License to Marry Indian Girls Will Hereafter Cost $500.

The Chickasaw Legislature, now in session at Tishomingo, I. T., has passed a law which is intended to stop white men from marrying Indian women by taxing them $500 for a marriage license. The price of a marriage license was raised from $50 to $500. This is only applicable to white men who would marry Indian women. Considering, however, that the average Chickasaw girl has a tribal property to the value of about $3,000, the price of a marriage license may not yet affect the shrewd white speculators who have been marrying the Chickasaw girls for revenue only.

WADLINGTON DISCHARGED.

The Court Hears the Testimony and Releases the Prisoner From Custody.

THE EVIDENCE IN THE CASE.

The examining trial of J. B. Wadlington for killing John Scott was concluded Wednesday evening of last week. After hearing the testimony and argument, the court discharged the defendant.

The following is the salient portion of the testimony:

Testimony of Matthew Henry—I was in Dycusburg on day of killing of Scott by Wadlington. Don't remember exact date, but it was on or about 28 Sept. 1898. I saw J. B. Wadlington come running up the street. Myself and J. B. Koon were riding out of town and were near Tom Burke's house. Wadlington turned down the street by Dr. Graves' ice house. I turned on my horse and looked and saw Wadlington shoot but could not see Scott fall, as he was behind the corner of an out-house of Burke's at the time the shot was fired; Wadlington had a pistol in his hand as he came running up; I heard him say, "Stop there. God damn you," and about the time he said it he fired. When I first looked round when Wadlington came running up Scott was coming up the street across by Frank Dykes'; W. ran across to where Scott was; don't know whether Scott stopped or not, as I could not see him then for the corner of the house; did not see P. K. Cooksey, did not hear P. K. Cooksey say to Scott to stop; Wadlington fired instantly on using the language I have quoted. I have said all the time that I could not see Scott right at the time of the shooting, did not see Scott at all until after the shooting, except that I had seen him in town that day. I was thirty or forty yards from parties.

Re-direct—I have been acquainted with J. B. Wadlington all my life; from what people say about him he has a fiery and violent disposition and was too fiery to hold office.

Testimony of Mrs. Ed. Ramage—I saw the killing of John Scott by J. B. Wadlington; my home is about 100 yards from place of killing; I was sitting on doorstep. The first I noticed John Scott and P. K. Cooksey came up the street, Scott in advance; Cooksey called to Scott and Scott stopped and turned, facing Cooksey. Just then Wadlington came down another street and called something to Scott, and Scott turned his face towards Wadlington and as soon as he turned Wadlington fired. It seemed to me that he fired instantly on Scott turning his face towards him; I was scared, but not so bad but what I knew what had occurred. Scott had his back to me and I could not see who he ever moved towards Wadlington. The street Wadlington came down was at right angles to the street Cooksey and Scott were going up. Scott had stopped and was facing Cooksey and when Wadlington called he turned his face towards him and Wadlington fired. He seemed to me to have been close enough to put his hand on Scott, then he fired.

Testimony of J. B. Koon—I was in Dycusburg on day Wadlington killed Scott; I was coming up the hill out of town; heard some one yelling and looked around and saw Wadlington, running towards me; he turned into a cross street, had a pistol in his hand I turned round and looked at him; directly he turned the corner I heard him say "stop John, God damn you," and just as he spoke he fired; could not see Scott from where I was on account of Burke's cistern house.

Testimony of John Walters—After the killing I ran down to see what it was; I think I was about the first one there; P. K. Cooksey was there and I heard Wadlington say it was a borrowed pistol he had and easy on trigger and went off accidentally, that he did not think he would have killed him if he had his own pistol; this was two or three minutes after the killing. I am not acquainted with the general reputation of Wadlington for violence.

Testimony of Robert Cooksey—I was in town on day of killing but did not see it; after the killing I heard the defendant Wadlington say it was a new pistol to him he had and he had no idea of killing him; this was about thirty minutes after the killing, I suppose. When Wadlington is not drinking he is not overbearing; don't know whether he was drinking or not. Testimony of Eli Dooms—Was in Dycusburg on day of killing and saw it; Cooksey ran quartering towards Scott and called to him to stop; Scott stopped and turned towards Cooksey, and pulled his knife out of his pocket and opened it and Cooksey backed off. Just then Wadlington came out the cross street and called to him, "drop that knife, God damn you, or I will kill you," and instantly fired; I can not say whether Scott made a step towards Wadlington or not; he had turned his face towards him. It all occurred in an instant.

Cross examined: I was about twenty yards from them; could not say whether Wadlington called to him to stop or not; I don't know whether Scott got his knife open when he turned to Cooksey or not; it was found after the killing nearly open but not quite; he had his knife in his hand when he turned towards Wadlington; they were about 6 feet apart; Scott had just cut a boy named White; I saw Scott cut White; Henry Bennett, myself and others were joking; Scott called to him to prove something that Scott had said before; White said yes he had said it, and if Scott swore it was not so he was a God dam liar and backed off about 8 feet and Scott walked up to him and cut him; Scott was partly drunk; White did not die; the men were about 6 feet apart at the killing and I think one step would have put Scott close enough to Wadlington to have cut his throat.

Re-direct: Wadlington stopped perfectly still before he fired.

Testimony of J. C. Turley—Was in Dycusburg when Scott was killed; after the killing I was in Mr. Cassidy's store, and Wadlington came in and said he had killed Scott and was sorry he had done it; that he had a pistol that he was not used to, and was too easy on trigger, and if it had not been for that he would not have done it. I did not hear him say anything about killing him in self defence. I think I am acquainted with his reputation for violence, overbearing, etc. I think he is a pretty peaceable man; he used to be pretty hot tempered, but I think he has reformed a good deal; don't know what his neighbors think of him.

Cross examined: Wadlington did say in Cassidy's store that Scott was coming on him and had a knife, but I did not say anything about having it to do or being in self defence.

DEFENDANT'S PROOF.

Testimony of J. B. Wadlington—I was marshal of Dycusburg on day of killing; there was a barbecue near Dycusburg on that day, 28th September, 1898. The first time I saw Scott that day he was running up street by me and some one called out, "there goes a man that has stabbed a man 3 or 4 times, and not let him get away." I started after him; I thought that he had a horse up there somewhere, and I ran up the street and down the cross street, when I caught up with him; P. K. Cooksey was a little ahead of me; Cooksey called to him to stop and he started towards Cooksey with drawn knife. I called to him to stop and drop that knife; he turned then to me, and started towards me with a drawn knife. I told him to stop and drop the knife; I was down in a sort of sewer and he came right on, and when he was in two or three feet of me I fired; I did it to save my life, believing I was in imminent danger and that he would cut me in pieces if I did not kill him; I had gone after him to arrest him, believing from what the people called out that he had committed a felony; immediately after the shooting I said to P. K. Cooksey that I was sorry that I had it to do, but he forced me to do it and I wanted to surrender to some one, and I surrendered to him and gave him my pistol. I did not say

Cross examined: I can't say that Scott ever stopped; when I called to him to stop he turned and started to then anything about the pistol being too easy on trigger, or of it being an accident, nor did I say anything of the kind at Cassidy's store; I told S. H. Cassidy that I had killed a man and had to do it to keep him from cutting me down.

Cross examined: I did not draw my pistol until I was going down the cross street; he was drawing his knife and turning towards Cooksey when I drew my pistol; the pistol I fired with was a borrowed pistol; it belonged to Fred Ramage. I drew the pistol to keep John Scott from cutting P. K. Cooksey or myself; I did not make up my mind to shoot Scott until he was coming on me with a knife; I did not say then at the place of the cutting or anywhere else that the pistol was too easy on trigger and if it had not been for that I would not have killed Scott; if I ever told any one that the pistol went off unexpectedly I don't think I ever did. I told Cap. Watkins, who came up to take charge of the body, I told some one to bring a doctor, I think I told Dr. Jim Graves to go and see about it; I did not know that he was dead but I thought that I had killed him. Scott had come 6 to 10 feet towards me when I fired after I had told him to stop; he was not quite close enough to cut me but one more step would have been, and he was coming right on with the knife drawn; if I cursed him when I told him to stop, I don't remember it I might have done it, am not in the habit of swearing; I was excited after the killing.

Testimony of Dr. J. M. Graves—I saw J. B. Wadlington when he shot John Scott; I and Charley Burkes were sitting in his drug store; I saw John Scott run by and P. K. Cooksey after him; I called to Cooksey to know what was the matter and he did not answer; supposing it was a fire I got up and went to the door; I then saw Wadlington coming down the cross street, both called about the same time to Scott to stop. Scott stopped and pulled something out of his pocket and started towards Mr. Cooksey; Cooksey began backing, and Wadlington called to Scott to drop that knife; Scott turned and started towards Wadlington; Wadlington told him to drop the knife; Scott was going on him and Wadlington shot. Wadlington was standing in a sort of sewer; one more good step would have put Scott close enough to have cut Wadlington; I think Wadlington was in imminent danger of death or great bodily harm when he fired; Wadlington was town marshal at the time and had been for many years. I think I am acquainted with his general reputation for peace and quietude; he has always been a man that would take care of himself but outside of that was peaceable and quiet. I was about 45 yards from the killing; no obstructions between us; I saw them both when the shooting occurred; Wadlington did not move either way; I think Wadlington drew his pistol about the time he came up, am not positive whether he pulled it before; I saw Scott take something out of his pocket.

Testimony of Dr. Phillips—I attended Dick White at the time he was cut by Scott. There were two knife wounds in his sides, straight stab about an inch long; they were dangerous wounds and liable to produce death; there was a cut place in his coat, over his heart, a very dangerous place if it had reached the body.

Testimony of P. K. Cooksey—I was in Dycusburg on the day of the killing. The first that attracted my attention was that some one called, "that man has cut a man and is trying to get away, stop him." I started up the street, not knowing who it was; when I got up about Yancey's some one called that it was John Scott; I saw Scott going up by the church and followed him; I called to him to stop; he stopped and drew his knife and opened it and started towards me; about that time Wadlington came down the cross street and called to him to stop; Scott turned from me and started towards Wadlington; Wadlington told him to stop and drop that knife or he would kill him; Scott kept on and Wadlington fired; Scott was in about 6 or 4 feet of Wadlington when he fired and was advancing on Wadlington with drawn knife; another step would have brought him within cutting distance. After the shooting Wadlington told me that he was sorry but he had to kill him and offered to surrender to me; I did not hear him say anything about this pistol being too easy on trigger.

Cross examined: I can't say that anybody who said he drew a 44 was a 44; I walked on towards Mr. Cassidy's store; some one called to me and Scott came up to where I was and commenced cutting me; he cut me twice in the side and in the shoulder, and several times on the coat that did not reach the flesh. After he cut me he looked at me a moment and started and ran off and some one commenced calling for the marshal and that Scott had cut a man around there.

Testimony of F. B. Dykes—I was in store of S. H. Cassidy when defendant came in just after the killing; I heard defendant say to Mr. Cassidy that he had to kill a man. Mr. Cassidy said, "My God! Bud, what did you do that for?" and defendant said he could not stand there and let him trim him up.

I am acquainted with the general reputation of defendant among his neighbors and acquaintances for peace and quietude. It is good.

Testimony of C. L. Burkes—I was in Dycusburg on the day defendant shot Scott. I was sitting in my store and saw P. K. Cooksey run by. Dr. Graves called to him to know what was the matter; he made no answer; we got up to see what was the matter, saw Scott about thirty steps in front of Cooksey; when they got up to the corner Cooksey called to him to stop; he was nearly up with him then; Scott turned and pulled something out of his pocket and started towards Cooksey. Just then Wadlington came up on the corner street and leveled his pistol on Scott and asked something to him, but at the distance I could not be certain what he said; Scott turned towards Wadlington and started towards him, and when in about 6 or 8 feet Wadlington fired.

Testimony of Mrs. F. B. Dykes—I was in my veranda at home and saw the shooting; I heard a noise and looked and saw Scott running up the street, followed by Cooksey; some one called to Scott and he turned on Mr. Cooksey with a knife. About that time Mr. Wadlington came up and called on him to stop; Scott turned on Wadlington and started towards him; Wadlington told him to stop and drop the knife and Scott said he wouldn't do it. Scott kept going towards Wadlington and Wadlington towards him and Wadlington fired.

Testimony of Mrs. Jennie Boaz—I was in Dycusburg on the day Wadlington shot Scott; I was on the veranda of Mrs. Dykes, about 50 or 60 ft. of the killing; I saw Wadlington coming and saw Scott with Cooksey after him, some one calling to Scott to stop. Scott faced Cooksey; I did not see the knife but it looked like he had something in his hand; Wadlington told Scott to put up the knife or he would kill him; Scott then faced Wadlington and took two or three steps towards Wadlington and he told him again to stop and put up the knife. I took in the situation and ran back in the hall, and looking back I saw Wadlington shoot.

Re-direct: I am acquainted with the general reputation of defendant, among the neighbors and acquaintances for peace and quietude. It is good.

Testimony of Elisha Johnson—I saw John Scott on the day of killing; I heard him say on that day that he would kill him; he said he was going to kill a nigger for stealing chickens.

I am acquainted with the general reputation of defendant among his neighbors and acquaintances for peace and quietude. It is good.

Testimony of Dick White—I knew Scott when I saw him; I am the man he cut on day of killing; Scott and Henry Bennett were standing in the door of Griffin's saloon talking. Henry was telling about Charlie Duval drawing a 44 pistol on him; I said that anybody who said he drew a 44 was a 44; I walked on towards Mr. Cassidy's

Prevent Pneumonia

Prevention is always better than cure, even when cure is possible. But so many times pneumonia is not cured that prevention becomes the natural act of that instinct of self-preservation which is "the first law of nature." Pneumonia can be prevented and is often cured by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"Some years ago I had a severe cold and was threatened with pneumonia. I could neither eat nor sleep, and was in a wretched condition. I procured a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and took it according to the directions, and at the end of fifteen days as well as sound as before the attack. I have recommended it in many cases of pneumonia since, and have never known it to fail in effecting a cure."

JOHN HENRY, St. Joseph, La.

"I was attacked with a cold that settled on my lungs, and defied the skill of my physician so that they considered me incurable. At last I began to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and was entirely cured after having taken two bottles."

Railroad to Cadiz.

The Illinois Central railroad last week addressed to a prominent citizen of Cadiz, Ky., a communication in which a series of questions were propounded as to Trigg county, and asking the nearest direct point from Cadiz on a line railway, says the Hopkinsville New Era.

All of the queries were carefully answered. Gracey, Ky., was named as being the nearest place to Cadiz on the railroad. The Illinois Central, it is thought by this, is contemplating building a branch road from Cadiz to tap the C & P. The people of Trigg county would gladly welcome such an enterprise.

The County Close

Light Vote Polls, Republicans Did Not Vote For Reeves and Wheeler Carries Crittenden.

It has been a long time since as little interest was manifested in an election as on Tuesday.

The Republicans did not turn out, and a great many of those who did, cared so little about exercising the prerogative of the ballot that they did not go to the voting booths.

The Democrats anticipated no danger of the defeat of their candidate, and a great many of them stayed at home to work, those who turned out voted.

The vote of the county by precincts is as follows:

MAIRION.	Wheeler
[Four Precincts]	205
REEVES.	274
PINEY.	86
Wheeler	57
REEVES	86
TOLU.	40
Wheeler	24
FRANCES.	41
Wheeler	36
UNION.	52
Wheeler	77
BELLS MINES.	88
Wheeler	25
SHERIDAN.	57
Wheeler	35
FORDS FERRY.	16
Wheeler	16

This gives Reeves 1 majority, with Dycusburg to hear from, and that will give Wheeler from 25 to 40 majority.

Virginia Solid

Virginia elects a solid Democratic delegation to Congress.

Iowa Republican

Chairman Republican State Committee claims State by 50,000, and entire Republican delegation to Congress.

Connecticut

Republicans carry all Congressmen. This leaves delegation unchanged.

Twenty Years....

For more than twenty years we have been telling how Scott's Emulsion overcomes the excessive waste of the system, puts on flesh, nourishes and builds up the body, making it the remedy for all wasting diseases of adults and children, but it isn't possible for us to tell the story in a mere stickful of newspaper type.

We have had prepared for us by a physician a little book, telling in easy words how and why Scott's Emulsion benefits, and a postal card request will be enough to have it sent to you free. To-day would be a good time to send for it.

The Costliest Cough Cure is Change of Climate, and it's a cure that's not often possible and not always sure. There's a better idea about coughs and cures: Why not fit the lungs to the climate instead of fitting the climate to the lungs? It is the power to do this that makes

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

THE BEST COUGH CURE

in the land. It is a sure cure for colds and coughs; a specific for Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, Whooping Cough; it prevents Pneumonia, cures La Grippe; and it so strengthens the lungs and heals the torn tissues that many cases of disease marked by all the signs of Incipient Consumption have been absolutely cured by its use. Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral can now be had in half-size bottles

At Half Price, 50 cts.

"We tried almost everything for asthma without success. At last we used your Cherry Pectoral and the relief was immediate." S. A. ELLIS, Keene, N. H.

"When I had almost despaired of ever finding a cure for chronic bronchitis, I derived most excellent results from Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I can testify as to its efficacy." R. G. PROCTOR, M. D., Oakland City, Ind.

"There were sixteen children in my father's family and there are seven in my own. We have never, since I can remember, been without Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and have never had a case of cold or a cough that this remedy did not cure." HON. WM. E. MASON, Chicago, Ill.

"My wife was sick in bed for ten months and was attended by six different doctors. All of them said that she had consumption, and some of them said she could not live a month. I bought one bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It seemed to help her, so I secured one dozen bottles. Before these were all used, she was completely cured and to-day is strong and well." J. W. EWING, Camden Point, Mo.

"For more than a year my wife suffered with lung trouble. She had a severe cough, great soreness of the chest, and experienced difficulty in breathing. A three months' treatment with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral effected a complete cure. We regarded it as remarkable, as the other remedies she had tried had failed to even give relief." C. H. BURRIS, Marine Mills, Minn.

The Cruiser Sinks,

Charleston, S. C., Nov. 5.—The Spanish cruiser Infanta Maria Teresa, sunk by the guns of the American fleet off Santiago July 3, raised after days of labor by the indefatigable Hobson, at last started for Hampton Roads with a volunteer crew, today heat at the bottom of the Atlantic ocean, three miles from the surface, lost forever, the victim of a furious storm.

The cruiser went down on Tuesday off San Salvador, Bahamas. Not a man of the crew was lost. Capt. Harris and his men were taken off by the ocean going tug Merritt, which put into port today with them.

All went well with the Teresa, which left Caimanera on Sunday, until having passed Cape May, he headed northwest around the Bahamas. A fierce gale overtook her.

The cruiser, only a patched sieve, was at the mercy of the hurricane. The storm opened the rents in her hull, and soon she began to fill rapidly. Capt. Harris and 114 men of his crew were transferred to the Merritt, which turned her nose for the nearest home port to report the disaster. The Merritt put into quarantine during last night.

An explosion of gas, followed immediately by a fierce fire, played havoc in the Capitol at Washington yesterday. The Supreme Court room was wrecked and many valuable books in the court's library were destroyed by fire or badly damaged by the deluge of water poured upon the flames. Many of the rooms near the Supreme Court room were more or less damaged by the crash. Many priceless records were destroyed. The damage to the building amounts to about $200,000, but much of the loss in books and documents is irreparable.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure

Cures a Prominent Artery.

M. R. C. PHELPS, the leading pension attorney of Belfast, N. Y., writes: "I was discharged from the army on account of ill health, and suffered from heart trouble ever since. I frequently had fainting and smothering spells. My form was bent as a man of 30. I constantly wore an overcoat, even in summer, for fear of taking cold. I could not attend to my business. My rest was broken by severe pains about the heart and left shoulder. Three years ago I commenced using Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, notwithstanding I had used so much patent medicine and taken drugs from doctors for years without being helped. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure restored me to health. It is truly a wonderful medicine and it affords me much pleasure to recommend this remedy to everyone."

Mr. Finis E. Brantley formerly, a citizen of Marion, was accidentally killed in Louisville last week. He was working on the street car track, and in endeavoring to remove a cross bar from the track, to prevent the derailing of an approaching car, he was caught under the car and crushed to death. Mr. Brantley was raised by Mr. A. C. Gilbert of this place, and at one time he was elected jailer of the county, and was a good officer and a popular man. His remains were taken to Paducah and buried beside those of his wife.

Miss Mattie Cannon died at her home in this place Friday night. She had been in declining health for some months and her condition was such as to give no hope of recovery, but it was not thought the end was so near, and the death was a sad surprise to her many friends.

The funeral took place from the residence of her father Mr. K. E. Cannon, Sunday afternoon; Rev. J. F. Price conducting the ceremonies which were simple but impressive. A large crowd followed the remains to the new cemetery where the interment took place, Rev. B. A. Cundiff officiating at the grave.

Miss Cannon was respected and admired as a true christian woman by everybody who was acquainted with her.

The walks and drives in the new cemetery have been marked off and some of them graveled. This is a step in the right direction. All of the walks and drives should be thus improved; doubtless the owners of the cemetery will unite with those who own lots and continue these improvements. By the way the thought to own that cemetery.

The Christian church at this place will be dedicated next Sunday. The workmen are pushing the work to have everything in readiness. The seats are being put in, and while the building is not a large one, it is neat and pretty and tastefully finished and arranged inside. Rev. Mr. Ford will preach the dedicatory sermon, and a great many visitors are expected to attend the dedication.

Hon. Otto Nunn died at his home at Sullivan, in Union county, last week. He retired at night in his normal health, and was found dead in bed next morning.

Until a few years ago he lived in this county, and at one time was prominent in local politics. In 1877 he was elected to the legislature from Crittenden and Livingston counties.

He was one of the older members of one of the oldest and most respected families of this county. Mr. John Nunn, father of Circuit Judge T. J. Nunn, is a brother of the deceased.

Uncle Otto, as he was familiarly known by his many friends, was a good man.

When our popular county assessor was in town listing property last week, he struck a room where a drummer had his samples on display and called upon the knight of the grip to take the oath and lay bare his worldly possessions for taxation. The drummer protested, but the assessor explained that he did not have time to call on folks out once for their list, and the business must be attended to without further parley or delay. "These are only samples," insisted the drummer. "Well, sign your name here and swear to what your stock is worth," urged our urbane assessor. "I am a drummer," exclaimed the traveling man, and then the assessor folded up his book, eyed the big display of merchandise and reluctantly moved on.

CITY ELECTION

A Warm Fight—Democrats Win by a Handsome Majority

There was a lively little contest in the town election. This was the first time party lines were ever drawn in our municipal election and while there was more or less scratching, the vote shows fairly well the relative strength of the two parties. Republicans generally voted the Citizens ticket, and the Democrats marked under the rooster.

Both tickets had good candidates all around and there was no personal objection to anybody on either ticket. The result was as follows:

In Memory.

Whereas, It has pleased the Supreme Ruler of earth and heaven to call from time to eternity our beloved brother and associate, Pinkney W. Lamar, we humbly submit to the inevitable.

Pinkney W. Lamar was born in Crittenden county, Kentucky, in the year 1863 and died in Blackford, Ky. Oct. 24, 1898.

As a man he was honest and upright, as a friend he was kind and true, as a neighbor he was generous and obliging, and as a brother and son he set forth those noble traits of true manhood which should be so conspicuous in the life of every man being. Pinkney's father died when he but a boy, and since that time he has spent his entire life in caring for his aged mother and two sisters who still survive him, and his whole life has been an example to his many friends.

Seven men were killed and three others fatally injured in a Pennsylvania colliery by a loaded car falling into the shaft and striking the car in which the men were descending to their work.

and acquaintances. He has been a consistent member of the Baptist church for many years and as a christian he has ever been at his post of duty, and he never knew anything but duty as a man, as a christian, a brother and as a son.

He was a member of the U. O. G. C. and did all that was in his power to make the Cross a success and to make it a source of pleasure to the members of his lodge.

We feel that in the death of Pinkney W. Lamar that the U. O. G. C. has not only lost a faithful brother and warm advocate, but that the community at large has lost a worthy citizen.

We therefore offer, the following resolutions, that we make the above a part of our proceedings and enter it upon our journal and cause a copy to be furnished the bereaved family, and a copy to be sent the CRITTENDEN Press for publication.

Samples And Penalties.

(St. Louis Post-Dispatch.)
In France prisoners are allowed a certain portion of their earnings. This is divided into two parts, one which they may dispose of while in prison, the other constituting a reserve against the time of their discharge.

There are about twenty societies for aiding discharged prisoners in Hungary.
Penalty for arson in some States ten years imprisonment. In others death.

The maximum penalty for bigamy ranges from one year in Delaware to twenty years in Tennessee.
In England there are nine societies, besides the Salvation Army, which is organized for relief work.

The older a man is when he commits his first offense the less likely he is to return to a criminal life after discharge.

Assault with intent to kill is punished in Pennsylvania and Kansas by a five year imprisonment. In Massachusetts by a life sentence.

In Arkansas breaking and entering a dwelling at night, penalty seven years. In North Carolina death. In Louisiana death if accompanied by assault.

In Europe upon the continent corporal punishment is prohibited. The most severe punishment is the dark cell. The main reliance is upon the deprivation of privileges.

Prisoners' aid societies aid French prisoners after their liberation; these societies provide asylums temporarily where discharged prisoners can remain until they can find some employment.

A Labor House at Melun aided 1,246 inmates from the prison in 1894. Of these only 75 predated themselves a second time, 7 a third time. The majority stay at the home three or four days.

Trades are not systematically taught to prisoners in Europe. Army equipments are largely furnished by convict labor employed in prisons. In Paris the government printing is largely done by prisoners.

In Europe as a rule first offenders under less than a three year sentence are kept in separate cells. In America the separate cell system has been generally abandoned, except for prisoners awaiting trial.

According to the latest published report of the National Prisoners Association there are four active prisoners aid societies in the United States. "There are a few," adds the report, whose corporate title is like the name on a tombstone—simply to tell where the society has been buried.

Every month these aid societies send each a delegate to the prison, and question the prisoners nearing their discharge. The special purpose of some of the societies is to reconcile prisoners with their families, or to serve as intermediaries between the prisoners and with other persons.

In Sweden there are aid societies, but the prison population is very small. Prisoners in Sweden do not receive wages. They are given a premium for industry and good behavior. Half of this premium he can spend while in prison.

Perjury is punished by five years imprisonment in New Hampshire, Connecticut and Kentucky. In Maine

Mississippi and Iowa the penalty is life imprisonment. In Missouri it is death if the witness designs thereby to effect the execution of an innocent person. In Delaware the penalty is a fine not less than $500 or more than $2,000.

Switzerland has fourteen prisoners aid societies. When a prisoner comes out of prison a 'patron' from one of these societies is appointed for him. The patron holds the wages due in trust and applies it for the benefit of his ward. He also looks up employment and exercises a moral supervision until the convict is firmly replaced in society, as a useful member. Thus every prisoner is the direct personal care of a competent person, who is pledged to be his guide and friend.

In 1863 Massachusetts and Illinois passed an indeterminate sentence law providing that thereafter there shall be no definite sentences to their penitentiaries except life sentences and those of habitual criminals. A minimum is fixed by the judge in Massachusetts and the prison authorities may release the prisoner at any time after this law is passed. In Illinois the judge does not fix any time—the authorities may release the prisoner whenever they think he will lead a correct life.

In the Michigan penitentiary a man who was regarded as one of the most depraved criminals in the country is now foreman of a department, and is regarded as thoroughly reliable. Another whom no amount of punishment could force to do his work properly was changed by a few kind words to one of the best workers. The few kind words were spoken by a new guard on duty for the first time. In this penitentiary an attempt is being made to substitute a discipline founded upon kindness, for that of punishment.

The Maison Centrale de Melun has a prison population of 605. The average amount accruing to each prisoner on his discharge is for three years of detention $50, 4 years $70, 5 years $90. A part of their earnings may be sent to their families or may be spent for fruit, postage, etc. subject to the approval of the administration. Usually the money is not paid direct to the discharged prisoner but is applied to his use by the authorities. The prisoners from this prison are rarely known to become a public expense after their discharge.

CATO MUST HANG.

The Governor Will Not Reprieve and Eddyville Will Have a Hanging Nov. 25.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 1.—Governor Bradley this afternoon, refused to extend Executive clemency in the case of William Cato, under sentence of death at Eddyville for murder, and he will be hanged on November 25 next unless some additional reason is given before that time stay of execution. In passing on the petition, which was numerous signed, the Governor wrote as follows: "No sufficient reason is given to warrant executive clemency."

Three Doctors in Consultation.

From Benjamin Franklin.
"When you are sick what you like best is to be chosen for a medicine in the first place; what experience tells you is best, to be chosen in the second place; what reason, i. e. Theory, says is best is to be chosen in the last place. But if you can get Dr. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, Dr. Reason would recommend him because it never fails to effect a speedy and permanent cure. Dr. Reason would recommend it because it is prepared on scientific principles, and acts on nature's plan in relieving the lungs, opening the secretions and restoring the system to a natural and healthy condition. For sale at Orme's drug store.

MUST HAVE THEM.

Spain's Argument of No Avail—The Islands Must Be Ceded.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Spain's exhaustive argument against the cession of the Philippines to the United States has had the result of making the officials all the more determined to take the islands. Instructions sent to Mr. Day, chairman of the American commissioners, will require him and his colleagues to renew on Tuesday their demand for cession of the group to the United States, and they will make in their communication the first offer in money for payment for the islands.

How to Prevent Croup.

We have two children who are subject to attacks of croup. Whenever an attack is coming on my wife gives them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it always prevents the attack. It is a household necessity in this country, and no matter what else we run out of it would not do to be without Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. More of it is sold here than of all other cough medicines combined.—J. M. Nickle, at Nickle Bros, merchants, Nickleville, Penn. For sale by J. H. Orme.
