ISSUED WEEKLY.
R. C. WALKER, Publisher.
ONE YEAR ONE DOLLAR FOR REPRESENTATIVE.
We are authorized to announce
T. J. NICKEL
a candidate to represent Crittenden and Livingston counties in the next General Assembly of Kentucky. His candidacy is subject to the action of the Democratic party. Election November 1899.

It's the persistent, positive, earnest man that accomplishes things in this life; the man who has convictions and the courage and activity to impress himself upon those around. Luther might have nourished his ideas of reform from young manhood to old age, and remained in his native village unheard of in the ecclesiastical world; Napoleon might have dreamed of empires and armies in his Corsican home all his life, and never have been heard of in history; Jackson could have remained in the Presidential chair drawing his salary and discharging his routine duties without irritating old Nicholas Biddle and bringing on the great fight of the people against organized greed. Bryan might have remained in his Nebraska home a strong believer in bimetalism, and not bothered about the injustice being done the people. But none of these belonged to that class of men homily described as "knots upon a log." They had convictions, courage and activity, and while accomplishing something brought down upon themselves the maledictions of all who stood in their way. So it has been with Wm. Goebel; since he entered the State Senate, he has been active in fighting the encroachments of corporations upon the people's right, he has not been a "knot on a log," but a persistent, earnest, untiring friend of the people, and he has like Jackson and Bryan earned the enmity of the corporations, and they are fighting him with all the power at their command. Had he been good towards them, they would not be fighting him today, but the book-trust and the Louisville and Nashville railroad are camping on his trail.

Mr. Bryan has seen the nature of the fight, and appeals to Democrats to stand by Goebel. Will you follow Bryan or join in with the book-trust and the railroad?

As the brush and undergrowth has been cleared away, the new election law becomes understood and the people begin to see its merits. It was abused, misrepresented, misquoted and misconstrued by a subsidized press, until many people were so misinformed about its provisions that they did not like it, now that they are investigating for themselves, they find the law an improvement on the old. Under the old law where a county was in the hands of one party, the minority had no representation either in appointing the election officers, or canvassing the returns. Many counties were in that condition. The eleventh district was entirely in the hands of the Republicans; they appointed the election officers and canvassed the returns. The first district was in the hands of Democrats; they appointed the election officers and canvassed the returns. All through the State the same thing generally prevailed. There were partisan boards everywhere. If there was stealing in one district, the measure of relief the minority in that district had, was to retaliate in another district, and thus under the old law and the modern disposition of corporations and money kings to win at any hazard, the way was open for a contest of election frauds. Under the new law, with the minority represented on all the county boards, the opportunity for frauds are reduced. If the new law is not exactly what we want, it can be amended, and fair election had much easier than under the old law, where one county will have all Democrats, and another all Republicans.

As a usual thing politicians, especially those who are candidates for political offices, seek opportunities to make known and champion the tenets of their party, believing, as they should, that the enactment of their views and their party's teachings into law will be for the best interests of the whole people. Upon this sound theory Mr. Goebel and Mr. Taylor have been traversing the entire state, making known their positions on all questions of public interest, that the people might vote intelligently, knowing just what each candidate stood for and their respective champions have gloried in speaking to great crowds, announcing to the world their platform, as he viewed it, was superior to the other, and each trusting in the superiority of his doctrine for the victory in the approaching battle of the ballots. Man, as Mr. Bryan said, is but an atom; he is born, he acts, he dies, but the principles live.

forever. Hence the importance to the people of the position of the candidates on the great questions, and the fight is not one of man against man; but of platforms and ideas.

With this view of the situation the Press last week referred to the principles and ideas of the two contending candidates for the legislature, holding that as each candidate was a Christian gentleman, the personality of the candidates did not enter into the race; the doctrine for which each stood, the platform upon which each one based his hopes of success was the issue before the people. We are somewhat surprised that Rev. E. B. Blackburn should be irritated. We certainly treated him as fair as we treated Mr. Nickel. Rev. Blackburn is the regular nominee of the Republican party, nominated by a convention as regularly called and held as the one that nominated Mr. Taylor; he is on exactly the same platform, on the same ticket, and under the same device as Mr. Taylor. His record in the legislature shows that he is as staunch a Republican as Mr. Taylor. On every proposition he voted with his party. On every ballot for senator he was as true to his party as the needle to the pole, there was no variability nor shadow of changing, he voted against the man who represented the Democratic doctrine every time. He voted for every Republican nominee in the organization of the House, and notwithstanding his protestations at home growing out of a postoffice fight, he stood by Senator Deboe against Joe Blackburn. He did what he believed to be right, and the man who stands by his convictions ought to be proud of that fact, and not shrink from the enunciation of his course. That he will do the same thing again, if elected, he will not deny, and as a man seeking the suffrage of a people he proposes to represent, he should not shrink from the boldest and broadest investigation of his record, or the widest discussion of the platform upon which he stands. Under our form of government, every man can act up to Frankfort to cast his vote, and he wants to know how the man who proposes to represent him will cast it. There is nothing wrong in this, our government is based upon this very idea. There is no need to consult the individual in this case, we simply look to the platform. He stands upon it. He can not get away from it, and as a frank, fair man, he ought not to avoid it upon any occasion.

On all national issues Rev. Blackburn stands for the Republicans, and he will vote when it comes to the election of a United States Senator. On all state issues he stands with his party, or in accepting the nomination at its hands and stepping upon its platform, he does it an injustice. He is therefore opposed to Joe Blackburn or any other Democrat for the Senate.

The Chinn School Book Bill.
The McCord Bill.
The Election Bill.

His opponent champions every one of these, and the voter in the exercise of his suffrage votes for or against these measures in voting for representative.

There is another lively issue in this campaign; it won't hide away, it won't betake itself to the woods, but like Shakespeare's famous ghost it persists in stalking abroad. It frightens some statesmen, others meet it only on the dead quiet, and confine their remarks concerning it to a favored few and then only in whispers. It's the separate coach law. Mr. Taylor has boldly declared himself against the law compelling the railroads to furnish separate coaches for white and colored passengers. He says that it is unnecessary and unconstitutional. Mr. Goebel did not hesitate to state that he was for the law, but if he was elected governor he proposed to see that the roads furnished as good accommodations for their colored passengers as for their white, when each paid the same money for riding.

Now, how do the candidates for the legislature stand on this? It's an issue, a big one.

We presumed last week that each of the candidates for representative stood with his candidate for governor, and it's this presumption that has irritated our good friend, Bro. Blackburn, and he thinks the Press' remarks wholly gratuitous, and largely superfluous, and, perhaps, somewhat impertinent.

We regretted that we inadvertently troubled the placid waters, and when accused about it, proposed to sprinkle a barrel or two of oil upon the billows, if the aggrieved party would answer this question:

Will you, if elected to the legislature, and a bill is introduced to abolish the separate coach law, vote for or against that bill?

He declined to answer, and we most respectfully decline to believe that he holds views contrary to those of his candidate for governor.

In a conversation with the party on the train Mr. Bryan said: "While I was making the speech which secured my nomination at Chicago I could see but two faces before me, on account of the strong impression they made upon me. One was that of Gov. Hogg, of Texas, and the other that of Ollie James."

Now here is our esteemed friend and fellow citizen, Senator Deboe, who with two or three more of us is spending a few years on this mundane sphere solely for the benefit of those around, with our pleasure, comfort and aggrandizement as a mere incident in life, talking about blood. Rivers of blood, pure red blood, sometimes denominated gore. It seems that the Senator has the gift of prophecy; he comes forth from the old prophetic dispensation making an array of figures and guarantees the fulfillment of his predictions or warrants blood. Ordinarily "flowing blood" is a gruesome thing to contemplate, calling to mind the dark days of St. Bartholomew, or the gory period of the French revolution when the lives of men were given about the same consideration that Mark Hanna gives the right of Democrats, but we confess that this addition to the literature of the major prophets brings the average mind to the contemplation of a more modern period in human history than the sanguinary days of old. Inadvertently, the minds of the people of this section turn to the day the Senator held a convention in this county to get the sentiments of his party in the contest for the Republican nomination for governor. The voters came in and they had a choice, and they were anxious to express themselves, and every man was kindly permitted to vote for his choice (the Senator's). There was a little time in the old town that day, and perhaps it is a repetition of that day that the Senator proposes to visit upon Kentucky unless he gets his rights—the right to run rough shod over the sentiments of Democrats as he run over the wishes of the Republicans of Crittenden county that glorious day. Democrats, make up your minds to be lowly, submissive, penitent and meek. We suggest that you be numbered and marshalled off into two columns, and that a sufficient number be detailed to vote for John Young Brown, the L. and N. candidate, to verify the prophecy of the Senator that the day of wrath come not upon you nor your children, and Republicans, you have reasons to know somewhat of the ways of the Senator when he has a candidate for governor. If he stood upon the wrong end of the "green tree," what he will do for the Democrats in "the dry," will be a plenty.

SENATOR DEBOE

Talks About Blood in Kentucky About November.

He Figures Taylor A Rousing Majority And Says the Ballots Will Go To His Man

Washington, Oct. 19.—Senator Deboe is in the city. At his hotel last night he said for publication: "I can tell you in all seriousness and earnestness that, if there is an attempt made in Kentucky to deprive the Republicans of the victory which they will gain in November, there will be trouble, yes, there will be bloodshed. I have no doubt of it, and the extent of it will depend upon the extent of the attempted fraud. The people of Kentucky are as determined in this fight as were the people of the United States when we declared war on Spain. They have declared war on Goebel; in fact, Goebellism is practically the only issue which is discussed from stump, silver, expansion, national and state issues have fled in the face of the great monster of Goebellism."

"The presence of Mr. Bryan in the state has only served to intensify matters and to make even more certain the success of Mr. Taylor and to increase his majority. The bolters declared to have Bryan keep his hands off Kentucky and leave the people of the state alone to fight their own battles, but he has persisted in coming and now the Brown crowd has declared that it will have its revenge upon him by swinging the state into the Republican column next year. As a harmonizer Mr. Bryan has been a signal failure, for there are thousands who, hap he kept out of the state, would have voted for Brown, but who now declare emphatically their intention of supporting the Republican nominee. I am convinced of this for the special reason that I followed him through the state, and thus had an opportunity of feeling the temper of the people immediately after Bryan had left them."

"Gov. Brown has behind him between 30,000 and 35,000 voters, but, in my opinion, he will not poll that number of ballots, because there are thousands, as I say, who will on election day emphasize their contempt for the regular Democratic nominee by voting for Taylor, whose majority, at a conservative estimate, will reach 40,000. I would not be surprised to see it even greater, and no attempt to manipulate the returns will be permitted. We simply won't stand it, and in this matter the bolting Democrats are even more determined than the Republicans. They will be among the first in the fight."

"You can depend upon it, if fraud is attempted, there will be shedding of blood in the Bluegrass state on election day."

OPEN LETTER.

Mr. J. M. Dean, not a Bolter, Declines to Serve as a Committeeman FOR THE L. & N. BOLTING TICKET.

View, Ky., Oct. 19, 1899.
Mr. J. M. Dean, Pinle, Ky.—Dear Sir:—Last Saturday at a meeting called by myself as temporary chairman of the True Democratic Committee, I was elected permanent chairman and I have not learned since your appointment as committeeman in your precinct whether you intended to act or not. Will you please drop me a line and designate your conclusions in the matter, but knowing the justice of our cause, I no that Goebellism must be destroyed or the principles of Dem. by Goebellism will be destroyed, and I hope you are fully in accord with us that we may have your influence and good council in your section.

Res. etc.
M. C. O'Hara.

Iron Hill, Ky., Oct. 23.
Mr. M. C. O'Hara, Chairman of the Bolter's Committee:—Dear Sir, —Yours of the 19th received, and in reply say that you are very much mistaken in your man, if you take me to be a bolter. You ask me to serve as committeeman, and I have received several bundles of the lying Dispatch to distribute also, but I decline both jobs. I was a little disappointed when Stone failed to get the nomination, but I did not get mad, go crazy and sell my birth right in the Democratic party because the other 69,000 Democrats did not see as I did. I regard the Brown movement as an aid society for Taylor, a small side-show attached to his big tent. You say you are the "True Democracy" and "Goebellism must be destroyed." That reminds me most forcibly of the bolter's battle cry in 1896; they claimed to be the "true democracy" and along with Mark Hanna said "Bryanism" must be destroyed. Now I find Bryan and Goebel standing side by side in this fight and I prefer the leadership of Bryan to that of the railroads and book trust. No sir, I prefer to be a humble member in the ranks of my party to be a committeeman in the Taylor Deboe, Hanna band wagon. What is "Goebellism"? I find Mr. Goebel honored three times by his home people with a seat in the Senate and in the constitutional convention, I find him, as a member of the Senate, driving the railroad lobbyist from the legislature and continuing the commission that made the L. & N. pay its just proportion of State taxes, I find him driving the lottery and gamblers from the State; I find championing with his vote in the legislature the Chinn book bill, and his vote always on the side of the people. He lead Joe Blackburn fight for the Senate and was as true as steel. In 1895, he was at the head of his delegation at Lexington and voted his county for free silver. He was chairman of his county committee in 1896 and the county gave Bryan a majority 600 greater than it gave Cleveland.

Now if this is what you want to destroy and erect Hannanism and Taylorism in its place, I am not with you.

Respectfully,
J. M. Dean,
COLDWELL SPRINGS.

The singing school closed here last Sunday.

There will be singing here next Sunday evening at 2 o'clock. Tom Woodall, of Crayneville, will be the leader.

Harvey Stinnett has moved to Forest Oliver's.

S. C. Hennesst has been very sick, but is better at present.

Our farmers are about all through sowing wheat and the early sowing looks fine.

Tobacco buyers would be welcome in our vicinity. We have some fine crops and expect a fair price.

Robt. Gibbs will cultivate his father's farm next year.

Miss George Wright is teaching school in Caldwell county, near Princeton, and was at home Saturday and Sunday.

Jim McClure, of Livingston county was through here last week.

Elbert Lee, of Pinckneyville, was here a few days last week.

That By Force of Character and Intellect Rose to Distinction.

EX-CHIEF JUSTICE PRYOR ON GOEBEL.

In all the State there is no better man or better judge of good men than ex-Chief Justice William S. Pryor, and here is a report of his remarks touching the qualities of William Goebel in an address to the people of Owen county:
"He said that Senator Goebel had been shamefully abused and vilified by the L. and N. organs in Louisville and by the 'peanut orators' who were speaking for John Young Brown. As far as moral character was concerned he was the peer of any man in Kentucky. He had known Goebel from the time he entered Gov. Stevenson's office as a poor boy, coming from the humble walks of life. Today he stands proud and eminent as a lawyer, and he thanked God that the Democratic party had such a man as a leader. He was for Goebel from the beginning, because he knew him to be such a man as was needed by the common people—a man with the moral character and the intellectual force to take up the gage of battle against centralized capital. While a Judge of the Court of Appeals, years ago, he had seen Goebel as a boy of twenty-five years come before that body arguing deep questions with such men as John G. Carlisle and other able lawyers. His mother was a poor woman, who kept a boarding house for railroad men, and he (Pryor) was proud of the boy that by sheer force of character and intellect had risen to such distinction. When you elect Goebel if he doesn't play Governor in earnest I'll pay the bill."

"Praise from Sir Herbert is praise indeed."

SPEAKING.

Hon. Ollie M. James and John L. Grayot will address the people at the Opera House to-night.

Headquarters for everything good to eat is at Hearins.

Capes, Jackets and Skirts—a great line at Woods & Fowler.

James Henry is building a residence on Salem street next to his father's.

Salem street seems to be a colony of ministers; five live in a stone's throw of each other.

Wheat is coming up—that is the wheat that was sown.

The little daughter of George Sisco is very sick with typhoid fever.

Mr. W. C. Tyner and wife, of Union, were in town Tuesday.

More goods, better goods and cheaper goods than anywhere else at Hearins.

Mr. J. W. J. James was called to Princeton Friday by the death of his mother.

Boy goods at Hearins and secure some of that beautiful queenware given away free.

At Pinckneyville Sunday Rev. Wise administered the ordinance of baptism to fourteen persons.

Tom Hearin is afraid to let his wife and children on the street for fear they will be put in the stry pen.

Mr. C. E. Jennings with a force of hands went to Crider Tuesday to begin work on Henry Turley's new residence.

Messrs. Ed and Herbert Chittenden were called from school last week to their home in Livingston by the death of their sister.

Our esteemed friend, Rev. R. A. LaRue has a brand new boy at his house, and we may expect some extraordinary preaching for a while.

Rev. W. R. Gibbs will preach at Durn Springs on Wednesday night after the fourth Sunday, and probably continue over to and including the fifth Sunday.

Mr. W. B. James will sell a lot of stock, farm implements and corn at public sale on Marion Oct. 31. He expects a move to Marion.

The partnership existing between Drs. J. R. and W. J. J. Paris will be by mutual consent dissolved the first of November, and Dr. Paris' office will be over Orme's drugstore.

Rev. R. Y. Thomas has been assigned to the Salem circuit, which embraces four churches. He is an old minister in years, but as vigorous mentally and as strong in the pulpit as he ever was, and that means that he is still an able preacher.

Largest and prettiest line of calicoes in the city.—Woods & Fowler.

Tom P. Barnes hauled from Salem to Marion, at one load, last week, 4980 pounds of net spar. The distance is twelve miles. Tom is one of the best wagoners that ever "came down the pike," only he comes down the dirt road.

We have a superb stock of underwear for men, women and children. Woods & Fowler.

Stephen Nation, of Ford's Ferry, went to Louisville last week for the purpose of having an abscess moved from his lungs. Dr. C. G. Moreland, his family physician, accompanied him and the delicate operation was successfully performed and the patient is rapidly recovering.

WANTED.—Forty or 50 men to cut staves and heading bolts, also tie makers.—J. L. Rankin, Ford's Ferry, Ky.

On account of Evansville Street Fair, tickets will be sold to Evansville and return, from Oct. 30th to Nov. 4th, inclusive, at rate of one fare for the round trip. Tickets limited for return until Nov. 5.

THE MEETING

At The Christian Church Began Monday Night With Good Interest.

Revs. Hill and Mitchell are having good congregations at the Christian church. They are able and eloquent ministers and the meeting will grow in interest as its progresses.

Dissolution Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership heretofore existing between Drs. J. R. and J. J. Clark and W. J. J. Paris, by mutual consent ceases on and after Nov. 1, 1899. Persons indebted to the firm are requested to call and settle.

J. R. Clark,
W. J. J. Paris,
J. J. Clark.

Marion, Ky., Oct. 25, 1899.

WANTED.—Railroad ties at market price, on Ohio, Tradewater and Saline rivers.—J. L. Rankin, Ford's Ferry, Ky.

Our shoe department is complete. Woods & Fowler.

Remember for a good dinner when in town go to Hearins.

The best and cheapest line of coffee, as well as the largest line at Hearins.

Dr. J. D. McConnell and wife, of Shady Grove, were visiting in Marion the first of the week.

Mr. Press Clark has moved from the country to Marion, having sold his farm to Mrs. Ryan and purchased the A. B. Phipps property.

Dr. T. F. Wilborn moved from his farm near Crittenden Springs to Weston this week. He is a registered physician, and a genial gentleman.

The best posted men in Livingston county estimate the majority for the ticket in that county at 600. This includes "Uncle Jeff," our sterling, sturdy nominee for the legislature.

Owen Boaz one of the leading citizens and best men of the Dycusburg precinct was in town a day or two since. He says there are only ten Brown men in that precinct, notwithstanding the boasts of the bolters.

Rev. J. W. Bigham, the new Presiding Elder, has purchased the M. H. Weldon residence on Main street, and hopes to have his family under his own vine and fig tree this week.

"Uncle" Herod Travis, the well known colored man of this place, has been sick several weeks.

Our old friend Newton Bigham, of Livingston county, was in town Saturday. While standing under a telephone pole, a workman above accidentally dropped a pair of pliers upon M. Bigham's head, but his instant growth of hair caught the blow and thereby saved the old sage a severe shock.

John F. Kirk has accepted a position with W. C. Rice & Son., the big tobacco dealers of Kelsey. He will assist in the purchases and have charge of the stemming room. John has been in the tobacco business for years and knows the work.

The meeting at the C. P. church closed Sunday night, when the house was crowded with people to hear the closing sermon of Rev. Boone. His strong sermons throughout the meeting were appreciated by Christians of all denominations. During the meeting there were twelve conversions and ten additions to the church, and the Christian people of the town were generally revived and built up in the faith by the meeting.

The services at the Methodist church Sunday were of more than ordinary interest. After a sermon by the new pastor, Rev. J. T. Randolph, a sermon that the congregation appreciated, Rev. J. W. Bigham made a touching talk. Referring to the fact that he was converted here twenty-two years ago, he said the most tender and precious memories he cherished hovered around Marion; and that after twenty-two years of labor and love, joy, not unmixed with sorrow, it was a happy and proud moment to be again at his old home, among the dearest friends he had. He had responsive hearers, and there were few dry eyes in the congregation, when the old hymn, "How Firm a Foundation," was sung, while with earnest hearts, the members of the congregation extended their hands to the new pastor and elder.

If you want full value for your produce, in cash, take it to Hearins.

FIFTY YEARS OLD

Why let your neighbors know you are old? And why give them a chance to guess you are even five or ten years more? Better give them good reasons for guessing the other way. It is very easy; for nothing tells of age so quickly as gray hair.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

It is a youth-renewer. It hides the age under a luxuriant growth of hair the color of youth. It never fails to restore color to gray hair. It will stop the hair from coming out also. It feeds the hair bulbs. This hair becomes thick hair, and short hair becomes long hair. It cleanses the scalp; removes all dandruff, and prevents its formation. We have a book on the Hair which we will gladly send you. If you do not obtain all the benefits you expect from the use of the Vigor, write the doctor about it. Probably there is some difficulty with your general system, which may be easily removed. Address, Dr. J. C. Ayer, Lowell, Mass.

EXTRA SESSION

Of the Fiscal Court Was Held Saturday.

The Fiscal court convened Saturday to consider business unfinished at the regular term. All of the magistrates were present.

The following allowances were made:

Mrs. Wash Brown for taking care of Mrs. Liggett, $2.

Dr. J. V. Hayden, treating Mrs. Leggett, $10.

R. W. Clark, to aid in his support, $18.

Press Pritts, for benefit of Wm. Clark, $10.

Chas Moore to aid in his support $18.

The order made at the regular term of court appropriating $90 to build a bridge near Columbia Lead Mine was rescinded. The commissioners, Messrs. Postlethwaite and Robinson, reported that the bridge was not necessary.

It was ordered that $30 be appropriated for additional fencing in case of S. W. Taylor.

Squire W. L. Wallace, of Providence, and Messrs Wm. DeHaven, Henry Travis, Robt and B. Wood appeared before the court and made strong appeals for an appropriation for building a bridge across Tradewater. A tor hearing the discussion, the court declined to make any appropriation.

The question of allowing pauper claims—money to aid in support of persons outside of the poor house, has been discussed by the members of the court for some time; these claims they say have been growing in number every year. No action was taken by the court, but there is among the magistrates, a growing disposition to appropriate money only for those who go to the poor house. This question will be up at the next term of court. Yesterday Squire T. A. Harpending, commissioner on the part of this county for repairing the abutments of the Claylick iron bridge, filed a report showing that the work had been satisfactorily done, and accepted.

CITY ELECTION.

Petition Filed Monday for Council and Police Judge.

Monday a petition was filed with the county clerk, asking that the names of J. O. Dixon, T. J. Yandell, A. M. Hearin, A. J. Duval, W. D. Cannon and Samuel Henry be placed upon the "Citizens' Ticket" under the device of an anchor for city council, and A. M. Gilbert for police judge. As Monday was the last day for filing petitions, this will be the only ticket printed on the ballot.

Masoncup Acquitted.

Thos Masoncup, the young teacher who was fined for "whipping one of his pupils unmercifully," was given a new trial Thursday, before Squire Harpending and the jury acquitted him. He gave up the school, and upon his leaving all of the patrons, except two or three, gave him the following, of which he is very proud: To whom it may concern: This is to certify that Mr. Thos. Masoncup has been employed by the undersigned patrons of Childrens School District No. 63, and has, we believe, to the best of his ability as teacher, done all in his power to promote the welfare and advancement of said district, and we heartily recommend him as a teacher.

The chairman of the board also signed the above paper. Thirty of Mr. Masoncup's pupils also gave him a paper bearing testimony to his good qualities as a teacher.

Salem, Ky., Oct. 23.—Mr. Bain, of the Eddy country, was before Squire Stephens today to answer the charge of maliciously shooting Luke Hodge. After a lively fight in court, with county attorney Wilson representing the commonwealth and Messrs. Grassham and Lindley for the defense, the accused was acquitted.

We are now anticipating the alarm and Smithland will be connected by telephone.

Marriage License.

Oct. 25.—John A. C. Davenport and Miss Lullie Champion.

Oct. 25.—Wm. Riley Chandler and Miss Lurose L. Orr.

Oct. 25.—Thomas A. Harmon and Miss Maggie Tech.

Held Over.

Chas. Tabor was before County Judge Rochester Tuesday to answer the charge of taking a horse that did not belong to him. He was held in a $200 bond to answer at Circuit court.

Notice.

The attention of the voters and citizens of Marion, Ky., is called to the fact that this is the year for the regular election of councilmen, and that an election has also been called for the election of a Police Judge of said city, to fill out the unexpired term of Police Judge, which will January 1902.

THAT RAILROAD.

Now Bright Prospects of Its Construction Next Year.

Another step has been taken toward the construction of the Harrisburg & Southern R. R. The line runs from this city to Rosi Clare, in Hardin county, on the Ohio river, between Elizabethtown and Golconda. At that point they are within 15 miles of Marion, Ky., where they can touch the Illinois Central. With that gap built and a small amount of other connections the line would be the shortest route from St. Louis to Nashville. The parties here today were Mr. Crews, of Chicago, Capt. S. S. Barger, of Pope county, and the engineer of the line. Mr. Crews says the contract would have been let some time ago had it been possible for them to secure iron for the track. Owing to the great demand rails could not be furnished before February. "Now," says Mr. Crews, "I have found where it can be obtained earlier, and by January 1900, we expect to have the track down from Marion to Harrisburg." The constructing company is not asking a dollar in the way of donations, but the right of way only. This has been secured almost if not to the county line from Harrisburg, and the company asks the same of people this way from the county line to Marion. The intention is to have the engineers on the contemplated route within a few days—before this month is gone.—Marion (Ill) Leader

Tolley—Ainsworth.

Mrs. Jas. R. Tolley and Miss Nar Ainsworth were happily married Oct. 20th, at the pleasant home of Jas. W. Ainsworth in the county, Eld. R. A. LaRue, officiating.

The handsomely dressed groom attended by Mr. John W. Bebout, and the beautifully veiled bride attended by her sister as they stood before her pastor to take the vows, presented a pleasing picture for memory's wall of their many admiring friends.

Miss Nar is one of the successful teachers of the county.

Mr. Tolley is a progressive farmer of Livingston county.

W. M. MORGAN DEAD.

Passes Away at His Home In This City After Weeks of Illness.

Mr. W. M. Morgan died at his home in Marion Saturday after several months illness of consumption. He was a patient sufferer through all the long dark days and passed peacefully away.

He was buried at the Wheeler cemetery three miles southeast of town Sunday afternoon. A large number of friends and acquaintances attended the obsequies.

Mr. Morgan was one of the well known men in this section. He served the precinct as magistrate and the town as marshal.

He was a man of more than ordinary natural abilities, and while eccentric in some things, he was a good citizen. He united with the Baptist church some years ago and continued a consistent member until the end. Peace to his ashes.

A SCHOLARSHIP FREE.

Central University Gives One to Marion School.

Central University, of Richmond, Ky., one of the best institutions of learning in the State, has tendered to Marion Graded School a free scholarship in the University, the scholarship to be awarded to some pupil of our school as the trustees may provide.

This recognition of our school by one of the leading universities is certainly a something we may well be proud of, and besides the compliment the gift is something of value. We are indebted to Rev. W. H. Miley in a large measure for this. He is a warm friend of our school and never let an opportunity go by without improving it when he can benefit the institution.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Mo., when the doctor said she could not live till morning" writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, "All thought she must soon die from pneumonia, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, saying it had more than once saved her life, and had cured her of Consumption. After three small doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at J. H. Orme's drugstore.

CARRSVILLE.

Albert Likens is in St. Louis this week.

A Mr. Cain died Saturday morning near this place.

D. V. Worten has erected some new buildings in the rear of drug store.

Rev Gibbons has been assigned this circuit. He was on this circuit some years ago, and his again was but a reunion of friends.

Miss Sydney Speer living near this place is very ill.

School is on the increase; Miss Fannie Shouse, of Union county, entered school here a week ago.

We note with much regret the death of our esteemed friend, Mr. Herbert McGrew, near this place more than a week ago. He was a student of the school here last year and all his friends regret the shortness of so noble and promising life.

The Livingston County Teachers' Association held its first session here last Saturday. President Beards and Secretary Miss Rutter had prepared an excellent program and the time was most delightfully spent.
