WEDNESLAY MORNING.

Convened at regular hour. After opening exercises Mr Roark completed his outline of the psyshological value of studies, by speaking of expression studies, Reading, Com position and Debating, as the most important, with the first place given to debating.

The question, "What is the differ ence between the rich man and the tramp?" The Instructr says that the rich man lives off the community as much as the tramp; neither works, so their is really no difference. He thinks that every one should work, be he rich or poor, Mr. Roark next spoke of the opportunities offered by the A, and M. college at Lexington,
