MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 8 .- It is all up to the weather man now, and if his pre diction for cloudless skies during the Reunion holds good, visitors to Memhimself at Adrian, Mich. The spectacle will include the firing of Wichita reservations in Oklahoma thousands of rockets along the entire river front, and will close with a realistic representation of the famous battle which was fought in the harbor at started a movement to discourage the Newport News between the Confederate ram Merrimac and the U. S. S. Congress, when the latter boat was blown up and sunk by the Merrimac. The battle will be fought by actual boats which will pour broadsides into each other to the heroic accompaniment of a background of brilliant and eyedazzling fire display, reaching from the horizon to the zenith. There will also be fire pictures of several of the most noted generals of the Confederacy, which will blaze into bold relief, hanging apparently in midair, to the full view of all.

It was on Saturday, the 9th of March. 1862, that this famous naval battle was fought. Steaming into the bay, where was gathered the Federal fleet, the Merrimac was greeted by a hail of cannonade from the Congress and other gunboats. This fury of solid shot and ball would have sunk another boat instantly, but from the iron-coated, sloping sides of the Merrimac the fusillade rolled harmlessly into the water. The answering fire from the Confederate ram was deadly. No ship could withstand the terrific death-dealing volleys, were already battle-scarred by the conflicts of the few days previous. There will be the background of flashing shells exploding in the air, and the colors of war will all be there. At first the Congress will be seen, rocking sullenly at her anchor. Then the Merrimac will appear in the distance, rapidly approaching. Then both boats will commence to exchange ear-splitting volleys of shot and shell. The powder magagine of the Congress will be exploded and then the final act of the drama, the ramming of the sinking vessel by the

Another feature of the display will be the illumination of the entire river at this point. Acres and acres of water will suddenly be alive with hissing, writhing serpents of flame; the heavens will be lighted as high as the eye can see, and fountains of fire will spout into the air to the height of a thousand feet, falling back into a Niagara of stars and comets.

These headquarters, together with the main entrance, will occupy the entire front of the building. In the space at each end of it and under the seats, which will have a height of 13 feet and will be in the nature of a long hall, cots will be placed and 1,500 veterans or visitors may be thus accommodated in light, airy, well-ventilated, comfortable quarters.

The main street will be lined with lofty white columns, festooned with evergreens, flowers and hundreds of sparkling electric lights. As you pass to your hotel from the railroad depot you will walk beneath a beautiful arch, tapering into a slender peak, surmounted by a flaming eagle. At each side of this will stand a pylon with an urn at its summit. In the urns will be placed a fire, so that all night long they will send leaping flames in solemn tribute to the memory of the fallen heroes. These columns will be further ornamented with bas reliefs of appropriate war groups and life-size statues of the most prominent leaders of the war. This will constitute what will be known as > the "Court of Honor." The Sons of Confederate Veterans will play an important part in the Reunion, for upon them will devolve the work of entertaining the sponsors and maids of honor. Also they will arrange the social functions of the Reunion, and will in addition to that take active part in the exercises. A proposition from the Chattanooga Chapter of the United Confederate Veterans, to change the charter and bylaws so as to admit the Sons of Veterans into the parent order, will be placed before the convention next May, and it is thought that this proposed change will be ratified and that the Sons will be admitted

"I Followed Mrs. Pinkham's Advice and Now I am Well."

A woman is sick—some disease peculiar to her sex is fast developing in her system. She goes to her family physician and tells him a story, but not the whole story.

She holds back something, loses her head, becomes agitated, forgets what she wants to say, and finally conceals what she ought to have told, and this completely mystifies the doctor. Is it a wonder, therefore, that the doctor fails to cure the disease? Still we cannot blame the woman, for it is very embarrassing to detail some of the symptoms of her suffering, even to her family physician. This is the reason why hundreds of thousands of women are now in correspondence with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. To her they can give every symptom, so that when she is ready to advise them she is in possession of more facts from her correspondence with the patient than the physician can possibly obtain through a personal interview. Following we publish a letter from a woman showing the result of a correspondence with Mrs. Pinkham. All such letters are considered absolutely confidential by Mrs. Pinkham, and are never published in any way or manner without the consent in writing of the patient; but hundreds of women are so grateful for the health which Mrs. Pinkham and her medicine have been able to restore to them that they not only consent to publishing their letters, but write asking that this be done in order that other women who suffer may be benefited by their experience.

Mrs. Ella Rice, Chelsea, Wis., writes: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:-For two years I was troubled with falling and inflammation of the womb. I suffered very much with bearing-down pains, headache, backache, and was not able to do apything. What I endured no one knows but those who have suffered as I did. I could hard'y drag myself across the floor. I doctored with the physicians of this town for three months and grew worse instead of better. Last Easter 25,000 persons witperced the festival, and fully as many were present on the occasion. The Marine band, which usually furnishes music for the children upon these occations, is away on a tour of the country, and in order not to deprive the children of this enlivening feature of their day, the Fourth artillery band, at Fort Monroe, was ordered here, and played throughout the day. carnations. It seems to be a pity that kodaks are not allowed in the capitol building, because real life in Washington could be daily so well illustrated by their use. But whenever a visitor is seen with one of those harmless little instruments a capitol policeman appears and takes temporary possession of the kodak, saying that it is against the established rule to permit anyone to carry them about the building. The same rule obtains in all of the executive departments, but it is only enforced rigidly on Capitol hill and in the congressional library. If the kodak could be used and the owner have the faculty of writing descriptions of the scenes which the kodaks might catch, the people would have opportunity to read some facts which might not otherwise be written nor illustrated concerning happenings in this singular city. There are five detectives on duty in the capitol during the sessions of congress, and the stories they tell are interesting, illustrating every phase of character. For example, a venerable and handsome excongressman from the Pacific slope, who had admission to the floor of the house of representatives at all times, forged the names of active members to checks on the sergeant-at-arms. He is poor, needy and old. The congressmen did not prosecute him, nor require him to make restitution. The detectives, however, do not permit him to enter the building any SMITH D. FRY. more.

New York, April 8 .- Neither employers nor employed have made decisive movements in the wage dispute that may terminate with a strike on the Central railroad of New Jersey. It is expected that the men will confer within the next 24 hours, and by vote agree upon a plan of action. It is difficult to take the measure of the sentiment of the moving army of men that a railway system employs, but as far as it can be sounded on the Central, the men seemed moved by a spirit of conservatism, and to be inclined to refrain from striking until every resource of conference and arbitration has been exhausted.

The Compiler of "Old Moore's Almanac," in London, Sees Trouble in Store for Europe.

London, April 8 .- Europe will see a peck of trouble this year, according to the long-distance prophet who in London gets up "Old Moore's Almanac." War and murder and rebellion are commonplaces in its list of horrors. Last year this more than up-to-date publication prophesied that there would be just one king assassinated in Europe, that England would have a great war, and that India would suffer from famine.

Teh year 1901, according to this authority, will be tumultuous.

April-The month will be comparatively peaceful and uneventful throughout the world. May-Ireland will rise against England, following the example of India, accompanied by much bloodshed. June-The anarchists will again become active throughout Europe. An attempt will be made on the life of the young king of Spain by his political enemies. He is cautioned not to expose himself in public during the month.

July-A number of serious catastrophes are promised for this month all over the world, both on land and sea. People intending to take journeys at this time are advised to stay at home till the dangerous period is passed. September-India will be visited by the most terrible famine in years. October-An outbreak will occur among the Pervishes, which will attain serious proportions before being suppressed. November-Serious trouble will arise in Holland because of some new and radical diplomatic policy. The agitation will threaten a great European war, which, however, wil be averted. December-A number of social disturbances will occur in this month in Europe and America. There will be a number of serious strikes requiring armed intervention.

(Special Mexican Letter.) "HERE has been probably no greater factor is our civilization than the development of gallways in the different parts of the world. To them we are indebted for the cheapness of many articlesregarded by us as common necessities, by our forefathers as luxuries, while 200 years ago they were almost unknown to Europeans. Among them is the eoffee found upon nearly every breakfast table. During Cromwell's time the first coffee house was established in London by a man who had brought some of the berries from Arabia, to the delight of his friends and patrons. Arabia may be said to be divided into three parts, one of stones, another of sufficient to last him for five years sands and deserts, while the third, as least, for that length of time must Happy Arabia, "Araby the Blest," is a clapse before he receives any approland of gardens, olive trees and vine- ciable returns from his investment. yards. > Coffee growing was first introduced into Mexico from the West Indies by a Spaniard. His successful experiment induced other hatiendados to follow his example, and now the industry is one of the most successful extreme northern states of Chihushua, Coahulla and Nuevo Leon, it does not do well because of the occasional frosts, but further south, whether in different altitudes, varying climates, temperate, hot and dry, low and damp, at Vers Cruz, Oszaes and even to the isthmus, it thrives. In the temperate table land, the "caffes arabica," resembling mochs, grows. It is an evergreen, shrubby and hardy, in height varying from five to seven feet. The hot, moist, country variety resembles Java coffee. The trees are higher.

Here one may understand the dolce far niente of the population, and it requires a supreme effort of the will to tear oneself away. When a resident in this land, one readily comprehends those strange marriages with native beauties which can never be understood in the outside world. This is the genuine land of "manana," a to-morrow which never arrives. Although the cultivation of coffee was introduced among these people over a hundred years ago it has never been in high favor with them as a beverage, the Mexicans, as a rule, preferring chocolate, which is indigenous to dustrious Chinaman, who never asks the soil. Feed them well, both in the morning and evening, and give them a little meat each day. Give a good feed of the best grain before the roosting time. This system of diet in the winter will keep the birds healthy and robust. The eggs will be prefect and the chickens will be healthy. The eggs must be gathered daily and placed in a fairly warm place until a sufficiency is procured for a complete sitting. WATER SPECTACLE.

BEAUTIFUL FOUNTAIN EFFECTS FOR THE PAN-AMERICAN.

Unexampled Sights to Be Provided For Visitors to the Exposition. Will Use 35,000 Gallons of Water Per Minute For This Feature.

When visitors to the Pan-American Exposition view the fountain diplays. they will be inclined to wonder where all the water comes from, so plentiful will be the supply. It will be with these fountain displays the same as it will be with the electrical exhibit. There will be a point, a place, at which remedy in the the display will increase in beauty and extent until the climax is attained in and about the Electric Tower and the basin thereof. So extensive will this be that all will recognize the beauty of the display and look in wondering admiration upon the spectacle, which is destined to be one of the most remarkable features of the Exposition.

The pumping plant that will supply the water effects will be located in the Court of the Machinery and Transpor tation building. It will consist of 12 pumps having a total capacity of 35.-

000 gallons of water per minute. The engines are all to be belted to their respective pump units, and they will be required to be in service from 10 o'clock in the morning until 11:15 o'clock at night, a period of 1314 hours. Estimating their capacity at 25,000 gallons of water each minute, it is evident George Conyers, who has been unwoll that each day during the time they are to be in service they could pump the livery. enormous amount of 27,825,000 gallons of water. This water will be used to serve the fountain displays at the Elec tric Tower and basin and also the Court of Fountains, including the Fountain of Abundance. The water will be taken from an intake located at the north end of the Court of Fountains basin through a 48 inch suction pipe. It will be delivered by the pumps through 16 inch and 20 inch pipes at a pressure of 110 pounds per square inch to the fountain orifices. From these orifices the water will stream to all shapes from the finest spray jet to the solid stream inches thick that will rise high in the air. At the Fountain of Abundance the sight will be all the name implies. There will be an abundance of water. and it will be in motion. Beyond the Fountain of Abundance will be the Court of Fountains, and this basin will be filled with large jets of water thrown vertically. They will be known as pillar jets. In this basin will also be located beautiful groups of water figures, all formed in the manner in which the water is projected. The water figures will resemble sheaves of wheat, lilles, etc., and they will average 12 feet high. On a line through the center of the main Court of Fountains there will be all of 20 of each of these figures of surpassing beauty.

Beyond this still, at the north end of MARION. Rev R. H. Roe returned Tuesday from Thomas Lynn has moved to the old the Court of Fountains, will be the Genius of Water. Here in a significant group of statuary the sculptor will portray his artistic conception of what the figure is designed to represent. Over in front of the statuary the water will Jesse Ryon returned home on Sunday ebulliate, carrying out in most perfect way the sculptor's idea.

In front of the Electric Tower, in the basin and in the niche of the Tower the climax of spectacular water efthat will exceed any display of the kind the world has seen. On each side of the center of the structure will be located two groups of water jets; with 26 large pillar jets, throwing water columns to a height of 50 feet. On the arc of a circle, whose center is the niche, will be located some 42 large jets, throwing water in parabola curve toward the cascades in front of the niche. These jets will be so arranged drug store. as to make a very ragged stream. This stream will not be solid, neither will it be so broken as in the spray jets. Then out from the niche itself there will come a flood of water of 13,000 Miss Ernie Brown spent last week at of a deflector, will take the form of an immense water screen or veil, the beauty of which will linger in the memory. ORRIN E. DUNLAP.
