

FOOT-WASHING SERVICE

At Pleasant Hill Church Sunday; Significance of the Ceremony.

The annual foot-washing services were held at Pleasant Hill Primitive Baptist church last Sunday, and as is usual on these occasions, a large congregation was in attendance. The house was crowded to its utmost capacity and many were unable to get inside of the building.

ELD. W. F. PARIS.

Rev. James R. Clark, the pastor preached, taking his text from Hebrews 1:8: "A Sceptre of Righteousness is the Sceptre of thy kingdom." He drew a beautiful parallel between Queen Esther as a mediator for the Jewish people when they rested under the king's edict that meant death and Christ as a mediator for the world when it rested under the condemnation for sin. At the close of his sermon he explained the symbol of foot-washing as practiced by his people. He said that it was not an ordinance of the church like the sacrament, but that it was a symbol of christian humility, and christian activity; it was the symbol of the life of Christ; his was a life of humility and devotion, active devotion to those with whom he came in contact. He said to his disciples: "If I your Lord and Master have washed your feet, ye ought also to wash one another's feet." These were the words of the Master to his people, and this service was symbolical of the feeling, the regard, the love of one Christian for another. It expressed the Christ-like disposition of the followers of the Master to abase themselves in the service of their brethren. Christians owed it to each other to arrange their affairs so as to be able to serve each other in the spirit that we exemplify in the observance of this custom. Love, the greatest force in the world, moves to this kind of service and devotion to each other. The Master said we ought to do it, it teaches the lesson of humility and devotion, and for these reasons we practice it in the church.

After the discourse, arrangements were made for the service. Two seats facing each other were occupied by the women on one side of the pulpit, and the seats on the other side were occupied by the men. Water was brought and poured into a bowl and basins, and the pastor, removing his coat and tying a towel around his loins, explaining as he proceeded that this represented the manner of Christ when he washed the feet of the disciples, proceeded to wash the feet of a brother. When he had finished, others took the basins and began washing the feet of each other. Snow white towels were plentifully supplied, and used, and as the ceremony proceeded, the old songs, so familiar to church people before the day of the church organ, were sung, and presently there was hand-shaking, and radiant faces, soon there was shouting, exhortations and expressions of joy, and it was a happy, earnest, devout people that met around the altar that day in the observance of a custom that is unknown in other churches.

Pleasant Hill church has no official connection with any other church or association. It withdrew from an association several years ago, because of some doctrinal differences and since that time has prospered and grown as an association unto itself. It now has a membership of 147, and there are no people in the country more devout, and more earnest in their christian lives than those who worship here. They live in peace with the world and with each other. They have no neighborhood quarrels, and they help each other in all things that go to make life pleasant. They are industrious and frugal, and no people have a better standing in the local business circles than the people of Pleasant Hill neighborhood.

ANOTHER SUIT

Against the County For Services in the Smallpox Epidemic.

Dr. J. J. Clark has filed suit against the county for $940.75, for services in the smallpox epidemic. He alleges in the petition that he was on November 13, 1899, appointed by the local board of health—the plaintiff, J. R. Clark, M. D., and J. P. Pierce—"as the physician whose duty it should be to give indigent patients throughout the county infected with smallpox his personal attention, and treat and care for them, and see that all persons suspected of having been exposed to said disease were isolated, and to make reports to the local board of health of all outbreaks of the smallpox in the county so that proper steps could be taken to suppress it."

"He says that immediately after he was so appointed and employed by said board of health he entered upon the performance of his said duties, and was actively engaged therein every day from the 12th day of November, 1899, until the 29th day of March, 1900, during which time he made trips, visited patients at Dycusburg, Fords Ferry, and various other parts of the county, and did treat smallpox patients, disinfect and fumigate houses, and hold post mortem examinations, and did and performed many and various other duties and things necessary to be done in the suppression of said disease. An itemized statement of which will be filed herewith as soon as it can be made out, and the amount charged therefor, and which charges are and were reasonable, and which amount to a total sum of $940.75." The plaintiff therefore prays judgment against Crittenden county for that amount.

COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Democrats Pass Resolutions and Appoint Delegates.

The Democrats of Crittenden county met in mass convention at the court house in Marion on Saturday, June 9, 1900, in response to the call of county chairman.

The meeting was called to order promptly at 2 o'clock p. m., by L. W. Cruce, County Chairman. P. C. Stephens was chosen chairman and M. F. Pogue, Secretary.

Upon motion the chair was directed to appoint a committee on resolutions. He appointed the following: O. M. James, J. W. Blue, T. H. Cochran, J. W. Skelton, P. D. Maxwell, John Casner and W. H. Clark.

The committee reported the following which was unanimously adopted:

The Democrats of Crittenden county in convention assembled pursuant to the call of the State Committee, to send delegates to the city of Louisville, to send delegates to the National Democratic Convention, which meets at Kansas City, Mo., July the 4th, and be it resolved by the Democrats of this county, that first: We demand the re-affirmation of the Chicago platform, which was adopted at Chicago by the Democratic National Convention in 1896, and we declare our belief that it is a second declaration for the independence of our people; and it stands out as a bold, brave defy of a scarce dollar held alone by the rich, and utters a challenge to corporate greed, and stands out as the hope offered to a people oppressed and outraged by the money trusts and all other trusts of which it is the prolific mother.

We declare that we stand for the Government of Washington and Jefferson, and we therefore denounce the un-American policy of the Republican party in attempting to drive this Republic of the Fathers into a Monarchy of Hanna and trusts.

We denounce the Porto Rican tariff bill, as a indefensible surrender of the Constitution and laws into the hands of trust magnates and those who are fattening off the misfortunes of a stricken people.

We declare that liberty is as dear to the inhabitants of the Philippine islands as it is to Cuba, and as dear to both as it was to our Colonies of the Revolution, and we therefore, demand our pledge to Cuba be carried out and they be given their liberty, and that the Philippine islands be treated in the same manner, and that a war commenced in liberty's name be ended in liberty's name; that our brave soldiers be withdrawn and the war be ended.

We denounce the thousands of trust which have been given birth by a reckless Republican administration, which by unlawful and unfair combination lower the price when producers have to sell and raise it when labor has to buy, and we demand that they be forced into the same open competition which our farmer meets with his products, and that the laborer meets with his toil.

We congratulate the people of Kentucky upon their recent victory, and with pride point to the fact that every Court from the Circuit Court of this State to the Supreme Court of the Nation, has declared that we were right and that we stood by the law, and it is a matter of congratulation that the cause of Governor Goebel and the Democracy was so just, that a partisan court could not avoid the righteousness of their contention.

We instruct our delegates to vote only for those Democrats as delegates to Kansas City, who were heart and soul for Bryan and the Chicago platform in 1896, as we believe that none but pioneers should be on guard.

We demand that our delegates shall vote to instruct Kentucky's delegates to the National Convention to vote for that matchless champion of the rights of all the people, that giant of giants, William J. Bryan, who blazed the way for the victory that but awaits us in the next campaign, when he is elected in triumph to the Presidency.

We instruct our delegates to cast the vote of this county for Hon. John L. Grayot, of Smithland, for delegate from this district to the National Convention, and to vote for Hon. Ward Headley for elector from this Congressional district.

We select the following delegates to the Louisville Convention, namely: J. W. Blue, W. H. Clark, Tom Clifton, Ollie M. James, Fred Casner, Wm. DeHaven, Bud Brantley, Jeff Clement, Marion Pogue, J. E. Dean, P. K. Cooksey, Owen Boaz, W. W. Millikan, Wm. Barnett, Foster Threlkeld, Ed. Flannery, Lacy Moore, C. E. Donakey, G. C. Wathen, Henry Wood, Eli Nunn, J. S. Newcomb, B. F. Walker, Geo. Foster, John Worley, C. S. Nunn, P. C. Stephens, Bob Nunn, George Cruce, Pete Northen, R. C. Walker, L. A. Weldon, Harmon Flannery.

And said delegates will vote as a unit upon all questions, and carry out the instructions here given.

P. S. Maxwell, O. M. James, J. W. Blue, T. H. Cochran, Wm. H. Clark, J. W. Skelton, J. F. Casner.

A WESTERN TRIP.

EDITOR PRESS:—A party of emigrants, including myself, started on May 3, from Gainesville, a tour over the West. We loaded our wagon with first camping outfit and started to follow the Ft. Worth and Denver Railroad 'cross the plains into New Mexico, then to turn South to the Rio Grande River, and home from southwest Texas. There is no season of the year when Texas presents so lovely a scene as in May and June, hence we expected great things and a pleasant trip. Thus it was till we struck the plains. In way of explanation we will here state the object of our trip. With some it was for pleasure and sight seeing only, while others hoped to find something worth settling in the way of land.

The last Legislature passed an act placing twenty-three million acres of school lands on the market on the 23rd of May at $1 to $1.50 per acre, one fourth cash, the balance in 40 years of equal annual payments with interest at 3 per cent.

Now back to the beginning: We passed through Montague, Clay, Wichita, Wilbarger, Hardaman, Childress and Donley counties, striking the plains in Donley county. Crops are unusually good, especially wheat. We never saw finer prospects for wheat in our lives than are found around Wichita Falls in Wichita county.

We layed over at Vernon in Wilbarger county, and took a view of the surrounding there. From Vernon we passed through the towns of Quanch, Childress, Memphis and Clarendon, where, at present, our course is obstructed on account of so much mud. We reached Clarendon on the 21st and found it had been raining on the plains for a month. Now Clarendon is at the foot of the great Staked Plains. We dared not bring our wagons on the plains for the soil is black and four good horses are required to draw a light chuck wagon 'cross the plains, therefore I left the camp at Clarendon and took the train and came to Amarilla, 350 miles west of Gainesville. I am going back and join our party, and as we can not proceed as we expected, our course will be changed to south 'long the foot of the plains some 250 miles to South Central Texas, the home in a Northeast direction. We hope to get home by July 1st.

Stock is the principal industry West of Montague county and almost totally here in the Panhandle.

Coming up we passed through one pasture sixty miles wide and one hundred and twenty miles long. A pasture as large as Crittenden county, is no uncommon thing here. It has rained more in the Panhandle this spring than was ever known here before. Grass is fine, the plains are, in places, most covered in water.

Amarilla is the best town in West Texas, and a prettier and more lovely country than the Staked Plains is not to be found on earth.

We find most of the school land settled or fenced by the cattle kings and it is hard to do anything with them.

We have a sufficient amount of artillery with us for enlistment in the Transval war, yet game has not suffered much. Lots of wolves, antilopes and prairie dogs. I've heard the prairie dogs bark until they haunt me at night.

Has cleared up to-day; I aim to return to Clarendon, join our crowd and proceed to-morrow toward the Rio Grande.

Respectfully,

F. J. CLEMENT.

LOOKING TO AMERICA.

England in a Sore Plight Over the Chinese Trouble.

London, June 9.—The Chinese situation is exciting the profoundest alarm here.

It is fully believed that the Boxers movement was instigated in Russia's interest so that she may reap long desired advantages in China before the subjugation of the Boers relieves Great Britain of her South African trouble.

In this predicament the British press and politicians are looking anxiously to President McKinley to interpose some effectual check to the fruition of Russia's alleged designs.

The British army is so locked up in South Africa that there is no reasonable prospect of being able to safely withdraw any part of it for at least two months.

The British army in India is already 11,000 below the lowest reach of the establishment, and it seems certain that another expedition of 15,000 men will be necessary to restore British authority in Ashanti.

Therefore England is in a sore plight as far as concerns any effectual defense of her interests in the far East.

It is known in diplomatic circles that Lord Salisbury is using every effort to arrive at an understanding with Russia, but while Russia negotiates she also steadily pushes her advantage in China.

It is recognized that if Russia gets a foothold in China under a plea of preserving order she will never withdraw. The British occupation of Egypt has set a precedent which will just suit Russia's purposes.

Communications have been actively passing during the week between Ambassador Choate and Lord Salisbury. It is understood that the British Prime Minister is seeking an agreement with Russia he is working at the same time for joint action with the United States as the second to his bow.

Such action would certainly be accepted here as demonstrating that an Anglo-American alliance is morally if not formally accomplished.

Obituary.

Sister Ida Swansey was the daughter of A. D. and Helen Crider. She was born Sept. 2, 1861, and professed religion when twelve years of age at Piney Fork campground. She joined the church at that place and remained a member thereof until her death. October 4, 1883, she was married to O. F. Swansey. She leaves behind her three daughters to mourn her loss. She was a faithful Christian, a good neighbor, an industrious, economical and affectionate wife, and a kind and loving mother.

What is our loss is her eternal gain. We feel that she has entered upon that rest that is prepared for the people of God.

NEGRO PARTY.

A Convention Will Be Called For the Nomination of a Presidential Ticket.

Philadelphia, June 6.—The first steps looking to the organization of a national negro party have been taken in this city. Prominent negroes—Bishops, ministers, editors and lawyers—at a meeting decided to place a presidential ticket in the field, with negro candidates. The plan is to organize the party in every State of the Union and nominate candidates for State and congressional offices. An Executive Committee has been appointed to draw up a call for a convention and see to the distribution of circulars outlining the reasons for the formation of a national negro party.

Bishop Levi J. Cappin the newly elected head of the A. M. E. Church in this district, presided at the meeting.

The names mentioned for President were ex-Judge E. J. Walker, of Boston, with P. B. S. Pinchback, ex-Lieutenant Governor of Louisiana, as running mate; Bishop W. B. Derrick, of New York, with Prof. De Boise as running mate; Bishop Grant, of Illinois, with the Rev. Dr. J. P. Sampson as Vice President; Bishop Turner, with Booker T. Washington, of Alabama, as Vice President, and Bishop Walters, with T. T. Allain, of Louisiana, as Vice President.

BISHOP TURNER

Doubts if Any Practical Results Follow the Movement.

Atlanta, Ga., June 6. Bishop H. M. Turner, of the A. M. E. church, when informed of the project, expressed doubt as to any practical results from the organization if it intended to be a political party in the ordinary sense, for the reason that the negroes compose a small minority of the voters.

"I am in favor of a national negro party," he said, "if it is intended to secure an appropriation which will enable the negroes to move to a place where they can be by themselves. I take no stock in any movement which does not contemplate the separation of the races."

In Memory.

On the 11th day of February 1900, the Lord saw fit in his wisdom to send the angel of death to our little village and call from our midst our beloved sister and friend, Mary Ellen Hamilton. She was the daughter of Ira N. and L. J. Thompson, was born Jan. 11, 1859, professed faith in Christ when about 17 years old, united with the Methodist church and lived a cheerful, loving christian. She was married to T. J. Hamilton, March 7, 1879. About three years before her death she professed sanctification and lived in the enjoyment of perfect love. Her sweet gentle disposition made her a blessing to all who knew her. Sister Ellen was one of the most unselfish women I ever knew; she was a devoted wife, a fond indulgent mother, a friend to all. Oh, how we miss her cheerful face and sweet ways. In her last sickness she never murmured, though her suffering were great. She expressed her willingness to go and said all was well with her. She leaves a husband and six children, five boys and one little girl, three brothers and three sisters to mourn her loss, but we praise the Lord our loss is her eternal gain.

A WAR EPISODE.

A Dramatic Occurrence During the Long Struggle.

In his memorial sermon, delivered at the Confederate Re-union in Louisville, Rev. Dr. Jones, of Virginia told of an incident in the war which stands out in history as probably the most dramatic occurrence enacted during the long struggle. It was at the battle of Spotsylvania Courthouse. Gen. R. E. Lee was in command of the Confederate forces, and Gen. John B. Gordon commanded one of the divisions, composed of Georgians, North Carolinians and Virginians. "Hancock had made his superb charge upon the Confederate works and had broken the lines at the point which shall remain forever historic as 'the Bloody Angle' and it seemed as if the army of Northern Virginia was about to be out in two. Gordon came to the rescue and he was about to lead his division forward; Gen. Lee, mounted on Old Traveler, of whom Gordon McCabe has beautifully said, he always stepped as if conscious that he had a king upon his back, rode to the front and prepared to lead the charge.

"Gordon galloped up to him, and, seizing the reins of his horse, appealed to the men and said: 'Men, is it necessary for Gen. Lee to lead the charge? You Virginians, North Carolinians and Georgians, you have never failed, will you fail me now?'"

"And the yell went up, No! No! Gen. Lee to the rear! Gen. Lee to the rear! and we will go the front."

"Gordon gave the battle cry: 'Remember your promise to Gen. Lee and realize the fact that the eyes of your chief are upon you.'"

The men were inspired by the presence of Lee, and Gordon led them on into the battle, sweeping the field and adding another victory to the Confederate list.

Why Osteopathy is Popular.

It is a fact that the Osteopath in a few weeks or months obtains a standing with the best people in his community that it would take a physician years to acquire.

The reasons for this are many and obvious. In the first place, the theory of the science of osteopathy is a rational and common sense one. There is nothing vague, mysterious, or occult about it; but being based upon the laws of nature it commends itself to the unprepared and thinking mind.

Another thing that tends to popularize it is the plain and reasonable system of charges usually adopted by the osteopath—a system whereby the patient is enabled to tell approximately what it is going to cost him to regain his health. The treatment is undertaken with the knowledge that there will be no bill for medicine, extra visits, etc., at the final reckoning.

Almost everyone dislikes to take medicine. There is hardly an adult to be found who has not many times been depressed and sickened by heroic drugs, and as the Irishman expressed it, "felt sick a long time after he got well." If osteopathy did nothing but abolish experimental doses of poisonous drugs and curtail the number of surgical operations, it would be worthy of the gratitude of countless sufferers.

And finally, osteopathy has loyal defenders and warm adherents among all classes because of results attained by its practitioners. "Nothing succeeds like success." It is results that tell.

What the invalid wants is to get well. He is not so much interested in the name of the school of healing to which his doctor belongs as he is in the fact that he can do what he claims to do. It is by this standard that Osteopathy asks to be judged. While the claim is not made for it that it is a cure-all or that it has eliminated death from the world, yet the fact remains that it has brought health and vigor to the body and cheer to the heart of many an invalid from whom all hope had vanished.

These are but a few of the reasons why Osteopathy has firm, loyal and able friends wherever it has been introduced by competent and conscientious Osteopaths.

If you are sick and suffering try Osteopathy. If you desire the most profitable profession investigate Osteopathy.

The friends of Miss Bessie Trisler will be pleased to hear that she has recovered from the fever.

Miss Allie Butler was in town last Wednesday. She came up to be maid of honor at a private wedding.

A young lady on Salem street did not appear to be very loyal and true to her Creed Sunday afternoon.

Miss Clara Taylor is visiting in Dixon and will remain there until the railroad is built over which she will be transported home.

Alvis Stephens is quite a frequent visitor of our town now. Some attraction somewhere in the town, probably on Main street.

Mary Maxwell returned home from Cincinnati Tuesday night. She says that she had a delightful visit among her relatives and friends.

Miss Fannie Finley has secured the Oak Grove school. This is Miss Fannie's first school and we hope she will make a successful teacher.

Northern Woods, the noted druggist of Eddyville, is expected home this week. His friends will all be glad to see him back once more.

Miss Florella Randolph returned from Louisville Saturday. We think there will be Moore smiles than we have seen during the past week.

Dean Woods left Monday night for Fredonia where he will work on the telephone line. Quite a number of Marion's boys are engaged in this work and they seem to like it.

Ed Olive has retired from the furniture business, but from all appearances it seems that he still has business matters of great importance to look after in the building adjoining the furniture store.

The success of the Children's Day Exercises at the Methodist church Sunday, was due largely to the untiring efforts of Miss Carrie Moore, who superintended the training of the youthful singers that so delighted the audience with their beautiful songs.

Otho Pickens has retired from the Laundry business, and no longer will you be greeted on Monday morning by this popular young man, whose business it has been for years to see that your shirts, collars and cuffs were as white and spotless as the driven snow.

Monday afternoon the little Misses Hard entertained the Evening Post Chapter. After spending a pleasant hour of recitations, puzzles and songs, refreshments were served, of which the children happily partook. At five o'clock the little party adjourned until next Monday evening the usual

We have seen stone mile-posts and wooden mile-posts, but last week we had the pleasure of seeing a human sign post. This mile post had evidently strayed from its position on Salem road and some miscreant had erased the number of miles and only the

Glorious News

Coins from Dr. D. B. Cargile, Washita, I.T. He writes: "Electric Bitters has cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give no help; but now her health is excellent." Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Only 20c. Sold by Orme, druggist. Guaranteed.

Resolutions of Respect.

Zion Hill Lodge, No. 371, F. & A. M.

Whereas, God in his infinite wisdom has called from labor to refreshment our esteemed and beloved brother, Thomas N. Lamb, therefore be it Resolved, that in the death of Bro. Lamb this Lodge has lost an esteemed brother, the community an upright citizen and his family a kind husband and father.

Resolved, that in the death of our brother we are forcibly reminded of that impressive emblem the Scythe of Time and we too like our brother, must be called home to account for the rectitude of our lives here on earth.

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Lodge and a copy sent to the Crittenden Press for publication and a marked copy of the same sent to his family and that we wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

WOOL CARDING!

Salem Woolen Mills Begins Business.

Having thoroughly overhauled my machinery, making it practically as good as new, I will be ready to card wool on and after May 12. I have been in the carding business more than 30 years. I can do the very best work, and guarantee satisfaction. I will receive wool at any place in the two counties on the north side of Cumberland river, or south side of the Ohio river, where they will have for me 100 lbs or over. I will card and return it making no extra charges. PRICES: 7 cent per pound, cash, or one-fifth toll. I request parties to write me a postal card when and where they will leave wool for me.

ISSUED WEEKLY.

ONE YEAR ONE DOLLAR

The McCord Railroad Bill becomes effective today. This is one of the measures that stirred up the L. and N. railroad to such strong opposition to Democrats. The bill was framed for the purpose of preventing extortionate freight rates from being levied by the railroads on the shippers. The bill will also prevent discrimination in freight rates, and if the man who pays freight thinks he has been overcharged he has a right to file a complaint with the Railroad Commission, which then proceeds to hear evidence on both sides, and if it finds that the railroad has made an extortionate rate it has a right to fix a new one. The railroad company, however, has a right to appeal from the decision of the commission to the courts and the decision can be reversed.

The commission has had many complaints recently about high freight rates in various parts of the State, particularly on coal, and as soon as the law goes into effect the commission will sit and hear evidence. It will be recalled that during last winter the commission met several times and took much evidence in regard to coal rates charged by the Louisville and Nashville and Illinois Central roads. No decision was ever rendered in the cases and when they are completed they will doubtless be the first ones where the new law will be put into operation.

About twice each week the Paducah News finds it necessary to demolish the position of the Press on the recent primary election call in this district. The trouble is the News' efforts to batter down our inpregnable Democratic fortress is not satisfactory to that paper itself, and a renewal of the attack is the result. The News may keep up attacks all summer, but unless its conscience is hardened by its usual desertion to the enemy, each effort will prove as futile as the former.

Mr. Taylor has issued a manifesto from his Indiana retreat stating that he will not be a candidate for governor and making himself a hero in a supposed fight for "civil liberty." It is not altogether certain that the Republicans the self-styled martyr for their candidate. It is stated on pretty good authority that ex-Governor Bradley, who is now unquestionably the leader of his party in the State, gave Mr. Taylor to understand that he must either come back and face the accusations against him, or step down and out of the leadership to which he aspired. Mr. Taylor chose the latter horn of the dilemma, and it was a great day for his party when he did so.

The Hopkins county delegation will favor Hon. Ollie James as chairman of the convention at Louisville Thursday. The big man from Crittenden has put in many hard blows for democracy in Hopkins county and we would like to see him honored in that way. Furthermore he was the first man in the Kentucky delegation at Chicago four years ago to start the stampede that resulted in the nomination of Bryan for President and it would be fitting that he should preside over the convention which will unanimously and enthusiastically instruct for him this time.—Madisonville Hustler.

The Republican National Convention meets in Philadelphia next Tuesday. The National committee meets today to hear and settle a number of contests.

How Old She Looks

Poor clothes cannot make you look old. Even pale cheeks won't do it. Your household cares may be heavy and disappointments may be deep, but they cannot make you look old.

One thing does it and never fails. It is impossible to look young with the color of seventy years in your hair.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

permanently postpones the tell-tale signs of age. Used according to directions it gradually brings back the color of youth. At fifty your hair may look as it did at fifteen. It thickens the hair also; stops it from falling out; and cleanses the scalp from dandruff. Shall we send you our book on the Hair and its Diseases?

The Best Advice Free. If you do not obtain all the benefits you expected from the use of the Vigor, write the doctor about it. Probably there is some difficulty with your general system, which may be easily removed. Address: Dr. J. C. Ayer, Lowell, Mass.

WOMAN

MUSICAL INSTRUMENT

In good condition she is sweet and lovable, and sings life's song on a joyful-harmonious string. Out of order or unstrung, there is discordance and unhappiness. Just as there is one key note to all music so there is one key note to health. A woman might as well try to fly without wings as to feel well and look well while the organs that make her a woman are weak or diseased. She must be healthy inside or she can't be healthy outside. There are thousands of women suffering silently all over the country. Mistaken modesty urges their silence. While there is nothing more admirable than a modest woman, health is of the first importance. Every other consideration should give way before it. Bradfield's Female Regulator is a medicine for women's ills. It is the safest and quickest way to cure leucorrea, falling of the womb, nervousness, headache, backache and general weakness. You will be astonished at the result, especially if you have been experimenting with other so-called remedies. We are not asking you to try an uncertainty. Bradfield's Regulator has made happy thousands of women. What it has done for others it can do for you. Sold in drug stores for $1 a bottle.

TO CALM ROUGH WATERS.

An Ingenious Device Invented by a Frenchman.

NET HELD BY BUOYS

Official Reports Say That the Invention Will Be of Great Service to the French Navy.—A Novel Arrangement.

A. M. Thacara, American Consul at Havre, makes the following interesting report to the State Department: "An Italian gentleman, Baron Benvenuto d'Alessandro, living in Paris, 62 Rue Bassiere, has invented a new method of protecting vessels at sea, entrances to harbors, light houses, etc., from the force of waves and surf, which he claims is more efficient than the use of oil. His invention consists in retaining on the surface of the water an unbreakable floating net, by means of outriggers when used to protect vessels in storms at sea, and by attracting it to buoys when used to protect light houses, hydraulic works in construction, entrances to harbors, etc.

"He bases the idea of his invention upon the principle that in covering the surface of the sea with a thin flexible, light and floating body of whatever nature, the part covered forms a crust under which the molecules of the imprisoned mass of water cannot move in the same manner as the surrounding body of uncovered water, the result being that even the most violent waves, upon reaching the edge of the crust, instead of destroying it, will pass under it as if there were a fall or difference of level, become flattened out and lose much of their force.

"The net used in the recent experiments at Havre was made of a thin hemp fibre, knitted in square meshes of 1.57 inches, and afterwards waterproofed by the application of a solution of powdered cork and pure rubber. The material of the finished net was 0.13 inch in thickness and light, weighing only 120 grams (4.2 ounces avoirdupois) per square meter (10.76 square feet). It was constructed by the Societe Industrielle de Telephones at Paris.

The net was 360.9 feet long and 49.2 feet wide, made in four sections, securely fastened together. The two outside sections were 16.4 feet wide throughout the whole length of the net. The middle sections were also 16.4 feet from either end, leaving an open space in the center of the net 256.27 feet long and 16.4 feet wide. The inventor's reason for constructing the net with an open space in the center is that in his numerous experiments with the net made in this way, when used for the protection of entrances to harbors, etc., he found the surface of the water enclosed in the free spaces to be always calm, as if it were actually covered by the net.

"The accompanying sketch shows the dimensions of the net and the arrangement of the buoys by which it was held in position. To illustrate the efficiency of the net in protecting hydraulic works in course of construction from the effects of a heavy surf, Baron d'Alessandro, about three weeks ago, placed his net off the middle of the jetty of the port of Havre, which is now finished for about 400 meters. The buoys B B were anchored in 50 feet of water, at high tide, in a position to secure the head of the net in the direction of the prevailing westerly winds and perpendicular to the jetty; the buoys B B being about 228 feet from it. At first only four buoys were used—B B and B B—but the anchors not being heavy enough to stand the force of the current, the buoys dragged allowing the net to be slackened and take the form of a crescent. Afterward the buoys B B were added and the weight of the anchors increased. During a heavy westerly gale, recently, the net was held in position, but on account of the seas hurling themselves against the jetty and breaking over it, it was impossible to approach near enough to observe the effects which the net produced upon the portion of water protected."

MOCKING BIRD.

It Talks as Well as Sings and is the Wonder of the Town.

A mocking bird belonging to Mrs. William Neill has actually been taught by her to talk. It is very interesting indeed to hear it utter the words that have, by persistent and painstaking efforts, been taught it. This bird's cognomen is Charlie, and it has a reputation that is envied by mocking bird owners. It mimics every noise it hears if it is repeated a number of times, and can repeat all the tall whistles that the boys of the various cliques and clans use as signals.

Mr. Neill used to own a dog, and their favorite call for the pet animal was "Hear, hear, hear hear," and a short whistle; and repeated. Now the bird Charlie can call that dog as distinctly as any person might. It very clearly says "Hear, hear; (whistle) hear, hear," etc.

While living at the Planters' Hotel, Mr. and Mrs. Neill were frequently treated to a cat serenade, and the bird learned to mimic them to a surprising degree. Now that they are residing in presumably a catless neighborhood they are often fooled by the bird, who can mew so much like a cat that one is loath to believe that the sounds issue from the bird's throat unless actually standing near the cage.

Mr. Neill used frequently to amuse himself by saying to the bird, "Tommy, don't," "Tommy, don't," and sometimes "Now Tommy, don't." The bird has learned to say it now as distinctly as Mr. Neill himself.

On one of the chimneys of the house adjoining where Mr. and Mrs. Neill reside is a bonnet, and when the air is stirring that bonnet turns as the wind changes direction, with a hideous creaking. The other day Mrs. Neill, whose room windows face the chimney, heard the creaking, and was just about to abuse the bonnet when she discovered that the mischievous bird was making the noise. The bird can crow like a rooster and cackle like a hen. It often beguiles the inmates of the house to the front door by imitating the postman's whistle. It can also mimic the policeman's whistle; in fact there are very few familiar sounds that it has not learned.

Mrs. Neill once owned a bird that could whistle two familiar waltzes. She would whistle them for it just prior to retiring, and in the morning again the tunes were whistled until the little bird learned them perfectly. It is very remarkable to hear a mocking bird utter words, and it is doubtful whether there is another bird beside the one owned by Mrs. Neill that enjoys the reputation. It requires considerable pains to teach the bird, and certainly a great amount of ingenuity and skill. Mr. and Mrs. Neill prize the bird very highly.—Augusta, Ga., Herald.

Queer Money.

Europeans trading in China are reduced to great straits for money. English gold will always pass; but is scarce. In large trading undertakings, bars of pure gold weighing 13 ounces are recognized as official exchange. Gold leaf is used by bankers for smaller amounts. Inland, where gold of any kind is rarely seen, horseshoe-shaped pieces of silver, weighing 5 to 50 ounces, are used. Some trading corporations have been forced to issue bank notes and tokens made of bamboo slips; but the distrustful Chinaman is very chary of accepting these, so their circulation is limited to one town, sometimes to a single street.

and the cheers of the entire military force under General Davis. Mr. Allen was formerly assistant secretary of the navy. He is a native of Lowell, Mass., and a wealthy manufacturer.

New Pavement.

The most curious street pavement in the world is that which has recently been put down in Lyons, France. It is of glass, the blocks being about eight inches square, each made up of sixteen smaller blocks. The glass blocks are so tightly fitted together that water cannot pass between them. As a pavement glass is said to have greater resistance than stone.

THE WAR CHIEF GERONIMO

He is Not Insane, Neither is He Badly Treated.

CONDITION IS ENVIABLE.

The Apaches Are Happy and Prosperous—Geronimo and Natchez are Employed by the Government on the Indian Police Force.

The report from Fort Sill, Oklahoma, that Geronimo, the great war chief of the Apaches, had become insane after his years of imprisonment is not credited.

Gen. Miles, who with Major Lawton, cornered Geronimo and his warriors in the Four Peaks basin, near Prescott, Arizona, could have told an interesting story of the old Indian warrior.

Major Burke, of the Wild West Show, said to a New York reporter: "I'm sure I don't know what crazed him, if the story is true, for he was well treated and seemed to be contented at the fort. It must have been prosperity. That spoils a lot of good people," and the major fell to moralizing.

"It was last winter that I saw Geronimo for the last time," he went on. "I had gone to Fort Sill for some rough riders. I saw Natchez as well as Geronimo. Natchez had been Geronimo's fighting chief. They were all right then. In fact, I never saw Indians so greatly improved."

Major Burke said the old Apache is about 65 years old. He had cost the Government much treasure and many hundreds of lives. For fourteen years he had been a prisoner of war—the last ten at Fort Sill. It was 40 years ago that Geronimo and his band of bloodthirsty Apaches began to be a menace to the settlers in the southwestern part of Arizona. When but 16 his people had crowned him a war chief because of the success won in the battles in which he led. In 1882 he and Victoria, with 600 Apaches, were attacked by Mexican soldiers. Victoria was captured and beheaded. Geronimo escaped, but in March, 1886, after four years of constant chase, Gen. Miles and Major Lawton cornered him and his warriors in the Four Peaks basin, near Prescott, Ariz.

After four months of starvation the Indians surrendered. They were sent to Florida in a box car. The climate there killed over half of the band and ten years ago the Government decided to remove them to Fort Sill.

"It was Gen. Miles who used his influence to have them removed from the Dry Tortugas to the reservation near Fort Sill," said Major Burke, "and there that tribe of Apaches have many acres and are happy and apparently contented as farmers and cattle raisers. They are prosperous, and both Geronimo and Natchez, who come of the old Natche tribe of Indians, have been employed by the Government on the Indian police force of their own reservation. Of course, they are prisoners, but only to a certain extent. They wear United States army uniforms, and they are not molested in any way, but a certain surveillance is kept over them by the troops at the fort."

"As for the climate of the place where they are, it is perfect for ten months of the year. When I was there a 'norther' set in. It was so cold that the cattle froze on the plains. Yet all the Indians on the reservation seemed well clothed and sheltered. Their dress was a combination of their own picturesque attire and our modern garb. They were really well dressed. The women wore warm stockings, while some of the Apache belles had high-heeled shoes. Their wagons and horses are in excellent condition."

"I had a long talk with Geronimo, but there is really little I can tell you of it. I know we talked of his squaw, who was ill at the time. He is a dignified old Indian, and the thing that struck me most was that he seemed well satisfied with his condition. He also showed a great desire to follow the ways of civilization. Another point I remember was that he was delighted when I gave him photographs of Gen. Miles and Buffalo Bill. The next day he had both pictures framed by one of the men on the reservation and hung up."

"I hardly think that there are many people on the face of the globe in any similar station of life so well treated as are Geronimo and his people," said Major Burke in conclusion. "Officers from Fort Sill go over to the reservation to see that everything is all right. It is, of course, a curious condition."

"They are well clothed and all the produce of the reservation is used by the Government. They have a fine store there, and they were doing a good business. The Indians had been sold off. They were not but a few, and they were either, but they were in such necessities as food, clothing, harness and clothing."

Secretary Wilson has undertaken to teach the women of this country how to make good bread. He has prepared and published a bulletin which will be sent to all who apply to the agricultural department for copies. It begins with the kernel of wheat and gives both a scientific and a popular description of the properties and the way to use it to the best advantage.

CRONJE AT ST. HELENA.

He is at Longwood, Napoleon's Old Home.

Cronje, the lion of South Africa, has arrived at St. Helena and occupies the prison of Napoleon, once the master of the world.

The French are loud in their sympathy for the gallant Cronje, and they are furious, almost beyond expression, that the British should put the rough old Boer farmer on a level with the great Napoleon.

To an impartial outsider the situation has some amazing features, but it will not decrease the accumulation of anti-British sentiment that is stored up in various parts of the world.

Sending Cronje and his men to St. Helena puts escape entirely out of the question, as the Boers have not even a ship to send after him. The island is 1,200 miles from the nearest African shore, about 2,000 miles from the Transvaal and many thousand miles from anywhere else.

Longwood is a long, low, rambling building. It was originally a barn of the East India Company. It was then converted into a residence and is really a comfortable country house. It is situated, however, in one of the driest, coldest and most inaccessible parts of the island. It was for the last named quality that it was chosen as a residence for Napoleon.

The Emperor, who had been used to the dry and cheerful climate of France and Southern Europe, complained bitterly of the dampness of Longwood. He demanded one thousand weight of firewood a month, whereupon Sir Hudson Lowe, the Governor, remarked that he only used three hundred weight himself, and refused any more. There were long and angry discussions between Sir Hudson and Napoleon's suite on the subject of firewood.

Longwood can be watched all the time from Plantation House, the residence of the Governor, and commanded by guns from the same place.

It is not likely that Cronje will make the same complaint about cold and hardship as Napoleon, because he has been used to the rough, hard life of a farmer. What worries him about St. Helena is that it makes escape impossible, of which he had a pretty good chance at Cape Town.

Cronje will receive the same treatment from the British soldiers as Napoleon did, in order to make the strange chain of historical repetition complete. Napoleon was not allowed to go anywhere about the island without having a red-coated soldier follow him or the members of his suite without a special pass from the Governor. The officer in charge of the guard was instructed by the Governor to drop in "as if by accident" whenever Napoleon was seen conversing with a stranger outdoors and hear everything said. This treatment really killed Napoleon, for he refused to take exercise when subject to such spying, and this brought on the illness from which he died.

THE YOUNGEST SHRINER.

Not Yet Twenty-two Years Old, but is on the High Road of Masonry.

The subject of this sketch, Mr. John S. Curtis of Ludlow, Penn., claims to be the youngest Shriner and Thirty-second Degree Mason in the United States. This is equivalent to saying that he is the youngest Shriner in the world, the prerequisites of membership in the countries of Europe being such that no applicant for the order can pass through the councils of Masonry which are in any way with and recognized by the Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine in the brief space of time covered in conferring the degrees upon this applicant. Mr. Curtis is not yet 22 years of age. His application for Masonic membership was presented in May, 1909, when he became of age, and he was made a Thirty-second Degree Mason of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite at Pittsburgh Consistory on Nov. 24 of the same year. On the 13th of December he was made a Noble of the Mystic Shrine at Zem Zem Temple, Erie, Penn. Zem Zem is the name of a famous Arabic well in Mecca. The Temple by this name has been organized nine years, and now has a membership of 598, claiming to have made the greatest gain of any Temple in the United States during the past five years. To the Imperial Council, which meets at Washington in May, Mr. Curtis has recently been named as a delegate.—Lancaster Weekly.

Napoleon Relic.

Among Napoleonic relics sold in London recently was a remnant of the flag made by the women of St. Helena which covered Napoleon's coffin when conveyed to the French war ship Belle Poule for transportation to France. It has always been a favorite occupation of women who have any military connections to embroider these emblems and the flag now floating over Lady Smith was worked by Lady Roberts.

MINOR OFFICES.

The Court of Appeals is Asked to Take up the Cases.

Frankfort, Ky., June 13—In the Court of Appeals yesterday Attorney General Breckinridge filed a motion to docket and advance the cases of the contests for minor State offices and to discharge the supersedeas bonds. The court took the matter under advisement. The claim is made that by reason of the supersedeas the business of the State is utterly at a standstill. The interest on the bonded debt is due, yet can not be paid, though there is ample money for that and for all other purposes of the State.

Don't Kill the Birds.

In all of my life and observation I have never seen so many insects, bugs and worms, that destroy the crops of the farmer, as now. In 1776 the Hessian fly was introduced to this country. For nearly a century the birds kept down the fly. In the last 25 years there has been a steady increase, until nearly all the states are now troubled with them. Wheat that was in good condition the first of April today will be turned under and the ground put in corn. Last April was the most favorable to the cut worm and the wire worm. The ground is full of them ready to take the young corn.

The cause of this case has been the destruction of the birds. I saw in a fashion paper that there had been over $1,000,000 worth of birds sold for the decoration of ladies' hats in New York. If this government does not take hold of this question, and each state pass laws prohibiting the killing of birds, we will have a famine equal to India. This is no idle talk. "We never miss the water till the well runs dry." Here is a greater issue than prohibition, than expansion, greater than fighting the trusts. It is a fight for bread. We will not starve this year nor next, but as sure as God reigns, as sure as day follows night, if there is not heroic measures taken, and that soon, the hand writing will be seen upon the wall. Let each state pass a law prohibiting the wearing of birds on hats and at the same time pass stringent laws for their protection. The most of the birds that destroy insect life in the north are nearly extinct. The birds of song are all insect eaters. A flock of quail on farm are a thousand times more valuable alive than dead.

I crossed a field of wheat the last of March that would have made under favorable conditions 20 bushels to the acre. On April 21 I crossed the same field. Wheat all gone; but the flies were there by the millions. When God made the earth all animal life was forming with everything that exists. The San Jose scale seems to be a new insect, but it is not. It has been kept in check by birds, and will eventually cover all the country, if not destroyed.

Not many years ago the Colorado potato bug was unheard of, but the bug keeps marching on. It is an issue that all parties can agree on. God pity that man who does not look after his future interests and the interests of his children and the welfare of his country. Oh, that I could make this language strong enough to have this subject taken up by every newspaper in the land. Ye wage-earners, it concerns you. If the farmer fails you go to the wall first. The farmer can get along while you go supperless to bed. Let every reader of the Blade sound the tocsin. Cut this out and have it published in your home paper, or something similar on this subject.

I burned over a field of clover before plowing for corn. In one space of not over ten feet, if there was one dead worm, there were 500 dead cut worms. I do not believe in worrying or crossing bridges before getting to them, but it is a good plan to be ready for any Indiana has a law protecting the buzzard; $5 fine for killing one. The buzzard has caused the loss of thousands of dollars worth of property by carrying contagious diseases from place to place. The English sparrow has not a single redeeming trait that I know of. If any of the ladies wish either of these birds to wear on their hats I say amen to it; the more they wear the better.

All foreign countries recognize the value of birds and have stringent laws for their protection. France having the best, as they have crops that would be destroyed year by year if not for the birds and toads. The prospect for the summer is dry, and with all of these obnoxious insects the farmer will have a tussle to make both ends meet this year.—W. M. Woodworth, Sycamore, Ind.

GROWING GOLD

The Mystery Has Been Satisfactorily Explained by a Chemist's Experiments.

It is generally supposed that the nuggets which are found in the river gravels of Klondike and other auriferous regions have been brought down by the rivers direct from the reefs in which the gold originally lay.

Many practical miners and scientific men, however, have long been of opinion that this cannot be the case, says the London Mail, for no masses of gold of so large a size are ever found in the reefs themselves. They believe, on the other hand, that the nuggets have grown where they are now found, just as a crystal of salt will grow in strong brine; but with so insoluble a substance as gold it was difficult to understand how such growth could take place. Experiments carried out in Australia have shown that decaying vegetable matter will cause the deposition of gold from solutions of gold salts, but these salts are not known to occur in reefs.

The mystery is now solved. A Slavonic chemist named Zizimody has just shown that gold itself can exist in a soluble form. By acting on a slightly alkaline solution of a gold salt with formaldehyde and submitting the product to dialysis he has succeeded in obtaining gold in a colloidal condition, in which state it is soluble in water and may be precipitated by the addition of common salt. It is probable that some of the gold in quartz reefs exists in this condition. It is washed out by the rain, carried away in solution by the rivers, and deposited in the river gravels wherever there is anything containing salt to cause its precipitation. In the course of ages a large nugget may in this way be formed.

SWELLS ON STREET CARS.

They Cause a Foreigner Much Surprize While Traveling in This Country.

"Nothing that I have seen in the United States," says a European, who has just returned to his native country, "seemed more typical of American institutions, than the people on street cars. The passengers or one of these vehicles epitomize the whole character of the country. I was astonished the first time I saw women beautifully dressed climb into them and take their places next to workmen, and in the evening dress take their places alongside persons dressed in the poorest fashion. The sight is one that could not be duplicated in any other country in the world. There are, of course, trams in all the great European cities, but they are more restricted in the quality of their patrons. In them one sees the comfortably dressed and the poor. But not people of the social position who ride here in the public conveyances. The reason of course, is the prevalence abroad of the cheap cabs, which are low enough in price to be accessible to anybody but those of the humblest means. Sometimes they are used by persons who find it cheaper to carry bundles in that way than to send them by messengers. Americans who go to Europe have been astonished sometimes to see washerwomen delivering their baskets in cabs. But that sight is not more surprising to them than it is to the foreigner who sees women beautifully dressed in the public street cars. Such a thing might be come possible some day in Europe, if such comfortable means of traveling were to be found in the European cities as those that exist here."

VASTLY DIFFERENT.

Great Contrast Between the Lives Led by the Money-Getter and the Money-Spender.

A man and woman boarded a Euclid car the other day and attracted considerable attention from the other passengers, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. There was nothing flashy or sensational in their appearance, and yet they were a pair who would be sure to draw more than ordinary notice. She was handsome, fine-eyed, broad of shoulders, full in figure, a rich color in her cheek, a mass of dark hair beneath her plumed hat—the highest type of a well-fed, well-groomed society woman. By her side sat a slender, slightly stoop-shouldered, hollow-cheeked, wrinkled man. His complexion was like parchment, his eyes were weak, his hair thin. As he raised his gloved hand it trembled slightly. His age might be anywhere between 40 and 70.

"That's the modern contrast," said a man on the back seat. "One is the money getter, the other the money spender. That fellow makes himself prematurely old grubbing for dollars to decorate the woman. Look at her, and then look at him. I'll bet she sleeps the sleep of the just, while he has seven distinct kinds of insomnia. It's too bad!"

"Say, you're not a married man, are you?" inquired the youth with the loud plaid necktie, who sat next to the moralist.

"You bet your life I'm not!" coarsely replied the latter.

For Malaria, Chills and Fever

THE BEST PRESCRIPTION IS Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic.

The formula is plainly printed on every bottle—hence you know just what you are taking when you take Grove's. Imitators do not advertise their formula knowing that you would not buy their medicine if you knew what it contained. Grove's contains Iron and Quinine put up in correct proportions and is in a Tasteless form. The Iron acts as a tonic while the Quinine drives the malaria out of the system. Any reliable druggist will tell you that Grove's is the Original and that all other so-called Tasteless Chill Tonics are imitations. An analysis of other chill tonics shows that Grove's is superior to all others in every respect. You are not experimenting when you take Grove's—its superiority and excellence having long been established. Grove's is the only Chill Cure sold throughout the entire malarial sections of United States. No Cure, No Pay. Price, 15c.
