ISSUED WEEKLY.

R. C. WALKER, Publisher.
ONE YEAR . . . ONE DOLLAR

It seems to be the field against Grace in the Appellate bench race.

The late rains have improved crops throughout the State. There was plenty of room for improvement.

The men who slaughtered the six negroes in Tennessee are getting into a hot box. Let justice have full sway.

Saturday settles the Breckinridge business, and let it be settled satisfactory to the best interests of the country, the state and party, as well as the district.

Democratic prospects are brightening as the days go. Business is picking up, the good Lord has sent rain, and Alabama and Arkansas are still doing business at the old stand.

Crittenden has no candidate for the judgeship of the court of appeals, but if the bottom were to drop out and let every body in the county fall through "all of a sudden," no other county would have any either.

The traveling newspaper correspondent in congressional campaigns are about the most unreliable sources of information extant; otherwise we would bet on Owen winning in the Seventh at the primary next Saturday.

Mr. Clay and Mr. Hardin are prosecuting a lively canvass for the Governorship already. As both gentlemen are worthy and wealthy, they will be able to keep up the lively pace until spring or summer, when the convention meets.

They are going to make them swear to stick to the nominee up in the Ashland district. The pride has certainly departed from that land when men have to be put upon their oaths before they are trusted to perform the common amenities of politics.

The Crittenden county man who thinks there is a show for him to go the Legislature next year, because there is no one in Livingston wanting the office, may as well prepare to put out a good crop, for he will have plenty of time to cultivate it. It is said that the supply of embryo candidates down there is limited only by the number of voters in the county.

"Will Capt. Stone take the stump in the congressional campaign?" is a question one often meets around the corner. We cannot speak by the card, but Capt. Stone is a good Democrat and we verily believe that he will repay John Hendrick with interest for the valuable service the latter gentleman rendered in the campaign two years ago.

Soon, depend on your own strong arm for a livelihood. Don't betake yourself to places of rest and peace, comfort and ease, depending on the "old man" to support you. Use what nature has given you—brain and brawn—as the creative forces intended they should be used, and wealth will be added to your possessions; days will be added to your life, and honor will be added to your name.

Really it is not more than once in a lifetime that Crittenden county has such attentions paid her by such elegant beaux as Yeaman, Grace and White, and its no wonder that nobody can tell what the old girl is going to do about it. The only conclusion she has reached thus far in the little courtship is that—

"How happy could I be with either, Were 'tother dear charmer away."

The sooner those Louisiana planters get out of the Democratic party the sooner the Democratic party will be composed of Democrats only. We have been paying these rich planters a bounty of from $9,000,000 to $15,000,000 annually on their sugar crop and now that the new tariff bill puts a stop to such a thing, the men who have been pocketing this money threaten to join the enemy. By all means let them go. If they believe in taxing the entire population of the country for their sole benefit, is fairness or justice, they can not, by the very nature of things, be Democrats.

"That may not be convenient," said father, but it is a close shave."

LOCAL POLITICS.

The Republicans Nominate Travis for County Attorney and Appoint Delegates.

P. S. Maxwell Elected Chairman of the Democratic County Committee.

THE PEOPLE'S PARTY BE-STIRRING.

REALLY Monday was Committee day as well as county court, and if all that was said and done in the committee rooms was printed, it would occupy much more space than the county court news.

Democratic county committee, the Republican county committee, and the People's Party county committee were all called to meet—together, of course—in Marion on matters of vast importance, and the politicians were out from all parts of the county in full force and effect, and our artist caught the picture of one of them as he was detailing the situation to his favorite candidate and placed it at the beginning of this article. The crowd in town was larger than usual, and the politician as well as candidate was not unhappy as the countenance of the picture above indicates.

The Democratic committee was called to order by the chairman pro tem, O. M. James. In a few words he stated that the business of the committee was to elect a chairman. A motion was made that Mr. James be named the chairman, and the motion carried.

Mr. James said that he never shirked from any duty, and was a Democrat under all circumstances, ready to obey the behest of his party in all things, but that an older and more experienced man should be chosen for the head of the committee and he could not accept the place, and while he appreciated the honor he must decline to serve.

Mr. P. S. Maxwell was then put in nomination and unanimously chosen for the chairmanship. He said that he would accept, and the only speech he had to make was that he would do the best he could.

Messrs. Wm. Asher, Jr., and L. B. Cain were elected members of the committee for Bell Mines precinct.

The Republican committee convened in the court house and filled the vacancy in their county ticket by nominating Mr. W. C. M. Travis for county attorney.

They also appointed delegates to the congressional convention to be held at Princeton Oct. 3. The delegates appointed are: A. S. Johnson, C. E. Weldon, S. A. Frazier, J. G. McCain, R. N. Grady, W. S. Hicklin, J. H. Robinson, J. W. Paris, W. B. Yandell, W. F. Paris, H. C. Farmer, A. C. Moore, E. B. Blackburn, A. L. Baker, C. F. Pulk, F. M. Dalton, Henry Ratter, Wm. LaRue, and all other good Republicans who may attend.

The People's Party committee held a meeting with closed doors. "We were simply planning and arranging for the campaign," said one of the leaders to the Press, "and have no news in particular for you." They were the first to file with the county clerk the certificate showing who their nominees are. It is necessary that each party file certificates so the clerk may have official information as to who the nominees are. The following certificate was filed Monday:

This is to certify that the following persons of the People's Party were nominated for the following county offices on the 12th of April, 1894, to-wit: T. C. Campbell for county judge; T. H. Roberts, county clerk; W. B. Rankin, for sheriff; A. B. Hodge, for jailer; W. H. Brown, for assessor; J. H. Todd, for surveyor; Dr. A. H. Belt, for coroner.

Given under our hands this 10th day of Sept., 1894.

AN HEIRLOOM.

A Valuable Button and a Bit of Its History.

"No sum of money would buy that button," said Mr. W. H. Asher, the well known farmer of the Weston neighborhood, as he produced a large button made of a silver quarter, bearing upon one side the English coat of arms and on the other the letters "W. L." "That button," continued Mr. Asher, "was one of a set that adorned a suit of clothes worn by my grandfather, Col. Wm. Love, when he was murdered by the Harpes August 27, 1799. The button was recently sent to me by Rev. Thomas Love, who now lives in Missouri; and who spent some weeks in this county this summer. The buttons have been handed down as family heirlooms. Four of the set had fallen to Rev. Love, who is an uncle of mine, and when here he agreed to send my branch of the family one of the four; a few days ago it arrived by express, and I place a very high value upon it. When 'Big Harpe' was killed," said Mr. Asher, "he had on my grandfather's boots, whom he had murdered at the house of a Mr. Stagall, in what is now Webster county. My grandfather was surveying in that section, and put up at Stagall's for the night, and during the night he and the family were murdered. Collins' history of Kentucky gives the following account of the murder. The stranger referred to was Col. Wm. Love, upon whose clothes was the bright silver button now in the possession of Mr. Asher; and could it speak, it could unfold the details of one of the foulest crimes committed in the pioneer days of the State. Referring to the Harpes Collins says: 'Assuming the guise of Methodist preachers, they obtained lodging one night at a solitary house on the road, Mr. Stagall, the master of the house, was absent, but they found his wife and children and a stranger who, like themselves, had stopped for the night. Here they conversed and made inquiries about the two noted Harpes, who were represented as prowling around the country. When they retired to rest they contrived to secure an axe, which they carried with them into their chamber. In the dead of night they crept softly down stairs and assassinated the whole family, together with the stranger, in their sleep, and then setting fire to the house, made their escape.'"

When Stagall returned he found no wife to welcome him; no home to receive him. Distracted with grief and rage he turned his horse head from the smouldering ruins and repaired to the house of Captain John Leeper. Leeper was one of the most powerful men of the day and as fearless as powerful. Collecting four or five other men well armed, they started in pursuit of vengeance. It was agreed that Leeper should attack "Big Harpe" leaving "Little Harpe" to be disposed of by Stagall. The others were to hold themselves in readiness to assist Leeper and Stagall, as circumstances might require.

This party found the women belonging to the Harpes attending to their little camp by the roadside, the men having gone aside in the woods to shoot an unfortunate traveler, of the name of Smith, who had fallen into their hands, and whom the women begged might not be dispatched before their eyes. It was this halt that enabled the pursuers to overtake them. The women immediately gave the alarm and the miscreants mounted their horses, which were large, fleet and powerful, fled in separate directions. Leeper singled out the Big Harpe, and being better mounted than his companions soon left them far behind. Little Harpe succeeded in escaping from Stagall, and he and the rest of his companions turned and followed on the track of Leeper and the Big Harpe. After a chase of nine miles Leeper came within gunshot of the latter and fired. The ball entering his thigh passed through it and penetrated his horse, and both fell. Harpe's gun escaped from his hand and rolled some eight or ten feet down the bank. Reloading his rifle Leeper ran up to where the wounded outlaw lay and found him with one thigh broken and the other crushed beneath his horse. Leeper rolled the horse away and set Harpe in an easier position. The robber begged that he might not be killed. Leeper told him that he had nothing to fear from him, but that Stagall was coming up and could not probably be restrained. Harpe appeared very much frightened at hearing this, and implored Leeper to protect him. In a few moments Stagall appeared and without uttering a word, raised his rifle and shot Harpe through the head. They then severed the head from the body and stuck it upon a pole, where the road crosses the creek, from which the place was then named and is yet called Harpe's Head.

In Memoriam.

Sister M. G. Perry, another member of Siloam's W. M. S., has passed away.

Seven years ago, under the ministry of Rev. Hardway and through the influence of Misses Nellie Walker and Nellie Wilson a Womans Foreign Missionary Society was organized at Siloam Church. Ten members formed the nucleus, from which a large membership sprang.

Sister Perry joined our auxiliary soon after its organization, and truly was she a mother to us. Although then past three score and ten years, she frequently attended our meetings and always manifested a deep interest in all the advancements and progress of our society.

When through extreme feebleness and old age, she could not be with us, she would make many inquiries about the auxiliary.

The writer would some times visit her, and after the usual salutations, the next question would be, "what is your society doing? what kind of work are you about?" and many other questions of like kind. Of late years she was very bad of hearing, but we took delight in telling her everything she wanted to know.

During the camp-meeting, hearing she was very feeble, we stepped in to see her. She knew my voice; and she was rejoicing over the good meeting, though barely able to talk—having heart trouble. I almost felt like it was desecration to talk to her, she seemed so like a spirit from the other world, yet I wanted to hear from her own lips about her faith. I said to her, Sister Perry, you are standing on the verge of eternity, and in another hour you may have passed over, tell me about your future; she said, oh! it is all right, I am anxious to go, but I am willing to abide God's will.

Dear Sister, farewell, she will miss you, but God being our helper we will press on, and after awhile like you win the victory.

The real hot fighting in the Appeal Judge's race seems to be in this county. Monday the last will and testament of the late John Lamb was probated. J. W. Blue, Jr., is made executor of the will. The sum of $3,000 is bequeathed to his wife, Almida Ann Lamb; the remainder of the estate, after some smaller provisions, is to be equally divided between his three children, Albert N. Lamb, J. Reed Lamb and Mary Jane Travis. He wills that his partner, O. B. Paris, shall carry on the mill business as heretofore, until his (Lamb's) interest shall be disposed of.

Base Ball.

The Marion and Salem base ball clubs crossed bats at the latter's grounds last Saturday evening, and at the end of the 9th inning Salem "wasn't in it." The game was called at 2:30. Marion took the lead and kept it until the end, and played a great game of ball. The Salem boys played a good game, but they couldn't hit the ball, Miles' curves being too much for them. The home team speaks very highly and complimentary of the treatment received at the hands of the Salem boys. The umpire was fair and impartial, and gave general satisfaction. Return game will be played at this place Saturday week.

The following is the score:

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Marion 4 4 4 0 14 9 9 6 5-55
Salem 4 0 5 2 5 4 2 7 0-20

The club has engaged some of the best talent in the country for the winter and spring course, and the people of Marion may look forward to instructive entertainments. It should be borne in mind that there is no money making scheme in these lectures; the young men of Marion have associated themselves together for the purpose of getting the leading men of the times to come to Marion and deliver their lectures for the intellectual and moral advancement of the club and the community. Every man and woman who is interested in Marion and its advancement socially, intellectually and morally should give the enterprise hearty support.

JOHN LAMB DEAD.

An Old and Highly Respected Citizen Passes Away.

John Lamb died at his residence in Marion Friday, Sept. 7, 1894, after several months' illness of consumption. He passed peacefully away, surrounded by his family and friends, and on Saturday the remains were placed to rest in the new cemetery. Appropriate services were conducted by Rev. J. F. Price at the family residence, and a large concourse of people were present to pay the last sad tribute of respect to one of the best men ever reared in Crittenden county.

John Lamb was born in the Belle Mines neighborhood, Crittenden county, June 18, 1829. His father was David Lamb, who was born in North Carolina in 1801. In 1807 the family came west, crossing the Ohio at the falls; then a settlement was made in Indiana. In 1820 David Lamb settled in Crittenden county, and here reared a family and lived to a ripe old age. The mother of the subject of this sketch was Mary Ann (Price) Lamb. She was a sister of the late John Price, father of Rev. James F. Price. John Lamb grew to manhood in Crittenden. In the fall of 1850 he and his brother went to Illinois and worked on the Chicago and Alton railroad—the first railroad in that State—then in course of construction. Later they went into the sawmill business in the same State and in 1854 Mr. Lamb moved his mill to Crittenden county and operated the first circular saw ever brought to the county. In 1855 he was united in marriage to Miss Almida A. Phillips, who survives him. As a fruit of this marriage four children were born, one of whom died in early childhood; and three were at his bedside when he died. They are Rev. J. Reed Lamb, of California, Pa., A. U. Lamb, of this place, and Mrs. Mollie Travis, of Princeton. But one of Mr. Lamb's three brothers outlived him—Mr. Thomas N. Lamb, of Savannah, Tenn. About thirty years ago John Lamb united with the Cumberland Presbyterian church at Meadow Creek, and was shortly afterwards made an elder in the church. From that day to the day of his death he was a consistent member and an active officer of the church, and a devout christian. He was an honest man, charitable, industrious, and in all respects a good citizen, and one who occupied a high place in the esteem of his countrymen.

Mrs. Perry Dead.

Mrs. M. G. Perry, one of the oldest ladies of the county, died at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. Thomas A. Minner, of Tolu, Saturday night. Mrs. Perry was the relict of Rev. Perry, a Methodist minister, who for many years resided on the farm near Crittenden Springs, and who died there some years ago. Mrs. Perry passed away at a ripe old age, loved and respected by a large number of friends and relatives. She was an exemplary christian woman, and the community in which she lived will honor and revere the name of the good woman for many long years. She leaves a son and two daughters, John Bethel Perry, of the Hurricane neighborhood, who is one of the leading farmers of the county; the wife of Mr. T. A. Minner, one of Tolu's best men, and the wife of Mr. E. P. Hill, a prominent citizen of the Marion precinct.

Mr. George Kennedy, son of B. S. Kennedy, died at his home near Lola Wednesday afternoon of fever.

CHURCH DEDICATION.

A Big Day at Repton.—Synopsis of the Dedicatory Sermon.

THE MEETING STILL PROGRESSING.

Sunday was the day appointed for the dedication of the new Baptist church at Repton. Long before the hour for services the people began to arrive from the surrounding country, many coming also from a long distance to hear the sermon and to take part in the services. There were enough people present to fill the beautiful building two or three times. The balance due on the house was readily raised. After the morning sermon a bountiful dinner was spread on the ground and the multitude fed to repletion.

In the afternoon another service was held, and it was decided to continue the meeting indefinitely, and at the regular hours all this week services will be held.

Rev. Spurlin, of Sturgis, preached the dedicatory sermon, a synopsis of which is as follows:

The text was Acts 9:31, "Then had the churches rest throughout Judea and Galilee, and were edified."

In being invited here to dedicate your new and beautiful house of worship, I have thought it well to bring before you how best you may secure development and church prosperity. I would state first of what a church scripturally organized consists.

1. Its officers and their duties.

Pastor and Deacons.—The duty of the Pastor is to give himself wholly to prayer and the ministry of the Word. The Deacons duty is to look after the temporalities of the church, "to serve tables."

2. The members and their duties.

—To devote themselves to the establishment and full development of Christ's Kingdom among men. The common sense definition of church is people. Take away the people and you have nothing left. Converted people. Theologically it means the called out.

3. Secure scriptural material for its membership.

1. Those regenerated by the Holy Ghost.

All men are without spiritual life. It is the office of the Holy Spirit to impart spiritual life. The New Testament churches were composed of those called "Brethren," "Saints," "Sanctified in Christ Jesus," "New Creatures," "The Lord added to the church daily the saved." No unregenerate person has a right to perform the functions of a member of the church.

2. Each member should be a spiritually developed christian.

All christians have spiritual life, but all are not spiritually developed. The beauty of christianity is, we work from, not for life. Pastor and people should work to this end, viz: to be filled with the spirit and to have the fruits of the spirit, etc.

3. The members are to be instructed in the doctrines, duties, and privileges assumed by them in entering the church.

Hence the need of studying the Bible. Have a prayer meeting and Sabbath school by all means.

II. An impartial and honest exercise of Scriptural discipline.

This is both educating and cultivating. This consists in two courses of action.

1. The cultivation in love of the feeble and gloom fruitless member. Some are timid and need encouragement. "Ye that are strong, bear the infirmities of the weak."

2. The cutting off of the dead branches.

These will get in sometimes, with all your care. In times of great religious excitement mistaking their feelings for trust in Christ. Some from mercenary motives. Those that bear no fruit and are an injury to the church should be cut off lest the whole body suffer.

III. To develop the missionary spirit in the membership.

1. The church work at home.

Responsibility is measured by ability. See Paul's description of church in 1st Corinthians illustrated by the human body.

2. In state and home mission boundaries.

3. The foreign field.

Nations sitting in darkness calling for help, starving for the bread of life.

The Handbell Baptists have nearly died out, because they have so persistently fought the missionary spirit cause and effect. Cause, stagnation; effect, death.

We come to sum all up in the life and example of Christ. He was a home missionary. "For he came us-to his own," etc. He was a foreign missionary. This world by reason of sin swung off from God, and Christ came to foreigners and aliens to bring them back to God. He gave up heaven for a time and laid down his life for us.

Dear brethren, in conclusion let me say to you, follow the Master and joy will fill your hearts. The solitary places will be glad and the desert blossom as the rose. God bless you. Amen.

FACTS COME OUT.

THE TRUE STORY OF THE KERRVILLE LYNCHING.

Grand Jury Making Things Warm Around Memphis.

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 9.—The whole plot of the Kerrville lynching is now laid bare. Before many hours elapse it is thought every one who had anything to do with the affair, or the majority of them will be behind the bars. Bob McCarver, a son of sheriff McCarver, gave the snap away. He was invited to participate in the massacre by N. H. Smith, one of the men now languishing in the county jail, under indictment for murder in the first degree. When the invitation to assist in the assassination was tendered to McCarver it was represented that sheriff McCarver knew all about it and that Judge Cooper, of the criminal court, was not in the dark.

Of course these representations were made by Smith for the purpose, if possible, of mixing Sheriff Carver up in the affair, through his son, so his hands would be tied should an investigation be instituted by the authorities. The scheme was a bold one, but failed.

McCarver's examination resulted in the arrest of Jailer Cox for perjury, and the fixing of a ten thousand dollar bond on McCarver's head to insure his remaining in the city. McCarver did not give this bond yesterday, and as a consequence he spent the day behind the big gate of the Shelby county jail nominally a deputy, but really a prisoner. Sheriff McCarver had been told of the plot by his son, several days before the grand jury got hold of the boy's story, and because he did not tell what he knew to the inquisitors, he is receiving some censure at the hands of the members. He and Judge Cooper had a long conversation Saturday night, and it is said that the judge read the riot act to the high sheriff.

Rumors have been floating around several days to the effect that the prisoners charged with participation in the lynching were being treated with more leniency than was allowed by the order of the judge. The grand jury must have looked into these rumors, for they recommended General Keller Anderson for the position of jailer so highly that sheriff McCarver had no option but to tender it to Anderson. It is conceded that the grand jury is now in possession of the most damaging evidence against the parties now in jail charged with the killing, and it is confidently expected that an indictment will be returned in the next day or so, and that bench warrants will be issued against the parties who are suspected of having been among the men who did the shooting on Friday night one week ago.

Kentucky Sunday School Convention.

The twenty-ninth annual convention of the Kentucky Sunday School Union was held at Russellville on the 28-30th of August. Nearly four hundred delegates representing the various sections of the State, were present. The leading denominations contributed to the make up of the convention. No more bountiful hospitality could have been dispensed than that which was received from the hands of the beautiful little "Knob City." A convention is seldom held that awakens a wider local interest than did this. The attendance upon all of its sessions fully taxed the capacity of the spacious Methodist church, the place of meeting. The program was one of the best ever presented to a convention in this state. It provided for the fullest consideration of the great phases of modern Sunday School work. Among those who filled places on this program were Mr. Wm. Reynolds, of Peoria, Ill.; Miss Mabel Hall, of Chicago, the famous primary teacher; Rev. J. R. Deering of Versailles; Rev. C. O. Jones, Rev. T. T. Eaton, D. D. Rev. Carter Helm Jones, Rev. Geo. E. Fokett, Mr. J. H. Yundt and Mrs. John A. Miller, ("Faith Lattimer") all of Louisville; Rev. C. C. Russell of Franklin; Rev. J. W. Mitchell and Rev. H. C. Settle D. D. of Hopkinsville, and Mrs. Louise L. Simmons of Newport.

The discussions were marked by highly practical aims and were for the most part rich in suggestion. The singing under the direction of Mr. H. W. Dohman of Louisville was greatly enjoyed.

The report of the Executive Committee showed good progress in all departments of the work during the past year. In the face of the "hard times" an excellent financial showing was made. There has been great advancement in the actual work of the schools of the State. There is large employment of the most approved methods. The new era in primary work is just beginning. Better preparation for teachers is being secured through a large use of the normal course of study. Judge John Stites of Louisville was the President of the Convention.

It is proposed to make the 30th annual convention, which will be held next year at some point in the central part of the State, a memorable occasion.

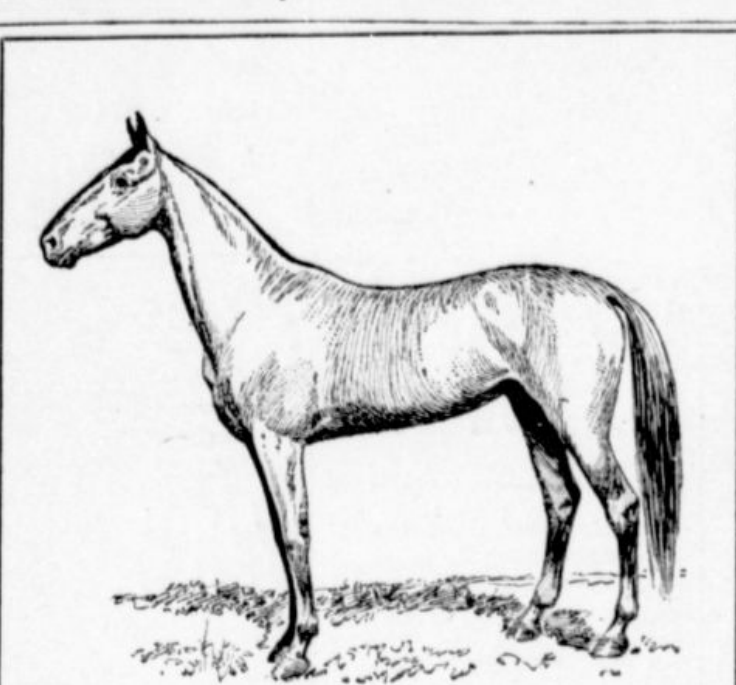

THE RECORD MADE

The House opposed this, and as the bill passed the House sugar in all its forms is on the free list. The cane grower got no aid from the government; the sugar trust got no aid from the government. I have thus outlined merely the provisions of this great reform measure. It strikes at the trusts and monopolies. It reduces the cost of necessities of life. It to some extent opens our markets at home and enlarges our markets abroad. It promotes agriculture, it encourages manufacturing, and it will add to the comfort of millions of our fellow-citizens.

We voted upon a proposition to repeal the tax upon the circulation of State bank currency. I believe our people would derive more immediate benefit from the repeal of the law than from almost any other legislation that could be had. Against us, on the question, were found many Democrats, all the Republicans, and all the Populists; a majority thus constituted defeated our efforts, and the repeal bill failed. This question is not settled.

We have repealed all election laws, laws which permitted the interference of outsiders in our domestic affairs, and which were used only to defeat the will of the people. Henceforth Georgia, as well as every other State, will manage elections in accordance with their own laws, and elections will be free and fair. We have passed a FANTASY. Fantasy, daughter of Chimes and Humors, is looked upon by horsemen as a dangerous rival of Nanny Hanks. At Nashville, last year, Fantasy, as a three year old, trotted a mile in 2:34. This year she made the same distance in 2:25. C. J. Hamlin is her owner.

law which subjects to taxation by the States more than $500,000,000 which under Republican laws was exempt from taxation, thus relieving to some extent the burdens of the tax payers. We have reduced public expenditures $40,000,000 for the current year; and with this record, who can assail us?

Our ancient adversary, the Republican party, though not strong in this State, is the enemy we must meet. When Democracy suffers defeat, Republicanism will be triumphant. Here at home we are challenged by the People's party. This organization has candidates; and it has a platform of principles. Of its candidates I shall say nothing. They are presumed to be as good, I hope they are better, than the platform. That platform contains some planks that are new, and some that are old. Those which are valuable are not new, and those which are new are not valuable. Our Populist friends want to buy the railroads, the telegraph lines, and the telephones. The thousands of millions of dollars necessary to do this does not stagger them. The great army of office holders necessary to manage and protect these enterprises does not embarrass them. Our Populist leaders deal with millions as ordinary people deal with dollars, and as for offices they all want them.

While we have not done all that hoped to do, we have done more in the past year to redress the wrongs of the people, we have done more for their relief, than was ever done by any party in the same length of time in any country under the sun. These are bold words, yet I hold myself at all times ready to defend them. Coming into power at a time of panic, when business was at a standstill, when labor was unemployed, when our Treasury was empty, with courage and fidelity we entered upon a struggle with the enemies of the people. We emerged from that struggle victorious in this:

We have repealed the McKinley law.

We have greatly reduced taxation. We have made living cheaper. We have made all money taxable. We have taxed surplus incomes. We have restored freedom of elections.

We have reduced public expenditures, and we have declared undying hostility to all trusts and monopolies, organized for the oppression of the people.

On these foundations we "build our house"; for these issues we go before the people. For them we have "fought the good fight"; to them we have kept the faith, and of them we have no fear.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Secretary Carlisle is expected on Monday to render a decision on claims for sugar bounties unpaid prior to August 27, 1894, when the new tariff bill became a law. The amount involved is about $2,000. The Secretary will hold that under the law he is not only unauthorized to make these payments, but is specially instructed by the new tariff act not to pay them.

She sugar producers, on the other hand, contend that Congress has no right, and did not intend to prohibit the payment of bounties on sugar produced while the act of 1890 was in force, and that the licenses issued under that act are in the nature of contracts and carry with them the obligation of the Government to pay bounties provided for by that act. These licenses expire annually on June 30.

A Card From Mr. Woods.

TO THE VOTERS OF CRITTENDEN COUNTY: Having been earnestly requested by my friends from all political parties and having received the unanimous voice of the Democratic Committee to become a candidate for county clerk, (and being a willing subject) I hereby take this method of announcing myself a candidate for re-election as your county court clerk, and if elected promise you a faithful discharge of the duties of said office, as I have ever endeavored to do in the past. I feel thankful to you for the favors you have shown me in the past and I hope I have done no official or other act to cause you to feel aggrieved, or to regret the interest that you have heretofore manifested in my behalf, and if you in your wisdom should at the next November election again favor me with said office I will surely appreciate the favor as much as any man could, and will use every endeavor to make you a faithful and efficient officer, showing no partiality to any one on account of politics, position or color.

I am your obedient servant, D. Woods, Co. Clerk.
