would be no change in the policy of the Alliance, as political action was directly opposed to the genius of the organization, and any departure would end in its disruption.

The Alliance this morning gave a final coup to the anti-Sub-Treasury people by barring Gates, of Missouri, from the meeting of the Alliance. This was done by a resolution excluding all Alliance men who are not vouched for by the Chairman of their respective State delegations. Mr. Leonard refused to vouch for Mr. Gates, and although he bore credentials from his State Alliance, he was forced to retire.

The anti-Sub-Treasury people made prompt response by issuing the following call for a convention of anti-Sub-Treasury Alliance men at Memphis on the 16th day of December, prox:

"Headquarters of the Anti-Sub-Treasury National Executive Committee, Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 20, 1891.—A call for a National Convention of Anti-Sub-Treasury Alliance men.

"Whereas, The National Committee of the convention of the Anti-Sub-Treasury Alliance men held in the city of St. Louis, Mo., on the 15th and 16th of September, 1891, appointed to present to the Supreme Council of the National Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union when assembled in Indianapolis, November 17, 1891, a memorial and protest against the sub-Treasury and land loan schemes and proposed governmental control of railroad and telegraph lines have in due form and respectful manner appeared to present said protest to the Supreme Council; and

"Whereas, The Supreme Council aforesaid, has declined to hear said protest; and

"Whereas, The committee was empowered and instructed by the said St. Louis convention to call another National convention to hear and consider the report of said committee.

"Now, therefore, the National Executive Committee of the St. Louis Conventions does truly issue call for a National Convention of all anti-sub-Treasury Alliance men in the United States, to be held in the City of Memphis, in the State of Tennessee, on the 16th day of December, 1891, to hear and consider this report of the committee and take such final action in the premises as may seem proper and best for the general welfare.

"Let all local organizations of the Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union and other farmers and industrial organizations send full delegations, the number from each such local organization to be determined by itself.

"Wm. S. McAllister, Chm.

"R. W. Nichols, Sec'y."

Negotiations between the Anti and the Sub-Treasury scheme advocates have been formally broken off, and there is now no prospect that they will be renewed during this meeting. The Anti are very much chagrined over the result, and they declare that a new organization with anti-sub-Treasury and anti-government control of Railroad plank will be formed in the Northwest where the sentiment in opposition to the present policy of the Alliance on these propositions is practically unanimous.

The evidence that they are in a combine with the Jute Trust, the Cordage Company and the National Union Company to beat the Alliance has received additional force by the discovery that a secret meeting was held yesterday, over which President Balch, of the National Union Company presided.

The Alliance leaders regard this as undisputed evidence that their business agents are in a combine, and pointed charges will be made at the executive session to day.

The Committee on Platform reported this morning and recommended the re-adoption of the Omaha platform entire, with the exception of a verbal change in the sub-treasury plank, where the plank favors loaning money at 2 per cent. interest, it is changed to issue money at a tax of not more than 2 cents. After a stiff fight, the resolution demanding that Alliance Congressmen shall not enter party caucuses, was adopted.

Under the constitution persons of mixed occupations have been eligible to membership but this clause has now been repealed, and only farmers and farm laborers are eligible. An amendment to admit city mechanics was almost unanimously voted down. Another amendment excluded the business agents of State Alliances from membership in the council, they having been heretofore admitted.

Opposed to the Plan.

The Madisonville Hustler says:

"We are decidedly opposed to the State going with the school book publishing business as has been suggested by some. We have many reasons for opposing this move. It is an expensive undertaking and would increase the taxes without materially benefitting the masses. The State already pays most of the tuition of the pupil, and is under no obligation to furnish the books for him to study from. It would perhaps be just as well that the State undertake to furnish school shoes, school hats, school cloaks, or school dinners as that it should furnish school books. School books may be bought now at from 15 to 25 per cent. cheaper than ever before. There are now many houses in different cities which publish these books and all these seek to introduce their wares. There is competition in this line as well as that of another. These books may be too high, but the same argument applies equally as well to anything else that he may be called upon to purchase. The plan of State publication has been tried in other States and has almost universally been a failure. Kentucky as a State has plenty other places for her money without making experiment along this line."

The Old, Old Story.

The Paducah Standard: "Yesterday morning in the neighborhood of Symsonia, Buckner Bolton, a boy 17 years old, and one of his father's farm hands were scuffling over a gun. It seems that the hired man had the gun in his hands and that Buckner proceeded to take it from him. Alfred Bolton, a six year old brother of Buckner, was standing by and interested spectator to the scuffle for the possession of the gun. In some manner that is unknown to both Buckner and the hired man, the gun was discharged, and the bullet Alfred on the forehead and plowed its way through his tender skull, inflicting instant death.

KANSAS EQUAL SUFFRAGIST.

The Editor of the Topeka "Capital" Throws a Fire Brand Into Their Camp.

Topeka, Kan., Nov. 19.—The Kansas Equal Suffrage Association was in session here to day, and the discussions were spirited. Heretofore this association has been regarded as a Republican aid society, but recently the women of the towns and cities of Kansas have become more vigorous and have voted as they pleased, and to day several of the most prominent boasted of their independence.

Mrs. Laura M. Johns, State president, in discussing the objects of the association to-day, said: "The ladies are not here merely for pleasure, nor even to talk over the work they have accomplished in the past. They are here to hold a counsel of war and again lay siege to the citadel of the ballot box. Municipal suffrage is not enough. They want a free and unrestricted suffrage, and they will not put up with less than their sisters in Wyoming have secured. After years of labor by the Equal Suffrage Society with the Legislature, they secured the passage of a bill in 1887 allowing women to vote at municipal and school elections. That was considered quite a victory at the time, but the women want more. They want the unqualified right to vote every time the men do."

J. K. Hudson, editor of the Daily Capital, has been the recognized champion of prohibition and equal suffrage, contending that if the Republican party would make these two reforms a part of the Republican creed, it would make Republican supremacy in Kansas certain for all time. To day he was invited to address the women and he proceeded to throw a firebrand into the camp which caused a sensation. He showed that in Topeka last spring, instead of the women voting for the Republican candidate for Mayor and thereby aiding the party that gave them the right to vote, enough of them voted with the Democracy to elect its candidate. He charged also that on the night after the election the Democrat reclusinists and whiskey guzzlers got together to jolly and that they drank whiskey and beer to the health of the good Christian temperance sisters who had heroically aided them in winning a glorious Democratic victory. Many of the women shook their head at this and manifested their disapproval of the speech.

Mulholland Indicted and Under Bond.

Thursday's Louisville Times contained the following: "The capias for ex-Postmaster Hugh Mulholland's arrest was served this morning by Deputy Marshal Weaver. Mr. Mulholland telephoned to the marshal's office that whenever he was wanted, he could be found at his father's coal office. He executed bond in the sum of $3,000 as soon as the deputy marshal appeared. Mr. Mulholland looks confident of acquittal, and feels upon the prosecution as the outcome of malice."

CAUSES TROUBLE.

G. D. Crain Causes the Separation of Man and Wife.

Sunday's Courier Journal contained the following: "A scandal is rife at Henderson, in which G. D. Crain, of this city, a solicitor for the New York Life Insurance Company, is implicated. N. E. Calmer, of Henderson, also a traveling agent for the New York Life, several months since had a stormy interview with his wife, claiming that she was unduly intimate with Crain. Several days ago Calmer received information that his wife who, he supposed, had gone to Uniontown, had in fact gone to Morganfield with Crain. He immediately started in pursuit, armed with a shot-gun. He failed to find them, however, and on his return to Henderson met his wife. A sensational scene followed, which resulted in a separation.

Crain is said to have come on to this city at once, but his name could not be found in a search through the City Directory."

CUMBERLAND RIVER.

Resolutions Passed by the Annual Convention at Nashville.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 19.—The second annual convention of the Cumberland River Improvement Association convened in this city yesterday, with a large delegation of attendance. Many of the delegates as well as Tennessee commissioners represented by sterling and industrial men. Ohio and Indiana were also well represented and speakers were made by Congressman Smith of Kentucky, McMillin, of Tennessee, and other prominent men. After due deliberation the committee on resolutions reported the following which were adopted:

"Whereas, Representatives of the entire Cumberland Valley and Ohio and Indiana, were invited to attend a convention held in this city Nov. 18, 1891, to advance the movement directed toward the improvement of navigation along the Cumberland river and representatives of twenty of the counties of Tennessee and Kentucky and of commercial cities of Ohio and Indiana are of the opinion that the time has arrived for energetic and prompt action to promote the enterprise in hand. The delegates here assembled would emphasize the opinion that this subject demands the cordial consideration and support of every friend to material prosperity of Tennessee, Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana, and appeals for the united and systematic efforts of the citizens of these States to achieve a success that will crown all with common benefit.

"The committee would earnestly urge upon Congress the immediate necessity of an appropriation sufficient to open the Cumberland River to navigation the year round. In view of the appropriation of large amounts to other rivers, common justice demands a liberal appropriation to this great waterway. The committee desire to emphasize the statement that no river of its length in the United States presents so many advantages. In climate, natural resources and agricultural productions it has no superior, if an equal. As a hard wood country it is unrivaled.

"Resolved, That the representatives of these States hereby pledge themselves to earnest efforts in behalf of Cumberland River improvement until the river is locked and dammed from its mouth to Smith's shoals, and through free navigation shall be open to the marts of the world.

"Resolved, That, as at the present rate of governmental aid several decades would elapse before the contemplated improvements would be completed, urgent appeals be made to Congress to increase the rate of appropriations as fast as possible, and that the Senators and Representatives of all States directly or indirectly interested in this question be petitioned to labor actively to secure the needed enlarged appropriations."

BLOODY CHILL.

How its Recent Battles of Butchery Were Fought.

New York, Nov. 22.—Some very interesting details in regard to the course of events in Chili immediately following the battles which placed the opposition in possession of the city of Valparaiso, as well as on some points relating to the troublous times preceding the Junta's victory, are contained in a private letter recently received here from a young American girl who has been living in Valparaiso and Santiago.

The following are some of the most significant portions of the letter, which is dated at Santiago, September 15. Referring to the treatment of the defeated leaders of the Balmaceda forces, after the battle at Valparaiso, the writer says: "Yes, it is sickening to write it, but I saw that mob fight for a bone, a piece of flesh, a hand, anything out of that cart, and six of the officers of the opposition on horseback looked on and smiled, and they kept that cart around in open view for five days before they threw the bodies into the sea.

"What had these Generals done? Nothing but remained loyal to the Government and lead the armies after the opposition had first attacked. True, they were not good men, but what was left to the President but such men? When they were defeated they were both found wounded on the battlefield. When the enemy went around to make the Repaso Anglo Saxon, butchery of the wounded and demanded their swords, which they were still grasping, they answered, 'Generals never surrender.' Then they killed them, stripped them, cut them in pieces and drew them around Valparaiso. Women—mothers with their daughters—looked on and said, 'well done, so is the vengeance of the Constitutional party. Let them catch Balmaceda and make a roast of him.'"

"After each battle the Government wounded were all killed, and even some of their own by mistake. Perhaps they found forty wounded Government men on the field. On Monday, the 31st, they remembered their wounded, and some soldiers were sent out to bring them in and bury the dead. At one time there were 4,000 wounded in Valparaiso but they sent some to Talca, Chillan and Santiago.

"Do you know how they buried? I rode out on the morning of the 4th of September at 6 o'clock. They piled up the dead after stealing their clothes and arms in piles of fifty each, poured kerosene over them and burned them. At first, they dug wells, very deep, and pitched bodies in headlong, but even this was hard work, so they did the other. I will let you comment, I am past that."

A farmer near Albia, Iowa, by the name of J. H. Wolf, has found a cure for croup. He says: "For the last eight years I have recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for croup. Half of a fifty cent bottle will cure the worst case, it taken in time. On the 20th of this month, my boy, four years old, had the croup very bad and three doses cured him. I would not be without it in my family." If the remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, it will invariably prevent the croup. 50 cent bottles for sale by Hillyard & Woods.

About a year ago Wm. Harvey, of Evansville, purchased a tract of 375 acres of land in Marshall county, for which he paid several thousand dollars. Since he made the purchase he discovered an abundance of fine clay, which made the land more valuable, but recently he has discovered the clay banks turn out to contain an excellent quality of aluminum, 400 pounds to the ton. Since this discovery was made Mr. Harvey has disposed of the land to an English syndicate, receiving $300,000 for the entire tract.—Murray Ledger.

An election was held in the Second Congressional District of Tennessee Saturday to elect a successor to Mr. Hook, who died. The constitution classifies all cities and towns in the State, making six grades; class one being the highest and class six the lowest. All, which fall in the same class, must have a charter, laws, etc., alike. Marion falls down to the foot, in class six, because only about half of her inhabitants live within the corporate lines that were established 49 years ago. All efforts to extend the corporate lines have called forth a storm of "nays" from the outsiders, who enjoy all the advantages of the town without helping to support the corporation, and who can abuse the powers that be without having to pay for it, like those who live within the antiquated lines.

The Kentucky Tobacco Growers warehouse, which has been having a tough time in Louisville, is, it is announced to be moved to Cincinnati. The house was established at Louisville last year, and was the outgrowth of a claim that the old houses in Louisville did not treat the growers right. It is the same house that brought about the removal of Erwin for the State Presidency of the Alliance. The old warehousemen in Louisville have been fighting this enterprise and its removal to Cincinnati, is the result. A Louisville correspondent of the Cincinnati Post probably overdraws the matter in saying: "This will have the effect of removing the supremacy in the tobacco world from Louisville to Cincinnati, an effect most disastrous to the tobacco trade of the Falls City."

A large number of telegraph and telephone wires were carried down with the mass of stone, completely shutting off all communication with the house by wire.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 23.—A storm of great violence and energy swept over this city this morning, doing great damage and injuring several persons, one, it is thought, fatally. The storm broke over the city at 10:15 o'clock without warning, and for seven minutes raged with great fury. The wind then subsided, but a heavy rain continued several hours. From all parts of Pittsburg and Allegheny come reports of damage by the storm. ## GOV. HOVEY DEAD.

Indiana's Chief Magistrate Dies After a Few Days' Illness.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 23.—Governor Hovey died very unexpectedly at 1:20 o'clock to-day.

He had been suffering with an attack of pneumonia several days, but this morning was thought to be much better.

Shortly after 1 o'clock Mrs. Menzies, the Governor's daughter, and other attendants had gone out for a moment, no one but Major Menzies and Dr. Hays remaining with him.

Looking about the room the dying man thought he saw his granddaughter, Miss Mary Menzies. She was always a favorite with him and at sight of her, as he thought, his face brightened and he called out, "May!"

At that moment his heart stopped beating and the pallor of death overspread his features. He was laid gently back on the pillows and his family and friends were called in.

As they gathered about the bed he drew one convulsive breath and was dead.

The remains will be in state at the Capital to-morrow from 9 to 12 o'clock, and in the afternoon Grand Army services will be held over the body in the rotunda.

A special train will bear the remains to Mt. Vernon, where they will be buried on Thursday.

AFTER THE MOB.

Circuit Judge Gives Endorsement to Reach the Punishers of King.

When Circuit Court convened at Dixon Judge Givens urged the Grand Jury to ferret out the persons forming the mob which undertook to punish King, an account of which was published in the Press.

"While the grand jury have not yet made a return, I have no doubt they will give the good people and the mob a fair chance to test their strength in this county. When the test is made I have no fear as to the result. Col. J. H. Powell, attorney for the court, has been and is now and will be to the end with the court. County Judge L. B. Hall has been most earnest in his efforts to aid the court. The sheriff and deputies have done good service on the side of law and order. The jury has been exceedingly conservative. This has resulted from fear of and not from sympathy with the mob. He has perused a letter with a picture of a tree with King and himself hanging to one of its limbs—in the event their mouths come open too wide in the grand jury room. A rumor has in some way found its way into the grand jury room that $1,200 could be raised on short notice if the thing could be 'squeezed.' I have confidence in the integrity of the grand jury."

Since the above was put in type, the grand jury has found indictments against six reputable citizens of the county. They are Robt. and Henry Cutt, Wm. Adcock, Jas. A. Head, Davis Ramsey, Jack Langley. A special term of court will be held Nov. 30 to try these cases.

RELIGIOUS DEPARTMENT

(From the Circuit Rider.)

Spiritual laziness is about as bad as any other kind of laziness.

If we know we are right about a thing, it is not always best to contend for it.

Do not say bitter things of those who oppose themselves. Your sin will be as theirs.

It requires many years for some people to sound the empty depths of their own ignorance.

Public prayer is certainly not the place to speak of the faults of others. Beware, brethren.

It is right hard to find a man who never makes a mistake, and it is sad to meet one who thinks he never does.

To be clean inside and outside is a desirable thing. With plenty of water and cheap soap everybody could keep clean outside.

God's law is: One-seventh of your time, one-tenth of your income and all of your heart for Himself. He who keeps back any part of this is a robber.

It is a good plan to invite the Holy Spirit to be present in our church councils. Judicious planning, wise methods, with plenty of religion will make church work successful.

The writer once knew a dog that never appreciated a favor. The more you tried to show him kindness the more his growling dog nature displayed itself. Such is true of some other folks.

When a Christian man is kindly corrected for a mistake he ought to have the manliness to acknowledge and not try to justify himself. There are few men in whom all wisdom and all knowledge abide.

Never enter into a debate with the devil about the rightness or the wrongness of a thing, for whom the devil would destroy he first decoys into debate. "He is a liar and the father of it."

To sit next to a man with a bad breath, from a tobacco soaked mouth, and a strong pipe in his pocket, is not the most enjoyable thing in the world, even though the man happens to be a member of the church.

We read in the Bible of "sowing to the wind, and reaping the whirlwind." This business is going on all the time. Many are reaping bitter, dreadful harvests from seeds that have been scattered with careless hand in other years. Sin has its certain and fearful reward.

The religious atmosphere seems to be full of controversy. Many a man sharpens his pencil, and goes in, thinking he has a solution of the subject—another feels called to correct the mistakes of the last article and on the wise and otherwise argument goes. All this time men are pressing to eternity. There is too much unrest apparent in the churches—the devil enjoys it. Intelligent sinners are disgusted by it. Good men are losing power. The Holy Spirit is grieved.

It is difficult for us to appreciate the long suffering of God. We wantonly transgress his law and expect Him to continue His mercy. The sin of presumption is an awful one. It is a reproach to man's intelligence. We would not expect our earthly father to continue his favor in the face of constant rebellion against reasonable admonition. The demands of the blessed Christ are not only reasonable, but tend to our highest good. From this standpoint sin is the more reprehensible.

Why do not intelligent men consider the evidence of Christianity with the same seriousness they do other great questions? Has it not done sufficient for humanity to deserve consideration? Has it not wrought mightily in the civilization of the world? Separate it from superstition and controversy—take it away from silly association—and contemplate it as revealed in nature and in human character. It is to be regretted that a matter of such importance is sometimes belittled by its professed advocates.

CLIPPINGS.

The devil never gets very far away from people who do not pray.

The man whose back is turned towards God is a dangerous guide.

The devil will be very polite until he gets a rope around your neck. It is hard for Christ to find a door big enough to get into a stingy man's heart.

Whenever a church comes to a standstill it means that it is full of religious loafers.

If you don't have any temptations, it is a pretty sure sign that there is something wrong with your Christian experience. The devil never wastes any bait in trying to catch dead fish.

The man who shuts his eyes to a little sin, will soon be walking arm in arm with a big sin.—Ram's Horn.

Rev. J. S. Chandler, chaplain of the Eddyville penitentiary, writes:

The Sunday-School in the prison is in good condition, and eternity alone will reveal the good that the faithful men and women are doing who go there in the name of the Master to teach and help in the work. The congregations at preaching are increasing also, and we have great hopes of doing them good and helping them to a better life. We feel that we need the sympathy and prayers of all Christian people in this world. If you mail your religious papers to us at Eddyville, after you have read them, we will take pleasure in putting them in the hand of the prisoners, who will enjoy them, and where they may do great good.
