

DR. BOYD KILLED.

Thrown From His Cart—He Survived But a Few Minutes.

Saturday afternoon near his home in the vicinity of Tolu, Dr. A. S. H. Boyd, one of the best known physicians in the county, was thrown from his cart and sustained injuries that resulted in his death a few minutes afterwards. He usually traveled in a two wheel road cart when visiting his patients, and about 2 o'clock he drove away from his home, going towards Tolu. A few minutes later his wife was attracted by the noise of a running horse, and she followed her husband down the road. Near the foot of the hill, a short distance from the house, she found Dr. Boyd lying in a gully unconscious, and near by were the overturned cart and horse. She raised the alarm and neighbors answered her call. The unconscious form of the doctor was carried towards his home, but before reaching it he expired.

Dr. Clement was called and examined the body. There were bruises on his shoulder and breast, and probably internal injuries.

The horse he was driving had run away before and was considered a rather dangerous animal to drive, but Dr. Boyd was never afraid of him and was usually able to manage him. It is probably that the horse began running from the start and, becoming unmanageable, ran the wheels of the cart into the ditch over-turning the vehicle while running, throwing the doctor out with such force as to produce fatal injuries.

Dr. Boyd came to this county from Livingston several years ago, and located at Tolu, where he had built up a thriving practice, and stood high as a physician, and he had many warm personal friends throughout the county. He was always a warm hearted, generous man to his friends, and no friend ever called upon him for a favor, when in his power, that it was not cheerfully given, indeed it always afforded him genuine pleasure to help a friend. In his profession he was generous and charitable to a fault. He answered the calls of the poor and relieved their afflictions just as cheerfully as he did those of the wealthy and if the bill was not settled it was alright with him. He was perhaps a little blunt in address, but beneath the homely exterior there beat a warm heart and bounded the impulse of a gentleman.

He served four years in the Confederate army, coming to this country at the close of the war, practically a stranger and without means, he set to work to win a living; he attended medical college and began the practice of medicine and soon built up a good reputation.

He married a Miss Threlkeld in Livingston county, and reared a family, his wife and several children survive him.

DEATH'S HARVEST.

Mrs. Albert Lamb Died at Her Home in Marion Friday.

Mrs. Lula B. Lamb, wife of Mr. Albert U. Lamb, a well known citizen, died at her home in Marion Friday, after a long illness. She had been in poor health many months, and for eight months has been confined to her bed, gradually sinking until the end came Friday. The interment took place at the new cemetery Saturday afternoon, and was attended by a large concourse of friends and relatives. Rev. James F. Price conducted the services and tenderly the remains were placed to rest.

Mrs. Lamb was the daughter of the late J. W. Harpending, and a sister of Messrs. T. A. and E. E. Harpending, two of our county's good citizens. She and Mr. Lamb were married about fourteen years ago, and three children, all of whom survive her, blessed the union.

The many friends of the husband and children deeply sympathize with them in their great bereavement.

When You Take Your Vacation

the most necessary article to have with you (after your pocket book) is a bottle of Foley's Colic Cure. It is an absolute prevention or cure of all derangements of the bowels caused by a change of water. You are likely to need it.

A Negro's Opinion.

We are in receipt of a marked copy of the Lexington Standard, a negro paper, published by a negro, and the editor takes a whack at politics, politicians, and defines his position as follows:

"There is nothing permanent in a party but the name. Neither of the parties has very much use for the Negro only so far as they can use him. With the Standard it is men not party. If the Republican ticket has on it a bad man, a 'nigger-bater' we shall advise the Negro to scratch his name. If the Democrats or Populists get out a ticket we will scan the individuals over and if we find a man on either ticket who is better in morals and intellect, and more friendly to the Negro than his opponent who is on the Republican ticket, we will vote for such a man. This is politics, this is common sense; it is manhood and the white man, be he Republican or Democrat or Populist or Whittier, who questions this, our right to patriotic man—an expression of our honest opinion—an intelligent exercise of the elective franchise, he is a charlatan, an enemy to his country and certainly not a friend to the Negro."

A white man can be what he chooses and we can see no valid reason why a Negro should not exercise the same right of citizenship. A bad Republican is no better, so worse than a bad Democrat and this is why we reserve the right to discriminate as to men so as to give the party the benefit.

The Standard is teaching the Negro that he can never be a political success as long as he is led by the nose by white men who will say anything and do anything however far from the truth, in order to get his vote. He must reach up into the dignity of that manhood which seems to acknowledge his submission to the best of any man or party. The Negro to be a political success, must shake off party allegiance and look toward the desirability of himself and posterity.

He must not allow himself to be dictated to, but exercise his own judgment with the ballot. He must take a stand for his race and live, or die, strive to build up to honored and respected dignity among men. He must respect no white man that will even question his title to patriotic manhood. If even Negroes themselves should become untrue to this measure, they are nothing more than a sounding brass and tinkling cymbals.

It is hoped that one in the future will question the Standard as to its politics. It has none. We are going to carefully read the platform of both the parties and see what are the chances for their being carried out. We shall without fear or favor support the one we think is to the best interest of the Negro, and the Commonwealth. We shall hunt up the moral characters and political life of each and every candidate, especially shall we find out what has been their attitude in state and national affairs, toward the Negro. The worthy ones the Standard will support, the unworthy ones the Standard will oppose in keeping with its motto—race first, best friend next, men not party; principle, not party name.

A Boy Killed.

A few days ago the nine-year old son of Mr. Steps, was killed by a horse and killed on the farm of Mr. Joe Hines, of Belle Mines. The little boy came with his father from his home in DeKoven to Mr. Hines to spend the week, his father being engaged in working in timber. He was riding the horse to water with another boy when the animal became irritated at a pit-bully and plunged, throwing the little rider and kicking him in the back as he fell. The blow was so severe that the boy lived only about twenty minutes.

Those who live on farms are liable to many accidental cuts, burns and bruises, which heal rapidly when BALDWIN'S SNOW LINIMENT is promptly applied. Price 25 and 50 cents at J. H. Orme's drugstore.

The Tennessee Text-book Commission has adopted a uniform set of text books for the 800,000 school children, at a reduction from 15 to 60 per cent.

DEBOE

And Lindsay Consult Over Census Patronage

Frankfort, Ky., June 28.—Senator Deboe came here today to see Senator Lindsay in regard to the appointment of Census Supervisors for this State. They held a "previous conference in regard to the supervisors, and as Senator Deboe wanted Senator Lindsay to agree to all of his (Deboe's) appointments no conference was reached. Senator Deboe filed his list of recommendations, but no action will be taken on them until an agreement is made, as it is claimed "they should be non-partisan officers." The result of the conference here today is not made public.

Senator Deboe has shaved off his mustache. His friends hardly knew him here. From this fact is due the "renewal of acquaintance" of the Governor of Kentucky and the junior Senator. They passed on St. Clair street today. It is generally known that the two statesmen have not been sufficiently cordial to exchange courtesies for some time. The Governor was going up the street and Deboe was coming toward the statehouse. "Good morning," was the greeting cordially exchanged by each simultaneously as they passed. Neither had recognized the other until their voices betrayed them, and they passed on. Onlookers who witnessed the little scene were amused, but neither statesman halted in gait in the least. Their friends are having some fun over the incident.

VOLUNTEERS WANTED.

Forty Thousand Men to Be Enlisted for Service in the Philippines.

Washington, June 28.—Secretary Alger, Adj. Gen. Corbin and Col. Brd, Assistant Quartermaster General in charge of transportation, had an hour's consultation with the President today relative to the question of re-enforcements for Maj. Gen. Otis.

A definite decision has been reached to continue recruiting men at all the recruiting stations for service in the Philippines, and Secretary Alger said when he left the White House after the conference that Gen. Otis would have 40,000 men when the rainy season closed, for a resumption in active operations.

There are seventy recruiting stations in the United States, and enlistments are to be taken at all of these stations. The enlistments are to be for service in the regular army and recruits are to be organized into regiments or assigned to regiments already formed after enlistment. The organizations as such are to be accepted if sufficient recruits can be obtained by regular enlistment. Adj. Gen. Corbin said the enlistments would be for three years, although the law for the creation of the provisional army of 35,000 in excess of the regular army of 65,000 provides only for such a force until 1901.

Arrangements are to be made at once for increasing the transportation necessary to get these additional troops to the Philippines.

The decision to re-enforce Gen. Otis by the end of the rainy season is interpreted to mean that aggressive campaigning will cease until the bad weather ends. Until that time our operations will probably be confined to occasional excursions to places in close vicinity to our lines, where the insurgents may have congregated in force. By remaining quiet and under good shelter during the rainy season it is hoped the health of our troops will be preserved and the danger from climatic forces reduced to a minimum.

ANOTHER TICKET.

The Prohibitionists To Nominate a Full State Ticket.

The State Convention of the Prohibition party will be held in Louisville August 1 and 2. A complete ticket will be nominated and a vigorous campaign, it is said, will be prosecuted in the fall.

George W. Bain, of Lexington; Dr. M. P. Hunt and Col. T. B. Demaree are mentioned for the gubernatorial nomination.

A Perfect Church.

During the Southern Baptist Convention in Louisville, in May last, Rev. J. B. Hawthorne, D. D., delivered a sermon in the Broadway Baptist church, based on Hebrews vi:1, a synopsis of which was published in a city daily.

There were three divisions to his discourse, as follows: "First, a perfect church; second, a perfect Christian; third a perfect world."

To show the learned preacher's idea of perfection as set forth above, we reproduce the synopsis of his sermon, since it is supposed to voice the faith of the Baptist church throughout these points:

"I set before you God's picture of a perfect church. It is united in the spirit of Christ; one Lord, one faith, one baptism. Every member joined to every other member in every spiritual tie and worthy to be called virgin bride of Christ. Can you find such a church? I think not. We are wont to turn back to the church at Jerusalem, planted by the twelve Apostles. In many ways, it was inferior to some of the churches of today. The church at Corinth would not be fellowshiped by our present churches. Some of our district associations which put the Baptist brand on everything that has been dipped from the days of John the Baptist would reject it. Nor do we find the perfect church among the Galatians, the Ephesians or at Rome. It is not in the Second, Third, Fourth nor Fifth century, nor in the dark ages, nor in Luther's glorious morning. Not in the days when John Bunyan was put in Bedford Jail. Do we find it among ourselves? Some of us claim to be saints par excellence. No, no. Where do we find it in the past or present?"

"Now, the second ideal is the perfect Christian. What is he? He is one dead to sin, dead to self and alive only to Christ, victorious over the world within and the world without. Where is he? In the congregation? Let him stand up. He can't be found. He is not in any Catholic manner, nor Methodist holiness meeting, nor Presbyterian synod, nor Landmark Baptist church, nor in the Southern Baptist convention. There are many such shining characters, but not perfect man."

"The third ideal is the perfect world. Have you seen it? It is not the world of the past, or present, or the future. Inspired prophets saw it, when the golden tie of love bound man to man, nation to nation, when the lion and the lamb lie down together. That perfect world shall be an extension to heaven."

"In view of all these things, what shall we do? Shall we repudiate our divine ideals as too lofty? No, let us hold on to our ideals, let us preserve with increasing energy and zeal. If we surrender our ideals, we shall degenerate. Let us be discouraged, consider Christianity's triumphs. Its power is now greater than ever. Before the Messiah, learning was for the few. Christianity has opened the temple of learning to all. Consider the greatness of our possibilities. The children of heaven are not born to be beggars. It is the purpose of God, our Father, to bring us to perfection. Christ shall come by and by, bringing with Him the church above to the church below, and all shall be forever with Him, knowing as we are known, perfect in His likeness."

TOWN FIRED.

Battle Between Union and Non-Union Miners at Union City.

Carbondale, Ill., July 1.—Union City, named from the fact that it is occupied by union miners, was the scene of a battle last midnight, and as a result the town is in ruins.

The non-union negroes and others employed by Brush at his mines near Fredonia, incensed over the killing of the negro woman yesterday, went to the camp which consists of nine houses, and opened fire on the union miners, which was at once returned. The battle raged until the union miners ran from their homes and took refuge in a clump of timber close to the village.

The non-union miners at once applied the torch to the houses and all were burned to the ground.

The men had destroyed all property previously occupied by the union men. They then moved on to the woods and until daylight the fusillade was kept up. No lives have so far been reported lost in the engagement.

CHURCH DEDICATION.

The New Methodist Church at Carrollsburg Dedicated June 25.

Carrollsville, Ky., July 3.—Sunday June 25 the new Methodist church at this place was dedicated to the worship of God, and rarely has our little town tried to out-do itself. Much preparation had been gone through with for this occasion and complete success crowned the efforts. Long before preaching time people from Salem, Hampton, Lolo, Tolu, Golconda and Elizabethtown began to come in.

When the first song began the people began to crowd into the neat edifice and almost before the song was through every inch of standing room was taken and still many were outside unable to get in.

Dr. W. K. Piner, of Hopkinsville, preached the dedicatory sermon. He stated that he had no set sermon for the occasion, but choose rather to preach the plain gospel of Christ. But whether it was a set sermon or not, we doubt whether our people have ever heard anything to equal it. His text was: "And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God." He divided "all things" into two classes—the good things and bad things. He said that this affected one class, those who love God. How good can bring about good we can see and understand, but how evil could effect good the finite cannot reason it out, but it is nevertheless true. Misfortune often comes, tears often blind our vision, the heart strings are often rent and we are want to cry: "Lord, what good is this to me?" The how we know not, but the lesson is clear after the experience. Pain is bad, sickness and death are bad, not only bad, but repulsive. But God means it for our good even though the glass through which we look is dark.

The preacher's diction was pure and simple, his voice musical, his bearing dignified but not haughty, and he was so sure with his message that he was able to hold the attention of the great throng.

At the close of the sermon it was announced that it would take $300 to clear the building of all indebtedness. Within an hour more than the necessary amount was raised and then the trustees, Messrs. Harris, May and Rhodes stood before the great audience while the beautiful dedicatory exercises of the Methodist church were gone through with.

Rev. B. A. Brandon, the pastor, who has labored so untiringly was indeed a happy man when he saw that his labors were not in vain. Much credit is due the people here and elsewhere who have helped with money or work.

The edifice is a very neat one, being 48 feet long and 32 feet wide, with arched ceiling 24 feet high at the highest place and has a seating capacity of 300.

Much credit is due the carpenters, George Sharp and George Nunory, who together gave $135.

WANT PEACE

Do the Southern Island in the Philippine Archipelago

Manila, July 2.—Prof. Schurman, of the Philippine Commission, has returned from a trip through the southern islands of the archipelago. He says he found the people all anxious for peace, and believes the suppression of the Luzon rebels will insure loyalty in all the other islands. Local government is being instituted in the towns of Cavite province. The schools of Manila will open today. English will be taught. The heavy rains continue, and the country is flooded. The military camps and trenches are miles.

LOSE THEIR JOBS.

Trusts Throw Thirty-five Thousand Drummers Out of Work.

Albany, N. Y., July 1.—President D. W. in his annual address to the Commercial Travelers' Association in convention here dealt on the effect of trusts upon commercial travelers and what the commercial travelers should do under the circumstances. He declared that he had obtained from the best possible and most reliable sources that 35,000 commercial travelers had been thrown out of work through trusts and that 25,000 more had had their salaries reduced. One in every ten was affected.

Why Not Attend Church?

It is very necessary to attend to the business affairs of life, which so much concern us and those dependent upon us, and to say, as has been said by some, that we care nothing for "the things of this world," we find ourselves wrapped up in a gross mistake. For it is evidently and clearly before the minds of all intelligent persons that the things of this world are of vast importance to everyone of Adam's race. But life, after all things has been considered, is all we possess, and to neglect to care for life we have lost all education, wealth and luxuries that afford temporal pleasures. But life made pure by the application of the Spirit of God and a constant communion with Jesus Christ is the assurance of endless pleasure through all the myriads of coming time, Jesus well said: "No man can come to me, except the Father which sent me draw him." Most all, if not all persons feel the drawing power, especially when the Sabbath day dawns and our vision spreads out beholding the beauties of the day of rest. How often do we feel that we should lay aside all worldly affairs and resort to the church of God, hear the Gospel and make a strong effort to get saved. God is calling through Jesus Christ, through his messengers and through the church, and I say in behalf of the Bride of Lamb that we cannot afford to procrastinate. It is the imperative duty of the members of the body of Christ to be built as living, wise as serpents and harmless as doves. Christ cannot reign supremely in our hearts until we become true witnesses of His great salvation.

There are six churches in the town of Marion from whose pulpits the gospel is being preached, and therefore no excuse for not hearing the gospel. But I fear some will wait too long and at last cry for the falling of the rocks and the mountains to hide them from the face of an eternal God whose august presence has no bounds or limits. The call comes again and is again repeated, come to church, hear one sermon and see what the Lord is doing from His holy hill.

We have learned of some of the wickedness that is going on in this town; and not only this town but in most every other town in our beloved country. Michael, lying, defrauding and hidden wickedness which shall be proclaimed on the house-top. "For there is nothing done in secret but that shall be revealed." The glorious Lord in his love and devotion to mankind; though they have sinned, yet He will forgive.

This article has been written as an appeal for help, and this help is desired immediately from the followers of Christ by exerting every effort and energy to get the people to attend church and get them saved.

The Nichols-Shepard TRACTION ENGINE

Nothing that helps to make a perfect road and thrasher engine has been left out or slighted in the construction of the Nichols-Shepard Traction Engine. Everything has been done that science, skill and experience could suggest to add to its effectiveness, power, durability and safety from explosion and fire. The boiler is of the very best selected steel, thoroughly well made and provided with every approved safety appliance. The fire-box is surrounded by water-top, bottom and sides. The draft-damper is so made that sparks and ashes can't drop out, and the smoke-stack is fitted with patent bonnet and spark-arrester. Every part is strong, durable and is thoroughly tested.

Detailed descriptions and many illustrations of the Nichols-Shepard Traction Engine and of the Nichols-Shepard Separator and other threshing machinery are contained in large catalog—mailed free.

ONE YEAR - ONE DOLLAR

FOR REPRESENTATIVE.

We are authorized to announce

a candidate to represent Crittenden and Livingston counties in the next General Assembly of Kentucky. His candidacy is subject to the action of the Democratic party. Election November 1899.

Politics has usurped our gold mining industry in the public's attention.

Why don't they send Jack Chick to Clay county to stop that racket?

The Republican State Convention meets in Lexington Wednesday. Taylor has the nomination for governor or nailed down and the nails are clinched.

There is one thing sure to occur if Goebel is elected Governor and Harry McChesney Superintendent of Public Schools—the school book trust will get a black eye.

Though Capt. Stone failed to win, he made a brilliant race for the nomination for Governor. He grew in strength every day after he began speaking.

Gold is going to Europe again, but that need not curtail the amount of money the people haven't got, as none have gold. As a standard gold is mighty handy to juggle with.

There are both dissatisfied Democrats and Republicans in this section. The Republicans of this section of the State were for Pratt, and the Democrats for Stone, but how the two favorites are not in it.

In fighting the Filipinos seem to be following their natural inclinations. While they are not much soldiers, what can they do besides? As they have no other job, they will probably stick to their present calling for a long time.

The shiftings of the Louisville daily press, and its "enthusiastic" support today of the things it fought yesterday, reminds us of the lawyer at the bar, battling for the client who has engaged his services, regardless of politics.

The grand jury means to stop the pernicious habit of "firing deadly weapons at random on the public highway." That's right, if the boys must fire their guns, let them shoot at the bad roads that frequent our public highways to the disgust of every traveler.

It seems that we are to have four State tickets, and the sovereign will have an extensive domain, politically speaking, over which to roam in search of a ballot to suit. One beauty of our institutions is that if we can't get what we want, there is nobody to keep us from taking what we don't like.

Everyday some of our business men receive notice that "owing to a combination of the prices" of this and that article has been advanced. It takes a drought or a frost or a flood to advance the price of the article the farmer has to sell. While a combination or trust manages the price of the articles he has to buy.

The Courier Journal is industriously fighting bimetalism, and at the same time enthusiastically supporting Goebel for Governor on an uncompromising free silver, Bryan platform. Gen. Hardin's candidacy for the nomination for Governor was materially injured by the Post's support, and now Goebel will find that his candidacy will not be advanced by True to State and Party.

And in this connection The Dispatch wants to say that no matter who else may have yielded to the hypnotism or tyranny of the boss, no matter who else may have forgotten the great principles of the party, Bryan and the cause of the people, John Rhea and Ollie James stood firm and true to the best interests of their party and state. When Kentucky Democrats renew the fight for the true faith, when they prepare to take possession of the organization, to say that the people and not a boss shall rule the Democracy, and that there shall be no turning away from the progressive action taken at Chicago in 1896, they will look to Rhea and James to lead the loyal hosts of Western Kentucky; and they will not be disappointed.—Louisville Dispatch.

We reported last week the name of the nominee for governor, and were not altogether happy over the selection, but were we out looking for a balm for the wound, we would not go further than the remainder of the ticket to find it. It could not be improved and the Democrat must be a long way from home who objects to W. C. P. Beckham for Lieutenant Governor, R. J. Breckinridge for Attorney General, Gus C. Outler for Auditor, S. W. Hager for Treasurer, C. B. Hill for Secretary of State, H. V. McChesney for Superintendent of Public Instruction, I. B. Nall for Commissioner of Agriculture.

BLACKFORD IN LUCK.

Gets the Railroad By Donating One Thousand Dollars.

The citizens of Blackford are to be congratulated on their enterprising shown in securing the railroad to come to their town. The road was to go to some point on the I. C. and the Blackford people knew the way to induce it to come their way, so they went to work and raised a donation of $1000, and now have a contract with the Construction Company, by which the railroad will be sure to connect with the I. C. at Blackford. This deal meets the approval of all here who are interested. The county will get the benefit of every foot of the road and much more of the country will be opened than would have been had the projectors run the road to Sullivan. When the road is completed, Blackford, Clay and Letcher will be in close touch with Dixon, and the western portion of the county will develop beyond the expectation of all concerned.—Dixon Journal.

Fire at Bowling Green destroyed Potter's Opera-house and burned a number of other buildings. The loss is nearly $60,000.

MONDAY MORNING.

Institute was called to order by Mr. Chas. Evans. After singing and devotional exercises the following persons were elected as officers: J. W. Lamb, President. Oscar Towery, Vice-President. Miss Lena Woods, Secretary. Miss Maggie Moore, Assistant Sec. Dr. Holbrook, of Pittsburg, Pa., who had been employed as instructor of the Institute, was then introduced by Mr. Evans. The instructor made an address and gave an outline of his plan for the work in the afternoon. The institute then adjourned to meet at 1:30 p. m.

AFTERNOON.

Institute was called to order by Dr. Holbrook. He gave a talk in which he said: "The essentials in school are recitation, study and drill. The study is the place where the pupils need help. The teacher should not do for the pupil what he can do for himself."

Recs. Music. The subject, "Physical Power in the Mental World" was discussed by the instructor. In his talk he presented the idea that the way to discover the mind is to study it through the manifestations of the mind of the child. Topic:—Give an ungraded school, housed in an unattractive and ill-kept school building; grounds unadorned, unfenced and untidy; in a community of lack of care and system abundant; parents and pupils apathetic. What means could an energetic teacher use to improve the condition and advance the interests of the pupils in his charge?

Mr. Chittenden opened the discussion and said he would use every possible means to get the control of the school. He would take care of his part of the school and continually give them something to keep them interested.

Mr. Hina said he endorsed what Mr. Chittenden said. We must try to interest the children and the parents will become interested through them.

Mr. Evans said the central thought was to make the child your friend. It is through the child the work is to earn it and let the child see it. Then the problem will be solved. Announcements made, the Institute then adjourned.

Prof. Conter, of Princeton, is in attendance, and that means added interest to the work.

Mr. Percell and wife, nee Miss Martha Graham, attended Tuesday's session. They have been teaching at Huntingdon, Tenn., but expect to return to Kentucky this fall. Both have built up splendid reputations as teachers, and the school that secures them will be fortunate.

Many years have gone by since the Institute was inaugurated, but the faces of the teachers are as bright and young—upon the average perhaps younger—than at the first session. It has been said that the king never dies, and it seems to be equally as true in this section that the teacher never grows old.

Dr. Holbrook as a conductor of the Institute is measuring up to all that was expected of him, and that is saying a great deal, for the teachers of the county anticipated something beyond the usual in this work and the strong man they were looking to is giving them new ideas, firing them with new zeal and inculcating a higher, broader and deeper conception of the great work of teaching.

Tuesday afternoon the Institute adjourned to the opera house, and held a Fourth of July meeting. Patriotic addresses were delivered by Dr. Holbrook, Wallace Franklin and others.

A Broom FOR THE BLOOD

is as necessary as a broom for the house. For in the blood accumulate the germs of disease which, if not swept away, become manifest in boils, blotches, sores, ulcers, eruptions, eczema, tetter, and like diseases, that flay the flesh and scar the skin.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

of all diseases that begin in the blood. What other medicines drive in, Ayer's Sarsaparilla drives out. Where other medicines make a surface show of health by cleansing the skin, Ayer's Sarsaparilla lays the foundation of health by cleansing the blood. It is conceded that the larger portion have their origin in impure blood. Cleanse the blood and you cleanse the skin. Foul blood cannot make a fair body. The shortest way to a sound body, a clear complexion, and a vigorous life, is to purify the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

"I can truly say that Ayer's Sarsaparilla saved my life after doctoring for years for blood poisoning. Not one bit of help in any way, shape, or manner did I receive before, by advice of a friend, I took Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It made me a new man, and completely cured me."

"Last year I was badly troubled with boils which I could not get rid of, until I procured Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Two bottles relieved me of my tormentors, and they have never made their appearance since."

"Five years ago my little boy became blind from the effects of scrofula. Our doctor failed to help him. We began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla and two bottles cured him."

"After six years' suffering from blood poisoning, I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and although I have used only three bottles of this great medicine, the sores have nearly all disappeared."

"I was afflicted with catarrh for a number of years, none of the doctors being able to help me. When almost hopeless of cure, a friend advised me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and after using only three bottles, the cure was effected, and today I am perfectly healthy."

RUCHTER'S PAINT

Is the Most Durable Paint Made.

We cannot emphasize this fact too strongly that its durability is greater than any other paint made, owing to the pure pigments, and being a pure linseed oil paint. It is not to be classed with the "ready mixed" paint, it is to be used in the same manner as pure white lead. It successfully resists fire, it renders wood coated with it fire resisting. These to points make it

Superior to All Others.

And it is cheaper too. If you have painting to do, see our agent and get prices.

Prof. C. B. Hatfield, principal of one of the Paducah schools, was in town Monday. He is Grand Commander of the Golden Cross, and during the summer months looks after the interest of that well known order.

T. S. CROFT DEAD

An Old Land Mark Passed Peacefully Away Yesterday.

Mr. Thomas S. Croft died at his home in Tolu yesterday morning at 1 a. m., after an illness of some days. He was one of the oldest and best known citizens of the county. He was in his 79th year and had resided in that section of the county for about, perhaps, forty years. Industrious, frugal and thrifty he began life a poor man, and died perhaps the wealthiest man in the county. His wife and six children survive him—Mrs. G. B. Crawford and Mrs. W. E. Dowell, and Messrs. P. B. and J. B. Croft, of Tolu; and Mrs. J. O. Dixon and Mrs. Yates, of this place—all among the best people of the county. The funeral took place at the residence in Tolu, and the remains were interred in the family cemetery on the Croft farm.

HENRY ROBINSON

Is Nominated for the Legislature By the Populist

Saturday the Populists of Crittenden and Livingston counties held a delegate convention at Hampton and nominated Henry Robinson for the Legislature. The nominees is a well known farmer near Hampton. He went to school in Marion several years ago, and has served his district as magistrate.

Miss Payne's Entertainment.

Miss Myballe Payne and pupils of Hampton, gave a recital at the opera house Friday night. They did not have a large crowd but these present appreciated the efforts of the most excellent young people from our neighboring town. Miss Payne's recitations were good; she has easy, natural poise on the stage and a splendid conception of the authors. In the pantomime, "Nearer My God to Thee," Misses Ruby Mizell and Inez Nelson were accurate and graceful. The aesthetic drill, "Scar's Fantasies," by Misses Nola McCord, Inez Nelson, Maggie Mahan, Maud and Nettie Lasher, Etta Price, Ruby Mizell, Linnie Cresswell and Maybelle Payne was decidedly the best feature of the entertainment. The figures formed by the various groupings of the young ladies were pretty and striking, the graceful handling of the scarves was pleasing; the costumes of pink, the fresh, handsome faces and graceful movements added charm to the affair.

Why Is He?

At the county poor house an old man named Richard Williams is dying. He says his mother was a sister of Gen. R. B. Lee, the great southern chieftain.

Mr. Williams came here a few days ago from Tolu, Crittenden county, in search of relatives, and failing to find them he was admitted to the county home. Dr. Pendley the county physician, says he will hardly survive the day.

He was once well-to-do, so he says, but misfortune came, and a few years ago he was paralyzed. He now has absolutely no use of his lower limbs. Persons who know something of his history say there is no doubt of his relationship to Gen. Lee—Paducah News.

New Railroad.

Mr. J. W. Gues, of Tolu, was in town Monday, and in an interview the Press found him very much interested in the talked-of railroad from Harrisburg, Ill., via Elizabethtown, Ill., Tolu, Ky., to Marion. He says Chicago capital is interested to some extent in the matter and he thinks that, if the country to be traversed by the proposed road, will show the proper interest, the enterprise will assume tangible shape. The distance from Harrisburg to Marion is said to be fifty-two miles, and the country along the route, for miles on either side is without any railroad facilities whatever, and it is furthermore a fine agricultural region and its exports in this line alone, to say nothing of the varied mineral interests that would be developed by a road, would be an item worth the serious consideration of capital.

COURT NOTES.

Berry Goes the Pen—Twenty-Four Indictments.

Mollie Wilson was adjudged to be of unsound mind and an idiot, and T. Wilson was appointed committee for her.

Mary Martha Travis was adjudged to be of unsound mind and an idiot, and T. C. Campbell was appointed committee for her.

In the case of the commonwealth against Frank Deboe, for shooting in sudden heat and passion, the jury could not agree and was discharged and the case continued until the next term.

The case of the commonwealth against Ben King confederating, was continued by the defendants.

In the case of the commonwealth against Frank Jacobs, charged with shooting Tom Gillespie, the jury could not agree and was discharged, and the case continued until next term.

In the case of the commonwealth against Victor Hurst, charged with robbery, the jury returned a verdict of acquittal.

Pete Paris, breach of peace, fined $20.

When the case of the commonwealth against Ransom Lofton, charged with house burning, was called the commonwealth's attorney dismissed it for re-submission to the grand jury and the witnesses were directed to appear before the grand jury.

The grand jury adjourned Tuesday after returning twenty-four indictments as follows:

Breaking into store 1.

Cutting in sudden heat and passion 2.

Malicious cutting with intent to kill 1.

House burning 1.

Breach of peace 3.

Firing deadly weapon at random on public highway 3.

TRAGEDY AT CERRULEAN

Woman Is Found Dead of a Pistol Wound—Man Arrested.

Hopkinsville, Ky., July 4.—Mrs. Sallie Wilson, a widow 25 years old, was found dead in her room at Cerrulean Springs today, with an empty pistol at her side and a wound in her breast, near the heart.

It was supposed that she committed suicide, but at the corner's inquest circumstances were brought to light that led to the arrest of James Bush, a neighbor, charged with the murder.

Bush admits that he was present when the shot was fired, but he swears the woman killed herself. He is in jail at Cadiz, pending an investigation.

District Conference.

The District Conference held at Careville adjourned Friday. Rev. J. W. Hopper, the evangelist, asked to be recommended for re-admission to the annual conference and, though there was some opposition, a majority of the votes were cast for him and he will probably become a member of the Louisville Conference.

Messrs. J. W. Gues, J. A. Akin, H. C. Cobb and A. B. Phipps were elected delegates to the annual conference.

Glenn's Chapel, Lyon county, was selected for the next meeting of the district conference.

Shady Grove, July 3.—Editor of Press—Let me say through the columns of your valuable paper that our District Conference was a success, though not as large attendance as I have seen. Most of the preachers were present and made reasonable good reports. Some churches being built in the district. Your scribe hopes to have our church at Rose Bud dedicated between this and conference; it will be a gem when completed. Another beautiful feature about the conference it was exceedingly harmonious. The Holy Spirit manifested himself in the greatest power of any district conference I ever attended in this district.

I was forcibly reminded of our Henderson district conference held under the wise management of Rev. G. H. Hayes, who, while delivering an exhortation, the Holy Spirit manifested his presence in great power. On Friday morning at our prayer services we had a great manifestation of the Holy Spirit's presence. Let us pray that peace and harmony may prevail the remaining portion of the conference year, and seal our ministry with many souls. Yours in Christ, E. D. Boggess.

Tender Words Go Astray

Stereoscopic Lectures as the Tall to Faintly

THE Brooklyn school-teacher stumbled through the darkness to a seat in the rear right of the middle aisle, guided by the usher's hand. He had told her that it was impossible to give her the seat her numbered check called for, because once the stereoscopic views began the theater was entirely darkened, and must remain so until the finish. The Brooklyn girl didn't care, for she could see as well from one part of the house as the other, and she was vastly interested in the subject of the lecture, "The Grand Canyon of Colorado."

A beautiful view of a sandstone desert was dissolving from the screen as she took her seat and the lecturer's voice sounded through the darkness in a somewhat dreary monotone, as a mighty cliff broke out upon the screen with magnificent distinctness followed by a low clapping of hands from the audience.

"Here," said the lecturer, "we see one of those wonderful works of nature before the majesty of which we pause awestruck and awe-stricken, conscious of the littleness of man, his aims, hopes and accomplishments. This giant cliff has calmly ascended its sentinels after some upheaval of nature, maybe centuries ago. Observe the—"

Just then the Brooklyn girl was disturbed by the sound of some one cautiously making his way in her direction. She knew it was a man by the way he stumbled over his feet, and she put out her hand instinctively to prevent him from stepping or sitting upon her. Suddenly she felt her hand grasped convulsively, and a boyish voice, husky and muffled, sounded close to her ear. "Great Scott, Jessie, I've had the most dreadful time finding this seat in the dark! The usher said it was none; that people who came in late had to sit wherever they could. You can imagine how I felt after sending you the check for the seat next mine. I told him I had a right to meet somebody, and he said that was all right; I could meet them after the lecture. He wasn't on, you see. Gee! Oh, Jessie, I'm so glad I found you! You don't know—"

"Hush!" said the Brooklyn girl. She realized that he had made a mistake and took her for some one else; but she was not going to whisper explanations in a young man's ear, and if he talked loud he would disturb everybody. Besides, if this impetuous youth found that it wasn't really Jessie, he would climb over the whole audience looking for her. So she said "Hush!" and she clasped her hand more tenderly.

A beautiful view of a river seething between two rocky walls burst into view. "Here," said the lecturer, "the great torrent, imprisoned in its rocky cell hundreds of feet deep, bursts into light, boiling in a whirlpool of light and color and life ere it leaps into the under canyon. The small speck of yellow light in the lower left-hand corner of the view indicates the last view of the same stream that the traveler enjoys before it disappears in its rocky bed thousands of feet below."

"Speak to me, Jessamine," said the young man next the Brooklyn girl in a lower and hoarser tone than before. "You are so unlike yourself to-day. If you knew how hard it was for a fellow to get seats since the boys got on to this! Why, there's a bigger rush for tickets than if it were a Yale-Princeton game. This house is full of Columbia men. I can smell Boardman's cigarettes right around here somewhere. He paid $2 for two seats and—"

"Hush!" said the Brooklyn girl. "I don't know what you mean. I can't hear the man. Keep still." She muttered what she said in a whisper so low that she didn't know her own voice.

"Hush!" chuckled the young man. "Just as though you cared for the old lecture! Just as though any of us cared! Do you think Goit Baxter comes here for the lecture? Ha! ha!"

"Why, didn't I tell you how he discovered this game? Goit Baxter, 1901, is the Columbus of Columbia! He's engaged to a Barnard girl, only her folks don't know it; neither do his. She's not allowed to speak to any of the fellows; that is, walk home from school or anything. Well, Baxter's father gave

"Now, ladies and gentlemen," began the lecturer, "I will ask you to step with me into the lower valley of the Red river. Notice the curiously colored bowlders rising at either side of the stream, which here seems clear and placid, although its depth is over 1,000 feet. Here to the right you see the celebrated Red Indian rock, where you will notice the perfect outline of an Indian stretched at full length, as though upon a bier. While we do not pretend to reproduce faithfully the wonderful facts that Artist Nature has so lavishly spread upon this scene, you can get a very clear idea of the glittering sulphurous yellow, the emerald greens and the diamond-like glints of white in these stones, the like of which are not to be found the world over. The solitary horseman that you see looking across the landscape as though—"

"Jessie," said the voice in the ear of the Brooklyn girl. It was a commanding whisper this time.

"Sh!" she whispered back. "Be quiet!"

"Praising on to this peaceful camp where we stop for the night under the friendly stars of the far-off sky!"—sounded the lecturer's voice.

"Jessie!"

"What? Sh! Stop!"

"You're not wearing any ring? What does that mean? Have you taken it off? Have you ceased to—"

"Sh! Keep still. I want to listen—"

"You're evading my question. I believe you are—"

"From the top of this slight elevation we now command a superb view of the surrounding country for many miles, enhanced by the first rays of the sun. You who look upon this beautiful picture can share our feelings, although you cannot share our mat of lichen and eggs prepared by the faithful Nandy whom you see in this corner of the screen." (Laughter.)

"Where is the ring?"

"I left it on the washstand. Sh!"

"On the washstand? And that is all you care? Don't you care, Jessie?"

"No. Keep still, won't you? Sh!"

"Don't you know you are disturbing everybody? Stop!"

"What is the matter with you to-day?"

"Hush!" said the lecturer, "we come to a stretch of landscape, which, after the turbulent majesty of the great river and the silent grandeur of the mountains, seems like an oasis of rest and beauty. Here we tether our tired horses and spread our tents for camp. Observe the young man in the upper left of the picture bearing aloft the spoils of triumph, a fresh trout that he has just caught in the little stream that you see glistening among the rocks."

"Isn't that pretty?" whispered the girl.

"What do I care for that when you—oh, Jessamine!"

"Oh, will you hush? I'm not Jessamine!"

"Oh, rats!"

"All right; you'll see when the lights go up. I'm some one else altogether."

"I'd know your voice in a thousand!"

"Ha, ha! Ha, ha, ha!"

"What are you laughing at?"

"Oh—hush—stop! Ha, ha! Ha, ha!"

"I must request the ladies and gentlemen of the audience to observe quiet."

"The lecturer, while I am securing the close of these truly remarkable views. From the standpoint of a traveler, as well as from that of a photographer, one must—"

"Ha, ha! Ha, ha, ha!"

"Keep still, Jess. They're getting on to your laughing. What's the joke?"

"Just wait. This is too funny for anything!"

"Next lecture is Tuesday. Will you be here?"

"And now, ladies and gentlemen, I will thank you for your kind attention and will bid you good afternoon."

And as the lights flared up to show music the husky young man from Columbia discovered why he had missed Jessie's ring.—N. Y. Sun.

A Bad Lot.

An M. P. tells a good story of an out-of-the-way country clergyman, who did not keep up to date in what was going on in the world. One Sunday he asked his sexton: "Is the prayer for parliament to be used to-day? Is parliament still sitting?"

The sexton's reply came pat and prompt: "Well, sir, I don't know; but anyhow, better pray for them, for they're a precious bad lot!"—Tit-Bits.

THE NEXT FRUIT CROP.

Outlook is Not Quite as Disheartening as It Would Appear to Most on First Thought.

The coming season will not be as noted for its abundant crop of fruit as last. The excessively cold winter has killed so many trees and vines that we can hardly expect to have much more than a half or three-quarters of a crop, and in some localities even less. Consequently there was never a season when more attention was needed in the orchard, for by giving better culture to the fruit it is possible to make some amends for nature's shortcomings. There is always one redeeming feature about a small crop. Prices are apt to be higher, and this sometimes brings them up to a point where profits are more satisfactory. In years of excessive fruit yields the profits to the growers have more than once been so small that they hardly paid for the time and labor bestowed upon their culture. A smaller crop with better prices may not be so good to the consumer, but it is apt to be better for the farmers' pocketbooks. Thus the outlook for fruit growing this year may not be quite as bad as would appear at first thought.

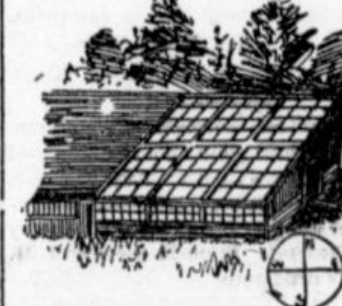

But there is need of preparation for it. More than ever it is necessary to give the trees and vines good cultivation, and protect them from the ravages of insects and diseases. There is probably no orchard where the culture is so good that it could not be improved a little. By studying the trees carefully, and giving the best attention to the fewer number of trees that have withstood the cold, we can surely increase the yield to some extent. The outlook is not a matter for sorrow or regret so much as it is one for renewed effort to better culture.

In the first place it will pay to go through the orchard and cut out all except the trees that promise a fair crop. This is no time to nurse half-dead trees. Either cut them back, or dig them up and replace them with others, and then give all the attention to the remainder. Sometimes there is life in a tree, which will spring up and thrive if the tree is cut back enough, but if left just as it is it will exhaust itself trying to distribute itself over a wide area. The pruning knife is sometimes the best friend in a season like this.—C. S. Walters, in Journal of Agriculture.

SIMPLE GREENHOUSE.

A Structure Which Enables Gardeners to Get Considerable Space at a Low Cost.

Probably the most satisfactory low-cost greenhouse for forcing vegetables is found in the form of a half-span house facing the south or southeast, and having a comparatively flat roof composed of movable earth or movable sash. The front wall of the house also to be partly glass, in order to give abundant light to the front bed or bench. A house of this character, and of moderate size, may be roofed with two rows of sashes seven feet long, the lap or junction of the two sashes in the center of the roof being supported by a wooden girder formed of a piece of three by four stuff resting on posts, the latter being spaced about eight feet apart. This length of roof would give a house nearly 15 feet in width, with front wall five feet high and back wall 7½ feet, and may be divided into three beds or benches of convenient width for working.—Rural New Yorker.

HORTICULTURAL HINTS.

We do not advise extensive melon culture, as the markets in summer are usually glutted with melons.

Sweet corn comes up much sooner if it is soaked over night in warm water, and the crop is fit for use just that much sooner.

Potatoes grow better if planted before beginning to sprout. The second sprouts that start are not so strong as the first.

If the trees need pruning, it is easier to prune as soon as necessary than it is after several seasons of neglect.

Potatoes will make good use of a large quantity of coarse manure, whether it is plowed under or put on the land after planting.

It is a good plan to mulch raspberries, as it has been shown that mulched plants will produce much better berries than those left unprotected by drying winds.—Western Farmer.

Black Knot in Plums.

Before warm weather comes all the plum trees should be looked over, and any that show marks of black knots that indicate black knot should be removed with a sharp knife and the wound washed with carbolic acid solution or some other antiseptic. In fact, it is a good plan to spray plum trees with a carbolic acid solution, made one part of carbolic acid to 2,000 parts of water. This will remain on the spores which are dormant during the winter until they burst their bounds and begin to spread the disease over the trees. The solution named is much stronger than can be applied after the foliage is in its tender growth.

What is Kodol Dyspepsia Cure? It is the newly discovered remedy, the most effective preparation ever devised for aiding the digestion and assimilation of food, and restoring the deranged digestive organs to a natural condition. It is a discovery surpassing anything yet known to the medical profession.

The Philippine and Hawaiian Islands add about 75,000,000 acres to the public domain, and Special Agent Doyle, of the Land Office, just back from the islands, says these lands will be open to subjects of the United States through a homestead scheme.
