1400 TONS LAST WEEK

Nearly 3,000,000 Pounds of Ore and Clays
Shipped in Six Days—The Columbia Plant
Nearly Ready to Commence Work—
News From Carrsville.

A GREAT INCREASE IN TONNAGE!

The Old Jim mine was shipping carbonate of zinc last week.

Forty-four car loads of ores and clays were shipped out of Marion last week.

Sixty-five teams are hauling fire clay for shipment north. They will average about two tons to the load.

Late Joplin advices state that $40 per ton was the top price for zinc ore based upon a 60 per cent. zinc contents.

Congressman Williams has leased 2000 acres of mineral land in the vicinity of Karber's Ridge, Ill.

The Bement-Schwab carbonate property seems to be improving in its output daily. Shipments from this property will likely commence on August 1st.

The last sulphur rock sent the General Chemical company of Pennsylvania by the Reed Mining company averaged 40 per cent. or 800 pounds of pure sulphur to the ton.

Albert Likens, representing a Carrsville company, who is prospecting some three miles from Carrsville, reports at 60 feet depth a handsome body of carbonate of zinc.

The Hardin Era says that O. W. Ferguson, the manager of the Big 4 mine, situated ten miles southeast of Harriaburg, Ill., has uncovered an 8 foot vein of zinc ore.

It is anticipated that Colonel Snow, of Mineral Point, Wis., will visit Marion early next week and take part in the christening services over the Columbia separating plant.

A Marion man, Henry Ledbetter, was the first depositor registered in the new Hardin County Bank at Cave-in-Rock the other day. His deposit, it is stated, was $10,000.

Laurence Cruce will personally manage the mining work of the Stegar-Dollar-Cruce property near Alta Pass, Ill. Both carbonates of zinc and galena will be mined and shipped.

It is stated that the Eagle Fluor Spar company of Wheeling, W. Va., have sold their fluor spar interests and property in this county to the Kentucky Fluor Spar company of Marion.

A new pump will be installed in the sulphur shaft of the Reed Mining company this week. The water at 30 feet is of very considerable volume, but can be utilized to good advantage in making the sulphur rock ready to load on cars.

FLUORSPAR AND ZINC BLENDE.

The specific gravity of fluor spar is 3.18; that of zinc blende, with which it is often associated, 4.05. Where did the idea arise that they could not be mechanically separated?

WORLD'S FAIR DISPLAY.

The mining and metallurgical exhibits which are being gathered together for the Louisiana Exposition and the plans for their installation have taken such shape as to warrant the statement that they will prove one of the most interesting features of the exposition.

BARITES AND ZINC BLENDE.

The specific gravity of zinc blende is 4.05 and that of barite 4.06. It would be a practical mechanical impossibility to make the separation between the two. Hence the mining property that carries zinc blende and barite better be left alone unless a man has money to burn.

GRAPHITE PREVENTS BOILER SCALE

It is said that a small quantity of graphite, mixed with water, used in boilers will prevent scale forming, and if scale is already in the boiler, the graphite will penetrate the old scale and decompose it, so that it will drop to the bottom. The discovery that graphite is a water softener was made by a mining company in Mexico, which used water slightly colored by graphite, and noticing that their boiler kept free from scale, came to the conclusion that the graphite acted as the preventive.

The New York Oil Paint and Drug Reporter says: "There has been an increased demand for zinc whites, as many of the grinders, both East and West, who were shut down have started up again on their fall orders. Prices remain steady, the increased sales for export giving an active tone to the market."

A few shillings per week from the business men of Marion would give us sprinkled streets and save the people who trade with them surgical, dental and oculist's bills not to say anything about the Recording Angel working overtime putting down things that are said about the horrible dusty streets of this exceedingly dusty city.

Prof. Burk, of Louisville, who is one of the pioneers of this district, in a mining way, has in connection with chemist Arnold, established a laboratory at 308-309 Illinois Life Building, Louisville, Ky. Any of our ores or clays will be assayed or analyzed by them at a very reasonable charge, and returns received very much earlier than from any other point where a chemist resides.

Invitations have been issued to a great number of mining men and visitors to the district to be present at the inauguration of the new Columbia 50 ton concentrating plant. It is expected that the wheels will commence turning the day the Press is issued next week. It will be an occasion of surpassing interest to all who have the interests of this wonderful mining district at heart.

The forced sale of the American Coal and Iron Company was held in Uniontown on Monday and the valuable property was bought by Mr. J. E. Voegtley, of Gas City, Ind., for the sum of $25,575. The passing of this property into new hands means much for Uniontown, as the conditions were such in the past that the company in possession was unable to operate the mine on an extensive scale. As soon as the sale is legally confirmed, which will be in a few days, a start will be made toward improving the property and making such additions as will enable the mine to be run on a large scale. Another shaft will be sunk, thus allowing an increase in the number of miners to be worked, and as the new owners intend to ship by river as well as by rail, a small branch will be built from the mine over which coal will be carried from the mine to the river.

Mr G. W. Vaughn, of 3648 Page Avenue, St. Louis, brings to Marion the first perfect lithograph stone ever discovered in America. It is found in Baxter county, Arkansas, the ledge being from 2 1/2 to 4 1/2 feet thick, capped with an exceedingly hard, white flint, which in turn has a limestone roof, as also a limestone floor. The stone itself is of a light gray color, velvety to the touch, and is somewhat similar to the best China clay, except that it is very much harder and very heavy. The extension of the Iron Mountain railroad will enable Mr. Vaughn to market his product, probably about twenty carloads per year, which will supply the demand in this country. The returns will yield some $25,000 per car. St. Louis lithographers have used this stone in practical work and pronounce it equal if not superior to the German product.

COMET VISIBLE.

A big comet that is attracting the attention of the scientific world at present is visible to the naked eye any clear night, and is growing brighter. In a few days its tail will probably be visible.

Borrelly, a Frenchman, first saw it floating into the view of the telescope at Marseilles, on June 21. Since then it has been traveling at a terrific pace toward the sun, until now it is seventeen times as bright as when first seen. On August 22 it will pass the sun and begin to grow dimmer and dimmer until it disappears again.

It is not like most stars, but has a milky, cloudy look instead of being a point. The comet can be seen between 9 and 10 o'clock.

Standing in a position exactly facing the north, find the point directly over your head. Then let your gaze travel from that point directly north for about one-fourth of the distance from this point to the horizon. The comet can be readily recognized by its dist. notly cloudy appearance. In case the sky is obscured it can be seen the succeeding night in a place a little northwest of this point, as that is the direction it is traveling. It is hard to say if the comet will ever again come into view of this world.

According to the measurements of the new comet based on photographs taken by the Yale observers the tail of the comet is at least 3,000,000 miles long.

AN ILLINOIS MOB'S WORK.

A mob of 600 men attacked the jail at Danville, Ill., to lynch a negro, James Wilson, who confessed to an assault on Mrs. Thomas Burgess. The sheriff and deputies fired upon them, wounding some of them fatally. Before reaching the jail the mob had lynched a negro who fired upon them and killed a white man. After being driven away from the jail the mob made preparations to resume the attack, threatening to lynch the sheriff and deputies together with a colored troop of militia, which will likely be called into service. Danville has a population of 26,000, and is the home of Congressman Joe Cannon, who will be the next Speaker of the National House of Representatives.

YOUTHFUL MURDERERS LATE NEWS DISPATCHES

Pay the Penalty of the Crime at Lexington—Die Game.

Earl Whitney, of Nashville, Tenn., and Claude O'Brien, of Memphis, Tenn., were hanged at 8:08 a. m. at Lexington on Friday morning, in the jail yard of the Fayette county jail. The boys ate a hearty breakfast and at 7:30 o'clock were dressed for the scaffold. Both were so calm that they elicited comment from all of the officials.

Two priests at 6 o'clock administered communion. Both prisoners said that they felt better and were ready to die. The death march commenced at 7:47 a. m. Whitney smiled from the scaffold at the crowds. Both shook hands with the priests. O'Brien's lips moved in prayer as his hands were tied. Both replied they did not have anything to say.

It was 2:39 o'clock on the morning of October 12, 1902, when O'Brien and Whitney entered the home of A. B. Chinn, a wealthy merchant and ex-confederate soldier, and with revolvers in hand demanded that the old gentleman produce his money. Their voices awakened Mrs. Chinn, who screamed. Asa Chinn, the son, had returned from a dance only a short time before, and had not fallen asleep. He made his way to the door of his parents' room, but one of the burglars saw him and they commenced shooting. Asa Chinn also opened fire. The elder Chinn had raised up and was sitting on the side of the bed. He was shot through the body. The boys then ran from the room over the form of Asa Chinn, who also had been shot and was lying on the floor, using his revolver as he best could. Whitney was wounded in the left knee. The elder Chinn, mortally wounded, attempted to assist his son and got up out of bed and went to the door, and dropped dead.

The boys were captured a few days later near Lexington, but owing to rumors of lynching were removed to Louisville for safe-keeping. O'Brien was 18 years old and his home was in Memphis. Earl Whitney was one year his senior and has relatives in Nashville, Tenn.

Strong efforts were made by relatives to save the boys from the death penalty, but to no avail.

GEN. CLAY'S WILL.

The will of Gen. Cassius M. Clay provides a bequest of $10,000 for Dora Brock, the money to be held in trust. She is also to receive an interest in certain mining properties in Clay county. The will provides for an inventory and sale of his estate, and there are numerous bequests for personal friends. After all are paid, the remainder, if any, is to go to the Filson Club, of Louisville, and the Society of American Authors, of New York.

Jennie Steer, a negress accused of poisoning Lizzie Dolan, a sixteen-year-old white girl, was hanged by a mob near Shreveport, La.

Internal revenue receipts in Kentucky for the year ending June 30 show that the total spirits distilled from all materials was $125,862,518.08.

Mrs. Dora Brook announces her intention of going into the courts if necessary, to enforce her claim to the bequests provided for her in the will of Gen. Cassius M. Clay.

A stock market panic broke on Wall street Friday, which recalled the famous "Black Friday" of Jay Gould. New low records were made in stocks, and though the market rallied somewhat at the close, there is still apprehension of more serious impending trouble.

Four hundred and fifty soldiers were prostrated and fifteen were killed as the result of a forced march of a Hungarian regiment while the thermometer registered 125 degrees. The Colonel commanding finished the trip in a carriage.

Leaders in the Grand Army will make an effort to have the next Congress enact a law providing for the payment of $12 monthly to every Civil War soldier who served ninety days or more, and also to the widows of such soldiers.

The white people of the South are commended for refusing social equality to the negroes in a set of resolutions adopted by the A. M. E. church conference at Madison, Ga. It forces the negro to industry and economy in order to supply his needs, the resolutions state.

The presence of troops has restored order at Danville, Illinois, though there is a general feeling of dread and there is much bitter feeling against the militia. A revised list shows that two persons were killed and twenty-two wounded as the result of Saturday night's race riot and the attack on the jail.

The special grand jury at Jackson completed its work and was discharged by Judge Redwine. Twenty-three indictments were returned, mostly for minor offenses. The bills against Plummer, Crawford and Sharp were the only ones directly connected with the feud troubles. The foreman expressed the opinion after adjournment that the jury would have indicted Bill Britton but for the influence of Alex. Hargis.

After a terrible battle with penitentiary officials, thirteen long term prisoners, escaped from Folsom prison, California, carrying with them the warden and other officers, to be used as shields in case of an attack. The Warden and two others were later released but several prison authorities were held captive. The desperadoes are headed for Bald Mountain and threaten to kill their prisoners in case of pursuit by the militia, which has been called out.

LONG LIFE ENDED.

Gen. Cassius M. Clay, the Lion of White Hall Dead.

A FAMOUS OLD KENTUCKIAN.

After an eventful career, Major General Cassius Marcellus Clay, diplomat, statesman, orator, warrior, editor, duelist, lawyer, abolitionist, legislator, recluse, fanatic and lunatic died Thursday night at his historic home, Whitehall, of cystitis and other complications incident to old age.

He served in the state legislature from Madison county as a youth, was a prisoner in the Mexican war, leader of Southern abolitionists, ambassador to Russia, general in the armies of the United States and the most prominent figure in several of the bloodiest encounters in Kentucky history. In politics he was alternately a Democrat and Republican.

His children were all at his bedside. Some of them had not been in their father's house or seen him in years, because of his peculiar hallucination that they are in a vendetta sworn to kill him.

Clay was one of the most picturesque figures in American politics in the sixties. His home at Whitehall has been guarded by arms. A loaded cannon sits in his hallway, and his room is a veritable arsenal, gathered for the purpose of repelling an attack of an imaginary vendetta.

Gen. Clay, who was 93, was only recently declared insane, through the efforts of his three children, and a committee was appointed to take charge of his estate. He had several times summoned doctors, only to refuse to see them when they came. He allowed a trained nurse to take charge of his room several weeks ago, but sent her away when he got the idea that she was responsible for the removal of his weapons.

Gen. Clay was one of the most picturesque reminders of a past generation. Though his parents were slave holders he was converted by a speech of William Lloyd Garrison and became an Abolitionist. In 1845 he began to issue an antislavery paper at Lexington, and when the office was mobbed he issued it from Cincinnati. He was an officer of volunteers in the Mexican war and minister to Russia from 1861 to 1869.

For some time he had by display of arms, kept all strangers from his place, and lived alone with his servants.

He attracted notice several years ago by marrying Dora Richardson, a 16-year-old girl, who afterward left him to wed a sawmill hand, who was recently killed by a train in Illinois. Even after she left he retained kindly feelings toward the child wife, and lavished presents on her.

He figured in several duels, killed two white men with his knife in fights over the slave question just before the war, and shot a negro to death some years ago. He had scores of narrow escapes from a violent death.

At the outbreak of the civil war he was appointed a major general of volunteers on the Union side but soon retired from the army to go to Russia as minister.

REV. CUNDIFF IN EVANSVILLE.

Evansville, July 23.—Many conversions are being made at each of the services held at the holiness camp meeting on Coal Mine Hill and the interest is daily increasing in the meetings, as well as the attendance. Last night the crowd was perhaps the largest that has been present since the beginning of the meetings.

Rev. B. F. Cundiff was the speaker last evening and his sermon is pronounced by those who heard it as one of the finest ever delivered in this city. "It was the biggest sermon I ever heard," is the way one enthusiastic attendant expressed it today. The result of the sermon and the services last night was the conversion of a large number of persons.

THE CORN CROP.

It is natural that there should be a deal of solicitude throughout the country as to the possible corn crop of 1903. In 1902 the crop was larger and valued at $740,000,000, or nearly $200,000,000 larger than the high priced cotton crop of the same year, and $200,000,000 more valuable than the wheat crop. At the present time the corn crop is considered uncertain all over the union. The weather during June was unseasonably cold, and the floods and freshets in the southwest did much to damage the crop in the fertile bottom lands of Illinois and Missouri. In all sections the corn is very late.

The growing crop was considerably smitten by frost in some of the northern states, but the farmers hope by replanting to secure a good deal of what is termed forage crop. The corn crop must be perilous for the reason that the price of corn now rules in the Chicago market much higher than it was six weeks ago. But the strangest of commercial conditions is the fact that the price of live hogs receded with the advance in corn.

We do not think there is as yet cause for serious alarm. July and August will make corn, and the warm weather may extend into the latter portion of September. If so we shall have a great corn crop. The overflowed lands in the Illinois and Missouri bottoms will be replanted with corn, and as the soil is still warm by the 20th of September the corn crop will mature. All admit that wheat will prove a very large crop. The estimate is 782,000,000 bushels, or the largest crop ever raised in the United States. Mother Earth is always the bounteous parent of general prosperity and the hope is now not unwisely indulged that that parent will show usual good sense in feeding her children with the mill, which sustains the cattle, which moves the machinery and which insures that abundance of provisions to make the workers in every craft and in every industry sturdy, independent and forward.

DIED FROM WEeping.

The strange story of a boy who died from excessive weeping, is told by the New York correspondent for the Chicago Tribune. John Crowley, 16 years old, whose home was at Brooklyn, was strong and robust. On the evening of Wednesday, July 1, young Crowley learned of the death of his uncle, Charles Crowley, who was killed while attempting to jump from a train to the platform. The lad cried without ceasing for nearly three days. The Tribune correspondent says: "From the time John Crowley was a baby his uncle, who was a bachelor, had shown him great affection. As the boy grew older the bond between the two became stronger and after the boy's father died, four years ago, the uncle and his nephew became inseparable. Immediately upon learning of his uncle's death John was seized with a fit of hysterical weeping and the efforts of his mother, sisters and brothers to soothe him were in vain. All night long and all day Thursday he continued to moan and sob. He would not eat or sleep and Thursday night he was so weak he could barely totter. Yesterday he attended his uncle's funeral and while riding to the cemetery had another attack of convulsive soothing, finally becoming so violent that he had to be carried to his carriage. He continued to weep through the night until finally he was seized with another burst of convulsive grief and died in his mother's arms."

SUNDAY BASE BALL.

The Baseball Association at Paducah has adopted a new rule. It gives the profits of the Sunday ball game to charity, and when warrants were issued and the case tried before a magistrate, it was decided that, as the game was played for charity no law had been violated.

LADY ARRESTED.

When About to Stand Examination—Had Questions and Answers.

Lexington, Ky., July 24.—Miss Nannie Miller, of Richmond, Ky., a school teacher in the county schools of Madison county, who came here this morning to stand the examination before Supt. M. A. Cassidy, was arrested on a warrant sworn out by County Judge Bullock, charging her with having the questions and answers that are used at the examination. Supt. Cassidy discovered a small package in the waist of Miss Miller's dress, and demanded to know what it was. She tried to throw him off by saying that it was her lunch, but Supt. Cassidy suspected her and took the package and finding that it contained the questions and answers written out in rotation, reported the matter to Judge Bullock, who swore out the warrant for her arrest.

In default of $100 bail Miss Miller was sent to jail, to await her examining trial which was set for next Monday at 10 o'clock.

THE CATHOLIC CHURCH.

The Roman Catholic church is the most wonderful organization in the world. The German Empire, the French Republic, the Italian Kingdom, are in their infancy, the United States a little over 100 years old; the Empires of Russia, of Austria and of England cannot run their claims back 1,000 years, but within 100 years after the death of Christ we find a bishop of Rome writing to other churches with authority, and within a few centuries the church was organized very much in the same fashion that it is today, and the Pope had become in importance second only to the greatest Kings. Exceptional as the Roman church is in time, so it is in space. The British Empire includes Australia, Canada, South Africa and New Zealand. The Russian Empire extends from the Baltic sea to the Bering Straits; but the Roman church, without a rival in Italy, Spain and Portugal, is the chief church in France, Austria, Belgium and Ireland and the States of South America, and is a strong church in the United States and Germany; it has a hierarchy side by side with the Church of England, and communicants all over the world.—World's Work.

The Great Head End Collision.

One of the greatest spectacles ever seen at a fair in Kentucky will be the sensational headend collision between the two thirty ton locomotives, which will clash together at full speed on the afternoon of Wednesday, August 12th, at the Lexington Elks Fair. These engines will be on the opposite ends of a specially built railroad, one half mile long, on the infield of the race track. They will be facing each other under full head of steam. Their whistles will be opened when the engines are started, and remain open until forever silenced by the awful clash and roar of final destruction. A thousand torpedoes will be exploded beneath the swift and mighty tread of ponderous wheels carrying the awful load of sixty thousand pounds. They will be put together at a speed of 35 miles an hour, making a total impact of 70 miles an hour; in other words, a mass of matter, including engines and tenders, weighing one hundred tons, will clash together at this awful rate of speed, and in the twinkling of an eye will grind to dust thousands of pounds of steel and iron.

WANT 15,000 HARVESTERS.

The St. Paul Globe of July 22 says: "The Northern Pacific railroad has issued and the Great Northern is about to issue, a circular for 15,000 men to go into the Northwest harvest fields to help garner the big crop of wheat, and offering special inducements to workers who desire to come from south and east of St. Paul. These circulars are the result of a systematic canvass of the situation by the agents of the two roads for the necessity of securing men. They say that many are needed, and that there will be ample work from August 1 until late in the Autumn at $2 and $3 per day. As a special inducement to men from the Southeast, the roads offer for the latter part of this month, and through August an average rate of $6 to $8 a person for parties of five or more. In order that the workers need not spend their earnings in getting home, they offer a return certificate, which when signed by the farmer for whom they worked, will entitle them to a return rate, at the same fare back that they paid in coming, plus $1.

STATE S. S. CONVENTION.

I wish to call the attention of Sunday school workers to the annual State Sunday School Convention, to be held at Lexington August 18-20. One fare for the round trip and free entertainment while there, plus $1.

This is a rare opportunity at a minimum cost to visit the bluegrass section of the state, attend a good convention, and hear some of the world's most eminent Sunday school workers. Crittenden county is entitled to ten delegates at large and should send the full quota. All that contemplate going please notify the county president Rev. J. W. Flynn, or myself, and certificates will be furnished. The Sunday schools and individuals that have not paid the amount pledged respectively at Crooked Creek June 8 will please remit at once, so that our county apportionment can be paid in full before the State Convention.

Yours obediently,
B. F. Jacobs,
County Secretary.

RIBBONS AS TRIMMINGS.

Ribbons have never been used to better effect in trimmings than this summer, perhaps because the ribbons themselves have never been prettier or more adaptable. They are used in tiny ruffles and in shirred bands to trim many of the midsummer evening gowns, and they make decorative band-trimming for many of the dainty little shoulder wraps which every girl delights in owning. The pompadour ribbons, with their fascinating blurred blossoms, are much used in this way. Imagine a little shoulder cape of white raw silk cut with a round neck, and made with what the summer girls call a drapery half-sleeve. Picture this cape edged with a band of white pompadour ribbon scattered with tiny pink rosebuds and their leaves, and here and there a few sprays of delicate blue forget-me-nots, and haven't you just the prettiest little summer wrap imaginable to wear over your summer waists?—August Woman's Home Companion.

BUYS 'OLD CURIOSITY SHOP'.

A building in Portugal street, Lincoln Inn fields London, which is said to be the original of the Old Curiosity Shop immortalized by Dickens, has been sold to an American, who will eventually take it to pieces and re-erect it in the United States.

Thousands have paid for the privilege of seeing the venerable edifice, and of purchasing Dickens curios, caring but little whether the house written about by the master novelist ever really existed.

Saw Jim Cockrell Murdered.

Before the special grand jury at Jackson last week, Chas. Green, a car inspector of Lexington, testified unwillingly that he was a witness to the assassination of Jim Cockrell in Jackson a year ago. He said he saw Curtis Jett and two other men whose names he did not know, standing at the court house window from which Cockrell was shot, with smoking rifles in their hands. Green said he could identify the two men if they were brought before him. Green was detained in Jackson under guard of soldiers, at the instance of McKinley Cockrell, who swore out warrants before police judge Caldwell against Bill Britton and Asbury Spicer. Britton, who is a deputy sheriff, and a relative of Judge Hargis, is now under arrest and a detail of soldiers are guarding him.

The grand jury indicted Chas. Callahan, Matt Holland and Eben Bowling, for shooting from ambush with intent to kill John D. Turner. All range in age from fifteen to eighteen, and Callahan is a nephew of sheriff Callahan. L. T. Bolin, a witness in the Ewen bribery affair, has left Jackson, saying he had been warned that he would be killed if he remained there.

GRAND JURY'S WORK.

The special grand jury at Jackson has practically completed its work, and no more indictments are expected for any of the crimes growing out of the feud troubles. Joe Crawford and Ed. Tharp, indicted on the charge of burning Ewen's hotel, have been released on bonds of $2,000 each, and their cases have been transferred to Estill county for trial. Gardner Plummer, indicted on the bribery charge has given bond in the sum of $1,000. The jury indicted Mack and Dexter Howard for participating in the shooting affray with the Barretts negroes at Cane Creek schoolhouse. The negroes will be released on the ground of self defence.

INDICTMENTS RETURNED

The special grand jury at Jackson returned an indictment against Gardner Plummer, charging him with attempting to bribe Capt. B. J. Ewen, to leave the country or swear falsely in the Jett-White case. Indictments also were returned against Joe Crawford and Ed Tharp, charging them with burning Ewen's hotel. An effort was made to implicate Judge Hargis and Sheriff Callahan in the bribery case, but the evidence against them was not sufficient, in the judgement of the jurors, to justify an indictment.

A VALUABLE HOG.

G. W. Clark, who lives near Coy in this county, has one sow from which he has raised and sold during the last fifteen months, hogs that have brought him $207.10 in cash, and still has on hand the sow and eight good pigs that are now two months old. This sow is a cross between the Berkshire and Poland-China. Benton Tribune-Democrat.

BOB TAYLOR'S CLOCKS.

Former Governor Bob Taylor, of our sister State, Tennessee, has this to say in one of his famous lectures:

"Oliver Wendell Holmes says 'our brains are but seventy year clocks. The angel of life winds them up once for all, closes the case, and gives the key into the hands of the resurrection angel.' And when I read it I thought what a stupendous task awaits the angel of the resurrection, when all the countless millions of old, rusty, worm eaten clocks are to be resurrected and wiped, and dusted, and repaired for missions in the skies! There will be every kind and character of clock and clockwork resurrected on that day. There will be the Catholic clock with its beads and the Episcopal clock with its ritual. There will be an old clock resurrected on that day wearing a broadcloth coat buttoned up to the throat, and when he is wound up he will go off with a whizz and a bang. He will get out of the dust shouting, 'hallelujah!' and he will proclaim 'sanctification' and falling from grace and baptism by sprinkling or pouring as the only true doctrine by which men shall go sweeping through the pearly gates into the New Jerusalem. And he will be recognized as a Methodist preacher, a little noisy, a little clogged with chicken feathers, but ripe for the kingdom of heaven."

There will be another old clock resurrected on that day, dressed like the former, but a little stiffer and straighter in the back, and armed with a pair of gold spectacles and manuscript. When he is wound up he will break out in a cold, sepulchral tone, with firstly, foreordination; secondly, predestination; and thirdly, the final preservation of the saints. And he will be recognized as a Presbyterian preacher, a little blue and rigid, a little dry and formal, but one of God's own elect and he will be labeled for Paradise.

There will be an old Hardshell clock resurrected, with throat whiskers, and wearing a shabby coat and flapped breeches; and when he is roused up a little and a little oil is squirted into his old wheels, he will swing out into space on the wings of the gospel, with, 'My Dear Beloved Brethren—ah—I was ridin' along this mornin' atryin' to think of somethin' to say to this dyin' congregation, ah, and as I rid up by the old hill pond-ah, and an old turtle came up out of the water and was sittin' up on an old snag a sunnin' of himself-ah, and lo and behold-ah, when I rode up a little nearer, ah, he jumped off the snag ker chug, into the water, thereby proving immediate, ah.

"Our brains are clocks and our hearts are the pendulums. If we live right in this world, when the Resurrection Day shall come, the Lord God will polish the wheels, and jewel the bearings and crown the casements with stars and with gold. And the pendulums shall be harps encrusted with precious stones. They shall swing to and fro on angel wings, making music in the ear of God, and flashing his glory through the blissful cycles of eternity."

Who Compose the Conclave.

The sacred college of cardinals, which will elect Leo XIII's successor, is now composed of sixty-four members. When the college is full its total membership is seventy. Twenty five of the cardinals live in Rome, and form the Roman curia, so often mentioned. A majority of the cardinals are of Italian birth.

There are three orders in the sacred college—bishops, priests, and deacons. But these orders belong exclusively to the college, and have nothing to do with the dignity of the cardinals held outside of the college. For example, Archbishop Gibbons of Baltimore is in the college a priest. There are six cardinal bishops when all the offices are filled.

Not very many others are represented in the college because most orders compel the taking of vows not to seek preferment and to accept the same only when ordered to do so by the Pope himself. The only Jesuit in the college is Steinhilber, a cardinal deacon. The senior bishop in the college is the dean, the senior priest is first priest, and the senior deacon is first deacon. The cardinal dean consecrates the new pope, and the cardinal who is first deacon proclaims and crowns him.

FROM THE COMMONER.

Young Mr. Rockefeller says he prays for light and gets it. But he charges us 20 cents a gallon.

The Berlin Professor who declares that alcohol is the source of life should throw his reverse lever.

There should be enough difference between Democratic and Republican platforms to render unnecessary plans and specifications for the proper designation of each.

Does anybody expect prosecution of the post office rascals at the hands of an administration that owes its existence to the scheming ability of the men responsible for those rascals?

It seems that the "negro question" has slopped over to the north ward side of the once famous Mason and Dixon line.

Of course ex-Governor Taylor, from Kentucky, is filled with sorrow because of that Evansville mob's disregard of law.

Northward the course of mob law spreads.

The hanging of the boys at Lexington ought to have a soothing effect upon the Breathitt county feudists.

The Democratic Campaign committee for the State has decided to begin its active campaigning Oct. 1.

Hundreds of negroes are leaving Indiana and Illinois for the South, where, perhaps, his social and political advantages are not so pressing, but where he is not unhappy.

There was a flurry and a few men lost millions in Wall street last week, but if the sunshine and showers continue with their accustomed regularity the late potato crop will save us.

There are still people in Marion who "don't believe we have nothing, nohow" in the way of minerals. Crittenden county always was well represented in the asylums, and the outlook for maintaining her record in this particular never was more promising.

The Populists, Bimetallists and Reformers are holding a conference in Denver. The movement, it is said, is designed to embrace all the so-called reform elements, and to overthrow the old parties. The overthrow of the old parties is a mighty slogan to many reformers.

Gov. Beckham appointed, and Secretary of State Hill issued commissions to Charles B. Poyntz, of Maysville, Democrat, and George Denny, of Lexington, Republican, as members of the State Election Commission. They were recommended for appointment by the State Central committees of the parties.

When the fiscal court convenes in October there should be a unanimous vote for an appropriation to exhibit Crittenden county products at the St. Louis fair. There is such a thing as being "penny wise and pound foolish," and the refusal of this court to spend a few pennies that thousands of dollars may be attracted here to develop our minerals, would be mighty near a demonstration of the aptness of that old adage.

If some western town or county had a mining outlook half as inviting as ours, the world would know it, capital would be pouring in and developing it, and there would be the music of business in the air. To be sure there are a few strains of that enervating harmony floating carelessly around here now, and a few people know what we have, but, comparatively speaking, our light is under a bushel. An organized effort is needed to bring about the best results. Why not a commercial club?

THE JETT-WHITE TRIAL.

At Cynthia Monday the defense in the Jett and White cases made an effort to secure a continuance. A demurrer to the jurisdiction of the court was offered and was overruled. The motion for a continuance also was overruled and attachments were issued for the absent witnesses. Judge Osborne announced his intention of giving full military protection to any witness who desires it, and a detail of soldiers was sent to Lexington after B. J. Ewen, the principal Commonwealth witness. Col. Williams was directed to keep Ewen a prisoner in the camp until after he testified. The trial is now in progress.

Fifteen thousand Louisville Catholics attended the solemn masses said Tuesday in the thirty-two churches of Louisville, in memory of Pope Leo XIII.

PRICE OF WHEAT FALLS.

In the past two days the price of wheat in this city has fallen from 76 to 73 cents, and according to the statements of local millers will fall still lower, says the Owensboro Messenger. The enormous western crop has begun coming in at the northern markets and is of very fine grade. This has caused the price of wheat in Chicago to fall four cents, and the local price went down with it. The millers generally in this city say that the quality is still very poor, and much of the grain now coming in is not good enough to grade as No. 2. Most of the wheat is only worth 71 cents. One of the leading millers, however, said that it was his belief that as a whole the deliveries of this week were of a better grade than the first that came in, but still there was a great deal No. 3 wheat being delivered in this city. About three-fourths of the Daviess county crop has been delivered.

FRANK CONGER THE NOMINEE

At the delegate convention held at the court house in this city Monday afternoon, Mr. J. Frank Conger, the well known farmer of the eastern portion of the county, received the Republican nomination for Representative from Crittenden and Livingston counties in the General Assembly. Mr. W. J. Bishop of Livingston county was chairman of the convention and Mr. John T. Franks served as secretary.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to thank the people of Marion and others for the many kind deeds shown us during the illness and death of our dear husband and father, Mr. R. A. Moore. When the heart is torn with anguish and sorrow these tender ministrations of friends fall upon the stricken soul as the morning dew upon the tender flower. Our gratitude for such is sincere and unspeakable.

DOVE SEASON.

Od August 1 the closed season on the doves will expire, and under the provisions of the game law it will be permissible to shoot them until next spring. Reports from the wheat fields are to the effect that the birds are unusually plump.

LARGE AUDIENCE

Saw the Entertainment at the Opera House Thursday Night.

The great Midsummer Entertainment given at the opera house Thursday night was attended by hundreds of people from the city and the surrounding country. The audience was well pleased with the program, and each feature was warmly applauded. Owing to the fact that the electric light plant had been closed down during the week until Thursday night, some of the details of the various features were not as complete as they would have been had electric power been furnished for the last rehearsals.

"Peggy Moore's Minstrels," in their beautiful first part, "The North and South United," received a great ovation. The stage settings, the light effects, and the costumes of the thirty youthful singers, were pronounced splendid.

The Woodall family band, of Crayneville, played old fashion music in a most pleasant manner.

"Mrs. Jarley's Waxworks" was one of the best features of the entertainment. Miss Lavine Woods as Mrs. Jarley was great. She kept the audience in a continual roar of laughter. The various characters were well represented. Twenty young ladies and gentlemen took part.

The shadow show was the funniest feature of the evening.

The tableau, "Fencing Tonight on the Old Camp Ground," was very pretty.

Miss Carrie Moore sang, "I've Grown So Used to You," in a most charming manner. The young lady is a sweet singer, and the big audience showed its appreciation of her talent.

"The Palace of Horrors" could not be presented, as no electricity had been furnished for the rehearsals.

Master Virgil Moore, as "Mephisto," bade the audience good night.

You Can See

It will cost you nothing to have your eyes examined and tested, and you do not have to pay for your glasses until you get them and see that they suit you.

Do not miss this opportunity

The grand jury at Jackson investigated the charge of murder against Bill Britton and Asbury Spicer, arrested in connection with the assassination of Jim Cockrell. The jury refused to indict the men and they were released. Charles Green appeared before the grand jury in great trepidation and failed to identify Britton and Spicer as the men he saw with Curtis Jett when Cockrell was shot from the court house window.

Miss Nellie Dobbs, of Hardin county, Ill., is visiting the family of her uncle, John Mahan.

We did not honestly believe as many wagons could be gotten up in the county for hauling as are now hauling fire clay from the Stevens mines. The average is from 60 to 75 every day and night. Many of them are doing most of their hauling after sun down.

We understand that prospecting for the vein of fire clay that leads off from the Stevens mines will commence soon. Many believe the vein extends through some of the adjoining farms.

Col. Roberts is pushing his prospecting with a full force of hands on the Pace property. The prospect is said to be flattering.

Mrs. Robert Brown has returned from a long visit to Tennessee. She is much improved in health.

What has become of the petitions that were circulated in the different precincts asking a vote as to whether liquor shall be sold or not. Those interested should see to it at once that the petitions are filed in due time to get a vote. The temperance people will please act at once as delays along this line causes many good people untold trouble.

The jury trial held before Judge Towery at Hurricane landing last week, resulted in a verdict in favor of opening a 30 foot road to the river and a square of 100 feet on the bank for the use of the public in shipping and receiving. The verdict gives general satisfaction, but we understand that Mr. Foster Threlkeld is aggrieved and appeals to a higher court.

For the benefit of those that think Tolu is in a remote corner of the county, we will say we are pleasantly situated on the South side of the beautiful Ohio river, five miles below Cave-in-Rock, Ill., and 15 miles northwest of Marion. We have 4 stores, 1 drugstore, 1 confectionery, postoffice, barber shop, 2 blacksmith shops, flouring mill, hotel, 2 good church buildings, notary public, 2 doctors and a population of 230 souls, one fourth of which are voters, on whom the others depend for protection that our votes, only, can afford them. Let us not disappoint them by ever allowing liquor sold in our quiet little village, and the good women and children will rise up and call us blessed.

THE CITY OF COLOR.

NEW YORK A PICTURE OF PLEASING CONTRASTS IN HUES.

The American Metropolis in This Respect Surpasses All the Great Monotone Tinted Capitals of the Occidental World

New York has been written about from almost every possible point of view—architectural, commercial, political and social. Yet so far as we know it has never been properly appreciated for the one thing in which it surpasses all the other great capitals of the occidental world, and that is for its color. Those of us who live here all our lives or who absent ourselves for only brief and inconsiderable periods of time never know how extraordinary is the environment in which we have been placed. It is only the stranger who has an artistic sense or the native who has been long away who gets the full effect of this city of oars in its unique prismatic floridity of hue such as vivifies no other city of its kind.

If you will think for a moment and visualize from memory the great cities of Europe as a colorist would see them you will be struck by the fact that each one is a monotone. London has the dull, dingy, smoky hue of its own November fogs, and as you pass along its miles and miles of streets, a welter of unvariegated facades and homely chimney pots, your impression will be more and more that London is one great smudge, hideous and unrelieved beneath a sky of watery paleness which merely accentuates a little more the dingy hue of everything beneath it. Paris equally represents a monotone, a delicate gray that is neat and clean and that adds to the symmetry and harmoniousness of the whole effect, but that is seldom diversified by warmer tones. Berlin is a monotone in buff, and Rome, like Paris, for the most part, a monotone in gray.

One thinks at first of Naples as a city brilliant with the hues of the south, but a little reflection will show that it is not the city itself which can be rightly so regarded, but rather the setting of the city as one perceives it from the ship on which he enters the glorious bay or from the Capo di Posilipo. The intense blue of the sky, the emerald of the surrounding hills, the sparkle on the waters that lap its crescent shore, the huge dun slope of Vesuvius, with its golden smoke, and Capri in the distance swimming in a golden mist—these things afford an unforgettable dream of perfect coloring. But Naples itself! The place is as commonplace and dirty and depressing as Constantinople, which also from a distance cheats you into thinking it a colorist's paradise.

It is New York alone which, after delighting the eye with the beauty of its harbor, embraced by the long slopes of billowy green, fascinates the eye by the brilliancy and diversity of its color scheme. The sky is as blue as that which is arched above the Mediterranean. Its sunshine is as bright, and it is sifted down upon the city like gold dust scattered by a lavish hand. But the sky and the sunlight merely intensify the vividness of the color contrasts which are visible at every turn. Here is no convention, no conformity, no desire for harmonious effect. The snowy whiteness of marble and the clean gray of granite are everywhere intermingled with the cheerful buff or the warm, rich reds of brick. Patches of green appear at the end of every vista.

The enormous display windows of the shops are a riot of blues and yellows and pale rose and heliotrope and scarlet. Gliding catches and reflects the sunlight at every turn. Flags and streamers and multicolored awnings add to the effect, so that every street is a veritable spectrum. Throughout the whole length and breadth of the island city color abounds in flecks and splashes. It is just a bit barbaric, possibly, but it is also wonderful and striking.

To the sober dullness of Madrid or Rome or London it is what the Pompeian wall paintings are to the quiet canvases of Harpignies—not art, but instinct nevertheless with a sensuousness and a glow that stir one strangely. If you are a native of New York perhaps you never noticed this. Yet all the same it is set before you every day, and if you will only think of it the next time you go out of doors you will perceive it as a revelation and will know that whatever else New York may be it is, at any rate, a color city, and as such it is one that has no rival.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Sarcasm.
A young author, evidently desirous of benefiting by the experience of an older brother craftsman, once asked Richard Henry Stoddard how he had acquired such a mastery of Anglo-Saxon.

"I don't know how I ever did it," replied the poet, who, after a moment's reflection, added, "I think, however, I must attribute it to the fact that I never had any education!"

Scenting a New Scheme.
Mr. Tucker—What is it, Tommy? Toothache? Well, we'll go to the dentist tomorrow. Even at your age a boy ought to begin to save his teeth.

Tommy—Gee! If I save up enough do I get somethin' for 'em, paw?—Chicago Tribune.

Mrs. MAGUIRE'S MEDIATION

By M. LOUISE CUMMINS

Copyright, 1902, by T. C. McClure

It had been a hard day for Mrs. Maguire. No one could have blamed her for wondering, as it drew toward a close, whether every member of a large family was not traveling with her brood on that particular holiday. For the twentieth time since morning she made a tour of her domain in an ineffectual attempt to evolve order out of the reigning chaos.

Near one of the half dozen cots which studded the waiting room she paused. Her glance swept the women assembled there ere she stooped over it.

"H-m-m," she mused, "'tis a good two hours and more since I seen her sitting at that desk."

The tiny occupant of the cot, whose life might have been reckoned by weeks, stirred uneasily. Mrs. Maguire bent again with tender touch. Something was in her hand when she stood upright. She betook herself to the beribboned young woman in the little kiosk of sweetmeats outside.

"STOP! I WILL NOT TOUCH IT!"

"Here's a bit of a letter, Angie," she said insinuatingly, "I'd like to have you read for me."

The girl took it.

"To the waiting woman with the kind face," she read slowly.

Mrs. Maguire plucked the paper from her hand.

"Never mind; I know the rest," she said shortly.

Her face was a bewildered page as she turned away. It cleared suddenly. She went quickly forward.

"Mr. Fletcher, sir?"

The depot master paused.

"For the love of heaven, will you read this for me—me sight isn't what it once was, even for print—and don't you say a word of the contents to living mortal!"

She nodded as he read the inscription and listened with distending eyes.

"If you have a woman's heart—and I know from your kind face that you have—take care of my baby! I am dying and have no one with whom to leave her. Oh, if you could get my mother to take my child!"

The letter ended abruptly. A name and address were written below. The depot master looked over his glasses at Mrs. Maguire and whistled below his breath.

"The Lord save us!" she ejaculated in an awed whisper.

Half an hour later her feet were pressing the soft pile of a Turkish rug in a brilliantly lighted library. To the fact that the footman was "his" son to a cousin of her own she owed her admittance. In the hall her foot had tripped in the head of a tiger skin and jolted the little bundle in her arms. It lay safely enough now against her breast.

A door at the end of the room opened. Mrs. Maguire's heart grew faint within her. The woman who came forward, her emine lined cloak hanging loosely from her shoulders, looked at her with eyes as coldly blue as a lake in winter.

"Is there anything I can do for you?" Mrs. Maguire's gaze held hers with-out flinching. She took a step forward.

"Yes, ma'am," she said quietly. "You can take your grandchild."

The woman's whole figure stiffened. "Your grandchild, ma'am," Mrs. Maguire repeated insinuatingly.

"You mistake. I have no grandchild."

"Wish, now, to think of your not knowing it!" Mrs. Maguire said pityingly. "And your daughter's child too!"

"I have no daughter."

"Maybe that's truer than you think. 'Twas dying she said she was, and 'twas dying she looked, God help her!"

A spasm went over the cold face. "H-m-m!" thought Mrs. Maguire. "You're a woman after all." Encouraged by the slight show of feeling, she advanced, still holding out the child.

"Stop! I will not touch it!" The words were forced from between hard, dry lips.

Mrs. Maguire looked from the tiny, wrinkled face on her arm to the one before her and back again. "Faith, if you never touch worse you'll do well," she said shortly.

In mute apology she lifted the helpless hand, laying the little palm against her lips. Instantly the fingers closed gropingly on her mouth. Mrs. Maguire's face changed as if by magic.

"Wish, will you look at that?" she cried gleefully. "Is it grab the mouth off me you would?"

Suddenly she sat down, her breast heaving, her whole frame shaken.

"Oh," she breathed, "'tis no more than twenty years old I am this morn' with the feel of it in me arms! Oh, Nora, me little baby, Mat's gone from me! And Mike—God rest his soul—bending over me so proud! Oh, wirra, wirra! 'Tis neither chick nor child that's left to me this day!"

She lifted the hem of the baby's dress and wiped the small face tenderly where her tears had splashed on it. With trembling mouth she passionately kissed each sole of the tiny, wrinkled feet, crooning broken words of love.

Something was born in the face of the woman who watched her. It grew into a tigerish hunger in the eyes which followed Mrs. Maguire's every movement. The latter rose to go.

"You must excuse me, ma'am," she said apologetically. "If you'd had a little girl and lost her, you'd know how it brings it all back." She turned toward the door.

"Give me the child!"

Mrs. Maguire felt back. Instinctively she laid the little head against her neck and her hand upon it in protection.

"Give me—my grandchild!"

The emine cloak lay unheeded on the floor. With outstretched arms the woman whose mother love had been starved and clamoring in secret besought her.

"Woman, do you hear?"

Mrs. Maguire could no more have held the baby against the hungry strength of those empty arms than she could have stemmed a river at flood.

For a moment she stood with hands hanging listlessly at her sides, listening to the low crooning of the woman who sat huddled on a stool with the little bundle against her breast. Then blindly she felt her way out.

In the street she paused a moment and looked up at the stars.

"Now," she said, as though making a promise to some one above them, "with the help of God I'll find the mother."

Traveling Mechanic.

A feature in the workaday life of China, says the author of "Society in China," is the number of itinerant craftsmen who earn their livelihood on the streets. Every domestic want, from the riveting of a broken saucer to shaving a man's head, is supplied by these useful peripatetics.

If a man's jacket needs mending or his shoes repairing he summons a passing tailor or cobbler, and possibly while waiting for his mended clothes employs the services of a traveling barber to plait his cue. Even blacksmiths carry about with them the very simple instruments of their trade, and the bellows which blow the flame are commonly so constructed as to serve when required as a box for the tools and for a seat to rest the owner when weary.

The rudest tools are all that a workman has at his disposal, and the idea never seems to occur to him that an improvement in their structure is either called for or necessary. The mason who wishes to move a block of stone knows no better means for the purpose than the shoulders of his fellow man, supplemented by bamboos and ropes. The carpenter who wants to saw up a fallen tree does so with his own hand, without a thought of the easier device of a sawmill.

So it is with every branch of industry.

They Never Took Mustard.

An Englishman, fond of roaming about the world, says that he was once on a large steamer where he had for his fellow passengers many Brazilians and Portuguese.

It was the first time that he had encountered individuals of either nation, and he was curious.

"What sort of people do you find them?" he asked the captain one day as they paced the quarter deck together.

"Well, sir," he answered, "they're a queer lot, and that's the truth of it!"

"How so?"

"For one thing," said the captain, "they all of them, man, woman and child, squeeze their feet into boots that gives a man the cramp to look at."

"And what besides?"

The captain turned short upon the speaker as if the second development of nationality was really almost beyond his patience.

"When they eat roast beef, sir, they won't take a bit of mustard with it. Now, that's a fact!"

His Form of Enjoyment.

A well known novelist, who was staying in a small Yorkshire village in order to make a study of native character, happened to meet one of the two postmen of the district. Now, this postman has to walk close upon twenty miles every day, his road being through one of the most dismal parts of the country.

In answer to inquiries, he told the novelist that he had delivered the letters on the same round for fifty years, excepting a fortnight's holiday each year.

"Ah," said the novelist, seeking for information, "what a change it must be for you after your tedious task! No doubt you run up to London or pay a short visit to some other large town. Come, tell me how you spend your hard earned holidays?"

"Well," answered the postman, "having mostly now to do at home, I allus goes round wif' other man."—London Tit-Bits.

JUDGE GIVENS FAIRS.

The Tri-State Fair Association, of Evansville, Ind., has secured Judge C. C. Givens, of Madisonville, Ky., to conduct the management of the Tri-State Fair, to be held Sept. 14th-19th, at Evansville. This is one of the handsomest fair grounds in the United States, but of late years has not prospered because of mismanagement. In securing Judge Givens to conduct their fair they have made no mistake and the odds are 10 to 1 that he will make a great success of it. The Judge always does what he advertises, and the racing people and the public generally have confidence in his management. Judge Givens gives a fair at Guthrie next week and at Madisonville the week after, and everything points to an unprecedented success in both places.

have practiced medicine for 36 years and have consulted the leading physicians in this country in regard to a remedy for dyspepsia, but have never been able to find anything that would effect a cure until I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. Could not eat anything but milk toast for months, but since I used Kodol I can eat anything, and feel that my health is better than it ever was in my life. I can not say enough for Kodol for it has saved my life and I know that it will cure any case of Dyspepsia if taken as directed.—M. D. Settle, M. D., Big Hill, Ky.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

Some first editions of Dickens' works were sold for $150 in London recently.

30,000 people was destroyed at St. Pierre, on the island of Martinique by almost the same means as those at ancient Pompeii, almost in a breath. Thousands of people are killed every year by accident and thousands through neglecting their liver and kidneys; this you should not do, always keep a box of Hill's Universal Pills on your list of family medicines and you will never need to watch your liver and kidneys for they will always be cleansed. Price 25c; for sale by all patent medicine dealers in the county.

Balloons who ascended about 10,000 feet in Europe the other day, found a temperature of 27 degrees below zero.

Two carpenters of Kennett, Mo., viz: W. W. Hoekinson and Harry Hoewischer, have both used Hill's Specific in their families and write of its wonderful healing power. It cured Mr. Hoewischer's baby of a very serious case summer complaint; this is only like thousands of letters which we receive daily; it is doing this kind of work wherever it has been tried. A better remedy was never discovered for summer complaints such as flux, diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera morbus, cramps, teething children, etc. Price 25c; for sale by all patent medicine dealers in the county.

The first life-insurance company was started in London in 1695, and another in 1700. Neither was successful.

No woman or man in the state will hesitate to speak well of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets after once trying them. They always produce a pleasant movement of the bowels, improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion. For sale by Woods & Co.

In America alone 20,000 automobiles will be placed on the market during the present year, which will only supply one half of the demand.

For a lazy liver try Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They invigorate the liver, aid the digestion, regulate the bowels and prevent bilious attacks. For sale by Woods & Co.

Remareable Cure For Diarrhoea.

"About six years ago for the first time in my life I had a sudden and severe attack of diarrhoea," says Mrs. Alice Miller, of Morgan Texas. "I got temporary relief but it came back again and again and for six long years I have suffered more misery and agony than I can tell. It was worse than death. My husband spent hundreds of dollars for physicians' prescriptions and treatments, but all out avail. Finally we moved to Boone county, our present home, and one day I happened to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with a testimonial of a man who had been cured by it. The case was so similar to my own that I concluded to try the remedy. The result was wonderful. I could hardly realize that I was well again, or believe it could be so after having suffered so long, but that one bottle of medicine, costing but a few cents cured me." For sale by Woods & Co.

The most powerful automobile ever built is the Gobron-Brille racing car, having 125 horse power.

LaGrippe, colds in the head, toothache, headache, neuralgia, nervous excitement, earache and palpitation of the heart, are all easily cured by Hill's Headache Tablets. They never fail to give instant relief; once tried will always win the good will of he who tries them. Price 25c, for sale by all dealers in the county.

WHAT A PAINTER SAID.

Henry Cook once said: Hill's Specific cured me of the cramp after taking one dose. This great remedy has proven as prompt in hundreds of cases, and will immediately relieve or cure diarrhoea, flux, dysentery, cholera morbus, cholera, and griping pains; it is Astringent, Anodyne, Aromatic Mild, pleasant to take but effective. Price 25c at all proprietary medicine dealers in the county.

A Surgical Operation

is always dangerous—do not submit to the surgeon's knife until you have tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It will cure when everything else fails—it has done this in thousands of cases. Here is one of them: I suffered from bleeding and protruding piles for 20 years. Was treated by different specialists and used many remedies, but obtained no relief until I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Two boxes of this salve cured me eighteen months ago and I have not had a touch of piles since.—H. A. Tyndale, Summerton, S. C. For Blind, Bleeding, Itching and Protruding Piles no remedy equals DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Sold by R. F. Haynes.

Just About Bedtime

take a Little Early Riser—it will cure constipation, biliousness and liver troubles. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are different from other pills. They do not gripe and break down the mucous membranes of the stomach, liver and bowels, but cure by gently arousing the secretions and giving strength to these organs. Sold by R. F. Haynes.

$32.85 TO CALIFORNIA

Daily until June 15th, the Illinois Central R. R. will sell tickets from Evansville to all California common points for $32.85. Tourists sleepers every Tuesday and Friday from Princeton, Ky., to Los Angeles, San Francisco and intermediate points.

Herbine will relieve it, secure to the secretions a right exit, and by its tonic effect fully restore the wasted tissue and give you strength instead of weakness; 50 cents at Woods & Co's.

WITHOUT EYES.

A hen belonging to aunt Eliza Raper, of this city, hatched a brood of twelve chickens Tuesday, and while eleven of the number are in no way different from the usual run of chickens, the twelfth is a curiosity, as it is utterly devoid of eyes as the Mammoth Cave fish. The bird is well formed and in a healthy condition, but has no eyes. There are no openings in the head either, it being perfectly smooth. The chick is a wonder.—Uniontown Telegram.

Catarrh of the Stomach

When the stomach is overloaded; when food is taken into it that fails to digest, it decays and inflames the mucous membrane, exposing the nerves, and causes the glands to secrete mucus, instead of the natural juices of digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach. For years I suffered with catarrh of the stomach, caused by indigestion. Doctors and medicines failed to benefit me until I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.—J. R. Rhee, Coppel, Tex. Sold by R. F. Haynes.

It is sometimes easier to apologize than to explain how you happened to acquire that black eye.

Cholera Infantum.

This has long been regarded as one of the most dangerous and fatal diseases to which infants are subject. It can be cured, however, when properly treated. All that is necessary is to give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and castor oil, as directed with each bottle, and a cure is certain. For sale by Woods & Co.

Investments in Southern Lands.

Such investments are not speculative. The South is not a new country. Market and shipping facilities are adequate and first-class. The climate is mild and favorable. Notwithstanding these and other advantages, southern lands are selling for prices far below their real value, and at present prices net large returns on the investment. DENOUNCE LYNCHING.

Lynching was denounced in unequivocal terms by the Illinois State Bar Association. In a resolution, which was adopted without a dissenting vote, the members placed the seal of condemnation on the practice both in Illinois and outside the borders of that State. Officers of the law were asked to put forth every effort to bring about the punishment, not only of persons part o pating in such lawlessness, but also of individuals who incite mobs to action.

The microbes of lockjaw or of other diseases, the venom of snakes the virus of smallpox, or the vegetable poisons may be successfully conveyed upon bullets from muskets or revolvers. FRUITS AND FLOWERS.

High and gravelly soil is the best for fruit trees.

Mildew is the worst enemy of the gooseberry. Pruning is the best remedy.

Rosin and tallow in equal parts is an excellent covering for wounds in fruit and other trees.

To cultivate among trees use a whitewash as short as the horse can walk with. Turn the hooks in.

The weeds must be kept down around the small fruit trees and vines if the fruit is to mature and ripen rightly.

Look over the orchard occasionally to see that no suckers are growing from the roots of the trees to sap the strength from the main tree.

Plants in windows should be turned once or twice a week. A fine form, which is half the beauty of a plant, cannot be attained without this.

Wood ashes not only help to keep borers from the roots of trees, but the trees make a healthier and more vigorous growth and bear much sounder fruit when they are used.

Victoria and Napoleon.

Queen Victoria once gave a remarkable description of her visit to the tomb of Napoleon I. during the reign of Napoleon III. "The coffin is not yet here," she wrote, "but in a small side chapel of St. Jerome. Into this the emperor led me, and there I stood at the arm of Napoleon III., his nephew, before the coffin of England's bitterest foe, I, the granddaughter of that king who hated him most and who most vigorously opposed him and this very nephew, who bears his name, being my nearest and dearest ally! The organ of the church was playing 'God Save the Queen' at the time, and this solemn scene took place by torchlight and during a thunderstorm. Strange and wonderful indeed!"

World Wide Reputation.

White's Cream Vermifuge has achieved a world wide reputation as being the best of all worm destroyers, and for its tonic influence on weak and unthrifty children, as it neutralizes the acidity or sourness of the stomach, improves their digestion; and assimilation of food, strengthens their nervous system, and restores them to the health, vigor, and elasticity of spirits natural to childhood; 25c at Woods & Co's.

Second Great Loom-End Sale!

BEGINS

Saturday Morning Aug. 8th

At 8 O'clock and Closes Saturday Evening, Aug. 22nd.

Cotton is higher now than at any time since 1865. Half the mills in the country are closed down on account of the high price of raw material. We are selling goods at about one half what you would pay elsewhere. NOW is the time to make your dollar do double duty.

Our competitors said when our first Loom-End Sale closed that we would never attempt another. They knew that we sold more goods than any other store in Marion ever sold before in same length of time. They also knew that we sold them for much less money than they were paying for them, and they thought that we lost too much money to ever attempt another sale, but in this their hope was farther to their belief. For no sooner had our other sale closed than we began planning for this sale. Our Loom-End sales have shown the town what can be done in modern merchandising. Thousands came, and WHY? because they knew they got the greatest merchandise in the world for HALF AND LESS THAN HALF ITS REAL WORTH. They got the goods cheap because we bought them cheap, and the mutual understanding and good will thus created has stimulated us to still greater efforts and this sales offering vastly exceed our first sale.

Last sale we gave great bargains, but this time we have outdone every effort of the past. Better goods, better values, lower prices and larger assortments makes this the crowning achievement of this sale of sales. In the face of a rapidly advancing market here are prices that will make competition believe that we stole the goods.

Take Time to Read Every Price Carefully. It Means a Big Saving:

8000 yards of Simpson's Calicoes, all kinds, worth today at the mills 5 cents per yard—too good for most stores to handle.

5000 yards of Simpson's Black Satteen, worth today at the mills 8 cents per yard. No store sells it for less than 10c and some get 7 1/2c
