The Cost of Protection.

"The effect of a protection tariff is to raise the price of the commodity protected above that at which it could be imported free. If it fails to do this it fails to accomplish its object. The protection theory is that the increase a protective duty causes in the price at which an imported commodity can be sold within the country is the amount of the duty. The cost, then, of a protective duty to the people at large is: 1st, the tax upon imported goods, plus the profits upon the tax; and 2nd, the additional prices that must be paid for the products of the protected home industry. The fact cannot be gainsaid that protection does raise the prices of protected goods in the home market. The comparison is not to be made between prices as they are now in this country and as they were twenty or forty years ago also in this country, for this would show only the general march of improvements in this country; but a comparison is to be made between prices in this country to-day and present prices in foreign countries. Does, for instance, the tariff increase the price of woolen goods and clothing far beyond what the price would be if the duty on imported woolens were removed? The very existence of a protective duty is the answer to this. If the duty does not raise the price, then why does the woolen industry wish a continuance of the duties? If goods can be sold as cheaply here as foreign goods, why do protectionists want any duties? The duties are intended to keep foreign goods out of our markets, and they would be unnecessary if our goods could be sold as cheaply as the foreign wares.

The Hon. William M. Springer has furnished some figures to this country for the year 1892 and the year 1891 on the total cost of the protection policy which are startling in their magnitude. From his showing the fact is brought out that the American people have paid during the ten years from 1882 to 1892 the enormous sum of $6,000,000,000 in increased prices, mostly for the necessities of life, in order that they might have the supreme felicity of knowing that their generosity had enabled some favored individuals to become millionaires and had given birth to that long-felt want, the tariff trust, of which there are now over a hundred in this country owing their existence directly to the tariff, and whose sole object is to limit production and keep prices up to the highest point permitted by the tariff."

How Much Do You Get?

Mr. Carnegie draws $4,500,000 a year as his part of the profits of the iron business—that is, he gains every second ninety-five cents; every minute $5.70; every hour, $343.40; every day, $4,120.85; every week, $28,846.50; every month $125,000. How much do you get of the tariff? Let every man answer this question for himself, remembering that every dollar Carnegie makes is pure bounty, according to the statement of the protectionists, because, if they tell the truth, manufactures would not pay at all in this country but for this blessed tariff.—Salem (N. C.) People's Press.

MONTHLY CROP REPORT.

Of Commissioner of Agriculture Labor and Statistics.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 30, 1892.—In making report for the month of September I am confronted to some extent with the same obstacles as in last report, and that is uncertainty of returns from correspondents, from haste or a misconception of questions proposed, fail to make clear the condition of crops absolutely necessary to a thorough understanding by those who take an interest in this department of our State. Since August report abundant rains have greatly improved the general condition of late corn and tobacco. With the exceptions of a few small districts; fall grass is more than usually good, and farmers need not have any fear for grazing, unless some unforeseen condition arises.

TOBACCO.

Late rains have brought a reasonable development of many crops of tobacco, from which poor and unsatisfactory returns were expected. The returns from the portions of the State known as the Burley district, show a percentage of about 75, while taking the State as a whole, show a percentage of 88, which includes the Burley district. This is a general average of all tobacco.

PASTURES.

As indicated in the beginning of this report, fall grasses are abundant throughout the State, with but few local exceptions, and can safely be placed in the general average at 90 per cent.

CORN.

The rains that were needed to make a good yield of this crop came just in time, and its condition, as compared with last report, has greatly improved. Crops that were expected to yield only five or six barrels per acre will now yield eight or ten barrels. Very little corn has been cut yet, and none shucked, so that no accurate estimate can be made; average, 95 per cent.

SORGHUM.

This crop has improved in condition since last month, and is now rated at 81 per cent, as against 77 per cent. last month.

HEMP.

The estimate of the hemp crop made last month holds good now, after it has all been cut and the handling commenced—63 per cent. The crop is exceedingly short.

FRUIT.

All the fruits have been gathered and disposed of, except apples and grapes. The yield was about 65 per cent.

GARDEN PRODUCTS.

Generally good yield, and seeds sent out through this office have done well.

POTATOES.

Excellent crop as to condition being 94 per cent.

STOCK.

Stock of all kinds in good condition, and free from epidemics.

Very respectfully,
Nicholas McDowell,
Commissioner.

The Big Rivals To Meet.

New York, Oct.—The Herald will to-morrow print the following: President Harrison and Mr. Cleveland may be brought together next week in this city during the Columbus ceremonies, and in Chicago the week following, when the World's Fair buildings are dedicated. The President has promised to review the parade in both cities. Mr. Cleveland yesterday made up his mind to accept invitations from both committees, and he will be in the reviewing stand with Mr. Harrison.

FOR CLEVELAND.

Mr. Gresham said to be for the Democratic Leader.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—Judge Grover Cleveland. The announcement was made this morning upon authority that cannot be disputed. The information was brought by gentlemen who came from Springfield and confirmed by Democrats of high standing who had been in some way acquainted with the fact. By night it was the general subject of conversation among politicians of both parties. Judge Allen, of the United States District Court of Springfield, first made the announcement. Judge Gresham has been in the State capital several days sitting with Judge Allen.

Judge Gresham told Judge Allen he should vote for Mr. Cleveland, and him he was at liberty to report the statement. Judge Allen did repeat it, and that is how the news reached Chicago. The great jurist who loomed up as such a formidable candidate for the Presidency in 1888, who has long stood dangerously near to the President's ambition, and who would to-day be upon the bench of the Supreme Court of the United States but for Harrison's vindictiveness, returned to Chicago to-day. His position as Judge of a Federal Court would not permit him to discuss politics or to pose in an interview for publication.

The accession of a man of such national prominence as Judge Gresham to Mr. Cleveland's forces gave the Democrats around Western headquarters joy enough to last through October. Judge Gresham's action would, it was considered, draw a large number of voters to the Democratic party in Illinois and be of great service to the party in Indiana, where he is unusually strong, and where Harrison's strength is waning. The statement of Judge Gresham's position, coming from a man like Allen, leaves no doubt that Judge Gresham has left the Republican party.

A VERY RICH FIND.

The Fortune Which Curiosity Brought to a Farmer of Graves County.

Curiosity often gets a man into trouble and it sometimes profits him. If it was possible to ascertain the fact the "two horns" would likely be found about the same length.

What prompted the following is a report which comes to the News from Graves county via the Murray Ledger. This report is as follows: "Howard Orr, who resides on his farm near Pottsville, in Graves county, on Wednesday of last week made a lucky discovery on his premises. Some years ago a negro, possessing considerable of this world's goods died in the locality of Pottsville and no one knew what the old darkey did with his money until the past week, when a part of it was found by Mr. Orr, who, at the time of the discovery, was feeding his stock in the horse-lot, and noticing a wooden peg, almost rotten, in a block which supported one corner of an ancient gear house, Mr. Orr concluded to investigate and see why it was placed in there. Removing the peg the block was found to be hollow and contained therein he found a tin box containing $1,500 in gold.

On whose premises the money was found is not stated, but the interference is it was found on Mr. Orr's. There is no statement as to whether the old negro formerly lived on the farm or not, but he very likely did. Another omission of interest is whether the old darkey left a family or not, and an additional point of interest is what became of the money. But passing these matters by if there are more pegs about that gear house now is a good time to pull them, if they have not been pulled already.

A THOUSAND-MILE "HELLO."

South Bend, Ind., Whispers Over a Wire to Far-Off Boston And is Heard.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 28.—The American Long Distance Telephone Company, which for some time has been constructing a line from New York to Chicago, working from north terminals, to-day virtually completed the line to this city and will to-morrow finish it to Chicago. This city was the connecting link. South Bend was connected with Pittsburgh at 10:10 a.m. and with New York at 10:15. Wire Chief Leonard of the Fifth Division made the connection. The line worked perfectly. A whisper here was distinctly heard at Pittsburgh and an ordinary tone of voice at New York. Later in the day Boston was reached, making the longest distance that the human voice was ever transmitted, over 1,000 miles. This test was also perfect. The entire lines will be in working order in a short time.

HEIR TO TWO MILLIONS.

A Poor Tennessee Farmer Inherits the Famous Buckingham Palace in England.

Clarksville, Tenn., Sept. 28.—A farmer named W. A. Freeman, who is in very moderate circumstances, residing in District No. 3 of Montgomery county, was in this city to-day, when he received a letter from William Lord Moore, a lawyer in London, informing him that a suit had been decided in his favor, which will net him $2,000,000. The Buckingham palace is located on the ground in question. The estimated value of the whole estate is $8,000,000. Mr. Freeman's grandfather, Nathan Freeman, was a native of London and married Miss Mary Buckingham, one of the celebrated family of that name of England. This couple became citizens of America and died here.

NEVER SURRENDER.

Address Made at Chicago Denouncing Carnegie and Frick.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—J. P. Coyle, Thomas Kelly, James Coyle and Peter Newman, of the Amalgamated Association, addressed the Trades and Labor Assembly this afternoon in behalf of the Homestead strikers. Every man and woman in Homestead, they said, would die rather than surrender to Frick and Carnegie. Mr. Coyle made the principal address. Carnegie and Frick he denounced as modern Neros. Frick had reduced the coke works to such a state that their wives were compelled to work beside them to keep from starving. He had been the cause of more bloodshed than all the corporations in Pennsylvania combined. The mills were being conducted at an enormous loss at present he said, and the locked out men must eventually win. The assembly placed the matter of raising funds in the hands of the Executive committee which, it is expected, will secure $50,000 for the support of the strike.

PETRIFIED IN THE BLACK HILLS.

The Body of Wild Bill Disturbed—Natural Phenomena. From the New York Press.

Deadwood, S. D., Sept. 16.—The waters of the Black Hills have peculiar properties of petrification. When the Pioneer Cemetery in this city was recently dug up and the bodies removed to the present cemetery on Mount Moriah a large number of the bodies were found to be partly petrified. The remains of Wild Bill (J. B. Hickok) were thoroughly petrified. Another body recently found in the celebrated Wind Cave of the Hills, 12 miles north of Hot Springs, is now on exhibition at Lincoln, Neb., and is attracting large crowds. It measures 6 feet 1 1/4 inches in height and weighed in life probably about 190 pounds. The feet and hands are small and shapely. The right arm is off halfway below the elbow and the right leg is off halfway from the knee down. These parts were not found with the body. The remains, nevertheless, weigh about 300 pounds.

Agents of museum managers in New York City are now here endeavoring to secure the remains of Wild Bill, and they have offered a large sum for the petrified body of this noted scout. The remains were removed to their present resting place on Mount Moriah by Charley Utter (Colorado Charley), the noted Western dead-shot and gambler and partner of Hickok before his murder in this city by Jack McCall. Utter failed to pay for the lot in which the remains of his friend lay, and the cemetery company threatens to sell them to the New York museum agents.

"God helping me," cried Columbus, "though fair or foul the breeze, I will sail and sail till I find the land beyond the western sea!" So an eagle might leave its eyrie, bent, though the blue should bar, To fold its wings on the loftiest peak of an undiscovered star! And into the vast and wild abyss he followed the setting sun! Nor gulfs nor gales could fright his sails till the wondrous quest was done. But Oh, the weary vigils, the murmuring, torturing days, Till the Pinta's gun, and the shout of "Land!" set the black night ablaze! Till the shore lay fair as Paradise in morning's balm and gold, And a world was won from the conquered deep, and the tale of the ages told! Uplift the starry Banner! The best age is begun! We are the heirs of the mariners whose voyage that morn was done. Measureless lands Columbus gave and rivers through zones that roll, But his rarest, noblest bounty was a New World for the Soil! For he sailed from the East with its setting sun, to the Future's open sky, And the ghosts of gloom and fear were laid as the breath of heaven went by, And the peopled pride and the lordling's scorn were lost in that vital air, As fogs are lost when sun and wind sweep ocean blue and bare; And Freedom and larger Knowledge dawned clear, the sky to span, The birthright, not of priest or king, but of every child of man! Uplift the New World's Banner to greet the exultant sun!

Let its rosy gleams still follow his beams as swift to west they run, Till the wide air rings with shout and hymn to welcome it shining, high, And our eagle from lone Katahdin to Shasta's snow can fly In the light of its stars as fold on fold is flung to the autumn sky! Uplift it, Yonahs and Maidens, with songs and loving cheers; Through triumphs, raptures, it has waded, through agonies and tears, Columbia looks from sea to sea and thrills with joy to hear Her myriad sons, as one, would leap to shield it from a foe! And you who soon will be the State, and shape each great decree, Oh, vow to live and die for it, if glorious death must be! The leave of all the centuries gone this starry Flag have brought; In dungeons dim, on gory fields, its light and peace were bought; And you who front the future—whose days our dreams fulfill—On Liberty's immortal height, oh, plant it firmer still! For it floats for broadest learning; for the soul's supreme release; For law disdaining license; for righteousness and peace;

For valor born of justice, and its amplest scope and plan Makes a queen of every woman, a king of every man! While forever, like Columbus, o'er Truth's unfathomed main It pilots to the hidden isles, a grander realm to gain. Ah! what a mighty trust is ours, the noblest ever sung, To keep this Banner spotless its kindred stars among— Our fleets may through the oceans—our forts the headlands crown— Our mines their treasures lavish for mint and mart and town— Rich fields and flocks and busy looms bring plenty, far and wide— And stately temples deck the land that Rome's or Athens' pride— Till none with us in splendor and strength and skill can vie! Yet, should we reckon Liberty and Manhood less than these, And slight the right of the humblest between our circling seas— Should we be false to our sacred past, our fathers' God forgetting, This Banner would lose its luster, our sun be nigh its setting!

But the dawn will sooner forget the east, the tides their ebb and flow, Than you forget our radiant Flag and its matchless gifts forego! Nay! you will keep it high-advanced with ever brightening way— The Banner whose light betokens the Lord's diviner day— Leading the nations gloriously in Freedom's holy way! No cloud on the field of azure—no stain on the rosy bars— God bless you, Yonahs and Maidens, as you guard the Stripes and Stars! EDNA DEAN PROCTOR.

A NEW DEAL.

The Judicial District Committee To Meet at Princeton Tomorrow.

Chairman, C. T. Allen, of the Judicial District, Democratic Committee, has called a meeting of the committee at Princeton to-morrow.
In addition to the regular District committee, he requests that all members of the county committees also attend. It is probable that when the committee meets and talks the situation over, it will put in the field a candidate to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Mr.
James.

campaign.

A SHOOTING SCRAPE.

Ed Harpending Sends a Bullet Uncomfortably Close to Shirley Lynch's
Face.

Friday evening just as the people of Frances were sitting down to supper they were startled by a pistol shot. Investigation showed that the pistol was discharged by Ed Harpen-ding, a merchant of Frances and that the bullet was sent after Shirley Lynch, a young citizen of the place.
The bullet made a close visit for Shirley's head, and the powder burned his face. The trouble, it seems, grew out of the refusal of Harpending to sell Lynch goods on a credit. Lynch sent a boy after Har-pending told the boy he could not sell him the money; when the boy returned to Lynch, Lynch himself confronted Harpending and flogged; the song of the pistol ball, however, caused a resolution in his mind, and he immediately departed, and stood not upon the order of his going. Harpending came in Monday, and surrendered himself to Judge Moore, and gave a bond of $100 for his appearance at Circuit Court. A warrant charging Lynch with a breach of the peace was issued.

Lynch Fined.
Shirley Lynch who was the cause of the shooting fray at Frances was arrested, brought to town and fined $20 for the part he played in the affair. He paid the fine and went on his way a wiser man.

RANKIN ACCEPTS.
A Third Party Man in the Contest for the Sheriffalty.

FELLOW CITIZENS:—Having been nominated by a convention of the People's party, held in Marion, Ky., on Sept. 24th, 1892, for the office of Sheriff of Crittenden county, and that too, without my knowledge or seeking said office, and believing it to be the duty of every citizen to act in that sphere to which a majority of his fellow countrymen may call him,
I therefore willingly accept said nomination.

Promising to make an active canvass as possible, therefore I earnestly ask the support and influence of all who are in sympathy with the People's party, as well as all who are interested in our country's well being. Should I be the choice at the polls in November I will discharge the duties of Sheriff to my best ability and without fear or favor.

He Ran A Run.
Tuesday evening a couple of negro lads stepped on the platform at the depot; in a couple of minutes Constable Deboe had them in charge, marching up town. One of them did not like the situation of affairs and he made a bold dash for liberty, with the constable in pursuit. Some body said "shoot him," and these words readily stopped the flyer. In a little while the twin were in jail waiting to be stepped to Caldwell county where they are wanted for stealing a couple of pistols. A pistol was found concealed on one of them, and it is thought that the other threw his pistol away when on the run. One will have to answer to Judge Moore the charge of carrying a pistol. Their names are Wm
Wheeler and Tobe Bennett.

People's Party Meeting.
The People's Party Committee will be in Marion next Monday, (County court day), as there will be business of great importance. I hope to see a full committee, and as many of our friends as can meet with us. Come out.

ALBERT JONES KILLED.

A Saturday Night Tragedy in Hogias County.

Near where the lines of Crittenden, Hopkin and Webster counties meet, there is a couple of saw mills, and in the vicinity are a number of small houses and shanties in which the mill hands live. In one of these houses lives Albert Jones with his family. Jones is an old saw mill man and owned one of the mills at the point indicated. Saturday afternoon a party of men or boys collected there, and were making affairs lively. Jones went out and asked that the racket be stopped.
The crowd replied by increasing its hilarious conduct and telling Jones that it had come to "paint things red." Jones expostulated with them, hot words followed. Finally a man named Clark drew his pistol and shot Jones; the ball passing into his left breast caused instant death.
It is reported that Clark surrendered himself to the officers the next day, and claims that the shooting was done in self defense.

ON WATLINGS ISLAND

DISCOVERY OF THE SPOT WHERE COLUMBUS LANDED.

Walter Wellman Tells How He Explored the Bahamas and Settled the Controversy Concerning the First Land Sighted by Columbus—A Fascinating and Instructive Narrative.

(Copyright, 1921.)
In May, 1901, the editor of the Chicago Herald wired me at Washington, "Can you find the spot where Columbus discovered America and mark it with a memorial?" My reply was, "Will try." It had been a request to find the north pole or capture a mermaid I suppose the answer would have been the same. The newspaper correspondent is not surprised at anything.

The plan of the Herald was easy to understand. For centuries the identity of the island which Columbus first landed upon had remained unknown. The quadrilateral of the discovery of the New World was about to be celebrated in Chicago with a great exposition, and the Herald thought it proper that the spot at which occurred the most tremendous event in history should be sought out and appropriately marked. This was a queer task, but a fascinating one. I went at this characteristic American fashion—that is, jumped at it. I ransacked the Congressional library and other libraries. I called to London for a book which was not to be found in America. I procured from the hydrographic office charts of the Bahamas made by our government and the British admiralty.

Night and day study of the mystery of the discovery quickly showed these facts. In all history there is nothing that throws light upon the landfall save the journal kept by Columbus himself. Five islands had been put forward as the real San Salvador, and hundreds of books and pamphlets written in support of these theories. The correct theory must be based upon two conditions: The island itself must have certain features described by Columbus—lagoon, reefs, harbor, hard by a headland through which the sea had cut its way, etc.—and it must lie at certain distances and in certain directions from five other islands visited and described by Columbus. As to the latter condition, inspection of the charts showed Watlings to be the only one that would fit the geometrical lines of Columbus' first voyage through the Bahamas. If it contained the physical features which Columbus had found in his San Salvador, then the mystery was solved. Oddly enough, the learned historians, geographers and cartographers who had supported the claims of the rival islands had not taken the trouble to visit the region of which they discoursed. Had they done so their controversy might have come to an end long ago.

Early in June our expedition sailed from New York. We went by Ward line steamer Santiago to Nassau, the capital of the Bahamas, having on board in addition to Charles Lederer, the famous artist of the Chicago Herald, a stone-mason, a marble globe, a memorial tablet, thirty barrels of cement, a man servant, a photographic outfit and sundry boxes, barrels, demijohns and bottles containing the necessities of life. At Nassau we had a narrow escape. The governor of the Bahamas was to leave for England within an hour or so after our arrival, and without his authority we could do nothing. An hour of hustling, the assistance of the American consul and a letter which I had brought from Sir Julian Pauncefote, British minister at Washington, and Governor Bline gave us a letter commanding all the local officials of the Bahamas to place themselves at our command. Lucky for us that we caught kindly Governor Bline. The lieutenant governor, who came into power the minute the governor sailed, was against us. "Impudent, presumptuous Yankees!" he exclaimed; "to think they can come down here and in a few weeks seek the one of the greatest mysteries of history! If the lieutenant governor had had his way we should have been sent back to New York quicker."

Watlings was 100 miles away. We had decided that if a visit to Watlings produced the physical evidence necessary to establish its claims beyond doubt, well and good. If not, we were to study the other islands in the order of their theoretical probability. How to get to Watlings was the question. In the harbor were sloops, yachts and schooners galore. One smelled of her last owner, Jamaica rum, another of oranges, a third of gin, a fourth of poultry. The cabins of all were mere cells. And it was the season of the year when calms reigned for days at a time. The only steam power in port was the steamship Sander, a crude craft with a bottom as flat as a street car, keelless and not buoyant. Besides she cost a pretty penny. But we bothered the expense and took her, hove into her our cement and supplies, employed some more men with their tools, bought half a ton of precious fuel, hired "Beady," the most famous pilot of the Bahamas; borrowed an American flag from the consul, and with the stars and stripes flying at masthead steamed away.

A day and a night of alternating calm and storm, through rocky passages and over dangerous shoals, and we were at Watlings. The island, which Washington Irving made famous and our old geographers solemnly confirmed as the San Salvador of Columbus. For half a day we steamed along the coast of Watlings, and I examined it very carefully. It bears no resemblance whatever to the island which Columbus described in his journal. For fifty years it has been a San Salvador under false pretenses. In the afternoon we reached Watlings. Palm trees and hazy vistas, thatched huts and outlying reefs over which the surf broke lastly marked its shores. A host of once upon a time. It contained all the officials of the island—the local magistrate, the post office, the postmaster, the sheriff, the colonel of the militia and many more—all in the person of Captain Maxwell Nairn, the only white resident of the island, a veritable Pook Bah, monarch of a coral isle. His salary is $200 a year, and he has been there thirty years. Captain Nairn became our guide, policeman, island and human. With him we explored the island. A coral rock it is, a dozen miles long and half as broad, containing large lagoons of brackish water, covered with tropical vegetation, nearly surrounded by reefs. Eight hundred negroes live here, tilling altogether probably a score of acres of land, subsisting principally on fish and other sea food. They are an honest, pious, temperate people. Their chief failing is a predisposition toward piracy, and woe to the cargo of the ship that is wrecked upon their shores. This pirate tendency they came naturally by, for this coral island was once the rendezvous of infamous Blue Beards, and some of these poor people are no doubt his direct descendants. But I could see little in this island save Christopher Columbus. At every turn the great discoverer was suggested. The salt lagoon appeared to echo back his name; the sands of the shore seemed to bear the impress of his feet; the reef breaking over the rocks chanted the "Te Deum" in imitation of Columbus himself. The spirit of Columbus dominates everything in Watlings, even shadows everything, leaving nothing else to be thought of or written about.

And no wonder. Here was everything that Columbus described in his journal—the "large lagoon in the middle of the island," the luxuriant verdure, the "reefs running all round that island," the hills near the shore, the "piece of land like an island, yet which is not an island, but could easily be made one," as an admirable sight for a fort; the harbor lying hard by, in which "all the ships of Christendom could lie." All these and many more of the things which Columbus had described we found, and at first knew instinctively, and later proved to a mathematical certainty, that this was the birthplace of the New World.

A little bay, two miles from the "piece of land like an island," I chose after much exploration as the very spot at which the landing was made. That this island was the San Salvador of Columbus I know; that this pretty bay, with its overhanging headland and shining beach, was the more particular scene of the discovery I believe. In the nature of things it cannot be proved, though there is much in its favor. Near it is a high hill which Columbus probably first saw in the moonlight of that fateful morning. It is the first bit of coast to the south, free enough from reefs to permit safe landing. It is at a point where Columbus would have roved "north north-easterly to see the other side of the island," as he says he did the second morning after his arrival, on this occasion discovering the "piece of land like an island" and the wonderful harbor "in which the water is still as in a well."

On the promontory which lifted its head above the little bay we erected a memorial. It was constructed of coral limestone found hard by. Thirty native workmen were employed cutting roads with their machetes, bringing forward materials, mixing mortar and carrying cement up the hillside. Skilled boatmen brought supplies from the steamer through the dangerous coral reef. The American flag floated from a staff as we worked, and the monument found the stones firmly together. The result was beautiful. In the coral limestone are all the tints of the rainbow; all the marine forms. Land and sea together had built a memorial to Columbus.

HERALD MEMORIAL TO COLUMBUS. Not the most expensive in the world nor the least artistic. We dedicated it with prayer and addresses. Magistrate Nairn watches over it week by week. A recent letter from him informs me that the natives under his leadership will celebrate Discovery Day at the base of the simple memorial which bears this inscription in marble:

On this spot CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS First set foot upon the soil of the New World. Erected by The Chicago Herald June, 1901.

WALTER WELLMAN, COLUMBUS DAY PREPARATIONS. Suggestions to the Public Schools for the Celebration of the Anniversary. The official programme for the national school celebration of Columbus Day is now published. The first duty of each of our schools this fall, if it wishes to be in line with the other schools of America, is to begin preparations at once for its proper observance of Oct. 21, the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America. A few suggestions as to the first things to be done may be of some value.

Teachers, the superintendent and the school board should confer, that action may be harmonious and best results attained. The proposed celebration should be explained to each school at the earliest moment. It should be so presented as to awaken enthusiasm. Interesting topics relating to Columbus and the discovery should be suggested for special investigation. Such topics might be "The Map of the World Before the Discovery," "Important Inventions and Events in Europe Just Before the Discovery," "The Story of Columbus," "The Ships of Columbus," "What Columbus Expected to Find," "Geographical Growth of the United States," "Stories of South America," etc. The teacher should assign the address and the ode to those who can render them most intelligently. The flag salute and the songs should be persistently rehearsed.

Important committees of pupils should be appointed: First—A committee of invitation, whose duty is to see that the family of each pupil receives a special invitation to the morning exercises of Oct. 21, and also when they arrive to show them seats. Second—A color guard, whose duty is (1) to see that the school has a flag and a staff in proper condition; (2) to meet the veterans as they arrive and escort them with dignity to the principal in the school house; (3) to act as aids of the principal.

An efficient adult committee of arrangements should also be constituted. This committee must see first, that seats are prepared out of doors in hope of fair weather, and that a room is also engaged for the exercises should the day be stormy; second, that fitting decorations and printed programmes are provided; third, that the local press is interested and invited; fourth, that arrangements are made with the veterans and other special guests for the parts they are to take.

But in all cases the school principal must make himself personally responsible for the work of each committee.

COMBINATION FARMING IMPLEMENT

Manufactured in this, the nineteenth century.

The New Combination Wheel Spring Harrow--

Cultivator and Seeder Combined.

The above cut shows the machine as a cultivator for corn, tobacco and other crops growing in rows. The fenders shown in the cut serve to protect the projecting leaves of the corn, tobacco, or whatever it may be, from injury. The driver comfortably seated regulates the sections with his feet, which rests in stirrups attached to each section. The sections are hung in such a manner as to permit of the freest oscillation. They may be readily moved from side by pressure from the operators foot; levers are geared to each section by which they may be lowered or raised to cultivate deep or shallow, or locked securely in the desired position. To convert into a field harrow it is only necessary to remove the fenders and bolt on the center section. To convert into a seeder bolt on the seed box.

Three Machines in One,

And it is far superior to all other makes for the following reasons:

- 1ST—BECAUSE it's so much cheaper.
- 2ND—BECAUSE it's so much lighter draft.
- 3RD—BECAUSE it has such perfect center draft.
- 4TH—BECAUSE there is no weight on horse's neck.
- 5TH—BECAUSE of the regularity of the seed sower.
- 6TH—BECAUSE there is no jerking of the horse's neck.
- 7TH—BECAUSE it is an ABSOLUTE FORCE FEED broad cast seeder.
- 8TH—BECAUSE the teeth are made from the best quality of highly tempered steel.
