LOCAL AFFAIRS.

OHIO RIVER ASSOCIATION.

Local Option Resolution Passed by that Large Body.

The Ohio River Association was held at Good Hope, Livingston county, last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. All of the thirty-one churches were represented and the attendance was large. Mr. G. N. McGrew was re-elected Moderator and Rev. J. S. Miller Secretary. The reports were all encouraging, showing that the work within the bounds of the association was in a prosperous condition. Rev. J. S. Henry was elected as the delegate to the Southern Baptist Convention; he was also chosen to preach the introductory sermon at the next association.

A resolution pledging the association to support no candidate for the legislature who would not support a local option bill, was passed.

Callwell Springs was chosen as the place for holding the association next year.

One of the interesting personages at the association was J. B. Wakem, a young Syrian, who came to the country from near Mt. Lebanon, 150 miles north of Jerusalem, eight years ago. He is a student in the Baptist college at Russellville. He proposes, when his education is finished, to return and carry the gospel to his people in Syria. He was one of the foremost men in his section, prominent in church affairs, prominent as a Mason and active in all enterprises that tended to build up his community and county—he was a useful man, respected and admired. Hughes who was also on the shanty boat is charged with a similar offense, but he placed $100 in cold cash in the hands of a friend, and the latter guaranteed to the sheriff that Mr. Hughes would be on hands for a trial.

They were before Judge [Rochester] Tuesday and the cases were continued until Sept. 1. Six more warrants were issued for Hughes, his bondsmen gave him up and he took a room at castle de Hard.

A CRITTENDEN BOY.

Writes From the Firing Lines in the Philippines.

The Filipinos Show No Quarter to the American Soldier.

MANILA, P. I., July 13, 1899.

My Dear Brother:—I received your letter yesterday. Was glad to hear from home. I am in good health; it is healthier here than in Cuba. We are camped out about seven miles from Manila and one mile from San Pedro, which is a small village. Everything is quiet at present, but we are only waiting for the rainy season to pass. The negroes are easy to start, the worst thing is to get in shooting distance of them. They are a bad set to fool with but when we get through with them I think they will be tame. Our men occupy San Fernando, and the negroes are building treaches on the outside of town. We just let them build, and when they open fire on us what we will do will be a plenty, and don't you forget it. This is a more beautiful place than Cuba, but I shall be glad when I get away.

The rain is something awful here; it rained 77 inches here in 36 hours. How is this for rain? There is lots of rice raised here, and the rice fields are full of water, but we cross them just the same. We had a few rounds yesterday; fired fifty rounds. We expect the biggest fight at San Fernando.

Yes, Gen. Wheeler is coming. I hope soon. It is a shame the way this war is going on. When we get those devils where we could whip them we get the order to cease firing. The negroes wear white suits under their uniforms, and when they get left or when we get things too hot for them they pull off their uniforms, and then "Muchie Anego Friend" you know and we are not permitted to shoot one with white clothes on. But if one of those white devils gets a chance at one of our men they kill him and cut him to pieces.

This is the fault of the people in the United States. They say they want to civilize the poor things, and every time they can they kill our men and cut their hearts out. If some of those people were here they would not say civilize them, they would say kill all of them and get rid of them.

When we capture prisoners they are searched and sent back to their army. There is about 50,000 of the enemy, and they have 30,000 rifles, and as soon as one is shot another is ready to seize his gun and continue their savage work. This is where the greatest trouble lies, and the way the Eighth Army Corps is conducted over here is a disgrace to our country, and those "leather heads" in Washington are to blame for it all.

The guns are booming now but they are about ten miles from here. They may force those negroes down into our ranch, and I hope they will; we will give them a few 13 pounders. When I aim my cannon I intend for it to kill and not to scare. When we capture their wounded they are put in our hospital and given the same treatment our men get.

All the boys want to see General Miles come; he is the only one. The guns are booming faster and faster now. Let them come it is just like going to breakfast. But I had rather not see our men butchered up in this way in rain and mud. It does me good to get a fair shot at them and see the schrapnel burst about their heads in front of them. Then I know some of those negroes are bitting dust to pieces, and I feel pretty sure they will never fire at another American soldier.

U. S. offers transportation for those here to where we enlisted if we re-enlist here; if not of course to the nearest American port. I love money but I love life much better. I'll never enlist here.

Everything is high here. Paper is high and we can't get any except what is sent to us by the Young Men's Christian Association of California. Beer is 40 cents a glass; of course this is only hard on beer drinkers, but many other things are high in proportion. We have not been paid since we left the United States. Some of our men have been here until they are worn out with the mud, rain and heat.

Stopped the Backache. A R. Bass, Morgantown, Ind., writes I was afflicted with kidney disease and had to stop up just often during the night and suffered severe pains in kidney and backache. I used Foley's Kidney Cure, after taking it a few days I am entirely cured. Put up by R. F. Haynes.

To Patrons of Marion Graded School

Your school is five years old. Every year it has grown. Last year the enrollment was five less than the hundred. Of course outside attendance ran the pupils up. But you also ran it up. You have kept your children here with the exception of some few children that were over fourteen years of age, and some children who had graduated in Common School, every child on census list was here, so far as we could find. What is splendid. Let us congratulate each other. But let us not be satisfied. The past can not support us. The future must find every one of your children of school age, in school. Exception, those graduating in High School, and those who do not control. Why do I say must? Because best interests of child demand it. Because the worth of an education to secure bread and butter in life demands it. Because advancement, that which begets wealth but which wealth alone can not beget, best, easiest living demands it. To make your child no man's nor condition's servant, to furnish him with the only key that opens every door of society, to give him something better than wealth, that which begets wealth but which wealth alone can not beget, that which begets more staid, more plain, every day truths demand that you must send your children to school. Let every patron in September remember, let others do as they please, but I shall see that my children are at the school every day. Some people can be selective with their money and send their children away, or let them idle about upon the streets or at home, but I want to say to you, regardless of over one hundred pupils here, we want to say to you, regardless of some statements, we should make this a college with this department and that course of study, we say emphatically you pay the taxes that keep it going, and it will never, it must never, have any other aim than serving the public, and being a public school. We are for your children first. Others next. We wake the course of study to suit your child. If it serves others who wish to come, let them come. But a Public School, a Common School, a school for the people of Marion District, we are from foundation to town clock, and shall ever be, until you see fit to change it, which we hope will never be. The public generally and our patrons in particular are cordially invited to be with us at the opening—Monday, Sept. 4, 1899.

BROWN OPENS.

Free Transportation and Free Meals Given Only 600 People.

TO HEAR THE L. AND N. BOLTER.

Bowling Green, Ky., Aug. 26.—Although the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company distributed free tickets in all the counties adjacent to Warren, the friends of ex-Gov. John Young Brown were disappointed today because of an actual attendance of not exceeding 600 at the formal opening of his campaign in this city, which has been called the hot-bed of the revolting Democrats.

Of the 600 who attended, over 400 according to a count made by a committee sent to the depot especially for the purpose, came from adjacent counties, leaving not more than 200 from Warren. The applause was strained and forced, except two or three times, when the Brown men showed short lived enthusiasm. The committee that counted the arrivals made the following reports: From Logan and Todd counties, 150, about one third of whom were Republicans; from Simpson county, about 250, of whom 150 were for Goebel, while sixty were Republicans and about forty for Brown, from the noon train from Louisville, twenty-eight.

Brown's speech was along about the same line as his Lexington effort, he denied, in part, the statement that he sought the nomination of the Louisville convention. His denial however, is about as weak as his denial of the statement he made to Frank Peak that he would make speeches for the Louisville ticket.

James H. Webb, proprietor of the Rauscher House here, stated this afternoon in the presence of Dr. J. N. McCormick and a number of other reputable gentlemen that he had paid $125 for it by a representative of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company.

It is reported by way of Vienna that a deputation of American merchants has left Manila for the United States to promote a scheme for ceding the Philippines to Great Britain.

His Life Was Saved. Mr. J. E. Lilly a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately made a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, than ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I could not even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Troubles. Regular size 60 cents and $1. Trial bottle free at J. H. Orme's drugstore; every bottle guaranteed.

DEBILITATED well adapted to the cure of fevers of all kinds, because it thoroughly cleanses the stomach and bowels of all bilious humors, and expels all impure secretions of the body. Price 50c at Orme's drugstore.

It has developed that the Colored Baptist Association of Kentucky, which met at Paris last week, adopted resolutions denouncing the separate coach law and virtually pledging the members of the association to vote for no candidate who does not favor its repeal. A committee was appointed to confer with the various candidates for State office.

BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT gives instant relief in cases of Biting, Burns, Bruises, Scalds, Cuts, etc. Price 25c and 50c at Orme's drugstore.

The Book Bill.

The fight or rather the attempted fight against the China school book bill reminds us of the story of the old farmer and the young lawyer. The farmer's son was charged with misconduct of some nature and had been hustled off to jail. The father called upon a lawyer for counsel and help in his hour of trouble. He stated his case to the lawyer, and the latter with the eloquence of a Clay, and the wisdom of a Solomon proceeded to lighten the mental burdens of his client by explaining that there was nothing in the charges, absolutely nothing; little or no fighting would be necessary, no disgrace would follow, for the young man could not possibly be put in jail upon such a flimsy case. The client did not seem to be relieved by this flow of eloquence or this living book of proverbs but insisted upon immediate action and plenty of it. The lawyer insisted that no hurry was necessary as no danger was ahead, and it was preposterous for the father to entertain for a single moment the idea that the young man would be imprisoned, for it could not possibly be done. "But," said the old man, "law or no law, preposterous or otherwise, by the great horn spoon, it can be done, for he is already in jail."

So it is with the opponents of the book bill. They say we can not possibly have cheaper books under the proposed law, they talk fluently of monopolies forming, if the measure is adopted, and in glittering, but empty generalities try to satisfy the demands of the people for relief from the book trust by proposals of vague and expensive schemes, wholly impracticable, and always wind up with the statement that it can't be done under the China bill, when, dear reader, if you will step across into Indiana, you will find that it has already been done, and there you can buy almost the identical books used in Kentucky for from one-half to one third less than you can here, and returning with these books under your arm you can answer the arguments of the enemy as the old farmer silenced the loquacious young lawyer, "monopolies or no monopolies, by the great horn spoon, it can be done, for it is already done in an adjoining State."

This law has given relief, satisfactory relief, in one State, why not profit by that State's experience, instead of running off after new schemes or talking about the State spending hundreds of thousands of dollars for printing outlaws and creating scores of new offices and new office holders, the whole to be purchased and supported by taxation and managed in the usual extravagant way that characterizes most of the public institutions? The China bill will do the work, the Democratic candidate for Governor is pledged to that measure, and don't he generally get what he goes after, if he has half a chance? Elect him, along with a Democratic legislature, and this time next year you will be buying school books for your children just as cheap as they are buying them in Indiana, and the people of the State will have from $500,000 to $700,000 in their pockets that will otherwise be in the coffers of the American Book Co., to assist the concern in defraying the expense of their lobbyists at Frankfort, who are commissioned to defeat all such measures as the China bill, and who generally accomplish their mission by suggesting some impracticable scheme and thus dividing even those who honestly seek reform.

No measure is likely to be perfect at the beginning and a slick tongue and fertile brain can make even the blue arch of heaven appear hideous for a time. The course to pursue is to attach yourself to the most promising measure offered and stand by it through evil as well as good report, until it is made to grow from good to better until it arrives at a point as near perfection as human law may reach.

The China law has been put to the test in other States and met the requirements. The party and its candidates are pledged to pass and put it in operation in Kentucky. At the head of the party is a man noted for his ability to secure legislation. Will you stand with thelparty and get some practicable, tangible benefits from it, or will you run off and play with the Brownies, gnomes and hobgoblins and keep your fingers at the opportunities

"The people of this country," said Senator Morgan the other day, "are satisfied with the results already accomplished and to be accomplished by the Philippine war. They are determined to press it to a successful conclusion."

When did the PEOPLE of this country have anything to say about the matter, much less express a determination to continue to shoot down Filipinos. Bill Simpkins and his boys from Hog Eye, were in town Saturday, and they had not a word to say. Johnnie Smythe and his two son-in-laws from Pine Knob called Monday, and they didn't say a "durn" word; Billye Jeems, from Paw-paw Branch, with three neighbors, recently from Illinois, dropped in Tuesday and wanted to know when they were going to stop this blasted war, and thus we might go on ad infinitum mentioning the REAL PEOPLE, the bone and sinew of the country, the men whose names make up the poll tax list and who answer "here" when the road overseer calls the roll, and it would be about the same thing. What's true of the people in this county is likewise true of them in other counties of the State; what's true in this State, is true of the people in other States, and we would like to know what folks Senator Morgan refers to when he uses the phrase: "The people of this country." If he refers to the masses, to the plain people, the people who bear the burdens in war as well as in peace, he is "talking through his hat," for they have had nothing to do with the Philippine war, except chip in, each his mite, to pay the expense, and seven out of every ten are not satisfied with the results to date, and the only thing they have "determined" is that they would rejoice to see the affair ended without another death. But if Mr. Morgan refers to our very dear friend Mark Hanna as "the people of this country," and we opine that he does, his remarks are pre-eminently proper. But we do protest against the Senator's careless way of using the term, "the people," as it is calculated to cause misunderstandings. "The people," are the fellows who carried the muskets in the ranks, the fellows who gin out the sawdust sprouts with the grubbing hoe, the folks who pull the bell-cord over the mules in the spring, dissect the tobacco worm in the summer and haul in the corn in the fall, these with their household, including the editor who takes cord-wood and potatoes on subscription, are "the people," and Senator Morgan must not mis apply the ancient term indiscriminately to the modern product that sprung from a travesty upon the genius of our institutions.

Had Mr. Goebel "bowed the supple knee" to the L. and N. railroad, there would have been no bolt. But as he has not, and has always had the nerves to boldly and generally successfully fight that big corporation whenever it wherever it undertook to trample upon the rights of the people, we find that company, for the first time in Kentucky's history, openly and boldly taking a hand in affairs, and attempting to shape the destiny of the Democratic party. The Lexington convention was held at its instigation, and free passes were sent to such as would accept them and attend that so-called convention. Democrats will you fall in line with the corporations and trusts by supporting the Brown ticket, or will you follow the advice of the great champion of human liberty, W. J. Bryan, and vote for Wm. Goebel? Choose you this day whom you will serve.

Gen. S. B. Buckner has broken the satisfactory silence of Glen Lilly twice recently. Once to declare himself against the Democratic State ticket, and again last Thursday to let a waiting world know that he is still with the Morgan-Rothchild bond syndicate and opposed to bimetalists, whom he is pleased to call once more "aspiring political charlatans."

Is a State's honor in more danger of a tarnish from policemen in a convention hall to keep order than from a corporation seeking to effect the result of her elections by furnishing free passes, by the wholesale, to the delegates of a convention? It occurs to us that this question is not difficult to answer.

In Memory.

The subject of this sketch, sister Belle Crawford, was born in Hardin county, Ill., near Elizabethtown, on Jan. 23, 1857. Her maiden name was Hetherington; her father Richard Paxton Hetherington, was born near Edinburg, Scotland, hence sister Crawford was of true blue Scotch Presbyterian descent. She lived near Elizabethtown until her marriage to J. E. Crawford, Sept. 6, 1876, when she moved with her husband to their home in Livingston county, Ky., at or near Milford, where she spent the remainder of her life.

Sister Crawford professed religion at the age of sixteen and joined the M. E. church in which she lived until after her marriage when she took her letter from that church and joined the C. P. church, in which she lived a consistent member until the Master called her from her labor and toil to reward and crown above, which event occurred on July 21, 1899. Sister Crawford was a kind and affectionate companion, a tender and loving mother and an accommodating and obliging neighbor and a consistent church member.

Sister Crawford was the mother of six children, who are all living to mourn her loss. She has four brothers and four sisters to mourn her loss.

Sad, sad, was the parting indeed, but dear husband and children and brothers and sisters and friends, while we are sad and mourn over her great loss, let us cheer and comfort our hearts with the happy thought that she has just "passed over the river and is resting under the trees," for she called her children around her and told them to meet her in heaven, so may "God of all grace" so influence the hearts of all the children and brothers and sisters so to live, that when they and we have finished our course here on earth we may meet her in that happy land where parting will be no more.

When we meet with holy joy, No thoughts of parting come, But never ending ages still, Will find us all at home.

J. B. Lowery.

In Memory.

Mrs. Susan Campbell, wife of D P Campbell, was the daughter of Thomas and Harriet Lott a well known family of this county. She was born Jan. 7, 1837 in this, then Livingston county, KENTUCKY.

She was one of the most amiable of her sex, and to know her was to love her.

She professed faith in Christ at one in April 1868, and was baptized into the fellowship of Sulphur Springs church in Oct. 1867, and lived a most devoted and Christian. In her trials and temptations with the fortitude of a true soldier of the Cross, until the captain of her salvation bade her lay her armor down Aug. 9, 1899.

She was wooed and won by the Rev. D. P. Campbell, of this county and on April 9, 1866, took the marriage vow which bound the two happy lives in one, until he who doth all things well bade them to separate. She was a true helpmate and the inestimable mother of eight children whom six are living. She lived to see them all happily married except her youngest daughter who is seventeen years of age, and all saved in Jesus name.

Although an incessant sufferer the most of her life from disease of the body, she bore her afflictions with unyielding patience, and when her fatal sickness came, and she was told that she could not recover, she was perfectly resigned to the will of her Master.

She was confined to her room and bed for about six months before the end came and was glad to lay this life down to be with loved ones on the other shore, where sickness and death is no more.

She leaves a husband and six children and a host of friends to mourn her loss. A Friend.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good looking, charming woman of a run down invalid. Only 60 cents at J. H. Orme's drugstore.

IN THE LEAD.

Reasons for Insuring in the Mutual Life of Kentucky. Because:

The Old Mutual Life Insurance Company of Kentucky stands as a rock wall of protection to her policy holders. She has more policy holders in Crittenden county than any other regular company doing business in the county.

She has paid more money to policy holders in the county than all the other companies combined.

She was the first company that ever issued an absolutely incontestable contract.

Her cash values are higher than those of any other company charging same rate of premium.

She pays all claims immediately upon receiving proofs of loss.

She is organized under the strongest laws of Kentucky and all her assets are invested in Kentucky.

She has given entire satisfaction to policy holders under all circumstances.

The company issues policies upon all the approved plans, and parties desiring insurance will find it to their interest to write or call upon W. L. Adams, agent, Marion, Ky., who will take great pleasure in explaining the policies fully to them.

OIL PROSPECTS.

Mineral Prospectors Find Evidence of the Presence of Oil.

Mr. W. D. Wallingford who is sinking a 6x8 foot shaft on his farm near town, to uncover any gold or silver ore that might be there, has found oil lurking in and around the rocks to such an extent that he thinks it possible to strike oil in paying quantities. His shaft is only twenty feet deep, and he will continue to go deeper.

Mr. R. E. Bigham who is uncovering a vein of spar near the I. C. depot, has detected the presence of oil and is hopeful of finding something more valuable than spar. His shaft is only 30 feet deep.

We learn that a couple of gentlemen representing an eastern company are in this section with a view of prospecting for oil. They came yesterday and went to the country at once. One of them was here several weeks ago and was so favorably impressed with the appearance of the country that he thought it worth his while to return. We are informed that they expect to look over the country from Crittenden Springs eastwards to the Trade-water coal fields.

Declines to Become a Candidate for the Legislature.

To my friends who have so earnestly solicited me to make the race for Representative, I desire to return to each of you my sincere thanks for your kindness in my behalf and for the support promised, if I would make the race. But my business is such that I could not close my office and make a thorough canvass of the district, as I believe should be done, so I will have to decline to enter the race, but shall ever feel grateful to my many friends who had pledged me their support.

MATTOON MILL BURNED.

A Seven Thousand Dollar Fire Sunday Morning.

The flouring mill of Mr. E. C. Moore at Mattoon, was destroyed by fire about 2 o'clock Sunday morning. When the fire was discovered the flames were shooting out the roof and there was no possibility of saving the building and the fine machinery which it contained. There is no way of accounting for the fire, the workmen were careful to leave everything in good shape when they quit work Saturday night.

The mill was erected two years ago, and was perhaps the finest small mill in Southern Kentucky. It was equipped with the very latest improved machinery throughout, and was erected at a cost of $7,000. Mr. Moore carried insurance upon it for $5,000. It is not known whether he will rebuild or not. The mill had a fine trade, and it is probable that if Mr. Moore does not re-build, some one else will.

C. L. A. H. Cardin, the well known Populist leader of Southern Kentucky came in from his farm Friday, and was discussing the political situation with friends. As is generally known he is the Populist nominee for State Treasurer, and his party added strength and standing to the personnel of the ticket by putting Col. Cardin's name thereon. For years he has been a faithful votary of that cause and has probably done more than any other man in Southern Kentucky for his party. His high standing as a man and a citizen and his earnestness in advocating his cause all make him eminently worthy of any honor his party has to bestow, and he has not been without these honors. He made a creditable showing as the nominee for governor several years ago; and is at present the National committee man for this State. While we disagree with him in some matters politically, we do not hesitate to say that he is a worthy gentleman and capable of discharging in the most creditable manner any of the duties of any office within the gift of the people of his State and so far as their nominee or Treasurer is concerned the Populists did themselves proud in selecting our respected fellow countryman.

Only eight persons gathered to assist in cleaning off the old cemetery Saturday. They were W. D. Haynes, G. W. Perry, H. L. Elder, and son, Wm. Johnson, W. N. Rochester, Dan Bigham and Glasgow Leigh. Mr. Terry reports that Mr. Harris and his good wife, who is the sister of Mr. Terry, are hale and hearty.

The camp-meeting at Hurricane is progressing satisfactorily, large crowds are attending, all the camps are full, and some tents have been spread. The order is excellent and the interest in the services is good. There has been a number of conversions. Among the preachers from a distance in attendance are Revs. Royster, Brandon, Smith, Niles, Breeding, Proctor and Butler.
