The Crittenden Press

ISSUED WEEKLY.

R. C. WALKER, Publisher.

Dr. Todd.

STANLEY GROVES, Ky., March 8, '93.
Seeing that themes for the State Senate is likely to be of considerable interest in the Democratic ranks and that several names are being floated for that honor, you will allow me a line in the Press in which to suggest in that connection our friend and neighbor, Dr. J. N. Todd. The Doctor has always taken an interest in political matters and has worked earnestly and zealously for the party and its candidates, and in every contest has pulled in the harness cheerfully and with effect. He has heretofore been before the party, but when he and his friends thought that a seminar would prove disastrous to the party he has sacrificed his individual aspirations for the sake of harmony and put his shoulder to the wheel and with might and main worked for the success of the more persistent rival. He has been more devoted to his party than to his personal promotion. And while the Doctor may not be the kind of insider that would allow his Democratic friends out of his way, nor to venture the assertion that if his party would give him the track he would "grind on the armor" and make such a thorough and intelligent canvass that this district would be redeemed and disenthralled from Republicanism and People's partyism for all time to come. Democrat.

The country is Democratic some more.

The Kansas Populists are no longer dangerous. The Republicans are the dogs in the fight.

Never, it is said, has eight Presidents in his cabinet; if so, he is stickier closer to his church than to his party.

The Board of Sinking Fund Commissioners have directed the Attorney General to bring suit against the Mason-Forrest Company for the collection of the amount that firm owes the State. This is the business way of settling the Brown-Buckner controversy, and the only way to ascertain the status of the accounts of the company with the State. If this method had been adopted at first, the unpleasant and unprofitable newspaper controversy would have been avoided.

Mr. Cleveland's inaugural address is a strong paper. He speaks plainly and unreservedly. On the financial question he says:

"Manifestly nothing is more vital to our prosperity as a nation, and to the beneficent purposes of our Government than a sound and stable currency. Its exposure to degradation should at once arouse to activity the most enlightened statesmanship; and the danger of depreciation in the purchasing power of the wages paid to toil should furnish the incentive to prompt and conservative precaution. * * * In the meantime, so far as the executive branch of the Government can intervene, none of the powers with which it is invested will be withheld, when their exercise is deemed necessary to maintain our national credit or avert financial disaster."

In briefly referring to the tariff he says:

"The verdict of our voters, which condemned the injustice of maintaining protection for protection's sake, enjoins upon the people's servants the duty of exposing and destroying the breed of kindred evils which are the unwholesome progeny of paternalism. This is the base of republican institutions and the constant peril of our Government by the people. * * * The acceptance of this principle leads to a radical of business and industries which burden the labor and thrift of a portion of our citizens, to aid ill-advised or languishing enterprises in which they have no concern."

Referring to civil service reform he says:

"The benefits already gained through this instrumentality and the further usefulness it promises, entitle it to the hearty support and encouragement of all who desire to see our public services well performed or who hope for the elevation of political sentiment and the purification of political methods."

Referring to trusts and combinations formed to regulate price and production he says:

"To the extent that they can be reached and restrained by Federal power, the General Government should relieve our citizens from their interference and exactions."

In reference to the party's pledges, he says:

"Anxiety for the redemption of the pledges my party has made, and solicitude for the complete justification of the trust the people have reposed in us, constrain me to remind those with whom I am to co-operate that we can succeed in doing the work which has been especially set before us only by the most sincere, harmonious and disinterested effort. Even if insuperable obstacles and opposition prevent the consummation of our task we shall hardly be excused; and if failure can be traced to our fault or neglect we may be sure the people will hold us to a swift and exacting accountability."

Suspected Murderer Breaks Jail.

Princeton, Ky., March 7.—Charles Johnson, accused of killing Policeman Cox at Lanesburg last Christmas, had his escape trial at Edinville yesterday, and was held over under a $2,000 bond, in default of which he was committed to jail. This morning when the jailer went to feed the prisoners he found Johnson had gained his liberty.

His Way to Get Even.

Morganfield, Ky., March 7.—On the night of February 11 a rail was taken out of the Ohio Valley railroad track at April Rock bridge, near Dickson, Union county. No clue was discovered until last night, when it was found that J. E. Thompson, a former section hand, had borrowed an axe from a negro on that night, and returned it battered and broken. A collar button was found near the track also, which was identified as Thompson's. It was further found that Thompson was very angry when discharged a few days before the attempted wrecking, and had jumped his board bill. He was followed up and arrested at Waverly.

Howerton will be prepared to fix you up in anything to wear this season. It is no use talking he is doing the business.

Howerton is making money. Howerton is paying money.

Don't think the man that is always selling at cost is the best man to buy from. He would not do this if his goods did not cost him much. Too many men buy on credit and pay too much and then the merchants advertise to sell at cost, to try to meet their bills. The result is, you who buy from them get old goods, at old prices, and are humbugged year in, and year out, and finally you fail, and your merchant fails. Try buying new goods, guaranteed to be as represented and from 10 to 25 cents less money, bought for the money and sold for the money by your trade.

San Howerton.

Ask to see men's fine shoes $1.00 to $5.00 per pair at San Howerton's.

If you want corn drills call on J. T. Wood.

These Steel Beauty corn planters at Wood's is what every farmer should have.

Stoves at prices to suit everybody at Wood's.

There was a general drunken row here Saturday night. It is high time we elect law abiding men to office as well as men who are not too cowardly to enforce the law. We will have a chance for improvement in this respect in electing our State Senators, County Judges and County Representatives. I hope there will be several candidates for each of these offices, so that the people can have a chance to select men of their choice. Prof. J. F. Nail, Hon. Wm. Murrie and Z. J. Crider would suit the people of Caldwell admirably for the above offices. Let us hear from others on this subject before it is too late.

There is but little being done in any branch of business at present, the roads are too bad for people to get to town without danger. Frank Loyd drove into a mud hole a few days ago with his milk wagon; he and the milk both were spilled out, he got out of the hole and milk himself, but lost eighty pounds of milk.

Rev. M. E. Chappell preached a good sermon last Sunday night on the subject of "Breaking the Sabbath law, who are responsible for its repeated violations."

will leave soon to attend school at St. Vincent a few weeks.

There was a large crowd attended the Harrison sale last week; property sold high.

Brother Orr, the presiding elder, went through Edinville enroute to Bethel church where he held quarterly meeting Saturday and Sunday.

Slip attendance at church here Saturday night and Sunday. Preachers should not become so zealous as to attempt to drive or ridicule men into measured kind, loving, persuasive words will accomplish much more good. If you want a soldier to fight a good fight you should not call him a coward before he goes into it, but rather speak kind words of cheer.

F. B. McCollum died Monday night of consumption.

R. Crozier has been appointed by the Board of Trustees, marshal, and we are inclined to the opinion that Bob will make it rather warm for the boys.

Some one broke the lock and borrowed Andy Gibson's skiff a few days ago but the borrower was clever enough to return the skiff by the packet at Gibson's post.

J. C. Owen returned from Paducah Friday where he has been for several weeks. Mr. Owen says he intends to bustle the boys, who are so anxious for the post-office and we hope he will succeed as we know him to be an excellent gentleman, a true Democrat, and well qualified to fill the position.

This novel method was adopted by a bright girl to get rid of a bean who persisted in staying very late. She gave him a paper and pencil with one of her sweetest smiles: "Now make a new eleven o'clock; now make a perpendicular mark downward on the right of the first cipher; upward on the right of the fourth; downward on the right of the fifth; upward on the right of the seventh and eight; downward on the tenth. The marks should be half an inch long." She asked him to read what he had written. The effect was electrical. Try it.

SETTLED AT LAST.

Marion to Have a New and Pretty Cemetery.

For a couple of years the people of Marion have been talking about a new cemetery. And efforts have been made to locate one and begin the work of beautifying it. After dragging along, the matter was finally settled Monday. A number of citizens visited the two places—one north of town, on J. P. Pierce's land, and the other west, on John Lamb's land. Monday night a meeting was held at the court house, and the merits of the two places fully discussed, and the propositions from each of the land owners heard. Both propositions were practically the same, and the preference of the meeting as to location was expressed by ballot, and the site west of town was chosen by a vote of 15 to 4. The land has been surveyed, and drives, walks and lots designated. It is a beautiful site, high and picturesque, and can be made a very beautiful place. The people should take hold of the matter and make what the community badly needs, a cemetery County Court next Monday.

COURT AFFAIRS.

A $10,000 Damage Suit, and Other Cases.

A day or two since Mrs. Florence Burnett, through her attorneys, filed a damage suit against Mr. Sam Henry, of this place. The petition makes two allegations, each for $5,000 damages. The matter in plain terms is the plaintiff accuses the defendant of making statements derogatory to her character and asks for $10,000 damages.

W. M. Burton files suit against T. M. Young, asking judgment for $371, alleging that the defendant owes him that amount for board and washing.

E. L. Nunn, administrator of the estate of Chapel Nunn, filed suit for sale of the land and settlement of said estate.

W. L. Clement filed suit against P. B. Croft on an account of $75. The petition alleges that while the plaintiff and defendant were partners, the firm, at the instance of the defendant, sold goods to a third party, and the creditor failing to pay, the accounts of the firm, in dissolution of partnership, fell to the plaintiff, and he files suit to collect the $75.

Laura A. Armstrong has filed suit asking to be divorced from her husband Henry Armstrong.

There will probably be some litigation concerning the location of the new cemetery. Some of the citizens of that part of the town are up and in arms against its location, at the place chosen. Yesterday A. J. Chittenden, whose residence lot adjoins the cemetery lot, called at the Prize office to express himself. He said: "The location of the cemetery there will injure my property at least $500. No body likes to live next door to the grave yard; besides this, the drainage will be right on me. I am going to fight it from the start; I have already employed an attorney, and some of my neighbors will do likewise. We propose to sue out an injunction, and by tomorrow the papers will be served. No, sir, I am not afraid of ghosts, spooks nor grave yard rabbits, but I don't propose to have the value of my property decreased 25 per cent. if I can help it, and we propose to spend some money to help it, too."

"I can't make butter out of this," said butter maker Lemon, of the Marion creamery, Monday; and as he spoke he brought to view a couple of pieces of ice, clear as crystal, and utterly devoid of the snowy color milk usually bears. The ice was taken from the bottom of the big weighing tub, into which the milk is placed when it comes to the creamery. The ice was, to all appearances, good milk when it was poured into the tub. The butter maker is of the opinion that some rain must have fallen in the milk while it was en route to the creamery, or else the effect of the low temperature, necessary to coagulate it, changes the color of the white milk to the clear colorless ice.

Mr. L. H. James returned from Eddyville Saturday, where he had been engaged as counsel in the examining trial of Charles Johnson, charged with killing John Cox, at Lamasco, last December. Mr. James was employed by the friends of the dead man to assist in the prosecution. Johnson was held to answer the charge at the May term of the Lyon county circuit court.

Last week Mr. Jesse Crawford received a telegram from Washington, notifying him of his appointment to a department clerkship. He goes into the educational department, and gets a handsome salary. He was examined under the civil service law, and the appointment is the result of the examination. He has been one of the county's best teachers.

Wm. Clark, Sherman Clark and Hodge Fritts were before Police Judge Herin Monday, charged with a breach of the peace. Fritts was fined $5; Wm. Clark one cent, and Sherman was acquitted. Thursday night they engaged in a little "scrap" in front of the post office; nobody was seriously hurt.

The board of tax supervisors are getting their work; the "raises" they have made could by no means be counted on the fingers, and the total increase would make a pretty handsome competency for the average Crittenden county man.

AT THE WORK.

The Board of Tax Supervisors Arranging for Invitation for Their Farewell Appearance.

In the court room yesterday were five men pouring over a long list of names, a big stack of big books, and long columns of figures. The men were A. A. Deboe, J. E. Dean, E. B. Blackburn, T. E. Griffith and J. A. Vandell. They were the tax supervisors, and so busy were they that they would not stop to invite a visitor in if one appeared at the door.

"John Doe, two hundred acres of land, $1000."

"Richard Roe, 100 acres $400."

"Gentlemen, what do you say to the way this land is listed." This would be something like the words the visitor would hear from the reading clerk; then the second member would say: "Roe's land is worth more money than that." The fourth chimed in: "yes, he ought to be raised."

Then somebody would say $600 would not be too much." All assented, and Mr. Roe's list was augmented a couple of hundred.

Thus the work went on until all the Smiths, Jones and Browns in the county were called, and occasionally some fellow was "raised."

"Have you made much increase was asked. "We have finished all but two precincts, and the increase is now $60,000. Our total increases will be close to $75,000. Our work however is not final. We will probably adjourn today, and those parties whose list have been augmented will be summoned to appear before us ten days hence, and asked to show cause why these increases should not be made."

Glancing over the clerk's shoulder at the list before him, the visitor readily concluded that there would be a good many summonses issued.

The Board adjourned to meet Monday March 20.

Monday, at Princeton, a Mr. Dudley was fined $600, and given 100 days in jail for selling liquor contrary to law.

J. W. Johnson has a Bradbury patching machine. Boing your shoes just needs repairing and have them fixed at a small cost.

Cotton goods are high and still going up, but W. L. Clement will sell you good calico at 5 cents per yard, or good brown domestic at 5 cents per yard.

If you want a good thing on the farm, buy James' wagon bed lifter. Several farmers have already purchased, and they are well pleased with the useful article.

Mrs. Williams is in Louisville getting the latest styles in hats, trimmings, etc. When she returns Mrs. Loving will have the most complete stock of millinery goods.

The District Mission Board of the Ohio River Association have discontinued preaching at Baker's school house, and Rev. Blackburn will not preach at that place hereafter.

Messrs. Fred Lemon, Theo. Davis and J. G. Gilbert would accept a storekeeper-gauger place under the new administration. They will notify the collector of their desire to accommodate him.

The following are the names of the pupils in the Primary Department, who recited the most number of perfect lessons in the month of February: Spelling, Mabel Gues; reading, Roy Lamb and Kay Kevil; arithmetic, Melrose Vernon and Ed Perry; geography, Kay Kevil; grammar, Frank Doss and Lonna Clark; history, Ed Gues; physiology, Claude Schwab.

ALICE BROWNING, Teacher.

Still After the Boys.

Last Saturday Deputy United States Marshal Cosby was in this county again. This time he took Obe Simmons, of Dyessburg, to Paducah, to answer to the charge of selling liquor without licenses from the Federal government. Mr. Simmons is charged with selling at the Piney camp-meeting. This makes three of the boys who have been arrested, charged with the same offense, at the same place and time. It is said that there are warrants for others. If the arrests continue, the Piney camp-meeting will probably be without any disturbance of that character this year.

Still Confined In An Asylum Condition Hopeless.

"The Mackaye Spectatorium" is a building now in process of construction at the North and of Jackson Park, on the lake shore, Chicago, in which is to be given, during the continuance of the Columbian Exposition, a noble and adequate presentation of the incidents intimately connected with the first great voyage of Columbus. This conception, which is strange and seemingly impossible of realization, originated with Mr. Steele Mackaye, who submitted his ideas to a party of Chicago's leading financiers, about a year ago. They were at once convinced that his ideas were worthy of support and immediately gave him the requisite backing to the extent of about two millions of dollars; since then the work has been pushed forward with all possible speed. The building itself is strictly original and daring in its departure from the conventionalities of architecture and will, when completed, ran more than favorably with the best in "The White City." This building and its immense power houses and studies will occupy about 382,040 square feet of ground, the main building covering a ground area of nearly 200,000 square feet. The company which will push it forward to completion and stand sponsor for its artistic and high class features is composed of many of the best known gentlemen of Chicago, men of almost national reputation whose names are not often found in anything of this kind; such men as George M. Pullman, Lyman J. Gage, Murray Nelson, Benj. Butterworth, Franklin H. Hoar, C. O. Hinkley, Gen'l A. C. McClurg, E. B. Butler, E. W. Gillett, Ferd and Clarence Peck, H. E. Bucklen, E. L. Brewster, H. W. Weaver and others of like prominence.

These lines are written in remembrance of little Emma E. daughter of R. W. and E. J. Vanhousier, who was born on the 16th of August 1889, and died February the 21st, 1895. She was sick only two days, suddenly she was called from her home and loved ones here, to be a companion to angels and sainted spirits on that celestial shore. Her mother said little Emma would talk like a grown person and loved everybody that she knew. She would often sing "I want to go where Jesus is," "In the harvest field there is work to do," and "Blessed be the name of the Lord."

She was the light of the family and every one that knew her, loved her, but she has gone. No more on earth will we hear her sweet voice singing. The home that was once made glad by the light of her presence, now dark and lonely. Christ ~~who~~ loved and blessed little children; while he was here on earth has taken her to Himself. Dear parents you can follow on like a star, little Emma shines in glory; to draw your hearts closer to God and Heaven. Perhaps she was only given to make heaven seem nearer and sweeter to you. Yes, when death claims our precious little ones with aching hearts we give them up, not without hope from the cold grave we look up by faith to that beautiful home on high and say not lost but come on before.

My men are now riding to collect the taxes due me. They have instructions to collect or levy as they go. To save myself I am bound to do this, and there will be no exceptions from this rule. I must have the money, and all those indebted must govern themselves accordingly. I mean this and nothing less. A. I. Cruce.
