A SAD TRAGEDY.

John F. Howerton Meets His Death in Evansville.

The young man killed by a negro in Evansville on Monday, the 25 ult., proved to be John F. Howerton. Mr. George Howerton, the father of the young man, Dr. R. L. Moore and E. H. Doss went to Evansville on Wednesday and identified the body. The remains were embalmed and on Thursday evening were removed from Evansville to the home of Mr. Howerton near Repton. As to the direct nature of the trouble between Howerton and the negro nothing definite can be learned. The doctors that examined the body of Howerton state that his death was not caused by the blow of the negro, but that in falling after being struck by the negro, his head struck the stone curbing and the skull was fractured, causing death. Other theories are advanced, and many believe that the unfortunate man was struck with an axe or a spade. The negro is now in custody.

It is said that Howerton left home with $110.00 in his possession, but only a few dollars were found on examining the body at the hospital. The remains were laid to rest in the new cemetery in this city Saturday afternoon. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of the entire community. The affair is a most sad and lamentable one.

The Grand Jury.

Here are some interesting statistics as to the general make-up of the last grand jury. The letters R. or D. stand for their politics, the figures for their ages and the letter at the end of the line for the denomination to which they belong religiously:

A. LaRue, foreman; R, 43, B.
T. Terry, clerk; D, 43, S. P.
E. Davis, sheriff; D, 28, M.
B. Phillips, D, 41, M.
M. McConnell, D, 50, B.
M. Lindle, D, 68, C.
H. Hudspeth, D, 63, B.
H. S. Wheeler, R, 50, C. P.
R. N. Walker, D, 68, M.
E. Jennings, R, 31, B.
W. Hunt, R, 50, B.
J. C. Funkhouser, R, 45, M.

"A Dark Opening."

The interior of Miss Payne's millinery store presented a lovely and magnificent appearance, during the opening last week. The first exhibition of the beautiful hats and dress goods was a novel one—being known as "A Dark Opening." The glass front of the store was darkened, and amid the glare of the brilliant incandescent lights, the pretty hats and the elegant decorations, arranged in such an artistic and tasteful manner, presented a most enchanting spectacle indeed. Of course the beauty of the affair was greatly enhanced by the presence of Miss Payne and her corps of assistants, Misses Ruth Thomas, Agnes Davis, Lucy Walker.

THE NEW RAILROAD.

Some Sound, Pertinent Suggestions as to Its Terminus.

EDITOR PRESS: I see by an article in your last week's paper that the Salem and Livingston county people are getting interested in securing a railroad for that town. I am glad to hear this and hope they will succeed in their undertaking, and before the close of the year 1901 have trains running into Salem. But are they not making a mistake as to the place they want to tap the Illinois Central railroad at? I think they are. Marion would be a much better point than Mexico. A much easier grade can be got from Salem to Marion than from Salem to Mexico, or any other point on the Illinois Central R. R. The head waters of Claylick creek are in or very near the town of Marion. The grade from Marion to Claylick valley and down the creek is easy and light and material along the creek and route abundant and suitable to construct the road bed. I also think the right of way on this line could be obtained for less than on any other line, as the road would necessarily follow the meanders of the stream until it left the valley to go out into Salem. I am of the opinion that a good outlet with an easy grade can be found from Salem to the Claylick valley.

If the promoters of the Salem enterprise will investigate the Claylick route to Marion I think they will find it much the best; it will also pass through a better farming and mineral country and more mines now being operated in Livingston and Crittenden counties will, I think be in closer touch with this route than any other. If the Salem and Livingston promoters will get the survey or profiles of the survey made by the Ohio Valley railroad from Marion via Dycusburg to Kuttawa, when that road was being located, they will find that the Claylick route has many advantages over any other. When that survey was made they got down to the water level without any difficulty from Marion, their starting point. I have no doubt but this survey referred to, with profiles of same, and all information desired can be had by applying to the Illinois Central R. R. officials. Mr. C. C. Genung, the chief engineer of the Ohio Valley railroad when this survey was made, also in locating the Ohio Valley railroad.

Respectfully,
One that was With the Surveyors,

FROM THE ORIENT.

Another Interesting Letter from Corporal Smith.

PEKIN, CHINA, Feb. 4, 1901.

Mrs. Della Hughes, Weston, Ky.: My Dear Sister: I this evening received your long looked for letter; better late than never. I am well and fat, have not been sick for a long time, not since I have been here. Was worn out on the hike, was sick for about two weeks. Everybody was done up, but all are feeling fine now. Have had fine weather all winter, a few cold days.

We are not drilling any more; we are painting the battery. They want to get it fixed up before we go to the States. I was at the Dalins funeral on the 2d of the month. They had a parade. All nations had troops there. The Royal Artillery fired one hundred guns; the English had the finest uniforms; they had full dress uniforms. The Japs are fine little soldiers. They are a well drilled and well organized army.

The Germans are no good. They have some good 3-inch guns, but their equipments are not good and their houses are very poor. The French will do very well. The English have fine horses.

I am coming home when my time expires but don't know how long I will stay. My time is out the 13th of March. When you answer this write to Gentryville, Ind.

I am glad the young folks are having a fine time. I would like to spend Christmas with you. What did you have for dinner? We had chicken, mashed potatoes, cranberry sauce, peas, milk, ham, eggs, cakes, pickles, cocoa, bread and coffee. The chicken was stuffed and baked. We have a long oven that they baked bread for all the troops. Eggs are cheap and all kinds of fruit is cheap. Last Friday we played the English and beat them. The Russians beat us at "the tug of war."

We have lots of sweet potatoes here, they do not raise any Irish potatoes.

They carry everything on camels here; there are hundred in one train to carry coal from the mountains.

We had a hard time on the hike from Taku to Pekin, but it did not last long. We have not done anything since. We see a good time. We went out into the country on two hikes, ones five days and one ten days, and had a fine time. We took everything with us, we found a few Chinese that were robbing and killing peaceable people, and we routed them. The most got away in the mountains. Those kinds of trips are like going on a picnic.

We have church Sundays, and at night all kinds of lectures, plays, and entertainments. We have a fine band. I will tell you what we do around camp: some play ball, some sleep, some write, jump, and read, some clean out the tent, go horseback riding, go to see the racing, and lots of things.

We had an entertainment and invited the English Artillery. They returned the compliment. We had the band, which cost us $1.50 each.

Well I will close as it is about mail time. I remain, as ever your brother, Corpl. Wayne Smith.

CARRSVILLE.

Our Growing Neighbor is Jubilant Over Its Bright Prospects.

CARRSVILLE, Ky.,
March 28, 1901.

DEAR EDITOR: We desire through the medium of your excellent paper to speak about prospective enterprises, which we hope will soon be ours in reality.

Railroad talk is in the air. The people are breathing the air, and hence the talk. But from the way things are looking up it will not be all air and talk. The mineral man Barnes came down Saturday and talked about mines, minerals, and a railroad. The people heard him gladly. A commercial club was organized that night with all the business men here as members. W. A. Boyd is President and C. P. Threlkeld Secretary. This meeting was followed by a mass meeting Tuesday night. Farmers were present who live six, eight and ten miles out. It was an all talk meeting and all talked. The thermometer registered 100 talk in favor of the road. But how much are you in favor of it? That was the test. But with Kentucky public spiritedness the farmers donated the right of way through their farms. The town people responded liberally. In all about one thousand dollars was subscribed; more will soon follow.

But we might ask, what material benefit will this road bring to Carrsville and the territory through which it may meander? Much in every way. It would be beneficial for speedy shipments in and out, other than a treacherous aquatic one. The Ohio river during two periods of the year is of little service. In summer the water is too low to permit the passage of any sized steamer, many times none at all, and in winter it is gorged with ice. Again, the building of the road would furnish employment to many deserving ones who battle with great difficulties for existence. Again, it would stimulate the people to develop to the greatest extent our mineral wealth. The prospective mines now lying dormant would yield their contents to zealous workmen. Already good prospects are located on the Younger, Stone, Johnson, Watson and Bradshaw farms. But with little outside inducement and these "pockets" will yield "paying dirt" to labor's ceaseless warfare. A railroad is one great inducement to start these embryo mines to full blast. Let us look to our own material interests.

W. Hugh Watson.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

EASTER

ET forth the pure,
white lilies;
Put lust for gold
away!
Let faith supplant
ambition,
Let love once more
have sway—
Let men again be brothers,
If only for the day.

Turn back unto the Savior,
For still—aye still!—he reigns;
Forget to sigh at losses,
Forget to scheme for gains—
Close up the noisy market!
Help swell the sweet old strains.

The sky is still above us
That arch'd o'er Calvary;
The wind still stirs the grasses
That rippled Galilee—
The message Christ delivered is still for you and me.

Roll back the stone that closes
The entrance to your heart;
Let faith be resurrected,
And gloomy doubt depart.
And let God's love still shield you
Against the scouter's dart.

Once more the Easter lilies!
Once more the old sweet way
Of slipping back to childhood,
Of letting love have sway!
So shall the world be brighter
And better for the day.

THE MAGIC OF A VOICE

By Harriet Bremer Sterling

IT WAS EASTER, and half a dozen girls of the altar guild were decorating the chancel of beautiful old St. Stephen's. They had banked the window sills with moss, in which flowers were imbedded, and they had woven a leafy screen, which they had raised above the altar, and in which sprays of blossoms were so placed as to form that most sacred emblem, the cross. Meanwhile the florist had brought a number of palms and other large leaved plants and massed them in a wall of green on either side. Now while twilight fell the girls were arranging the cut flowers, pot-plants and long wreaths of, smilax which were to make pulpit desk and font alike proclaim the gladness of the Easter-tide.

"The world itself keeps Easter day," trilled Louise Mattison, as she stepped back to study the effect of her work. "There, girls," she added, in a tone of satisfaction, "how do you like the font?"

"Lovely!" cried an admiring chorus. "Now let us go," said Pauline Judson. "We are all through and we must hurry home or it will be pitch dark."

"We really should not have stayed so late as this," said Antoinette Ward. "I shall be frightened to death to go home. Did you know that one of the patients escaped from the asylum today?"

"Mercy, Antoinette! why didn't you tell us before? Are you sure it's true?"

"Yes; Dr. Barton telephoned to papa about it. They can't find a trace of him. It's that man who was so powerfully affected by your voice, Louise, the day you sang at the asylum. Do you remember? The one with such a dreadfully disfigured face."

"Remember!" cried Louise, with a shudder; "shall I ever forget? The creature still haunts my dreams!"

"We are in no danger while we have Louise," said Antoinette, with a somewhat forced gaiety. "This very man who has teased was raving, locked in a padded cell, the day we were out there, and the sound of Louise's voice in the hall as she sang quieted him so that they were able to let him out. She sang again expressly for him, and you should have seen him, sitting spellbound, drinking in every note. Should we meet him we'll just let Louise—"

"Thank you," said Louise, dryly. "but I have sung my last to lunatics. That one experience will suffice for the balance of my life. See here, girls, do you think these roses will last if they are left in the warm church all night, or would it be best to put them downstairs?"

"Oh, they'll do all right up here," said Pauline. "There is no time for further fussing. Do let's be off, for it's supper time, and, anyway, I'm afraid to stay in this dark place so late."

"Come along, Louise," said Antoinette, as the little group passed down the aisle; "you and Grace both go my way."

"Not to-night, my dear," Louise replied. "Sorry to disappoint you, but I told mother when I left home that I'd spend the night with Aunt Libbie. Do you know," she added, as they reached the vestibule, "I'm a little worried about those roses. I believe I'll just go back and carry them down into the basement. Good night, girls," she called, as she turned back into the church. "Don't wait for me. I'm not a bit afraid, and I take the car right at this corner, you know."

As the other girls went down the street they were noticed by the sexton, who was standing on the opposite corner talking to a friend.

"There," said he, "they're gone at last. I fixed my fires and got everything ready to look up a full hour ago, and I've been waiting around here ever since. I must get along, now I've got the chance, so good night to ye."

Crossing the street, he entered the church and peered about. It was empty and quiet. Satisfied that all was as it should be, he went out, closed and locked the great door and hurried away.

Down in the basement Louise was putting the roses in a cool corner when her ear caught the clang of the closing door. She sprang up the steps and ran across the transept and down the long side-aisle. Panting, she tried the door, shook it, rattled the knob, pounded on the panels, but all in vain. She ran to the tower door, thinking perhaps to ring the bell. That, too, was locked. She thought of the windows, but the painted saints in the chancel were, of course, immovable, and for the rest the church was lighted from the clearstory high above her head.

The basement! Surely she could get out there! Through the deepening shadows she hastened down the stairs again. Again a locked door confronted her.

"I feel like a mouse in a trap," she said to herself. "There's no use in being so frightened." She sat down on the lower step and tried to face the situation calmly. Here she was a prisoner in dear old St. Stephen's. The sexton had undoubtedly gone home for the night. Unless she was missed and searched for he would not be back until early morning, when he would come to attend to the fires. As to the possibility that she might be missed, it was very slight. Her mother supposed her to be at her aunt's, while her aunt was not definitely expecting her, and would not be surprised at her nonappearance.

"No two ways about it," thought Louise. "I'm booked to spend the night here. I might as well settle down to it, and make myself as comfortable as possible."

She rose and went slowly up the stairs, humming a little tune to keep up her courage.

As she entered the empty church a slight noise startled her. She gave herself a little shake. "Louise Mattison," she said to herself, sternly, only four pews away! Now three! Now two! And now—oh, Heaven, be merciful—he paused at the pew Louise was in, slowly turned, entered it and sat down in the outer corner.

For one deadly moment the girl's heart seemed to stop and all turned black before her eyes. Then the blood surged back to her brain and thoughts came quickly, as they do to one drowning. She remembered the insane asylum hall, and this dangerous maniac sitting mute and motionless, spellbound by the power of music.

A slight move made by her strange seat-mate brought her back to the present situation. No longer in a crowded, brightly lighted hall, but in this dark and silent church she must attempt to bind this man with music's spell, and this time her life, perhaps, depended on her success. Another movement, slight but terrifying, roused her to action. By an awful effort of will she gained control of her throat, which fear had almost paralyzed, and there, in the darkness, with a maniac as sole auditor, she sang as never in her life before.

High and clear her voice rang in the joyous Easter carols, tender and rich in the minor strains of Lenten hymns. The listener sat motionless as a statue. Sometimes Louise hoped she slept, and she would pause, but signs of restlessness ever forced her to renewed effort. On and on she sang—hymns, chants and carols, snatches of oratorios, Scotch ballads, love lyrics, college songs, and even nursery rhymes—while the tardy hours of the night dragged by.

When midnight chimed from a neighboring tower the courageous singer felt that she had reached almost the end of her strength. Yet in desperation she sang on, repeating, improvising, singing scales and exercises, now stopping to take breath, now impelled by terror to begin again, till one o'clock struck; and two; and three; and then, slowly, slowly, the blessed daylight began to appear!

The sexton of St. Stephen's, peacefully snoring away the early-morning hours, was disturbed just as the day was dawning by a loud rapping on the door. He raised the win-patient, advanced with measured tread along the aisle. At sight of him, the poor, mad creature sprang up. Then he moved slowly backward, cowering lower and lower as the doctor approached, till, crouching abjectly at Louise's feet, he burst into a flood of tears.

They led him away, still weeping and humble as a little child, while the girl sat motionless, with whirling brain and dazed eyes. Incuriously she had recognized the patrolman and sexton as they came within her field of vision; as in a dream she had heard the word of command from Dr. Barton and seen the lunatic rise; numbly she watched until he was led from her sight. Then, freed from the fearful tension of the night, weary, exhausted, her head fell backward, and she lapsed into unconsciousness.

When, after weeks of illness, Louise had fought her way back to health and strength again, it was found that the strain of those frightful hours had hopelessly injured the delicate vocal chords, and her beautiful voice was silenced forever. A fearful sacrifice, yet one that had not been in vain, for in those few hours of singing a miracle had been wrought, and the disordered mechanism of a brain had found balance. The maniac, after leaving the church, wept himself into a quiet sleep, from which he awoke a maniac no longer, but a sane man, his mental power permanently restored by the magic of a voice.—Woman's Home Companion.

The Lesson of Hope.

The great lesson of Easter is hope. It tells of life triumphing over death. Its picture is a broken grave, empty now because He who lay in it could not be holden of death. The lesson is a great deal wider in its reach, however, than the ordinary application of it. It is wonderfully comforting to know that all who sleep in Jesus God will bring again from death to life. But the victory of Easter included all that belongs to the Christian life. We suffer many defeats before we come to the last faintness, which men call dying. But there is not one of those which the glorious Easter fact may not change into a victory. Always Christian faith brings life out of death.

Many times we seem to fail, but there is a way to bring good out of every failure. Indeed, oftentimes the best thing that can come to us is defeat. It takes the self-conceit out of us. It reveals to us our weakness, and thus sets a new lesson for us—the strengthening of the weak point. It makes us more patient and sympathetic with others who fail. Then it inspires us to new courage. We rise to try again, and we determine yet to be victorious. Thus depending upon Christ we become more than conquerors through Him that loved us, and out of the graves of our vain struggles comes resurrection life.—Dr. J. R. Miller.

Best of All Our Hopes.

Is not the best of all our hopes—the hope of immortality—always before us? How can we be dull or heavy while we have that new experience to look forward to? It will be the most joyful of all our travels and adventures. It will bring us our best acquaintances and friendships. But there is only one way to get ready for immortality, and that is to love this life and live it as bravely and cheerfully and faithfully as we can.—Henry Van Dyke.

A New Easter.

Every call to self-denial is a call to a new Easter. The lower is to be sacrificed for the sake of obtaining the higher. As in the grain of wheat is hidden a secret of value and growth which can be realized only through the dying of the grain in the earth, so in every fragment of human happiness and comfort there is covered up a secret of blessing and of good which can be brought out only through the losing of it, the giving it up.—S. S. Times.

ABOUT THE SIZE OF IT.

Wife—Women always have the best of it when it comes to Easter hedges.

Husband—Of course they do. The men have to pay the freight.—Chicago Daily News.

More Nonsense.

"I think these jokes about Easter bonnets are downright stupid," said Mr. Meckton.

"Indeed!"

"Yes. The idea of a woman's asking her husband for money to get a bonnet with! Just as if she didn't have it all the time and wasn't thinking herself pretty generous if she gave him 25 cents to buy lunch with!"—Washington Star.

The Last Straw.

"Judson thought he might pull through without making an assignment, but just as he was about arranging satisfactorily with his creditors—"

"What happened?"

"The bill for his wife's Easter hat came in."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

RUSSIA USING PRESSURE.

Practically an Ultimatum Presented to China on the Manchurian Agreement.

MUST SIGN OR TAKE THE CONSEQUENCES.

The Chinese, Themselves, Said to be Divided as to the Course to be Pursued, Li Hung Chang Being in Favor of Acquiescence, While Others are Opposed.

Washington, April 1.—Information has reached here to the effect that the Russian government, being seriously perturbed by the course of China, in not signing the Manchurian agreement, largely because of the protest made by the several powers, has conveyed a distinct and unmistakable indication to China that if this course is persisted in there may be an interruption of diplomatic relations between Russia and China, and a termination of the present intercourse between them.

Little Short of an Ultimatum.

This is little short of an ultimatum that China must sign or take the consequences of a termination of her friendly relations with Russia.

To what extent the United States will take cognizance of Russia's disposition to enforce the signing of the agreement has not yet been made apparent. It appears to be the policy of the Chinese authorities to consider this as a subject that concerns the powers quite as much as it does China. The matter has become further complicated by reports reaching Washington that the Chinese authorities themselves are divided on the course to be pursued, some of the most influential, including Li Hung Chang, urging that acquiescence be given to the Russian proposals, while others insist on rejecting the agreement. The attitude of Li Hung Chang is accounted for by his well-known friendliness for Russian interests. In this case, however, there appears to be arrayed against him the strong influence of the southern viceroys, Chan Chi Tung and Lia Kun Yi, who oppose the signing of the treaty.

A Most Peculiar Status.

The reports reaching here show that the agreement has not yet been signed. Its status is most peculiar. The time within which it was to be signed expired last Tuesday, but on that day Yang Yu, the Chinese minister at St. Petersburg, fell in the legation and hurt his head, so that he was unable to transact business. This misfortune has caused much amusement here, and some irritation in certain quarters, as it has been recognized as a most timely means of avoiding a direct issue on the subject. It is not clear to what extent the Russian intimation has gone, but in any event, it gives an urgency to China's course which has not been presented thus far.

BELIEVES WAR IMPOSSIBLE.

Generals Andrade and Pietro May Take Advantage of the Situation and Start a Rebellion.

New York, April 1.—A dispatch to the Herald from San Juan, Porto Rico, says:

The Venezuelan consul here thinks war between the United States and Venezuela is impossible, as President Castro will make concessions. He says, however, that it is probable that Generals Andrade and Pietri will take advantage of the recall of Minister Loomis to start a rebellion.

Advices that came by the steamer Philadelphia were that it will be impossible to avert a rebellion.

DANGER SAID TO BE PASSED.

The Monarchist Conspiracy in Brazil Seems to Have Been Effectually Checkmated.

New York, April 1.—A dispatch to the Herald from Rio Janeiro says:

The government has sent a communication to the legations in Europe and the United States saying that there is no danger of republican institutions being overthrown by the monarchist conspiracy.

The minister of the navy has appointed a medical commission to inquire into the physical condition of Admiral Mello, and to ascertain if it is true that on the ground of health the admiral can not safely be sent to Amazona, where the government has ordered him to be sent. Admiral Mello is detained on Cobras Island.

ATTEMPT ON THE CZAR'S LIFE.

Officer of the Imperial Household Attempted to Kill the Czar and then Committed Suicide.

London, April 1.—A dispatch to the Morning Leader from Kieff says it is reported that an officer of the household attempted to assassinate the czar. He fired at his majesty, but missed. He then shot and killed himself.

The World's Fair Commission.

Washington, April 1.—The president, Saturday evening, announced the Louisiana Purchase World's fair commission at follows: Ex-Senators Thurston, of Nebraska; Carter, of Montana; Lindsay, of Kentucky, and McBride, of Oregon; ex-Representatives Allen, of Mississippi, and Martin H. Glynn, of New York; P. D. Scott, of Arkansas; John F. Miller, of Indiana, and F. A. Betts, of Connecticut. Joseph Flory, of Missouri, will probably be chosen secretary.

EXTENSIVE FOREST FIRES.

The Big Woods North of Hammon-ton, New Jersey, Burning—A Close Call for Winslow.

Hammon-ton, N. J., April 1.—One of the most extensive forest fires that have visited this section of the state is raging in the big woods north of this city.

The fire reached a point just east of the town of Winslow Sunday night, and for several hours it was feared the town would be wiped out. Men, women and children fought the flames, succeeding, by back firing, in turning the flames to the north of the town. While the men threw up trenches to keep the fire away, the women and children carried their household goods to places of safety in the fields, and are guarding them, as a change in the wind is feared. Several farm buildings, about a thousand acres of timber and thousands of cords of wood have been consumed. Many narrow escapes of the fire fighters have been reported.

EXCITEMENT IN THE PALACE.

Sunday's Earthquake in Constantinople Interrupted the Baira Ceremony—A Panic Resulted.

Constantinople, April 1.—Sunday's earthquake was felt in the Dolmabahce palace at the moment of the Baira ceremony, when the high officials were passing before the sultan's throne. A panic resulted, particularly among the diplomats in the gallery, many of whom immediately left the palace. The band ceased playing and the musicians rushed to the ceiling and portions of the chandeliers were broken, adding to the general alarm. The sultan rose from his throne and took a few steps, apparently intending to leave the chamber, but he preserved great calmness and presence of mind, which had a good effect. After a moment's hesitation his majesty reseated himself upon the throne and ordered the ceremony to proceed. A reception followed, without further incident.

CIRCULATION STATEMENT.

Monthly Circulation Statement Issued by the Comptroller of the Currency.

Washington, April 1.—The monthly circulation statement issued by the comptroller of the currency shows that at the close of business March 30, 1901, the total national bank circulation was $350,021,811, an increase for the year of $79,068,743, and an increase for the month of $1,445,150.

The circulation based on United States bonds was $320,910,906, an increase for the year of $87,625,676, and an increase for the month of $1,693,858. The circulation secured by lawful money aggregated $29,110,905, a decrease for the year of $8,557,933 and a decrease for the month of $247,708. The amount of United States registered bonds on deposit to secure circulating notes was $323,176,980 and to secure public deposits, $101,817,510.

TO RESCUE THE EMPEROR.

An Expedition to Rescue the Chinese Emperor From the Hands of the Reactionaries.

London, April 1.—The correspondent of the Globe, at Shanghai, in a dispatch dated Saturday, March 30, says he understands that the Yang Tse viceroys and Yuan Shi Kai (the military governor of Shan Tug) are prepared to dispatch 100,000 troops to Sian Fu to rescue the emperor from the hands of the reactionaries and escort him to Peking if a little pressure and promise of moral support is forthcoming from the powers interested in the open door.

The correspondent adds that the suggested expedition would prove popular in central and southern China; would result in the destruction of the anti-foreign elements, and would lead to the establishment of a progressive government at Peking.

IS KNOWN IN MINNEAPOLIS.

F. J. Barrows, Under Arrest in Manila for Commissary Frauds, Known in Minneapolis.

Chicago, April 1.—A special to the Tribune from Minneapolis, Minn., says:

Frederick J. Barrows, who is under arrest at Manila for alleged complicity in the commissary department frauds, is a Minneapolis man, well known here, where he lived for many years previous to his entry into the volunteer army. He is the son of F. G. Barrows, a prominent lumberman, and was, previous to his departure for the Philippines, a member of the Fifteenth Minnesota volunteers. He is about 30 years of age.

A STRIKE HAS BEEN AVERTED.

Demands of the Egg Testers of Chicago Granted by the Commission Merchants.

Chicago, April 1.—A threatened strike of egg testers, which promised to seriously affect the Chicago egg market, has been averted by commission merchants agreeing to the demand of the Egg Inspectors' union for a uniform scale of 25 cents per hour, a ten-hour day, and ten cents extra for each case of eggs candled after the regular close of the working day.

Johnny Reiff Rode the Winner.

London, April 1.—At the Nottingham race meeting to-day the Epperstone selling plate was won by Queen Pan, ridden by Johnny Reiff.

The Press.

R. C. WALKER, - Publisher.
WALTER WALKER, Manager.

ONE DOLLAR

Aguiñaldo took the oath of allegiance to the United States last Tuesday.

They broke the deadlock in Nebraska and two more bankers go to the United States Senate.

Carter H. Harrison was re-elected mayor of Chicago by the Democrats Monday. His majority was 30,000.

Rolla Wells, the Democratic nominee, was elected mayor of St. Louis by a majority of ten thousand Monday.

The British captured fifteen hundred horses from the Boers the other day, but the latter appear to be still a "hoss" of the red-coats.

Keep your eye on Tom L. Johnson, the Democrat who was elected mayor of Cleveland Monday. He would make a good running mate for the first place on the presidential ticket in 1904.

If brevity is wit, the April term of our fiscal court is funny. It usually takes two or three days to dispose of the business, but this year the business was accomplished in about six hours.

Seduction cases are getting to be a little too numerous on the docket of our courts, but the verdict of that jury Tuesday is calculated to lessen the circumstances that lead up to such affairs.

The editor who was banished from Manila for questioning the honesty of some of the officials who managed the supplies is now able to repeat that comforting old adage, "every cloud has its silver lining."

The United States steel corporation has increased its capital stock to $1,100,000,000. If the corporation idea continues to develop, the holdings of ordinary business men will look like thirty cents.

A scandal of considerable proportions is coming to light in the commissary department of the army in Manila. Goods shipped to the army have been stolen, and a number of officers have been arrested. The Gospel of the lowly Nazarine may follow the sword, but it must be like Peter, some distance behind.

J. Pierpont Morgan, the great financier and promoter of stupendous corporations, has called upon President McKinley and submitted a scheme for building the Panama canal. Mr. Morgan has developed a talent for handling great enterprises and manipulating great schemes that has not been rivaled since Solomon built the temple, and his success commands the admiration of men, whether they agree with him or not. If he has, as the papers indicate, placed the canal on his list of undertakings, the chances are that it will be the Panama and not the Nicaragua canal. Anyway, Mr. Morgan is the whole thing in this country.

County Judge Rochester has as yet had no reply from the Illinois Central road about that good road train, and we fear that it is to be the cities, where they already have good roads, and not the country towns, where they need them, that will get the demonstration. It's the sick who need the physician, not those who are already whole, but the sick do not always have the prestige and other things needful to propitiate the powers that be. We had hoped that the appeal of our official would be fruitful for one mile of real good road near the county seat of this county and would bear more good fruit than all that could be spoken or written in ten years.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Commonwealth Docket Completed—
Grand Jury Adjourned Tuesday.

A $4,000 Judgment in a Breach of Promise Case.

The present term of court will not complete its docket before some time next week. More than the usual number of cases will go to trial.

The following cases have been finally disposed of:

Fred Owens, three cases, detaining a woman against her will, assault and battery, breach of peace—all dismissed.

Della Monroe, petit larceny; plead guilty and was given a 30-day jail sentence.

John Quertermous, malicious shooting; acquitted by jury.

Jim Croft, assault and battery; plead guilty, fined $10.

Burl Sisco, breach of peace; plead guilty; fined $5.

H. B. Fox, causing false arrest; dismissed, commonwealth filing a statement to the effect that Ed. Waide, a material witness, was beyond the jurisdiction of the State and could not be procured.

Gus Vaughn, cruelty to animals; plead guilty, fine $10.

John Farmer, breach of peace, plead guilty, fine $5.

Lewis Gness, seduction; dismissed.

Geo. Able, two cases—false swearing and illegal voting—dismissed.

Burl Sisco, seduction. Jury could not agree upon a verdict; continued.

The case that attracted most public attention was that of Cora Hamby against W. W. Pogue, Jr. The plaintiff sued for $5,000 damages, alleging seduction under promise of marriage. The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff, giving her judgment for $4,000. The court house was packed with people to hear the argument in the case. Mr. O. M. James made the argument for the plaintiff and his speech is pronounced one of the strongest ever made in a legal battle in the court house. Mr. A. C. Moore made a masterly fight for the defendant. It is said that nine of the jurors favored a judgment for the amount asked for in the petition.

Burley Belt, Finnie Hardin, Charlie Ditterline and John Langly were jointly indicted by the grand jury for burglary. They were brought into court, counsel was appointed by the court to defend them. They were not ready for trial and were committed to jail.

The grand jury adjourned Tuesday after returning twenty-eight indictments.

FOR ASSESSOR.

In this issue Mr. J. P. Samuels is announced as a candidate for assessor. He is one of our brightest and best young teachers, and possesses splendid qualifications for the position to which he aspires. He is a Bells Mines Democrat and that means that his party can place the canal on his list of undertakings, the chances are that it will be the Panama and not the Nicaragua canal. Anyway, Mr. Morgan is the whole thing in this country.

Fine Stock.

Mr. F. M. Daniel of this county has some very fine stock. Railey, the celebrated saddle horse, and three high bred Spanish jacks are among his fine animals. Stock breeders will do well to see him. Mr. Daniel desires to thank the people for past patronage and he respectfully solicits a continuance of the same during the present season.

Notice.

Parties indebted to me for services of my horse are requested to call on R. C. Walker or Dock Driver and settle same.

Jesse Olive,
April 4, 1901.

FISCAL COURT.

A Brief Session of the Magistrates
Finishes the Business Tuesday.

Fiscal court convened, transacted its business and adjourned Tuesday—probably beating the record for brevity of a regular term of this county. The county judge and all of the justices were present; the judge insisted that all of the business could be done in one day, the justices fell in with the idea and business was dispatched with alacrity.

The following persons were allowed the amounts named "to aid in their support":

W M Markham, $18, Nancy Belt $18, Curg Hughes $5, Amanda Linn $10, Susan Hughes $5, Mack Rushing $18, John T Riley $18, Wm McD Clark $25, Wm Kemp $5, W W Teer $5, C B Moore $10, Mrs Henry Linn $12, R W Clark $18, Mary Belt $10, Mrs Pleasant $12, Rebecca Johnson and daughter $30, John Dooley for orphan child $8, orphan child of Mollie Davis $30. Total $258.

D. C. Lovelace was allowed $5 for burial of child.

Rich Linn, for pauper coffin $5. L. F. Sisco, holding inquest, $5. Messrs Flem Akers, — Phelps and E. T. Millican were released from payment of poll tax.

Judge Rochester and W. E. Todd were authorized to have the Piney bridge rebuilt.

J. G. Rochester was directed to have the bridge on Marion-Salem road, near Marion, repaired.

The county judge and attorney were directed to have the court house and jail insured.

M. V. Ford was allowed $5.50 for hauling.

The salaries of the county judge and attorney were fixed at $900 and $500, respectively.

The salary of the school superintendent was fixed at a sum equal to 10 cents for each school child reported.

Each justice was allowed $3 per diem for attending the present term of court.

ANOTHER ATTACK.

Rev. Piner Again Assaulted by James D. Ware.

James Dudley Ware walked into the railroad station at Hopkinsville Friday where Dr. W. K. Piner was waiting to take a train, and after drawing his revolver he told the preacher he had been hunting for him. Dr. Piner replied that he was unarmed, whereupon Mr. Ware offered to loan him a pistol. Bystanders seized Mr. Ware and others escorted Dr. Piner out a station. Mr. Ware, who was summoned to appear in court, declined to make a statement. Dr. Piner went to Bowling Green.

Ware was tried in the city court Saturday and fined $100 for carrying concealed weapons and $25 for using profane language. Piner's friends are endeavoring to get Mr. Ware indicted on the charge of assaulting with intent to kill. Neither Piner or Ware will make a statement.

COURT OF APPEALS.

Reverses Action of Lower Court in Goebel Murder Case.

The Court of Appeals reversed the decision of the lower court in the case of Caleb Powers and John Howard. The grounds given for granting the reversal were erroneous instructions to the jury and the admission of incompetent testimony. New trials will be given Powers and Howard. Powers had received a life sentence in the lower court and Howard was sentenced to hang for the murder of Gov. Goebel. The reversal was no surprise as the majority of the appellate court are Republicans.

LADY EVANGELIST.

Attracts Large Congregations—
Twenty Conversions.

The revival is still in progress at the Cumberland Presbyterian church. Large congregations hear the lady evangelist each day, and much interest is manifested in the services. Sunday afternoon Mrs. Woosley addressed a large congregation composed of men and boys. At the same hour a service for the ladies was held at the Methodist church. Sunday night the congregation was so large that many were forced to leave, being unable to get seats. There has been more than twenty conversions. The services will continue through the week.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Mr. Marion Barnes died at his home west of Levas last week, after several days illness of fever. He was a good man and one of the county's best citizens.

On Saturday, April 6, Mrs. Frances Givens will have on display the swellest and most up to date stock of millinery goods ever brought to this city.

While riding Monday Mr. Ed. Hayward's horse fell with and upon him, severely bruising the rider but fortunately no serious injury resulted. It was a close call and almost a miraculous escape.

Everybody is invited to attend Mrs. Frances Givens' millinery opening next Saturday. The prettiest and largest stock of fine goods ever brought to Marion will be found at this popular millinery house.

Col. D. C. Roberts, of the Chicago Mining Co., left yesterday for Chicago to purchase machinery for the mines at Mexico and incidentally to spend Easter Sunday with his family. The Colonel is a humorist.

The railroad meeting at Salem on Wednesday evening of last week was largely attended and the people were enthusiastic over the prospect of getting a road. The property owners from all along the proposed line were present, and the right of way was practically guaranteed, and the small subscription required is in sight and properly arranged.

Everett Butler, the popular young orator of Livingston county, is now an attorney-at-law. Everett has been reading law in Cheney Bros. college at Bowling Green. He will locate at Smithland. Everett is a talented young man and has all the requisites necessary to make a successful lawyer.

The Southern Passenger Association has granted reduced fare on the certificate plan on all railroads entering Hopkinsville for the benefit of Princeton Presbytery, which meets there April 9-11 provided there are fifty traveling by rail. Be sure you get a certificate at starting point certifying that you have paid full fare going.

J. F. Price, Stated Clerk.

Our new city marshal is making a strict construction of the city laws and proposes to do his part towards enforcing them accordingly. Last week he served notice that the Sunday law would be enforced according to the letter and spirit of the ordinances, and hereafter those who forget to observe it will find trouble ahead.

Mr. T. W. Brasher, a well-to-do farmer of Dycusburg, attended court Monday. Mr. Brasher has been a subscriber of the Press for many years, and never fails to keep his subscription paid in advance, realizing that it takes money to run a newspaper. There are many like Mr. Brasher, but we are sorry to say that there are also many who think a country newspaper is published for free distribution. We wish that a number of our delinquent subscribers would reform and follow Mr. Brasher's example.

Mr. H. C. McGoodwin was in town Tuesday to perfect arrangements for placing his polish on the market. He has had it tested by reliable parties and all pronounce it good. A ton or two of it will be ground and shipped to St. Louis for the final test, and if this proves as successful as former test a big St. Louis firm will take the general agency.

The beautiful display of millinery goods at Kittinger & Stinnett's new store Thursday, Friday and Saturday attracted a great many visitors. The large stock was exhibited with striking effect. Every visitor was accorded a cordial welcome by Mrs. Kittinger, who has charge of the millinery department of the store, and her pleasant assistants.

More About the Stock Law.

MR. EDITOR: Allow me a little space in your paper in regard to the stock law:

On the start I say I am opposed to the law in Crittenden or any other rough county or country; so you see I am not on the plan with Mr. R. F. Wheeler and the Chapel Hill brother. Many say it costs so much to keep up fences and at same time claim to be farmers and stock raisers, also say they keep their stock up the year round and have better stock by so doing. This may be true. But while they do this they will have to admit to keep up their own stock they have to have good fences; and they will have to admit also that the same fence that keeps their stock in will keep other stock out; so I can't see where we would be benefitted by a stock law, unless we want to force the renter and labor out, who can keep a cow 4 to 6 months in the year with but little feed and expense, and have us pay big rent for pasture or do without milk and butter. Others claim there is some stock so bad to jump and to tear down fences we can't fence against them. I admit that is true. But we have a law now against such stock, if we only enforce it.

Now I believe if we would take as much interest in fencing our farm land and keeping it up as we do some other matters, it would not be long until we would have good fences and reap good results from it. Don't fence your farms or your county with the stock law and cause hard feelings between neighbors who have heretofore been the best of friends. But go ahead and fence it yourself, as the law now requires and let peace and harmony prevail.

Yours respectfully,

J. L. Rankin,
Fords Ferry, Ky.

FAITH

Hear ye but the robin's lay?
Lo! the whole earth sings to-day.
I the free-veined maple stir,
Thrill the blood of pine and fir;
Swell the old oak's mighty breast,
Chant upon the poplar's crest;
Burst the seed's confining shell,
Laugh upon the brooklet's swell
Where the cowslips bend to drink,
To the trill of Bob-o-link;
Forth the lilac banners fling,
Answering to command of spring.
Down the web of beams I run—
Earth and sea and sky are one.

HOPE

Hear ye but the tramp of feet?
Lo! the home of man is sweet;
I have touched the iv'ry keys
In the palaces of ease;
Set the barren hearths aglow
In the hoveled haunts of woe;
Turned to rhapsody sublime
Steel-shod hoof and distant chime;
Swept away encircling walls
With the newsboys' madrigals:
Toned the shriek of iron steed
To the pipe of shepherd's reed.
Soft and harsh and all agree—
One the earth and sky and sea.

LOVE

Hear ye but the cannon's roar?
Lo! the world's at peace once more.
I have mounted to the gun,
Where the fields with crimson run;
Held the grimy gunner's hand,
Lifted high my magic wand,
"Resurrection and the life!"
Stilled the tumult and the strife;
Sword and musket clat'ring fall,
All embracing, brothers all.
Roll the blinding stone away,
Lord of Love come forth to-day!
Dark or fair or low or high,
One the earth and sea and sky.

FORREST DAY.

It Will Be on May 30, Says Commanding General J. B. Gordon.

THE WARSHIP "BANCROFT."

Work for the Grand Gathering of Confederate Veterans at Memphis Progressing Vigorously—How the Ladies Will Be Entertained.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 3.—In a recent letter addressed to the United Confederate Veterans, Commanding General J. B. Gordon has officially set apart May 30 as the day on which proper and special tribute will be offered to the memory of the great cavalry leader, Lieut.-Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest; the day to be known as "Forrest Day," and the parade arranged for that date, which will be the third day of the Reunion, to be especially formed with the view of celebrating the victories of the dashing cavalryman.

There will be no limit to the appointments of maids of honor or sponsors, for the same liberal policy which has hitherto governed their selection will prevail in the Memphis Reunion. The Daughters of the Confederacy here have already located their Reunion headquarters, and are making preparations to entertain and provide a comfortable rest and meeting place for 2,000 visitors of the fair sex where they can meet and gather information. One of the features of the women's work of the Reunion will be the grand ball, during which the beautiful Southern Cross procession will be formed and paraded.

The work of the many sub-committees is progressing most actively. In a recent large meeting of the general executive committee the plans for the Reunion were enthusiastically discussed, and many communications read which were of vital importance and served to show that the number of veterans and visitors who are expected to attend the Reunion has by no means been overestimated. Although the $50,000 which was at first stipulated as the amount necessary for the Reunion purposes has been raised, the finance committee was continued, and Chairman Pickett promised to have $75,000 at the disposal of the executive committee.

There will be no lack of good things to eat, for letters from prominent planters in several States stated that the representative men of the districts named in the communications were anxious to donate fatted calves, lambs, hogs, chickens and all that goes to make up a feast such as can only be afforded in the South. Even small country merchants have asked to be allowed to contribute to the commissary department which, in the hands of able organizers, is rapidly approaching the completion of its task in securing that most essential part of any entertainment—food and drink. As a member of that committee recently stated, "There will be enough and plenty for all, and it will be of the very best."

The important question of a suitable site for the State headquarters was actively discussed, notwithstanding the fact that in a previous meeting that matter was considered practically settled. As stated in the last correspondence, work has been commenced in that quarter, plans having been drawn up and submitted to the committee. The situation of the headquarters on the bluff, overlooking the river, is receiving the most attention, although a new suggestion has been advanced by many of the members of the executive committee, which takes in the advisability of utilizing a large, roomy building at present at the disposal of the Reunion committee, and more centrally located. In any case the matter will be provided for in all ways adequate for the occasion.

One of the newest questions that came up for discussion at the meeting above referred to will interest every veteran and every person who attends the Reunion. It is the decision on the part of the invitation committee to send out special beautifully engraved invitations to all the prominent men throughout the Memphis district, and to include the leading members in official and high civil life from all over the South, to visit the Reunion as guests. This will include mayors of the more important towns and cities, prominent planters and merchants, as well as governors of States, and other representative men who are before the public eye. In this case all of the visitors will be enabled to greet some one man of their immediate community during the Reunion who will be a public guest, thus drawing into closer and more intimate relation the huge crowds that will swell Memphis, for the time being, into a gathering nearly twice as large as its present population.

The information committee decided to increase its membership to four hundred, so that there will be ample means for the furnishing of strangers with all needed information regarding direction of streets, location of hotels, etc. In addition to this there will also be official programs issued and handsomely engraved maps of the city will be obtainable and of easy access.

In considering the matter of railroad transportation it was decided to ascertain the possibility of arranging special accommodation trains, covering a radius of not more than 200 miles about Memphis, which could be run every night and morning during the Reunion for the convenience of all those who will not care to remain in the city more than one day. This matter was thought to be practicable and, it is expected, will be pushed through.

The solid attraction which will interest thousands of the Reunion visitors, and that will compel their highest curiosity, will be the appearance of the United States warship "Bancroft," which will steam up the Mississippi river from New Orleans and anchor in front of Memphis at the time of the Reunion. The warship is at present lying off Key West, and will proceed from there to New Orleans about April 15. From the Crescent City the "Bancroft" will proceed to Memphis direct, and will here await the crowds who will not fail to visit her, examine all her beautiful furnishings, and threatening, death-dealing, enormous guns, delight in her war-like appearance, and finally behold her sweeping about the wide stretch of river at this port in all the beautiful and awe-inspiring maneuvers of war.

Receptions will be held on board the war vessel, and daily call to quarters and inspection drills will be given for the benefit of those whose intelligent curiosity conducts them down to the broad picturesque levee to the water's edge. Salutes will be fired from her decks and in her maneuvers, while circling up and down the river, she will discharge ear-splitting volleys at the city in perfect imitation of one of the terrible bombardments years ago.

The list of officers of the Bancroft, who will be guests of Memphis during the Reunion, is as follows: Commander, J. D. Adams; executive officer and navigator, Lieut. W. L. Howard; chief engineer, Lieut. A. L. Willard; watch and division officers, Lieut. Frank Lyon, Ensign Zeno E. Briggs and Cadet H. K. Cage; assistant, C. H. DeLaney; assistant paymaster, H. C. Stevens.

Letters continue to pour into the local committees from different division commanders, and from detachments and groups of veterans, who, judging from the tone of their communications, are waiting in veritable trembling eagerness for the Reunion, where they will again be enabled to clasp hands of comrades long lost to them, or to renew the precious reunion with friends, who, in ranks and file, in the whirl of savage battle, or on the picket line of a shadowy moonlight night, were wont to look on them for encouragement and triumph.

The finance committee continues to receive money orders and checks; the commissary department is almost embarrassed with offers of edibles; all are working hand in hand, the committee and the far-away countryman alike, for the success of what is hoped will be the grandest Reunion of them all.

Letter From Gen. Gordon.

The following letter has been sent out by general commanding, J. B. Gordon of the United Confederate Veterans:

NEW ORLEANS, March 16, 1901.
To all Commanders, Camps and Comrades:
The general commanding calls attention to the fact, that the same custom which has heretofore existed in regard to the appointment of sponsors and maids of honor in the past will apply to the Memphis reunion.

As the veterans are fast passing away and will soon be too few to hold reunions, even-handed justice demands that these honors should be broadened and extended so as to reach, now while the opportunity offers, every one of these noble young women, even to the humblest, as they are all active workers for ours and their beloved cause.

It is a beautiful custom, and is in keeping with the chivalrous spirit of the old soldiers of the South, is elevating and ennobling, and is right from every standpoint, that all the headquarters in the association should have a sponsor and as many maids of honor as desired; this applies to general, department, division and brigade headquarters, and to all the camps.

Nearly every dollar of money which is required for help for the living, and for care of the graves and monuments for "our dead" is raised by the survivors of the glorious women of the Confederacy and their descendants, these noble young women. Nearly every act of mercy, and nearly every good deed which is done can be traced to their loving and devoted hands.

The general commanding therefore feels, that as they are called upon to fill the posts of duty, they should also be given the posts of honor. Therefore he desires the original custom adhered to of the appointment of a sponsor by general, department, division and brigade commanders and by every camp, with as many maids of honor as desired, there being no limit to the number, but with the distinct understanding that the reunion committee at Memphis will only entertain and provide for one sponsor and one maid of honor from general, department and division headquarters, as the expense for the entertainment of a larger number would be too great for the reunion committee to bear, neither would there be room upon platforms, etc., for any larger number; but it is earnestly hoped and requested that all the rest will attend and grace the Memphis reunion with their presence.

By order of
J. B. GORDON, General Commanding.
Geo. MOORMAN,
Adjutant General and Chief of Staff.

CONGRESSMAN BOTKIN

The Well-Known Kansas Statesman, Cured of Catarrh of the Stomach by Pe-ru-na, AFTER TWENTY-FIVE YEARS' SUFFERING.

More Evidence of Interest to the Millions of Catarrh Sufferers in the United States.

HON. J. D. BOTKIN, CONGRESSMAN-AT-LARGE FROM KANSAS.

In a recent letter to Dr. Hartman, Congressman Botkin, of Winfield, Kan., whose fame is a national one, says of Peru-na:

My Dear Doctor—It gives me pleasure to certify to the excellent curative qualities of your medicines—Peruna and Manalin. I have been afflicted more or less for a quarter of a century with catarrh of the stomach and constipation. A residence in Washington has increased these troubles. A few bottles of your medicine have given me almost complete relief, and I am sure that a continuation of them will effect a permanent cure. Peru-na is surely a wonderful remedy for catarrhal affections.—J. D. Botkin, Congressman-at-Large.

CONGRESSMAN BOTKIN is one of the most influential and best known men in the State of Kansas. Whatever he may say on any subject will be accepted by the people as the truth. So famous a remedy as Peru-na could not have well escaped the attention of so famous a man. He not only has heard of the remedy, but he has used it and was relieved of an affliction of twenty-five years' standing. Peru-na is the one internal remedy that cures chronic catarrh. It cures catarrh wherever located. This is a fact that the people are rapidly finding out, but there are still a large multitude who need to know it.

Mr. Frank Richter, of Winona, Minn., says in a letter to The Peru-na Medicine Company:

"As a remedy for catarrh I take pleasure in recommending Peru-na for catarrh of the stomach. I know what it is to be afflicted with this awful disease and consider it my duty to say a word in behalf of the remedy which gave me such relief. Peru-na cured me, and I know it will cure anyone else who suffers from this disease. It gives me great pleasure to testify to the curative effects of this medicine. Peru-na is a well tested and frequently used remedy, and for catarrh of the stomach is unsurpassed."

"My catarrh was principally located in my head and stomach. I tried many remedies without success. I tried several doctors, but they were unable to cure me. I read of Peru-na in the papers and five bottles cured me."—Frank Richter.

The gastric juice is secreted by the mucous follicles of the stomach. When this juice is normal it digests (dissolves) the food without producing any disturbance whatever. If, however, the gastric juice is not normal, digestion causes many disagreeable symptoms. This condition is known as indigestion. Peru-na will cure this.

Mrs. Selina Tanner, Athens, O., writes: "I cannot find words to express my thanks for your kind advice. I never once thought I had catarrh of the stomach. I commenced taking Peru-na as you directed. My stomach continued to hurt me for about two weeks after I began the medicine and then it stopped. I now have a good appetite while before I was nearly starved."—Mrs. Selina Tanner.

Mr. L. O. Marble, of Geneva, Neb., writes: "I do believe that my catarrh is entirely cured. I have not had any trouble with my stomach for a long time. I am as well as one of my age could expect (seventy years). I have had the catarrh ever since I was a young man, and have doctored for it for years and got very little better, but thanks to you and your Peru-na and Manalin I believe I am well off it. I can eat anything now and it doesn't hurt me, and Peru-na is the only thing I ever found that will cure the catarrh. I believe it is the only cure for catarrh, and I hope every one troubled with catarrh will try Peru-na and be cured."—L. O. Marble.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peru-na, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, president of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Some Pretty Fashions to Be Worn on Easter Sunday

New York Boulevards Will Present a Brilliant Spectacle If the Weather Permits

Some Hats and Gowns for Wear on Easter Sunday

NEW YORK boulevards will be brilliant with an array of fashionably dressed men and women on Easter Sunday should the weather prove propitious. The Easter display promises to this year be even more gorgeous than is usual, though there will be a considerable sprinkling of somber tones in the fashionable toilettes, worn, no doubt, as a mark of respect to England's late queen, for whom New York mourns out of sympathy for London quite as much as for the queen herself.

With the men's clothing we have nothing to do, it is prosaic and uninteresting as men's clothing always is, but the gowns and hats and wraps of the women are not so easily disposed of, nor do we wish to dispose of them in so easy a manner.

Some of the hats that will be seen about three inches above this, and also extending all around the skirt. It has a slightly full blouse of ecru guipure over the blue taffeta, with a short bolero of gray cloth, trimmed with sailor collar effect, and deep pointed ends of the stitched taffeta down the front. A short sleeve, with deep cuff of the cloth, revealing an under sleeve of the guipure lace.

Possibilities of a Change in Men's Attire in England

SOME months will yet elapse before the official coronation of King Edward VII. as king of Great Britain and Ireland and emperor of India, but it is not yet too early for New York to begin to take an interest in the affair.

Many New York society people are planning to be in London at that time, and among them many who were friends of King Edward when he was prince of Wales. These are are of what the everyday woman would call the plain and sensible styles, and others will be of the immense tinsel-bombardier order, trimmed with flowers, or with cut or applique garlands, and the colors of the brightest hues.

One conspicuous and yet pretty hat that will be worn is a large one of black and white braid, tilted up high directly in front, and wound with blue ribbon. Huge bunches of blue roses, and a large black velvet bow with buckle of gems directly in front. The crown is veiled with fine black net over blue taffeta.

Another hat of the large variety is a broad white affair of white French straw. The brim is edged with a silk lace, and the crown is covered with garlands of pink roses and veiled with white silk net at one side, and a mass of green leaves, with a cascade of the lace brought in and out.

A third hat on the novelty order is of black mousseline de sole in woe-tucks, with rows of black velvet between. At the left side, where the hat is tilted, there is a huge bunch of white rosebuds, and another bunch at the right side of the low crown.

Of the charming novelty gowns one that is most attractive is of pearl gray cloth, trimmed with stitched bands of turquoise blue taffeta, edged with a narrow gold braid. The skirt has a plain panel front, with wide strapping of the turquoise blue taffeta just below the hips, extending down the front on each side of a panel, and around the bottom of the skirt, with another similar strapping trusting that the former friendship of the English sovereign will obtain for them invitations to the society events that will be a feature of the coronation. These same friends (?) are watching eagerly for hints as to the costumes that will be worn at this time, and the suggestion comes to them from London with something of a shock that the men will for the occasion return to the brilliant colorings of the Carolean period. Not only is there a prediction as to these colorings, but with it comes a suggestion of silks and satins, laces and velvets as materials for masculine clothing.

One English journal in commenting on this probable revival of a style that has long since been buried with the effeminate array of those days, says:

"Certainly modern masculine attire cannot be described as beautiful, and it is quite possible to imagine garb more pleasing to the eye than that to which man has been doomed by conventionality and latter-day fashions. At the same time one cannot but think that as the hour brings the man, so the garb is fitted in this case to the wearer. Nothing is more desirable than the revival of the picturesque and the restoration of pageantry which the new reign is evidently to bring about, and we pleasantly look forward to scenes of great splendor whenever occasion presents itself for the display of beautiful costumes. At the same time it is scarcely to be believed that the Englishman will readily adopt for himself a garb which can be described as picturesque. The gorgeous clothing of the Carolean period would not attune with the character of the men of to-day; and however pleasing to the eye it might be to see our 'lords and masters' in silks and satins, velvets and laces, our sense of the fitness of things would rebel against blunt, manly John Bull in such effeminate array. That he may display an occasional fancy for bright waistcoats, and give way a little in the matter of ties is as well; but it would not be to the advantage of the nation that its men should revert to fashions which suggest effeminacy and affectation, and, moreover, to be eminently practical, which are thoroughly unsuited to our climate and pursuits."

LION COFFEE

A LUXURY WITHIN THE REACH OF ALL!

We are keeping up the grade of

LION COFFEE

to a high point!

It is known all over the country as the best package coffee, and its quality will be strictly maintained.

HAVE YOU TRIED IT YET?

LION COFFEE is not a glazed coffee. We do not resort to egg mixtures or chemicals which are used to hide imperfections and to make the coffee look shiny.

LION COFFEE is absolutely pure, and that is the reason why it is now used in millions of homes.

Watch our next advertisement.

In every package of LION COFFEE you will find a fully illustrated and descriptive list. No housekeeper, in fact, no woman, man, boy or girl will fail to find in the list some article which will contribute to their happiness, comfort and convenience, and which they may have by simply cutting out a certain number of Lion Heads from the wrappers of our one pound sealed packages (which is the only form in which this excellent coffee is sold).

WOOLSON SPICE CO., TOLEDO, OHIO.

Bad Breath

Undigested, decaying food remnants, in the mouth and stomach, giving off pestiferous gases, are the cause of that awful breath, so repulsive as to cause a halt in friendship, affection, love,—any form of intimacy. Nobody can stand its overpowering stench, and it is a cause of terrible misery to those afflicted and their dear ones. There is only one way to cure it—disinfect the digestive canal with CASCARETS! Clean it out, keep it clean, let CASCARETS stimulate the lining of mouth and stomach, and put it in shape to work naturally and properly. Nothing but CASCARETS will bring about the desired result. BE SURE YOU GET THEM!

ens.—Detroit Free P.

"I have been using CASCARETS and as a mild and effective laxative they are simply wonderful. My daughter and I were bothered with sick stomach and our breath was very bad. After taking a few doses of Cascarets we have improved wonderfully.

They are a great help in the family."

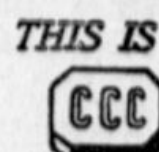

WILHELMINA NAGEL,

1137 Rittenhouse St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

"Well, I'm glad to know 'bout it."

BEST FOR BOWELS AND LIVER.

THE TABLET

GUARANTEED TO CURE! Five years ago the first box of CASCARETS was sold. Now it is over six million boxes a year, greater than any similar medicine in the world. This is absolute proof of great merit, and our best testimonial. We have faith, and will sell CASCARETS absolutely guaranteed to cure or money refunded. Go buy today, two 50c boxes, give them a fair, honest trial, as per simple directions, and if you are not satisfied after using one 50c box, return the unused 50c box and the empty box to us by mail, or the druggist from whom you purchased it, and get your money back for both boxes. Take our advice—no matter what ails you—start today, keep it up, and you will bless the day you first started the use of CASCARETS. Book free by mail. Add: STEWART BERRY CO., See Lock or Mingo.

NEW SALEM.

Aunt Martha Brouster is on the sick list.

The mining interest, taken with the railroad excitement just simply makes things get on a boom in this end of old Crittenden. Yes, we are going to have a sure enough railroad, 30 minutes to Marion from Salem via Mexico, so the knowing ones say.

The prospect for an old fashioned fruit crop was never better in this end of the county.

Some of our farmers have planted their gardens while others are waiting for good Friday.

Bill Tyner was in Paducah last week on business.

Mrs. Blanche Harris, of Green's Ferry, is the guest of her father's family, W. C. Tyner, this week.

Lish McWhirter, of Salem, was the guest of his son Etwell Sunday.

Tobacco plants are coming up finely. The prospect for a big crop is very flattering—that is, if every one does not go to work on the new railroad.

R. D. Drescher, the mining man was in this section this week looking after some mining interests of his company.

Mrs. Sarah Brown, of Lola, is the guest this week of her son, Charles Brown.

Ed. Cruce of Hillville, Livingston county, was the guest of his kinsman, Henry Brouster, part of last week.

E. J. Sommers raised a big tobacco barn last week.

Robert Moore is back in our neighborhood and we are glad to have him.

Albert Truitt goes to Tom Lanham's every Sunday evening and through the week for errands.

Ed Rynn disappeared from our neighborhood last week.

TOLU.

As a green spot in my own memory, sacred forever and treasured with a gratitude which shall be eternal the recollection that somebody told me that I was born on the day before St. Patrick's day in the morning, Anno Domini 1818.

Just forty years and fifty days have passed since the first Confederate Congress met, and we have on file a copy of Jefferson Davis' message to that body of men, most of whom have quit the walks of life. There is a way that seemeth right unto a man, but sometimes gets a fellow into trouble.

Will wonders never cease? Just as sure as Jacob was the grandfather of Abraham, Modoc is a candidate for magistrate. Fact, gentlemen; and he solicits, expects and will need a majority of your votes to insure an election.

The spring school at this place is progressing nicely under the management of Prof. M. C. Wright, who is one of the best teachers in the county.

The health of the neighborhood is very good at this time, with exception of a certain disease called mumps.

I heard a fellow say the other day that his dogs were getting very hoarse, barking at candidates. If that is true some body may get into the august presence of the grand jury.

Some of our home made mineral men are finding lots of speckled stones, and suppose from present indications there is plenty of gas and brimstone somewhere.

The wheat crop generally looks very fine.

Farmers are busy preparing their land for corn.

Several of our citizens are attending court at Marion.
