MEMORIES OF OLD SMITHLAND.

In the early history of Smithland O. T. Williams removed here He was a mechanic and an inventor. At that date there were not those floating palaces now used in raising sunken vessels, and many palatial steamers became a total loss. Williams invented and patented a machine that would with a small expense raise the largest sunken vessel. It consisted of metallic tubes in shape of a cigar. The tubes were fastened together with a chain, and when in operation were sunk on each side of the iion Hill. Francis was condemn- and getting breakfast. After a sunken vessel, connected by a chain under the boan. Air was then pumped into the tubes which caused them to rise to the surface drawing the sunken vessel up with them. Williams did not realize much from his valuable invention before the civil war came up and his patent was adopted by the gov ernment without remuneration to the inventor.

Later, Williams invented the shingle machine and secured a patent. Shingles were at that time by hand.

The machine was soon in general use and the inventor realized considerable money out of it; Wil liams lived to a ripe old age.

James Bryant was another charin the early history of Smithland. He was a noted turfman. When he came hear he bought a large and built one of the best race tracks in the country. It was a erected, and all the buildings for the accommodation of the thous- band. ands of people who attended. Bry ant was known all over the country and his race course was patronized by the leading horsemen from every section of the United States. All the noted race horses of that day were brought to his stables every season, and thousands of dollars changed hands on every race. Bryan, sold out and went to California, where he engaged in the same business and made a fortune.

On one occasion while here he was challenged for a duel. He selected Bowie knives as the weapons and to fight in a pen 10 feet square. The day was set and Bry adversary failed to put in his ap-

"WHY BE A FARMER?"

The above were the first words of an advertisement in one of my papers. I will try to answer the question, although it is not often that I give any attention to an advertisement. Why be a farmer? Because it is one of the grandest and most honorable callings of life; because it is a calling that does not require the little tricks of trade to be successful; because the farmer is the one person in all the world that is independent of the rest of the world. 'The farmer can live independently of others, but it would be impossible for other to live without the farmer, though they look down on the farfarmers that have arisen to distinction than men of any other calling.-Epitomist.

AN OLD BIBLE.

Printed in 1599-An Interesting Relic.

An interesting relic, which has stood the ravages of time for over three centuries, and is still in a good state of preservation, is a Bible belonging to Mrs. Ben Waller, of this city. It is as stated on the title page, "translated from the Greek by Thead. Beza, Englished by L. Tomson, and printed by Christopher Barker, in the year 1599, at London, England."

It was brought to this country 211 years ago by the forefathers of Mr. Waller, and has ever since remained a treasured heir-loom in the family-passing from father to son as each generation succeeded the other. Rev. J. L. Waller, of Virginia, who is a direct antecedent of the Fulton family, at one time owned the Bible, and long before revolutionary times, much persecution did he suffer because of preaching the gospel as found between the covers. He was many times imprisoned, and as oftened threatened with dire punishment, but neither had the effect of stopping him. For his quaint and original expressions upon excitable occasions, he earned for himself the title of "Swearing Jack Waller." He was nevertheless a powerful exhorter in those early days and with the aid of this Bible succeeded in making many converts. It is, of course, valuable for its great age and associations, but there are numerous defects-such as printing, authography and material-that would not pass muster today. The peculiarities of spelling is first to attract the eye-"Mathewe," for There used to be a superstition Matthew; "Catholike," for Catholic; Jesus, etc., being brought up on the coast, who had will be nearly twice as large as any forthe correct manner in the long ago.-Fulton Leader.

FOR THE NAVY.

5,000 New Men Are Wanted-Best Seamen Come From the West.

Good men are wanted for the United States navy, a thousand a month from now until July, and several recruiting parties, each composed of a lieutenant, a medical officer and three or four noncommissioned officers and sailors have been sent out into the west, where experience has demonstrated that the best material for seamen can be found, writes William E. Curtis in the Chicago Herald. that only boys who had been learned to swim in salt water and sail boats would make good sailors, and hence the rank and file of the navy was formerly recruited in the cities and fishing villages on tide water. This fallacy was exploded long ago, and now it is the unanimous opinion that the sailor comes from the farms and the boys are born of honest, indus. points. trious families, reared under good moral influences and have principles as well as intelligence, ambition, education and self control.

A FEW FACTS.

The Louisiana Purchase Exposition (the World's Fair) will commemorate the centennial of the purchase of the great Louisiana Territory by the United States from France, and will be by far the greatest international event of this character within the world's history. It will cover 1,200 acres of land, have 300 acres of exhibit space, and will cost, approximately, $40,000,000,00.

All Nations, States, Territories, Provinces and Colonies will participate and present in highly-classified arrangement the achievements of modern civilization in the arts, sciences and industries.

Dedication of the grounds and buildings will held with fitting ceremony, April 30, 1903, the centennial anniversary of the purchase. Exposition will open one year later.

The price paid for the Louisiana Territory was $15,000,000, and the land acquired was about one million square miles, more than doubling the area of the United States at that time.

Total funds for the World's Fair to date, including the State and Governments appropriations, $20,000,000.

United States Government's appropriations: $5,000,000 for general fund; $450,000 for building; $800,000 for exhibits; $40,000 for Indian exhibit; $8,000 for life-saving station; $250,000 for Philippine exhibit.

City of St. Louis appropriated $5,000, 000 and citizens of St. Louis subscribed $5,000,000; State of Missouri appropriated $1,000,000.

Balance of money appropriated by other various States and Territories. Main group of World's Fair Buildings srranged in the form of a fan, the art palaces forming the apex at the southwest; large exhibit buildings will be fifteen in number, main entrance to be upon the Grand Avenue at the northeast corner of the grounds.

The administration of the affairs of the exposition is in the hands of ninetythree directors.

Important features will be: The airship tournament, in which prizes to the series of international congresses, in which distinguished savants from all parts of the world will participate; the great horse show upon fashionable lines; the dairy test; the athletic events, etc. The Louisiana Purchase Exposition mer exposition, and will show the life and activity of the nations of the world.

St. Louis, city of exposition, fourth city in population in the United States, was unanimously chosen as the place for holding the World's Fair by a convention of delegates appointed by the Governors of States and Territories within the original purchase.

THE COMMONER IN 1903.

The Commoner. Mr. Bryan's paper will be especially interesting and instrun tive during the present session of coc gress. The action of this congress will probably determine the issues upon which the next presidential campaign will be fought. The Commoner proposes to carry on a campaign of educa-tion and organization to the end that democratic principles may triumph.

In addition to the editorial department, which receives Mr. Bryan's personal attention, The Commoner contains a Current Topic department, wherein a non-partisan discussion of topics of timely interest and other valuable information will be found. The Home Department is conducted by an experienced woman who is widely known as a writer of household topics and who is an authority on the art of cooking in all that the term implies. This department alone is worth the subscription price. We also manufacture sewing machines that retail from $12.00 up.

The Standard Rotary runs as silent as the tick of a watch. Maks 300 stitches while other machines make 200.

Apply to our local dealer, or if there is no dealer in your town, address all interesting and ably conducted, among which is a summary of the world's news told in a narrative style, er Common or Not—contains original anecdotes and wit, moral lessons in homely phrase and verse, and appeals to old and young alike.

The Commoner as a whole is clean, entertaining and instructive and its Best Children's Page rapid increase in circulation-now amounting to 140,000-is proof of the paper's strength and influence.

Arrangements have been made with Mr. Bryan whereby The Commoner can be supplied at a very low rate with the Press; both papers for one year for $1.75. This offer applies to both new and renewal subscriptions, and should be taken advantage of without delay. All orders should be sent to the Press,

REWARD OFFERED

For Murderer of Woodard—Cowan's Boys Claim He Acted in Self Defense.

County Judge Evans, of Livingston county has offered a reward of $50 for the arrest of Jim Cowan, of Paducah, who murdered Warner Woodard, above here on the Ohio river, and Gov. Beckham has offered $250, George Daughtery, of Caldwell making a total of $300 that will be land officers.

Sheriff Bush, Deputy Wilson; Jailer Threlkeld and ex-Sheriff R. B. Cowper, all of Smithland, visited the scene of the murder Thursday. They found Cowan's family in destitute circumstances.

Two of Cowan's little boys claim they were witnesses to the shooting and that their father acted in self defense, stating that Woodard was advancing on him with pistol statement is denied by Walden, Woodard's brother-in-law. Walden states that Cowan's boys were ard's two boys and himself were

The fatal shot was fired at a range of only about ten feet and Woodard's head was almost torn

Cowan then deliberately walked to the prostrate body of the man whom he had murdered and took from his pocket a pistol, which the latter had placed there, to protect himself upon learning a few a days before that Cowan had threatened him. Cowan then turned to Walden and threatened to kill him and said: "That's the way I do 'em when they get up
