PIERCE-YANDELL GUGENHEIM CO.

INCORPORATED

The House Committee on Territories will report a bill for the admission of Utah as a state.

State Treasurer Hale is urging the sheriff to be prompt in their collections. He wants the cash for the school teachers.

The Third Party people of Virginia heartily endorse Senator John W. Daniel's speech in the Senate on the silver question. Daniels is a sterling Democrat.

Henry Houston is a candidate for mayor of Paducah. Henry has run for Congress so often in this district, addressing the people of this county so frequently, that his race for mayor seems like a Crittenden county man running.

At Nashville both the Republicans and Democrats ignored the colored brother in making tickets for the city offices. The colored brother proposes to resent the insult by putting a negro ticket in the field. He will always believe that politics was made for the negro, and politics he must have no matter what becomes of moral, intellectual and spiritual improvement.

Our County Judge and County Clerk are of the opinion that, if Crittenden will curtail her financial expenditures for a couple of years, the public debt will be liquidated at the present rate of taxation. That reminds us of the fellow who could get rich if he did not have to spend his money for food and clothing.

If you live in Marion, and are not in too big a rush this morning, please read this from the Princeton Banner, and having read it, remember that it is a fact that Princeton will put a good taste in Marion's mouth:

"The first and most persistent thing a visitor or a new-comer hears when he gets to Princeton is praise of its magnificent schools. A town with pride in its schools must have something else to be proud of, and the rule will surely work in this case. A good graded school and a good college, such as Princeton has, are the making of any place."

LYONS COUNTY NEWS.

(From the Tale.)

Married.—At the residence of the bride's mother, on Thursday night Sept. 14, 1893, Mr. Van Buren Castleberry to Miss Linda Chandler. Mr. Castleberry is a well known young farmer of this county and his bride is a highly esteemed and greatly loved daughter of Mrs. John N. Chandler.

Mr. Henry Larkins, of the Blow Springs neighborhood died, last Sunday.

Whipping Post.

Wilmington, Del., Sept. 23.—At Newcastle this morning Sheriff Gould whipped nine negroes and three white men for various grades of theft.

Three of the negroes, in addition to being whipped, were obliged to stand one hour in the pillory. All of the victims were sentenced to various terms of imprisonment and fined in addition.

Largest Woman In the State.

Carlsde, Ky., Sept. 23.—Mrs. Clavel, probably the largest woman in the State, died at her residence, near Meyers Station, this county, yesterday. Mrs. Clavel at the time of her death weighed 361 pounds. The casket for her remains was six feet four inches in length and was too wide to be placed in the house or an ordinary spring wagon, and for this reason a large furniture truck was substituted. When taken to the house it was found that the remains would have to be bought out in the yard and placed in the coffin, as it was too large to admit being taken inside.

UNDER WAY.

WORK HAS COMMENCED ON THE NEW TARIFF LAW IN EARNEST.

No Time Will Be Lost, Nor Pains Spared to Make the Bill Meet the Demands.

Washington, Sept. 20.—Hearing before the Ways and Means Committee closed to-day, and now the actual work of drawing up and putting in shape the bill which is to form the new tariff law will be at once commenced. For sixteen days the committee has heard the representatives of protected industries and the importers of the protected goods from 10 o'clock in the morning until 5 or 6 in the evening. More time has been devoted by the present committee to these hearings than has ever been given by any previous committee. The bill will be affected by the new legislation. Under these circumstances the Democratic members of the committee are justified in abiding by the original terms of the resolution, limiting the hearings until to-day. Chairman Wilson said this morning that the work of drafting the bill would be commenced at once.

"The Democratic members will work together," said he in response to a question. "Some of the schedules will be prepared by all the Democrats together, while others will be referred to sub-committees for preparation and afterward revised by the full Democratic membership."

"It is impossible to say, but it will take longer than some people, who have never had a tariff bill to prepare, seem to think necessary," was the reply. We might fix up a measure in a very short order, but it is not that kind of a bill we want to present to the country. Legislation affecting so many interests must be very carefully considered and its effect calculated before we can hope to perfect a bill which can stand the many tests to which it will be subjected when enacted into law. Such a measure as this can not be successfully hurried. We shall, however, lose no time, and hope to present it to the House at the earliest possible moment consistent with the important interests involved."

NEED REVISION.

Gov. McCreary on the United States Varied Financial Laws.

Washington, Sept. 22.—Gov. McCreary, by invitation, addressed the Committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures this morning on his joint resolution providing for the appointment of a monetary commission. He spoke for one hour, and that committee, which has heard many arguments during this session, complimented him by saying they would probably require him to address them again. Mr. McCreary stated his belief that the mere repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman silver law would not afford permanent relief to the business interests of the country, but that an entire revision of the financial system of the country was essential. The United States, he explained, had nine different kinds of legal tender currency, a variety that no other country under the sun possessed. There were too, eight separate laws on the subject of legal tender, some of them being wholly unknown to some members of the committee.

TEN KILLED.

A Negroes Crime and Its Fatal Results.

Roanoke, Va., Sept. 20.—An attempt to avenge the honor of a woman by lynching her negro assailant caused a terrible tragedy here to-night. An attack upon the jail was repulsed by a volley from the guards and ten persons were killed.

The negro prisoner was taken from the jail by officers during the demonstration of the mob caused by the deadly volley, and was secreted in a safe place.

The original cause of the tragedy was a brutal assault made by Robert Smith, a burly negro, upon Mrs. Henry Bishop, wife of a well to do farmer of Botetourt county, whom he almost killed. Mrs. Bishop was at the market in this city with a load of produce and Smith bought a box of grapes. He asked her to go with him to get the money, and she gave it up and while doing so jerked the razor from his hand. The negro choked her, threw and pounded her head with a brick, leaving her for dead. Mrs. Bishop shortly afterward regained consciousness and returning to the market told of the outrage.

Roanoke, Va., Sept. 21.—The negro Tom Smith, who was removed from jail last night in order to save him from a mob which attacked the jail for the purpose of lynching him, was found where the authorities tried to secrete him early this morning and lynched. His body was afterward taken to the river bank in the western part of the city and burned, in the presence of an infuriated mob of over 1,000 men.

HIGH CHIEF DEPUTY.

Mr. W. H. Clark, of Hopkinsville Appointed by Powers.

Owensboro, Sept. 21.—Powers today appointed as high chief deputy, W. H. Clark, lawyer of Hopkinsville. Other recommendations today were John E. Trantham, of Paducah, to be gauger, R. B. Kuykendall, of Butler, and W. B. Chiles, of Christian, to be store keepers.

Washington, Sept. 21.—On Collector Powers' recommendations commissions were today mailed to the following in the Second district: Albert G. Rutledge, gauger; W. A. Eastham, John B. Hestand, J. E. Payne and John F. South to be store keepers.

THE I. T. RHEA SUNK.

Disastrous Collision With the Grace Morris on Cottonwood Bar.

Paducah, Ky., Sept. 22.—About 8 o'clock to-night the steamer Grace Morris collided with the I. T. Rhea, on Cottonwood bar, in the Ohio river six miles above this city, and stove in her side near the fire room. The Rhea sunk in ten feet of water. The passengers were all taken off in safety by the Morris, and brought to this city.

The Rhea was going up stream. The narrowness of the channel at that point was the cause. The Rhea is the regular Paducah and Caseyville packet, and the Morris runs from here to Evansville. It is thought by some that the stranded steamer is in danger of breaking in two.

ROBBERS ROUTED.

An Attempt to Hold up a Train Defeated by Plucky Trainmen.

Centralia, Ill., Sept. 21.—The New Orleans limited train on the Illinois Central road was held up shortly after 11 o'clock last night just outside this city by three men, who boarded the train at Centralia, and in the battle which followed between the robbers and train hands one of the robbers was mortally wounded and three of the crew were badly hurt.

The shooting had aroused the passengers, and they, terrified and waking up, had been busily concealing their valuables. On the train, dead, heading his way was P. J. Sanders, a brakeman on the road. He came to the rescue of the conductor and messenger with a shotgun. He attacked the robbers from the rear, and was in turn attacked by them, but he managed to escape by getting away through the fields.

Centralia, Ill., Sept. 21.—Martin Nichols and James Hardine were captured early this morning in a cornfield not far from the scene of the hold-up. A fourth man, whose name is yet unknown to the railway officials, was caught about 6 o'clock this morning at Odin, a town about ten miles north of here. When Nichols and Hardine were captured a great crowd of townspeople of Centralia had gathered about the depot, and as the prisoners were brought in the cry of "Lynch them!" was raised. Ropes were in readiness and only the courage and coolness of the officers saved the robbers from death at the hands of the mob.

HE DENIES EVERYTHING.

Mr. Breckinridge Files His Answer to Miss Pollard's Bill.

Washington, Sept. 24.—Congressman Breckinridge filed his reply to the charges made by Miss Madeline V. Pollard, of seduction and breach of promise, with Clerk Young at the city hall here to-day. Mr. Breckinridge denies that he ever promised to marry her and denies that he is the father of any of her three children. He says that she accosted him when first on her way to the seminary which she was attending. She intimated that a man of the name of Rhodes had betrayed her, and said she wanted legal advice. He says that the numerous charges brought against him by Miss Pollard are wholly false.

FRIGHTFUL WRECK.

Eleven Victims of a Breakman's Carelessness.

Kingsbury, Ind., Sept. 22.—Eleven persons lost their lives in a collision between a freight train and the Toronto and Montreal express on the Wabash railroad at this station at 5:30 o'clock this morning. A score of others are injured, many of whom will die.

The freight was on a siding west of the depot and was bound east. The first section of the express train passed by on the main track at 5:25 a. m. It is said that the brakeman, supposing that the freight train would now move back to open the switch. Before the cars had begun to move the second section of the fast express came west at the rate of fifty-five miles an hour, and before the brakeman could turn the switch, dashed into the side track and collided with the freight train. The wreck is complete, and the houses for miles around are filled with the dead and wounded.

The board of trustees shall, out of collections under each levy, by order set apart out of the collections of each levy a sufficient amount to pay interest for the year on any bonds issued, and the treasurer shall pay same; and, in addition, shall out of the several levies, until entire payment of such bonds, set aside a sufficient amount as a sinking fund, when aggregated, to meet the principal of the bonds at maturity, which sinking fund shall be kept loaned, with ample security, or profitable invested and shall be used for no other purpose than the payment of principal of such bonds. But if the board so order the sinking fund, or any part thereof, may be used in the purchase of such bonds before maturity, except a sufficiency to pay interest on the outstanding bonds.

INTEREST ON BONDS LIMITED.

SEC. 127. The bonds so issued shall bear not exceeding six per cent. interest per annum, and shall be issued by a majority of the trustees, and in such manner as they may deem best, and shall be payable at such times and at such places, and in such amounts as they may determine; and the tax to pay the bonds and interest shall be imposed by an order signed by a majority of the trustees, specifying the annual tax to be imposed.

TAX TO PAY BONDS AND INTEREST.

The board of trustees shall annually on the second Monday in May, impose the tax, and when paid the treasurer of the board shall at once apply the same to the payment of the bonds and interest as required by the board. When the bonds and interest are paid the tax shall not be levied or collected nor shall the trustees, or any of them, receive any compensation for their services under this law.

UNDER WAY.

WORK HAS COMMENCED ON THE NEW TARIFF LAW IN EARNEST.

No Time Will Be Lost, Nor Pains Spared to Make the Bill Meet The Demands.

Washington, Sept. 20.—Hearing before the Ways and Means Committee closed today, and now the actual work of drawing up and putting in shape the bill which is to form the new tariff law will be at once commenced. For sixteen days the committee has heard the representatives of protected industries and the importers of the protected goods from 10 o'clock in the morning until 5 or 6 in the evening. More time has been devoted by the present committee to these hearings than has ever been given by any previous committee. During this time, too, arguments have been presented on all of the schedules likely to be affected by the new legislation. Under these circumstances the Democratic members of the committee are justified in abiding by the original terms of the resolution, limiting the hearings until today. Chairman Wilson said this morning that the work of drafting the bill would be commenced at once.

"The Democratic members will work together," said he in response to a question. "Some of the schedules will be prepared by all the Democrats together, while others will be referred to sub-committees for preparation and afterward revised by the full Democratic membership."

"It is impossible to say, but it will take longer than some people, who have never had a tariff bill to prepare, seem to think necessary," was the reply. "We might fix up a measure in a very short order, but it is not that kind of a bill we want to present to the country. Legislation affecting so many interests must be very carefully considered and its effect calculated before we can hope to perfect a bill which can stand the many tests to which it will be subjected when enacted into law. Such a measure as this can not be successfully hurried. We shall, however, lose no time, and hope to present it to the House at the earliest possible moment consistent with the important interests involved."

NEED REVISION.

Gov. McCreary on the United States Varied Financial Laws.

Washington, Sept. 22.—Gov. McCreary, by invitation, addressed the Committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures this morning on his joint resolution providing for the appointment of a monetary commission. He spoke for one hour, and that committee, which has heard many arguments during this session, complimented him by saying they would probably require him to address them again. Mr. McCreary stated his belief that the mere repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman silver law would not afford permanent relief to the business interests of the country, but that an entire revision of the financial system of the country was essential. The United States, he explained, had nine different kinds of legal tender currency, a variety that no other country under the sun possessed. There were two, eight separate laws on the subject of legal tender, some of them being wholly unknown to some members of the committee.

TEN KILLED.

A Negroes Crime and Its Fatal Results.

Roanoke, Va., Sept. 20.—An attempt to avenge the honor of a woman by lynching her negro assailant caused a terrible tragedy here to-night. An attack upon the jail was repulsed by a volley from the guards and ten persons were killed.

The negro prisoner was taken from the jail by officers during the demonstration of the mob caused by the deadly volley, and was secreted in a safe place.

The original cause of the tragedy was a brutal assault made by Robert Smith, a burly negro, upon Mrs. Henry Bishop, wife of a well to do farmer of Botetourt county, whom he almost killed. Mrs. Bishop was at the market in this city with a load of produce and Smith bought a box of grapes. He asked her to go with him to get the money, and taking her to a house near by, locked the door and bound her. Then drawing a razor he demanded her money. She gave it up and while doing so jerked the razor from his hand. The negro choked her, threw and pounded her head with a brick, leaving her for dead. Mrs. Bishop shortly afterward regained consciousness and returning to the market told of the outrage.

Roanoke, Va., Sept. 21.—The negro Tom Smith, who was removed from jail last night in order to save him from the mob which attacked the jail for the purpose of lynching him, was found where the authorities tried to secrete him early this morning and lynched. His body was afterward taken to the river bank in the western part of the city and burned, in the presence of an infuriated mob of over 1,000 men.

HIGH CHIEF DEPUTY.

Mr. W. H. Clark, of Hopkinsville Appointed by Powers.

Owensboro, Sept. 21.—Powers today appointed as high chief deputy, W. H. Clark, lawyer of Hopkinsville. Other recommendations made by the collector for appointment today were John E. Frantham, of Paducah, as co-gauger, R. B. Koykendall, of Butler, and W. B. Clifton, of Christian, to be store keepers.

Washington, Sept. 21.—On Collector Powers' recommendations commissions were today mailed to the following in the Second district: Albert G. Rutledge, gauger; W. A. Eastham, John B. Howard, J. E. Payne and John F. Smith to be store keepers.

THE T RHEA SUNK.

Disastrous Collision With the Grace Morris on Cottonwood Bar.

Paducah, Ky., Sept. 22.—About 8 o'clock to-night the steamer Grace Morris collided with the T. T. Rhea, on Cottonwood bar, in the Ohio river six miles above this city, and stove in her side near the fire room. The Rhea sank in ten feet of water. The passengers were all taken off in safety by the Morris, and brought to this city.

The Rhea was going up stream. The narrowness of the channel at that point was the cause. The Rhea is the regular Paducah and Caseyville packet, and the Morris runs from here to Evansville. It is thought by some that the stranded steamer is in danger of breaking in two.

ROBBERS ROUTED.

An Attempt to Hold up a Train Defeated by Plucky Trainmen.

Centralia, Ill., Sept. 21.—The New Orleans limited train on the Illinois Central road was held up shortly after 11 o'clock last night just outside this city by three men, who boarded the train at Centralia, and in the battle which followed between the robbers and train hands one of the robbers was mortally wounded and three of the crew were badly hurt.

The shooting had aroused the passengers, and they, terrified and waking up, had been busily concealing their valuables. On the train, dead heading his way was P. J. Sanders, a brakeman on the road. He came to the rescue of the conductor and messenger with a shotgun. He attacked the robbers from the rear, and was in turn attacked by them, but he managed to shoot one of those in the express car through the body.

The others, seeing their companion fall, bleeding, took to their heels and got away through the fields.

Centralia, Ill., Sept. 21.—Martin Nichols and James Hardline were captured early this morning in a cornfield not far from the scene of the hold-up. A fourth man, whose name is yet unknown to the railway officials, was caught about 6 o'clock this morning at Odin, a town about ten miles north of here. When Nichols and Hardline were captured a great crowd of townspeople of Centralia had gathered about the depot, and as the prisoners were brought in the cry of "Lynch them!" was raised. Ropes were in readiness and only the courage and coolness of the officers saved the robbers from death at the hands of the mob.

HE DENIES EVERYTHING.

Mr. Breckinridge Files His Answer to Miss Pollard's Bill.

Washington, Sept. 24.—Congressman Breckinridge filed his reply to the charges made by Miss Madeline V. Pollard, of seduction and breach of promise, with Clerk Young at the city hall here to-day. Mr. Breckinridge denies that he ever promised to marry her and denies that he is the father of any of her three children. He says that she accosted him when first they met and requested him to call on her at the seminary which she was attending. She intimated that a man of the name of Rhodes had betrayed her, and said she wanted legal advice. He says that the numerous charges brought against him by Miss Pollard are wholly false.

FRIGHTFUL WRECK.

Eleven Victims of a Breakman's Carelessness.

Kingsbury, Ind., Sept. 22.—Eleven persons lost their lives in a collision between a freight train and the Toronto and Montreal express on the Wabash railroad at this station at 5:30 o'clock this morning. A score of others are injured, many of whom will die.

The freight was on a siding west of the depot and was bound east. The first section of the express train passed by on the main track at 5:25 a. m. It is said that the brakeman, supposing that the freight train would not move, ran back to open the switch. Before the cars had begun to move the second section of the fast express came west at the rate of fifty-five miles an hour, and before the brakeman could turn the switch, dashed into the side track and collided with the freight train. The wreck is complete, and the houses for miles around are filled with the dead and wounded.

NOTICE.

The low price of silver is causing trouble in some of the South American States, and they are prohibiting the importation of the silver coin from other countries. The discovery of a large amount of counterfeit coin caused the action. The coin contained the required amount of silver, but the counterfeit makes a handsome profit.

Judge Settle in the Criminal Court at Bowling Green, Saturday morning, rendered an opinion in the recent local option contested election case, in which he sustains the position of Judge John R. Grider, of the lower court, and decides the law under which the election was held unconstitutional and void. It will be appealed to the Court of Appeals. The election was held under the new State local option law.

On the next page we print some of the main features of the law governing graded schools. The people of Marion should take ample time to investigate this matter: it is one of importance and should not be permitted to go by unheeded. We must have a school house according to the modern idea. A graded school is as much a free, public school as any now taught, and the arrangements are such that, according to experience, much better work is done under the graded system than under the old.

The Hopkinsville Kentuckian says: "The Ohio Valley railroad has had its coaches on the Princeton accommodation remodeled for the new law which takes effect next Sunday. The coaches have been divided by partitions with glass doors and each end is fitted up with stoves, closets and water-closets in every respect alike. The coaches have also been revarnished throughout. The appears to be no difference whatever in the provisions made for passengers as they will be hereafter classified by law. Passengers are already dropping into the new order of things, without any attempt to resist the law."

The Court of Claims meets next Tuesday to discuss county finances and to make such appropriations of the public funds as may seem to the best interest of the people of the county. The situation of the county's financial affairs as reported by our efficient County Clerk on July 1, '93, is as follows:

Total indebtedness	$16,578.00
Total resources	10,230.00
Deficient	-6,348.00

"If," says the Clerk "the present rate of taxation is maintained for three or four years, and no increase in appropriations and claims being made, the county will be entirely out of debt."

The present rate of taxation is 25 cents on every $100 worth of taxable property, and $1.50 poll tax.

Says the New York Post: It is pleasant to remember, in reading the account of the "Cherokee boom" that this must be the last of those chapters of mingled childishness and savagery. The public lands are now all opened to settlement, and there will, therefore, be no more rushes into new territory. The historian of the future who will know that land has been a drug in the market on this continent for two hundred years, and can be had almost for the asking, in all but a few favored localities, will be sorely puzzled by the Oklahoma and Cherokee "boom," unless he is familiar with the American passion for speculation—that is, for getting hold of something to be unloaded rapidly on somebody else. If he imagines the boomers to be intending cultivators of the soil, how absurd the sneer, at the slowness and conservatism of the American mind with which our literature is filled, will seem to him. How different the mounted boomer, galloping to the scene of his projected toll, will seem from the dull plodding farmer of the contemporary fiction and journalism.

As an inexpensive way of relieving the prisons:

"For this class of people there ought to be a different punishment prescribed, something that would not only subject them to hard labor, but to humiliation as well, if it can be done under the provisions of the constitution. Perhaps the best way to determine that matter is by the enactment of a law on which the courts could pass. It is my opinion that the lower grade, short term convicts should be worked out on the public roads under the rules and regulations of a chain gang. I believe this would create a terror of the lower grades of crime and stop this great increase of such criminals. With the chair plant then, and perhaps a brown plant, I think the prison problem in Kentucky will have been solved and the tax-payers relieved of the burden of the support of the convicts."

Asked what other expedient he would suggest in the event that the working of the convicts on the public roads was held unconstitutional, he said:

"I think, then, the amount of theft to constitute a felony should be raised to, say, $100, and the counties be required to punish their own criminals for theft for sums from $20, and under $100, by working them on the public roads after a general plan devised by the state. In this way the desired end, after all, would be attained."

Some of the district papers are discussing the next Congressional race. The following are a couple of opinions:

"Hon. John K. Hendrick is a gentleman of the first order, but the time has not arrived for a change in the 'Old Gibraltar,' and the man or men who enter the contest against Stone will find it out when the people begin to prepare their ballots. Capt. Stone will be much stronger this year than last, and as John knows, he was mighty strong then."—Fulton Fultonian.

The Fultonian editor seems to be "dead gone" on the Captain. He has made a good representative, it is true; and he has been paid for his services. The people have honored him with the position a sufficient length of time, and unless they want to make him a "dead of transfer for life" to the office, it would be well that they cast about for another man to take his place. And the only suitable person for same who will make a representative of the Old Gibraltar will never have cause to feel ashamed of, is the Hon. John K. Hendrick, the gift and brainy son for an act done in the discharge of a public duty.

is a more competent man anywhere else in the district, we are not now aware of it.—Murray Ledger.

If the Legislature had passed no new election law, Marion precinct would be a local option town after the next County Court; but as it is, Marion is a dry town without a dry law. Some time ago Doss & Robertson, who joined the election board from spreading the certificate of the election at which local option was adopted in this precinct. The case went through the Circuit Court to the Court of Appeals. Last week the Superior Court decided against the distillers, and at the next term of County Court the election board can proceed to the spreading of the certificate, which is the in the local option law that was voted in this precinct more than a year ago. But in the meantime the Legislature passed a new law, which it is claimed repealed the old; some of the Circuit Judges have recently decided that the new law is unconstitutional. In the meantime the Crittenden Springs Hotel folks were granted saloon licenses and have been selling liquor in this precinct. No two men appear to agree concerning the situation in Marion, and in the meantime you can't get a drink, they say, unless you know the ropes.

All mail and express trains leaving Chicago for the East and South are accompanied by armed men. The many robberies are putting the roads on the alert.

Train Robbers Walked Into a Train That Wanted Them.

Two Killed and Three Captured.

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 25.—The Council Bluffs road filled an attempt to rob one of its passenger trains, killed two of the bandits and captured three others at Francis, one and one-half miles from this city, last night. The dead are Hugo Engel and Fred Kohler. The names of those captured are N. A. Hurst, Charles Fredericks and William Garber.

Train No. 3 was the intended victim. It left Kansas City at 9:05 last night and arrived here at 12:30 this (Monday) morning. The officials of the road had been notified that the robbery had been planned and they notified the police. When the train arrived here a dummy train was made up and sixteen police officers under command of the Chief of Police were put aboard.

A dummy train reached a point two miles north of St. Joseph the engineer's attention was attracted by a lighted lantern moving to and fro between the rails. He obeyed the signal and six masked men surrounded the engine.

One of the men mounted the engine, and, presenting a revolver at the engineer's head and another at the fireman's head, held them in subjection, while the other five men hastened to rob the express car. They ordered the messenger to open the door, which he did. Three of the bandits at once entered the car, leaving two without to keep guard. The policemen who were guarding the train were distributed on the various cars, the majority of them being concealed in the express car. Immediately the three bandits who had undertaken the work of robbing the car entered the door; the police ordered them to surrender.

The robbers were taken completely by surprise, but they opened fire upon the police. The police returned the fire and a general fusillade followed. About twenty-five shots were fired on both sides. When the smoke cleared away the lifeless bodies of Kohler and Engel were found on the floor of the car. Both had been shot through the head. The bullet which pierced Kohler's head produced instant death. He never stirred after he was hit. Engel was still breathing, but he died shortly after he was brought here. Fredericks, the third robber, engaged in the fight in the car, was not injured and was placed under arrest. None of the officers was injured.

While the fight was going on in the car, the eight police not engaged in the fight were looking after the two robbers who had been left outside to keep watch. The police quickly took them in and placed them under arrest. The bandit who had been detailed to guard the engineer and fireman quickly realized the situation when he heard the battle going on in the express car, and promptly made his escape. A detail of officers was put on his track and quickly took up the pursuit, with every prospect of catching the fugitive before long. His name is Henry Gleitze.

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 25.—Henry Gleitze, the train robber who escaped, was captured here this morning.

Not Suitable. Danville, Ky., Sept. 27.—The suit of City Marshal W. J. Steele, of Versailles, against the town of Danville for $50,000 for false imprisonment, was dismissed by the court upon the ground that the city was not suitable for an act done in the discharge of a public duty.

CRUSHED HIS SKULL.

Pleas Farmer Murdered For His Money.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Sept. 20.—News reaches this city this morning of the murder of Pleas Farmer, a farmer living near Sebree, which occurred Sunday night. Farmer had on his person about $2,000 pension money he had just drawn, and when last seen was in company with John Adams and a man named Goodloe. All were drinking. He was found the next morning with his skull crushed and his pockets rifled. Goodloe and Adams have disappeared. Search is being made for them. Farmer was unmarried and about forty-five years of age. He was a member of the Third Kentucky Cavalry during the war and was a good citizen.

Stolen Horses In His Possession.

Paducah, Ky., Sept. 25.—Like Bowland, a farmer, living a few miles above here, on Clark river, was arrested yesterday and is in jail here. About a week ago Gus Burnett lost a horse valued at $350, and on Friday last Frank Parham lost one worth $200. Both animals were found on Bowland's place. A preliminary examination will be had to-morrow.

Arrested For Incendiarism.

Paducah, Ky., Sept. 21.—Charity Eller, alias Charity Boomer, was arrested in this city to-night, charged with incendiarism at Elizabethtown, Ill., where she, it is alleged, burned the house of Henry M. Miller the 14th of last March. An officer left to-night with the prisoner.

IMPROVEMENTS.

New Methods of Handling Tobacco Being Used by Local Buyers.

Mr. A. C. Tompkins is having a steam apparatus for curing and preparing tobacco put in his factory on main street. The method which will be used is called the fan process. On arriving at the factory the tobacco is put into a number of drawers and steamed to get in order for stemming. After being stemmed it passes into the dry room, where it is dried by a fan which keeps the air in rapid circulation. The draw, back room next to it, is being prepared to receive the stems being dried in hogheads.

By the old way of handling tobacco Mr. Tompkins house had a capacity of only 600 hogheads at one time. By the new method the capacity will be at least doubled.

Last season the same kind of machinery was put in Faqua's factory, and previous capacity of the house had been only 400 hogheads.

Mr. John Elliot will have machinery similar to this put in his new factory now in course of erection on Triplet street, and Mr. Jay Hardy has a somewhat similar arrangement.—Owensboro.

Trouble Brewing.

A short time ago the Ohio Valley railroad issued the following notice to its employees:

"Office of the President, Louisville, Ky., Sept. 15, 1893.—To the Officers and Employees of the Ohio Valley Railway Company: The management of this company is compelled to ask its officers and employees to suffer a reduction of 10 per cent, in their salaries and pay. The earnings of the road demand this, and all other roads in this region have been subjected to the same reduction. Therefore, from and after the 1st of October, 1893, until further orders, there will be a reduction of 10 per cent in the pay of all the officers and employees of the company. It is hoped and believed that the business of the country will soon revive so as to justify a return to the present standard of salaries and wages, and all interested are assured that this shall be done as soon as possible. It is not the belief of the management that this reduction will continue more than ninety days.

Yesterday's Courier Journal said: The employees of the Chesapeake, Ohio and Southwestern and the Ohio Valley railroads have called for the Grand Chief of the sixteen different organizations represented at the conference. This action forbodes trouble. The stand of the men was unlooked for. In fact, it was thought by the road the whole matter of wages was a question that could be settled in a few hours.

The low price of silver is causing trouble in some of the South American States, and they are prohibiting the importation of the silver coin from other countries. The discovery of a large amount of counterfeit coin caused the action. The coin contained the required amount of silver, but the counterfeiter makes a handsome profit.

Judge Settle in the Criminal Court at Bowling Green, Saturday morning, rendered an opinion in the recent local option contested election case, in which he sustains the position of Judge John R. Grider, of the lower court, and decides the law under which the election was held unconstitutional and void. It will be appealed to the Court of Appeals. The election was held under the new State local option law.

On the first page we print some of the main features of the law governing graded schools. The people of Marion should take ample time to investigate this matter: it is one of importance and should not be permitted to go by unheeded. We must have a school house according to the modern idea. A graded school is as much a free, public school as any now taught, and the arrangements are such that, according to experience, much better work is done under the graded system than under the old.

The Hopkinston Kentuckian says: "The Ohio Valley railroad has had its coaches on the Princeton accommodation remodeled for the new law which takes effect next Sunday. The coaches have been divided by partitions with glass doors and each end is fitted up with stoves, closets and water-coolers in every respect alike. The coaches have also been revarnished throughout. The appearance is no difference whatever in the provisions made for passengers as they will be hereafter classified by law. Passengers are already dropping into the new order of things, without any attempt to resist the law."

The Court of Claims meets next Tuesday to discuss county finances and to make such appropriations of the public funds as may seem to the best interest of the people of the county. The situation of the county's financial affairs as reported by our Circuit County Clerk on July 1, '93, is as follows:

Total indebtedness	$16,578.00
Total resources	10,230.00
Deficient	6,348.00

The present rate of taxation is 25 cents on every $100 worth of taxable property, and $1.50 poll tax.

Says the New York Post: It is pleasant to remember, in reading the account of the "Cherokee boom" that this must be the last of these chapters of mingled childishness and savagery. The public lands are now all opened to settlement, and there will, therefore, be no more rushes into new territory. The historian of the future who will know that land has been a drug in the market on this continent for two hundred years, and can be had almost for the asking, in all but a few favored localities, will be sorely puzzled by the Oklahoma and Cherokee "booms" unless he is familiar with the American passion for speculation—that is, for getting hold of something to be sold rapidly on somebody else. If he imagines the boomers to be intending cultivators of the soil, how absurd the sneer, at the shrewdness and conservatism of the agricultural mind with which our frontiers are filled, will seem to him. How different the mounted boomer, galloping to the scene of his projected toil, will seem from the dull plodding farmer of the contemporary fiction and journalism.

State Treasurer Hale discussing the crowded condition of the penitentiary, he suggests the following practical as well as inexpensive way of relieving the prisons:

"For this class of people there ought to be a different punishment prescribed, something that would not only subject them to hard labor, but to humiliation as well, if it can be done under the provisions of the constitution. Perhaps the best way to determine that matter is by the enactment of a law on which the courts could pass. It is my opinion that the law should, short term convicts should be worked out on the public roads under the rules and regulations of a chain gang. I believe this would create a terror of the lower grades of crime and stop the great increase of such criminals. With the chain plant then, and perhaps a brown plant, I think the prison problem in Kentucky will have been solved and the taxpayers relieved of the burden of the support of the convicts."

Asked what other expedient he would suggest in the event that the working of the convicts on the public roads was held unconstitutional, he said: "I think, then, the amount of theft to constitute a felony should be raised to, say, $100, and the counties be required to punish their own criminals for thefts for sums from $20, and under $100, by working them on the public roads after a general plan devised by the state. In this way the desired end, after all, would be attained."

Some of the district papers are discussing the next Congressional race. The following are a couple of opinions:

"Hon. John K. Hendrick is a gentleman of the first order, but the time has not arrived for a change in the 'Old Gibraltar,' and the man or men who enter the contest against Stone will find it out when the people begin to prepare their ballots. Capt. Stone will be much stronger this year than last, and as John knows, he was mighty strong then."—Fulton Fultonian.

The Fultonian editor seems to be "dead gone" on the Captain. He has made a good representative, it is true; and he has been paid for his services. The people have honored him with the position a sufficient length of time, and unless they want to make him a "dead of transfer for life" to the office, it would be well that they cast about for another man to take his place. And the only suitable person for same who will make a representative of the Old Gibraltar will never have cause to feel ashamed of, is the Hon. John K. Hendrick, the gifted and brainy son of the county of Livingston. If there is a more competent man anywhere else in the district, we are not now aware of it.—Murray Ledger.

If the Legislature had passed no new election law, Marion precinct would be a local option town after the next County Court; but as it is, Marion is a dry town without a dry law. Some time ago Doss & Robertson joined the election board from spreading the certificate of the election at which local option was adopted in this precinct. The case went through the Circuit Court to the Court of Appeals. Last week the Superior Court decided against the distillers, and at the next term of County Court the election board can proceed to the spreading of the certificate, which, under the new local option law that was voted in this precinct more than a year ago. But in the meantime the Legislature passed a new law, which it is claimed repealed the old; some of the Circuit Judges have recently decided that the new law is unconstitutional. In the meantime the Crittenden Springs Hotel folks were granted saloon licenses and have been selling liquor in this precinct. No two men appear to agree concerning the situation in Marion, and in the meantime you can't get a drink, they say, unless you know the ropes.

All mail and express trains leaving Chicago for the East and South are accompanied by armed men. The many robberies are putting the roads on the alert.

TRAPPED.

Train Robbers Walked Into a Train That Wanted Them.

Two Killed and Three Captured.

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 25.—The Council Bluffs road failed in an attempt to rob one of its passenger trains, killed two of the bandits and captured three others at Francis, one and a half miles from this city, last night.

The dead are Hugo Engel and Fred Kohler. The names of those captured are N. A. Hunt, Charles Fredericks and William Garner.

Train No. 3 was the intended victim. It left Kansas City at 9:05 last night and arrived here at 12:30 this (Monday) morning. The officials of the road had been notified that the robbery had been planned and they notified the police. When the train arrived here a dummy train was made up and sixteen police officers under command of the Chief of Police were put aboard.

In order to thoroughly deceive the robbers the train was made an exact duplicate of train No. 3. When the dummy reached a point two miles north of St. Joseph the engineer's attention was attracted by a lighted lantern moving to and fro between the rails. He obeyed the signal and six masked men surrounded the engine.

One of the men mounted the engine, and, presenting a revolver at the engineer's head and another at the fireman's head, held them in subjection, while the other five men hastened to the express car. They ordered the messenger to open the door, which he did. Three of the bandits at once entered the car, leaving two without to keep guard. The policemen who were guarding the train were distributed on the various cars, the majority of them being concealed in the express car. Immediately the three bandits who had undertaken the work of robbing the car entered the door; the police ordered them to surrender.

The robbers were taken completely by surprise, but they opened fire upon the police. The police returned the fire and a general fusillade followed. About twenty-five shots were fired on both sides. When the smoke cleared away the lifeless bodies of Kohler and Engel were found on the floor of the car. Both had been shot through the head. The bullet which pierced Kohler's head produced instant death. He never stirred after he was hit. Engel was still breathing, but he died shortly after he was brought here. Fredericks, the third robber, engaged in the fight in the car, was uninjured and was placed under arrest. None of the officers was injured.

While the fight was going on in the car, the eight police not engaged in the fight were looking after the two robbers who had been left outside to keep watch. The police quickly took them in and placed them under arrest.

The bandit who had been detailed to guard the engineer and fireman quickly realized the situation when he heard the battle going on in the express car, and promptly made his escape. A detail of officers was put on his track and quickly took up the pursuit, with every prospect of catching the fugitive before long. His name is Henry Gleitze.

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 25.—Henry Gleitze, the train robber who escaped, was captured here this morning.

Not Suable.

Danville, Ky., Sept. 27.—The suit of City Marshal W. J. Steele, of Versailles, against the town of Danville for $6,000 for false imprisonment, was dismissed by the court upon the grounds that the city was not suable for an act done in the discharge of a public duty.

CRUSHED HIS SKULL.

Pleas Farmer Murdered For His Money.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Sept. 20.—News reaches this city this morning of the murder of Pleas Farmer, a farmer living near Schree, which occurred Sunday night. Farmer had on his person about $2,000 pension money he had just drawn, and when last seen was in company with John Adams and a man named Goodloe. All were drinking. He was found the next morning with his skull crushed and his pockets rifled. Goodloe and Adams have disappeared. Search is being made for them. Farmer was unmarried and about forty-five years of age. He was a member of the Third Kentucky Cavalry during the war and was a good citizen.

Stolen Horses In His Possession.

Paducah, Ky., Sept. 25.—Like Bowland, a farmer, living a few miles above here, on Clark river, was arrested yesterday and is in jail here. About a week ago Gus Barnett lost a horse valued at $250, and on Friday last Frank Parham lost one worth $200. Both animals were found on Bowland's place. A preliminary examination will be had to-morrow.

Arrested For Incendiarism.

Paducah, Ky., Sept. 21.—Charity Eller, alias Charity Boomer, was arrested in this city to-night, charged with incendiarism at Elizabethtown, Ill., where she, it is alleged, burned the house of Henry M. Miller the 14th of last March. An officer left to-night with the prisoner.

IMPROVEMENTS.

New Methods of Handling Tobacco Being Used by Local Buyers.

Mr. A. C. Tompkins is having a steam apparatus for curing and preparing tobacco put in his factory on main street. The method which will be used is called the fan process. On arriving at the factory the tobacco is put into a number of drawers and scanned to get in order for stemming. After being stemmed it passes into the dry room, where it is dried by a fan which keeps the air in rapid circulation. The draw, back room next receives, and softens it, preparatory to its being piled in hogheads.

By the old way of handling tobacco Mr. Tompkins' house and had a capacity of only 600 hogheads at one time. By the new method the capacity will be at least doubled.

Last season the same kind of machinery was put in Paquin's factory, which is operated by Finzer Bros, and 1,100 hogheads were handled, while the previous capacity of the house had been only 400 hogheads.

Mr. John Elliot will have machinery similar to this put in his new factory now in course of erection on Triplett street, and Mr. Jay Hardy has a somewhat similar arrangement.

Trouble Browning.

A short time ago the Ohio Valley railroad issued the following notice to its employees:

"Office of the President, Louisville, Ky., Sept. 15, 1893.—To the Officers and Employees of the Ohio Valley Railway Company: The management of this company is compelled to ask its officers and employees to suffer a reduction of 10 per cent, in their salaries and pay. The earnings of the road demand this, and all other roads in this region have been subjected to the same reduction. Therefore, from and after the 1st of October, 1893, until further orders, there will be a reduction of 10 per cent in the pay of all the officers and employees of the company. It is hoped and believed that the business of the country will soon revive so as to justify a return to the present standard of salaries and wages, and all interested are assured that this shall be done as soon as possible. It is not the belief of the management that this reduction will continue more than ninety days."

Yesterday's Courier Journal said: The employees of the Chesapeake, Ohio and Southwestern and the Ohio Valley railroads have called for the Grand Chiefs of the sixteen different organizations represented at the conference. This action forebodes trouble. This stand of the men was unlooked for. In fact, it was thought by the road the whole matter of wages was a question that could be settled in a few hours.

BAYOU MILLS.

The meeting at Blomming Grove closed Friday night. A small child of James Able died last week.

J. W. Jewell went to Chicago last week.

Barr Hall, Car Nesson and Fred Cowper went to Chicago last week.

McGraw & Chipp shipped 165 barrels of apples last week.

Several of our friends are going to the World's Fair next Monday. John Feland, Jr., has been arrested in Louisville charged with forgery. He is accused of forging a check about a year ago. The antiquity of the crime charged, makes the affair look a little thin, and he will doubtless clear himself of the matter.

Secretary Gresham.

Indianapolis, Sept. 27.—Secretary Walter Q. Gresham left Indianapolis for Louisville at noon. He will visit his mother in Southern Indiana. Speaking of the silver repeal bill in Congress he said, "The bill will pass; there is a clear majority of fifteen for it, as the silver men admit there will be no compromise."

Mr. Als. Wooley is having a handsome residence built on his farm. W. I. Nunn is doing the work, and doing it in good shape too.

LOOK HERE.

Parties owing us for coal and hauling, please call and settle at once, we need the money. On and after Sept. 1st, all coal orders must be accompanied by the money for same. Owing to the small profit we make we can't afford to run around to collect. We have to pay cash for coal and we must have cash when we sell.

Yours Truly,
Duvall & Hurley.

Messrs. Ray and Dewey have applied for a patent on their smoke condensing apparatus, and are very sanguine of making a big success.
Sheriff John Franks spent last week at Chicago taking in the sights; this week he will spend in Crittenden taking in the "mitis" Treasurer Halo wants them.

Our stock of dress goods is now complete. You will find it to your interest to give us a look before buying.
S. D. Hodge & Co.
John Weldon has exchanged his residence at this place for an interest in W. L. Clement's dry goods store at Tolu, Albert Weldon purchased the other interest.
Mr. Abe Alvis, of Tolu, was in town Tuesday. He planted ten acres of his sandy land in water melons this spring, and up to date has sold $400 worth from the patch.
There is no better draughtman in the country than C. J. Barget. The drawing he made of Ray & Dewey's smoke condenser for the pension department is a marvel of perfection.
Rev. G. W. Lander, pastor of the colored Methodist church at this place returned from a big protracted meeting at Stugis. He preached nine sermons, had nine conversions and nine additions to his church at that place.
Sheriff Franks had an appointment to receive taxes at Needmore Monday. He wrote just four receipts that day. The next day at Dycusburg he did better, and to-day at Levas, he expects to do a land office business.
Mr. Edgar H. James, the popular mail clerk, is encouraged to look for his appointment as chief mail clerk; the signs of the times he regards as good, for a bouncing boy put in his appearance at his house a few days ago.
Mr. L. W. Cruce who was on hands at the opening of the Cherokee Strip says the land is the most over-rated of any country in the west. A few hundred acres along the water courses he says, is fine, but the larger percent is "poor stuff."
Mr. Jas. Smith, of Crittenden Springs, shipped Tuesday two as fine pigs as were ever sent out of the county. They were of the breed known as the Ohio Improved Chester. Mr. Smith is devoting some time and attention to raising these swine.
Rev. T. C. Carter thinks the article we published concerning his sermon on sanctification did not do him justice. His remarks, he says, were not of a general nature as touching sanctification, but referred to the modern second blessing theory, "the sanctified-through-and-through, soul and body" idea.
Having just returned from market with one of the most complete lines of Dry Goods, Dress Goods, etc., we are in position to make prices and goods go. Don't fail to see us before buying your fall supply.
S. D. Hodge & Co.
In Crittenden county last Wednesday night, the fourteen-year-old daughter of Mr. Sam Snow, left the supper table and was not heard from until sometime thereafter. On investigation by her parents, it was found that she had left the neighborhood with a Mr. James Easley, seventeen years of age, to have the nuptial "not" tied. Her father didn't approve of it and therefore came to Providence to-day and telegraphed the officers of the town they are supposed to have gone to stop them. It is reported they are headed for Illinois.—Providence Record.
This evening at 5 o'clock at the residence of Joel Adamson, a prominent Caldwell county farmer, Mr. T. C. Gues, of this place and Miss Anna D. Adamson, will be united in marriage. They will leave to-night for a ten day stay at the World's Fair.
Miss Adamson is a beautiful and accomplished young lady, fitted to adorn any home; Mr. Gues is a furniture merchant of this place; a prosperous man, and an excellent citizen. The Pussie extends congratulations.
One of the quaint characters in Marion is J. S. Fowler, familiarly called "Uncle John." He was a native of the town when it was only a cross road, and many are the entertaining incidents he can tell of the people who have lived in Marion, many of whom have long ago joined the silent majority. Uncle John is an entertaining talker and charms one with his quaint humor. A great many years ago, he was challenged by a worthy talker of this county, for a joint debate on some current question. He readily accepted, and the time and place was chosen. When the time came, the court house was well filled with people, and some of Uncle John's friends were a little restless, fearing that he might fall short, having had no experience as a public speaker. The challenger spoke an hour, and all eyes turned upon the challenged, as he slowly went to his position in the stand. Up went his right hand, poised in the air for a moment, it fell with all the fire of Ciceronian eloquence, then the left hand played its part. All kinds of jestures were made, but never a word was spoken. The crowd soon caught the point, and "yelled" until the hour was out. The rejoinder came, and the first speaker complained bitterly of such treatment; when he had finished "Uncle John" took the stand again and said that if he had uttered a single harsh word in his speech, he was ready to apologize, if the gentlemen would point out the word. This brought down the house again, and he was completely vanquished and was never known to challenge anybody else for a joint discussion.

RESIDENCE BURNED.

Frank Wyatt Loses His Home By Fire.
Monday the residence of Mr. Frank Wyatt, who lives near Salem, was destroyed by fire. Mr. Wyatt and wife were at Fredonia when the fire occurred and not an article was saved from their well furnished home.
How the fire originated is not known. The house itself was insured for something near its value, but the contents was not covered by a single cent of insurance. The house was tastefully furnished throughout, and the loss was pretty heavy. A new $500 piano had been taken home but a short time.
A Big Suit.
There is to be a big law suit over the estate of J. S. Brawell, the wealthy old gentleman who died at Eddyville a few months ago. There are two sets of heirs, the children of Brawell's daughter who married S. N. Leonard, the mother being dead represent one side and are the plaintiffs, while the children of Brawell's son, who is dead, are the defendants. The Leonard claims that the Brawell children are the result of an unlawful marriage, of Charles Brawell, their father, and are therefore not entitled to inherit any portion of their grandfather's estate. The estate is variously estimated at from $50,000 to $100,000 and the suit involves one half of that amount. Messrs. James & James, of this place, have been employed by the defendants.
He is In Jail.
Saturday Marshal McCallum, of Kuttawa, delivered Wm. Benton to the officials of this county. Benton was indicted by the grand jury for his part in a cutting affray at Dycusburg last December. He has not been familiar with the officers of this county since then. The Kuttawa official found him at Paducah. He is now in jail at this place, and will be before the County Judge next Monday for trial.
County Court Orders.
The personal estate of Riley Burnett, deceased, was referred to the sheriff for settlement.
J. J. Bennett was appointed guardian of Edward Clinton Frazier and Julia Ann Frazier, children of Levi Frazier, dec'd.
W. H. McCallum, marshal of Kuttawa, allowed $13.90 for expenses incurred in the arrest of Wm. Benton and delivery of same to officers at Marion.
Deeds Recorded.
W. E. Asbridge to S. M. Asbridge 42 acres for $400.
H. C. Moore to J. H. Clark, lot in Marion for $290.
J. J. Bennett to S. C. Bennett, half interest in land for $10.
J. B. Hill to S. C. Bennett, 50 acres for $300.
W. P. Maxwell to S. C. Bennett 190 acres for $1200.
First Frost.
The advent of a pretty well grown frost Monday night frightened the more timid farmers of the county, and on Tuesday lots of green tobacco went into the barns. The frost itself has done no material damage outside of the scare.
New Mail Route.
Beginning with Dec. 1, there will be a daily mail from Marion to Ford Ferry. This route is badly needed as the river mail service has become so unreliable. There should be a post office established on the route, about half way between the two points.
The First New Hoghead.
The first hoghead of the 1893 crop of tobacco was sold at the Louisville House last week. It was buried trash grown by Mr. S. Handy, of Hart county. It was bought by Mr. Spalding at $5.20 per hundred.
The chain gang was organized for business this morning. Will Taylor and Jim Hughes, both colored citizens are contributing for their muscle for the public good. A stout chain binds them together and picks and shovels furnish them amusement.
LEVIAS.

J. A. Davidson is preparing to move to Marion soon. We lose and Marion gains a good citizen.
Mrs. Jane Henley has received her pension under the widow's dependent act of 1890. This is a just claim and we are glad she has finally succeeded. Franklin Bros. are again ready for grinding corn. They run every Saturday.

THE OLD SETTLERS.

The Names of Those Who Broke the Primal Forest of Crittenden.
When They Come, Where They Settled.
EDITOR PRESS:—I have read with much interest the sketches you have published from time to time touching the early history of the county.
I have gone to some trouble in preparing a list of the early settlers of this county—the men who broke away from the colonies of the east, and carved for themselves homes in this country, while the forest was yet still unbroken. Most of this race of hardy pioneers have left their names here, and indeed, these names are perhaps more familiar to the people of to-day than were they when first the names were known here. I can only give you a partial list this week, and will endeavor to complete same next week.
Samuel Lofton came from South Carolina, between 1800 and 1806, and settled the place where Berry Deboe now lives. He was a Presbyterian.
Gen. Ramsey, who fought valiantly in the revolutionary war, came from South Carolina in 1800, and opened a farm in the Southern portion of the county.
Joseph Tyner, also came from the Palmetto State, and in 1803, and began to make himself a home out of the forest. The result of his labor is a portion of the farm upon which Wm. Lamb now lives.
Wm. Young came from South Carolina in 1795, and settled the place where Henry Walker lives.
Jas. Miller from North Carolina came in 1798.
Isaac Chism, settled the old John Hogard place in 1804.
In 1796 Stephen Cruce came from South Carolina and settled the place, where Henry Swaney now lives. He brought slaves with him.
Richard Cruce settled near Crayneville in 1805.
Jacob Gabriel from South Carolina, in 1800, settled on Piney Creek.
Andy Thomas and Aaron Shelby came from South Carolina in 1803, the latter two settled the place where Wm. Kemp lives, and Andy settled on the Flynn Ferry road.
In 1800 John Lamb came from South Carolina and opened up the place where Quincy Wilson lives.
Jas. Lamb from South Carolina in 1804.
Ruben Bellow from South Carolina in 1804, and settled where Sugar Grove church now stands.
In 1800 John Sellers from South Carolina, settled the Jas. Thurman place.
Wm. Dulaney from South Carolina in 1804, settled near the Alexander Spring.
Jacob, Daniel and Samuel Crider came from Virginia in 1796, Jacob settled the place where Calvin Burris lives; Daniel settled near Piney Fork church; Samuel settled land now owned by W. B. Crider and E. H. Porter. The Crider's were the first people to grow tobacco in the county.
John Going came from South Carolina in 1803 or 4 and settled the place where the school house that bears his name now stands. He owned slaves, and it was said had slave blood in his veins.
Frederick Groves came from Virginia in 1803, and settled on Piney not far from Boyd's mill.
Samuel Woodside from South Carolina settled on the Pilot Knob in 1795.
John Woodside from South Carolina, settled on Pilot Knob in 1810.
Samuel P. Hamilton came from South Carolina 1795 and settled on Pilot Knob.
Thos. William and Joseph Hughes came from South Carolina in 1803. Thos. settled on Crooked Creek, near where the bridge now is; William settled where Mt. Zion church now stands; Joseph settled on the Flynn's Ferry road in 1809. All brought slaves to this country with them.
In 1805 Moses Walker, from North Carolina settled on Meadow Creek on the farm now owned by Wm. Lamb.
Frazier opened the ferry at Ford's Ferry in 1807.
Col. Andy Love, from South Carolina, lived from 1800 and 1804, settled on Deer Creek, and built a horse mill. Col. Love fought in the old war. He commanded the battle at Hanging Rock.
Gen. Lacy came from South Carolina between 1800 and 1804; he brought slaves and settled on Deer Creek. He too was a revolutionary soldier.

An effort will be made to get the next meeting of the Louisville Conference at Marion.

When buying goods remember S. D. Hodge & Co. Extra inducements; call and see them.

L. W. Cruce will move to the new town in the Cherokee Strip and go into the drug business.

The last legislature is not so bad after all. See the new state paper in town. The new charter did it.

FOR SALE:—A mare and two-year-old colt at a bargain.
Chas. Elder.

Do you know why Woods is selling more books than all other dealers combined? Because he is selling them a wee bit cheaper.

The local board of pension examiners are also complaining of the panic. They have had nobody to examine for three or four weeks.

J. W. Guesse, of Tolu, is one of the delegates from the Princeton district to the Methodist Annual Conference which convened in Elktion yesterday.

Mrs. Long, mother-in-law of Mr. A. Dewey, is very ill at his home in Marion. Her recovery is no longer hoped for.

Messrs Ray and Dewey have applied for a patent on their smoke condensing apparatus, and are very sanguine of making a big success.

Sheriff John Franks spent last week at Chicago taking in the sights; this week he will spend in Crittenden taking in the "mites" Treasurer Hale wants them.

Our stock of dress goods is now complete. You will find it to your interest to give us a look before buying.
S. D. Hodge & Co.

John Weldon has exchanged his residence at this place for an interest in W. L. Clement's dry goods store at Tolu, Albert Weldon purchased the other interest.

Mr. Abe Alvis, of Tolu, was in town Tuesday. He planted ten acres of his sandy land in water melons this spring, and up to date has sold $400 worth from the patch.

There is no better draughtman in the country than C. J. Burget. The drawing he made of Ray & Dewey's smoke condenser for the pension department is a marvel of perfection.

Rev. G. W. Lander, pastor of the colored Methodist church at this place returned from a big protracted meeting at Stugis. He preached nine sermons, had nine conversions and nine additions to his church at that place.

Sheriff Franks had an appointment to receive taxes at Needmore Monday. He wrote just four receipts that day.

The next day at Dyeusburg he did better, and to-day at Levis, he expects to do a land office business.

Mr. Edgar H. James, the popular mail clerk, is encouraged to look for his appointment as chief mail clerk; the signs of the times he regards as good, for a bouncing boy put in his appearance at his house a few days ago.

Mr. L. W. Cruce who was on hands at the opening of the Cherokee Strip says the land is the most over-rated of any country in the west. A few hundred acres along the water courses he says, is fine, but the larger part is "poor stuff."

Mr. Jas. Smith, of Crittenden Springs, shipped Tuesday two fine pigs as were ever sent out of the county. They were of the breed known as the Ohio Improved Chester. Mr. Smith is devoting some time and attention to raising these swine.

Rev. T. C. Carter thinks the article we published concerning his sermon on sanctification did not do him justice. His remarks, he says, were not of a general nature as touching sanctification, but referred to the modern "second blessing theory," "the sanctified-through-and-through, soul and body" idea.

Having just returned from market with one of the most complete lines of Dry Goods, Dress Goods, etc., we are in position to make prices and goods go. Don't fail to see us before buying your fall supply.

S. D. Hodge & Co.

In Crittenden county last Wednesday night, the fourteen-year-old daughter of Mr. Sam Snow, left the supper table and was not heard from until sometime thereafter. On investigation by her parents, it was found that she had left the neighborhood with a Mr. James Easley, seventeen years of age, to have the nuptial "not" tied. Her father didn't approve of it and therefore came to Providence to-day and telegraphed the officers of the town they are supposed to have gone to stop them. It is reported they are headed for Illinois.—Providence Record.

This evening at 5 o'clock at the residence of Joel Adamson, a prominent Caldwell county farmer, Mr. T. C. Guesse, of this place and Miss Anna D. Adamson, will be united in marriage. They will leave to-night for a ten day's stay at the World's Fair.

Miss Adamson is a beautiful and accomplished young lady, fitted to adorn any home; Mr. Guesse is a furniture merchant of this place; a prosperous man, and an excellent citizen. The Press extends congratulations.

One of the quaint characters in Marion is J. S. Fowler, familiarly called "Uncle John." He was a native of the town when it was only a cross road, and many are the entertaining incidents he can tell of the people who have lived in Marion, many of whom have long ago joined the silent majority. Uncle John is an entertaining talker and charms one with his quaint humor. A great many years ago, he was challenged by a young talker of this county, for a joint debate on some current question. He readily accepted, and the time and place was chosen. When the time came, the court house was well filled with people, and some of Uncle John's friends were a little restless, fearing that he might fall short, having had no experience as a public speaker. The challenger spoke an hour, and all eyes turned upon the challenged, as he slowly went to his position in the stand. Up went his right hand, poised in the air for a moment, it fell with all the fire of Ciceroan eloquence, then the left hand played its part. All kinds of jestures were made, but never a word was spoken. The crowd soon caught the point, and "yelled" until the hour was out. The rejoinder came, and the first speaker complained bitterly of such treatment; when he had finished "Uncle John" took the stand again and said that if he had uttered a single harsh word in his speech, he was ready to apologize, if the gentlemen would point out the word. This brought down the house again, and he was completely vanquished and was never known to challenge anybody else for a joint discussion.

RESIDENCE BURNED.

Frank Wyatt Loses His Home By Fire.

Monday the residence of Mr. Frank Wyatt, who lives near Salem, was destroyed by fire. Mr. Wyatt and wife were at Fredonia when the fire occurred and not an article was saved from their well furnished home.

How the fire originated is not known. The house itself was insured for something near its value, but the contents was not covered by a single cent of insurance. The house was tastily furnished throughout, and the loss was pretty heavy. A new $500 piano had been taken home but a short time.

A Big Suit.

There is to be a big law suit over the estate of J. S. Branswell, the wealthy old gentleman who died at Eddyville a few months ago. There are two sets of heirs, the children of Branswell's daughter who married S. N. Leonard, the mother being dead represent one side and are the plaintiffs, while the children of Branswell's son, who is dead, are the defendants. The Leonard claims that the Branswell children are the result of an unlawful marriage, of Charles Branswell, their father, and are therefore not entitled to inherit any portion of their grandfather's estate. The estate is variously estimated at from $50,000 to $100,000 and the suit involves one half of that amount. Messrs. James & James, of this place, have been employed by the defendants.

He is In Jail.

Saturday Marshal McCollum, of Kuttawa, delivered Wm. Benton to the officials of this county. Benton was indicted by the grand jury for his part in a cutting alley at Dyeusburg last December. He has not been familiar with the officers of this county since then. The Kuttawa official found him at Paducah. He is now in jail at this place, and will be before the County Judge next Monday for trial.

The advent of a pretty well grown frost Monday night frightened the more timid farmers of the county, and on Tuesday lots of green tobacco went into the barns. The frost itself has done no material damage outside of the scare.

New Mail Route.

Beginning with Dec. 1, there will be a daily mail from Marion to Ford's Ferry. This route is badly needed as the river mail service has become so unreliable. There should be a post office established on the route, about half way between the two points.

The First New Hoghead.

THE OLD SETTLERS.

The Names of Those Who Broke the Primorial Forest of Crittenden.

When They Come, Where They Settled.

EDITOR PRESS:—I have read with much interest the sketches you have published from time to time touching the early history of the county.

I have gone to some trouble in preparing a list of the early settlers of this county—the men who broke away from the colonies of the east, and carved for themselves homes in this country, while the forest was yet still unbroken. Most of this race of hardy pioneers have left their names here, and indeed, these names are perhaps more familiar to the people of to-day than were they when first the names were known here. I can only give you a partial list this week, and will endeavor to complete same next week.

Samuel Lofton came from South Carolina, between 1800 and 1806, and settled the place where Berry Deboe now lives. He was a Presbyterian.

Gen. Ramsey, who fought valiantly in the revolutionary war, came from South Carolina in 1800, and opened a farm in the Southern portion of the county.

Joseph Tyner, also came from the Palmetto State, and in 1803, and began to make himself a home out of the forest. The result of his labor is a portion of the farm upon which Wm. Lamb now lives.

Wm Young came from South Carolina in 1795, and settled the place where Henry Walker lived.

Irene Shelby came from the same state in 1803 or 4. He was a general in the revolutionary war.

Jacob Gabriel from South Carolina, in 1800, settled in Piney Creek.

Ruben Bellow from South Carolina 1800, and settled where Sugar Grove church now stands.

In 1800 John Sellers from South Carolina, settled the Jas Thurman place.

Jacob, Daniel and Samuel Crider came from Virginia in 1796, Jacob settled the place where Calvin Burris lives; Daniel settled near Piney Fork church; Samuel settled land now owned by W. B. Crider and E H Porter. The Crider's were the first people to grow tobacco in the county.

John Gung came from South Carolina in 1803 or 4 and settled the place where the school house that bears his name now stand. He owned slaves, and it was said had slave blood in his veins.

Frederick Groves came from Virginia in 1803, and settled on Piney not far from Boyd's mill.

Samuel Woodside from South Carolina settled on the Pilot Knob in 1795.

John Woodside from South Carolina, settled on Pilot Knob in 1810.

Samuel P Hamilton came from South Carolina 1795 and settled on Pilot Knob.

Thos William and Joseph Hughes came from South Carolina in 1803. Thos settled on Crooked Creek, near where the bridge now is; William settled where Mt Zion church now stands; Joseph settled on the Flynn's Ferry road in 1803. All brought slaves to this country with them.

The Old People.
BY EDITH E. L. LINSING.
When I see the old people
Tolling down the steep of years,
All my heart overflows with feeling
And my eyes rush full of tears.
Life with all its wanderings beauty,
Lies behind them far away.
And their sweet lost hopes are scattered
Like dead leaves along the way.
They have seen their earthly idols
Fall around them one by one;
They have seen their youth vanish
Just as snow-melts in the sun.
They have seen fond baby faces—
With adoring gentle eyes—
Change to careless men and women,
Forming other loves and ties.
They have seen their old friends buried
Or pass far to other lands.
Till their yearning fingers only
Meet the clasp of stranger hands.
And their faces now are faded,
That were fair when life was new,
And are crossed and creased with wrinkles
Like a page all written true.
Now their eyes are dim with weeping,
That were joyous once and strong
And their poor, worn forms are bending
With the life cross borne so long.
"They are with us yet a little,"
But no longer of us now.
For the Father's call is written,
Bright on eye and cheek and brow.
They are nearing, with slow footsteps
That forest of all lands
They will soon dwell in the mansions
That were never built with hands.
They will soon be with a vision,
Clearer than the eyes of youth;
They will soon, Oh! soon, unravel
All the mysteries of truth.
When I see these blessed people
Passing slowly here and there,
In my heart there comes a feeling,
Like the spirit of a prayer.
That while they yet may linger
With their pure and patient love,
Link a link that draws us nearer
To that radiant home above.

The Mother Grown Old.
Grown old the mother is sometimes Sorrowful clear-sighted and freed from the blessed illusions of youth. When her children were little things playing
about the door, and tucked into bed
all safe, sweet and rosy, she had her dreams of their future. There was nothing too bright, too brave, too beautiful, for her imagination and
her hope as she looked at her darlings, sleeping or waking. As they grew older, went to school and to college, or into the shop and counting room, the mother still dreamed and planned, still wore her enchanted stories, in the centre of which she saw her children,
heroes, professors, scholars, benefactors,
champions of the weak, defenders
of the helpless, ornaments of the age, and renewed-to-be. Her Frank, her Charles, her Ellis, whatever others
might do, they were bound to excel,
to stand in the van, to reap the rewards, to scale the heights, to discover
the long-hidden secrets.
But there came a day upon the mother when, grown old, as wrinkle and gray hairs testify, she renews the wonderful keenness and acuteness of childhood; she sees the dropping of many masks; she comprehends things
as they are. Past the hour of dreaming and castle-building, past the cloud-and the mirage, her vision is like that
of one of God's angels.

His bones were distributed as a warn-

ADMIRAL HUMAN.
The European war cloud has not assumed such a dark and threatening aspect for many years as it did a few weeks ago during the trouble between France and Siam. Of course, France, being the stronger power, got the upper hand and her every demand was discreetly acceded to by the King of Siam.
Admiral Human, whose portrait we give had charge of the French naval forces in Siamese waters, and considerable credit is due him for his shrewdness in dealing with the Siamese authorities during the recent disturbance.

Three Shot near Crab Orchard.
Crab Orchard, Ky., Sept. 23.—A tragedy occurred at Dripping Springs
three miles east of here, this afternoon when Rodney Singleton, a young farmer, was killed, D. G. Slaughter,
proprietor of Green Briar Springs,
was fatally shot, and a young man by the name of William Stamper, was seriously wounded.
Dripping Springs is a summer resort in the edge of the mountains.
The proprietor gave an old fashioned picnic and dance there today. Slaughter was prompting the dance, when Bill Stamper, having drunk inordinately, came in, in a maudlin condition, and proceeded to create a disturbance. Slaughter ordered him from the hall room, and the Lackey brothers, who were friends of Slaughter's and tried to execute orders.

A Fatal Fight.
Yesterday morning at 5 o'clock, on a farm about two miles from Robards, in Henderson county, Mr. William Chapman and two other men got into a quarrel over a hitch rein. The quarrel was furious and resulted in a fight between the three men. Mr.
Chapman was the sufferer. Wood,
one of the participants, drew his knife
and first drew it across Chapman's throat, making a bad but not very serious wound. He then stabbed Chapman several times in the back, and then in the bowels. The latter wound
it is thought will prove fatal. Dr.
James H. Letcher was called and with

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—I have been using your cure for tobacco habit, and found it would do what you claim for it. I used ten cents worth of the strongest chewing tobacco a day, and from one to five cigars, or I would smoke from ten to twenty pipes of tobacco. Have chewed and smoked for twenty-five years, and two packages of your Tablets cured me so I have no desire for it.

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—Some time ago I sent for 250 worth of your Tablets for Tobacco Habit. I received them all right and, although I was both a heavy smoker and chewer, they did the work in less than three days. I am cured.
Truly yours, MATTHEW JOHNSON, P. O. Box 46.
PERRYSBURG, Pa.
THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN:—It gives me pleasure to send word of praise for your Tablets. My son was strongly addicted to the use of Liquor and Morphine, and I used to try your Tablets. He was heavy and constant drinker, but after using your Tablets but three days he quit drinking and will not touch liquor of any kind. I have waited four months before writing you, in order to know the cure was permanent. Yours truly, MICK HILLEN MORRISON.

The Old People.

When I see the old people
Toiling down the steep of years,
All my heart overflows with feeling
And my eyes run full of tears.
Life with all its wanderings beauty,
Lies behind them far away,
And their sweetest hopes are scattered
Like dead leaves along the way.
They have seen their earthen idols
Fall around them one by one;
They have seen their youth vanish
Just as snow-wreath in the sun.
They have seen fond baby faces—
With adorning gentle eyes—
Change to careless men and women,
Forming other loves and ties.
They have seen their old friends buried
Or pass far to other lands,
Till their yearning fingers only
Meet the clasps of stranger hands.
And their faces now are faded,
That were fair when life was new,
And are crossed and creased with wrinkles
Like a page all written true.
Now their eyes are dim with weeping
That were joyous once and strong,
And their poor, worn forms are bending
With the life cross borne so long.
"They are with us yet a little,"
But no longer of us now.
For the Father's call is written,
Bright on eyes and cheek and brow.
They are hearing, with slow footsteps
That follow of all level,
They will soon dwell in the mansions
That were never built with hands.
They will soon be with a vision,
Clearer than the eyes of youth;
They will see, Oh! soon, unveiled,
All the mysteries of truth.
When I see these blessed people
Passing slowly here and there,
In my heart there comes a feeling,
Like the spirit of a prayer.
That awhile they yet may linger
With their pure and patient love,
Link a link that draws us nearer
To that radiant home above.

The Mother Grown Old.

Grown old the mother is sometimes
Sorrowful clear-sighted and freed From the blessed illusions of youth. When her children were little things playing
about the door, and tucked into bed
all safe, sweet and rosy, she had her dreams of their future. There was nothing too bright, too brave, too
beautiful, for her imagination and
her hope as she looked at her darlings, sleeping or waking. As they grew
into the ship and counting room, the mother still dreamed and planned, still wove her enchanted stories, in the centre of which she saw her children, heroes, professors, scholars, benefactors, champions of the weak, defenders
of the helpless, ornaments of the age, and removed to her. Her Frank, her Charles, her Ellis, whatever others
might do, they were bound to excel,
to stand in the van, to reap the rewards, to scale the heights, to discover
the long-hidden secrets.

But there came a day upon the mother when, grown old, as wrinkles and gray hairs testify, she renews the wonderful keenness and acuteness of
childhood; she sees the dropping of
many masks; she comprehends things
as they are. Past the hour of dreaming and castle-building, past the clouds
and the mirage, her vision is like that
of one of God's angels.

upper hand and her every demand was discreetly acceded to by the King of

Three Shot near Crab Orchard.

Crab Orchard, Ky., Sept. 23.—A tragedy occurred at Dripping Springs
three miles east of here, this afternoon in which Rodney Singleton, a young farmer, was killed, D. G. Slaughter,
proprietor of Green Briar Springs,
was fatally shot, and a young man by
the name of William Stamper, was
seriously wounded.

Dripping Springs is a summer resort in the edge of the mountains.
The proprietor gave an old-fashioned
picnic and dance there today. Slaughter was prompting the dance, when Bill Stamper, having drunk mordicantly, came in, in a maudlin condition, and proceeded to create a disturbance. Slaughter ordered him from the ball room, and the Lackey brothers, who were friends of Slaughter's and took to execute orders.

A Fatal Fight.

Yesterday morning at 5 o'clock, on a farm about two miles from Bolards,
in Henderson county, Mr. William Chapman and two other men got into a quarrel over a hitch rein. The quarrel was furious and resulted in a fight between the three men. Mr.
Chapman was the sufferer. Wood,
one of the participants, drew his knife
and first drew it across Chapman's
throat, making a bad but not very serious wound. He then stabbed Chapman several times in the back, and
then in the bowels. The latter wound is thought will prove fatal. Dr.
James H. Letcher was called and with three or four other doctors present, attended the wounded man.

We understand the doctors think there is no chance for saving the life of Chapman. A warrant was sworn out for Wood, the man who did the cutting, but up to a late hour he had not been found.—Henderson Journal.

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.—GENTLEMEN—You have performed a miracle in my case.
I have used morphine, hypodermically, for seven years, and have been cured by the use of your Tablets, although I was a heavy smoker and chewer, and from ten to forty cigarettes or I would smoke from ten to forty pipes or three days of opium drinking, and will not touch liquor of any kind. I have written four months before writing you, in order to know the cure was permanent.

Yours truly,<
