At 9 o'clock President Charles Evans presiding, opened the Tournament. The city had taken on a gala day appearance and every. thing was life and bustle. Large delegations had come in from Hopkineville, with Prof Taylor and Miss Mary Walker, assistant, and don, 50 pupils; from Morganfield, with Profe Burton and Alton, and Misses Mary Chambers and Bessie Blue Blue, assistant teachers, and 40 EIGHTH CONTEST-READING UNDER pupils; from Corydon with Profs Hamlet and Spalding, and Miss Claypool and 30 pupils.

The exercises were extremely interesting and all the contests spirited and every inch of ground fought with vigor, but all in the most harmonious way. A spirit of good fellowship sprung up between the different cities on account of this intermingling which will last throughout life.

The judges were chosen from sections of the state not represented in this Tournament, and were field; Mary Ligon, Corydon; Sustrangers to all the contestants. sie Matthews, Hopkinsville. They were:

James H. Clifton was born April 4, 1835, at Clarksville, Tenn. He came to Kentucky in 1859. On May 20, 1863, by Rev Riley Eads, he was married to Miss Margaret McLarney. His wife and 7 children survive him, 5 children hav. ing passon on before his death, which occurred at Dyousburg March 28, 1904.

Mr. Clifton was more than an ordinary man. His intellectual endowments and his aggressive nature developed into a successful life and gave him an elevation peculiarly his own.

He was for decades a leading citizen of our town (Dycusburg), and of Crittenden county. In what ever age or place destiny may have so nature moulded him. Essentially he was what an American citizen may become by individual merit, even though inheritance bequeaths to him neither shekels of gold nor landed estates. That which makes life most enjoyable Mesdames Sallie Wooldridge of he attained. He was successful in readily from experience and observation, and communicated to the Pat. corna vici and tan oxfords advantage of those in whom by was interested; thus his couns was sought and valued, and his ju-fluence became patriarchal.

He advocated the observance of our civil laws. Trathfully we can state that we honored him as a cit izen, we esteemed his character, cherished his friendship, and we revere his memory. His death is truly a family and a local bereavement, but it is more, He was a Mason in high standing and his loss to Dyensburg lodge is seriously felt. As age and affliction made inroads on his robust constitution his affections still clung te his surroundings, friends and Several couples of our young family; but when the grim deshe recognized the fiat of the supreme Law-Giver and his words were like these: "I would love to live to be with my wife and children, but if God so wills I am ready to die."

To the Public.

Very cordially,

On the 6th day of January, last, we purchased of Bigham & Browning the stock of hardware and farm implements for the purpose of engaging in a legitimate and reputable business. We wish to state that we have increased our stock and took particular pains to secure a full and complete line of goods in order to supply our trade with all the leading articles kept in a first-class hardware stock. Some of our articles were obtained from other merchants who had them in stock and were willing to self them to us, however, we find that that is a common custom and that our firm is not the only one in town selling goods purchased in that way. We wish to state that we are very much pleased to announce that our trade is rapidly increasing, and we certainly feel very grateful to our customers. We hold no malice toward our competitors. We expect to keep a large stock of goods, our doors always stand open, and we solicit your trade upon fair and just dealings. We shall take no further notice of the ads. of our impetuous competitors, but will meet all fair and just competition. As we expect our dealings with the public to prove our full appreciation of their trade with us, we are willing to submit the case to them as judge and jury. Believe us, we are sincere.

ALICE OF OLD VINCENNES

By MAURICE THOMPSON

Copyright, 1900, by the BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY +

He gathered the two glrls in his mighty arms, tousling them with rough tenderness. Alice returned his affectionate embrace and told him where to find Mme. Roussillon, who was with al recitals sweet, fresh echoes of the Dame Godere, probably at her house.

"Nobody killed," he said, in answer to Alice's inquiry about the catastrophe at the fort. "Some of 'em hurt and burnt a little. Great big scare about nearly nothing. Ziff! my children, you

His gestures indicated that he had borne back an army with open hands. Then he chucked Adrienne under the chin with his finger and added in his softest voice:

"I saw somebody's lover the other day over yonder in the Indian village. He spoke to me about somebody-eh, ma petite, que voulez-vous dire?"

"Oh, Papa Roussillon, we were just talking about Rene!" cried Alice. "Have you seen him?"

"I saw you, you little minx, jumping into a man's arms right under the eyes of a whole garrison! Bah! I could not believe it was my little Alice!"

He let go a grand guffaw which seemed to shake the cabin's walls. Alice blushed cherry red. Adrienne, too bashful to inquire about Rene, was trembling with anxiety. The truth was not in Gaspard Roussillon just then, or if it was it stayed in him, for he had not seen Rene de Ronville. It was his generous desire to please and to appear opulent of knowledge and sympathy that made him speak. He knew what would please Adrienne, so why not give her at least a delicious foretaste? Surely, when a thing was so cheap one need not be so parsimonious as to withhold a mere anticipation. He was off before the girls could press him into details, for indeed he had

"There, now, what did I tell you?" cried Alice when the big man was gone. "I told you Rene would come. They always come back."

Father Beret came in a little later. and began to shake his head, but she only laughed and, imitating his hypocritical scowl, yet fringing it with a twinkle of merry lines and dimples, pointed a taper finger at him and ex-

I think of what I did. But I was so glad, such a grand joy came all over me when I saw him so strong and brave and beautiful conring toward me smiling that warm, glad smile and holding out his arms-ah, when I saw all that-when I knew for sure that he was not dead, I, why, father-I just had to. I couldn't help it.

Father Beret laughed in spite of him self, but quickly managed to resume his severe countenance "Ta, ta!" he exclaimed. "It was bold thing for a little girl to do." "So it was, so it was. But it was also a bold thing for him to do to come back after he was dead and sealped and look so handsome and grand! I'm ashamed and sorry, father, but - but I'm afraid I might do it again if-well, I don't care if I did! So there, now!" "But what in the world are you talking about?" interposed Adrienne. Evi dently they were discussing a most interesting matter of which she knew nothing and that did not suit her feminine curiosity. "Tell me." She pulled Father Beret's sleeve. "Tell me, I the scalp.

It is probable that Father Beret would have pretended to betray Alice's source of mingled delight and embarrassment had not the rest of the Bourcier household returned in time to break up the conversation. A little later Alice gave Adrienne a vividly dramatic account of the whole scene.

"Ah, gan Dieu!" exclaimed the pe tite brunette after she had heard the exciting story. "That was just like you, Alice. You always do superb things. You were born to do them. You shoot Captain Farnsworth, you wound Lieutenant Barlew, you climb on to the fort, and set, up, your, flag; you kicked me in the ribs, the varmint." take it downiagain and run'away with hands before her and added rather de-forthwith, but Clark, who wished to avoid a repetition of the savage vengeance meted out to the Indians on the previous day, had given strict orders hat all prisoners should be brought ino the fort, where they were to have a fair trial by court martial.

Both Helm and Beverley were at Roussillon place, the former sipping wine and chatting with Gaspard, the latter, of course, hovering around Altee after the manner of a hungry bee around a particularly sweet and deliciously refractory flower. It was raining slowly, the fine drops coming straight down through the cold, still February air, but the two young people found it pleasant enough for them on the veranda, where they walked back and forth, making fair exchange of the exciting experiences which had befallen them during their long separation. Between the lines of these mutuold, old story went from heart to heart, an amæbæan love bout like that of spring birds calling tenderly back and forth in the blooming Maytime woods.

Both Captain Helm and M. Roussillon were delighted to hear of Long should have seen me quiet things. I Hair's capture and certain fate, but put out my hands this way-comme ca neither of them regarded the news as -pouf! It was all over. The people of sufficient importance to need much comment. They did not think of telling Beverley and Alice. Jean, however, lying awake in his little bed, overheard the conversation, which he repeated to Alice next morning with great circumstantiality.

Having the quick insight bred of frontier experience. Alice instantly caught the terrible significance of the dilemma in which she and Beverley would be placed by Long Hair's situation. Moreover, something in her heart arose with irresistible power demanding the final, the absolute human sympathy and gratitude. No matter what deeds Long Hair had committed that were evil beyond forgiveness, he had done for her the all atoning thing. He had saved Beverley and sent him back

With a start and a chill of dread, she hought, "What if it is already too

Passed Stone and Gravel With Excruciating Pains

A. H. Thurnes, Mgr. Wills Creek Coal Co., Buffalo, O., writes: "I have been afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble for years, passing gravel or stones with excruciating pains. Other medicines only gave relief. After taking FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE the result was surprising. A few doses started the brick dust, like fine stones, etc., and now I have no pain across my kidneys and I feel like a new man. FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE has done me $1,000 worth of good."

No Other Remedy Can Compare With It

Thos. W. Carter, of Ashboro, N. C., had Kidney Trouble and one bottle of FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE effected a perfect cure, and he says there is no remedy that will compare with it.

Death of Mrs. O. K. Vincent.

Mr. D. H. Robertson, in a letter, from Mountain Grove, Mo., to the editor of the Press dated April 15 says: "I enclose you a clipping from the Mountain Grove Journal which contains sad news to a great many people of your county. Mrs. Annie Vincent and her first husband, Willie Cook, were both raised near Weston, and each had many friends in that community."

The death of Mrs. O. K. Vincent occurred last Sunday after a brief illness. Mrs. Vincent was highly esteemed and her death was a severe shock to the community.

Her maiden name was Jarrel. She was twice married. To Wm. L. Cook Oct. 30, 1884, and to this union were born two daughters, one of whom preceded her mother to the land beyond the shadows. The other, Miss Ethel, lives to mourn her sad loss. Who can tell the loss of mother?

She was married to O. K. Vincent Dec. 21, 1895. To this union have come Chester and Kenneth, two bright boys, whose bereavement can not be measured by any human calculation.

Sister Vincent gave her heart to God early in life. For a number of years she was a member of the M. E. church here. Grace had in such a teim waysting and unree wrought a deep work in her soul and her life was the spirit of self sacrifice. Her love and devotion were divided between the church her home, sharing each its 'proportion' but her supreme love was for Cod. As she loved Him most He stretched forth his hand and took her to Himself. And here is the secret that a mother would calmly bid home and loved ones a long good-bye and willingly enter the Valley.

They both managed Vincent, but none of us can feel leterz k, u, o, w, l, e, d, g, e, tu to cling to the keel of the boat, the loss as do those at home. The faithful hands that ministered are folded on her breast, and the voice is bushed forever.

On Saturday, knowing the end was near near, she gave all her final blessing and farewell. She was not alarmed. Why should she be? Like a child fleeing to its mother's arms, she hastened away to her Father's house, where she might be forever at rest.

SAVED BY HER HAIR

Clarksville, Tenn., April 18. Miss Eunice Newton, the pretty daughter of J. M Newton, a pro. minent citizen of Gothrie, ky., has just returned from the South. where she has been for se veral nonths teaching art.

Miss Newton recently had a narrow escape from death, the particulars of which are given in letters to friends here. She, in company with six friends, went saiting on the Gulf recently, and when some distance from shore a storm came up, and the small craft was upset. Five of the party boat, toe, note, floor, soul, yeoman were drowned, Miss Newman and We are all bereft-the church sew, hautboy, owe, oh! O!! Or, a male companion being the only and were in the water twenty ev aul we no? Truli tue leinz ov hours before help came and they were rescued. Miss Newton's long hair became so heavy from being in the water so long a time and she was so weak from exposure and the exciting circumstances that her nead was repeatedly forced under the water, and it was with almost superhuman efforts that she managed to retain her hold upon the boat and keep her head above the waves. The gentleman who, with her, was saved, finally managed to secure his pocket knife and, opening it with his teeth, cut the girl's hair off, thus ed Miss Newton is now at home, none the worse for her exciting ex periences except for the loss of her luxuriant locks.

PROTECT THE BIBLE.

Friends of the Bible declare the time to have arrived when assaults upon the Scriptures should be repelled. They have organized an American Bible League-American because they propose to inaugurate a campaign that shall extend throughout the nation; Bible begause we believe it to be the Word of God; and League because they are banded together for an opposition to the higher critics that they assert is to be both united and determined. Recent large meetings of men, eminent as anstructors of the young, who declare under the guied of critical scholarship that that they are Firnth seekers and nothing more, have aroused the defenders of inspired Scriptures. The latter dec are that something must be done if anything is to remain. It is Bible or no Bible, they say. Crime is on the increase, as statistics blow, and one chief cause of it is the fact that God's Word is oponly discredited.

The vigorous League already ungages in warfare. It amounces reconvention of defeaders of the Bible as it is, and declares that it finds interest in its work of Bible defense so great that people are to you have by the judicious use of Chamattend the convention from every berlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. portion of the country. Special railroad rates are being arranged. That the League considers the sitwation grave, is shown by the fact held in the Marble Collegiate Reormed Church, New York City. The dates are May 3. 4 and 5; the Pastor of the church named is the Rev Dr. David James Burrell, and able state representatives who himself a defender of an inspired do not make $300 a week. The opening address, which is expected to set the keynote for the meeting, will be delivered by President of Princeton Theological Seminary and former President of Princeton University. This address will set forth the nature of the present assault and point out its unparalleled danger. The President of the League, Mr. Wm Phillips Hall, the well known business man who takes such prominent interest in the religious welfare of the people, and in the progress of America, will occupy the chair. That the assault is regarded as a death one is shown by the fact that the topic of the first morning session will point out the practical consequences of the attack. This attack is producing demosalzation of conduct and of education, and is having tremendous influence, all of it baneful, upon the ministry and upon missions. The closing session of the convention will talk over the best way to remedy present evils. The League's method is to concentrate popular attention upon a mastery of the Bible and what is in it Achtresses will be made by members of the League, and especially upon methods of reaching and influencing the young.

The formidable array of speakers can hardly, as will be seen, be duplicated in America. Almost all evangelical bodies are represented. Such a list of speakers at any convention in recent years has rarely been equaled.

So intense has the feeling come to be of late that official organs of different bodies, such as the Chris tian Endeavor and others, have found it essential to speak out in favor of an inspired Bible, and de ploring the assaults of the higher critics. They admit that unless s stand is taken on the safe side, and that immediately, there will be no Bible worth preserving.

A certain small village in the west, far removed from the noise and bustle of commerce, boasts a female preacher, and the lady's duties are many. One day she may visit the sick, another attend a funeral and the next baptise a baby. One afternoon she was pre paring a sermon for the coming Sabbath when she heard a timid knock knock at the parsonage door. Answering the summons, she found a bashful young German standing on the step twirling his straw hat in his hands.

"Good afternoon," the preacher remarked. "What do you want?" "Dey say de minister lifted in dis house, heh?"
