BLAINE IS DYING.

Concealment of His Serious Illness No Longer
Possible.

The End of a Remarkable Career Believed To Be Approaching.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Two of the most distinguished men in the country are slowly dying in Washington to-night, and it is not probable that they will live to see the first day of the new year. One is James G.
Blaine and the other Justice Lamar. Inquiry at Mr.
Blaine's residence this evening elicits simply the response that "Mr. Blaine's condition is about the same." From another source it is learned that his condition is less favorable than it was this morning. Although there is no danger, apparently, of an immediate fatal termination of his illness, there is no doubt that Mr. Blaine is a very sick man, and his present condition excites the gravest fears. It is, in fact, so serious that there is said to be only a possibility of his recovering sufficiently to admit of his removal to a milder climate.

A person qualified to speak by reason of relationship with the family says: "It is only within the past four days that Mr. Blaine's family have fully realized that the sands of his life are rapidly running out.
At no period of his declining health for some time past has Mr. Blaine failed to appreciate that he was stricken with disease that must sooner or later terminate fatally, but with a brave and splendid courage, characteristic of the man, he has carefully concealed the secret from his family and performed his public and private duties. Mr.
Blaine's disease is of the kidneys. Those organs being congested, he became congested and takes cold. Mr.
Blaine at present suffering from a cold contracted while on a tour a few days ago.
His lungs are incessantly affected. That which his family and friends

most is that upon the occurrence of every relapse, such as the one from which he is now suffering, his vital powers show less and less recuperative energy. As a matter of fact, Mr.
Blaine has not felt inclined at discuss the subject of death.
Now he speaks upon that subject freely, is preparing for the end and is becoming reconciled to the common lot of man. A loving father, the death of three children within a comparatively brief period, has sorely stricken him, and his grief has hastened the progress of the malady with which he is afflicted."

HIS MONEY REFUNDED.
A Princeton Saloon-Keeper
Finds a Way to Do Business Without a Business.

Princeton, Ky., Dec. 16.— A case was decided in the Lyon Circuit Court yesterday that is so unusual in its character that it will likely bring about a large amount of litigation in this section of Kentucky. J.
R. Griffith, a saloon-keeper, of Eddyville, made application several months ago for a renewal of his license to retail intoxicating liquors. The County Judge refused on the ground that complaint had been made of Griffith's running a disorderly house. Griffith got up a petition and lodged this, with the license money, with the County Clerk and continued his business. He was indicated for selling whisky without license and heavily fined.
He took an appeal to the Appelate Court. The decision was reversed and the case sent back to the Circuit Court. Circuit Judge Grace, in his decision yesterday, ordered the money returned to Griffith and the indictments dismissed.

The Henderson Gleaner is already discussing the political probabilities of 1893 and starts with this: "It begins to look like the next Kentucky gubernatorial race is shaping itself now. The following are the candidates already in the field:
P. Watt Hardin.
Cassius M. Clay, Jr.
John B. Castleman.
Wm. Stone.

TO TOUCH THE BUTTON.

M. Cleveland Will Be Asked to Make a Speech and Start the Wheel at the Great Fair.

Chicago, Dec. 14.—Grover Cleveland will be asked to make a speech on May 1, 1893, at the Exposition. At the close of the speech, if he accepts the invitation, Mr. Cleveland will touch an electric button, starting the 14,000 horse power plant in Machinery Hall which is to run all the whirring wheels of the fair.

This was decided by the Committee on Ceremonies to-day.
The other exercises will consist of the reading of a poem by Dr. Olive Wendel Holmes and a prayer. It is intended to have the ceremonies of the briefest character. The Executive Committee of the World's Fair expressed a desire to-day to do away with all ceremonies at the May opening but the plan outlined by the Ceremonies Committee will probably be followed.

SAVED BY PRAYER.

Evangelist Moody Believes God Stillled The Waves in Answer to Prayer.

Recently while in mid-ocean one of the great ocean steamers was overtaken by a storm, her machinery was disabled, and water found its way into the vessel. There appeared to be no hope for the vessel and the seven hundred people aboard.
The great evangelist Moody was aboard he affirms that nothing short of the direct interposition of Providence in answer to prayers saved the lives of the whole ship's company's. "Did you ever see seven hundred men and women pray?" said he this afternoon.
"There never was a more earnest prayer to God than that of those seven hundred souls on that helpless, almost sinking ship in mid-ocean last Sunday evening when we met in the saloon to implore God's help, and God answered us, as knew he would. He sent us rescuing ship, and He calmed the sea, so that for a week was as smooth as it is in this harbor, through there we stormed and us. It was the greatest of prayer I

THE NEW COURT.

Judge Bennett Will Preside
Over the Reorganization Court

The adjournment of the of Appeals this morning carries with it more significance than ordinary adjournment of the highest State tribunal for many reasons. The court has lately been brought into prominence more than ordinary by the World's Fair decision, and just ahead lie the volumes of work that will be brought before it in the adjustment of the laws to the new constitution.
Every law in the statute book that has not yet been will have to be rephrased by the Legislature in conformity to the new constitution and this will give rise to a great deal of litigation.
The court, as it were, begins a new era in its history.

At the reorganization Chief Justice Holt, who has served his term, eight years, from the First Appellate district, will retire, and will be succeeded by Judge Jim Hazlerigg, of Montgomery county, and Judge Bennett, being the next whose term will expire, will be the Chief Justice for the succeeding two years.

Current Political Matters.

Pittsburg Gazette: The proposition to place a head tax of $100 on each lumigrant, coming into the country seems to grow in popular favor. The strain put upon it by the addition every decade of five million of the lowest types of European civilization, and the sooner a halt is called the better.

New York Tribune: The Navy Department is confronted with a new dilemma. There are not enough available men to equip the six new vessels to be placed in commission sometime before the naval review next spring. Thirteen hundred men are required for this purpose, and of that number only about 500 have been secured.

New York World: A grad-income tax is the coming tax if the expenditures of the government are to continue anywhere near the present mark.
Tokyo Rec: No one is advocating the reduction of pensions. The objection is to granting pensions to those who are not entitled to them, and who have not representation. Of course the Democratic party has no intention of repealing pensions laws, and nothing has been said that would lead to such an impression, except the ranting of Republican speakers during the campaign.

New York Advertiser:
When the courts have stripped the Interstate Commerce law of all its frills there will be nothing left but the salaries of the Commissioners. Still, that is something.

Globe Democrat: A surplus of $2,000,000 is figured out by the Secretary of the Treasury as likely to be on hand at the end of the present fiscal year, on June 30 next. This is small, but it is a good deal better than a deficit.

Philadelphia this morning

RED FRONT.

ISSUED WEEKLY.

R. C. WALKER, Publisher.

The swearing off period is approaching.

The Legislature is resting from its arduous labors.

Congress has adjourned until after the holidays.

Confidence men robbed a Bourbon county farmer of $2,000.

Thursday evening a banquet was given Vice-President elect Stevenson at Anneton, Ala.

The Kentucky distillers have decided to list whisky for taxation at 10 per barrel.

We continue to hope that the States Senate, like the rest of the country, will be Democratic.

An eastern paper publishes the story that Carlisle has been offered the Treasury portfolio and he declined to accept it.

If the Legislature fails to make an appropriation for a Kentucky exhibit at the World's Fair, and it will do it to do its duty some more.

Senator Gibson, of Louisiana, died at Hot Springs Thursday. His remains were brought to Lexington for burial. He was born a Kentuckian.

Well, if Carlisle goes into the Cabinet, and Stone casts the Senatorial plum, then John Hendrick will go to Congress, or we will know the reason why.

Vice-President elect Stevenson is making a little bank-shaking tour in the South. He is as near to the hearts of the people in his sphere as Grover Cleveland is in his more honored office.

The International Money Conference at Brussels, adjourned Saturday. It will reconvene May 13, should the various governments so agree. There appears to be little hope of any good being accomplished.

It is estimated that the increase in tax on distilled spirits from $1.00 to $1.50 per gallon will add $1,000,000 annually to the revenues of the Government. Let the increase be $1.00 per gallon, and the Government will receive $500,000 more.

by counties. The vote of Bidwell, the prohibition candidate for President, shows very plainly that the temperance people do not believe in mixing their good, moral cause with their practical business politics. They have the good sense to occupy the position that in business affairs, and what is politics but business—we must mingle and think as business men, irrespective of the matter as to who takes a drink and who doesn't. Take the counties of the First district for instance. Mayfield the capital of Graves, is a strong prohibition town, no saloons are tolerated, yet in the big county of Graves, Bidwell got only fifty-six votes, Caldwell county has been prohibition "dyed in the wool," a majority of her people are unquestionably opposed to the whisky traffic, yet of the 2200 votes cast Bidwell has only fifty eight for his share.

Marion the county seat of Crittenden, is a prohibition town, and the precinct alone has over 800 votes, yet in the entire county, only forty-nine saw fit to vote for Bidwell. The other counties of the district, and the State as for that, show about the same conditions. The people will not mix the things of Caesar with the things of God. We owe a duty to each, and each debt should be paid; but neither receipts for the other; the two are not united nor can they be formed into a co-partnership without doing an injustice to either the one or the other.

A great effort is being made to have the World's Fair open on Sunday. A Chicago court will be asked to grant an injunction restraining the directors from closing the gates on Sunday, on the grounds that the park is public property that can not be closed. The question appears to shape itself about this way: Shall we remain true to the faith which guided and cherished those who fought for our independence, or shall we give way to the spirit of the age which says we are wiser than they?

With the use of liquor prohibited on election days, and a fair prospect of an increase in the price of a drink because of an increase of taxes on whisky, it appears that the dealers have other enemies besides our prohibition friends.

Congressman Camth has introduced a bill which provides that Federal office holders shall not draw pensions while they are drawing salaries from the Government. The bill has been favorably received.

Q. Mills notifies his constituents, that he will take no hand in helping them get offices. If Loger's constituents had treated him the same way, there would be no necessity for his announcement.

New York World: By the last census the total wealth of the United States is $62,610,000,000 and the total capital invested in manufacturing $2,900,735,894, or but 5 per cent of the whole. After thirty years of legislating for the 5 it is time to give the 95 a chance.

Lyon County and Eddyville.

The Tale of Two Cities gives some historical information concerning Eddyville and Lyon county. We clip the following from its columns: Lyon is the smallest on the tier of counties of Western Kentucky bordering on, and contiguous to the Cumberland and Tennessee rivers; but it is rich in its resources of fertile soil, varied timber productions and mineral deposits; and offers inducements to those who have money to invest such as in some respects are not equalled by any of her sister counties.

The county was erected in 1854, by act of the Legislature, from a portion of Caldwell county, and was named in honor of Col. Crittenden Lyon, one of the earliest settlers of the territory, and the grandfather of our fellow townsman, Gen. H. B. Lyon.

Its area is about one hundred and thirty thousand acres, somewhat more than half of which consists of improved and tillable lands; and the remainder of virgin forest and coal lands. The population of the county is now about eight thousand, and its people are above the average in intelligence and progressive spirit.

Eddyville, the county seat of Lyon county, takes its name from its location nearly midway between two of the largest eddies (or whirlpools) in the Cumberland river, known as "Big Eddy" and "Little Eddy."

The town was first located in 1799, by Col. Mathew Lyon, then a citizen of Vermont, and a representative in Congress from that state, who brought out from the Green Mountain State a colony of hardy pioneers, and settled them here on the classic banks of the blue Suwanee, to found a town and to make a history. After making a plot for a town, in October of that year, on the 2nd day of the month, a public meeting was called and the town organized by the election of a board of trustees, who accepted the plot and located the public building. In those early days of Kentucky's history, as in these, good drinking water was one of the most important considerations in the location of a plantation or settlement and the large springs here, being not more than two hundred yards apart, and pouring into the Cumberland river their large streams of pure and rapid water, first attracted the attention of Col. Lyon and his friends and caused them to pitch their camp here, among the forest crowns and ancient hills that stood around them. Col. Lyon soon returned to Vermont and to his seat in Congress, to take conspicuous part in the stirring events that agitated the politics of the then youthful republic.

The town he had thus founded grew apace, and was soon made the county seat of Caldwell county, then comprising all that territory now known as Lyon county. And soon after his imprisonment and heavy fine under the "alien and sedition laws" and early subsequent release, Col. Lyon returned to Eddyville to take up his permanent residence here, where he immediately established several thriving manufacturing industries, such as a ship yard, a nail factory and button factory, all of which thrived and flourished in their day. The first permanent residence built in the town was the brick dwelling house built for Col. Lyon, and now occupied by Mr. George E. Crumbaugh and it was in this same mansion that Aaron Burr and his hospitable domicile in the town of 1804, after his dastardly murder of the gitted Hamilton, while he unfolded to Col. Lyon his gaudy plot of treason, by which, to please his recently defeated political aspirations, he hoped to rid an extensive Southern empire of himself as absolute head, here, also, in later years, as to an ancient city of refuge, fled another somewhat noted criminal, Edward C. Hudson, better known to the world as "Ned Buntlin," the famous writer of blood-and-thunder novels than any other American before or since his time.

RED FRONT.

ISSUED WEEKLY.

R. C. WALKER, Publisher.

The swearing off period is approaching.

The Legislature is resting from its arduous labors.

Congress has adjourned until after the holidays.

Confidence men robbed a Bourbon county farmer of $2,000.

Thursday evening a banquet was given Vice-President elect Stevenson at Anneton, Ala.

The Kentucky distillers have decided to list whisky for taxation at 10 per barrel.

We continue to hope that the States Senate, like the rest of the country, will be Democratic.

An eastern paper publishes the story that Carlisle has been offered a Treasury portfolio and he declined to accept it.

If the Legislature fails to make an appropriation for a Kentucky exhibit at the World's Fair, and it will fail to do its duty some more.

Senator Gibson, of Louisiana, died at Hot Springs Thursday. His remains were brought to Lexington funeral. He was born a Kentuckian.

Well, if Carlisle goes into the Cabinet, and Stone eats the Senatorial plum, then John Hendrick will go to Congress, or we will know the reason why.

Vice-President elect Stevenson is making a little bank-shaking tour in the South. He is as near to the heart of the people in his sphere as Grover Cleveland is in his more honored office.

The International Money Conference at Brussels, adjourned Saturday. It will reconvene May 13, should the various governments so agree. There appears to be little hope of any good being accomplished.

It is estimated that the increase in distilled spirits from 10 to 15 per gallon will add $1,000,000 to the revenue of the Government. The increase in the price of whisky is also estimated at $1,000,000.

by counties. The vote of Bidwell, the Prohibition candidate for President, shows very plainly that the temperance people do not believe in mixing their good moral cause with their practical business politics. They have the good sense to occupy the position that in business affairs, and what is politics but business—we must mingle and think as business men, irrespective of the matter as to who takes a drink and who doesn't. Take the counties of the First district for instance. Mayfield the capital of Graves, is a strong prohibition town, no saloons are tolerated, yet in the big county of Graves, Bidwell got only fifty-six votes. Caldwell county has been prohibition "dyed in the wool," a majority of her people are unquestionably opposed to the whisky traffic, yet of the 2200 votes cast Bidwell has only fifty eight for his share.

Marion the county seat of Crittenden, is a prohibition town, and the precinct alone has over 800 votes, yet in the entire county, only forty-nine saw fit to vote for Bidwell. The other counties of the district, and the State as for that, show about the same conditions. The people will not mix the things of Caesar with the things of God. We owe a duty to each, and each debt should be paid; but neither receipts for the other; the two are not united nor can they be formed into a co-partnership without doing an injustice to either the one or the other.

A great effort is being made to have the World's Fair open on Sunday. A Chicago court will be asked to grant an injunction restraining the directors from closing the gates on Sunday, on the grounds that the park is public property that can not be closed. The question appears to shape itself about this way: Shall we remain true to the faith which guided and cherished those who fought for our independence, or shall we give way to the spirit of the age which says we are wiser than they?

With the use of liquor prohibited on election days, and a fair prospect of an increase in the price of a drink because of an increase of taxes on whisky, it appears that the dealers have other enemies besides our prohibition friends.

Congressman Camth has introduced a bill which provides that Federal office holders shall not draw pensions while they are drawing salaries from the Government. The bill has been favorably received.

Q. Mills notifies his constituents, that he will take no hand in helping them get offices. If Loger's constituents had treated him the same way, there would be no necessity for his announcement.

New York World: By the last census the total wealth of the United States is $62,510,000,000 and the total capital invested in manufacturing $2,900,735,894. or but 5 per cent of the whole. After thirty years of legislating for the 5 it is time to give the 95 a chance.

Lyon County and Eddyville.

The Tale of Two Cities gives some historical information concerning Eddyville and Lyon county. We clip the following from its columns: Lyon is the smallest of the tier of counties of Western Kentucky bordering on, and contiguous to, the Cumberland and Tennessee rivers; but it is rich in its resources of fertile soil, varied timber productions and mineral deposits; and offers inducements to those who have money to invest such as in some respects are not equalled by any of her sister counties.

The county was erected in 1854, by act of the Legislature, from a portion of Caldwell county, and was named in honor of Col. Crittenden Lyon, one of the earliest settlers of the territory, and the grandfather of our fellow townsman, Gen. H. B. Lyon.

Its area is about one hundred and thirty thousand acres, somewhat more than half of which consists of improved and tillable lands; and the remainder of virgin forest and coal lands. The population of the county is now about eight thousand, and its people are above the average in intelligence and progressive spirit.

The town was first located in 1799, by Col. Matthew Lyon, then a citizen of Vermont, and a representative in Congress from that state, who brought out from the Green Mountain State a colony of hardy pioneers, and settled them here on the classic banks of the blue Suwanee, to found a town and to make a history. After making a plot for a town, in October of that year, on the 2nd day of the month, a public meeting was called and the town organized by the election of a board of trustees, who accepted the plot and located the public building. In those early days of Kentucky's history, as in these, good drinking water was one of the most important considerations.

in the location of plantation or settlement and large springs here, being not more than two hundred yards apart, and pouring into the Cumberland river their large streams of pure and cold water, first attracted the attention of Col. Lyon and his friends, and caused them to pitch their camps here, among the forest crowns and ancient hills that stood sentinel around them. Col. Lyon soon returned to Vermont and to his seat in Congress, to take conspicuous part in the stirring events that agitated the politics of the then youthful republic. The town he had thus founded grew apace, and was soon made the county seat of Caldwell county, then comprising all that territory now known as Lyon county. And soon after his imprisonment and heavy fine under the "alien and seditious laws" and early subsequent release, Col. Lyon returned to Eddyville to take up his permanent residence here, where he immediately established several thriving manufacturing industries, such as a ship yard, a nail factory and button factory, all of which thrived and flourished in their day. The first permanent residence built in the town was the brick dwelling house built for Col. Lyon, and now occupied by Mr. George E. Crumbaugh and it was in this same mansion that Aaron Burr and his party made their headquarters in the summer of 1804, after his dastardly murder of the gilded Hamilton. He unfolded to Col. Lyon his grand plot of treason, by which to seize his recently defeated political aspirations, he hoped to lead an extensive Southern empire with himself as absolute head. Here, also, in later years, as to a sanctuary of refuge, fled another somewhat noted criminal, Edward C. Udson, better known to the world as "Ned Buntlin," the famous writer of more blood-and-thunder novels than any other American before or since his time.

As it is impracticable for all to call personally and learn the condition of their subscription account, we will about Jan 1, mail each a statement showing just how the matter stands, and trust that all will be able to respond, and enable us to make some improvements in the paper. The Road Law.

We are indebted to Representative J. R. Summers for a copy of the road law as presented to the Legislature by the Revisory Commission. The matter will be before the Legislature in January. As the road question is one of great interest to the people of this section we make no apology for devoting considerable space to the proposed law. We give some of the main features of the proposed law: All applicants for new roads, or changes in road, or discontinuance of roads shall be signed by at least five land owners, and the proposed changes advertised at least twenty days before hand. The County Court must appoint three impartial house-keepers to report upon the cost, convenience, and advisability of making such changes. If there is no objection to the changes, it is the duty of the court from the report and other evidence to determine whether the changes shall be made or not. The county court, with the aid and advice of the road supervisor shall divide the roads into three classes—1st shall be not more than sixty or less than thirty feet wide; the second not more than thirty nor less than twenty feet wide, and the third not less than twenty nor less than fifteen feet wide. Where it is possible and practicable, road-beds shall be graded with a fall of one inch to the foot from the center of the road to the ditches which shall be maintained at each side of the road.

The fiscal courts of the counties shall at the April term, 1893, and every two years thereafter, elect a supervisor of roads for their respective counties who shall be a citizen of good moral character, and who must execute a bond in double the amount of the road and bridge funds. It shall be the duty of the supervisor, on the first Monday in March of each year, to let out to the lowest and best bidder, in sections or magisterial districts the roads, to the lowest and best bidders, the bidders to give bond for keeping the roads, bridges, culvert in order as proscribed by law. For failure without good cause, to discharge any duty, the supervisor shall be fined not less than ten nor more than one hundred dollars, and any fines assessed shall go to the road fund.

Able-bodied delinquent tax payers, between the ages of twenty one and fifty years shall be required to work out their taxes on the public road, at the rate of $1 per day of not less than one hour.

The fiscal court, at its levy an ad valorem tax of not more than twenty five cents on each one hundred dollar's worth of property listed for and subject to taxation, and a capitation tax of not less than fifty cents nor more than one dollar and fifty cents on each male over twenty one years of age, for road and bridge purposes. The County Judge, with the aid and advice of the road supervisor, shall divide all the road districts, consecutively numbered, and in each district an assistant supervisor shall be appointed to assist the supervisor in looking after the roads and seeing that they are kept in repair.

All male persons confined in the county jails, either under sentence of court for misdemeanors or imprisoned for non-payment of fines and costs, shall be available to the supervisor for the purpose of working them on the public roads.

This is a general outline of the plan for working the public roads. It is materially different to our present system. Representative Summers will be pleased to note any suggestions the people of his district have to make concerning the matter. If you have any to make, write him.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Smith Orday allowed pauper idiot claim of $27.50.

Alex Woody vs Gus Summerville, damage suit, compromised by defendant paying $150 and cost.

Wilson vs Graves dismissed without prejudice.

Williams vs Ohio Valley railroad verdict $64 for plaintiff.

Phillips vs Ohio Valley railroad verdict for defendant.

Stone vs Life Insurance Co., continued by defendant.

C W Baldwin vs Evansville Grain Co., verdict for $75 for plaintiff.

Commonwealth vs Will King, continued until next term.

The Indictments.

The grand jury adjourned Thursday of last week to meet again Wednesday of this week. Before the adjournment thirty three indictments were taken to the court rooms; these indictments were for the following offenses: murder 1, disturbing religious worship 1, selling liquor without licenses 5, trespass 1, felling tree across public road 1, carrying concealed weapons 4, betting on election 4, hunting on Sunday 2, violating the election law 1; disobeying command of election officers 1, selling liquor on election day 9, house breaking and stealing 1; cock-fighting 1.

On Wednesday evening Dec. 21, 1892, at the residence of Mr. P. E. Shoemaker, Mr. John Vaughn and Miss Rosa Shoemaker were united in the bonds of holy wedlock; Rev. E. B. Blackburn officiating. It was a tasty home wedding, in the parlor of the happy farm home. A number of friends gathered to witness the uniting of the happy hearts. After the ceremony, and warm, earnest congratulations and benedictions of friends the happy couple repaired to the home of the groom, where a fine old fashion wedding supper was served, many friends of the young couple were guests at hospitable board.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. P. E. Shoemaker, one of our best as well as most prosperous farmers. She is beautiful and is adorned with all the many virtues that gratify her making happy the new home.

The groom is an industrious prosperous young farmer, who numbers his friends by the score. The Press wishes them a long happy life.

McKinley Wins.

The above words has no reference to Gov. McKinley nor the McKinley bill. It refers to Buck McKinley and his suit against the Ohio Valley railroad. Several months ago McKinley was greatly injured by the premature explosion of dynamite at a rock quarry owned and operated by the road. He sued the company for $20,000 damage. Last week the case was tried in the Crittenden Circuit Court, and the jury gave the plaintiff a verdict for $1000.

Mr. Editor of Press—Tell Mitt Babb not to accuse any one of raising nubbins, until he gets through raising them. Saturday while hussling some shocked corn (planted the 14th of June) I counted three ears, the first contained 888, the second 888, and the third 888.

Wiley Leeper, col, who was fined $100 for cutting Geo. Cruce, is paying his fine in jail. While the average peaceful citizen is trudging through the mud, facing the cold winds, and hustling around to earn his salt, Leeper has a warm bed, and plenty of good grub without even the asking, and in addition to this he is paying the $100 debt at the rate of $2 per day. It is about the time the law that provides for such an arrangement as this was wiped off of the Statute book.

Sent to The Asylum.

Jas W. Champion, a respectable farmer of this county, was tried on a writ of lunacy last week, and the jury decided that he was insane, and the unfortunate man was taken to the asylum at Hopkinsville. Messrs J. A. Davidson and Thos Barnes took him to the asylum. Mr. W. C. Champion, a brother of Mr. Champion, has been in the asylum several years.

A TRUE STORY.

Of an Ancient Tragedy in Livingston County.

A Negro Boy's Feet and Hands Cut Off.

(Paducah Standard.)

The old town of Smithland—old when Paducah was in swaddling clothes,—once the seat of power of Western Kentucky—and the place from which sprung many of our own leading and most prosperous citizens—this old town is rich in reminiscence and startling story. Her musty and time-worn records are burdened with cold and crystallized facts; but behind many of these facts which alone have been preserved, and leading up to them have been enacted the most thrilling and blood-curdling tragedies.

We are prone to discourse upon the prevalence of crime in those modern times, and to deplore the total depravity and horrible furies which often characterize their commission. But we have never heard of any tragedy, either in ancient or modern times, in the old world or in the new, in the north or in the south, Opinion on the new bill. Mr. Breckinridge presents a bill for the preparation of a new bill. Washington, Dec. 3.—Congressman Breckinridge, of Kentucky, has proposed an entirely new idea in Congress on the revision of the tariff. He proposed to any session of the Fifty-third Congress until late in the fall. He thinks that Mr. Cleveland, with the assistance of his Cabinet should prepare a tariff bill and send it to Congress instead of his general message. He said the people have not only declared what they want, but have expressed their confidence in Mr. Cleveland as a man to do it. The bill would be referred to the ways and means committee.

It Tastes Good

One reason why Scott's Emulsion of Pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda has had such a large sale is because it is "Almost as palatable as milk;" but the best reason is that its curative properties are unequalled. It cures the cough, supplies the waste of tissues, produces flesh and builds up the entire system.
