YOUTSEY WAS FOUND GUILTY.

The Jury at Georgetown, Ky., Aseas ed His Punishment at Imprisonment for Life.

Georgetown, Ky., Oct. 20.-The jury in the case of Henry Youtsey, on trial on the charge of being a principal in the Goebel assassination, returned a verdict of guilty, and fixing the penalty at life imprisonment. When the jury was called Judge Cantrill asked: "Gentlemen, have you made a verdict?"

The foreman, R. H. McCabe, nodded his head. "Pass up the papers to the clerk," said the judge.

The sheriff passed them up, and the clerk read the following: "We, the jury, find the defendant guilty, and fix his punishment at confinement in the penitentiary for life." "Gentlemen, is that your verdict?"

asked the judge: The jury was then discharged, and the trial was at an end.

It was learned from one of the urymen that no ballot was taken Friday night, and that the vote was unanimous that Youtsey was guilty, gland have formed an alliance to maintain territorial integrity of China and to keep ports open.

The terms of this agreement, which was arrived at October 16 between Lord Salisbury and Count Von Hatzfeldt, German ambassador to England, are officially given out as follows:

"The German government and her British majesty's government being desirous to maintain their interests in China and their rights under existing treaties, have agreed to observe the following principles regarding a mutual policy in China:

Terms of the Agreement. "Firstly-It is a matter of joint permanent international interest that the ports on the rivers and litteral of China should remain free and open to trade, and to throw every other legitimate form of economic activity for the peoples of all countries without distinction; and the two governments agree on their part to uphold the same for all Chinese territory as di, Sunday, carrying everything be-

the American Policy. Washington, Oct. 20 .- The state department here has not yet been advised officially of the terms of the alliance reported from London to opment in its colonies in India and have been reached between Germany and England to maintain territorial integrity of China and to keep ports millions of dollars, much of which, he open. While the move gives general satisfaction here, the officials say that it probably is a misnomer to call it an alliance. What probably has happened, they say, has been a reaffirmation of principles already agreed upon, not only being England and Germany, but between all of the great powers interested in China. Again, the officials point to the note of Secretary Hay, of July offered, defining the position of the United States, and declaring it to be its policy, among other things, to "presive territorial and administrative entity, protect all rights guaranteed to friendly powers by treaty and international laws New Orleans 4.0 0.0 1.28 and safeguard for the world the principle of equal and impartial trade with all parts of the Chinese empire." The records show that all the great powers accepted the principle of this guarantee of territorial integrity. Their expressions on the point of commercial freedom were not quite as explicit as in the case of territorial integrity, and it appears from a study of the British-German agreement, above referred to, that particular care has now been taken to clear up any doubts on this point.

ON A FLYING TRIP HOME. Response to a Summons From Washington.

New York, Oct. 20 .- Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood, governor of Cuba, arrived from Havana. He will proceed immediately to Washington, and return to Havana by way of Tampa, Fla.

Gen. Wood said: "I came up from Havana at the request of the department and to make preparations to take my family down to Cuba, as I shall be unable to some up again during the winter. I shall return to Havana before the end of October, in order to be on hand for the constitutional convention, which meets November 5 next. Affairs are quiet in Cuba, and the people are busy preparing for the convention. The death rate in Havana, including yellow fever, is smaller than for many years. The recent increase in yellow fever cases is attributed to the large immigration of unimpune Spaniards.

The secretary was a large holder of real estate in this city, having invested extensively in that line from time to time during his residence here. Conservative estimates of his wealth place it at a round million dollars, most of which is believed to consist of Washington real estate. Other investments consist of securities, and it is stated that the old family home at Mansfield, O., remained in his possession, notwithstanding reports that he had disposed of it prior to his return to Washing-

The funeral will be held at the Sherman residence early Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Alexander Mackay-Smith, rector of St. Johns church, officiating. The hour has not yet been determined, as the railway arrangements for transporting the body to Mansfield, O., depend on a message from President Cassatt of the Pennsylvania. Services will be held in Mansfield on Thursday, which President McKinley will attend.

It is known that Mr. Sherman left a will, but no information as to its contents or even when it will be probated will be obtainable until after

His remarkable vitality brought him through a relapse which he suffered during the heated term, and by autumn he had again regained much of his strength, and seemed to be in his home in this city, enjoying fairly good health, occasionally going out to social affairs and attending the theater with the members of his family. The family left here early in the summer for the old homestead at Mansfield, O.

THE POWERS ARE GETTING TOGETHER.

The Notes Indicate a Spirit Analagous to That Embodied in the Anglo-German Agreement, and Augur Well for a Speedy Negotiation of Peace with China.

Washington, Oct. 22 .- The state department made public the correspondence which has taken place between itself and the French government since the original French note respecting China, which laid down the terms suggested by France as a basis of negotiation for a settlement. This last correspondence consists of two notes exchanged between Secretary Hay and M. Thiebaut, last week, putting in formal shape certain verbal statements of importance respecting the negotiation.

An interesting and important feature of the United States note is the closing suggestion that the powers bind themselves again to preserve dustriously circulated with an evi-Chinese territorial integrity, and to maintain the "open door," exactly the objects aimed at in the British-German agreement or alliance, which was made public Saturday. While this note by Secretary Hay bears date officials of the dock commission, the of October 19, and the British-German agreement is assigned the date of October 16, the action of this government was taken in ignorance of the yune. agreement, and it is entirely possible that it may have been the means of bringing about a disclosure of its purposes. Our suggestion indicates a favorable response by the United States government to the invitation to join with Great Britain and Germany in the objects specified. [Translated.]

Embassy of the French Republic to the United States., Washington, October 17, 1900: The government of the Republic has highly appreciated the response which the government of the United States has made to its note of the fourth of October; it has been especially gratifying to it to observe the sentiments of sympathy for France which have evidently inspired that reply.

All the interested powers have adhered to the essential principle of the French note. In so far as concerns the points which have called forth comments on the part of certain cabinets, they could, it would seem, be discussed among the part of certain cabinets, they could, it would seem, be discussed among the powers or between their diplomatic rep-resentatives at Pekin in the course of the negotiations and receive such modifica-tions as might be judged necessary in order to more surely and speedily attain the mmon end.

The essential thing now is to show the Chinese government, which has declared itself ready to negotiate, that the powers are animated by the same spirit, that they are decided to respect the integrity of China and the independence of its government, but that they are none the less resolved to obtain the satisfaction to which they have a right.

which they have a right.

In this regard it would seem that if the proposition which has been accepted as the basis of negotiations were communicated to the Chinese plenipotentiaries by the ministers of the powers at Pekin, or in their name by their dean, this step would be of a nature to have a happy influence upon the determinations of the emperor of China and his government.

To Raise Cotton in Africa.

Says an item from Atlanta, Ga.: Booker T. Washington, president of Tuskegee (Ala.) normal and industrial institute for negroes, announces that officials of the German government had closed a contract with his school to furnish studeats to introduce cotton raising araong the natives in the German colony on the west coast of Africs.. On November 3 a party of studer.ts, equipped with cotton-plows, gins, wagons and carpenter tools, will sail from New York for the new fields. The party will be under the leadership of J. N. Calloway, instructor in the institute. The Germans will pay all expenses of the expedition and a good salary to each man. The expedition is regarded as the beginning of a formidable competition with America in the cotton raising industry. German agents colony can produce at small expense

Rice's Gifts to Houston.

The trustees of the William M. Rice institute have filed for record the deed executed June 20, 1892, by the late William M. Rice and his wife, Elizabeth Baldwin Rice, whereby they gave to the William M. Rice institute for the advancementb of literature, science and art, the property in Houston (Tex.) known as the Capitol hotel and the Rice building adjoining it. The property thus given is a five-story building, covering a quarter of a block, and a three-story building, 50 by 100 feet, and is probably worth $500,000. They had previously given thousands of dollars to the institution.

A "Strike" on Ship-Board By George H. Coomer.

I IS seldom that a whaler has a better crew than had the ship Andromache, during a voyage that I galley!" once made in her. The greater part of her hands were young men with high and just appreciations in the business they had adopted. Our boat steerers were fine, capable fellows, and as to our three mates, they were men who went about their duties in a sturdy, sensible manner, without abusing those under them.

But there was one serious drawback to our content. Our captain, besides being a harsh man, was so extremely close-fisted as to begrudge us every mouthful of provision that we consumed. Interested in the vessel as a part owner, he appeared to think that we were really doing him an injury by eating at all; so that whenever a new barrel of beef was "broken out," as the term is, we were sure to hear a violent outburst from him about our wastefulness. Nevertheless, in the earlier part of the voyage we fared tolerably well in spite of his fault-finding. While, he confined himself to mere words, we could put down the "salt junk" in silence, and feel equal to a 20-mile pull "cutting in." However weary we might be, it was a great satisfaction to reflect that a good solid meal of beef and bread awaited us at the end

But at length there came a change. We were cruising in the South Atlantic, away down by Tristan de Acunha, when the "old man," as we called him, introduced a "reform" in our manner shook his fist in our faces. of living, putting us on an allowance of one pound of beef and bone per

"No more whaling on empty stomachs," we said; "let the full-fed ones catch the whales."

It was settled that the shipkeeper tain, presenting our ultimatum as to what we would and would not do. No positive mutiny should be set on foot, no criminal act committed; but either we must have a full allowance of provisions or the ship must be headed for home-otherwise we would refuse duty.

"No, sir, there is no mutiny. We will go to work the moment you agree to feed us as we ought to be fed, but not before, except so far as to take the ship home."

"You're a fine lot of mutineers, I must say!" cried the commander. "And as for you, shipkeeper, I've a good mind to put you in irons! Refuse duty, do you? I'll see whether or not you'll obey orders when the time comes!'

We went forward, even the helmsman leaving his post, so that the officers had to steer. "I hope we shall raise that school of whales again before night," remarked one of our young fellows. 'We ought to have kept our lookouts aloft, the same as ever."

"No," replied the shipkeeper; "we've nothing more to do with lookouts. Let the old man find whales for himself-we're out of that busi-

"But then, you know," said another, "the sooner we raise one, the sooner we'll bring the old man to his senses.' The shipkeeper was about answering, when a stirring call rang out from the quarter deck.

"There she blows!" It was the voice of the chief mate. Starting up, we saw directly off the ship's quarter and not more than half a mile distant, two large whales, one at the oars or a 12 hours' task at of which lay spouting upon the water, while the other was just in the act of shooting above the surface.

The captain flew around like a wild

AN EXAMPLE OF CHICAGO'S SHAME.

Under this title the Chicago Tribune prints the picture here reproduced. It was taken by a newspaper artist a few days ago, and shows a garbage box in the court between the city hall and county building. The four urchins are searching the mass of garbage and debris for cigar stumps, which they sell to manufacturers of cheap cigarettes. It is not only an eloquent commentary on the poverty prevailing among the waif class in Chicago, but likewise an irrefutable argument that Chicago is one of the dirtiest cities in the world. Consumers of cigarettes can also draw a wholesome lesson from it.

History of the Word Soldier. The word "soldier" has an interesting history. "Shilling," in low Latin, is "solidus," whence comes "soldum," "wages." The man who fights for New Testament (Luke 3, 14) John the Baptist bids the soldiers to "be apayed with your sowdis," ("be content with your wages"), "sowdis" being the North Country rendering of "soldis," like "owd" from "old."

The Most Important Period in a Woman's Existence.—Mrs. Johnson Tells How She Was Helped Over the Trying Time.

Owing to modern methods of living, not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very proaches this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very annoying, and sometimes painful symptoms.

Those dreadful hot flashes, sending the blood surging to the heart until it seems ready to burst, and the faint feeling that follows, sometimes with chills, as if the heart were going to stop for good, are only a few of the symptoms of a dangerous nervous trouble. The nerves are crying out for assistance. The cry should be heeded in time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life.

The three following letters are guaranteed to be genuine and true, and still further prove what a great medicine Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is for women.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: - I have been sick for a long time. I was taken sick with flooding. All my trouble seemed to be in the womb. I ache all the time at the lower part of the womb. The doctor says the womb is covered with ulcers. I suffer with a pain on the left side of my back over the kidney. I am fifty years old and passing through the change of life. Please advise me what to do to get relief. Would like to hear from you as soon as possible."— MRS. CHARLOTTE JOHNSON, Monclova, Ohio.

"I have been taking your remedies, and think they have helped me a great deal. I had been in bed for ten weeks when I began taking your Vegetable Compound, but after using it for a short time I was able to be up around the house. The aching in the lower part of womb has left me. The most that troubles me now is the flowing. That is not so bad, but still there is a little every day. I am not discouraged yet, and shall continue with your medicine, for I believe it will cure me."—MRS. CHARLOTTE JOHNSON, Monclova, Ohio.

April 13, 1900. "I send you this letter to publish for the benefit of others. I was sick for about nine years so that I could not do my work. For three months I could not sit up long enough to have my bed made. I had five different doctors, and all said there was no help for me. My trouble was change of life. I suffered with ulceration of the womb, pain in sides, kidney and stomach trouble, backache, headache, and dizziness. I am well and strong, and feel like a new person. My recovery is a perfect surprise to everybody that knew me. I owe all to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I would not do without your medicine for anything. There is no need of women suffering so much if they would take your remedies, for they are a sure cure."—MRS. CHARLOTTE Johnson, Monclova, Ohio.

When one stops to think about the good Mrs. Johnson derived from Mrs. Pinkham's advice and medicine, it seems almost beyond belief; yet it is all true as stated in her three letters published above at her own request. As a matter of positive fact Mrs. Pinkham has on file thousands of letters from women who have been safely carried through that danger period "Change of Life." Mrs. Johnson's cure is not an unusual one for Mrs. Pinkham's medicine to accomplish.

Place Where Immigrants Must Answer Many Questions.

Not All Who Come to Our Shores Are Sermitted to Land-Work of the Commissioner of Immigration.

[Special New York Letter.] GREAT crowd of people is pushing against the rope that has been stretched along the outer edge of the walk in front of the barge office on the Battery. Men and women are struggling with one another in their endeavor to get to the front. Four policemen parade up and down the line, swinging little canes in a vain attempt to keep order.

From the door of the building a stream of immigrants is pouring.

GREETING HIS SON WITH A KISS.

There are men clad in clothing made of queer cloth and cut in quaint shapes. There are women-mostly without head covering-dressed in the picturesque costumes of the far-away countries. Some are leading by the hands little children attired in miniature imitation of old women and old men, and others carry in their arms big bundles of shawls and rags, beneath the corners of which peer the shining eyes of Those coming down the steps have met their relatives and their friends. Those without the rope are seeking the loved ones who have come from beyond the sea. There is a wild jargon of voices-a strange commingling of many tongues. Just off the walk, up toward the Battery park, an old man in a long coat, a skull cap, with gray beard and stooped shoulders has thrown his arms around his son and kissed him on the cheek. Not far from here a young woman stands bewildered and alone. Her escort who had met her on the borders of the strange land has left her for a moment, and she has surrounded by a horde of raps clous expressmen. Within the building, close to the identification desk, is a tall, lank Dutchman. On his head is an odd little Dutch cap. His trousers have a hitch and his coat has a swing that betrays his nationality. It has only been a few days since he discarded the wooden shoes of his fatherland and his baggage bears about it the air of dykes and ditches. To each one of the attendants who passes he says, in low Dutch: "Have you seen my Jacob? Tell me if you have seen my Jacob?"

Out on the esplanade three Turks are making salams to an aged father. An old Russian woman, speechless with joy, is clinging like a child to the skirts of a daughter who led the way to the wonderful America. And above it all may be heard the rollicking laugh of the Irish lad, surrounded by his friends who have preceded him and are already giving him information on the ins and outs of city polities.

The ship has come in. And some come with joy and some with sadness. If you care to study the great foreign population of America, as it comes to us in the original form, you should spend one day with the commissioners of immigration. Last year 400,000 immigrants came to this country-a pretty good indication of the rapidity with which the land of liberty is filling up. You doubtless have seldom given heed
