COMPREHENSIVE REVIEW OF THE MINING FIELD.

A Two Days Drive Through the Mining District of Crittenden and Livingston Counties, and Some Facts Concerning a Few of the Mines Seen on my Trip.

Leaving Marion at 6:30 o'clock I took the Crittenden Springs road. A few minutes' drive set me down at the wonderful Columbia Lead and Zinc mine. This mine was worked some 25 years ago just for lead. Transportation facilities not being as good as at present, there being no railroad in this county then, and about that time the wonderful lead strike at Leadville, Colo., so depreciated lead ore this mine could not be worked profitably. It has lain idle ever since, until some 5 years ago when Louisville parties took hold of it, cleaned up the old works, retimbering the shaft, which was about 160 feet in depth, after seeing the great amount of ore (lead and zinc) barely scratched over, they at once began the erection of a 50 ton mill, which has been in operation every day since completion, turning out a high grade lead and zinc concentrate. Mr. R. D. Dreescher is general manager and a perfect gentleman in every respect.

The next stop was at the renowned money making "Old Jim" owned by Bue & Nunn of Marion, Ky. This property cost the owners $1,000 and in less than 6 months gave them a net profit of $75,000. The ores of this mine are carbonate and Jack. Mr. Uren is Supt. Here I took a short walk up to the "Lady Farmer," owned by Henderson parties. This was bought for a carbonate of zinc mine and has been a steady producer and shipper of this ore. Mr. Jennings is Supt. Walking back to my horse I then made a short drive over to the "9 acre" tract. Blue & Nunn of Old Jim fame also own this. This property joins the Columbia, and on same vein, and has shipped tons of carbonate and now has 4 ft of lead and zinc between two walls. Messrs Blue & Nunn have erected a mill of the Joplin type for the separation of the ore. Here I walked down to the Crittenden Springs, and took a drink of that famous water before doing the Major Clements mine on same vein. Major Clements owns, owner and manager, has his mine in tiptop shape and producing a high grade zinc sulphide ore and plenty of it. The Major will treat you right when you come to see him.

Now, a few steps to the Wilson Mining company's mine, a producer of fluor spar, and at present showing a good grade of copper ore. Walk down the hill, cross the branch to the Greer-Marble mine, a shipper of carbonate owned by Paducah parties.

Now then let's go back a little way and see that young giant, the Ada-Florence, owned by the Louisville and Marion Mining Co. Here they struck at 8 ft. depth a 7 foot vein of No. 1 fluor spar, and now at 20 feet it is giving the company such chunks of lead that you can hear Persons (President) say to Gray (director) "Here, George, help me turn this over; I'll be d-d if this ain't solid lead."

Now for a short drive to that wonderful mine of lead, zinc and fluor spar on the great LaRue vein owned by Morganfield and Henderson capitalists, known as the Big 4. The present owners paid $1,800 for this property, and have refused $40,000. Stand on the platform and see tons upon top of tons of the finest grade of lead, zinc and fluor spar, now ready for the market, and you would say with me that they would be foolish to accept such an offer. They have, and have had for some time, 16 wagons hauling this ore to the railroad. Mr. Noe, the general manager, and the owner of 1-4 interest, will be glad to show you this mine, show you where this great amount of ore came from. Mr. Reed, the mining expert, says this vein can be mined profitably 3,000 feet.

Step right across the creek to the old LaRue mine, now being worked by the parties above mentioned. This is being mined by open cut and shaft, tons of ore being mined and shipped every day. Next comes the Deer creek Mining Co. on same vein. They have not shipped any ore, as they will erect a mill on this property for separation of their ores. They already have a plant capable of sinking 1,000 feet.

Next on same vein is what is known as the Hayward property, which sold a few days ago for $12,500 to Evansville parties. We doubt but what they have an excellent property.

Porter & Archer, of Owensboro, Ky., own the next mine on this vein. They have only had this property a few days but are now showing fine ore of lead and fluor spar.

Then comes the Glendale Mining company's property. They sank their shaft on the East wall some 80 feet and are now cross-cutting for the vein, which they will cut in a few more feet.

The old Franks mine, an old resident, one of the three that was worked 25 years ago, the present owners Ky Fluor Spar Co., have a shaft and open cut, from which they can take first class ore.

Next comes the Flannery mine, owned by the Crittenden County Mining Co., of Henderson. They crosscut the surface and caught the vein 20 feet wide. They have a shaft down 30 feet in rich ores of lead, zinc and fluor spar. The company will erect a mill on this property in the near future; while this shaft on the famous LaRue vein the property also has two other veins crossing it.

The next property is owned by the Hureys, of Marion, Ky.; they came in possession of it only a short time ago and have not as yet struck the vein.

Then comes the Beard mine, owned by Cleveland, Ohio, capitalists. But here I had to stop and turn back.

Next on my list was the Givens Mining company, of Providence, Ky. By-the-way, this is one of the best mines in the district. It has been a steady producer and shipper of fluor spar for the past three years. One shaft 125 feet in depth has been sunk by Mr. Givens on what is known as the Flannery silver dike. This shaft has carried all the way a vein of manganese, cobalt and nickel ore, and gives assay values $640 per ton. I understand there has been a small plant ordered from Germany to handle these ores.

Mr. Cartwright, the superintendent, will show you this fine ore.

There were a half dozen other mines in hollowing distance, but I did not have the time to see them this trip. Next stop was made at the Miller carbonate of zinc mine, where I found everything moving nicely under the supervision of Mr. Fred Clement. This property has shipped a great amount of carbonate of zinc and now has hundreds of tons of ore awaiting the completion of the mill for separating the lead and zinc. Don't miss seeing this property.

From here I drove over the hills to the Salem district, where some of the best mines in the country are to be found. My first stop was made at the Cullen, or Evening Star mine, the king of the district, owned by the Eagle Fluor Spar Company, of Wheeling, W. Va. It looks like a young city when you come in sight of it. The company just sunk a shaft on the vein 75 feet, at that depth they have 20 feet of lead, zinc and fluor spar between walls. The company then began and erected a mill to handle this ore, but some say it did not meet the requirements of the company. Last winter they moved over from the vein some 80 feet and started a straight shot with the intention of catching the vein at about 180 feet. This shaft cut the vein at 165 feet, striking almost pure lead. As this was during the rainy season work was stopped, and then began the erection of the largest mill and mining plant in Kentucky. The dimensions are 90 x 120 feet and 120 feet high. It will be equipped with two 200 horse power boilers and the latest pattern of machinery for the ore. Capt. Hurey is general manager, a nice gentleman or a better hustler you can't find than the captain.

Now for a walk of 500 yards to the Nancy Hanks, owned by the Albany Mining and Investment Co., of Albany, Ind. You may take off your hat to this company and its management. After spending considerable money prospecting for the vein, which seemed to be scattered for some depth, they erected a mining plant capable of sinking 1000 feet, which they determined to go or find the ore they were looking for. At the 157 foot level they ran a cross cut to catch the vein. They were rewarded a few days ago in the shape of a vein of lead and fluor spar 80 feet between walls. The entire vein will yield about 48 per cent lead. Mr. G. E. Ratcliff, general manager, thoroughly understands his business.

North of this mine one mile is the Stevens fire clay mine, owned by the Kewanee Fire Clay Co., of Kewanee, Ill. This mine needs no mentioning to the people of Crittenden and Livingston counties. Think of one mine employing from 75 to 150 wagons per day hauling this ore to the railroad for the four months it was worked last year, all ore being mined the same day it was hauled. They have a mountain of this ore and have done hundreds of feet of sinking and tunneling the past six months preparatory to shipping again in a short time. Supt. C. R. Stevens will take a delight in showing you through the many passages under this mountain.

As I had heard so much about the cave, or natural shaft on the white property, owned by the Crittenden Mining Co., I drove over to see it. Here is a shaft 100 feet deep, made by the connection of two immense ore veins, one of zinc and the other of fluor spar. At 65 and 95 feet the company has run levels on both veins in fine ore and have tons of first class ore ready for the market. There is such an immense cavern at the bottom which can be used for years for the storage of waste or refuse, having to hoist nothing but marketable ore. It is simply wonderful and you will be paid for the time spent in visiting it.

As my time was limited I did not get to see the other good mines of the Salem district. Such as the Bill Bailey, owned by the Shady Grove Mining Co., who have an excellent vein of fluor spar and barites, seven feet between walls, and the Bab's, owned by the Eagle Fluor Spar Co. This mine made quite a record mining and shipping 470 tons of fluor spar from one shaft 9 x 40 in two and a half months work. This company also owns several other good mines in sight of Salem.

Leaving Salem I made my next stop at the Hodge fluor spar mine owned by the Kentucky Fluor Spar Co. This has been the greatest producer of fluor spar of any in the district, mining it by shaft and open cut; the shaft is now down some 200 feet; the vein has varied from 10 to 20 feet of high-grade grinding spar. This mine is equipped with all necessary mining machinery.

Across the field a short distance is the Riley lead and zinc mine, owned by the Marion Zinc Co. Julius Fols, manager of the company has sunk several shafts on the Marion break, all in good vein and are now nearing the completion of a 50 ton mill of the Joplin type.

My next stops were at the Yandell, and Asbridge fluor spar mines; owned by the Ky Fluor Spar Co., the Tabb, owned by the Wheatcroft Mining Company, the Pogue, owned by Marion Mineral company, all heavy producers of fluor spar, and equipped with the latest mining machinery.

Then dropped over to the Levi-as camp and stopped at the Eaton mine, owned by Louisville parties. Here by the use of plows and scrapers an open cut was made some 600 ft long by 20 wide, and from which there has already been mined and shipped nearly 500 tons of fluor spar. I noticed here that fluor spar gives way to lead and zinc at a very shallow depth.

A few steps across the field are the Manley and LaRue mines, producers of lead, zinc and fluor. Coming back a short distance I again struck the Columbia vein, where the Keystone Mining Co. have a shaft down 100 feet in fine lead and fluor spar. This mine has steam hoist, steam drills, and a glance shows you it is under good management. Mr. Tom Hope well is Supt. and his work shows him to be an expert miner.

My next and last visit was in the suburbs of Marion, at the Lucile, owned by the Lucile Mining Co., J. R. Finley, manager. This company has done a great deal of work and has been quite a help in developing this district. They are now down 185 feet and hoisting every day a high grade of zinc, sulphur and lead ore. Here I finished my trip being a little tired from my drive I lay down and had a dream seeing large smelters, mills, mining plants and railroads all over the district, and if I could have slept one-fourth the time of Rip Van Winkle when I awakened I would have found it all true.

Our New Salem correspondent says:

Men hunting investments in mining property still continue to arrive. Good strikes are being made almost every day by the prospectors.

The Pogue mine is still turning out its thirty tons per day of fine grade gravel spar. Arch Oliver has charge of the mine and Geo. Russell of the machinery and the boys pull together like two well broke steers. They will begin sinking when the present stope is worked out, and run a new stope. This mine is about the only one in that section that is taking out any large quantity of spar, and none of them are doing any shipping just now, probably on account of the terribly washed condition of the roads.

We clip the following items from the Princeton Leader: Wm. S. Lowery, of Hopkinsville, was here Tuesday. Mr. Lowery is greatly interested in mining. At present he spends his time in Marion and Hopkinsville. He is connected with the West Kentucky Mining company and expects great success for the mines in Crittenden county.

W. J. Deboe, of Marion, was here Tuesday. He is interested in the Senator mines of the county.

A geological survey has been ordered of Kentucky with the view of locating mineral deposits in the various sections of the state. C. J. Norman, chief of the department, has appointed Sam Denny to take charge of the work in Hopkins county. He will start in a few days with a crew of fifty men and will make the survey of Hopkins county complete in every detail. The survey will be of great value to Hopkins county.

At the Riley mines things are moving off smoothly. A number of miners houses are to be erected soon. Mr. Riley lives at Kuttawa and has struck things right in the mining business.

The Greer & Marble mines in Crittenden county, near Crittenden Springs, are progressing nicely. These mines promise to be very profitable and as our former townsman, Wm. Marble, is interested we certainly hope such will be the case.

Our Salem correspondent says: Messrs Smith and Vasa, who are interested in the Nancy Hanks mines, are here for a few weeks. They are very much pleased with their mines. They are getting out some of the best lead you ever saw mined in this section.

At the Cullen mine they are getting along o. k. with their large building, though it will be some time before it is finished.

A REMARKABLE CAREER.

Helen Keller, Deaf, Dumb and Blind. Gets Her Degree of Bachelor of Arts.

Cambridge, Mass., June 28.—Helen Keller, who has been deaf, dumb and blind since she was 18 months old, but who has pursued a wide range of studies in spite of her infirmities, was graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Arts cum laude from Radcliffe College, the woman's annex of Harvard University, today.

Miss Keller, who was 21 years old Monday, has by reason of her attainments, as a student become to be known as the most wonderful woman in the world. She has acquired an education by the aid of the sense of touch alone. By pressing her finger tips to the mouth of her instructor, Miss Anna Mansfield Sullivan, she is enabled to interpret the spoken word and by further use of her fingers responds to them.

WILL DEVOTE LIFE TO TEACHING.

Miss Keller has determined upon her career. She will, she declares, devote her life to teaching the blind, the deaf and the dumb. Thoroughly in sympathy with their restrictions and their needs, she is expected to make an ideal instructor.

The young woman is anxious that more books for the blind be printed, and that a universal system of raised types be adopted. She urges the publication of a magazine for the blind, of as excellent quality as the best magazines, printed for those who can see.

After a six months rest Miss Keller will go to the St. Louis Exposition. One day at the Fair will be observed as Miss Keller's Day and will be observed by the international congress of superintendents and principals of schools for the blind.

MARVEL OF SCIENTIFIC WORLD.

For years the training of this girl and her wonderful struggles toward the goal of knowledge have been the marvel of the medical and scientific world.

Educators and psychologists have found in her a permanent study of the wonders of the human mind, and scarcely a school girl in America is ignorant of her history.

Helen Keller was born in the town of Tuscumbia, Ala., June 27, 1880. When only eighteen months old, she became ill of a fever, which left her deaf, dumb and blind.

Up to the time she was eighteen months old the child was perfectly healthy, and her mother was then aiding her in grappling with the intricacies of the English language. After the illness her education ceased until she was seven years old, when her father, at the suggestion of Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, of Washington, with whom he had communicated, wrote to the Perkins Institution in South Boston, in regard to securing a special teacher for the benefit of his little girl.

A MENTAL TRANSFORMATION.

Little Helen, shorn of three of her senses, resented all overtures, the meaning of which she could not understand. Self-willed, impatient of restraint, and passionate, she was apparently any thing but a promising pupil. Patience and ultimately love, conquered, and she became a loving and gentle pupil.

A PLEASANT REUNION.

Ed. Press: I will give you an account of a pleasant reunion and dinner.

On July 2d the writer and wife started on a pleasure trip with the view of visiting Bro B. F. and sister James, in Livingston county. Reaching our destination we were greeted with a hearty reception. In a short time sister James had the table laden with the good things that earth affords, and we were invited to sit down and partake, which we readily did. After we had satisfied ourselves with the rich bounties spread before us, the table was cleaned up and the forepart of the night was spent in singing some of the sweet songs of Zion and religious talks with devotional services.

After breakfast the forepart of the day was spent in song service until 10 a. m., when the great surprise came to brother and sister James. A carriage coming into view, soft, melodious voices were heard singing, "Home, Sweet Home," and carriage after carriage continued to pass loaded with people all closely connected; they continued the singing until they passed behind a small grove of timber, when they wheeled and returned to the gate. Bro James and wife came out and to their great surprise found it to be their children and grand children and great grandchildren, who had agreed to meet the Fourth of July in a family reunion and to set father and mother a surprise dinner and this they did to perfection.

Tables were erected in a beautiful shade and loaded with every thing good that mortal man could wish for. This feast was partaken of by Bro James and wife, nine children, twenty grandchildren, and three great grandchildren. Other friends that partook of the feast swelled the number to fifty-one.

After the dinner was served song and praise service was again taken up; and with the notes of the organ and melodious voices mingling made the sweetest of music.

The writer was then invited to give a talk on the duty of children to parents, and respecting the reunion, which he did to the best of his ability, taking the present reunion as a type of the great reunion in eternity.

He was followed with good and solemn talks by several members of the family.

The children did not come empty handed, and their gifts were many and serviceable.

This gathering will ever be held in fond remembrance by parents and children. May the same serve to stimulate and provoke others to love and respect the aged and infirm.

GIVEN TEN YEARS.

Barhousville, Ky., July 6.—

The case of the Commonwealth vs Nancy May, charged with the murder of the 16 year old girl, Alice Smith, in Leslie county, on election day last November, was one of the last criminal cases tried at the summer term of the Leslie Circuit Court, which has just closed. She was given ten years in the State penitentiary, and will arrive at Frankfort today, with her four months old baby.

The two women lived close together, Mrs May is a very handsome woman and her victim was a beautiful mountain girl. Mrs. May became jealous of the girl, and her jealousy grew until it led to the killing. On election day, after all the men had left the two houses on the Beach fork of Kentucky river, Mrs May secured a Winchester rifle and went to the home of the girl. She shot her twice through the body. The corpse was found that night lying in a pool of blood. The attorneys for the defense made a great plea for mercy. Ten of the jurymen were for a life sentence, but they agreed to ten years in order to get a verdict.

An effort will be made to get a pardon.

THE PANAMA CANAL.

Washington, D. C., July 7.—The busiest place in Washington these days is the headquarters of the Panama canal commission, where the business of building the great ditch is being planned and systematized. Only Admiral Walker, the Chairman of the Commission, is in the city. The other commissioners are scattered about the country and are expected to meet in Panama about August 1st. Col. Gorges, Surgeon in charge of the sanitary work on the isthmus, sailed from New York this week with a corps of assistants, as did John F. Wallace, the chief civil engineer.

Secretary Murphy, who will remain at headquarters in Washington, has to deal with the thousands of applications for positions. People are applying for every kind of employment, from butchers and bakers to the highest of scientific positions. Not less than six thousand applications have already been filed.

Three judges are to be appointed for the judiciary of the government of the canal zone. It is understood that two of them will be appointed from the Republican and one from the Democratic party. President Roosevelt is said to have decided upon Judge Richardson, of the Eighth Alabama district, as the Democratic member.

Laddie and His Friend.

One day some men and women were in a field cultivating wheat when they heard the cry of a baby.
They went toward the place where the voice seemed to come from, and found a blue-eyed, brown-faced baby that its mother had forsaken.

A farmer picked him up, carried him home to his wife and in a few days sent him to the poorhouse, and some one there named him Laddie.

When he had been at the poor house for twelve years a woman came and called for him.

Laddie was a very poor boy and ran about the streets with ragged clothes on, and the other boys could not play with him because he was so poor.

One day he was walking around he saw some cruel boys stoning a poor dog and throwing him in the pond. Laddie was a kind-hearted boy and this made him feel sorry for the dog, so he called him to the bank and took him home for a pet. All of the boys wanted Laddie's dog and offered him great prizes and large sums of money for him, but Laddie would not let him go. He named the dog Guard.
Laddie's kindness to Guard taught those wicked boys not to be so cruel.

THEODORE

(With Apologies to Edgar Allen Poe.)

It was in the Windy City, I was mus-

Wise and manly Abraham Lincoln led

When a journalistic raven, in my chamber sought a haven.

And I cried with spirit craven, "Tell

Tell me who they've nominated! Tell it quick and get it o'er!"

Quoth the Raven, "Theodore."

"Prophet," cried I, "thing of evil
Prophet still, if bird or devil!

By this roof that bends above us, by the chief we both adore!

Tell this soul with grief dejected, if he's going to be elected.

Will this country be projected to the dogs while we deplore?

He has had three years already, will he have another four?"

Quoth the Raven, "Nevermore."

"Be that word a happy token," I exclaimed in accents broken,

"Tis the kindest ever spoken to a fellow feeling sore;

To our ranks good men we'll muster,
and we'll rout the bronco buster

And that cushioned chair whose luster
he is fondly gloating o'er—

Chair of Washington and Cleveland
he is fondly gloating o'er—

He shall sit in nevermore."

And that Raven, never sitting, still is sitting, still is sitting

On a placid bust of Cleveland just above my chamber door;

And his eyes have all the seeming of
a politician dreaming,

And the sunset o'er him streaming,
casts a shade from shore to shore;

And Tedd's soul from out the shadow that extends from shore to shore

Shall be lifted nevermore.

YOUR KIDNEYS ARE THEY WELL?

Unless they are, good health is impossible.

Every drop of blood in the body passes through and is filtered by healthy kidneys every three minutes. Sound kidneys strain out the impurities from the blood, diseased kidneys do not, hence you are sick. FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE makes the kidneys well so they will eliminate the poisons from the blood. It removes the cause of the many diseases resulting from disordered kidneys which have allowed your whole system to become poisoned.

Rheumatism, Bad Blood, Gout, Gravel, Dropsy, Inflammation of the Bladder, Diabetes and Bright's Disease, and many others, are all due to disordered kidneys. A simple test for kidney disease is to set aside your urine in a bottle or glass for twenty-four hours. If there is a sediment or a cloudy appearance, it indicates that your kidneys are diseased, and unless something is done they become more and more affected until Bright's Disease or Diabetes develops.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE is the only preparation which will positively cure all forms of Kidney and Bladder troubles, and cure you permanently. It is a safe remedy and certain in results.

If You are a sufferer, take FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE at once. It will make you well.

Some Pronounced Incurable

Mr. G. A. Stillson, a merchant of Tampico, Ill., writes: "FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE is meeting with wonderful success. It has cured some cases here that physicians pronounced incurable. I myself am able to testify to its merits. My face today is a living picture of health and FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE has made it such."

Had Lumbago and Kidney Trouble

Edward Huss, a well known business man of Salisbury, Mo., writes: "I wish to say for the benefit of others, that I was a sufferer from lumbago and kidney trouble, and all the remedies I took gave me no relief. I began to take FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE, and after the use of three bottles I am cured."

An Animal Story For Little Folks

How Fido Was Avenged

Fido was a good dog, but Fido had one enemy. He made no enemies himself, but this one happened. It was Terence Muldoon, who lived on the next street and who took a special delight in tying tin cans with strings to the stubby tail of Fido.

One day Terence had cornered Fido and in spite of his growls of protest had tied an unusually large can to his poor tail. Down the street Fido tore, the can hanging and bumping along over the stones. It was a hot day, and Fido's little tongue hung out of his mouth helplessly. Every one stood and laughed. But Fido was going mad.
He frothed at the mouth; his eyes stuck out. People cried "Mad dog!"
and at last, after many attempts, a police man shot him. They buried him in Dog cemetery. But that night Ter-

HE HAD TIED TO HIM A HUGE CAN.
ence Muldoon could not sleep. He dreamed that he stood at the end of a long street paved with cobblestones, wondering how far it was to the other end, when he heard a whirring sound, as of wings, behind him, and, looking around, he saw a sight that made his hair stand on end. There in the air above him, with a ribbon round his neck and a halo above his head, like a saint, was Fido, supported on two gorgeous wings of snowy white. His eyes were big and staring, and he wore a most fearful grin. Terence did not stop to look again, but at once took to his heels and ran. Suddenly he heard something clattering on the stones behind, and, turning, he saw that he had tied to him a huge can. He saw also that the dog spirit was flying after him. He thought he heard it yell
"Mad boy!" Just then the winged Fi-do made a great swoop down at him.
He yelled "Help! Help!" and woke up. But the other dogs in Terence's street are now sleeping safely and without fear.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

He Was Willing to Judge.

Robby was visiting at his Aunt Martha's, and when he was asked at the dinner table which kind of pie he liked best—apple, mince or pumpkin—he replied after thinking it over a few moments:

"I don't know exactly, auntie. I guess you had better give me a piece of each so that I can find out."

Fred Was Squeezed.

Fred, a four-year-old, was riding one day seated between his aunt and a friend.

"Fred, I don't believe you have room enough," his aunt said to him.
"Yes, auntie, I've got lots of room,
but I'm all squeezed up in it."

The Little Member.

You may keep your feet from slipping
And your hands from evil deeds,
But to guard your tongue from tripping—
What unceasing care it needs!
Be you old or be you young,
Oh, beware,
Take good care
Of the little tattle, tattling tongue!

You may feel inclined to quarrel
With the doctrine that I preach,
But the soundness of the moral

CIRCUIT COURT.

The Crittenden circuit court reconvened Saturday morning, the 12th day of the term, Hon. J. F. Gordon, presiding judge.

The following cases were called and disposed of:

J. N. Clark, plaintiff vs C. S. Knight, defendant. Compromise judgement. It is adjudged by the court that the defendants pay the plaintiff the sum of $500 and $26.50 as costs in the court.

Eliza Grimes, plaintiff vs John W. Grimes, defendant. In this case the court adjudged that Eliza Grimes and John Grimes be divorced as man and wife and that neither be allowed to marry again or that either be allowed the privileges of single or unmarried persons. The plaintiff, Eliza Grimes, is also granted the custody, care and rearing of their three infant children, without interference from defendant, John M. Grimes, except to visit them at reasonable times. He is also to pay her $100 alimony and to pay an attorney fee of $50.

Lion B. Snow, plaintiff, vs Tolu Snow defendant. In this case the court, on the grounds set up, adjudged the bonds of matrimony be dissolved between Lion B. Snow and Tolu Snow, and that they be restored to all the rights and privileges of single or unmarried persons.

Lucy A. Sisco plaintiff, vs P. M. Sisco, defendant. The court adjudged this case that the grounds set up by plaintiff were not sufficient to grant any thing and the case was dismissed, each side paying its own costs.

The court convened Monday morning the 13th day of the term, Judge Gordon presiding.

Several cases were called and laid over, some to next term of court and others to be recalled at the present term.

D. T. White, plaintiff, vs John W. Arlback. Both parties announced ready for trial, a jury was sworn in and the evidence of the witnesses heard in full.

The court then took recess until the following morning.

Circuit court, 14th day of the term convened Tuesday morning, Judge Gordon presiding.

After the general routine of preliminary business the case of D. T. White vs John W. Arlback was recalled. The jury announced they had reached a verdict, said verdict being that the plaintiff recover $11 and interest on note from defendant.

H. R. Grigsby vs Deer Creek Mining Co. The defendant, by his attorneys moved for a continuance, but the court held that the affidavit was not sufficient to warrant a continuance and the defendant refusing to go to trial, agrees that judgment be entered. The court, therefore, adjudged that plaintiff recover from defendants $40 with interest on note.

Agnes Martin vs J. J. Bennett. Both parties announced ready for trial. The jury was sworn, the evidence of the witnesses heard in full, arguments of counsel was heard and jury retired for consultation. Failing to reach a verdict they were adjourned till tomorrow morning.

The case of Geo. M. Sisco, charged with the murder of Miss Bertha Williamson, will be called today. More than 100 witnesses have been subpoenaed and besides the regular panel the sheriff has summoned 300 men to appear in court, from which number, if competent the jury to try the case will be selected.

The grand jury having finished its work adjourned at noon Wednesday.

NOTED PIONEER COUPLE.

Among the American pioneers and Indian fighters none is more famous than General Simon Kenton. His career was one of the most remarkable lived by any man on the frontier, where every other man was a hero. In his later days his life was united with that of a noble woman, his wife, whose services in winning Kentucky from wilderness to civilization were of not less value than his own. The story of Elizabeth Kenton is told by Landon Knight in The Delineator for August; how as a young girl, delectably nurtured in a home of refinement, she went with her family into the unknown West; how, instead of repining for the better days of the past, she resolutely took up the duties of her new home, learning to spin, weave and sew, and when necessity demanded handling her rifle skilfully in defense of the home; how she was rescued by Simon Kenton and many years later married him, and how when misfortune overtook the old soldier she remained faithful to him in poverty, during imprisonment and broken health, until death. She was of the best class of women pioneers, and did much to implant the domestic graces and virtues in the Western wilderness. Her life contains many a lesson of patience, fortitude and faithfulness, and from her story as related in The Delineator, may be gathered many interesting facts in relation to the development of the West.

Safeguard the Children.

Notwithstanding all that is done by boards of health and charitably inclined persons, the death rate among small children is very high during the hot weather of the summer months in the large cities. There is not probably one case of bowel complaint in a hundred, however, that could not be cured by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by Woods & Orme, Druggists.

CHINESE MEDICINE.

Though the pill habit is said by medical journals to cause more dyspepsia than it cures, it has at any rate the sanction of antiquity. In an article which Dr. H. L. Norris, a British naval surgeon on the China station contributes to one of the medical journals, he remarks that doses in the Chinese pharmacopoeia are invariably large and the pills are "taken by the hundreds". The Chinese, he adds, possess an enormous veneration for antiquity, and besides powdered deer's horns to promote longevity and tiger's bones to promote bravery, dose themselves with fossil ivory, fossil crabs and shells, ancient suit and water into which a few copper coins of an early dynasty have been boiled.

Other imaginative remedies are scorpions, dried silkworms, baked toads, wasp's nests and cockroaches. At the end of a considerable catalogue of similar prophylactics Dr. Norris observes that, though his list is far from complete, it will show through what a varied range of thought Chinese ideas have moved in attempts to relieve the diseases common to humanity. Perhaps the most curious of all preventive remedies is a soup made from a black oat, which is drunk by blacksmiths in Canton to prevent burns from the hot metals.

BLACK - DRAUGHT STOCK and POULTRY MEDICINE

Stock and poultry have few troubles which are not bowel and liver irregularities. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine is a bowel and liver remedy for stock. It puts the organs of digestion in a perfect condition. Prominent American breeders and farmers keep their herds and flocks healthy by giving them an occasional dose of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine in their food. Any stock raiser may buy a 25-cent half-pound air-tight can of this medicine from his dealer and keep his stock in vigorous health for weeks. Dealers generally keep Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine. If yours does not, send 25 cents for a sample can to the manufacturers, The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

ROCKWELL, GA., Jan. 30, 1902.
Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine is the best I ever tried. Our stock was looking bad when you sent me the medicine and now they are getting so fine. They are looking 50 per cent better.

HE IS AFRAID OF WISCONSIN.

A Washington dispatch says President Roosevelt does not disguise the fact to his political advisers that he is greatly perturbed over the Republican split in Wisconsin, and the reported prospect of Democratic success there next fall. During the last thirty-six hours he has been conferring with party leaders who have come from the Chicago convention, and to them he unhesitatingly expressed his apprehension over the situation.

The President is of the opinion that a mistake was made when Gov. LaFollette and his delegates were turned out of the national convention. If his wishes had been observed both factions would have been recognized and half of the Spooner and half of the LaFollette men been seated. But, strong as was his control of the trol of the convention his desire in this respect was disregarded.

The President was very much displeased over the outcome of the contest and accepted at par the reports that it would result in the probable loss to him of Wisconsin's electoral vote. Yesterday an effort was made to reassure him on that point, it being argued that while the factions would knife each other they would support the Presidential ticket, since there will be but one set of electors on the ballot. But while Mr. Roosevelt derived little comfort from this explanation, he still believes the situation in the Badger State is full of danger, and Chairman Cortelyou will be expected to pay particular attention to it during the campaign.

Gov. LaFollette has dropped a bomb into the ranks of the factionists who defeated his delegates at the Republican National Convention. In his fight for control of the State the governor is declared to have prepared a list showing that more than 100 men in the opposing faction, manufacturers and prominent shippers have grossly violated the interstate commerce law, and have accepted rebates to the amount of one million dollars from the railroads of Wisconsin.

The alleged expose promised will be complete, as it is the result of an investigation of the railroad companies' books, made by the railroad commissioner of the State. The commissioner's latest report is declared to show that more than $5,000,000 has been withheld from the official return of gross earnings made by the railroads. This information the Governor promises to disclose to the voters of the State in his campaign for re-election.

Russians Mutilate the Dead.

Washington, July 6.—The Japanese legation today received the following dispatch from Tokio:

"On the 15th of June a petty officer and other soldiers, six in all, belonging to the eighteenth infantry regiment, encountered, while scouting, about 15 Russian troops, at Cheng Tau Shan, and were killed after hand to hand fighting. On the death of these men the Russians thrust their bayonets into their mouths and cut open their lungs and took away the contents of their pockets.

"On the 27th of June, Kobayashi Wasei, a first class cavalryman, belonging to the third cavalry regiment, who was also scouting at a point about 4 kilometers north of Huiyio Cheng, was attacked by the Russians and fell dead on the ground. Thereupon about twenty Russian cavalrymen surrounded the dead man and barbarously stabbed his dead body several times. At this moment a company of our cavalry approached and the Russians fled, leaving the body of the man in our hands."

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Mary Taylor was born in Wilson county, Tenn., Feb. 29th, 1829, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. H. LaRue, near Levas, May 11th, 1904, in her seventy-sixth year.

She was first married to James George of which one son, B. M. George, survives. In 1857 she was married to E. H. Taylor, soon after which they moved to this state and county. Here for more than forty years the happy couple lived and wrought. They built a pleasant home, reared an interesting family, achieved success, built up a character and influence that counts for good.

Mrs. Taylor professed religion and joined the C. P. church early in life. In this faith she lived, walked and taught. Her example and conversation is a constantly living call to "come up higher."

The last year of her life was one of almost constant suffering, but it developed rich fruits of christian patience, resignation, and victory.

Six children survive her and it was her pleasure to see them all pleasantly located about her in homes of their own. Mr. Taylor preceded her some four years. The children all, I believe, are following on in hope of a happy reunion and a blissful eternity with them. Therefore, "we weep not as those who have no hope."

Then we that are alive, that are left, shall together with them be caught up in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air, and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words.

TO A LITTLE WHITE FLOWER.

Meek, white flower, I fain would grow

Pure and free from guile as thou;

All snugly hid from view,

Will murmur to the summer girl,

Fights Fire in a Sleeping Car.

Louisville Times: A story of how H. D. Wilkes, a traveling salesman for the Falls City Wood-lands, suffered the loss of a night's rest and some of his wear- ing apparel in a Pullman car fire in Tennessee a few nights ago, was told by a traveling man here today.

Mr. Wilkes, who was bound for Knoxville, took a lower berth in a sleeper and was sound asleep and at midnight the curtain of his berth caught fire from a broken lamp. Mr. Wilkes sprang up and yelled for the porter, but the porter was a new man and had not learned all the duties of his position. Among the things he did not know was that fire extinguish- ers formed part of the equipment of the car, and he was so badly frightened that it took Mr. Wilkes several seconds to make him get an extinguisher. The porter did not know how to use the exting- uisher when he got it, and so Mr. Wilkes, clad in a suit of pink pa- jamas, one sleeve of which had caught fire, had to jump into the aisle and do a little amateur fire- fighting.

The commotion caused other passengers to wake up and peer from the curtains of their berths. One woman who poked her head out of her berth and took in the situation, uttered an exclamation of horror.

Mr. Wilkes, who was getting the fire under control, told her not to be alarmed. She said she was not alarmed but merely surprised. Whether she was surprised at the fire or at the appearance of the fire fighter she did not explain.

When the smoke cleared away Mr. Wilkes found that part of his clothes had been damaged but the loss was mostly in underwear and he was able to appear on the streets of Knoxville when the train arrived.

A Very Close Call.

"I stuck to my engine, although every joint ached and every nerve was racked with pain," writes C. W. Bellamy, a locomotive fireman of Burlington, Iowa. "I was weak and pale, without any appetite and all run down. As I was about to give up I got a bottle of Electric Bitters, and after taking it I felt as well as I ever did in my life. Weak, sickly, run down people always gain new life, strength and vigor from their use. Try them. Satisfaction guaranteed by Woods & Orme, Drug- gists. Price 50 cents."

A PETRIFIED MONSTER.

Mr. Sylvester Malone, the well known farmer of the Newmarket neighborhood, brought to town and was exhibiting some sort of a petrified thing that created a great deal of interest and excite- ment on the streets. It was really a curiosity, resembling the back- bone of a great monster. Mr. Ma- lone says when his boy discovered it his curiosity became aroused, and with his pick he set out for an investigation and has dug out fifteen feet of it and is still dig- ging. Some pronounce it a croc- odile and various other things. The scientific are invited to come and solve the mystery for him — Marion Falcon.

Prediction as to Bryan.

The Republican press, and the Democrats with galled shoulders, are filling the air with the cry that Mr. Bryan is going to bolt the no- mination made at St. Louis. As that word has varied meanings, one of which is to swallow a thing whole, as some birds do their prey it is very likely that Mr. Bryan will bolt the platform and nomi- nee without making a wry face. Those who think William Jen- nings Bryan is going to forget the honors that were placed upon him in two elections, in which six and a half millions of Democrats cast their votes for him with enthusias- tic gladness, are reckoning only from the standpoint of their de- sires.—Bowling Green Times-Journal.

Judge Parker's Exciting Ride.

New York, July 6.—Near his farm at Esopus, New York, Judge Alton B. Parker, who, it is ex- pected, will be nominated for Pres- ident by the Democratic Conven- tion, has had an exciting horse- back ride in the thick of a thun- derstorm.

He had gone for his daily jaunt and was some miles from home in the heart of a dense woods when the storm broke. Lightning played about among the big trees and the wind blew a gale, tearing off many dead limbs. Finally the rain began to fall in torrents, but the Judge could find no shelter, and was compelled to spur onward through the storm to his home, where he arrived, drenched to the skin. To complete the job he donned a bathing suit after the storm had passed and plunged in- to the Hudson.

FOR SALE BY WOODS & ORME.

Recognized "Old Ned."

Mrs. L. M. VanMeter has sold her farm of 226 acres and improve- ments, lying in the Mulberry neighborhood, Shelby county, to Mr. George A. Hill, for $60 per acre. A peculiar circumstance connected with this sale was the fact that Mr. Hill, when calling at the VanMeter homestead, saw a picture hanging on the wall and recognized it as "Old Ned," a horse that Mr. VanMeter had rid- den during the Civil War. Upon inquiry it was found that Mr. Hill and Mr. VanMeter had been the closest of friends during the war, but lost sight of each other until the other day.—Shelby Sentinel.

Restored to Her Mother.

Abducted when five years old and finally finding her mother in this country is the strange life- story of Mrs. Tannier, who is now visiting her mother at Akley, from which place she was abduc- ted by the father years ago, says a dispatch from Iowa Falls, Ia.

Years ago there lived at Akley a family by the name of Ibues. Domestic troubles arose, and in a fit of anger the husband and fath- er left home, his whereabouts for a long time being a mystery. Left alone, the mother undertook the duty of rearing her family.

We Are Still Here

AT THE

Old Stand

We solicit a part of your grocery trade and will treat you right and appreciate same as well as your ice trade. Parties who do not take ice regular and want ice on Sundays, please let us have your orders Saturday evening, as we do not have time to make more than one trip, but your Saturday order is sure to be attended to. Our customers will please bear in mind their ice bills as well as grocery bills are due on the first of each month. If everyone would call and settle then it would save us a great deal of trouble and we surely would appreciate it, as we always need the money at that time to settle our bills. To the farmers we would say, bring your produce to headquarters and get the highest price, and while here with your produce, buy your groceries. None will sell you better goods for less money than we will. As ever, yours to please,

Hearin & Son.

MINING NEWS.

The Wheatecroft is getting out a good bunch of gravel spar with its patent whim.

Some work is being done at the Asbridge and the smoke was rolling out of its smokestack early Monday morning.

Our Levis correspondent says: "The mining company on the E. B. Franklin place, began work again Monday."

C. S. Knight, of Fort Wayne, Ind., has been in this field for a week, looking after his large mining interests.

The Wheatecroft Mining company, near Mexico, has 300 tons of spar on the dump ready to ship at Mexico.

Judge Cheney the capitalist and many times millionaire, of Fort Wayne, Ind., was here and spent a week looking over his properties. He has capital in several of the best propositions in this field.

Saturday was pay day for four of the mining companies here: The Ky. Fluor Spar Co., the Columbia Fluor Spar Co., Marion Mineral Co., and the Big 4 Co.; all $10,000 was paid out, about $6,000 of which was paid out by the Kentucky people.

No miners' is being taken out at the Hodge, but the machinery is, and our reporter was informed that it was the intention to abandon the old shaft and sink a shaft at some other point, where another rich "pocket" may be struck.

Our Carversville correspondent writes:

Among our mines the School-field-Spees seem to be doing considerable and aggressive work. Drilling is being done in the main shaft. President Schoolfield and three stockholders, all of Covington, Ky, were down last Saturday. They are pleased with the prospects and will continue operations with renewed vigor.

Mexico on a Boom.

Mexico is rapidly coming to the front. That place has been provided with both a passenger and freight depot. Two box cars constitute the depots. Their arrival was hailed by our old friend Myers with three times three and a tiger. Vive la Mexico!
