MORE GOLD.

Tell Time Its on W. D. Wallingford's Farm Near Marion.

The reports of the finding of gold at Tolu has set about half of the people of the county to "wondering if there isn't some of the yellow metal on my land," and there has been some thing of a superficial inspection going on wherever there has been mineral deposits—and that is pretty much everywhere in Crittenden. Among those who have taken a lively interest in the matter is Mr. W. D. Wallingford. He has a farm a mile east of town and for the past two or three years he has been prospecting for something valuable beneath the surface of his green fields. When some of the rocks from the Guesen farm were brought to town, Dudley looked at them long and hard and said:

"Hoy, it there is any gold in that, I have got her too and plenty of it."

He sent some of his "reeks" to the assayers at Cripple Creek, Col., and a few days ago, he received a certificate from Varney & McArthur, assayers and chemist, certifying that the two specimens sent contained $2.80 and $2.20 worth of gold respectively to the ton; while the third specimen contained $1.02 worth of silver to the ton. This is not very rich, but it has encouraged our amateur miner and he hopes to get below the surface a little and find "pay dirt." He has little sample enroute to Cripple Creek, and expects better results from these.

In the mean time he is not harboring any idea of closing up his lively stable and becoming a recluse knight o' the pick with a monetary mile east of town, but at the same time there is just enough buoyancy in his day dreams to drive away the spectres of hard times and lay foundations for a few castles that, let us hope, may not always be in the air.

Andrew Carnegie offers to contribute $250,000 to the University of Birmingham, England.

The Commercial Club will extend an invitation to President McKinley to stop in Louisville on his Western trip.

In a transport of enthusiasm Gen. Gordon embraced Mrs. Stonewall Jackson before the Confederates at Charleston, and all the old Johnny Rebs had a regular jag of joy.

At Howard City, Mich., a man killed his wife, uncle and grand-mother, mortally wounded his child and father in law and then shot him self, inflicting a perhaps fatal wound.

Osnoboro, Ky., May 11.—The nine-months-old child of Charles Tom burned to death at Pateville. At the same place the infant of a man named Heiffley was killed to death in a snap vat.

It is discovered that the faculty of Drake University in Iowa is honey-combed with heresy, the professors being practically unanimous in refusing to believe in the inspiration of the Bible.

New York and other cities are in a scramble to have Dewey visit them. The Admiral is expected to arrive in July, and it all depends on him whether he will come across the Pacific or by the Suez route.

The Hon. Russell P. Flower, former Governor of New York, died suddenly of heart failure, surprised and by acute indigestion at the Eastport Country Club, at Eastport Long Is and, last night.

A Manila dispatch published at London says twenty members of the Philippine Congress favor peace and an equal number are irreconcilable. The remainder admit the hopelessness of independence, but demand better terms of surrender.

Admiral Dewey is coming home from Manila at once, without waiting to be relieved by Rear Admiral Watson, and it is believed he will reach home by July 4. He will come by way of the Suez canal. Capt. Barker, of the battleship Oregon, will command the Asiatic squadron until Rear Admiral Watson arrives.

As the school tax for the year 1899 was levied March 18, the 6 per cent penalty will be added on all unpaid May 18. Those owing tax for the year 1898 must settle at once.

WHITSITT OUT.

His Resignation Accepted By the Trustees of the Seminary.

THE CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE

Louisville, Ky., May 12.—After deliberating for nine hours the Board of Trustees accepted the resignation of Dr. W. H. Whitsitt as President and instructor in church history of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. The vote on his resignation as president of the seminary was taken first. The acceptance carried by a small majority. The next vote on accepting Dr. Whitsitt's resignation as a member of the faculty stood 22 for and 30 against. The discussion was precipitated by Dr. Bush of Georgia moving that Dr. Whitsitt's resignation be accepted. It was almost like a peal of thunder from a cloudless sky. Another member quickly moved that President Whitsitt be cited to appear before the board and state his reasons for tendering his resignation. On being presented before the assembly Dr. Whitsitt stated that he had been so advised by members of the faculty.

Many heated speeches were made and many of the trustees sharply interrogated. The leading advocate in opposition to accepting the resignation was Dr. W. R. Hatcher, of Richmond, Va. He made a strong plea in behalf of his friend Whitsitt, recounting his long life of labor in behalf of the Baptist cause. He paid a glowing tribute to the eminent scholar and divine, Dr. Ramsey also spoke in opposition to the acceptance of the resignation.

Dr. J. W. Warder, of this city, made a strong speech in favor of accepting the resignation. He was followed by Dr. Landrum, of Atlanta, Ga. and Dr. C. P. Carroll, of Lexington, Dr. T. T. Katon, who has been leading the fight against Dr. Whitsitt, did not speak at the night session.

More than 100 delegates and persons anxious to hear the result awaited outside of the hall all during the night session.

Dr. Whitsitt has held the position of President of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary for nearly four years, having been chosen in 1895 to succeed the late Dr. J. N. Broadus. It was not given out as to when the vacancy occasioned by Dr. Whitsitt's resignation will be filled by the board of trustees.

HISTORY OF CONTROVERSY. The cause of the Whitsitt controversy, which now has a national reputation, occurred nearly twenty years ago, but it was only three ago that the matter assumed the phase of a factional fight. In 1880 Dr. Whitsitt was then a professor in the seminary, while making researches in the British Museum, found what he considered conclusive proof that the Baptists did not use immersion prior to 1641. He put the result of his researches into articles, which were published in the Independent, New York.

About five years ago Dr. Whitsitt wrote an article for Johnson's Encyclopedia, in which he gave the result of his researches. In this article he stated that the Baptists "invented" immersion about 1641. It was this expression which caused the great trouble. About three years ago Dr. Whitsitt publicly stated that he wrote the articles in the Independent and claimed the discoveries. At the next Southern Baptist convention, which met in Wilmington, N. C., in 1897, resolutions were presented calling for Dr. Whitsitt's resignation but the trustees sustained him.

At this time Dr. Whitsitt made a statement to the trustees, in which he said that some expressions he had used in the encyclopedia articles were ill-considered, and promised to correct them in the next edition, which he did. He said that when he used the term "invented" he had meant to say that immersion, which had been practiced by the church at its organization, had lapsed during the dark ages and had been resumed about the time stated.

At the convention in Norfolk the following year the matter was again brought up, with the result that the trustees again sustained Dr. Whitsitt. Resolutions were adopted by bodies at various parts of the country calling for the resignation of Dr. Whitsitt, and the fight was the principal feature of every Baptist gathering. Finally, when the General Association of Kentucky Baptists met at Hopkinsville last June, resolutions were adopted against Dr. Whitsitt, and then his friends advised him, in the interest of harmony, to offer his resignation, thus placing the matter finally in the hands of the Board of Trustees. This action Dr. Whitsitt took at once.

LEGISLATIVE RACE.

LUKA, Ky., May 8, 1899.

EDITOR PRESS:—

I am not a politician, I have never dabbled in politics more than to always vote for that which I thought right and against that which I thought wrong. Yet, I feel an interest in the present campaign so far as our Legislature is concerned, I want to see a Democrat of the old school succeed our present efficient representative, one whose honor is unquestioned and whose integrity and party devotion are best known and appreciated by his immediate friends and neighbors, the brave and true "old diamond in the rough," Thomas Jefferson Nickell, of Grand Rivers, who went down in the general defeat, the Waterloo of 1895, when the whole state ticket went down by a disgraceful compromise of the vital "Free Silver" issue with the Gold Standard people settled for that year the fate of all, and out of which none came with greater honor or glory than this grand old hero, who for 42 years has been standing nobly by the old Democrat party, and in all that time, no one can truthfully say that Uncle Jeff stabbed, in the back, its nominee, but like the gallant knight he is, he always, when his party spoke, obeyed the orders and faithfully supported the standard bearer of his party.

Ah! but some say: "He is not sociable and a good mixer," he was defeated in 1896; Blackburn his opponent, was a sociable fellow and that's why he beat our nominee." Let's see about that: Bradley received for Governor in Livingston county 566 votes; Blackburn for Representative 537; Blackburn ran 29 votes behind Bradley; Hardin received in this county 720 votes and Uncle Jeff received 693, running only 27 votes behind Hardin.

"But oh! there was Dr. Clark, the Populist, who got the votes of the disgruntled democrats of this county who were so sore at Uncle Jeff because he beat the other fellows." Well Mr. Pettit received 201 votes and Dr. Clark 195; six behind the head of the ticket, just about in the proportion behind Pettit that Mr. Nickell ran behind Hardin, excepting about two and that you remember was the number of opponents Uncle Jeff had; two votes taken from Clark's vote would have made it just exactly within one of the exact ratio of Nickell's vote to Hardin—the democrat vote being three and one half times larger than the populist and three and one half times eight would be twenty-eight.

It is true he is not the "hail fellow well met" that some are, but what does that amount to, when you want a man to combat the influence of the corporations, trusts, and school book robbery with his vote always on the right side, and with a balance wheel in his head that will enable him to always stand by the principles of democracy, which is the cause of the common people and which will not permit him because of some personal pique to cast his vote against the nominee of the party.

He is plain, blunt spoken, but behind the rugged appearance there beats a heart that has never yet failed to respond to the appeals of charity and humanity, or those in distress, and as a result of his upright dealings, his honor and integrity in all his walks of private life, in the primary election in 1895, when he, Mr. McGraw and Mr. Adams, were candidates but two votes were polled against him in his home precinct; one his own, the other Equire S. N. Davis who had alleged Mr. Adams' petition before he knew that his friend and neighbor was a candidate. We are going to do the same thing for him again and we assure you in advance, that whoever the nominee of the party may be, it is not to him, that no man will support him with greater zeal and loyalty than will this old Democrat of 42 years allegiance to the principles of democracy.

If you can point out a single instance in the history of Livingston county of a man with a better record than his, with three candidates in the field, (it was not known in our precinct that Mr. McGraw was off the track, and he got Uncle Jeff's vote, being a free silver man.) I say trot him out and we will support him, for we have heard Mr. Nickell say often that if the Democracy of Livingston and Crittenden counties does not believe that he is the man to win, and when convinced of that fact, he is too good a Democrat not to step down and out and to stand by him who can win, for he does not wish to stand in the way of the success of the party of the people. We believe that in as much as he is practically polled the strength of the party in 1895, and that any man the party nominates this year will be elected, we are for him to the end, and in conclusion we desire to commend for your mature and deliberate consideration the nine points presented by what the Press has appropriately denominated "His Platform," and we want to ask you if the ground is not effectually covered by the same, and that on its very face it bears the impress of honesty and firmness. No man need be in the dark when he votes for Uncle Jeff, for he stands for "all that is right, and against all that is wrong,"—pick a side in that will you?

Yours truly,
W. C. FUGATE.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtin, Pleasant, Ill., makes the statement, that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs—she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from the first dose. She continued its use and after taking six bottles, found herself sound and well; now does her own housework, and is as well as ever was.—Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at J. H. Teacher's Salaries.

STURGIS, Ky., May 12, 1899.

MR. EDITOR:—Some time ago there appeared an article in your paper written by an ex Kentucky teacher, in which he upheld the principle of "cut rate" prices in the employment of teachers in our public schools. If there is an American institution that needs to be placed upon a higher plane; that needs to breathe a more congenial atmosphere, it is the public school. It should be the duty of every teacher to elevate the mind and to fasten this elevation into the laws of the state in which he lives in the stead of placing himself below the standard which the laws have already given our school system. The path of progress is up, not down, the mountain side. The fundamental principles of education are quality, not quantity, and the teacher who has to appeal to quantity for his support plucks one splinter from the platform upon which the future destiny of our nation stands. I have never known a "cheap John" store to influence or elevate the commercial value of the community in which it had its being, nor have I known a teacher who drifts where he can teach the longest for the least money, to exert any influence upon the community in which he teaches. Too many are retarding the progress of youthful genius by using the public school as a stepping stone to a mistaken career. There can be no higher calling than directing the powers which in generations to come, must influence the civilized world. The public school can never take its proper place among the institutions of liberty so long as we place politics above education. This state of affairs must exist as long as money has the power to attract talent. Money and talent are so strongly bound together by the ties of nature that no physical power can sever them, and if we expect to develop and hold the best talent in the public school work we must place the teacher upon an equal basis with the professions that are attracting the talent of the country. If the state would take the money which it spends in defending and sustaining politics and spend it in developing the forces which control politics, generations that follow us would breathe a purer and higher educational and political atmosphere. I love Kentucky and many of her institutions, but when I compare our public school system, the strongest monument of civilization, with California, Texas and other states; when I see that we lead the world in a product which has sleeping in its bosom the most degenerated curse ever imposed upon the human family, I feel a flush of shame creeping to the surface. I was a little surprised that my esteemed friend should uphold a principle that will lead to a "bidding" process in the employment of teachers. I wonder if he did not leave the Kentucky schools because they did not pay a sufficient salary to sustain the remarkable talent which he possesses. I believe that it is the duty of every earnest and successful teacher to put forth every effort within his power to devise means by which the pub-

AMERICAN COIN

To Be Used in Erecting Three Statues in Paris.

Washington, May 11.—The good feeling in this country toward France is shown in three distinct projects for erecting statues in France during the Paris Exposition. The latest of these is to erect a statue of Rochambeau in the French village of his birth.

Another statue project is in charge of prominent women, representing the women of America, who propose to erect an equestrian statue of Washington in one of the public reservations of Paris. Mrs. Justice Field is at the head of the committee and $15,000 is in hand.

A statue of Lafayette also is to be erected at Paris, through the efforts of United States Commissioner Peck.

In Memory

Of Carmen Excell Mitchell, who departed this life April 7th, 1899, was born May 3, 1896; age two years eleven months and four days. The Master came into the garden and plucked the buds and full bloomed rose, and none can dispute his will.

Little Carmen was a bright, affectionate, loving little child, beloved and petted by all, and it was with and heavy hearts that many heard of her death. It was a bereavement to her parents.

Weep not dear parents, heaven has a bright jewel, and heaven is more precious to you because of those gone on, and ever be ready to say in your heart, "Lord thy will be done." And may it be said when you are called from earth, as it may truthfully be said of her, "She hath done all she could," which was the Golden Text of our Sunday School lesson on Sunday after she died.

It will be remembered by many how dearly she loved to go to Sunday school. Our loss is her gain.

Cruelty and failure to provide the necessities of life is also alleged against the defendant. Besides a divorce, the plaintiff also asks for $500 alimony.

For Lieutenant Governor.

Hon. J. C. W. Beckham, Speaker of the last House of Representatives was in town yesterday. He is a candidate for Lieut.-Governor, and his visit here was in the interest of his candidacy. Mr. Beckham is the youngest man ever elected Speaker in this State, but the record he made as a parliamentarian and as an impartial, fair and able presiding officer was one that a sage could well be proud of, and should be win the office to which he now aspires, Kentucky will have reasons to be proud of her Lieut.-Governor.

SLIGHTLY WOUNDED

Was Jim Ray by Shot From Wm Tabor's Gun Sunday Morning

Sunday morning the crack of a gun broke the usual stillness of the south side of town, and an investigation showed that Wm. Tabor, the blacksmith, had turned his squirrel gun loose at Jim Ray, colored.

Tabor's and Ray's children had met at the spring and had a quarrel. Ray went over to Tabor's to learn what it was about, and this visit with the words and actions that followed lead to the discharge of the gun with the barrel pointed at Ray. Nine small shot went through Ray's clothing and broke the skin on his back, some of them lodging and some falling. Jim was not much hurt but somewhat frightened. The examining trial was held Tuesday, and Tabor was held over in a bond of $150 for shooting in sudden heat and passion.

ANOTHER FIRE.

J. H. Robeson's Stock and Grain Barn Burned.

Friday night between 11 and 12 o'clock, the big stock and grain barn of Mr. J. H. Robeson, on the Fords Ferry and Springs road, two miles north of the Springs, was destroyed by fire. A quantity of corn and hay and a lot of farming implements, were lost in the fire. Mr. Robeson was awakened by the roaring of the fire to find the building in flames. The fire evidently started in the hay loft and its origin is unknown; Mr. Robeson thinks it must have been set on fire. He had no insurance and the loss is a pretty heavy one for a man of Mr. Robeson's circumstances.

CHARGED WITH FORGERY.

W. Kie, Alias Smith Arrested and Taken to Missouri.

Friday an officer from Cape Girardeau, Mo., came here, and in company with Sheriff Pickens went to the farm of Mr. W. S. Hale and arrested W. L. Wilkie upon the charge of forging two notes, aggregating $525. Wilkie and his wife and child left Friday night with the officer for Missouri. He came here last March and under the name of J. A. Smith hired to Mr. Hale to work on the farm. He is charged with forging the names of citizens a Cape Girardeau to two notes and borrowing money from the banks by using the forged paper. The evidence of his guilt seems to be pretty conclusive.

Ministers and Members Meeting

The Ministers and Members Meeting of the Ohio River Association was held with Friendship Baptist Church, Livingston County, Ky., April 28-30, 1899.

and pleasant discussion of, the same were passed.

1. Duties of a church to her pastor.—J. J. Franks

2. Church ordinances. What do they symbolize?—W. R. Gibbs.

3. What is a New Testament church?—T. L. Taylor.

4. Does the Bible justify our divorce laws?—J. S. Miller.

5. Does the Bible require all to give to missions? If so, how much?—A. J. Sills.

6. Is it possible for all churches to have Sunday schools?—G. N. McGrew.

The following memorial resolutions offered by A. J. Sills and J. S. Miller, were adopted, and one hour Sunday morning was spent in memorial talks, in which many words of praise and admiration were spoken of the honored dead.

Whereas, It has pleased God to remove from our midst, by death, our beloved brethren, Elders B. T. Taylor, A. T. Traylor, Wm. Belt and deacons S. G. Clark and J. L. Hibbs; and

Whereas, The intimate relation of these brethren to the members of this body, render it proper that we should place on record our appreciation of their services, as Christians, preachers, deacons, and of their merits as men; therefore

Resolved, That in their death this body loses brethren, who were active and zealous in their work as disciples of Christ; ever ready to succor the needy and distressed, prompt to advance the kingdom of Christ, devoted to its welfare and prosperity; brethren who were wise in counsel and fearless in action, honest and upright men whose virtues adorned them, not only to their brethren, but to all their fellow citizens.

Resolved, That while we bow with humble submission to the will of the Most High, we do not the less mourn for our brethren who have been called from labor to rest

Resolved, That we tender our heartfelt sympathies to the family and relatives of our deceased brethren.

Resolved, That this body give one hour Sunday morning, commencing at 10 o'clock, in prayer and memorial talks.

The meeting was closed after a sermon by Rev. J. S. Miller from Psalm 84:11, Sunday at 11 a. m.

Then after again enjoying the hospitalities of the people, which had been so bountifully spread every day we returned to our homes feeling that we had had a pleasant and profitable meeting.

J. S. Miller.

The Nichols-Shepard Separator

The essential points in a Separator are capacity, thoroughness of separation, and simplicity and durability of construction. On each of these points the Nichols-Shepard Separator has great advantage over all other threshing machines. Any one of the nine sizes will thresh more and save more grain than the corresponding size of any other separator. The Nichols-Shepard Separator is as strongly, simply, yet perfectly made as a separator can be. The work of separation is done without the aid of pickers, raddles, forks, or other complicated parts that in other machines cause continual bother and expense by breaking or wearing out.

Write for large free catalogue that pictures and explains every part of the Nichols-Shepard Separator and the Nichols-Shepard Traction Engine.

HE LAUGHED TO THE LAST.

A Red Cross Nurse's Story of a Soldier with a Smile on His Dead Face.

Some one has said that trained nurses grow hardened to their work, but the sudden gush of tears which now and then blinds a nurse in the hospital wards at Montauk would prove the contrary. Especially hard upon these nurses are the night experiences, when life ebbs low and the strain of silence and darkness is over them. Said one soft-eyed night nurse:

"Oh, if you could have seen my first patient! He was a lovely boy of 19, from somewhere out on the Mexican border. In the four days in which he was under my charge I grew very attached to him, but suddenly, when I was perfectly sure he would soon get well, a violent change came and in spite of every care he died. My heart failed me completely, but there was no time for weakness. Too many cases were needing attention."

"I was put in another ward temporarily and took special charge of one very peculiar patient. He lay stolidly staring at me without a particle of expression in his eyes, and by his apathy rather than by real opposition refused all nourishment and medicine. I couldn't induce him to speak at first, and it took ten minutes of coaxing to persuade him to swallow a teaspoonful of beef tea. Finally he did so, however, and after another five minutes he consented to take another and then another, the stolid expression presently changing into one of intelligence."

"If you could have seen the change! Why, he laughed and joked and made such grimaces that my orderly and I were convulsed with laughter, and even the weak men on the neighboring cot feebly joined in the laugh. His nonsense was absolutely contagious, so much so that at last I was obliged to slip away into the dispensary to give him an opportunity to sober down and incidentally to prepare some malted milk. When I returned five minutes later his expression was still a laughing one, and the orderly attending another patient, gave me a knowing smile as I leaned over the weak man's cot. But this time the patient did not speak. He was dead, with the smile still on his lips, a strange, half-mischiefous wink lingering about his eyes."—Collier's Weekly.

FACE TO FACE WITH DEATH.

Arctic-Explorer Greely Tells of His Rescue at Cape Sabine by Capt. Schley.

Gen. Greely tells, for the first time, the details of his awful winter at Cape Sabine. Eighteen of his party of twenty-four explorers had perished from cold and starvation when Capt. (now Admiral) Schley, heading a relief party, rescued the survivors still in the nick of time. "Summer crept slowly on, but food came grudgingly," writes Gen. Greely. "Each worked to the end, and even on the very morning some never knew that death would take him. One after another passed, and when a mighty midsummer gale from the south broke our hitherto untried scientific observations, there were left seven men and spears. There was not the physical strength to raise the wind-struck tent, and the end was in sight. Was it to be life or death? It was foolish to hope, for even now did not the mid-winter sun, that marked midsummer, from that very day (June 21) leave us with coming winter in utter darkness? Had we seven, who were left, gone through all those 275 days of suffering amid these icy scenes for naught? But for all that there was a strong faith that this gale must favor the American ships that must be working northward through the ice. And the faith in country turned to reality 40 hours later, when our nation's sailors tied in tender offices and sympathy for their comrades of the army thus saved from death."—Ladies' Home Journal.

"Auntie, has kitty got pins in her toes?" "I suppose so." "Don't you wish they were safety-pins?"—Truth.

"My wife is always asking for money." "What does she do with it?" "Doesn't do anything with it. I don't give it to her."—Boston Beacon.

THROUGH BLOCKADE TWICE.

Story of a Havana Merchant Touching Success of the Steamer Montserrat.

Senors I. Gero and Enrique Payo, Cubans, were in Havana throughout the war. Senor Gero, who is a leading business man of the Cuban capital, says: "The poorer classes of the people in Havana were better off during the blockade than for many months. The Spaniards gave 25,000 free rations to the poor every day and in every district or ward of the city free kitchens were established, with Cuban and Spanish cooks. The blockade was effective enough for several hundred miles around the coast, but they could not stop every ship that sailed to Havana merchants. Her cargo was brought around by Cape San Antonio, Jamaica, thence to Batavia, Cuba, and on to Havana by way of the Gulf of Mexico. A number of schooners from Mexico with provisions for Havana managed to get their cargoes into the city by this route. For some reason or other they did not stop at the coast, but French and English steamers to ply in the tobacco trade at Sagua Lagrange on the northern coast. Every ten days they would leave port and return regularly to get another cargo of tobacco, and they did during the blockade."

Arming the Battleship of the Future.

The man behind the gun has had his day of surpassing glory at Manila and off Cuba, and the constructor, the gunfounder and the engineer are now called out for condemnation. It is interesting to note that the reduction of the American board of survey to the critically inspected the remains of Admiral Cervera's battleships are in close accord with the frequently expressed views of Chief Naval Officer of the United States Navy, Mr. John D. Sigsbee, and other naval bureau officers of note. These expert views have not been received either in the service or in the congressional committee, but they are now seen to have deserved. Most likely Cervera's great misfortune and the comparative immunity of our vessels from serious damage will give more weight to the future in the constructive opinions. Greater speed, the elimination of wood in the construction of battleships, the placing of torpedoes behind the water line, and a larger provision of eight and six-inch guns and secondary rapid-fire batteries are conspicuous among recommendations for the battleships of the future.—Youth's Companion.

Climate of the Philippines.

The first serious obstacle that will be encountered in that presented by the climate. The island, wholly within the tropics, and extend on the south to within 4½ degrees of the equator. The heat is trying at the best. Personally I have found the burning sun of the dry season less hard to bear than the "muggy" weather, when bright sun-shine alternates with heavy showers, or the rain falls day after day without interruption. One often reads of the lightful days and cool nights in the fall and winter months. After spending 3½ years in almost constant travel through the archipelago, and visiting every one of the larger islands, except Leyte, I can say that I have never seen a day when a man could endure hard physical labor without suffering from the heat. "I have experienced the hot season, the dry season, the wet season, but never yet have I been so fortunate as to strike the cool season."—Prof. Dean C. Webb.

Story of a Slave

"To be bound and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. George D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., tells how such a slave was made free. He says: 'My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work. This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle working medicine is good to weak, sickly, run-down people. Every bottle guaranteed, only 50c. Sold by J. H. Orme Drugstore.'
