Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

ABSOLUTELY PURE

THE STATE Convention.

The Free-Coinage Men Have Everything Their Own Way at Lexington.

Blackburn Endorsed for President—His Speech.

There was no contest, no fight at Lexington at the State convention last week—the fighting was done May 30, and the convention simply ratified the expressed desires of the people.

Chairman Long called the convention to order, and undertook to make a Cleveland-Carlisle speech, but the delegates were not there to listen at that sort of a thing, and the goldbug chairman of the committee soon found that it was best to attend to business and let speech making alone.

Hon. Chas. J. Brumston, of Lexington, was nominated by the free coinage-men for temporary chairman of the convention; Judge Humphrey, of Louisville, was nominated by the gold element. Brumston received 691 votes and Humphrey 214. This was the first test of the strength between the two elements.

While the various committees were preparing their reports, speeches were made by a number of gentlemen, the most prominent of which were John Rhea and Senator Blackburn. While they rejoiced in the victory, they did not abuse the gold element.

Chas. E. Wheeler, of Paducah, was made permanent chairman.

The election of the four delegates from the State-at-large to the Chicago convention resulted in the selection of Senator Blackburn, Gen. Wat Hardin, John S. Rhea, and ex-congressman W. T. Ellis.

The delegates from the first-congressional district are Ollie James, of Marion, and Gus Thomas, of Mayfield. The alternates are W. P.
Gastlin and Fern in Sims.

The electors from the State-at-large are W. P. Smith and James P. Tarvin.

First district elector—J. C. Flournoy, of Fulton; assistant, J. M.
Worley, of Smithland.

P. P. Johnston was elected chairman of the State Central Committee.

The following resolutions were adopted by an overwhelming majority:

"1 The Democracy of Kentucky in convention assembled do reaffirm their allegiance to the principles of the party as announced by Jefferson and Jackson.

"2 We are in favor of an honest dollar, a dollar worth neither more nor less than one hundred cents. We favor bimetalism, and to that end we demand the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 as a standard money with equal legal tender power, independent of the advice of any other nation.

"3 We hold that the Secretary of the Treasury should exercise his legal right to redeem all coin obligations in gold or silver, as may be more convenient, and are opposed to the issue of "In time of peace for the maintenance of the gold reserve or for any other purpose.

"4 We are opposed to the national banking system and to any enlargement of its powers, and opposed to any contraction of the currency by retirement of greenbacks or otherwise.

"5 We declare it to be a fundamental principle of Democracy that the Federal Government has no constitutional power to impose and collect tariff duties except for revenue only, and the collection of such taxes should be limited to the necessities of the Government, honestly and economically administered.

"6 That the Democratic party has ever been the party of personal liberty and religious freedom, and is now and has always been opposed to any union of church and state. It is opposed to the enactment of all laws the purpose or design of which is to sus-tain or enforce any religious tenet or sect, and to any law, organization or society, religious or political; secret or otherwise, that tends to proscribe any citizen for or on account of his religious belief, or to apply any such test as qualification for public office.

"7 We condemn the action of Gov.
Bradley in calling out the State militia as unwarranted, without sanction of law, and a menace to the civil liberties and rights of the people of Kentucky.

"8 We declare the support of the party nominees to the trust test of party fealty, and that every nominee is entitled to the undivided support of the party.

"9 Resolved, That the delegates chosen by this convention to the National Democratic Convention, to be held at Chicago, July 7, 1896, be and they are instructed to cast the vote of the State of Kentucky in said convention as a unit for Hon. J. C. S.
Blackburn for President of the United States, and to use all honorable means to secure his nomination."

BLACKBURN'S SPEECH.

FELLOW DEMOCRATS OF KENTUCKY—This great gathering proclaims to the world that the fierce, longest and hardest fight which has ever occurred in the ranks of Kentucky's Democracy has ended. We were told in the years gone by that an irrepressible conflict could never be settled by any adjustment or compromise. The greatest of conflicts was settled by the stern arbitrament of battle. The last appeal was made, the last power was called in. Let us prove to the world that Kentucky Democrats can settle their differences without an appeal to arms.

"Standing as I do before these upturned faces, gazing into the eyes of the cohorts of Democracy, I feel to day as did the old McGregor when his foot was on his native heath and his eyes upon the peak of Ben Lomond. I am not looking for trouble ahead. I am looking for victory which I have the right to enjoy if God is to rule. I am looking to the results of the triumph of the principle that I have upheld for 20 years within the halls of Congress and on the hustings all over Kentucky.

"Years ago I said that on the road on which we were started the way was not half-way house.

These great principles are either right or they are wrong. The Democracy of Kentucky declared Saturday that we are right. [Prolonged cheering.] I've no quarrel with you gentlemen who opinions differ with mine. Your participation I don't impair; your honesty I don't attack; your liberty of opinion I don't attempt to limit, but I answer and say that we are sustained by the verdict of the people.

"After more than 20 years of your medicine they have agreed to try ours.
[A delegate—I'm willing; now you're shoutin'] I say that either a single standard or a double standard is a double standard is right. For more than 20 years we have been under the barrow; we have been maligned and misrepresented; public sentiment has been against us.

"But in this time our country has been devastated by a financial cyclone which was worse than the recent cyclone at St. Louis. It swept over the nation, leaving more of misery in its path than all the cyclones with which a merciful God has ever afflicted the world. It has been most unfortunate, in my judgment, that your financial policy has endured during the past 70 years. We have seen the results.

"We have seen the great profits to the few. God himself could not describe the misery it has entailed upon the many. But the sun of Austere-lites rose this morning. We have captured the Kentucky Convention, and we will go on and capture the Convention at Chicago. [A delegate: You'll capture the White House.] You say to us that we have taken the Democratic party, and that the duty of managing it devolves upon us. I say to you that we know our responsibilities, and that we hope to discharge them better than you have done. I say to my gold friends that, after a trial of 20 years, they have been found to be a failure. The people will now take a hand in the financial affairs of the country.

"Gentlemen, I have lived long in the world. I am verging close upon old age, but I have never lived long enough to feel as I do to-day. [Wild cheering.] I have a right to feel happy. We have won the day.
There is not a state of the South that won't kick heels with us and stand

FIRMLY IN OUR RANKS.

"Our Republican friends have often spoken to us of a solid South. Under a single standard that solid South has been broken, but under our policy that South goes back to Chicago as solid as it was in the times of darkness, when the states were arraigned to protect their people from the war.
Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, all are with us. The eight Western states of the seaboard are silver states, and Michigan went into her convention with 168 silver majority, which was filed and bought and stolen by the gold men. My friends, I am not counseling prejudice or passion. I believe that all fair minded men will admit that if there is a man who has a real cause of grievance, who has suffered by unfair treatment at the hands of men who should have been fair and honest [cheers], I am that man. For 18 months, I proclaim it to the world, and it is a fact not denied by any fair minded man, your so-called and self-styled Democratic daily papers have exhausted human effort to misrepresent, distort and libel me as a public man.

"For the first time in the history of the country the National Government has taken an active part with its forces in a contest inside the Democratic ranks, and with the sole purpose of preventing the people of Kentucky from electing a United States Senator. Thank God they failed.
[Cheers.]

"They only managed to obtain a continuance. I tell you in all sincerity I have no personal wrongs to avenge.
If I had they would belong to me and not to my party. I have always been able, after a fashion, to take care of myself. [Laughter and cheers.] When I am personally aggrieved I do not seek to involve my friends in my affairs. I want you to be liberal, be just, be more than just, be generous to the minority who have suffered defeat. They are not aliens; they are not enemies. Like yourselves, they are Democrats. You are entitled to the fruits of your victory, but you should accord the fullest measure of consideration to

THOSE WHO HAVE LOST.

"Here in this hall I find my law and all of my political religion. I want this convention to do just four things. I want you to pass a resolution condemning and denouncing the collaring of the militia, and hurl back the vile slander when by that official act Kentuckians were shown to be a lawless people, not to be trusted to make their own laws. If you will all, we me to tender counsel as Democrats I would say that you should tell what it is you have fought for and which you intend to keep on fighting for. Then another resolution telling what you don't want, and denouncing the driving single gold standard.
"Make it plain that you don't approve of the issue of gold-bearing bonds in times of profound peace.
[Cheers.] Tell the world that you do not believe in further contraction of the currency. Tell them you don't want to enlarge the powers of the national banking system. When you have done this you will have finished. You will have performed your full duty.

"Above nobody: the verdict of the people has been rebuke enough. You don't need to go further. I am not afraid to trust this assembly to meet the responsibilities and duties which belong to it. Of the 119 counties of the state my party has accredited here delegations of her wisest, truest men.
Your verdict will be indorsed by the MAJORITY OF THE PEOPLE.

"The people will abide by the result of your deliberations, support the platform and uphold the ticket. The people of Kentucky will prove their Democracy by loyalty to you. If you are just and generous we can be victorious. If we can't, then somebody has defied the rule of government and declared that a majority has naught to rule or a minority no duty to obey.

"You can't complain, gentlemen, of the gold persuasion, that snap judgment has been taken on you in this fight. From the Sandy River to the van of the van of the Mississippi the people have spoken. I wish to say to you in conclusion, for physically I am scarcely able to stand, I appeal to you to do your duty thoroughly, to do it honestly, and to do it bravely.

Give to every man the last measure of justice, but surrender nothing of your victory.

"I have traveled from the national capital to confer with you here. I can but say now that whatever you do, the instant it is done it becomes mine.
God grant that right shall prevail here and everywhere, there shall be no effort lacking on my part to make the verdict of this convention the law of the land.

After Blackburn concluded calls were made for Breckinridge, Williams and others, but a motion to adjourn till 8 p. m. was carried before any one could begin speaking.

A STRADDLE.

Some of McKinley's Friends Fore-Shadow the Action of the St. Louis Convention.

Washington, June 6.—Gen. Grover and other close friends of Mc-Kinley have given a strong indication in the last few days that the St.
Louis platform will be a compromise on the money question.

Gen. Grover believes that unless some concession is made to silver sentiment the Democrats may endanger McKinley's election.

When somebody suggested to the statistician of the McKinley boom that a straddling platform would alienate gold men he naively remarked:

"They will have no place to go.
The Democrats will nominate a 16 to 1 candidate and McKinley will come nearer representing bimetalism than any other nominee in the field."

Gen. Grover makes no concealment among his friends of his own belief that the St. Louis convention should not declare for the gold standard.

MINISTERS' AND MEMBERS'

Meeting of the Ohio River Association.

Met with Hampton church Friday morning, May 29. The introductory sermon was preached by Rev. W. F.
Wolf, from the text: "Behold to obey is better than sacrifice." I Sam. 15:22.

The meeting was called into session by the moderator, Rev. W. R. Gibbs.
Gibbs was re-elected moderator, and R. A. LaRue, secretary. Adjourned till 4:30. Refreshing announcements concerning refreshments, by Bro.
Dick Spill.

EVENING SESSION.

Music by choir; prayer by Rev. J.
S. Henry. Thirty members from fourteen churches of the Association were enrolled.

The topic, "Duties of Deacons," was discussed by Rev. E. M. Eaton.
They are to "serve tables," especially that of the poor—may serve those of the Lord and of the ministry—once a deacon always a deacon. Received for criticism and discussed by various members. The doctrine of a deacon always was assailed by Bro. Dick Spill and others. Bro. Henry urged using deacons—thinks they should be married men. Bro. Gibbs and Miller and others don't think they must be married. Bro. S. C. Taylor restricts deacons' duties to temporal affairs of the church. Bro. G. N.
McGrew asked if the office of deacon is transmitted with a letter of dis-mission. Answered, yes, if so stated in the letter. Passed with criticism.

The topic "How to raise money for the Lord," was discussed by R. A.
LaRue, in an essay. Would preach the gospel, giving will follow—discussing the tithing system of giving. Rev. G. S. Summers urged giving from love to God, and abandoning "clap-net" methods. Rev.
Miller endorsed the essay, especially the point of preaching the gospel—would begin teaching with the children in the Sunday school. Bro.
Clark thinks giving applies only to charities—church obligations are debts Bro. Jas. Threlkeld would emphasize "owe" more than "give." Various other brethren said nice things about the essay.

Adjourned till 9 o'clock tomorrow.
Prayer by Rev. E. M. Eaton. Committee announced that R. A. LaRue would preach tonight.

SATURDAY MORNING.

Music by choir; prayer by Rev.
J. C. Kingsolving.

Is alien immersion authorized by the Bible? Essay by Rev. W. J.
Wells; thinks baptism a church ordinance and none genuine except of the authority of a Baptist church.
Bro. Kingsolving thought he should have defined baptism. Bro. Henry thought he took a circuitous route to get there—thinks baptism must come through succession. Bro. Clark and others objected to succession as essential. Passed.

The future outlook of Missions.
Essay by Bro. Clark. On account of Bonds' debts, and falling off in contributions, discouraging, but the promises of God and what has been accomplished very encouraging.
Like the gospel mission plan, Bro.
Threlkeld, Spill, Henry and Summers thought it too long. Soul stirring missionary speeches were made by Bros. Hibbs, Summers, Eaton, Henry, Miller, Dougan, Alabrook and others. Bro. Clark was requested to publish the essay in the Western Recorder. Passed.

EVENING SESSION.

Music by choir; prayer by Rev. E.
M. Eaton. Sermon for criticism by Rev. J. S. Miller. Endorsed and enjoyed by all, and many good things were said about it.

Is it scriptural to ordain a woman to preach the gospel? Essay by Rev.
J. S. Henry. Not scriptural as shown by many scripture references—not natural, as shown by character, temperament, etc. Bro. Clark thought he didn't stick to his subject. Bro.
Gibbs thought if they felt they were called to preach, he would not object, though not ordain them. Several did not agree with him. Passed.

Moved and passed that Bro. Clark draft resolutions of respect in memory of Rev. J. W. Crowdon, and report tomorrow.

Committee announced that Rev. W.
R. Gibbs would preach tonight and Rev. J. S. Henry, tomorrow.

The moderator announced that Revs. W. R. Gibbs and R. A. LaRue as the oldest and youngest ordained ministers present would relate their Christian experience and call to the ministry, tomorrow.

SUNDAY MORNING SESSION.

Rained out till 11 o'clock.

Music and prayer.

Resolutions of respect to Rev. J.
W. Crowdon, adopted.

Resolutions of thanks to the church town and vicinity for their royal entertainment, and the choir for excellent music, were adopted.

Revs. J. S. Henry, E. M. Eaton and W. J. Wells were appointed to prepare a programme for next meeting. Adjourned.

R. A. LaRue, Secy.

I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. Archer, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quick nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
Dr. J. F. Kneeland, Conway, Ark.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

The Press.

ISSUED WEEKLY.

R. C. WALKER, Publisher.

ONE YEAR - ONE DOLLAR

The Press is authorized to announce

MALCOLM YEAMAN,

of Henderson county, a candidate for

Judge of the Court of Appeals, vice

Judge J. R. Grace, deceased, for the

First Appellate District, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Election November 1896.

W. S. BISHOP,

of McCracken county, a candidate for

Judge of the Court of Appeals, vice

action of the Democratic party. Election November 1896.

FOR CONGRESS.

We are authorized to announce

W. J. STONE

a candidate for Congress in the First Congressional District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Election November 1896.

The silver band wagon is rapidly filling up.

Old Virginia is for 16 to 1 without waiting for Europe to give the word.

The goldbug newspapers outside of Louisville take their medicine like men.

Georgia, Texas and Florida are rushing over each other to get into the silver chariot.

Somebody has thrown a brick at that third term boom, and the brick evidently went square to the mark.

The Georgia Democrats are built like Kentucky Democrats and on the currency question they trumped out trick.

The incessant rains have killed the chinch bugs and the showers of truth are thinning the ranks of the gold bugs.

We are still of the opinion that Ollie James would make a tip-top congressman. Able, a devotee of the old fashioned Democracy, he has the courage of his convictions.

There don't seem to be any gold standard men in the Democratic party after all. There are a few scattered around over the country, but they don't know where they are "at."

Marion will be fairly represented at the National Conventions. She will have two delegates in the Republican and one in the Democratic convention. Nothing like being in the swim.

Next Tuesday the Republican convention meets in St. Louis, and the clans are already gathering. Our Governor has not decided as to whether he will go.

The time was, until very recently, when a glance at the Louisville

Post's editorial columns was all that was necessary to learn the status of the States that have held Democratic conventions. But that telltale table has disappeared—the Post could not stand the pressure.

While every one is living as economically as possible, cutting off all the frills and furbelows of life, congress has gone right along spending money as prodigally as if all the coffers, public and private, were filled with money. 'Mid all this, and the burly burly of shifting political scenes it is pleasant to remember that President Cleveland's veto arm has not lost its usefulness. There is still some balm in Gilead.

A Courier-Journal special announces that Mr. Carlisle will not go to New York at the end of his term of office, but will come to Kentucky and resume the practice of law until 1897, when he will take the stump and mop up the earth with free silver orators. The distinguished ex-friend of silver has evidently chosen a year when there is no state or national campaign on hand, as has been learned by the fact that he has been in a campaign year as an audience of brass and tinkling cymbals, and he wants to see how they work in an off year. It will be a rare sight to see the great ex-silver champion and ex-

Secretary traveling up and down the highways and byways of his native land seeking whom he might devour. Being out of a job for the first time since the memory of man run-neeth not to the contrary, he will evidently be hungry for gore, and we ought to be thankful that the silver man who happens to cross the path of the fallen great. Prophecy tells of the disaster and the dire calamities of the last days; doubtless the old prophet had his eye on John G. and his '97 campaign in Kentucky when he saw these things.

One of the surprises of the recent state conventions was the result in Livingson county. It had been generally conceded that the gold bugs would carry that county, but the result shows that single gold standard men are almost as scarce in that county as in Crittenden, and when the

The city of Cincinnati went almost solid for silver in the primaries held for appointing delegates to the State convention; 4219 votes were cast and 3956 were for silver. Hamilton county outside of the city cast 3000 votes and 1800 of them were for silver. Commenting on the result the Enquirer says:

Hamilton county, embracing the commercial city of Cincinnati, where the gold monometalists have claimed they were stronger than in any other city of the West, will present practically a solid front for silver at Columbus on the 23d and 24th inst. This is the grandest triumph for bimetalism —for the money of the people—that has been achieved. It is especially impressive and influential when consideration is given to the fact that the vote was large, and to the further important fact that the election was conducted in regular form. There was no "snatch" judgment, no packing of a mass convention, no juggling with tickets or ballot boxes. The voting went on under the election laws of the State, with sworn officials in superintendence, and the regular Board of Elections making the count and declaring the result.

The Democratic farmers of Ohio are almost unanimous for free silver. The agriculturists have been the main reliance of the silver movement. One of the lessons taught by the Hamilton county primaries of yesterday is that the farmers are not alone in their demands. The cities are dense with men who have the same reasons for desiring reform in the currency that the farmers have. The rapid increase of the public debt to maintain exclusive gold resumption affects all people injustly except those who speculate in the popular mind. The silver movement is in its track for more than twenty years. There has been a great awakening among the people, and the Democrats of Cincinnati are not going to be behind.

It seems that an effort is being made to take the nomination for Congress in the Second district away from Ed Franks. He won the nomination fairly, but he preferred Mc-Kinley to Bradley and so expressed himself in the convention that nominated him—hence the enemies he has made.

SUES FOR DIVORCE.

Garland Carter Seeks a Legal Separation from His Wife.

Saturday Garland Carter, one of the wealthiest and best known farmers of the county, filed a suit asking to be divorced from his wife, Mary E. Carter. The petition alleges that the wife has been unfaithful, and the name of a young man is set forth in the petition as being a partner in the alleged unfaithfulness. The plaintiff also asks the court to give him the custody of their five year old child.

The case is rather of a sensational order. The husband is an old man, the wife is a young woman, and the friends of the latter bitterly denounce the allegations in the petition and charge that the suit is brought for the purpose of depriving the wife of her property rights.

Baby in Court.

A case that attracted more than usual attention engaged the county court Monday and Tuesday. One of the principal factors in the case was a fine looking little fellow who had been in this world only a few months. As everybody took a peep at the baby, the little fellow was really unconscious of the trouble his advent had brought upon two people. His mother was Mattie Donaldson, a rather good looking girl, who had come into court to establish the paternity of the child. She said its father was Newton Hughes, a good looking young man, who was on hand denying with all the vigor of his young manhood any responsibility along that line. It was a warmly contested case all along and the court house was crowded with eager listeners, and they embraced young men and old, from the town and from the country.

After hearing the evidence and argument, the jury concluded that Mr. Hughes was its father, and the verdict said he must pay $50 a year for 14 years for the support of the youngster.

The case will be appealed to the circuit court. Hughes went to jail Tuesday evening, where he will remain for ten days, at the expiration of which time he will take the insolvent debtor's oath and be released.

THE ENDEAVORERS

Hold a Successful Convention at Marion.

The Christian Endeavor societies of the Fredonia Valley held a union meeting at this place Friday and Saturday.

The meeting was called to order Friday evening at the Presbyterian church. The address of welcome was delivered by J. W. Skelton, and the response was made by Rev. J. W. Thompson, of Kuttawa.

Some thirty or forty visitors were in attendance and the meeting was a successful one. The discussions Saturday were especially entertaining and instructive.

Among the chief spirits of the work are Rev. McDonald of Fredonia, Payne of Princeton, Thompson of Kuttawa, Price of Marion. In addition to these well known ministers, a number of young people are deeply interested; indeed the societies are composed chiefly of young people, and they manifest a zeal in christian work that many older members of the church would do well to emulate.

Before adjournment Saturday evening the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Rev. J. F. Price, President; Rev. Payne 1st Vice President; Rev. Mr. Thompson 2d Vice President; Miss Ray Woods, Sec. and Treasurer.

The next meeting will be held in Princeton.

Before the adjournment the following resolution was enthusiastically adopted: That we, the members of Fredonia Valley Union of C. E., extend to the citizens of Marion our sincere thanks and appreciation of their kind hospitality, and we also desire to thank the pastor and officers of the Presbyterian Church for the use of their beautiful building and the choir for their excellent music.

Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. C. E. Doss of this place—Mr. J. R. Summerville and Miss Nellie Doss were united in marriage. Rev. J. D. Frazer officiating. Quite a number of friends were present to witness the happy union. After the ceremony the bride and groom left for his home at Mattoon, where they were tendered a reception by his parents.

The bride is one of Marion's loveliest young ladies, and her many charming traits of character has made her friends by the score. She is handsome and refined, and fitted to adorn any home. The groom is the well known merchant at Mattoon, and is one of the most promising and popular young men of the county. The friends joining with their host of friends in extending congratulations.

Want Franks Out.

Owensboro, June 8.—There is a rumor here that the Republicans will ask their congressional nominee, Ed. T. Franks, to withdraw. According to the story star chamber meetings have been held to this end, and no longer than the week just closed a delegation went to Havesville from Henderson over the feasibility of the change with District Chairman Eugene Vance and Hancock county chairman McAdams. The result of that meeting has not been made known, and the gentlemen who took part in it are as reticent as Mr. McKinley upon this question. This is a movement started by the anti-Franks faction, and it is said he will pay no attention to it.

Slim Docket.

Friday is the last day for filing suits for the June term of our circuit court, and the docket promises to be a very slim one, in so far as civil suits are concerned.

SILVER BULLION ADVANCING

Speculators at New York are Saying Little But Buying For a Bulge.

New York, June 5.—"Keep your eye on silver!" This phrase, at once prophetic and significant, has been whispered about in Wall street since the beginning of the week. When the Kentucky State convention declared for free coinage some of the speculators who had passed the tip round, watched the price of silver bullion advance one-half per cent in the open market, and then exclaimed: "What did I tell you?"

These exchanges of confidence, it should be understood, have gone on very quietly. Scores of shrewd speculators realized a week ago that silver would go up if free coinage men won in Kentucky and they bought the white metal at bedrock prices in the neighborhood of 67 cents an ounce.

The bullion brokers took the cue on Wednesday, and marked up quotations for silver nearly 1 point. London "saw" this advance, in the same quiet way, and went 10 better. Today silver reached 69 1/2 cts and there were private sales, based on the news from Virginia, at 70 and 70 1/2 cents.

But when you pin a bullion broker or a well street magnate down and ask him the meaning of this steady appreciation in the price of silver, he will tell you that France is using more of the white metal subsidiary currency, that China is in the market for silver, and that Russia is a heavy purchaser, through Paris houses, of the American product. He will deny that the advance is in any way associated with the political movement in the United States. But this fools no one who is at all familiar with Wall street methods. The men down in the financial district are buying silver because they see a profit ahead. It is not necessary that the free coinage men shall elect the next president to cause a rise in the price of the metal. The mere fact that the free silver sentiment is growing and that free silver has a fighting chance to win in the presidential contest is sufficient to inspire and create a bull movement in silver.

Ever since Monday brokers who deal honestly with their customers have been advising them to sell stocks and buy silver. They figure that the growth of the free silver sentiment will depress the market for securities and cause an appreciation in both gold and silver. The white metal, for the moment, offers a wider range for speculation than gold, and the shrewdest operators in the street are casting their anchor to windward.

The Evening Post of Wednesday devoted the greater part of its financial article to a summary of the reasons why silver would not experience a rise. The chief argument advanced was that the silver men had not a ghost of a show in the presidential contest and that it would therefore be foolish to bull the bullion. Today the same paper announces in a special cable dispatch from London that the markets for American securities abroad closed dull and lower "on the cable news of the progress of the free silver issue in the United States," and adds: "This has induced a heavy speculation for a rise in silver and in silver stocks here. The recent success of the silverites comes as all the more an unpleasant shock because all the American correspondents for weeks past have indicated otherwise."

Gone Before.

MARY ABIGAIL MANSFIELD was born in Athens county, Ohio, March 28, 1844; was married to G. M. Russell in Athens, Ohio, January 1, 1866; died at her late home near Marion, Ky., June 3, 1896.

But two short weeks ago, in the pride of health and the arrogance of strength, I wrote and had published in the Press the following:

"A philosopher once remarked that it is a difficult matter to grow old gracefully," yet Mrs. R. and myself have recently bought us a home where, if it be the will of God, we hope to see the years drift by us, mellowed by kindness, softened by pleasant memories, and glorified with the hope of life eternal beyond the stars."

Alas! even as the lines were written and the pleasant dream was filling my heart with happiness, the Death Angel was hovering at our threshold, with arms outstretched to bear away the brightest gem, the sweetest jewel, the crowning glory, the guardian angel of our little home. I have often read of that "dull heart-throb of sorrow that paralyzes the brain," and God knows how keenly I have felt, how I now feel it.

To those who knew Mary Russell—and almost every one here knew her—no words of praise that I may write could place her character in a more beautiful light than her plain, unostentatious life of practical christian charity has placed it. Knowing her life for the past thirty years as I do, if for one moment I doubt that she was now with our four dear, dead babies in Paradise, I could no longer believe in the reality or justice of God—and I do believe in Him, and in His overflowing goodness and mercy.

For myself and our two motherly boys—one with me and one in Missouri—I have only heartfelt thanks to offer for the kindness extended by all and the respect paid the remains of our dear one by the numerous tenderness at the grave, and for the beautiful flowers that were so tenderly laid upon the earth above her; and our hearts will ever go on in gratitude and love to Mr. Price for his beautiful and touching funeral oration.

Rest, darling, amid the green grass and the solemn silence of our lovely New Cemetery; the rarest and most beautiful flowers shall be made to bloom upon thy grave, as thy dear memory shall ever bloom in my heart until this tired body and weary brain is laid to rest beside thee. Vale!

G. M. RUSSELL.

Gone to Rest.

On the 18th day of May, death visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Woodall and taken their little daughter, Myrtle. She was one of the brightest flowers the writer has ever known. Although she was only 3 years of age, she would talk as intelligently as one of 12. She had a little brother who had been gone to rest 3 years, and during her last few weeks with us she would often go out alone and say she was going to play with brother Archie. Saturday before the angels took her, she told her mama she was going to see Archie Sunday, but the angels let us keep her until Monday morning at 6 o'clock when they came and bore her away to her brother Archie. As Archie was a bright star for her, may she also be a bright light in the window of heaven to direct her parents and sisters. Sleep on, dear Myrtle, take thy rest. God called thee home. He thought it best.

From earth and sorrow, home and me, To heaven, where Archie lives with thee. 'Tis hard to say farewell, but not in vain, Beyond this world in heaven so fair To live with God. I know you are there.

SHERIFF DYER'S BONDMEN

Of Union County Refuse to Remain as Sureties any Longer.

Sheriff T. M. Dyer, of Union county, was removed from office last Monday on account of his bondsmen refusing to remain as sureties any longer. It is claimed that this action on the part of Sheriff Dyer's bondsmen was prompted by the fear that he would again be called on to collect the railroad tax in the Caseyville and Lindslee precincts. Mr. Jaa Dodd, deputy under Mr. Dyer was appointed elisor.

Mr. Dyer has thirty days in which to make a new bond for the collection of the State and county taxes. This he will have no trouble in doing and he will then be appointed collector of State and county taxes.—Henderson Gleaner.
