MINING NEWS

S. S. Sullenger Strikes it Rich Near Irma.

The Big Five Mining company have struck a fine vein of spar with trace of zinc and galena on the Blake B. Terry land, recently optioned by James Sullenger, of whom they bought the mining rights. They began prospecting last week and at 3 ft depth struck the vein and took out a 200 lb. lump. They think the vein will be better when they go deeper, and they feel safe in going on down, as they are on the famous LaRue vein. The company contains such substantial men as C. E. Weldon, T. H. Cochran, J. G. Asher, Al. and John Pickens, who compose the Big 5.

The mines which are now being developed by S. S. Sullenger are situated about 1 1/2 miles east of Irma and near to Mr. Temme's mine. Mr. Sullenger is now sinking a large shaft, the work of which is being conducted by J. L. Barker, an experienced miner, who thinks it is one of the richest prospects he knows of. The outcropping is fine spar and from 7 to 18 feet below the surface a fine grade of carbonate is found with some native lead. Mr. Sullenger expects to prosecute the sinking on the vein and stripping off the carbonate at the same time, and with as much speed as practicable. Mr. Barker thinks the mineral belt from Sheridan to Tola will prove to be the richest in this part of the State, and that if mineral men wish to get a hold in this region at reasonable prices they should be looking out within the next few months. Experts say the quality of spar and zinc produced from the Sullenger mine can not be surpassed anywhere.

New Salem correspondent says: We understand that Alex. Utley, of Salem, has uncovered a 4 foot vein of spar on his farm near New Salem, the past week.

J. B. Hardy of Salem is doing some prospecting for himself on the farm of Bunk Baker.

Prospecting continues and will continue on several farms in this section last and this week.

The big 200 h. p. boiler for the Cullen plant was put in position last week without mishap.

The mining interest is taking on a boom in this section. The wildcat line is about over. Men mean business now; they look before they leap.

Our people living on or traveling the Marion and Salem road should be, and are, under many obligations to the Eagle Flour Spar company of Wheeling West Virginia, for the permanent work done to all the bridges and crossings on said road by the above company, who have put in double sleepers and double flooring on all bridges on said road.

DEATH IN GRAVES.

Mayfield, July 2.—G. W. Hollifield, aged 84 years, died at Pryorburg. He was born in Henderson county and leaves many relatives. He was one of the most wealthy and prominent citizens of Graves county.

Drowned in Cumberland River.

Cadiz, Ky., July 2.—Eugene F. Fattrell, the fourteen year old son of James Fattrell, of Cadiz was drowned at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at Ross landing, on the Cumberland river, four miles above Canton. He was playing in a boat all alone when it capsized with him. His body was recovered about three hours afterward.

DIED IN OKLAHOMA.

G. E. Grissom, of this city, received a letter from Hennessey, Okla., announcing the death on June 23d at his home in that place of Mr. Ben F. Yandell. Mr. Yandell had been ill for some months, having been afflicted with dropsy of the heart.

The deceased was well known here, having left this county some ten or twelve years ago for the West, settling in the above named place, where he has since resided. He leaves a wife and several children.

Ben Yandell was a good man, a respected citizen, and had many friends in this county. He was a brother of T. J. Yandell, Sr., the late Henry Yandell, and Mrs. O. W. Bryant, all of this county.

THE EASTERN WAR.

Chee Foo, July 1.—What may prove to be a decisive naval engagement was in progress at 1 o'clock this afternoon, midway between Chee Foo and Port Arthur. The steamer Chee Foo, which has arrived here passed within fifteen miles of the Japanese fleet, consisting of two battleships and five cruisers, all actively engaged. The Russian fleet was not seen, but the distance of the Japanese from land precludes the possibility of any attack on the land batteries. The battle is held here to confirm the Chinese report that only four of the larger Russian warships were at Port Arthur last night.

Liao Yang, July 1.—The Japanese have retired from Dalin pass and are moving in a northeasterly direction on the Liao Yang road. They have appeared in great force at Pal Shui and Holtien Passes, outflanking the Russian positions. The Russian eastern divisions continue to retire before superior numbers, but are keeping in close touch with the enemy. It is considered probable that the combined armies of Kuroki and Oku will concentrate at Hai Cheng or Kai Choo, and await the end of the rainy season. It soon will be impossible to send troops through the passes from the mountains in to the valleys.

New Chwang, July 1.—A telegram from German sources at Mukden received here yesterday evening says Gen. Kuropatkin has decided not to fight at Ta Tohe Kiao or Hai Chang, but to retreat from Ta Tohe Kiao.

Liao Yang, June 30.—A Japanese army is reported to be within thirty five miles of Liao Yang. The Japanese have withdrawn from the positions they captured from the Russians after five days hard fighting.

NEARLY 700 PERISH.

London, July 4.—Over 700 Danish and Norwegian immigrants bound for New York are believed to have been drowned in the north Atlantic on June 28. Out of nearly 800 souls on the Danish steamer Norge, which left Copenhagen for New York, only 100 are accounted for. The Norge struck a rock and foundered. The British steamer Cervona brought in 32 survivors before noon, making a total of 101 survivors brought in.

She picked them up from a boat yesterday evening westward of the Butt of Lewis. They were in woeful plight, nearly all being naked. One dead child was with the party.

Stornoway, Scotland, July 4.—Sixty four passengers belonging to the wrecked steamer Norge were picked up from two boats and were landed here by the German steamer Energie.

LETTER FROM FLORIDA.

ED. PRESS: One of the most beautiful sights to be seen in Florida is a 20 acre field of tobacco under cover. It is owned by Mr. Boone Embry. It is 9 feet high. They top the plants at about 8 ft. high, and as it begins to ripen at the bottom they pick the leaves off and string them on strings, (like our mother's string red peppers); then they hang on sticks and the sticks are hung in the barn. The plants and leaves are very uniform in size, the leaves being as large at the top of the plant as they are at the bottom, and perfect, not a worm hole to be seen.

Mr. Embry tells me he will make 21,000 pounds this season, for which he has a five year contract for all he can raise at 40c per pound. It is surely a beautiful sight and will pay any one to ride some distance to see. Tobacco is not the only thing they raise under this cover. After the tobacco is housed the land is planted to potatoes, garden peas, cabbage, lettuce, onions, string beans, etc., for early market, all of which bring handsome prices.

The rainy season is now on and everything is growing nicely; wild grasses are luxuriant and stock looks fat and fine on the range, which is free.

Florida is coming to the front in agriculture, fruit and vegetable growing, being the principal pursuit. Stock raising is being looked after some closer than heretofore in getting a better grade of stock.

This part of Florida is destined to become noted for its fine climate, products, cheap houses, etc., and the absence of insect pests. Mosquitoes, flies, fleas, etc., are hardly known here. Wishing the Press and its hosts of readers success, I am,

Truly yours,
Foster Threlkeld.

News-Democrat: A big cocking main that had been arranged for the Fourth has been declared off.

The bouts were to have been between Paducah and Crayneville Ky, chickens. The local sports have been training their best birds for several weeks, to get them in condition. Word was received Saturday night that the Crayneville people could not come to Paducah Monday.

A set of fights will be arranged for a later date.

MANY KILLED IN WRECK.

Litchfield, Ill., July 4.—The Chicago limited on the Wabash railroad was wrecked in the north yards here last night. The train struck an open switch and overturned. Seven cars were burned. Eighteen persons were killed and forty injured. Several delegates to the St. Louis Convention were on the train and one, Jos. Bardel, from North Dakota was killed. The open switch is a mystery that railroad officials are trying to solve. According to the Wabash agent the switch had not been used during the entire day by any train men.

Pretty Sallie's Sorrowful Plight.

What would you do if you were little Sallie Leonard? If you were only 19 years old. If the horrid housekeeper might let you sit on it yet not let you get things out of your trunk because you owed him a bill. If you were an actress, but couldn't get an engagement? If you couldn't go to the theater, nor to an end of the week house party because you had nothing to wear but one shabby street dress and if you had simply made a foolish bargain with a young millionaire that brought all these troubles on yourself—nothing worse to reproach yourself for, not even an indiscretion; and if, as she asserts, you really didn't understand it?

You don't know? Neither does Sallie Leonard. She sits in the Dunmore Hotel, in New York, says the American Journal, waiting for something to happen, but nothing ever does, except that every hour the housekeeper becomes crosser and his frown deeper.

It began in St. Louis a year ago when Miss Sallie was visiting relatives in that city. Although every one who knows calls her "Sallie," she was originally christened Sarah Leonard and is the daughter of a wealthy and prominent Kentuckian, president of a bank in Eddyville and a leader in every movement for the uplifting of the State.

HOW SALLIE GOT INTO THE SCRAPE.

Miss Sallie is of the true Kentucky type, long-limbed, long-necked, slim waisted, of long, patrician features, and has an admirable poise of the head.

And she is very fair, with ash gold hair and lovely eyes.

One night Miss Leonard was the prettiest of a bevy of girls in a box at the Century Theater, to see "The Crisis." She knew she was the prettiest in the box. Her mirror and the admiring eyes of the men in the audience told her so. But when Miss Charlotte Walker, Mr. James K. Hackett's leading woman in "The Crisis," came on the stage, Miss Sallie realized with a sinking of the heart that she was not the prettiest woman in the theatre. From comparing Miss Walker's blond beauty with her own Sallie felt to comparing their walk and gestures. Then, suddenly, it came—the imp that whispers in girls' startled ears, "Go on the stage."

The next morning she called on Mr. Hackett. "We need a general understudy," he said. "Can you leave tonight?"

"Yes," said Miss Leonard.

She left with the company that night, played small parts when needed, and all went well until they reached Boston, and she met Mr. Alexander H. Higginson.

Mr. Higginson is to all appearances an irreproachable young man. He is the son of Henry L. Higginson, one of the trustees of the Carnegie Institute of Washington, and a member of the banking firm of Lee, Higginson & Co. of Boston. He was brevetted for gallant conduct in the civil war. When the new Stock Exchange was opened in Boston he was the largest subscriber, $350,000. All of which Miss Sallie heard, and hearing, was impressed.

ENTER, THE RICH BANKER.

But with the advent of the well feathered young Mr. Higginson the clouds began to gather above little Miss Sallie's head, although she never once noticed them.

Mr. Higginson, during the company's stay in Boston, and afterwards in New York, paid flattering attentions to two actresses in the company, Miss Charlotte Walker and Miss Georgiana Pilcher, although the most marked of these attentions were bestowed upon Miss Walker. Little Sallie Leonard was sometimes invited to join these supper, and theater and garden parties, invitations which she always gratefully accepted. She described these festivities in a complaint filed with the supreme court of New York.

This was all very pleasant for the little girl from Eddyville, Ky., but the clouds were gathering fast although she did not see them. She never saw them, in fact, until months later a strange young man called on her at the Dunmore hotel bringing with him a letter from Alexander H. Higginson, of Boston.

THE PRESENT PREDICAMENT.

"Dear Miss Sallie," the note read, "I am asking the bearer of this note to come to see you about matters which are of much importance to me."

The bearer was Mr. George H. Bagg, who is connected with the Metropolitan Street Railway. He told Miss Leonard that the "matter of importance was Mr. Higginson's troubles with his wife, who had brought suit for divorce."

The complaint states that during her acquaintance with him Mr. Higginson had told her of flirtations of his.

"I told Mr. Bagg," said Miss Leonard, "that I intended to return to my father's home, that I was ill and had lost my engagement, with the James K. Hackett company."

"Mr. Bagg told me that it was of the utmost importance to Mr. Higginson that I remain in New York. The said Bagg stated that if I would not return to my father's home, but would remain in New York the said Higginson would pay two drafts which I had drawn on my father, each one for eighty-five dollars, and which had been dishonored by my father, he being angry because I had gone on the stage without his consent, and would also defray the cost of my living here, as well as my doctor's bills."

Mr. Higginson, through his lawyer, Philip Dexter of Boston, kept the terms of this agreement, until on April 13 Mrs. Higginson secured her divorce. The same day Attorney Dexter wrote Miss Leonard that the agreement terminated with that date and said, in his opinion she had not been sufficiently active in looking for an engagement.

SHE WANTS $25,000.

Meanwhile Miss Sallie Leonard situated as above stated, has just brought suit against Mr. Higginson for $25,000, alleging that if she had not good naturedly remained in New York, where meddlesome lawyers could not find her, and extract from her Mr. Higginson's stories of his flirtations, her father would have taken her back. She sues Mr. Higginson for $25,000 worth of damaged prospects.

Yet little Sallie Leonard is only a girl. Receiving a half dozen beautiful portraits of herself from a photographer she sent them all to Mr. Higginson, a gift which he amiably acknowledged, all this after the date on which she brought suit.

Boston gossips declare that Mr. Higginson is about to marry one of the beautiful parties to his former flirtations.

Little Sallie Leonard, sitting down in the Dunmore Hotel, in New York, says she really doesn't understand it at all.

A Glimpse of the Future.

BY W. GRACEY MONTGOMERY.

As I view the vivid plain of life,
I see many high and low;
And while embodied in dismay
and strife,
I wonder, "where am I destined to go?"

Shall I weave my way to the highest cliff,
This I do implore.
Or shall I fill the place of a rift
To be landed on a rocky shore.

Shall my life be crimson with gory,
Where billows shall howl and scream,
Or shall I be wafted to glory
By the flow of the placid stream.

Will Divinity kindly enthrone me
With a nature so noble and true,
That when manhood seek to own
me
I shall have a good work to do.

And shall my work be aglow with lustre,
Or enshrouded in a mantle of shame,
Shall noble deeds around me
cluster,
Or shall they fall and wane?

But when on my bier ye have laid
me,
I pray the dirges swell,
Will have no cause to upbraid
me;

But may the echoes be, "All's well!"

Opening of Government Land.

Omaha, Neb., June 28.—Nine millions of acres of Government land in Nebraska were opened for homestead entry today, under the provisions of the Kinkaid law, which permits homesteaders to file on 640 acres of land. The land opened by the Kinkaid law is that known as semi-arid land and it is mostly adapted to grazing. It is the last great opening of Government land of this nature that will be made, and was the occasion of a rush for choice sections by those desiring to establish ranches.

THE HAPPY HUSBAND.

How many times I have wondered
How life would seem, dear heart
If from our modest dwelling
Stern poverty should depart.
If the cottage should become a castle

Furnished with treasures rare
And we'd have everything that we'd have
If I were a millionaire.

Suppose, dear, a stately butler
Awaited you every sign,
And the water upon the table
Should change into ruby wine,
Suppose that a dainty pousset
Now replaced our humble fare,
And the table with the things
we'd have,
If I were a millionaire.

Suppose that our stables shelter'd
Full many a well-groomed steed
That you rode in your Vic with comfort,
Or hunted o'er field and mead.

Suppose that each day brought nothing
Of worry, and trial and care;
As we've often thought the days
would be,
If I were a millionaire.

Would the logs on the hearth brighter
Than those chips in our tiny grate?

Would the feeling of home be
stronger,
If dinner were served in state?
Would a spin in your Vic be better

Than our walks in the twilight
rare,
Would the love in our hearts be
stronger
If I were a millionaire?

Would we be more to each other
If trouble were swept away?
Would the sun in the west glow softer

Than now at the close of day?
Life is a mighty heart-throb,
And the love that makes life fair

Would be no greater and truer,
dear,
If I were a millionaire.

Mary's Little Ram

Of course you all remember about the dear little schoolgirl whose mother was not well "up" on names and so called her little daughter just plain Mary and who had the little white woolly lamb that seemed to insist on going everywhere Mary chose to go?

And how one day, when the lamb wandered into the village school and raised such a fuss that there was pretty sure to be a vacation if things continued, the schoolmaster arrived with a baseball bat and gently requested his visitor to "Shoo?"

But you never heard what that lamb said to himself as he went limping

INTO THE POND HE WENT, HEAD FIRST. down the road, nursing the spot where the bat hit him. It was something like this:

"You just wait, you mean old thing! I shan't always be such a little, helpless thing. Mother says my horns will grow some day, and I shall be a fine ram and can bat with my head. Then I'll watch for you and get even."

And of course, as the days went by, Mary's little lamb became Mary's powerful ram.

Each day the schoolmaster would walk down the road, carrying his lunch box, and each day Mr. Ram would say to the little lambskins: "See him! He's the fellow I told you all about; mean as dirt. I just wish he'd come over in this lot just a little minute only."

Then one day the schoolmaster was collecting flowers for the botany class and spied some iris growing at the edge of the fence and began to pick the purple flowers. Mary's ram saw him. "Watch me!" he cried to the admiring lambskins. Putting his head between his feet, he started toward the master with an automobile speed. The master did not see him.

"Bang!" they came together. Over the fence went the master, and into the pond he went, head first.

The master rose, dripping and scared. "Excuse me," said the ram. "Teachers often need to be taught. Good morning!"—Pittsburg Dispatch.

An Englishman in India once owned an elephant whom, in honor of the wife of the viceroy, he called Lady Curzon.

Lady was employed in plowing the fields with four plows attached and in loading lumber on the trains. Lady was rather lazy, I am sorry to say, and was continually looking for an easier task. One day she heard her owner's wife say that she did so want a good nurse for the baby.

So one day the mother missed baby, and when, after some moments of hunting, they found her Lady had her in her care, holding her between her great front feet and fanning her with her ears. "I've found my nurse!" cried the mother.

"I JUST LOVE BABIES."

So Lady was made to wear a great white apron and a cap that wouldn't stay on and carried that little tyrant of a baby about on a cushion. Her legs ached and her back ached.

"Oh, my," she sighed, "why did I ever trade work? This baby nursing, I guess, is not in my line. I can't sleep at night because that wretched infant cries. I can't rest by day because the little tyrant wants to walk. I thought the thing was easy. I believe it would kill an elephant in time." One day, utterly discouraged, she brought in the baby to his mother. "Take him, take him," she pleaded. "and let me do general housework." All of which shows that some things that seem easy are not as easy as they seem.—Detroit Journal.

She Awoke.

It was night now. Ah, well, night was as good as the day. What did it matter?

Nothing mattered now, neither time nor tide nor circumstance, for was she not dead, the woman of his heart?

Of course, they had had their differences—what married couple does not?—and the tears filled his eyes at memory of some of their spats. He had so often been in the wrong. She—she was an angel, and they had loved each other.

Now she lay dead before him. How had this thing happened? How had this great grief come to him? Why had the Master given her to him but to take her away?

He should not. He would hold her back out of the very arms of death. Half frenzied with his grief, he seized her. He held her. He drew her near to him. She yielded. Death was being vanquished by the power of a great love.

And then a voice—her voice through the night—

"John, for gracious sake, what are you pulling me out of bed for?" And then he awoke.—Lippincott's Magazine.

Waiting For Beard to Grow.

The story is told that one day a young freshman entered a barber's shop in Ithaca. He seated himself in that recumbent attitude which men assume when they desire to be shaved, and a barber, smiling—for the boy's face was altogether beardless—tucked a towel about him, lathered him and then, strolling to the doorway, began to smoke a cigarette. The freshman waited in silence a few minutes. Then he exclaimed, "Hey, what are you doing there?"

"Smoking," said the barber. "Well, why don't you shave me?" "I am waiting," the barber answered, "for your beard to grow."—Troy Times.

Poor Mrs. Woodby.

"So you're little Willie Woodby?" said the new minister after Sunday school. "I called to see your mother yesterday, but, unfortunately, she was not at home."

"Oh, yes, she was," replied the boy, "but I guess she took you for the installment man. You look something like him."—Philadelphia Press.

One Minute For Cough Cure

Cough Cure

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

YOUR KIDNEYS ARE THEY WELL?

Unless they are, good health is impossible.

Every drop of blood in the body passes through and is filtered by healthy kidneys every three minutes. Sound kidneys strain out the impurities from the blood, diseased kidneys do not, hence you are sick. FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE makes the kidneys well so they will eliminate the poisons from the blood. It removes the cause of the many diseases resulting from disordered kidneys which have allowed your whole system to become poisoned.

Rheumatism, Bad Blood, Gout, Gravel, Dropsy, Inflammation of the Bladder, Diabetes and Bright's Disease, and many others, are all due to disordered kidneys. A simple test for kidney disease is to set aside your urine in a bottle or glass for twenty-four hours. If there is a sediment or a cloudy appearance, it indicates that your kidneys are diseased, and unless something is done they become more and more affected until Bright's Disease or Diabetes develops.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE is the only preparation which will positively cure all forms of Kidney and Bladder troubles, and cure you permanently. It is a safe remedy and certain in results.

If You are a sufferer, take FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE at once. It will make you well.

Some Pronounced Incurable

Mr. G. A. Stillson, a merchant of Tampico, Ill., writes: "FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE is meeting with wonderful success. It has cured some cases here that physicians pronounced incurable. I myself am able to testify to its merits. My face today is a living picture of health and FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE has made it such."

Had Lumbago and Kidney Trouble

Edward Huss, a well known business man of Salisbury, Mo., writes: "I wish to say for the benefit of others, that I was a sufferer from lumbago and kidney trouble, and all the remedies I took gave me no relief. I began to take FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE, and after the use of three bottles I am cured."

Revenge of the Laureate.

The king called for his laureate. Who trod the throne room shrinkingly. The king said, "Write an ode on month." The laureate said, "Yes, sire," unthinkingly.

Some tone of accent caused the king To note the poet's shiftiness. "You're broke!" the king raged. "But last month We paid you. I dislike such unriftiness."

"Sire," then the laureate replied, "I might possess a bankful still If you were not from month to month Ungrateful, backward and most unthankful still."

"Odeblood!" the king in wrathful voice Roared. Then he spoke, disowning him. But he regretted this next month—The poet led a movement unthanking him.

A shooting scrape occurred on Rock Creek Monday morning when John T. Reno shot his wife and his boy once. Reno and his wife had been parted, for some time and he went to where he lived and a quarrel ensued with the above results. It was said that the shooting of the boy was accidental as he was trying to get his father to quit. Reno came to town, told a few parties and went across the river before the officers knew of the crime. He so far has not been captured. FROM THE COMMONER.

The Chicago convention was little more than an exhibition of the complete ossification of a political party.

Senator Fairbanks is relied upon to keep Wall street in line for the ticket, but the platform ought to serve that purpose.

The Rev. Frost who cast a chill over the convention with his invocation may be needed for the obsequies in November.

It requires a wonderful amount of optimism to expect a decrease in the price of trust-made goods this year. The trusts are preparing to make the g. o. p. campaign fund.

Word comes from Washington that the administration is going to take a full out of the nest trust. The g. o. p. is always "just going to" on the eve of a congressional election.

The New York World instantly demands that Judge Parker deliver a ringing note. There is no difficulty in discovering the "ring" and that is just what's the matter with the Parker candidacy.

Lincoln said that liberty was a right, Roosevelt says it is a gift. Blaine earnestly advocated reciprocity. Republican leaders today have shelved reciprocity. Lincoln and Blaine are dead.

Saved From Terrible Death.

The family of Mrs. M. L. Bobbitt, of Bargerton, Tenn., saw her dying and were powerless to save her. The most skillful physicians and every remedy used failed, while consumption was slowly but surely taking her life. In this terrible hour Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption turned despair into joy. The first bottle brought immediate relief, and its continued use completely cured her. It's the most certain cure in the world for all throat and lung troubles. Guaranteed Bottle 50c. and $1.00. Trial Bottle Free at Woods & Orme's Drug Store.

Accept No Substitute.

There is nothing just as good for Malaria, Chills and Fever as Dr. Mendenhall's Chill and Fever Cure. Take it as a general tonic and at all times in place of quinine. If it fails to give satisfaction mail the front of the cartoon to J. C. Mendenhall, Evansville, Ind., and get your money back.

Telegraphy.

Write now for our Telegraphy Catalogue. All the graduates secure positions. Address H. H. Cherry, Bowling Green, Ky.

Word comes from Chicago to the effect that William Jennings Bryan is in that city trying to make a deal with Carter Harrison to secure the temporary organization of the Democratic National Convention.

Domestic Troubles.

It is exceptional to find a family where there are no domestic ruptures occasionally, but these can be lessened by having Dr. King's New Life Pills around. Much trouble they save by their great work in Stomach and Liver troubles. They not only relieve you, but cure. 35c., at Woods & Orme's Drug Store.

TYPHOID FEVER.

Circular Issued by the Kentucky State Board of Health.

To the Health Officials, Physicians and People of Kentucky:

This Board again feels it to be a duty to call to the earnest attention of our health authorities and people to the increasing prevalence and mortality from typhoid fever, and to the constant growing importance of the constant use of the methods endorsed and confirmed by scientific research and observation for the prevention of disease. 13,305 cases of this disease and 1,579 deaths were reported in Kentucky last year, chiefly confined to people in the prime of life and usefulness.

The cost of caring for those sick of it, to say nothing of the sorrow, suffering and loss of life, for the year, is reported as being $963,750.

Typhoid fever is probably the most prevalent of all diseases, not excepting smallpox. It is now definitely known that, like cholera and dysentery, the germs of the disease are contained only in the discharges from the bowels and kidneys of those sick of it, and that it is necessary for a person to swallow some of such discharges, or things polluted by them in some way in order to contract the disease. They usually gain entrance into the system through infected water, from wells or streams draining inhabited areas, and polluted by infected fecal matter, or such matter may be carried by flies and deposited on the food, utensils and hands in uncleaned kitchens and dining rooms, the germs may also be carried on the hands of careless attendants, or on soiled clothing, or indirectly by using milk or other articles of uncooked food, or drink from cans or vessels that are washed in infected water. Ice from infected water is also dangerous, as it has been proven that freezing does not kill the germs. A large volume of water may be infected from one case, and if already polluted with organic matter, becomes a ready culture fluid for the multiplication of the germs.

In the now noted epidemic at Plymouth, Penn., involving the sickness of 1104 persons, and the death of 114, the outbreak was traced to the use of water from a stream affected by the discharges from one imported case. The recent disastrous epidemic at Ithaca, New York, causing a great many deaths and causing the suspension of Cornell University, was traced to the use of a public water supply thus infected.

On the other hand, in the disastrous and fatal epidemic which clung to our military camps at Chienanaga, Camp Mead, Montauk Point, and other places, during the Spanish-American war, flies were found to be the principal carriers of the disease by the United States Commission appointed to investigate the origin of the outbreaks. By the use of a white powder sprinkled over the discharges in the latrines, thousands of these pests were tracked direct from these and found covering the

the great blood purifier

Read this grateful letter from a prominent Kentuckian

Princeton, Ky., Feb. 4th, 1903.
I wish to state for the FOERG REMEDY CO., of Evansville, Ind., that I believe their great Remedy, known as FOERG'S REMEDY, the great blood purifier, saved my brother's life some ten years ago. He was troubled with a blood disease, and it seemed he could get no relief until he took FOERG'S REMEDY, which was manufactured by this company. After taking five bottles he was entirely relieved of his trouble, and when he died some five years ago he was entirely well of that disease. I have taken two bottles as a blood purifier and was much benefited.

(Signed) C. H. LEWIS, Princeton, Ky.

W. C. STONE, Princeton, Ky.

People do not become interested in these subjects until falling health or a distressing ailment of the skin reminds them sharply of their exposures. Is it any wonder then that so many become the easy prey of venders of both inside and outside the medical profession, and too often find a tragically empty grave, where a little common sense and a little FOERG'S REMEDY would have shown them the way of recovery and spared their lives. Now say!

AND HERE'S THE REMEDY

FOERG'S REMEDY is forever—let this warning be deep in—obtain from us or from your druggist a trial quantity of the Remedy, and see its efficiency the first time you have the opportunity, so that you may know for yourself and become an enthusiastic convert to the virtue and strength of our marvelous blood remedy—from then on you will refuse to be without it until your cure is effected. Why take chances? Why procrastinate a single day? Act now.

be treated in any family or community with perfect safety. If others have the disease it will be because they were infected from the same source as the patient, or contracts it elsewhere. The same precautions should be used in dysentery, and all other diarrheal diseases, including summer complaint in children.

5. All well water and unfiltered water from rivers draining inhabited areas, where typhoid fever and diarrheal diseases are likely to occur, at any time, and milk stored in cans or vessels washed in such water, should be looked upon as suspicious, and should always be boiled before it is drunk by any one not immune from typhoid fever. In the absence of a reliable, filtered public water supply, carefully collected and properly stored, cistern water is the safest.

6. The windows and doors of all dwelling houses, and especially of the kitchen and dining room should always be well screened and the flies actually kept out, unless this is done a carelessly managed case of typhoid fever or other diarrheal disease, even a mile or more away, may be a source of danger on account of flies. As mosquitoes are known to be the carriers of malaria, the same precautions will protect from this poison also.

The universal and effectual practice of these precautions would require intelligent care and some expense, but would result in the practical disappearance of one of our most common and fatal domestic pestilences, which is not only a disgrace to our civilization but a scourge and tax upon the people of Kentucky annually, in comparison with which yellow fever and cholera, plague and other exotic diseases so feared by our people sink into insignificance.

Copies of this circular and of others in regard to the prevention of consumption, diphtheria and scarlet fever may be had by any one for free distribution upon application to the Board at Bowling Green.

By order of the Board.

A troupe of gay butterflies lighted one day

On a vine; and when, rested at last,

They spread their bright wings and would fain be away,

It's tendrils, they found, held them fast.

So they hung there and swung there and grew so content

With their life of retirement and ease,

That were they set free now, I think they'd consent

To stay and be always—Sweet Peas.

JULY.

Come, my girl, it is July,
Goldenly upon earth's floors
Scented hay is richly spread,
Kings might crave it for a bed.
Many a woodland hum and cry
Call us blithely out of doors,
Come with me into July.

Lay your hand in mine, my sweet
Fragrant hidden paths we'll find
Overhung with shadows green,
Where a frequent flower is seen
Beating as my heart doth beat,
In the thrill of this warm wind.
Come, my dear, be fleet, be fleet.

Time for labor has gone by,
Love and I now reign supreme;
At an end gray duty's reign
Dim as some remembered pain,
All the earth in peace doth lie
Breathing deep as in a dream,
Come my love, into July!

—K. A.

A Very Close Call.

"I stuck to my engine, although every joint ached and every nerve was racked with pain," writes C. W. Bellamy, a locomotive fireman of Burlington, Iowa. "I was weak and pale, without any appetite and all run down. As I was about to give up I got a bottle of Electric Bitters, and after taking it I felt as well as I ever did in my life." Weak, sickly, run down people always gain new life, strength and vigor from their use. Try them. Satisfaction guaranteed by Woods & Orme, Druggists. Price 50 cents.

Fail to Relieve Port Arthur.

In a great two days' battle beginning June 16 near Vafangow, on the line of the Manchurian rail road, about eighty miles north of Port Arthur, a Russian advance under General Stakelberg was checked by the Japanese. The loss to the czar's forces was reported to be several thousand. The Russians, on the other hand, claimed to have destroyed three squadrons of the Japanese cavalry. The purpose of the Russian move was believed to be a diversion in favor of Port Arthur. Later, June 16, the Japanese succeeded in enveloping Stakelberg so that the Russians were compelled to make a disorderly retreat through a narrow pass at Telissu, leaving their guns and many dead. Kuroki's army was then advancing in force from Siyuen to cut off the retreat of Stakelberg. All hope of relieving Port Arthur had vanished.

At the same time it was reported that two transports, the Hitachi and Sado, had been sunk in the Korean strait by the Russian Vladivostok squadron, commanded by Admiral Skrydloff, which earlier in the week had left its base. Fifteen hundred lives are said to have been lost. A Japanese squadron commanded by Admiral Kamimura was sent in pursuit of Skrydloff, and it was rumored that three Russian warships, after a fierce engagement, had been sunk or captured.

The Japanese about Port Arthur have steadily advanced their intrenchments, but details of the siege of the Russian fortress were still concealed by the Japanese censor. The czar has called out 200,000 reserves.
