THE STATE CONVENTION.

Kentucky Democrats Unite and Send an Uninstructed Delegation to Chicago.

How The Delegation Stands.

Louisville, Ky., May 26.—

This morning at 2 o'clock the largest Democratic Convention that ever assembled in Kentucky to appoint delegates to a Nation Convention, completed its work and adjourned.

While there was a difference of opinion at the State, no unpleasantness, arose during the proceedings, and there was no aspirations at the finish. Kentucky Democrats are organized for the fray, and while many have their favorites, all are prepared to accept the nominee of the Chicago Convention, whether he happens to hail from the large or small States in the East or the mighty West.

The Convention was called to order by Col. John B. Castleman, chairman of the State

Central Committee, and after a ringing address he announced that the first business was the election of a temporary chairman. Here the main light of the Convention was made. The uncompromising

Cleveland men—those who wanted to instruct the delegates to Chicago for the ex-

President, nominated Mr.

Broun; the anti-Cleveland

men—those who were for an uninstructed delegation or for

Carlisle put in nomination, Mr.

Long of Louisville. It was distinctly understood that the vote for these gentlemen would test the strength of the two parties. The counties were called and the 717 votes of the convention were cast, 427 for

Mr. Long and 290 for Mr.

Broun. After this test the ultra Cleveland men made no further demonstration towards securing an instructed delegation.

While the committee on organization was preparing its report, speeches were made by Waterson, Breckinridge and

McKinzie. There admired

Kentuckians, true Democrats

and wise counsellors were enthusiastically received, and there

Ninth District—W G Dear-
ing, J L Morgan.

Tenth District—J C Lykins
O H Pollard.

Eleventh District—N B
Hays, Henry Beauchamp.

The committee on resolutions reported the following,
which were adopted without a disseminating vote.

"The Democracy of Kentucky, in convention assembled, declare:

"First—That we indorse and reaffirm the principles of the Democratic National platform of 1888.

"Second—That we condemn

the principles and measures of the Republican party, as exemplified in its iniquitous tariff legislation, its advocacy of the infamous Force bill, its extravagant pension laws, wasteful-

ness of the public funds, class legislation and centralization.

And in striking contrast with these dangerous measures, we indorse the Democratic idea of tariff reform and economical

government whereby the great mass of the people would be relieved of unjust burdens of taxation.

"Third—We demand a sound and stable currency composed of or redeemable in gold and silver coin. we declare it to be the mission of the Democratic party to preserve the parity in value of gold and silver dollars, and to provide the means by appropriate legislation for the free coinage of sil-

ocratic party and its leaders are worthy of the full confidence and support of the American people.

"Fifth—That our delegates to the National Convention go uninstructed, except to use their best endeavors for the success of the Democratic party

and its principles."

According to the present information the delegates stand

as follows: Waterson opposed to Cleveland, Owens and Castleman for Cleveland, but compromising; McKinzie for Cleveland.

The district delegates are reported as follows: Rhea,

Helm opposed to Cleveland,
Haldeman, Abraham, Terrell,

Harrison for Carlisle; Brons-
ton and Lindsey for Cleveland;

the other delegates, while favorable to Cleveland, are "for the best man who can win."

A Young Lady Killed.

Middlesbrough, Ky., May

26.—Considerable excitement prevails here over the killing of Annie Rogers, a girl of sixteen, which occurred at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The cause of the killing is rather mysterious

but heavy suspicion are upon

J. W. Baker, who was the only other person in the room

where the girl was found dead.

Annie's mother testified before the Coroner's jury that when she passed through the room a few minutes previous to the killing, Baker and her daughter were sitting together

on the side of the bed, and she left them alone and started away from the house, but was soon overtaken by a messenger

who reported that Annie was shot. She hurried back to the house to find her daughter dead, with a bullet hole through her heart.

A little brother of the dead

girl, who was in an adjoining room at the time, says he heard the pistol snap twice in rapid succession, followed by the report of the discharge. when

Several Arkansas Towns Swept Away By the Recent Flood.

Arkansas, city Ark., May

27.—The story of flood, suffering and destruction in the valleys of the white and Arkansas river has not been half told. There is not a thousand acres of dry soil left in Desda county. The towns of Hollen-

del, Red Fork and Hendleton

have been wiped off the earth and not a living being is at any of them.

All have been rescued and are now on high ground, but actually starving so difficult

access are they to the relief steamers. All the big plantation for forty miles in the Arkansas valley are utterly ruined.

A Town Marshal Killed.

Sharpsburg, Ky., May 26.—

Hick Tally, who lives on the farm of James McCue, near town, seriously wounded Town

Marshal George Absher, yesterday afternoon.

Absher went to Tally's house

for the purpose of arresting him, a peace warrant having been sworn out by James Mc-Cue against Tally, charging him with making threats to take McCue's life.

As soon as Tally saw the marshal coming he barricaded himself in his house. The Marshal advanced on the house and Tally opened fire. Twenty shots were exchanged, ten apiece, Absher using two revolvers and Tally one revolver, one rifle and two shotguns. Three loads from the shot guns took effect in Absher's side and thigh. Tally escaped without a scratch, and after emptying all his firearms

surrendered to the Marshal,

and claimed he thought he was shooting at McCue's son.

JUDGE JAMES CAMPBELL,

OF McCRACKEN COUNTY.

Is a candidate for Congress from this, the First District. Election, November, 1892. He is subject to the action of the Democratic party.

JOHN K. HENDRICK,

OF LIVINGSTON COUNTY.

Is a candidate for Congress from the First District. Election November, 1892. Subject to the action of the Democratic party.

FOR SHERIFF,

We are authorized to announce JOHN T. FRANKS a candidate for Sheriff of Crittenden county, subject to the action of the Republican party. He will appreciate your vote and influence.

To THE VOTERS OF CRITTENDEN COUNTY: Having served you for the past two years as Sheriff, I take this method of expressing to you my gratitude for the confidence imposed in me. It has been the custom of the county to endorse all past Sheriffs who have asked it of the people, and feeling that my treatment of the people has been such as to merit an endorsement at your hands, I announce myself as a candidate for reelection.

I feel that my experience will enable me to serve you better in the future than in the past, and if chosen by the people, will endeavor to do so.

Yours truly,
A. L. CRUCE.

To THE VOTERS OF CRITTENDEN COUNTY:

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for reelection to the office of Circuit Court Clerk, subject to the action of the Republican party. I wish to return to the people of this county my heart felt thanks for the support given in the past. Whatever may be my lot in the future one of the brightest spots in my life will be the memory of what the people of Crittenden county have done for me. I have endeavored to so regulate my official conduct as to be worthy of the confidence reposed in me and the honor conferred upon me. My official life is before you. If I have discharged the duties of the office with a conscientious regard for the interest of the people, without partiality to any party or shade of political belief but treating all men exactly alike and if I have performed the work of the office properly and right I respectfully ask an endorsement at your hands. For the next term if elected, I am promising nothing more than what I have earnestly endeavored to do in the past to faithfully and impartially discharge every duty incumbent upon the office with profound gratitude for your support.

Very Respectfully,
H. A. HAYNES.

The Nevada Democrats propose to have silver, or "bust."

The Republican Convention assembled at Minneapolis next Tuesday. The convention is composed of 898 votes.

Mr. Blaine is giving his friends plenty of latitude in which to talk, and they are stirring up the administration people at a pretty lively rate.

The Governor has signed the Separate Coach bill, but it will not go into effect until ninety days after the legislature adjourns. When that will be the deponent saith not.

Kentucky sends an unqualified delegation to Chicago; Henry Waterson did it, not by coercion in the use of the party lash, but by a graphic presentation of the condition of affairs.

The legislature has before it a bill to prohibit the sale of cigarettes, and cigarette material. A fine of $25 to $100 is the punishment for each violation of the law. The use of the cigarette is said to be as detrimental to the health as the use of opium, and the abolishment of that industry in the State will be a blessing to the boys of the country.

The anti-Hill Democrats of New York will send a contesting delegation to Chicago. The action of the convention held at Syracuse Tuesday, proves conclusively that the Democracy of that State is split wide open, and the two factions display a disposition to fight each other to the bitter end. There is no question

Dr. Smith, the Prohibition candidate for Congress in this district, has been making some speeches in the district. He is not 'in it.'

D W Amberg, a prominent merchant of Hickman committed suicide Monday evening by shooting himself through the temple.

The Third Party in other sections may want Walter Gresham for President, but the party's contingent in this county prefers one of the old school greenbackers. See resolutions in this paper.

The "blind tigers" that have been heretofore successfully operated in a number of counties in this section of the state are hearing the returns from the grand jury rooms with fear and trembling.

The Third Party platform proposes to pay the soldier an amount equal to the difference between the value of gold and greenbacks at the time he was paid off in greenbacks. Just what this difference amounts to is not known, and some figures at this time on this point would not be without interest.

The Hon. Ben C Keys the nominee of the people's party of this district for congress will speak in the court house at Marion the first Monday in June at 1 o'clock p.m. All are invited to hear him. He earnestly requests all of his friends in this county to meet him in Marion on that day.

Referring to the judicial Redistricting Bill adopted by the Senate the Hopkinsville New Era says:

"The most unjust and objectionable feature of the substitute is that it makes a Republican district in this end of the state composed of Christian, Muhlenburg and Butler counties."

It is unfair and unjust to redistrict the state with any other view than to make, convenient, and compact districts, letting the Republican or the Democratic majorities fall where they may.

The anti-snap convention or the convention composed of those Democrats in New York, who opposed the early convention in that State was in session at Syracuse Tuesday.

A committee will be sent to Chicago to protest against the February Convention. Mr. Kernan, the chairman, concluded his speech with the following comforting remarks: "Our Republican friends will not in the end derive any benefit from our Democratic discussions in this State which at present they roll under their tongues as a sweet morsel. Democratic disputes will end at Chicago; thereafter New York Democrats will accept the decision of that tribunal as final, and will stand together everywhere with the nominee who fully frankly accepts the pledges of the platform."

Col Oscar Turner took an active part in the recent Democratic State convention at Louisville. If the retired warrior would buckle on his armor again, march down in the Purchase and wage war against the Third Party cohorts he would in a measure propitiate that element of the Democratic party which he so long antagonized, and rekindle the fierer of Democracy in the hearts of his own scattered legions.

Col. Turner was wanted in days of old, to demand a primary on the first Monday in August, he has lived to see the day, and now it would be befitting in him to come down and make some speeches for the nominee of that primary. Such a thing, however is only the ideal.

If the atmosphere which surrounds the Cadiz Telephone office permeates the entire county of Trigg the Democracy is again in a hopeful condition. The Telephone says: "Just watch old Trigg in November. [You won't know her. She has been sick for a long time, but she has dismissed all her quack doctors and nature is asserting itself very fast. Believe and tremble, ye false prophets!"]

In response to a call recently issued from St. Louis, the colored people in various parts of the United States observed Tuesday as a day of fasting and prayer, that the 'lynching' of colored people in the South might be stayed. Wherever there has been a lynching, and they have occurred in the North as well as in the South when the circumstances were alike, there has proceeded the tragedy a nameless crime, which befitted the neck and the rope for a useful union. Innocent people are not lynched; it is the diabolical creature that is the chief actor in a lynching, and a prayer for the regeneration of this class would be more appropriate more timely, than a prayer that it might go unpunished for the most heinous of all crimes.

Whenever and wherever the negro brute rapes a white woman the rope is not only a necessity cut a 'lynch'.

Of course keeping with our idea of respect for the law to wait for there mills of justice to grind the depredators to pieces, but where there is a human heart capable of emotion, or a human mind capable of thought, that would shrink from endorsing speedy justice, when tardy law so frequently fails.

Several of the farmers are through planting tobacco, while some of them are not through planting corn. Some wheat crops will not be worth cutting on account of the smut.

Henry Dilton, has been very sick for the past two weeks, and is improving very slowly.

TEXAS LETTER.

Something About the Pecos Valley.

ED. PRESS:—The Pecos Valley is 300 miles long, and as wide generally as one can see. The Pecos river is more than 500 miles long and will average in width, about 90 feet. It rises from springs in the Sacramento mountains in New Mexico, runs in a southerly direction and empties into the Rio Grande. It looks like a huge ditch, made expressly for irrigation, and exceedingly crooked to prevent the water from running out too fast. It is a deep little river and the current runs about six miles an hour, it perhaps has more fine cat fish in it than any river in the world; nearly all the blue channel variety. At Roswell 180 miles above here irrigation has been in successful operation for several years. There are farms there that produce all the fruits except the citrus variety. Small grain does well, but the principal product is alfalfa. At Eddy in New Mexico 90 miles above here the river has been dammed, and an immense average is going into cultivation. Twenty eight miles above here another dam has been constructed, and a huge ditch from it is now being cut, which will bring another large average into cultivation. The Pioneer company of this place take their water from the river 10 miles above. From it they irrigate both sides of the river, flanking across the river two miles below head gate. Land in the Pecos Valley varies, we have good, bad and indifferent, the good however preponderating. All school land within range of the ditches has been taken, and large bonuses are being asked for. The railroad lands which consists of each alternate section has been bought by the irrigation companies and is held at $25 to $30 per acre, including water right. Farming by irrigation is very profitable, but too expensive for the average poor man. Our population is a mixture of Whites, Mexicans and Chinese. Mexican labor is used here, as there are no negroes. They live in tents, huts and holes in the ground, and live on tansans, Chile can come mostly. Pecos has now a little over 1000 inhabitants, and prospects for growing rapidly are good. The climate here is dry and healthy, and but for a dust storm occasionally would be as perfect as the good world. What our people in Crittenden are being drenched with too much rain, we are dry as a powder house.

The Democrats here have such a brutal majority, that it virtually knocks politics out. We have one church house, one school house and five saloons. The saloons are the finest, and from all appearances do the best business—that is, make the most money.

Society is improving fast here, as all the new comers are sober and generally church members. There is quite a sprinkling of prohibition here, but that brutal democratic majority knocks us out. I will perhaps be in Crittenden in the near future, and if anyone wants to know any more about the Pecos Valley than what is said above I will take pleasure in informing them.

It is a deep little river and the current runs about six miles an hour, it perhaps has more fine cat fish in it than any river in the world; nearly all the blue channel variety. At Roswell 180 miles above here irrigation has been in successful operation for several years. There are farms there that produce all the fruits except the citrus variety. Small grain does well, but the principal product is alfalfa. At Eddy in New Mexico 90 miles above here the river has been dammed, and an immense average is going into cultivation. Twenty eight miles above here another dam has been constructed, and a huge ditch from it is now being cut, which will bring another large average into cultivation. The Pioneer company of this place take their water from the river 10 miles above. From it they irrigate both sides of the river, flanking across the river two miles below head gate. Land in the Pecos Valley varies, we have good, bad and indifferent, the good however preponderating. All school land within range of the ditches has been taken, and large bonuses are being asked for. The railroad lands which consists of each alternate section has been bought by the irrigation companies and is held at $25 to $30 per acre, including water right. Farming by irrigation is very profitable, but too expensive for the average poor man. Our population is a mixture of Whites, Mexicans and Chinese. Mexican labor is used here, as there are no negroes. They live in tents, huts and holes in the ground, and live on tansans, Chile can come mostly. Pecos has now a little over 1000 inhabitants, and prospects for growing rapidly are good. The climate here is dry and healthy, and but for a dust storm occasionally would be as perfect as the good world. What our people in Crittenden are being drenched with too much rain, we are dry as a powder house.

The Democrats here have such a brutal majority, that it virtually knocks politics out. We have one church house, one school house and five saloons. The saloons are the finest, and from all appearances do the best business—that is, make the most money.

Society is improving fast here, as all the new comers are sober and generally church members. There is quite a sprinkling of prohibition here, but that brutal democratic majority knocks us out. I will perhaps be in Crittenden in the near future, and if anyone wants to know any more about the Pecos Valley than what is said above I will take pleasure in informing them.

TEXAS LETTER.

Something About the Pecos Valley.

ED. PRESS:—The Pecos Valley is 300 miles long, and as wide generally as one can see. The Pecos river is more than 500 miles long and will average in width, about 90 feet. It rises from springs in the Sacramento mountains in New Mexico, runs in a southerly direction and empties into the Rio Grande. It looks like a huge ditch, made expressly for irrigation, and exceedingly crooked to prevent the water from running out too fast. It is a deep little river and the current runs about six miles an hour, it perhaps has more fine cat fish in it than any river in the world; nearly all the blue channel variety. At Roswell 180 miles above here irrigation has been in successful operation for several years. There are farms there that produce all the fruits except the citrus variety. IN A QUICKSAND.

AN ELEPHANT SWALLOWED WHOLE BY TREACHEROUS MUD.

The Unwilling Sagacity of the Doomed Creature—Fate in the Mouth of Danger, the Intelligent Brute Drew Frightened Only at the Very Last.

"Did I ever see an elephant die?" said the keeper, repeating a reporter's question. "Well, I did and I didn't."

"How was that?" asked the reporter, feeling for his notebook.

"I did not see him actually die," replied the keeper, without the vestige of a smile. "He was living when I lost sight of him. He was swallowed alive."

"This is going to be a pretty stiff yarn, keeper," remarked the reporter, as a shade of disappointment crossed his face. "I guess I won't need the notebook. You saw him swallowed alive, eh? Always thought you were an authority. I never suspected you to be an tell-tale."

"What did it, a negro?" "Never heard of such a thing," said the keeper gruffly. "This was a quicksand."

"Oh, a quicksand! Go on, old man," responded the reporter, delighted, as he pulled out a pencil and pen. "Tell us all about it."

"It was in India," said the old keeper, "where I learned a good deal about elephants, never thinking that it would come useful to me in after years. The quicksand is common in some of the lowlands there, and on this day a heavily loaded one was crossing a shallow but broad stream by wading. The sagacious brute refused to step on the badly constructed bridge which the natives had erected, but his instinct did not warn him of a dangerous quicksand which the water concealed, and he farther back."

"I was attracted to the scene by the shouts of his owners, five Indian merchants, whose wares he carried from one bazaar to another. They did not know of the quicksand and could not understand why their elephant did not come out of the stream which he had almost crossed. When they learned the predicament he was in, their howls of grief and despair were appalling. I gathered that bundles of turf and branches be thrown to the elephant, and this was done. The old fellow, seemingly aware of his danger, took each bundle with his trunk and thrust it under water. Then with a mighty effort dragging up one foot out of the sucking sand, he would put it on the bundle of fagots and press it down. He got a lot of them under him in this way with more skill and precision than you would think possible, but the soft sand took them all in and still left him down farther into its depths."

"His master prodded a small boat and pulled it out to him. Then they took all his load of goods off, put them in the boat and brought them ashore. The elephant was left a good deal, but for sand was by that time up above his shoulders and soon his entire back was covered by the water. Only his head showed now, and still the old fellow was in the crowd. I cannot help thinking of an elephant as a person; no one can see has been with them and witnessed their intelligence as much as I have."

"They seemed to know that the elephant had been thrown out to him, he made a sort of raft of them with his trunk and rested his big head on them. It was no use, however. He was doomed, and he knew it. Before long the water covered his mouth and he lay on his back. The water filled his ears and he stopped them vigorously for a time. Soon it reached his eyes, and then his big burning eyes, just at the water's edge, took on a pitiable expression."

Franks Wins the Prize.

The Republican County Committee Nominated Him on the Third Ballot.
Saturday the Republican county committee convened in Marion for the purpose of nominating candidates for circuit court clerk and sheriff. Of the fifty-four committee men in the county, thirty-two attended Saturday's meeting. Considerable discussion was alone in the forenoon by the friends of the three candidates for sheriff. Up to the hour of the committee meeting each candidate believed that the coveted prize was within his grasp. At 2 o'clock the committee began its business in the court house with closed doors and the detailed proceedings could not be learned. However Mr. H. A. Haynes received the endorsement of the committee without opposition. Mr. T. Franks who has apparently been the strongest man in the race all along, was given the nomination for sheriff. In response to an inquiry for a detailed account of the ballot for sheriff, a prominent committeeman said: "You are not in it." It is stated, however, that the prize went to Mr. Franks on the third ballot.
Piney is a favorite picnic ground for Marion people. The following persons compose a party that will spend to-day out there. Messrs E. H. James, Dan Browning, J. T. Franks, Wm Klapp, W. H. Ward, L. W. Cruce, C. J. Pierce and Misses Clara Wendell, Clara Coleman, Mattie Kevil, Edith Cook, Lilly Coffield and Bena Coffield.
Charlie Dolins Dead.
Thursday afternoon, Charlie Dolins, a well known young man who lived three miles south of Marion, on the Dolins homestead, died of typhoid fever. He was highly respected for his many good qualities, and many friends of himself and family are deeply grieved because of his demise.
The sheriff was settling the semi-annual interest in the Marion precinct railroad bonds the first of the week. Since the bonds were issued 15 cents on the $100 worth of property has paid the interest and accumulated a surplus of $700 or $800. This surplus will be used this year in making a payment on the bonds. It would be a wise plan to make the assessment 20 cents on the $100, and use the surplus in retiring some of the bonds every year.
Up to noon to-day, $2900 of the $4000, necessary for the establishment of the butter and cheese factory, has been subscribed. This amount with the exception of $100 has been subscribed by farmers, who will furnish milk for the factory. When the $3000 mark is reached, the people of Marion will be asked to subscribe the remaining $1000, and they will, we believe, come up to the measure of the responsibility. The farmers have been asked to take the bulk of stock, because it is they, who must furnish the milk, and if financially interested in the enterprise, they are more likely to supply the milk without a sufficient quantity of which the concern would fail.
The largest crowd that ever attended a show in Marion, was here Monday to see John Robinson. The number of people under the canvass is variously estimated at, from 4000 to 6000. The show was first-class, and the people were generally pleased with the expenditure of their money in that direction. There was, however, on the ground a set of fakery, and they did a thriving business. The officers were appealed to by various parties for assistance in securing the money that these shirk fellows had swindled them out of. In one or two instances the money was refunded. Mr. Sims of Caldwell county succeeded in getting back $55 various other persons part in complaints, but few of them were as fortunate as Mr. Sims. A small per cent of those who lost, were cheated in making change, while the large per cent lost their money in betting on the fakery tricks. The man who undertakes to beat these fellows is entitled to no sympathy. The officers of the show disclaimed any knowledge of the fakery, and the law ought to be as would send these swindlers to the penitentiary.

THE CHAIN GANG.

A Matter of Fancy Becomes a Matter of Fact.
Saturday morning those who availed themselves of the opportunity saw a representative of the two race united by the strangest tie known to the local iron artists. The two representatives were S. T. Courley, a white man, and John Crow a colored individual, and the "tie" was a big iron chain the ends of which firmly clasped on ankle of each man. One used a pick the other handled a shovel and the objects of their combined effort was the digging of a ditch to drain the street. There two got tickets from the county Judge and were "riding in the same coach," has been heretofore known in fancy only as "the chain gang, but on this occasion fancy had given place to fact, and for the first time in many years Crittenden county had a genuine chain gang. Corley came over from Hardin county, Ill., and undertook to wipe Ford's Ferry from the face of the earth; up to Saturday he was settling the account by running up a board bill at the county jail, when the programmes was changed, and he was introduced to the pick and shovel which implements will be his daily companions until the remainder of his $75 fine is squared at the rate of $1.00 per day. Crow has a thirty day engagement on the same terms, and appears to be more at home on the stage man his associate in the business.
The Grand Jury's Work.
The grand jury of the present term of circuit court finished its work last Saturday and was discharged having found twenty-five indictments as follows:
Robbery, 1; carrying concealed weapons, 5; violating prohibition law, 11; breach of peace, 1; shooting; 1; cutting, 1; gaming, 2; fornication, 1; suffering raming, 2; shooting craps, 1.—Princeton Banner.
Thirty Days and Hard Labor.
Friday John Crow, col, was before Judge Moore, to answer the charge of assaulting his step child. He entered the plea of guilty and asked for a light fine. The court fixed the fine at $30, if not paid or reprieved, to be confined in the county jail and worked out at the rate of $1 per day. In rendering the judgement, Judge Moore said that in every case tried by him, since there had been such a law, he had coupled the labor with the fine when the party failed to pay or reprieve, but in very few instances had the judgement gone into effect. The provides that the jailer shall work such prisoners, but as there was no public work, and as it was inconvenient to work the prisoners in a private way, it had not been done; as that portion of the judgement was about the only punishment that could be inflicted on those who cared nothing for remaining in jail, the jailer must hereafter work such prisoners, or the law which subjects the jailer to a fine for failing, would be enforced.
Pursuant to a call the Peoples party met in Marion the 30th of May to select delegates to the state convention at Lexington June the 8th to elect delegates to the national convention to be held in Omaha the 4th of July to nominate candidates for president and vice president.
The following names were selected:
Dr. J. R. Clark A. B. Hodge, Wm. Flannery, D. H. Brown, T. C. Campbell, A. H. Cardin, James Little, Bird Ashley, Geo. Sisco, L. W. Daughtry Duck Stephenson, 1 N. Towery, Ben Rankin.
Resolved—
First That we endorse the S. Louis demands and instruct our delegation to Lexington to use all honorable means to get instructions for Gen. J. B. Weaver for president and S. S. Polk for vice president.
And we further recommend A. H. Cardin as good material for one of the state electors at large from this end of the state and ask his appointment.
Wm. H. Brown Chairman,
I. D. Hodge, Sec'y.
District Conference Notes.
The Princeton Conference, May 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, continuing three days. Presiding Elder Orr, filled the chair to the satisfaction of all. Prominence was given to the preaching of the word. Large crowd attended the business sessions, which added much interest; 13 ministers and 80 lay delegates were in attendance. Rev. N. W. Litley, of the Japan Mission was with us. His lecture on Friday night was listened to by the large audience with profound attention.
The conference took decided ground on Sabbath, observance and pronounced against opening the World's Columbian Exposition on the Sabbath. Several interesting papers were read and discussed, the climax was reached Sunday morning at the conference love feast. The spiritual tide ran high. Rev. B. F. Orr's sermon at 11 a. m. on Sunday was spoken of a masterly effort. Everybody seemed to enjoy the occasion, the people of Shady Grove

Garbaging a Platform.
[St. Louis Republic.]

Our friends of the Third party knew what they were doing, presumably, when they adopted their platform at St. Louis in February, and they no right to quarrel with the Republic for republishing it from time to time just as they adopted it. But they are objecting hotly to the general circulation of these two resolutions.

We demand that the government issue legal tender notes and pay the Union soldiers the differences between the price of the depreciated money in which he was paid and gold.

We demand that the question of universal suffrage be submitted to the legislatures of the different States and Territories for favorable action.

In the Third party organs published in different sections the platform is mutilated to suit the section. In the South the Third party organs omit both the above resolutions. The leading paper of the Third party, the New Nation, edited by Edward Bellamy, at first published the platform in full like an honest journal. It kept it standing for several months, but since the Republic has begun republishing it in full to show how it is being mutilated by Third party organs the New Nation has cut out the claim plank. Being published in Massachusetts it still retains the women suffrage plank, which is repudiated in Arkansas and other Southern States.

Obituary

William Birdie Moore was born in Caldwell county, Ky., Jan. 13, 1867. He was the only child of J. H. and Ellen Moore. Death claimed him as his own May 25, 1892. He professed religion at Flat Rock, Ky., July 29, 1880, at a meeting held by Revs. W. A. Kingsolving, assisted by J. B. Lowey. Thus at thirteen years of age he gave his heart to Jesus whom he followed till Jesus took him. He joined the church at Flat Rock a short time after his profession of faith. He attended the Normal University at Lebanon, O., also the Business College at Louisville, at which he graduated with the highest honors. He was married to Miss Henrietta Maxwell Feb. 9, 1888. For four years he was her happy companion until death sundered those tender ties. Birdie was a kind and dutiful son, an agreeable companion and an officious father. His christian life was pure and upright. In his last sickness which was protracted for weeks he gave the most abundant testimony of his perfect resignation to God and his implicit faith in Christ. He talked calmly and sweetly about heaven, and even longed for the hour of his departure. The last words he ever said to me was, "I shall soon be in heaven. He leaves behind him a father, mother, wife, child and a host of friends to mourn his loss. But though these clouds of sorrow they can look up through the rift to the blessed redeemer who has claimed him as His own. God in His wisdom has recalled.

A Club That Attended Funerals.

The funeral club, of Paris, was a ghastly organization. Its object was to attend in a body all public funerals, and private ones where it was allowed. Its meetings were always held in cemeteries, and members invariably dressed in superb black with crape rashes on their hats. The only music they had was a hand organ, and this played nothing but the dead march in "Oscar." No smile was ever seen upon the face of a member in public. All kinds of gayeties, theaters, dances and parties the members were strictly forbidden to participate in at any time; indeed it is difficult to imagine what on earth the men composing the funeral club had to live for anyhow.—Boston Home Journal.

The Derivation of "Gingerly."

To speak of a person acting in a "gingerly" fashion would certainly convey a clear enough idea, and we easily connect the word in some vague manner with the word "ginger," perhaps from the association in our minds of the sparing use made of that condiment. The word, however, is innocent of any such sound, about derivation, and comes directly from the old word "gang," to go—still preserved in the Scotch phrase, "Gang that gate"—and thus originally means with caution, faltering or "gingerly" steps.—Chambers Journal.

Spain owes silk to the Moors.

Spain owes silk to the Moors, and produces it in true Spanish fashion—lacy, haphazard, picturesque. She it is who supplies the silkworm gut for leaders for fly fishermen the world over. This is the gorged gland of the worm, just ready for spinning. Barcelona silk is in great request wherever a filament fine and peculiarly strong is required.—Chicago Tribune.

Recovering Hydrogen.

It has been found that by passing mixed hydrogen and carbonic oxide over nickel and cobalt they can be separated. Then by applying the hydrogen to strips of platinum, a powerful primary battery is formed which will yield, it is stated, 50 per cent. of the total energy in the hydrogen absorbed.—New York World.

A Queer Memory.

Mamma—Did you see the doctor about your cold?
Little Boy—Yes'm.
Mamma—And did you have the dentist pull out that aching tooth?
Little Boy—N-o'm. I forgot about that.—Good News.

Mail carriers in Morocco are said to avoid the risk of losing their places by oversleeping by tying a string to one foot and setting the end on fire before going to sleep. The string, they know from experience, will burn so long and when the fire reaches their foot it is time for them to get up.

It is asserted that when the present comprehensive plan of connecting all England's West India possessions by submarine cable is completed fully one-third of her defensive fleet for the protection of these colonies can be done away with.

A hot bath is valuable in the first stages of congestion of the lungs, as it is also in infantile convulsions and in sudden brain trouble. In the last named attack ice should be applied to the head and a hot water bag to the feet.

Several attempts have been made from time to time to develop balloon photography, and special cameras have been devised for the purpose.

A favorite dish of the East Indians is an ant mash. The insects are caught in pits and mashed by hand like raisins.

In size the sun equals 1,300,000 earths, but owing to its smaller density its weight equals only 333,000 earths.

Fannyman's Misadventure.

Fannyman (finishing his story)—Ha, ha, ha! Amusing, isn't it? Well, good by, they say it's wise to leave at once after you've said a good thing, you know.

Only One Poisonous Snake in England.

Of the 1,500 different species of snakes which are now known to naturalists, the great majority are not poisonous, and of the four kinds of snakes or snake-like creatures, which inhabit England, only one is venomous. This distaste for serpents which most persons experience, gives way in many instances to a feeling of interest as soon as without risk or danger, they become better understood. The collection of animals at the London Zoological gardens has now for many years included a considerable number of snakes, and so has greatly helped to diffuse a more rational sentiment in their regard. But much yet remains to be effected before that admiration for serpents, which their beauty and the many points of interest they possess really call for, is felt by educated persons in general.—Quarterly Review.

Sandy's Answer.

"Sandy," said Mrs. Simpson to her eldest olive branch the other day when he returned from school, "I forbid ye to play or run about w' that Bobby Wilson any more. Mind that, na, as if I ever hear o' ye playin' w' him again I'll gie ye a guid lickin'." "What way have I no to play w' Bobby, ma?" queried the youngster, with some surprise. "Because he's a 'bad, wicked laddie,'" replied his mother. "Weel, ma," returned Sandy, after a moment's thought, "I dinna think I'm that awfu' guid myself, that ye need to be so fear'—Scottish American.

Two Things That Cannot Be Done.

To hold a school up to the highest standard of excellence, and this by unceasing vigilance, is one thing. To manage it so as to make the most money and to gain the most friends, is another. The teacher who tries to do both will probably not succeed in the first.—Anna C. Brackett in Harper's.

A GARDEN BY THE SEA.

I know a little garden close,
Set thick with lily and red rose,
Where I would wander if I might
From dewy morn to dewy night,
And have one with me standing,
And though no pillar'd house is there,
And though the apple boughs are bare
Of fruit and blossom, would to God
Her feet upon the green grass trod,
And I beheld them as before.

There comes a murmur from the shore,
And in the close two for dreams are Drawn from the purple hills afar,
Drawn down to the sea's edge,
Dark hills whose breath looms feeds no
Lee.

Dark shore no ship has ever seen,
Tornanted by the billows green
The murmur comes unceasingly
Unto the place for which I cry.

For which I cry both day and night,
For which I let slip all delight,
Still leave I left a heart and mind,
Careless to win, unskilled to find,
And quick to lose what all men seek.

Yet tottering as I am and weak,
Still leave I left a heart and mind,
To seek within the jaws of death
An entrance to that happy place,
To seek the unknown, the unseen,
Once seen, once kind, once left from me
Alight the murmuring—William Morris.

Two Views of Children's Training.

"How can you let your children play in the street?" said one New York woman to another the other day. "Even in the best neighborhoods you do not know who may lead them away from you, and children will fraternize in the most democratic way, you know."

"Yes, I know," said the other mother, "but I cannot keep the children forever indoors, nor do I think the most straits in the park particularly inspiring. My children have always scorned their nurses, and I can't see that it does them any harm to race up and down the block independently. They learn things, and come to me to tell me of them. Better they should learn them now and have their innocence promptly counteracted. I find, too, that the most vicious little friend they have is the one who is tied to his nurse's French cap."

Here are two opinions duly set forth.—Her Point of View in New York Times.

for Infants and Children.
"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as a superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 1/2 St. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
"The use of 'Castoria' is so universal and its merits so well known that it seems a work of supererogation to endorse it. Few are the intelligent families who do not keep Castoria within easy reach."
"For several years I have recommended your 'Castoria,' and shall always continue to do so as it has invariably produced beneficial results."

WE'VE GOT IT!!
The Farmer Needs It, and It is Within His Reach.
LOOK AT THIS PICTURE.
With such a machine the farmer might drive off to town for a new supply of wine if he liked. He might cut for all his neighbors without ever asking them the width of gates or condition of roads, it being but necessary for him to follow any track that he might find, feeling that he wanted nothing better than a way sufficient for a wagon. A hill side road will serve him every purpose.
The Deering Machines have all the good points that other machines have, and better still, they have good points that no other machine have. Can go over any wagon road, can be stored away wherever a buggy will go. No trouble changing from one field to another. Don't buy until you see the Deering for yourself. We have the Junior Steel Binder, Giant Mowers, Junior Giant Mowers, Binders Need no Truck.
