MINING NEWS.

Preparing For a Large Output of Lead, Zinc and Fluor Spar.

For Sagwa see Dr. Watkins.

Lead has been encountered in the bottom of the Glendale Mining company's shaft at 78 feet.

The Lucile shaft is being sunk deeper and straightened, preparatory to handling the large quantities of ore.

Large hoists, sheds and general mining buildings are being erected on the "nine acres"; a large number of carpenters at work.

Messrs Blue & Nunn have installed new steam drills, a steam hoist, rolls and hand drill, at their mine known as the "9 acre tract". Steam drills have also been installed at the Old Jim.

The Crittenden Coal company is preparing to drive cross entries and will soon have an output of three cars daily. This company is building a number of neat houses for the miners, seven being about completed and as many more to be built soon.—Sturgis Herald.

John F. Harth, of Caseyville, whose name is a synonym of success in negotiating with capitalists from Pennsylvania, and Canada, who will in all probability open the old Carlew property near DeKoven, which though a great coal field has lain idle since the civil war.—Sturgis Herald.

The diamond drill is doing fine work at the "nine acres" at the Buckeye corner of the Crittenden Springs survey. It takes out a core of two inches diameter, which shows distinctly every metal it goes through. Several holes have been drilled, and in the last one a fine vein of lead has been struck.

The Kentucky Fluor Spar company have discovered a new vein of lead and fluor spar on their property at the Memphis mines. The new discovery is about half way between the Klondyke lead and the old Memphis mines. The vein was struck by Wm. Harness, an old miner of that place. The vein seems to be about six or eight feet wide. Mr. Harness says the lead is so soft he can cut it with a knife.

The Kentucky Fluor Spar company are waiting very anxiously for the roads to get in shape, for all of their wagons to start hauling from the many different mines as their grinding spar is getting somewhat short at their mill in Marion, but they have plenty of spar already mined and washed at their mines, ready for the wagons, when they do start, which will be this week if it doesn't rain any more.

We understand all the lead, zinc and spar mines in Hardin county, Ill., have been flooded from the big rains we had last week, and will not start up again for some time. Capt. Thomas, Sept. of the Rose Claire mines, has drawn his pumps from the mines and let them fill with water, and has nailed planks over the top of his shaft from the fact that the union labor over there wanted to compel Capt. Thomas to pay "hayseeds" as much as good miners.

IT IS A MATTER OF HEALTH

HERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE

NOW FOR DEEP MINING. We understand that Mr. Sam Gugenheim and Dr. R. D. Drescher have leased or bought a large tract of mineral land on Claylick creek and will commence sinking a deep shaft not later than the first of April. This tract of land is on the "Marion break". Mr. Gugenheim will be general manager of the mines and Dr. Drescher will be secretary and salesman. If there are any miners out of work after April 1st, it will be their own fault.

Prof. Reed, Harry Watkins' successor as Gen. Manager of the Kentucky Fluor Spar company, is a bright young fellow. He is an expert miner and a graduate of a mineral university. Prof. Reed will take charge of the Kentucky Fluor Spar company's property April 1st. This company were very fortunate in securing such a man as Mr. Reed; having the practical part and the theory combined makes him an able man for the place. We wish Prof. Reed all the success, and we feel sure that he will make large dividends for his company.

"In less than five years the Joplin mineral fields will be outclassed by the Crittenden county field" says C. S. Knight, of Fort Wayne Indiana, president of the Marion Zinc and Lead Mining company, who is here looking after his interests. The recent discovery of nickel and cobalt has added greatly to the worth of the field. It behooves the spar operators of the United States to petition Congress to take spar off the free list, owing to the vast amount of the inferior product that is being transported to this country from foreign lands at such low prices.

A move of this kind is being considered by operators of this district, and the matter will be placed before the operators of the Joplin district for consideration. An effort will be made to have Congress act at the next session.—N. Y. Herald.

"Stewart Old War Horses."

Writing in the Louisville Courier-Journal, Henry Watterson refers to "that stalwart old war horse of democracy, the Chicago Chronicle." That is a very interesting way of putting it. What has the Chicago Chronicle ever done to win that magnificent title? It has become famous for bolting the democratic ticket, and it has repeatedly refused to support democratic candidates in the city of Chicago.

The Chronicle is owned by John R. Walsh, a banker who habitually votes the republican ticket. It shows in its editorial columns but small sympathy with undisputed democratic principles and many of its readers will distinctly remember that not long ago the Chronicle plainly stated that it was not a democratic paper and did not desire to be so regarded.

Perhaps, however, Mr. Watterson thought that by establishing the claim that the Chronicle is a "stalwart old war horse of democracy," he would provide a pre-emptory defense for his own claim to that title.—Commoner.

BUILDING A HOME.

Six things are requisite to create a home: Integrity must be the architect and tidiness the upholsterer. It must be warmed by Love and lighted with cheerfulness, and an honest purpose must be the ventilation, renewing the atmosphere and bringing in fresh salubrity day by day, while over all as a protecting glory, nothing will suffice except the blessing of God.

Lost, Strayed or Stolen.

A fine milch cow, from my farm 1 mile West of Sheridan, on Marion and Tolu road, on the 4th of March, 1904, color black, with reddish brown back, small crumpled horns, slender built, 6 years old, unmarked. Reward for her return. Jas. M. Franklin, Sheridan, Ky.

J. H. CLIFTON DEAD.

Almost Half a Century a Merchant and a Mason.

BELOVED AND HONORED BY ALL WHO KNEW HIM.

At 5:15 Monday afternoon, March 28th, 1904, James H. Clifton crossed the dark river from life to eternity. A kinder nobler heart did not beat than that within his breast. For 45 years a leading merchant at Dycusburg; always the mainstay of that prosperous village.

Mr. Clifton was born at Clarksville Tenn., April 4th, 1835, and therefore lacked only one week of passing the 69th milestone. He located at old Hopewell Furnace, between the rivers, before the war and there worked at his profession. He was married in 1862 to Miss McLarney, and his widow survives him. This union was blessed with twelve children, of whom the following survive: Tom, Lewis, and Will, and Mrs. Frank Newcomb, all of Marion, Mrs. Charles L. Burks, Mrs. Frank Charles, and Miss Nellie Clifton, of Dycusburg.

J. H. CLIFTON.

Mr. Clifton was a consistent member of the Methodist church and had been for many years. His affliction was uremia coma which was pronounced incurable some time ago.

His funeral was largely attended, and was under the auspices of the Masons of Dycusburg, Kuttawa and Eddyville, all three lodges uniting in doing honor and showing their love and loyalty.

Letter from Wichita.

WICHITA, KS., March 29, 1904.—MR. JENKINS: Dick is getting along nicely. There has never been any fever or bad symptoms of any kind. The doctors say he is doing wonderfully well. He eats hearty and sits up in bed; handles himself just as well as any of us.

He says it's a pretty bad accident but might have been so much worse; so that is how he gets on so nicely. He has never worried one minute. He didn't carry any accident insurance.

We do certainly appreciate the sympathy of all.

Very truly;

Mrs. R. N. DORR,
840 East Murdock st., Wichita, Kansas.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

The Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. church South, at their last meeting, March 27th, adopted the following resolutions on the death of Mrs. Mary Griffith, who was one of its charter members, viz:

1. We, members of the Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. church, South, of Marion, Ky., feel that in the death of Mrs. Mary Griffith we have lost one of our most faithful and efficient members; therefore be it resolved,

2nd. That we bow in submission to the will of our Father in Heaven, who "doeth all things well."

3rd. That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the record book of this Society and that a copy be sent to the Crittenden Press for publication, and that a copy be also sent to the family of deceased.

Mrs. R. L. Flanary,
Mrs. H. A. Haynes,
Committee.

Old Maids, God Bless 'Em.

When passing along the street the other day I heard a young fellow say, "She's an old maid." I don't know to whom he referred and don't care. But what of it? If there are better people under the canopy of heaven than the women whom some people are pleased to call old maids, I have not met them, and I have traveled some distance on life's highway. I pray you tell me what would become of a great number of the poor and sick in every community, of the churches and Sunday schools, of the sick and afflicted in city hospitals, of the sick and wounded in the army camps and on the fields of battle, of the poor heathen in the islands of the sea, and in the Oriental countries who know not God? As a rule old maids are religious, well read, excellent conversationalists, good cooks, and that is more than can be said of a large number of females. God bless the old maids! They are true friends of humanity and we can't get along without 'em. Observer.

OLD FRIENDS.

We just shake hands at meeting
With many that come nigh,
We nod the head in greeting
To many that go by.
But we welcome through the gate way
Our few old friends and true,
Their hearts leap up and straight way
There's open house for you:
Old friends,
Wide open house for you.

The surface will be sparkling.
Let but a sunbeam shine.
But in the deep lies darkling,
The true life of the wine.
The froth is for the many;
The wine is for the few;
Unseen, untouched by any
We keep the best for you,
Old friend,
The very best for you.

"The many" can not know us,
They only pace the strand,
Where at our worst we show us,
The waters thick with sand.
But out beyond the leaping
Din surge "tis clear and blue,"
And there old friends we're keeping
A waiting calm for you,
Old friends,
A sacred calm for you.

TOLU.

Harmon Flanary, who has been on the sick list for a few days, is improving.

Forrest Harris and wife, Mrs. D. B. Mantz and Miss Willie Clement were in Evansville last week.

Eugene Guess, who has been absent for quite a while, selling blooded horses, returned home last week.

A fine boy at the home of Burnett Williams and wife is the latest.

E. F. Smith and wife and Master Edward have moved into the house recently purchased of John Shafer and are happy.

Another steamboat load of brick has arrived at our landing, which makes 100,000 bricks shipped here from Henderson for the erection of the Tolu bank. Work on the building will begin at once by the contractor, J. W. Weldon.

Bros. Martin and Givens both failed to fill their last appointments at this place. Preaching at Tolu is almost something of the past.

We understand the beer deposited on Buckner Croft's farm was robbed a few nights ago.

The temperance evangelist, E. B. Hibbs, came and is gone, and the only visible results were that he made a few Republicans feel good by making the remark that the republican party had done more to abolish the license traffic than the Democrats have. Of course the above remark will apply all right to Crittenden county for it will be remembered that a few years ago, when we had a prohibitory vote in this county of 81 votes that only 11 of them came from the republican side, whilst 70 of them were former democrats.

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.

Samuel C. Molloy Killed by a Train at Glasgow Junction.

Glasgow Junction, Ky., March 27.—Samuel C. Molloy, a prominent attorney of Kuttawa, was fatally injured by a southbound freight train on the L. and N. railroad near this station at noon. He died of his injuries at 2 o'clock this afternoon, never regaining consciousness.

Mr. Molloy arrived here on the 11 o'clock train and had hired a conveyance to convey him to Brownsville, where he was going on legal business. The proprietor of the livery stable, Mr. Allen, was in the buggy with him; and they were crossing the track about 200 yards below the station when they were struck by the train. Mr. Molloy was thrown out on his head and received injuries which rendered him unconscious. He was taken back to the hotel and physicians summoned, but he never spoke after the accident, dying two hours later. Mr. Allen was hurt internally and is in a serious condition.

Mr. Molloy's family were notified and his remains will be shipped to his late home at Kuttawa on the morning train.

Kuttawa, Ky., March 27.—Mr. Sam C. Molloy, who was killed at Glasgow Junction today, was born in Caldwell county 44 years ago. He was a lawyer and was serving his second term as County Attorney of Lyon county. About sixteen years ago he married Miss Annie Coleman, of Smithland. He was vice president of the Citizens Bank of Kuttawa, vice president of the Eagle Coal Company, with its main office at Paducah.

Mr. Molloy had done more than most men in this section to build up public enterprise. Here in Kuttawa, he organized and built the waterworks plant, organized the Citizens Bank and afterwards the Kuttawa Cooperative Company had reached a point where longer continuation of business was impossible, he interested men of money and sold the property making it one of the best plants in the south. Notwithstanding Mr. Molloy had taken great interest in all public enterprises which furnish employment for labor and build up the community, he had found time to build up for himself a law practice second to none in this part of the state. He leaves a wife and three children—two boys and a girl.

Mr. Molloy was a frequent visitor to Marion and was often employed in important suits here. He was a man of unusual ability and brightness of mind. His untimely taking off will be a source of sincere sorrow to his many friends here.

HUGHES—NUNN

On Thursday, March 24, 1904, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. E. L. Nunn, Mr. Will U. Hughes and Miss Eva Nunn were united in the holy bonds of matrimony, Rev. W. T. Oakley officiating.

Quite a number of friends witnessed the happy event. The marriage took place at high noon.

The bridal couple, preceded by Mesdames Dr. Henley and Nina Howerton, entered the parlor to the strain of the wedding march, played by Miss Sadie Rankin.

Immediately after the beautiful and impressive ceremony, all repaired to the dining-room, where a sumptuous repast awaited them. The table was laden with all those delightful things pleasing to the appetite. About sixty guests partook of the feast and it was indeed an enjoyable affair to all present.

They were the recipients of many handsome presents.

About the middle of the afternoon the happy couple started for their home near Tolu, amid a shower of congratulations and good wishes from their many friends.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. E. L. Nunn, the well-known and prosperous farmer, of Rodney—the groom is a prosperous young farmer, the son of Mr. William Hughes, of near Marion—both have a large circle of friends who wish them all the success and happiness of this life.

GRAND MILLINERY OPENING!

MARCH 31st, APRIL 1st & 2nd

THREE DAYS BEFORE EASTER SUNDAY

I will have my spring opening. My trimmer has arrived from Louisville, and being an expert, she will give all my customers the benefit of the styles in the Kentucky metropolis. Miss Edna Moore spent several weeks in St. Louis and there gathered many fashion notes, thus giving us the styles from the World's Fair city. My stock is large, well selected, and I feel that I am better prepared to serve the public than ever before. Give me a call.

Mrs. Maggie Moore,

STATE NEWS.

Sam Howerton of Kelsey passed through here Monday en route to Louisville and eastern markets to buy his spring stock of goods.—Leader.

Mr Wm F. Cameron died on the 23d at his home near Wallonia in the northern part of Trigg county. He was a highly respected old citizen, was about 77 years old, was a member of the M. E. church and had never been married. He leaves a large number of relatives in Trigg and adjoining counties.

The engagement of Miss Pauline Helm Hardin, State Librarian, to Mr. Solomon L. Vanmeter, of Lexington, has been announced at Frankfort. Mr. Vanmeter is a wealthy widower and is a former member of the Kentucky legislature.

The case of Mrs. L. H. Cowing against S. N. Leonard, of Eddyville, was postponed at Louisville on the 24th. The suit is to recover $500, claimed for expenditures arising from chaperoning Miss Sarah Leonard, the daughter of the defendant, on a European tour.

The Tennessee Central railroad, which was placed in the hands of a receiver two weeks ago, is said to be in debt about $2,000,000. Its troubles are due from the failure to get the $1,000,000 subsidy from Nashville, which is tied up by litigation. The road may have to be sold, and it is understood that the I. C. stands ready to buy the line from Hopkinsville to Nashville. Being a competing line, the L and N. can not buy it, at least the Kentucky end of it.

Representatives of a number of State banks were in session at Frankfort last week arranging to contest the suits filed against them by Auditor's Agent Lucas, of Paducah, to recover taxes on deposits. In addition to the bankers who met there, a number of bankers throughout the state have notified Attorney Henry Praxitt that they are in accord with any movement which could be used to advantage to defeat Mr. Lucas' suits. The bankers will organize and employ attorneys to defend the suits.

A negro man at Paducah last week, took his ten year old son, placed him in a sack and tied the sack and its contents to a raft in the stable. He apparently kindled a large fire under the hanging bundle and left for the city. The boys screams attracted people; he was out down and was unable to talk for five minutes. Then he explained that his papa had treated him so barbarously because he wanted to sleep with him. The father is charged with malicious assault with intent to kill and attempted arson. The negro is being closely guarded as he is in danger of lynching.

A great storm swept over the town of Whitesburg on the 23rd, destroying much valuable timber, as well as other kinds of property. The rain was the heaviest in many years. The downpour lasted one hour and gave way to a severe windstorm that leveled nearly every fence in town. A beehive on John A. Craft's place was picked up and dashed through a window, tearing out the window sash and demolishing the hive, setting free a half bushel of bees in the house. They soon took possession of the rooms and drove every one out of the house. The lightning struck a tree in his orchard under which several other hives were standing, and on examination all the bees in each were shocked to death, and the honey in one hive was melted by the heat of the electric discharge.

Happy, Healthy Children.

Any child can take Little Early Risers with perfect safety. They are harmless, never gripe or sicken, and yet they are so certain in results that robust constitutions requiring drastic means are never disappointed. They cannot fail to perform their mission and every one who uses Dr. Williams' Little Early Risers prefer them to all other pills. They cure biliousness. Sold by all druggists.

Panama is much in the public eye just now, but with its romantic early history the general public is not readily familiar. Cyrus Townsend Brady has taken the subject up, and in the April "Cosmopolitan" writes on "Panama and the Knights-Errent of Colonization." His account of the expeditions of Ojeda and Nicuesa is more thrilling than many an imaginary story of adventure. Seymour M. Stone contributes some spirited illustrations to the narrative.

What is Life?

In the last analysis nobody knows, but we do know that it is under strict law. Abuse that law even slightly, pain results. Irregular living means derangement of the organs, resulting in Constipation, Headache or Liver trouble. Dr. King's New Life Pills quickly re-adjust this. It's gentle, yet thorough. Only 25c at Woods & Orme's drug store.

How soon the great rock of Gibraltar, Britain's "Keeper of the Eastern Gate," may again stand the test of hostile assault none can tell. Yet it may come soon, and the illustrated article in the April "Cosmopolitan," in which Broughton Brandenburg describes the famous fortress, its vast system of defences and subterranean passages, and gives bits from its stirring history, makes interesting reading. The last great siege to which Gibraltar was subjected lasted four years.

A Favorite Remedy for Babies

Its pleasant taste and prompt cures have made Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a favorite with the mothers of small children. It quickly cures their coughs and colds, and prevents any danger of pneumonia or other serious consequences. It not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the croupy cough appears will prevent the attack. For sale by Woods & Orme.

LETTER FROM MISSOURI.

Editor Press:—I, being a Crittenden county boy and a constant reader of the Press, take the liberty of writing this letter, hoping it may be of some interest to my friends in old Kentucky.

Some eight months ago I left old Kentucky without saying good by to any one. Though I was born and reared in Crittenden county and had learned to love her hills, her valleys and her people, yet I thought that there was, somewhere, a place that would suit me better.

Making my way to central Tennessee, there I found the mocking birds singing and the sweet daisies growing by the streams which ran through a country picturesque and beautiful; thence I took my way to the Cumberland mountains where my visit was a pleasant one. There I found among the citizens health and prosperity. They were peaceful and sociable, and always glad to see a Kentuckian. Though they did not live in the finest of houses, yet on their tables was always something good to eat—and this means much to a hungry Kentuckian.

The prices paid there for farm labor were from $8 to $10 a month and for about three months in the year. I wondered how they could make a living at this, when I could scarcely do so, putting in from 18 to 20 months a year in Kentucky. The problem not being, to my mind, satisfactorily solved, I concluded this was not the place for me, so I again bided my time on New Madrid, Mo. where I found everything flourishing—always something to do and something for doing it. Farm work from $20 to $30 a month, and all other work in proportion.

For the past two decades New Madrid has had a steady growth. Many new citizens have come in, some with capital, which has increased many fold, and others whose stock in trade is energy, and all have prospered. No county in the South east can lay claim to the number of wealthy planters as may be found in new Madrid county. The cleared land rents for from $3.50 to $6 per acre, and is eagerly taken at that, the soil being very productive.

I have met several Crittenden county boys since I have been here and a number of them will turn some of Missouri's black soil this season.

The Press shakes hands, as it were, with me every Friday, and I always meet it at the post office at 5:30 p. m. The only fault I can find with the Press is that it is not large enough to furnish me reading matter sufficient to last from one Friday to the next.

With best wishes to all,

E. L. Gass.

Best Remedy for Constipation

"The best remedy for constipation I ever used is Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets," says Mr. Eli Butler of Frankville, N. Y. "They act gently and without any unpleasant effect, and leave the bowels in a perfectly natural condition." Sold by Woods & Orme.

WEEDS

Consumption is a human weed flourishing best in weak lungs. Like other weeds it is easily destroyed while young; when old, sometimes impossible.

Strengthen the lungs as you would weak land and the weeds will disappear.

The best lung fertilizer is Scott's Emulsion. Salt pork is good too, but it is very hard to digest.

The time to treat consumption is when you begin trying to hide it from yourself. Others see it, you won't.

Don't wait until you can't deceive yourself any longer. Begin with the first thought to take Scott's Emulsion. If it isn't really consumption so much the better; you will soon forget it and be better for the treatment. If it is consumption you can't expect to be cured at once, but if you will begin in time and will be rigidly regular in your treatment you will win.

Scott's Emulsion, fresh air, rest all you can, eat all you can, that's the treatment and that's the best treatment.

We will send you a little of the Emulsion free.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

CHERRIES.

"I was watching the birds just now," said the old farmer from his seat on the porch. "A robin had picked a nice, plump cherry, and dropped down to the grass to eat it, but he couldn't get a minute's chance to enjoy his feast because of two other robins who were determined to take it away from him. In the tree overhead there were plenty more cherries, to be had for the picking, but these two birds never looked at them; they only chased the owner of the cherry up and down, here and there, trying to get what he had worked for, and spending more time and strength in the pursuit than would have taken to pick a dozen cherries for themselves. It seems like two silly a performance for anything but a bird, but there are a plenty human beings doing the same thing—watching, scheming, and wasting their whole lives in trying to get possession of what somebody else has earned instead of earning for themselves."

Parties subscribing for Campbell's Illustrated Journal of the St. Louis Exposition and World's Fair, will be given a certificate of membership to the Information Bureau, where anything you wish to know about the grounds will be told you free of charge.

TIT FOR TAT.

The News-Democrat, published at Paducah, a flag-station on the I. C. railroad between Gilbertsville and Boaz, has this to say of the passenger coach of the Cadiz railroad, which is now undergoing repairs:

"An old time coach has been received at the Illinois Central shops to be repaired. It came from the little Cadiz railroad. The coach is a combination car having three compartments, one for white passengers, one for colored passengers, and the last for baggage. The seats are constructed solely of wood and the car is a very dilapidated piece of mechanism. It was one of the first passenger coaches ever made in the south. The Cadiz railroad is about ten miles long, extending from Cadiz to Gracey."

Truth is, the Cadiz coach is one of the most modern structures now on wheels and but for the fact that the above comment comes from a country village like Paducah, its statements would be as ridiculously laughable as its lack of knowledge as to what constitutes a modern railroad coach.—Cadiz Record.

Sour Stomach

No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol cures indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of digestion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does not only cure indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy cures all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membrane lining the stomach.

Mr. S. S. Bell, of Riverport, W. Va., says: "I was troubled with sour stomach for nearly years. Kodol cured me and we are now using it in our family."

ALICE OF OLD VINCENNES

By MAURICE THOMPSON

Copyright, 1900, by the
BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

In one respect Clark's expedition was sadly lacking in its equipment for the march. It had absolutely no means of transporting adequate supplies. The pack horses were not able to carry more than a little extra ammunition, a few articles of clothing, some simple cooking utensils and such tools as were needed in improvising rafts and canoes. Consequently, although buffalo and deer were sometimes plentiful, they furnished no lasting supply of meat, because it could not be transported, and as the army neared Vincennes wild animals became scarce, so that the men began to suffer from hunger when within but a few days of their journey's end.

Clark made almost superhuman efforts in urging forward his chilled, water-soaked, footsore command. Toward the end of the long march a decided fall of temperature added ice to the water through which our dauntless patriots waded and swam for miles. The wind shifted northwesterly, taking on a searching chill. Each gust, indeed, seemed to shoot wintry splinters into the very marrow of the men's bones. The weaker ones began to show the approach of utter exhaustion just at the time when a final spurt of unflinching power was needed. True, they struggled heroically, but nature was nearing the inexorable limit of endurance. Without food, which there was no prospect of getting, collapse was sure to come.

Standing nearly waist deep in freezing water and looking out upon the muddy, sealike flood that stretched far away to the channel of the Wabash and beyond, Clark turned to Beverley and said, speaking low, so as not to be overheard by any other of his officers or men:

"Is it possible, Lieutenant Beverley, that we are to fail with Vincennes almost in sight of us?"

"No, sir, it is not possible," was the firm reply. "Nothing must, nothing can, stop us. Look at that brave child! He sets the heroic example."

Beverley pointed as he spoke at a boy but fourteen years old, who was using his drum as a float to bear him up while he courageously swam beside the men.

Clark's clouded face cleared once more. "You are right," he said. "Come on! We must win or die!"

"Sergeant Dewitt," he added, turning to an enormously tall and athletic man near by, "take that little drummer and his drum on your shoulder and lead the way, and, sergeant, make him pound that drum like the devil beating tan bark!"

The huge man caught the spirit of his commander's order. In a twinkling he had the boy astride of his neck with the kettle drum resting on his head, and then the rattling music began. Clark followed, pointing onward with his sword. The half-frozen and tottering soldiers sent up a shout that went back to where Captain Bowman was bringing up the rear under orders to shoot every man that struggled or shrank from duty.

Now came a time when not a mouthful of food was left. A whole day they floundered on, starving, growing fainter at every step, the temperature falling, the ice thickening. They camped on high land, and next morning they heard Hamilton's distant sunrise gun boom over the water.

"One half ration for the men," said Clark, looking disconsolately in the direction whence the sound had come. "Just five mouthfuls apiece, even, and I'll have Hamilton and his fort within forty-eight hours."

"We will have the provisions, colonel, or I will die trying to get them," Beverley responded. "Depend upon me."

They had constructed some canoes in which to transport the weakest of the men.

"I will take a dugout and some picked fellows. We will pull to the wood yonder, and there we shall find some kind of game which has been forced to shelter from the high water."

It was a cheerful view of a forlorn hope. Clark grasped the hand extended by Beverley and they looked encouragingly into each other's eyes.

Oncle Jason volunteered to go in the pirogue. He was ready for anything, everything.

"I can't shoot with a cent," he whined as they took their places in the cranky pirogue, "but I might just happen to kill a squig or a elephant or somepin' nother."

"Very well," shouted Clark in a loud, cheerful voice, when they had paddled away to a considerable distance. "Bring the meat to the woods on the hill yonder," pointing to a distant island-like ridge far beyond the creeping flood. "We'll be there ready to eat it!"

He said this for the ears of his men. They heard and answered with a straggling but determined chorus of approval. They crossed the rolling current of the Wabash by a tedious process of ferrying, and at last found themselves once more wading in back water up to their armpits, breaking ice an inch thick as they went. It was the closing struggle to reach the high wooded lands. Many of them fell exhausted, but their stronger comrades lifted them, holding their heads above water, and dragged them on.

Clark, always leading, always inspiring, was first to set foot on dry land. He shouted triumphantly, waved his sword and then fell to helping the men out of the freezing flood. This accomplished, he ordered fires built, but there was not a soldier of them all whose hands could clasp an ax handle, so weak and numbed with cold were they. He was not to be baffled, however. If fire could not be had, exercise must serve its purpose. Hastily pouring some powder into his hand, he dampened it and blacked his face. "Victory, men, victory!" he shouted, taking off his hat and beginning to leap and dance. "Come on! We'll have a war dance and then a feast as soon as the meat arrives that I have sent for. Dance, you brave lads, dance! Victory! Victory!"

The strong men, understanding their colonel's purpose, took hold of the delicate ones, and the leaping, the capering, the tumult of voices and the stamping of slushy moccasins with which they assaulted that stately forest must have frightened every wild thing thereabout into a deadly rigor. Clark's irrepressible energy and optimism worked a veritable charm upon his faithful but almost dying companions in arms. Their trust in him made them feel sure that food would soon be forthcoming. The thought afforded a stimulus more potent than wine. It drove them into an ecstasy of frantic motion and shouting which soon warmed them thoroughly.

It is said that fortune favors the brave. The larger meaning of the sentence may be given thus: God guards those who deserve his protection. History tells us that just when Clark halted his command almost in sight of Vincennes—just when hunger was about to prevent the victory so close to his grasp—a party of his scouts brought in the carcass of a buffalo captured from some Indians. The scouts were Beverley and Uncle Jason. And with the meat they brought Indian kettles in which to cook it.

With consummate forethought Clark arranged to prevent his men doing themselves injury by boiling their food or eating it half cooked. Broth was first made and served hot; then small bits of well broiled steak were doled out, until by degrees the fine effect of nourishment set in, and all the command felt the fresh courage of healthy reaction.

"I ain't no gin'ral, nor corp'ral, nor nothin'," remarked Uncle Jason to Colonel Clark, "but 'f I's you I'd h'ist up every dad dinged ole flag in the rig'ment, w'en I got ready to show myself to 'em, an' I'd make 'em think, over yander at the fort, 'at I had 'bout ninety thousand' men. Hilt 'd skeer that sandy faced gov'nor over there till he'd think his backbone was a-comin' out'n 'im by the roots!"

Clark laughed, but his face showed that the old man's suggestion struck him forcibly and seriously.

"We'll see about that presently, Uncle Jason. Wait till we reach the hill yonder, from which the whole town can observe our maneuvers; then we'll try it, maybe."

Once more the men were lined up, the roll call gone through with satisfactorily and the question put:

"Are we ready for another plunge through the mud and water?"

The answer came in the affirmative, with a unanimity not to be mistaken. The weakest heart of them all beat to the time of the charge step. Again Clark and Beverley clasped hands and took the lead.

When they reached the next high ground they gazed in silence across the shaly prairie plot to where, on a slight elevation, old Vincennes and Fort Sackville lay in full view.

Beverley stood apart. A rush of sensations affected him so that he shook like one whose strength was gone. His vision was blurred. Fort and town, swimming in a mist, were silent and still. Save the British flag twinkling above Hamilton's headquarters nothing indicated that the place was not deserted. And Alice? With the sweet name's echo Beverley's heart bounded high, then sank fluttering at the recollection that she was either yonder at the mercy of Hamilton or already the victim of an unspokeable cruelty. Was it weakness for him to lift his clasped hands heavenward and send up a voiceless prayer?

A little later Clark approached hastily and said:

"I have been looking for you. The march has begun. Bowman and Charleville are moving. Come; there's no time to lose."

AS TO SONS-IN-LAW.

(By the Mother of Four Girls).

There is a great deal to be said in favor of parents choosing husbands for their daughters—more, in fact, than can be said against it. Parents take a more practical view of the young man who aspires to their daughter's hand than the young woman herself possibly can. They consider his income and his qualifications to make a good husband, while their daughter, unless she be a very sensible girl, thinks only of his charming manners, his generosity, and his lover like devotion.

While the suitor may possess the deepest and most sincere love for the young woman, her parents know that his income is altogether too small to provide for their daughter in an adequate manner, and consequently they refuse to consent to the engagement or marriage.

One of the unhappy results is that the young woman foolishly takes the matter into her own hands, marries without the parental consent and does not discover until she enters upon that long hard struggle to make both ends meet, and has endured hardships of which she did not dream before marriage, that love is not sufficient of itself to ensure married happiness.

Love is undoubtedly one of the chief factors in the happiness of married life. Without it a girl can never be a happy wife. But there are many other things essential to married happiness, and it is when a girl is capable of taking a practical view of the position of the man she wishes to wed, that she would do well to allow her parents to choose a husband for her.

There is not the least doubt that a mother, for instance, is far more capable of choosing prudently than her daughter. She is not at all likely to suppose a young man faultless because he makes love so nicely.

Mr. W. H. Crow returned Tuesday from a sojourn of several months to Louisiana and other southern states. He had hoped to bring with him the summer birds and the warm sunshine of spring, but mistook it—just a little.

With our "Roll of Honor," running from 50 to 100 names each week, our job room running day and night and work enough to run us a month on hand, and merchants calling for it, and full page ads, it keeps a fellow pretty busy—no rest for the wicked.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Flannery wish to express their heart-felt gratitude through the Press to their neighbors and friends for the many kindnesses shown them during the sickness of their mother and also for the solicitude shown during his own recent illness.

Trice Bennett, of Tolu, a student of the Marion Graded School, who boards at H. M. Cook's, is quite sick with pneumonia. His father, A. J. Bennett, is with him, also Mrs. Bennett, and he is having the best of care and attention and will be up and out soon we hope.

After the big rains which fell Thursday and Friday several big washouts occurred on the I. C. railroad tracks between this place and Henderson, causing considerable delay in both freight and passenger trains. One where the greatest damage was done occurred on Highland creek near Morganfield.

One of the most brilliant weddings ever witnessed by the society people of this city, was the marriage Wednesday afternoon of Miss Geraldine Sanders to Mr. Charles James, of Evansville, which took place at five o'clock in the First Presbyterian church.—Paducah News-Democrat.

After a residence in Paducah of more than half a century, Daniel Buckler Sherrer died at 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning at his home in that city. In his death Paducah loses one of its oldest and most popular citizens and a retired merchant whose name was familiar for years to the business circles of West Kentucky.

We have a complete line of high grade fertilizers of all mixtures for any crop. Our ammonias are from dry blood only. We furnish what you want. Try our special tobacco grower. It was made by special order. In our absence Robt. Hodges, Jr., will deliver at Marion and G. H. Crider at Crayneville.

Small tract of land on Salem road near D. P. Murphy and on Crooked Creek, below the bridge, contains eight and three-fourths acres, well set in blue grass. Will sell reasonable, apply to P. S. Maxwell, Marion, or myself Kuttawa for further particulars.

Henry Rutter and Jim Walker, two colored men, were shocked by lightning during the thunder storm Friday. They were coming to town along the Marion-Salem road in a wagon and when near Oak Grove school house the lightning struck a tree by the roadside, demolishing the tree and knocking the two men as well as the team down in the road. They were only stunned, however, and soon recovered.

Miss Eva Nunn and Mr. W. U. Hughes were married Thursday at the home of the bride's father, Mr. E. L. Nunn, near Weston. The officiating clergyman was Rev. W. T. Oakley, and a large number of friends witnessed the happy union. The bride is a social favorite among her friends, is pretty and intelligent and has been a successful teacher in the public schools of the county. The bridegroom is a successful young farmer of this county and a son of Mr. Wm. Hughes, near town.

Little Rebie, the three-year-old daughter of Mrs. John Weldon, died Sunday after a short illness of pneumonia. Rebie was born February 10th, 1901, at Crofton, Ky. Two weeks ago she contracted Rosolia which went into pneumonia from which she never rallied. She was the second child of Mr. Weldon by his present wife, the first having also died in infancy. The remains were laid to rest in the new cemetery Monday. The grief stricken parents have the sympathy of the entire community.

Friday night's Bowling Party. Notwithstanding the rain which fell in torrents, the lovers of Bowling had their meet Friday night and enjoyed several games. They all got in late between showers. Mrs. Leafa Wilborn made the highest score among the ladies and Mr. H. H. Sayre among the gentlemen. The evening, notwithstanding the small attendance and the inclement weather, was highly entertaining and much enjoyed. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Grayot, Mr. and Mrs. Sayre, Judge and Mrs. Gordpn, Mrs. Eva Moore, Miss Leafa Wilborn, Mrs. John H. Tonkin, Sam Gugenheim and Ira Pierce.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Dorr have given up the little orphan they so kindly took to raise. They learned this week that Edna's mother and father were searching for her and they felt however much they disliked to part with the child, that its parents should have it. The officials for the orphan's home took Edna back to Louisville where her parents will go to claim their child. They now live at Norton, Va. The father is doing well and has a paying position and her mother has regained her health and of course felt a mother's yearning for her child. Mr. and Mrs. Dorr are both much distressed but feel it their duty to give way to its parents and let them have it.

S. M. Jenkins went to Eddyville Tuesday to attend the funeral of his step brother, Archer Wood, who died of consumption in Phoenix, Arizona, last Wednesday. His remains were brought from there to his home in St. Louis last Sunday and reached Eddyville Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock and were laid to rest in the family lot in the old cemetery at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Wood for twenty years has resided in St. Louis and was Master Mechanic at the union station for the entire period. He left his post of duty less than one month ago in search of health but the change was fatal and he succumbed in two weeks after reaching his destination. He was accompanied on the long journey by his wife who also accompanied his remains to their last resting place. He leaves one brother, E. S. Wood, of Hosuton, Tex. His mother, Mrs. Mary A. Jenkins, lives at Eddyville.

Miss Nell Marshall, of Bowling Green, was the guest of a dance given Monday night by the Marion boys. Despite the smallness of the Lenten crowd the affair was quite an enjoyable one. A punch and delicious refreshments were furnished by Mrs. John Wilson. The ladies present were: Mrs. John Grayot, who wore a handsome gown of black net over white taffeta; Mrs. Ollie James, who wore white nun's veiling trimmed with point lace; Mrs. John Wilson, pink silk mull over silk; Mrs. Ernest Carnahan, white trimmed with red tulle; Miss Bertie McNealy, white and green organdie; Miss Ida Hill, white organdie and lace; Miss Kitty Gray, white silk; Miss Lizzie Johnson, pink silk and lace; Miss Nell Marshall, white organdie and lace over taffeta. The gentlemen present were: Messrs. John Grayot, Ollie James, John Wilson, Ernest Carnahan, Dave Kevil, Ollie Tucker, Bob Corke, Roy Gilbert, Sam Gugenheim, Ira Pierce, William Baird, J. Ben Champion, and Robt. Hodges.

LETTER FROM PHILIPPINES.

MARINE BARRICKS, MINDANAO, P. I., Jan. 2, 1904—ED. PRESS: I will give you a small detail of what is going on in this far away land and what kind of a time we had last Christmas and New Year.

Well, we had a nice time to be in the place we are. Christmas eve the Regular Army and Navy Union gave an entertainment that was fine, and we had all kinds of drinks and lunch and music, and we got through at 2 a. m., Christmas morning, and New Year's night. It was no use trying to sleep, as there were drums, trumpets, tin cans, banjos, guitars and all sorts of good things to make a noise with.

Outside of the holidays we have a hard time as we are on a very dangerous part of the Mindanao Island, and are up against those Moros you read so much about.

I have been over here one year now and expect to stay eighteen months longer. There is only 30 of us here and three officers, and duty is very hard, and we only get five square meals per year and that is July 4th, Thanksgiving, Washington's birthday, Christmas and New Year, but we are seeing great parts of the world. We have nothing plenty except alligators, fruit, monkeys and lazy Moros and they are enough to contend with.

Well, I will tell you who I am. I am from Sturgis and I enlisted in Milwaukee, Wis. I am a boiler maker and was working for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul R. R. at the time I enlisted. If there is any one reads this who would like to hear from one of Uncle Sam's soldiers and find out more about the islands, please let me hear from you and I will answer all letters.

Your friend,
THOMAS MILLER,
Marine Barracks, Mindanao Island

SPEND YOUR MONEY IN MARION.

This is the season when the great mail-order houses of the larger cities are sending out their spring and summer catalogues in which they put before the housewives many apparently tempting offers. There is always a risk in ordering through such. Mistakes occur and losses are frequent. Besides the local merchants send daily to the purchaser's doors offers in goods and prices that equal, if they do not surpass, those catalogue offers even in the matter of quality and cost. As to the certainty of one getting what he wishes, there is no doubt of the superiority of the home offer. But this one appeals to selfishness—more economic gain. Besides this there is a higher motive, that of patronizing home. Citizens of Marion have always been proud of their city. This pride is natural, laudable and well-deserved. It is the best symptom of true patriotism. It is loyally nurtured in many ways, but perhaps, most of all by patronizing home industries, home labor and home merchants. The proprietors of our stores are, undoubtedly, a credit and advantage to the city. They contribute their wealth and their enterprise to the success of schools and churches and every other worthy city enterprise. But, often, these proprietors and stores support the home. Several dozen girls and boys and men and women, are constantly employed in these business houses. Some of them may be from the reader's own household or from that of a relative.

How urgent, then, is the duty of primarily and most loyally patronizing the home enterprises of every kind. Money may be "the root of all evil," but it is the medium that carries with it, where it circulates freely, the necessities of life and attendant happiness. Where you earn your money there spend it. Its future proximity to you and yours will warm your blood and cheer your countenance even after it has left you by its exhilarating effect on your neighbors. To the waste basket, then, with that mail-order catalogue and turn at once, with eager eyes to the advertising pages of the Crittenden Press.

Colds Cause Pneumonia.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I ran down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." Sold by all druggists.

FARM FOR SALE CHEAP

Will sell 200 acres, about 200 cleared, balance in timber. Well watered, plenty of good timber. Two dwellings, two stables, two tobacco barns, plenty of good corn and tobacco land, and nearly all the cleared land lays good—not washed into ditches and gullies. Can give immediate possession. Land is in the Piney Creek church neighborhood and is about one mile from church and school house. Would suit two families. Will sell at six dollars per acre, one fourth cash, balance in three yearly payments. For further information, write to or call on

Do You Want Strength?

If you want to increase your strength you must add to and not take from the physical. In other words, the food that you eat must be digested, assimilated and appropriated by the nerves, blood and tissues before being expelled from the intestines. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure adds to the physical. It gives strength to and builds up the strength in the human system. It is pleasant to the taste and palatable, and the only food and digestant that will digest the food and enable the system to appropriate all of its health and strength-giving qualities. Sold by all druggists.

YOUNG GIRLS, BEWARE.

The gateway to St. Louis, our great Union Depot, is beset by a thousand snares for unwary feet. Any young girl who comes through the gates into mid-way is at once spotted, and if it be possible the snare will be so spread in her path that she cannot escape. No girl should come here unless absolutely certain as to her course. The many tempting advertisements are often mere baits for ignorance and innocence. And if she comes to the city ready to enter the first carriage whose driver proposes to take her to a good, cheap boarding house, or to accept the first situation offered where "no experience is required," she may as well bid adieu to innocence and hope when she leaves her home. And as a matter of course the young man is almost equally exposed so far as moral or even physical safety is concerned. If the country papers will only keep these things before their readers they will serve God and humanity. St. Louis Christian Advocate.

The Name Witch Hazel.

The name Witch Hazel is much abused. E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, are the inventors of the original and only genuine Witch Hazel Salve. A certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Eczema, Tetter, Piles, etc. There are many counterfeits of this salve, some of which are dangerous, while they are all worthless. MAIL-ORDER PAPERS.

Profit, not prejudice, should guide the advertiser in the conduct of his campaign. Yet there unquestionably many advertisers whose personal prejudices blind them to actual facts, and who, as a consequence, fail to receive the full measure of profit that a different policy would bring them.

However the class of publications known as mail-order papers may be criticized from an aesthetic standpoint, the fact remains that they are profitable advertising mediums. They're not pretty nor expensive, nor voluminous, but they are read by a class of people whose tastes they satisfy and who form a large proportion of our purchasing population. This is an established fact. Yet the prejudiced advertiser refuses to acknowledge that it is a fact, or to consider any evidence tending to show it to be a fact, the result being that he acts to his own disadvantage. Prejudice and profit never travel together.—Boston Profitable Advertising, January, 1904.

Rheumatism Cured

William Shaffer, a brakeman of Denison, Ohio, was confined to his bed for several weeks with inflammatory rheumatism. "I used many remedies," he says. For sale by Woods & Orme.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

for children; safe, sure. No opiates.

THE GIFT OF A HOT TEMPER.

One of the common complaints of parent against child is, "He has such a temper!" This is not meant to be a compliment and is not commonly received as such. But isn't it?

A child without a temper may be very sweet and satisfactory to its parents; but it can hardly be a child of any great force of character. Who ever saw or heard of a person with positive qualities capable of being a strong influence, that did not have a high temper? A high temper gone beyond control is an unruly servant and a hard master, but there are few more favorable abilities than the ability to get intelligently angry for good and just cause.

But to be ill-natured—that's a vastly different matter. It proves that one has either a very small mind or a very poor digestion, or both—usually both.—Saturday Evening Post.

Gives Health, Vigor and Tone.

Herbine is a boon for sufferers from anaemia. By its use the blood is quickly regenerated and the color becomes normal. The drooping strength is revived. The languor is diminished. Health, vigor and tone predominate. New life and happy activity results. M. S. Belle H. Shirel, Middleboro, Ill., writes: "I have been troubled with liver complaint and poor blood, and have found nothing to benefit me like Herbine. I hope never to be without it. I have wished that I had known of it in my husband's lifetime." 10c. Sold by Woods & Orme.

Cured Consumption.

Mrs. B. W. Evans, Charwater, Kan., writes: "My husband lay sick for three months. The doctors said he had quick consumption. We procured a bottle of Ballard's Horehound Syrup, and it cured him. That was six years ago and since then we have always kept a bottle in the house. We cannot do without it. For coughs and colds it has no equal." 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by Woods & Orme.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

Has world-wide fame for marvellous cures. It surpasses any other salve, lotion, ointment or balm for Cuts, Corns, Burns, Boils, Sores, Felons, Ulcers, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Chapped Hands, Skin Eruptions; infallible for Piles. Cure guaranteed. Only 25c at Woods & Orme's.

Accept No Substitute.

There is nothing just as good for Malaria, Chills and Fever as Dr. Mendenhall's Chill and Fever Cure. Take it as a general tonic and at all times in place of quinine. If it fails to give satisfaction mail the front of the cartoon to J. C. Mendenhall, Evansville, Ind., and get your money back.

LA GRIPPE—PNEUMONIA

So many people who have apparently recovered from an attack of La Grippe are stricken with Pneumonia. This is due to the fact that the Bronchial Tubes and Lungs are left weak and unable to resist disease.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

not only cures La Grippe Coughs, and prevents Pneumonia, but strengthens the Lungs so they will not be susceptible to the development of serious lung troubles. Do not take chances with some unknown preparation that may contain some harmful drug when FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR costs you no more and is safe and sure. Contains no opiates.

I had a bad case of La Grippe about ten years ago which left my Lungs so weak that I have been troubled more or less every winter since until I used FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR, which cured me completely and my Lungs no longer trouble me.—J. H. BROWNING, D.D.S., Orrick, Mo.

G. VACHER, 157 Osgood St., Chicago, says: "My wife had a very severe case of La Grippe, and it left her with a very bad cough. She tried a bottle of FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR and it gave immediate relief."

The 50c bottles contain two and one-half times as much as the small size and the $1.00 bottles almost six times as much.

WAS JESUS A CARPENTER?

According to Gospel record, which refers in several passages to Christ as the son of Joseph the carpenter, all christendom has for nearly two thousand years accepted as an unquestionable fact that Jesus himself followed the trade of a carpenter, prior to the beginning of his ministry. The belief is so universal that it has never been questioned, although after a careful search in the scriptures we find absolutely no positive evidence that such was his profession.

The question was recently discussed by Mr. Ernest Crosby in the Craftsman, of Syracuse, N. Y. Mr. Crosby opens his discussion by quoting a portion of the second and third verses of the sixth chapter of St. Mark, which reads: "What is the wisdom that is given unto this man and what mean such mighty works wrought by his hands? Is not this the carpenter, the son of Mary?"

"Taken by itself," Mr. Crosby remarks, "this text is by no means decisive, for it is not a statement that Jesus was a carpenter, but merely that the people called him such, and they might have been mistaken or inaccurate."

Two other apostles in giving their account of the same scene, use quite different words. In the Gospel of St. Matthew, (xii 54:55) we find the following passage referring to the same incident: "and when he was come into his own country he taught them in their synagogue, inasmuch that they were astonished and said, where hath this man his wisdom, and these mighty works? Is not this the carpenter's son? is not his mother called Mary?"

Again we find in St. John: Is not this Jesus, the son of Joseph, whose father and mother we know?"

The three records evidently refer to the same episode, yet the three vary in the words spoken by the people. Evidently one of these remarks was made and the others were not, but exactly which apostle has given the correct account, can not be ascertained. But as St. Matthew and St. John agree that the people referred to Christ as "the carpenter's son," and the "son of Joseph," and not as Jesus the carpenter, one would suppose that their account is more authentic than St. Mark's. If this be correct then have no proof in the Gospel record that Jesus was a carpenter.

The words of Christ himself certainly do not imply that this was his occupation. In his own language we find no hint of his having any knowledge of carpentry, while on the other hand he appears especially familiar with farming; also possesses knowledge of the duties of a shepherd and some information concerning professional and commercial pursuits. In only one instance does he refer to anything relating to carpentry, where he speaks of two houses being built, one on rock and the other on the sand.

But here we find our attention drawn more to the destruction of the house upon the sand, "when the rains descended and the floods came" and not to any mechanical construction of the building.

In his parables similes and illustrations he most frequently uses scenes from farm life, and in all his allusions to agriculture he shows the most specific knowledge in every detail.

In his parable of the sower how plainly we see his familiarity with the work. How naturally do we conclude that Jesus had often sown the seed himself; and, in the words of Mr. Crosby, "seen the birds devour that which fell by the wayside, and had watched the fortunes of the crop from day to day, and noted how the sun scorched the blades which came up in rocky places, 'because they had no deepness of earth,' and how they withered away 'because they had no root' and how the thorns choked the seed that fell among them; and he knew exactly how much that which fell in good ground should yield, 'some a hundred fold, some sixty, some thirty.'

He shows us equal familiarity with the measurement of large estates of the wealthier classes; in the parable of the unjust steward and of the hiring of servants, in the parable of the laborers in the vineyard, also in the parable of the householder, who planted a vineyard and let it out to husbandmen.

He tells how a fig tree should be treated when it has borne no fruit for three or four years, when he says—

"No man putteth new wine into old bottles."

"He that putteth his hand to the plow," etc.

"A good tree bringeth forth good fruit."

or speaks of a treasure found in a field; the ox or the ass fallen into the ditch; do not the various references show an intimacy with the different features of farm life?

Once he betrays a knowledge of fishing, when he shows, one of the prophets where to cast his net and at another time alludes to the fishermen drawing their nets upon the shore and casting out the bad fish but putting the good into vessels.

Is it not strange, then, that if Jesus was a carpenter that all of his illustrations should have been taken from farming, especially as the carpenter's trade is not lacking in material for such purpose? After this Mr. Crosby states—"the difference in the fibre of wood, the seasoning of timber and its warping, the use of various tools, the adaptation of a part of the article manufactured to the whole—surely here was a field worth cultivating?"

In conclusion Mr. Crosby says: "It seems pretty certain, on the other hand, that Jesus had earned his living in agriculture, vine dressing and sheep-raising, so that not only were all the details of these occupations at his fingertips, but they afforded him with the rich stock of illustrations upon which he was accustomed to draw. The Jews have never been prominent as craftsmen, for which fact the proscription of graven images may be in part responsible."

That Jesus was an artist from a literary point of view, no one who reads the parable of the "Prodigal Son," can doubt, but in the world of the senses it was nature, and not art, that attracted him.

He had no taste for craftsmanship and it is altogether unlikely that he ever was a craftsman. From his cradle in the manger of the oxen to his tomb in a 'garden' his life savored of the soil, and of the soil, and of its primary and essential travail."

FEMALE WEAKNESS

543 1-2 Congress St.
Portland, Maine, Oct. 17, 1905.
I consider Wine of Cardui superior to any doctor's medicine I ever used and I know whereof I speak. I suffered for nine months with suppressed menstruation which completely prostrated me. Pains would shoot through my back and sides and I would have blinding headaches. My limbs would swell up and I would feel so weak I could not stand up. I naturally felt discouraged for I seemed to be beyond the help of physicians, but Wine of Cardui came as a God-send to me. I felt a change for the better within a week. After nine months' treatment I menstruated without suffering the agonies I usually did and soon became regular and without pain. Wine of Cardui is simply wonderful and I wish that all suffering women knew of its good qualities.

William S. Sweeney
Treasurer, Portland Economic League

Periodical headaches tell of female weakness. Wine of Cardui cures permanently nineteen out of every twenty cases of irregular menses, bearing down pains or any female weakness. If you are discouraged and doctors have failed, that is the best reason in the world you should try Wine of Cardui now. Remember that headaches mean female weakness. Secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui today.

WINE OF CARDUI

A Beautiful Thought.

I think I love and revere all arts equally, only putting my own just above the others; because in it I recognize the union and culmination of my own. To me it seems as if when God conceived the world, that was Poetry; He formed it, and that was Scripture; He colored it, and that was Painting; He peopled it, with living beings, and that was the grand, divine, eternal Drama.

SHORT STORIES.

Mrs. Marvel, of Montpelier, Vt., has given birth to three sets of triplets in four years. Marvelous!

The czar has telegraphed Alexieff: "I am with you heart and soul." With excellent judgment, however, he thinks it best to keep his body in St. Petersburg.

A Cairo man who was arrested for hugging a dummy figure in a dressmaking establishment explained to the court that he was drunk and believed it to be a pretty woman. The court sympathized with him, to sustain the dignity of the law inflicted a light fine for hugging a delusion.

One Detroit lawyer called another a liar and was called by the other a dam-robber, and, instead of reproving them, the judge quietly remarked that through long acquaintance the gentlemen had come to know each other thoroughly.

A Graves county man has sued his wife for divorce because she kept laying hens in the house. Her own individual cackling was all he could stand and retain a hold upon his equilibrium.

St. Peter must have felt weary in the jaws when he opened the gate and announced Gabrielskovich Bouckomolskinski, of Kalamazoo Michigan, who passed over the other day.

The University of Chicago has a petrified fish that weighs several hundred pounds. In time some learned professor of that institution may startle the scientific world with the claim that it is the identical fish that Jonah gulped down.

A St. Louis market item says: "Cucumbers are painfully scarce." Sometimes when you eat too many green ones they are too painfully plenty, or too plentifully painful, just as you choose to put it.

A Missouri man has such a hard-to-fit figure that he declares that he cannot buy anything ready made except umbrellas. Being a Missourian, it is to be doubted if he really acquires his umbrellas that way.

In a Newark N. J. divorce case the wife testified that her husband compelled her to move 120 times in seven years. This so moved the jury that they released her from the galling bonds and allowed her to move back into the ranks of single blessedness.

Here is a Swedish cure for sleeplessness: Take a napkin, dip in ice-cold water, wring it slightly, and lay it across the eyes. An English lady recently adopted this plan, and it worked like a charm. The first night she slept four hours without waking; the second night she at once went to sleep, and it required considerable force to rouse her in the morning.

Fish are nearly the same weight as the water in which they live, so that they can move in it with ease. The majority of them also have an air-bladder inside the body, which enables them to go up or down in the water will. When a fish desires to descend, it can press the air out of this bladder by means of certain muscles, and thus increase the weight of its body; and when it wishes to rise again it takes off the pressure, the bladder fills with air again, and its body becomes light enough to rise. Where does the air come from to refill the bladder?

The darkness that has pervaded the Pyramids for thousands of years is now to be dispelled by the electric light. Maspero, the director of the society entrusted with the preservation of Egyptian antiquities, has begun work on the historic temple of Karnak at Thebes. So successful has the result been that the inner passages and catacombs of the great Pyramids are now to be lighted.

Five years ago the attention of American importers was called to the value, as an astragel and drier in varnish for the finer kinds of furniture, of the product of the Chinese wood oil tree. Since then two American firms have established branches at Hankow, China, for the exportation of the oil, and one of them has shipped nearly 200,000 gallons since last fall. Because of the fact that no barrels are manufactured in the province where the oil tree grows, a Hankow firm has imported from New York stocks for 5,000 barrels and machinery for setting them up. About a thousand seeds of the oil tree have been planted in California and are doing well.

LADIES Attention!

I am in the Millinery business again with an up-to-date stock and can save you from 20 to 35 per cent on the dollar. Come and be convinced of the fact.

Thanking you for your patronage last year and will appreciate your trade this time. Come and see me, one door above Moore & Paris Lumber Co.

Respectfully,

Mrs. L. G. Koltinsky.

Any Wife and Any Husband.

Men are pretty pliant creatures. A good many of them owe their downfall to ill-considered marriages; but as many more owe their success in large part to their wives. When a woman marries, she has just one duty before her—to be a helpmate to her husband. She may neither be satisfied to sit at home and be taken care of, nor to go her own way and be interested in her societies, her clubs or her own exclusive matters. She and her husband are one. His interests are hers. If they expect to get anything out of life, they must get it together. Work, pleasure, pain, must be met with a common front; then there will be common progress. It is right and proper that a woman should be ambitious for her husband. Something is wrong if she is not. So when we find one who is, she presents an example worth pointing to.

It is a wise man who chooses a wife meet for him; it is a wise woman who sets out to help her husband, and a very foolish one who allows herself to be a drawback, or merely a piece of luggage to be carried along.—April Woman's Home Companion.

CARGO OF LILIES.

New York, March 22.—The first steamship load of Easter lilies has arrived here from Bermuda. This consignment was mainly for the far west. There were thousands of crates in the cargo, requiring the most delicate handling. It is expected that more of the flowers will be brought north this year than ever before.

Nella L. Allen, a Hickman county schoolmarm, never knew that her name read the same from either end until her betrothed made the discovery, and she now thinks it so cute that he is finding it difficult in holding her to her promise to change it.

THE VALUE OF A TREE.

In many parts of our country farming would be impossible but for the trees, such is their influence upon the streams. They regulate the water-supply, and their tendency is to prevent both floods and drought; they supply fuel, one of the greatest necessities of life, and they furnish the lumber for the building of our cities, railroads, ships, and a thousand other things without which our present state of civilization would not have been possible for ages, if at all. This is why we should be careful of our forests, which are fast dwindling away in many sections; this is why we should legislate against sheep-grazing in the forests, and against all other practices which tend to cause forest fires, and why we should try to protect our trees from their natural enemies, such as landslides, floods, insects and fungi. And it is well to bear in mind the fact that we cannot replace in fifty years a tree which we can destroy in an hour.—April Woman's Home Companion.

Pretty Walks,

There is nothing which adds more to the attractive appearance and beauty of the home, as viewed from without, as pretty walks. Few features will more quickly command attention to a residence than neat and clean, evenly laid sidewalks, and yard walks, a tact so well realized that good walks have come to be realized as a necessity rather than a luxury, by most people.

Our New Spring Purchases

Are Arriving Daily.

OUR BUYER, who has been at the market centers, has returned and brought with him these exclusive fabrics and garments that are obtainable at this store only. Our stocks throughout the entire store are flourishing with recent newness of the most approved fashions that are characteristic among the tasty and smart dressers which invitingly await your criticism, as their artistic beauty and excellence of quality cannot be fully appreciated without seeing and comparing them. The approaching Spring finds us well prepared to meet the greatest of demands.

NEW SPRING WHITE GOODS!

New spring embroideries, laces and white goods for the early buyer have been received. By buying early you get first choice and can have your sewing done before the warm weather. We have a very choice selection and, selling for cash, we make low prices.

THOMAS McCONNELL, Marion, Kentucky.

NEW SALEM.

Samuel Wring is still a very sick man.

Everything on the hillsides, including mother earth, and on the creeks and branches, including fencing was cleaned out the past week by the big floods which fell in this section.

Not a furrow plowed yet; farmers are becoming much discouraged about their spring work.

Maybe when Easter comes we may have a spell to plant taters and garden vegetables.

Our young people were treated to a musical at the residence of Wm Watson Saturday night.

WC Tyner and Lan Harpending attended the Masonic lodge at Marion Saturday night.

Phil Travis of Emmaus spent a day and night in this section last week.

Mrs. Etwell McWhirter, of Henderson were the guests of relatives in this section last week. She returned to her home Thursday accompanied by her sister, Miss Ora Conyer.

Rev Lowery came up to his regular appointment Saturday and Sunday at New Salem. Rev Fra-liah filled his appointment at Tyner's Chapel 3rd Sunday.

J Wess Grimes is on the sick list.

The town marshal of Marion had quite an exciting race on the farm of Esq Charley Fox one day last week, his man taking him through ponds and across swollen creeks, but all to no avail; his man outwinded him and made good his escape.

Great fears are had for the safety of the fruit crop, during the late cold snap.

T A Harpending has the best field of wheat in this part of the county.

Harry Harpending is still confined to his room, suffering from rheumatism.

J W Baker has sold one faru twice in the past six days. The third time is the charm, Bunker.

A big lot of mining machinery has been unloaded at the Stevens fire-clay mine the past week and will be set up for working as soon as weather permits.

George Kinsolving of Salem has been in this section most of the last week getting ready to market his last year's tobacco crop.

Our old friend Henry Brouster is taking music lessons under the tutoredship of uncle Dave Childress.

We notice in the columns of the PRESS last week that a new court house is wanted by some of our people. Now let us be candid allways in what we say, and we believe we know whereof we speak, our people are among the best in Kentucky, but while our people are among the best in the State, we lack a great deal of being the most wealthy, our lands are not over productive, we manage to make enough to live on, but none to throw away. We have a good, comfortable court house, recently repaired, at considerable expense to the tax-payers in the last two years; our present court house is ample for all of our present means in the way of a temple of justice, our people need good roads a great deal worse to travel to the house we already have. No, let us do a while longer with the court house we have; times are hard and it is all we can do to meet our present taxes.

Invaluable for Rheumatism.

I have been suffering for the past few years with a severe attack of rheumatism and found that Ballard's Snow Liniment was the only thing that gave me satisfaction and tended to alleviate my pains. March 24, 1902, John C. Degnan, Kinsman, Ills. 25c, 50c, and $1.00. Sold by Woods & Orme.

GARRSVILLE.

The infant child of A. Heard is very sick at this writing.

Dr O R Kidd and wife spent a portion of last week in Louisville visiting his brother, C E Kidd, who is attending medical school there.

Albert Likens was in Evansville last week.

Dr J N Clemant, L E Bridges, C P Threlkeld and O L Foster went to Smithland last Thursday.

L C Brouster, our popular mail carrier, says the roads are worse at this writing than they have been this winter.

Rev W R Gibbs filled his appointment here, the second Sunday and Sunday evening.

J O Rutter is teaching a spring school here now; several teachers are taking advantage of it and getting ready for the coming examination.

Mrs E B Gwartney is in the picture business now.

The candidates are on the hustle now and each one is going to be elected,

HURRICANE.

After a long silence we again resume our place with a short episode.

Our cisterns all full, ponds all full and our ducks can swim.

Uncle George Moore is improving.

Roseola subsiding, grip progressing.

Clifton Hughes cut one of his toes off some time ago but Drs. Franks and Hughes put it back, and it is doing well.

Hayward Coffield moved out and Sam Smith moved in.

Jim Kirk and Simon Stallion both lost a fine cow last week.

Some time ago a very special friend of ours on a trip to quarter ly meeting, stopped to spend the night with uncle George Moore. Late in the night he became very drowsy and retired; not being accustomed to undressing himself on all occasions he laid himself away in a ten dollar suit. At a late hour next morning he woke up and was struck with wonder to find that he had passed from that of a goat to a sheep of the woolliest kind. Some of the boys undertook to work up the raw material and called for the cards; but the good woman of the house had been carding bats and had not cleaned them; it was soon found that the appearance of wool had increased on the pants at considerable rate; he still insists it was a ten dollar suit; when he had already fleeced a pair of new bed blankets, notwithstanding it was the Sabbath morn. The boys with their knives and other appliances shaved him from head to foot, but he did not appear in the love feast that morning. He was some later in Marion but his pants did not look so well.

New literature and new interest in Hurricane Sunday school. Everybody come.

No poker parties this week, nor next.

HENRY HAL.

This celebrated West Kentucky Stallion will make the season of 1904, at my stable 7 miles North of Dycusburg 1/2 mile south of Hodge mine, at $7.00 to insure, payable when fact is ascertained or mare is transferred. Best of care will be taken of mares, but will not be responsible should any occur.

HENRY HAL will be 12 years old in June next, is 16 1/2 hands high, well muscled, dark chestnut in color, and can show more Fine Saddle and Harness Horses than any other Stallion in Western Kentucky and nine-tenths of them being naturally gaited.

W. F. Bandy.

PINCKNEYVILLE.

FLATROCK.

The rains we are having! Did you ever see the like? More rain fell Tuesday than has fallen since June.

Farmers are taking advantage of the tobacco season, which is the first good season we have had. Most of them will no doubt get through stripping some time this season, and deliver it and get the money and spend it, which won't be a very big job; the spending part.

Re: Fritts of Horse Cave, the electric belt man, filled Rev E B Blackburn's appointment at Enon Sunday.

Tommy Morgan started to Cridder twice Tuesday, but it rained him out both times.

Con Crayne, of Starr, was here Tuesday.

Jim Spickard intended to have gone to Princeton to take a load of produce for J A Clift Wednesday, but the big rain on Tuesday knocked him.

There was no sale on Tuesday as advertised at the Maxwell place, on account of no bidders.

At Bowling Alley.

CROOKED CREEK.

Ben Gilbert's little child was buried here Sunday; it was only two months old; its mother found it dead in the bed; the death was a great shock to the parents, who have the sincere sympathy of this community.

Henry McMicen has moved to the Tom Carter farm.

When you see Dorsey Conger all smiling you may know he has a new baby at his home.

Miss Josey Ford will probably engage in the millinery business this spring.

M V Ford will add to his farm this spring about one hundred rods of wire fence. Hurrah for Mart.

After two weeks tangle with the grip H S Driver is out again.

The general health is improving in this neighborhood somewhat.

ENTERPRISE, INGENUITY AND ORIGINALITY.

Say something against Lax-Fox to the prejudice of those who have taken it and you'll be sorry. Every person using Lax-Fox will tell you an interesting story of how it cured them.

Lax-Fox is the very latest example of medical enterprise, ingenuity and originality. Those who have been sick, and others, say, Lax-Fox is the best medicine made. To make it a little better than any other remedy even though it cost more is an investment and not an expense to the S. H. Winstend Medicine Co. No advertisement is equal to having people say Lax-Fox is the best. To succeed in any business give the consumer more than you promise. That is done in Lax-Fox. It cures indigestion, constipation, kidney and liver trouble. Its good effects are felt at once. Take no substitute. The genuine is sold on the money back plan by druggists everywhere.

We are Still Here

And have the largest and most complete stock of groceries ever in Marion to select from, and as for prices, we meet any that are made, we care not by whom, and bear in mind that when we tell you an article is good, we make it so every time. To tell you all we have would take more space than we have, but suffice to say we have everything kept in a first-class grocery store in all lines, and as for the produce line, we head the list in long prices, and were it not for us keeping the prices up, what would you be getting to-day? So think of this, you farmers, and bring your produce where you get the best prices and buy your groceries from those who help you out, and remember we will be in the ice business again this season to stay until the season is over. Give us a trial and we will treat you right.

Hearin & Son.

HATS HATS!!

Yes, Ladies' Hats. I am having hats made to order by expert manufacturers, which will enable me to lead in styles, beauty and prices. I will also give a nice present with each hat sold. Don't buy until you see my hats and get my prices. W. H. TOWERY, Shady Grove, Ky.
