DEMOCRAT DAY.

GROVER CLEVELAND AGAIN ASSUMES THE HELMS OF PROGRESS.

Washington, March 6.-Grover Cleveland has been re-elected President, the third time incontestably, under the highest form of democracy and the best form of government. The great triumph of Cleveland was due to a large extent to the hearty support of the people. The result was in favor of the people's candidate, who received a decisive victory over the man of the people.

The people were satisfied with the administration of Cleveland, and they were prepared to give him another term. It was a triumph for the people, and they were right in their decision.

The people are not satisfied with the administration of the present President, and they are not going to give him another term. It is a triumph for the people, and they are right in their decision.
