THE SOUTH'S LITERARY WEEKLY

Published at Atlanta, Ga.

After a career of more or less activity in the Southern field for over a quarter of a century The Sunny South has again become a weekly, better and more readable than at any time in its history. It contains serial stories from the best known authors the world over. It is devoted to Southern readers and Southern writers and is their own story paper. Short stories, sketches, incidents of war and of peace, anecdotes at home and afield, poems, ideas, fashions, hints for home keepers, everything of interest to old and young will appear in its excellent weekly make up

The two great serials, "TRISTRAM OF BLENT," by ANTHONY HOPE (now in progress with full synopsis to cover former installments), and "Rosalynde's Lovers," by Maurice Thomps son, to begin April 27th, will be read with absorbing interest throughout the whole South. This is your opportunity, and only 50 cents for a full year of it. Think of it! 50 cents.

Subscription price is only fifty cents a year. No agents' commission. The paper is its own best offer and argument to the subscriber. One sample copy free to you and to your six neighbors whose names and addresses you send on a postal card, provided you send at once. A club of five at 50 cents each, accompanied by the full amount $2.50 net to us, entitles the sender to The Sunny South a whole year free. The Sunny South is your old friend in a new form, al ways improving, every issue to excel the last one. The South's literary paper is here at last. Order it to-day. The Sunny South in combination with the greatest of all Southern Weekly NEWSPAPERS—The Atlanta Weekly Constitution—both for only $1.25 a year. THE SOUTH'S LITERARY WEEKLY

Published at Atlanta, Ga.

After a career of more or less activity in the Southern field for over a quarter of a century The Sunny South has again become a weekly, better and more readable than at any time in its history. It contains serial stories from the best known authors the world over. It is devoted to Southern readers and Southern writers and is their own story paper. Short stories, sketches, incidents of war and of peace, anecdotes at home and afield, poems, ideas, fashions, hints for home keepers, everything of interest to old and young will appear in its excellent weekly make up.

The two great serials, "TRISTRAM OF BLENT," by ANTHONY
HOPE (now in progress with full synopsis to cover former installments), and "Rosalynde's Lovers," by Maurice Thompson, to begin April 27th, will be read with absorbing interest throughout the whole South. This is your opportunity, and only 50 cents for a full year of it. Think of it! 50 cents.

None of the laws were more rigidly enforced than those intended to prevent the "prophaning of the Lord's day." The old records are full of convictions for violation of them. Capt. Kimble, of Boston, was in 1656 set for two hours in the public stocks for his 'lewed and unseemly conduct," which consisted in kissing his wife publicly on the Sabbath day upon the doorstep of his house, when he had just returned from a voyage after an absence of three years. Delightful Nature.

New Skirt Is Graceful in Its Lines and Universally Becoming -Blouses Trimmed in Laces and Embroidery.

[Special Chicago Letter.]

S FAR as it is possible to judge at the present moment, there seems to be every reason to believe that the fashions of the immediate future will be of the daintiest and most delightful description. The weather this spring has been so cold and generally disagreeable that really smart clothes have been in very little demand, in consequence whereof modistes have had a much longer period of rest than is usually the case, and they seem to have employed their leisure to the greatest possible advantage in the designing of charming gowns suitable for both early and midsummer wear, which are far prettier and more generally becoming than anything which has been seen for many seasons. To be sure, some of the main features that marked the spring styles are carried out in the summer modes, but all are changed and improved upon to such a degree as to be hardly recognizable.

The new skirt continues to fit with glove-like snugness about the hips, and with the same wonderful amount of flare at the bottom as heretofore. The jaunty little bolero is to be seen on every other gown as of yore, while still reigns supreme; but, somehow, collars are worn low on the shoulder air of extreme novelty to these sum- wane, and just now it is the proper mer gowns that is both pleasing and caper to have it made of handsome fascinating.

The very prettiest are of finely-tucked lawn or batiste, and their beauty is further enhanced by the wise introduction of fine lace insertions. The sleeves are tight at the top but become fuller toward the wrist, and like the remainder of the waist seem to be an intricate mass of tiny tucks and fine lace.

The extreme daintiness of the new cotton fabries cannot but appeal in the strongest manner to the love of the beautiful innate in womankind. Cool-looking dimities and French lawns are to be reckoned among the most attractive materials now on exhibition, while the silk ginghams and embroidered cotton batistes are lovely enough to tempt the unwary into rank extravagance. They come in white, pale blue, light green and all the pretty new shades of pink. Some of the silk ginghams have a double border of silk woven on the edge, which is meant to be used as a trimming in connection with much lace and yards upon yards of the ever-popular Persian ribbon. Many of the new mercerized ducks and cheviots, cotton though they be, are exceedingly beautiful, and so closely resemble the most lustrous silk as to make them quite admirably suited for any but the most dressy wear. Within the week I have seen some very swell-looking tailorgowns fashioned of both these materials, those of cheviot being particularly fetching. Among the labor leaders of the United States none occupies a more important osition than Mr. O'Connell, who as president of the International Association of Machinists controls an army of 106,000 skilled workmen. He was born in Minersville Pa., 42 years ago, and was apprenticed to the trade of machinist at 15. After the Knights of Labor began to decline he stirred himself to action in the labor field, and rose rapidly in his union, being elected president in 1892. In Venice, the "pride of the Adriatic," it is punishable by law to kill a pigeon, but sparrows form an important part in the Venetian diet. The man in the picture is a vendor of sparrows and fish. The woman purchaser will probably argue until she is able to make a bargain of a few soldi less than the price first asked. Bargaining is a feature of Venetian trade. make interesting reading. The rigid Puritan observance of the Lord's day had its origin with the Puritans of old England and reached its fullest development in Puritan New England, says Donahoe's Magazine.

None of the laws were more rigidly enforced than those intended to prevent the "prophaning of the Lord's day." The old records are full of convictions for violation of them. Capt. Kimble, of Boston, was in 1656 set for two hours in the public stocks for his 'lewed and unseemly conduct," which consisted in kissing his wife publicly on the Sabbath day upon the doorstep of his house, when he had just returned from a voyage after an absence of three years. The story is told of Robert Pike, of Amesbury, that, having to go on a journey, he waited patiently until the sun sank behind the western clouds on Sunday evening, and then mounted his horse; but he had only gone a short distance when the last ray gleamed through a break in the clouds, and the next day work it is doing.

[Special Chicago Letter.]

S FAR as it is possible to judge at the present moment, there seems to be every reason to believe that the fashions of the immediate future will be of the daintiest and most delightful description. The weather this spring has been so cold and generally disagreeable that really smart clothes have been in very little demand, in consequence whereof modistes have had a much longer period of rest than is usually the case, and they seem to have employed their leisure to the greatest possible advantage in the designing of charming gowns suitable for both early and midsummer wear, which are far prettier and more generally becoming than anything which has been seen for many seasons. To be sure, some of the main features that marked the spring styles are carried out in the summer modes, but all are changed and improved upon to such a degree as to be hardly recognizable. The new skirt continues to fit with glove-like snugness about the hips, and with the same wonderful amount of flare at the bottom as heretofore. The jaunty little bolero is to be seen on every other gown as of yore, while the old, yet ever new, blouse-bodice still reigns supreme; but, somehow, collars are worn low on the shoulder by a bold contrast of color, an extra and give rather a sloping effect, with sash to the rever of the bolero or a an inner vest of tucked lawn and lace deft twist to the pouched bodice, the to correspond. The popularity of the clever modiste has managed to give an lace blouse seems rather to wax than air of extreme novelty to these sum- wane, and just now it is the proper mer gowns that is both pleasing and caper to have it made of handsome fascinating.

The blouse and the shirt waint again show a tendency toward much fine handwork and incrustations of lace and embroidery. The very prettiest are of finely-tucked lawn or batiste, and their beauty is further enhanced by the wise introduction of fine lace Insertions. The sleeves are tight at the top but become fuller toward the wrist, and like the remainder of the waist seem to be an intricate mass of tiny tucks and fine lace.

The extreme daintiness of the new cotton fabrics cannot but appeal in the strongest manner to the love of the beautiful innate in womankind. Cool-looking dimities and French lawns are to be reckoned among the most attractive materials now on exhibition, while the silk ginghams and embroidered cotton batistes are lovely enough to tempt the unwary into rank extravagance. They come in white, pale blue, light green and all the pretty new shades of pink. Some of the silk ginghams have a double border of silk woven on the edge, which is meant to be used as a trimming in connection with much lace and yards upon yards of the ever-popular Persian ribbon. The Mystery of "Two Ten."

Baroness Burdette Coutts was once shopping in Paris, and whenever she went from one department to another she was escorted by a clerk, who handed her over to another attendant, saying: "Two ten." CONFEDERATE REUNION

The Government Asked to Care for Confederate Graves. Congress and the President Thanked—No Discussion in the Convention Proper-Gen. Gordon Re-elected Commander-in-Chief-Dallas Wins the Next Convention—The Parade.

In the convention proper there was no contest over either proposition, but soon after the committee on resolutions met at 9 o'clock in the forenoon the question came up, and there was quite a hot discussion, put. led for the action by ex-Secretary Hilary A. Herbert and Gens. J. B. Gordon and S. D. Lee for the resolutions before a unanimous report was secured from the committee.

The resolutions as reported and adopted thank the congress and president for removing the remains of some Confederates from the District of Columbia to the Arlington National Cemetery, and ask them to assume the care and preservation of the graves of Confederates buried in the North.

By the adoption of the report of the trustees for the memorial association, the convention approved of paying Gen. John C. Underwood over $25,000 for his work in securing the amount necessary to validate the Charles Broadway Rouss offer of $100,-

This was followed by a fervent prayer by the Rev. Dr. Blackard of the Methodist Church.

J. G. Guice, of Alabama, from the committee on credentials, reported upon the organization of the convention.

Noise on the street interrupted the convention at this point so badly that Gen. Gordon said that if the local authorities could not stop it, he could do so with the old veterans. (Applause.)

The rules provided that all resolutions must go unread to the committee and the first one presented was one of thanks to the old Confederate darkies; another was to erect a monument to the old slaves. Gen. S. D. Lee, chairman of the Historical committee, then presented the report of that committee.

There was somewhat of a tangle growing out of the proposition to adopt the report without reading it, Gen. Cabell leading. A member from Texas moved that the report to make a special order for 3 o'clock in the afternoon and that was adopted.

Mr. Roberts, from the camp at Franklin, Tenn., presented for reference and future action a resolution looking toward weeding out of the action looking to the care and perservacamps any who did not remain in the service to the end of the war.

How Mothers may Help their Daughters into Womanhood

Every mother possesses information of vital value to her young daughter. That daughter is a precious legacy, and the responsibility for her future is largely in the hands of the mother. The mysterious change that develops the thoughtless girl into the thoughtful woman should find the mother on the watch day and night. As she cares for the physical well-being of her daughter, so will the woman be, and her children also.

When the young girl's thoughts become sluggish, when she experiences headaches, dizziness, faintness, and exhibits an abnormal disposition to sleep, pains in the back and lower limbs, eyes dim, desire for solitude, and a dislike for the society of other girls, when she is a mystery to herself and friends, then the mother should go to her aid promptly. At such a time the greatest aid to nature is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It prepares the young system for the coming change, and is the surest reliance in this hour of trial.

The following letters from Miss Good are practical proof of Mrs. Pinkham's efficient advice to young women.

The resolutions as reported and adopted thank the congress and president for removing the remains of some Confederates from the District of Columbia to the Arlington National Cemetery, and ask them to assume the care and preservation of the graves of Confederates buried in the North.

By the adoption of the report of the trustees for the memorial association, the convention approved of paying Gen. John C. Underwood over $25,000 for his work in securing the amount necessary to validate the Charles Broadway Rouss offer of $100,-

The report was adopted.

Noise on the street interrupted the convention at this point so badly that Gen. Gordon said that if the local authorities could not stop it, he could do so with the old veterans. (Applause.)

The rules provided that all resolutions must go unread to the committee and the first one presented was one of thanks to the old Confederate darkies; another was to erect a monument to the old slaves. and It is the Least Dangerous Explosive to Handle,

New York, June 3 .- The Press says: Maximite, the new explosive invented by Hudson Maxim, has been adopted by this country after a series of successful tests at the Sandy Hook proving grounds. The secret of the explosive, it is thought, may revolutionize warfare. It is said to be known steamer, disabled, is two miles nary powder.

The explosion of the compound, after passing through heavy with no insurance. the plate, is accomplished by means of a fuse. Shells filled with lyddite. the high explosive adopted by the British government, filled in the same way as was maximite into the same shells, and fired at a plate an inch and a half in thickness, all exploded on impact, where the maximite shells passed through the steel plates a foot in thickness. These tests of maximite are regarded as having demonstrated that there is no warship of any navy capable of withstanding its destructive effects. Mr. Maxim conducted these experiments in person, there being no one present except the ordnace officers and experts representing the government.

In an interwiew Mr. Maxim said: the thickest armor of our enemies to explode inside their warships, while they, in turn, would be able only to penetrate our armour with solid shot, or at least, carrying no bursting charge whatever.'

Millions for Baseball.

A million of dollars are spent every year upon the game of baseball, but large as this sum is, it cannot begin to equal the amount spent by people in search of health. There is a sure method of obtaining strength, and it is not a costly one. We urge those who have spent much and lost hope to try Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It strengthens the stomach, makes digestion easy and natural, and cures dyspepsia; constipation, bilious ness and weak kidneys.

Sensible Cure for Rheumatism.

Rheumatism is always caused by thick, sluggish, impure blood. Impurities that should be expelled by the liver and kidneys remain to produce disease. To cure rheumatism the blood must be thinned and purified. That is what will do. It cleanses the entire system by restoring healthy activity of the liver and kidneys. It expels rheumatism-producing waste matter as nothing else can and does it quickly. Thins and purifies the blood. Cures rheumatism and other blood diseases by removing the cause. Money back if it fails. Price 50 cents.

Worms

CASCARETS are a sure cure for tape worms and those other pests of worms that make the lives of children and their mothers miserable. Any variety of parasites that live in the human stomach or bowels, and feed on the substance which should properly nourish the body, are dislodged by Cascarets Candy Cathartic, and expelled. One or two tablets usually drive them out, and persistent use is sure to do away with the unwelcome intruders. Many children and older people suffer from worms without knowing it, and get thin and weak, although their appetite is good. The best way to find out is to take Cascarets. Never accept a substitute!
