A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE ENTIRE FIELD.

Everybody at Work and a Big Output of Ore is the Result.

The Nine Acres, or the Wonder, full Jim have struck a body of ore that is rich enough in zinc to go to the smelter without milling.

A fine sample of fluor spar was taken from a well dug recently at "Going Spring school house," on Mt. Terry's farm, five miles east of Marion.

Mr. Joan Meredith is working a large force of hands on the Hodge property for the Ky. Fluor Spar company. He is keeping a number of wagons running daily with a very fine quality of fluor spar.

The Pittsburgh Mining company working on the Ebby Hodge property, have their shaft down 10 feet, and started a level last Monday to cut their vein, which is 13 feet from their shaft.

C. H. Whitehouse, of the Louisville and Marion Mining company, has rented the cottage residence of Mrs. Electa Frisbee, next to Harry Carnahan's, and will move to Marion at once, from Louisville.

We understand the Marion Lead Zinc & Fluor Spar company will start their wagons hauling carbonate in the near future. They are also figuring on opening up their mines at the Lone Rock.

Harry Watkins, the prince of good fellows, left Tuesday morning for the Worlds Fair. He was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Agnes, and two sons, Willie and Arthur. and together they will make a tour of the Great Exposition.

The Ky. Fluor Spar company have got their large boiler and pump in operation at the Brown and Ward shaft on the Tabb vein. Mr. John Taber, Supt. Reed's light bower, tells us that in a few days they will take out from 25 to 40 tons of fluor spar per day; 50 per cent of this will be grinding.

The lead and zinc seems to be getting stronger in the Senator mine this side of Princeton. This will be a good thing for Princeton as they have tried for a long time to get a paying mine in their district.

The Rosi Claire mines in Ills. are working a full force of men, and are mining from fifteen to twenty tons of spar per day. Mr. L. C. Garrett, of Paducah is trying to make a trade with them for all their mixed ores that have before been left in the mines. Mr. Garrett has the only successful machinery in this district that separates these kind of ores.

The Marion Zinc company are fixing up their Riley mine to the Queen's taste. This company is building pikes to the river and railroad for the purpose of hauling their ores. They are building a magnificent telephone line; beats anything in the district. Mr. Knight and Julius Fohs, his engineer, stayed at the mines the most of their time last week.

Albert F. Crider, of the U. S. "Geological Survey at Washington," who has been in Wisconsin on business connected with the department, is here to visit his relatives and friends. He came by way of St. Louis to visit the Fair. He will make some geological surveys in Henry county, this State, before returning to Wisconsin.

Our Carrsville correspondent says: "Leonard Brewster delivered two wagon loads of pumps and piping to the Schoolfield-Spees mines last Friday. The pumps they have been using are too small to rid the deep shaft of water, so President Schoolfield shipped larger ones. Zinc piping will be used to clear the shaft of smoke. The way things look now much vigorous work will be done at these mines."

GOLD IN LIVINGSTON COUNTY.

At a depth of 45 feet J. D. Threlkeld's gold shaft is yielding ore that shows by all available tests, and by indications that present themselves from time to time, that it is quite a paying proposition, and getting richer as depth is attained. We think J. D. has struck a bonanza. Any one who is interested or wishes to invest capital could not do better than give this prospect an investigation.

The first survey made for the "Tom Lanham" land and adjoining tracts, sold to Blue & Nunn revealed many errors in lines and corners, all of which had to be straightened out; after this was done and all the various tracts conveyed were thrown into one survey and it was run out, it was found to be nearer what the owners first thought. The figures have not yet been proven on the last survey, but it's believed it will run about 150 acres.

The water at Lucile has become so heavy an inflow that the management have concluded to shut down until they have provided an additional pump. They will put in one the same size of the big pump they now have and arrange that they may run one or both; as soon as they can do this they will at the present level continue their eastern slope to 50 feet or more, and at the same time continue sinking their shaft to 225 to 250 feet, making the deepest mine in the district. It is the fear of additional water they will encounter in renewed sinking that has decided action as to the pump at this time.

A GENERAL RESUME.

The Pogue mines, that belong to the Marion Mineral company, are still closed down.

The Asbridge mines is working full force and getting out some very fine spar.

The Ky. Fluor Spar company are fixing to put in a new steam plant at the Yandell mine and will work steam drills in their shaft; this is one of the oldest and best spar mines in this section.

The Wheatcroft mines are working every day.

Mr. Drescher tells us he will have his new tables in operation next week at the Columbia mine.

We understand Mr. Persons was down around Salem last week taking leases and options on mineral lands for the Louisville and Marion Mining Co.

The Maser-Little mine, on the Hayward farm, has closed down; for what cause we do not know.

The Ky. Fluor Spar company run their mill in Marion every day.

The report that Old Jim is shut down is a mistake; they are working every day.

Bob King has opened up a new vein on the Felix Cox place, and is getting out some very fine fluor spar.

The Holly vein on the Big Four mining companies' property is turning out very rich with lead.

They are retimbering the deep shaft at the Memphis mines, and when this is done they will commence sinking at once.

The Louisville and Marion mining company have started work on the Leander White place.

The washer at the Miller mines is running very satisfactory as long as the water lasts.

The Big Four mining company have purchased the machinery for their separating plant. They are working every day and the mines look very rich.

L. C. Garrett is running his mill in Paducah every day that he has ore to run it with, and will buy all the ore he can get, on river or rail.

The Lucile is closed down; Mr. Finley took the most of his miners to Illinois last Monday to operate the Pell mine.

Work is still going on at the Marion Beard place. Lead and zinc is showing up exceedingly well on this property. It is owned by Mr. Haurey and others of Marion.

J. M. Persons is taking out about fifteen tons of spar per day at the Ada Florence mine. He is making plans to put in machinery, washers, etc., for the purpose of cleaning his ore.

Rose Givens is taking out some very fine spar near the Ohio river.

Mr. William Lowery has discovered a very fine vein of fire clay on some of his property near New Salem.

FLUOR SPAR'S INDUSTRY'S SHOWING IN CENSUS.

That portion of a special report soon to be published by the Census Bureau, in which are statistics relating to the fluor spar industry, is of considerable interest to zinc producers, particularly those of Kentucky and Illinois. Probably the most striking feature of the section is that which shows the increase in production during the decade under consideration. The production advanced from 9,500 in 1889 to 48,818 tons in 1892, while the value increased from $45,818 to $275,682 in 1902. This tonnage was produced from twenty-two mines, of which 14 were located in Kentucky, 5 in Illinois, 2 in Arizona and one in Tennessee. What is significant is the fact that the Rosi Claire mines in Illinois were alone producing in 1889 and that during the 12 years under consideration the state's production increased from 9,500 tons to 18,860 tons, of which the major part was still produced by the McLean properties.

That the Kentucky-Illinois fields contain large deposits of fluor spar is generally known. A few years ago it was supposed that the Kentucky deposits, which opened up would flood the market and greatly reduce values. But instead, the demand has been steadily increasing, while the developments of the past few years indicate the ability of these two states to supply all the fluor spar needed for years to come. So far the greatest avenue of consumption of this mineral is in the steel manufacturing business, but there is reason to believe the mineral will be used in blast furnaces and the smelting of copper and other minerals, as well as in foundry work, especially as soon as its value for fluxing purposes is more generally understood.

It is claimed that in the manufacture of open hearth steel about eight pounds of fluor spar are consumed in the manufacture of each ton of steel, its province in the smelting being the elimination of the sulphur and phosphorus, in the different grades of iron. The peculiar property of fluor spar in reaching a temperature far above its surroundings renders it valuable in the open hearth furnace, the cupola of the foundryman or the blast furnace. In the smelting of other ores it is claimed that the addition of the fluor spar to the ordinary flux will reduce the lime stone and fuel accounts, and at the same time increase the production of the furnace, which is an item in furnaces of large capacity.

Its use in brass foundries will make the alloy more fluid and permit the use of scrap. Hundreds of tons of the higher grades of fluor spar is used in the manufacture of plate glass, or other forms requiring a clean and brilliant surface, while the hydro-fluoric acid manufacturers secure their fluor spar largely from the Marion field where several hundred men are at work in the mines and mills that crush and clean the marketable product.

The so called Marion field is located in Crittenden and Livingston counties, Ky., being today the largest fluor spar producing district in the country. There the form and occurrence of the ore bears marked resemblance to the Derbyshire and Cumberland districts of England, and the Freiberg district of Germany. Several large companies are engaged in the cleaning and marketing of the product, and their production has increased during each of the past five years. This year the production of fluor spar is to be the greatest in the history of that industry in the United States.—Mining Journal.

CORN CARNIVALS.

Celebrations to be Given by the Farmers in Kansas.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 1.—Encouraged by the improved condition of the Kansas corn crops, the people of a half dozen counties in the corn belt are preparing to give a great corn carnival, at which all manner of fun and frolic will be indulged in by the happy farmers and their town neighbors. At Bellville the people of Republic county will devote three days to the celebration and special trains will be run to take visitors from surrounding counties.

Out on the great plains in the extreme part of Western Kansas, where in years passed it was deemed useless to attempt to grow corn because of the drouth, wonderful cornfields surprise the travelers on railway trains.

In Sherman county many fields will produce forty bushels to the acre that heretofore only produced buffalo grass and sage brush. The season has been favorable, and travelers say the Great Western Kansas plains have been transformed into gardens of green.

The success of the corn carnival which Edward Howe conducted at Atchison for several years, has caused the people farther west to appropriately celebrate. These carnivals will be held in practically every county, from Atchison to the Colorado line.

ONE WAY TO SEE THE FAIR.

Scott Lentz, a well known farmer who lives near Utica, Indiana, went to St. Louis to see the fair, and before leaving sought the advice of a number of Jeffersonville friends on various questions. Officer Arthur Johnson was a playmate of Lentz, and while the latter was getting his information the two met and Lentz, after recalling the fact that the two were old chums, asked the patrolman to tell him how he could keep from being robbed.

Officer Johnson asked Lentz how much money he was going to take with him. Lentz said that he had figured out that $27 would carry him through but he would take about $50.

"Well, I'll tell you, said officer Johnson, it's dead easy to keep from being robbed in St. Louis. Just have every dollar you take with you changed into nickels, and if you should be plucked for a handful you wouldn't lose very much." Lentz was fascinated with the idea and visited many places, having his money broken. The last seen of him was at the depot just before the train left, when he asked Officer Charles Anderson if he could give him five nickels for a quarter, at the same time imparting the information that he had succeeded in getting two fives and a ten broken.

Very much to the surprise of Lentz's friends he returned to Jeffersonville early this morning, having left there Tuesday night, at 11 o'clock. He said he had spent $10.10 on the round trip, railroad fare and all, but did not get robbed. In looking over a bill of fare yesterday morning he thought everything was too high, and concluded to return home by the next train, which he did, after seeing the Fair a part of one day.—Louisville Times.

Emergency Medicines.

It is a great convenience to have at hand reliable remedies for use in cases of accident and for slight injuries and ailments. A good liniment and one that is fast becoming a favorite if not a household necessity is Chamberlain's Pain Balm. By applying it promptly to a cut, bruise or burn it allays the pain and causes the injury to heal in about one-third the time usually required, and as it is an antiseptic it prevents any danger of blood poisoning. When Pain Balm is kept at hand a sprain may be treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a quick recovery. For sale by Woods & Orme, Druggists.

DAVID B. HILL.

Ex-Senator Hill never did like Republicans. He has just played them a characteristic but infuriating trick by announcing his retirement from politics. He will not be Secretary of State in President Parker's cabinet. He will not be anything in public life after January 1st next, but he will content his soul with the honors of the private station, from which, he declares, nothing shall tempt him to depart.

This is a most distressing calamity for the Republican campaign managers. The Roosevelt organs after looking Judge Parker over, and finding him so sane and safe, they could make no use of him in the campaign, began vociferously to insist that David B. Hill would be his secretary of state if he were elected President. They would hear of no other name—Hill was the man and with shrieks and shivers they dwelt upon the disasters which would be certain to visit this republic if Mr. Hay had to give place to Mr. Hill. They held the ex-Senator aloft and brandished him in the face of the voters as the chief terrible example of what the Democratic victory was to bring forth. Right in the middle of the campaign he puts him to the trouble of finding some other bogey. Mr. Hill studies them and they abuse him heartily for it.—New York Times.

Must Get Off the Fence.

Louisville Times: Politicians are taking a keen interest as to what will be the position of John W. Yerkes in the present contest between Hunter and Edwards for the congressional nomination in the Eleventh district. It lies within the power of Mr. Yerkes to settle it either one way or the other, he being in absolute control of the State Central Committee.

It is known that at first Mr. Yerkes declared that he would keep "hands off," and would take no part in the wrangle. Since that time, however, both Dr. W. Godfrey Hunter and Richard P. Ernst, chairman of the State Central Committee, have had personal interviews with him. The organization in the Eleventh district and in the entire State has been threatened. It is difficult for politicians to understand how Mr. Yerkes can hold himself aloof now and it is predicted that he will be compelled to take a hand, even if he does not do so openly.

Sour Stomach.

When the quantity of food taken is too large or the quality too rich, sour stomach is likely to follow, and especially so if the digestion has been weakened by constipation. Eat slowly and not too freely of easily digested food. Masticate the food thoroughly. Let five hours elapse between meals, and when you feel a fullness and weight in the region of the stomach after eating take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and the sour stomach may be avoided. For sale by Woods & Orme.

Senator Clark the Grouse.

Missoula, Mont., Aug. 31.—United States Senator W. A. Clark was attacked on the streets here today by a man known as Joe Peg who thought the Senator had been breaking the game laws and was carrying a grouse in his pocket, and who threatened to take the Senator's life. Peg followed the Senator several blocks, persistently calling upon him to hand over the game.

Senator Clark ran panting into the lobby of the Florence hotel and demanded protection. He was sure Peg had a gun, for several times the latter had made motions to pull it and threatened to shoot unless the Senator would give up his game bird. Several persons sprang to his assistance and the man was overpowered. But Senator Clark held on to the grouse.

MUST GO SLOW.

Louisville Times: President Donnelly, in ordering a strike of the butchers employed in the independent packing plants, is giving evidence of a spirit that, if persisted in will cut off the members of the union of which he is president, from all claim either to sympathy or support, and the union can not do better than refuse to obey his orders. If the report is true that he intends to create a meat famine in order to injure the packers in the eyes of the public, which will be the first and greatest sufferer, his line of reasoning is as intelligent as the plan of cutting off an arm to cure a finger ache.

From 148 to 92 Pounds.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I ran down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." Sold by Woods & Orme.

Back With a Shotgun.

Cripple Creek, Col., Sept. 1.—Eugene Bagley, former Attorney General of Colorado, one of the men deported last Saturday by a mob, returned to this city today. He had walked over the hills from Cameron carrying a shotgun, and said he would protect himself to the best of his ability. He has not been molested.

Frank J. Hanks, attorney for the Western Federation of Miners who also was run out of the camp a week ago, has announced his intention of coming back. Sheriff Edward Bell says that he will endeavor to prevent any more deportations.

HAS GOOD LUCK.

Louisville Times: Thomas S. Jones returned to Louisville this morning after spending two weeks hunting and fishing in the Flambeau Indian reservation in Northern Wisconsin. He had good luck and told many interesting stories of his experiences with the big muskellunge, which is generally acknowledged to be the gamest and fiercest fish in the American waters.

Mr. Jones is probably the only Kentuckian who ever goes to the Flambeau Reservation. Owing to its inaccessibility and the wild nature of its surroundings, and the almost primitive manner in which the French and Indian half breeds who act as guides live, it is neglected except by a few hunters, who live in and near Chicago.

"The muskellunge," said Mr. Jones, "abound at this season in the Flambeau river. My two best catches were one weighing thirty one pounds and fifty six inches in length, and another seventeen inches in length. With the latter I had a fierce fight. I caught him with a four ounce rod, a rather delicate bit of tackle for so strong and fierce a fish, and when the time came, after a desperate struggle, to shoot him, the lock of the gun failed to work, and to save my reel and rod the guide had to knock him in the head with a club."

DIES OF HEAT.

Washington, Sept. 2.—Judge W. George Reilly, a well known character about town, whose familiar haunts were on newspaper row, died here today at the Washington asylum hospital from the effects of a heat stroke suffered some time ago. Hailing from Virginia he at various times held public office there and was a judge of the southern claims commission from that state. Twice he was United States consul to places in Venezuela, and also at one time was consul to Zanzibar, to which offices he was appointed by Republican presidents.

One of the stories told of him, but not authenticated, was that when filling the position of consul at Zanzibar he had shot the queen of the island with salt and pepper because she insisted on bathing in the garb of nature in front of the American consulate, each afternoon. It is said he was recalled for this act, but the state department records show that he resigned the Zanzibar consulate, after holding it a year, because of the death of a member of his family.

THE ARIZONA KICKER

For more than two years past Jim Watkins, the owner and editor of a daring of a weekly called the Lone Jack Recorder, has vilified and slandered us in almost every issue. A hundred times over our friends have asked why we paid any attention to his ebullitions, but we have gone our way and let him have full swing and been rather serious to see how far he would carry things.

Two weeks ago, determined to make us take notice of him, he devoted one full page to us, and we must admit it was rather racy reading. The picture he published over our names was that of an Ohio murderer, and in the so-called history he gave of us we counted up 210 lies, 184 slanders and 218 libels.

If we had had business at Lone Jack last week we should have visited the Recorder office and taken Brother Watkins by the nose and led him slowly up and down the street of his town, but we had matters to see to at home and paid no attention to his attack. This probably encouraged him to believe that we were afraid to move in the case, and that his chance had come to make a strike.

Notwithstanding that we were the insulted party, he sent us a challenge to fight a duel, and we understand that he made a bet of $10 that we would refuse to accept the honor. He had our answer within 10 minutes after his challenge had been received. The day was set for Wednesday last, and the place was at Johnson's ford. We were on the spot with our second 10 minutes before the hour named, and after we had been kept waiting a full hour a messenger brought word from Brother Watkins that as he had a boil on his leg, the affair must be postponed for two weeks.

Our action in the case might not have been strictly up to "code," but it was the best we could do under the circumstances. As the first move we took off our coat and gave the messenger a thumping he will remember to the end of the year and beyond. We did not wholop him because he bore the message, but because he grinned in a malicious way as he delivered it. Having finished with him, we mounted our cayuses and galloped into Lone Jack.

We hoped to find and surprise Brother Watkins and his boi, and we were not disappointed. He sat in his sanctum with a look of complacency on his face as he thought of us waiting at Johnson's ford for him. We entered his presence unannounced, and as we stood before him that look of complacency faded away into one of terror. He turned as white as flour, and his jaw dropped and his eyes rolled. The man he had so often characterized as villain, liar, cheat, swindler, robber, bunco-steerer and a hundred other things, stood before him, he couldn't make it out, but sat and stared and stared, and the Adam's apple in his throat moved up and down as if trying to find away out.

We remarked that we had the honor of addressing Jim Watkins, co-worker in the field of literature, but he only gurgled in reply.

We observed that we hoped to have the honor of meeting him at Johnson's ford two hours earlier, and had been considerably disappointed at his non-appearance, and he closed his eyes and groaned.

We made inquiry as to how he was getting along in a financial way, and whether the circulation of the Recorder had yet included the South Sea islands, but he didn't encourage us to pursue that particular vein of humor.

It being a hot day, we expressed a suspicion that Brother Watkins had been working his brain too much and was on the point of a collapse, and something like a faint smile chased itself across his face.

The foreman of the office, who appeared to be a very intelligent and fair minded man, entered the sanctum after a while and expressed the hope that we would not do no shooting before he had received the $14 back salary due him. We ascertained from him that Brother Watkins was a good husband and a fond father, and that his favorite drink was lemonade with a blackberry floating around in it. He further informed us that Brother Watkins had set out to become a new humorist in the Western field, and all that he had said about us in the last two years was in the way of a joke. Brother Watkins neither corroborated nor denied this, but looked out of the window in a longing way. He longed to be in Mexico.

After an hour of rather solid enjoyment we took Brother Watkins by the nose and lifted him up, and then we took him by the ear and led him out doors.

His wife and two children had appeared upon the scene, but they took our word for it that we didn't intend to deprive them of husband or father. We prominated Brother Watkins the length of Kyoto avenue and return, and we must do him the justice to say that he tried to keep step with us, and that he never once sought to release his ear from our first grasp. He had little or nothing to say during the promenade, but seemed to do a great deal of thinking.

His fellow townsmen naturally expressed considerable curiosity and interest in the affair, and we gratified them by giving them the particulars of the duel which didn't come off. Remarks of a red-hot nature were addressed ed to Brother Watkins on all sides, but it wasn't his day for talking. The promenade was concluded and his ear released after three-quarters of an hour, and we left him at the office and in the bosom of his family as we rode away.

We have nothing against Brother Watkins, and we wish him success in the editorial field. In a fatherly way, however, we might repeat the performance of the other day and go further, but on the other hand we might think it best to make a vacancy at the head of his editorial staff, and convince his widow and orphans that we had only done our duty in the case.

Preacher Goes Wrong.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 29.—The Rev. Mr. Thomas M. Meyers, of Corbin, Ky., has returned to his home after a week's absence well preserved by personal experience to deliver a powerful sermon on evils of intemperance. He came to Louisville about a week ago, and while on the train he was persuaded by friends to partake of some very fine wine. He drank too much, and, after reaching the city, he continued to imbibe. He registered as "T. Marion" at a hotel on Jefferson street and then disappeared, leaving a grip which was finally opened, and the contents gave the hotel keeper a clew as to the identity of his missing guest.

Relatives at Corbin were notified and the preacher's son proceeded to Louisville where he instituted a search for his father. The search was unavailing, but the Rev. Mr. Meyers reappeared of his own volition. He said that after he left the hotel he met some young men who bought him drinks and probably drugged him. He said he finally came to his senses, finding himself in a cornfield ten miles from Louisville. His money, about $7; his watch, worth $100 and his gold-headed cane, worth $40, were missing and his clothes were torn and disheveled.

TREES AS TIME MARKERS.

The tree marks the passage of the years.

1. By adding a grain of wood annually.
2. By an annual growth of leaves.
3. By annual Autumn buds.

Every observant woodman has noticed that the grains of wood record years of drouth, cold, years favorable and unfavorable to growth. The inner part of the tree is its most aged part. A large forest tree has changed its top many times. It started a tiny branchless seedling. The second year's growth entirely enveloped the first and each succeeding year enveloped all preceeding years—new top after new top forming after the tree grew taller. Watch the planks dropping from the log in a sawmill. The heart planks of the lower logs show tiny knots—these were the branches generations gone by. The top logs show larger knots because the tree has a larger top. Most branches begin at the heart of the tree and grow with each year of its growth. Note how when the tree has no longer use of the branch, it drops it and grows over the wound.

Consumption

The only kind of consumption to fear is "neglected consumption."

People are learning that consumption is a curable disease. It is neglected consumption that is so often incurable.

At the faintest suspicion of consumption get a bottle of Scott's Emulsion and begin regular doses.

The use of Scott's Emulsion at once, has, in thousands of cases, turned the balance in favor of health.

Neglected consumption does not exist where Scott's Emulsion is.

Prompt use of Scott's Emulsion checks the disease while it can be checked.

LOCAL POLITICANS

To Be Guests of Secretary Woodson And Will See The Next President.

The dry little town of Esopus, New York, will have an awakening in September. Alderman Gus G. Singleton and the Hon. W. Katterjohn will leave Paducah on the twentieth to see the Democratic candidate for president. They will be guests of Secretary Woodson at the Waldorf-Astoria, in New York City, for several days and will then go to Esopus in company with Mr. Woodson. It is needless to say that these two gentlemen will back Sheehan and Hill clear off the boards, while the natives of Esopus will look on in open-mouthed wonder. The citizens of Paducah have the utmost confidence in the ability of Messrs. Singleton and Katterjohn to make good, and if Judge Parker is elected the best that is going will be their portion.—Paducah News-Democrat.

JACOB'S LADDER.

[By O. G. W.]

O dream on thy couch of stone, What mental the vision strange? Can to and from thy pillow lone God's messengers thus range?

It may be true that in the past Thou found'st thy Bethel here. Our Bethel is creation vast; Our God is everywhere.

Our angels are each noble thought That e'er ascends above; Returning ones, the influence wrought On us by truth and love.

The ladder's rounds, the steps we take Up from the plains of time, Toward the life which we may make Perennial and sublime.

THOUSANDS OF CHIMNEY SWEEPS.

It is astonishing the number of black bats, or old fashioned chimney sweeps that can get into one chimney. They begin flying about at an hour before dark in the vicinity of the chimney where they spend the night, and they continue to go round and round for awhile when they make a turn and go the other way, all the time getting lower and lower until they get low enough to begin falling into the chimney.

Then they fall in like grain out of a hopper until the last one is safely housed.

They have a certain place in every town where they roost. In Mayfield the place selected is the chimney at the Christian church and we are safe in saying that there are between five and ten thousand that fall into that chimney every evening during this time of the year. It is an interesting sight to see them fall in as the shades of night come on.—Mayfield Messenger.

MURDER MYSTERY SOLVED.

St. Louis Aug. 30.—In the death of a woman at the City Hospital on June 11, last, a murder mystery of long standing in Elizabethtown, Ill. has probably been solved. A written confession, which the woman is purported to have made before her death was made public Thursday in Golconda, Ill.

The woman, who is said to have made the anti-mortum confession, was Mrs. Mary Sophia Ledbetter, and lived for several months at 1233 Chouteau avenue in this city. On Sunday, June 5, last she was taken to the City Hospital for an operation on an abscess as she died six days later.

The mystery which Mrs. Ledbetter is said to have cleared is that of the death of Dr. Newton Fowler, of Elizabethtown Ill., which occurred over nine years ago. On a winter's evening Dr. Fowler was found with his skull crushed against a brick wall.

The small village was aroused by what they considered a cold-blooded murder. Numerous clues were run down. People who had heard screams emanating from the alley where the physician was found dead, were located. Theories were developed until suspicion finally rested on James A. Kirkham, a saloon-keeper there and a former husband of Mrs. Ledbetter.

Kirkham was indicted for the crime and at the February term, 1895, of the Hardin county court was convicted and given a sentence of fifteen years in the penitentiary at Chester. After serving a few months of the sentence he was pardoned by Governor Tanner.

According to the statement which Mrs. Ledbetter is said to have made she sat at the trial and allowed her husband to be punished for a crime for which he had nothing to do with and which she could have cleared had she chosen to talk. As it was she allowed convicted and serve a portion of sentence without raising her half.

Mrs. Ledbetter was a third husband, John J. Ledbetter has left the death and is now work Holcomb, Mo.

It will be remembered of the Press that the row escaped from violence, by L. H. James and Ollie succeeded in getting him off teen year sentence.

Eugene Beard met with a painful accident last Tuesday by letting his foot come in contact with a circular saw, which proceeded to demolish his pedal extremity. It first took a slice to the bone off the heel then across his foot at the instep almost severing it and finally cut off a toe or two. The wounds were frightful and Drs. Shively and Dixon of this city and Moreland of Ford's Ferry were called to attend him and it is hoped that by careful attention and totally abstaining from using the member it may be saved unless blood poison sets up.

We desire to tender our thanks to the friends that were so loving and kind to us in the sickness, death and burial of our darling wife and daughter Melville. May we all live so that when the summons comes to us we may meet her in that realm of glory where there will be no more parting, sickness nor death.

Tekopple & Thayer the expert concrete pavement men of Evansville are in the city at work at the E. J. Hayward residence. They are putting floors in the basement and walks all around the place. Their work in Marion shows for itself and is as good as is ever seen any where.

Mr. L. A. Horn District Manager of the National Cash Register Co., Ltd. 225 and 227, Tottenham Court Rd London W., and wife were in the city several days last week the guests of his parents Judge and Mrs. A. M. Hearin. He left Monday for Madisonville to visit his grandmother. After spending a few days with her they will go via the World's Fair to Chicago and then on to New York from whence they take passage for Liverpool. They are due in London Oct. 1st.

Sam Gugenheim and W. Yandell left for St. Louis yesterday to buy their fall and winter stock of goods. They will purchase one of the largest and most complete line of dry goods ever brought to the city. The Yandell Gugenheim Co., is one of the oldest firms in the country and they spare no pains in selecting such goods as will please the people, both as to quality and prices. We would advise the readers of the Press to call and see their immense stock of dry goods, clothing, shoes etc., and whether you buy or not these gentlemen will take pleasure in showing you their goods.

SCHOOL BEGINS

and Patrons.

To the Pupils and Patrons of Marion Graded School:
School begins next Monday morning at 8:45 in the The school begins its Eleventh session with the bright has ever known. A splendid past to help us, a united stituency, a rapid growing city, a splendid non-resi coming, a school sentiment rarely known in the 'State' thousand dollar addition ready Dec. 15th surely it is in this, "brightest year yet."

But it is our business to see that education in this grow to "more and more." The things have made for of the past:

Patrons have put their children into school the f As patrons in truth you have kept them there. RO dance is the GREAT LAW OF SCHOOL SU You have not been carping critics, but you have silent supporters. A sneer at the school a breakfast table has ruined for many a boy and a whole year of training.

You talk school at home and abroad, you support your votes and money. These influences from the patrons are reflected in pupils.

The pupils of the school work, nothing doubting, The pupils realize in every way that school work one business now of their lives.

They know and admit that Marion School building n only place of honor for the boy or girl of Mar school age and who could attend.

They are too aspiring and sensible to think they done their duty entire, by graduating in the mon School merely and so go on to High S and College.

If these principles have made us known as the best ter in the State for our size, then let us cleave unto them lives. The teachers pledge their all to build with care u tried foundation stones of Progress, Happiness, Work and With the School's motto: "Nothing too Good for the School," upon our lips, let us move up to the good things t those who build carefully, earnestly and morally for their All friends are invited to our opening Monday morning

MARRIAGES.
Mr. James H. Agee and Miss Alma Crayne were united in marriage Sunday morning at the residence of the officiating minister, Rev. J. A. Hunt, with a number of their friends witnessing the ceremony. The bridegroom is a well-known farmer of the Piney county and the bride a popular young lady of the same locality, and a daughter of the late M. N. Crayne.

Mr. O. S. Denny and Miss Lockye Jewell Thompson, both of Carrsville Livingston county, came to this city late Saturday evening, rang up County Clerk Ed Weldon, who had retired, and procured from him a licence authorizing the two to wed. After procuring the papers they left for Sturgis where, according to arrangement, the marriage ceremony was to be performed.

A GOOD WOMAN DIES.

Mrs. Mary Collins, one of the old citizens of the town, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sallie Brewster, Wednesday morning about 10 o'clock. She has been in failing health for more than a year, and for some time it was known that the end was not far away. Mrs. Collins was left a widow many years ago, her first husband, Goodloe, leaving her with a family. She afterwards married Dr. Collins, and he, too, has been dead many years. Mrs. Collins was about seventy-five years of age, has resided in Madisonville, the greater part of her life. She had been a consistent member of the Christian church for half a century. Her son, James Goodloe, of Marion, was also with her at the time of her death. The funeral took place at the residence of Mrs. Brewster, after which the body was laid to rest.—Madisonville Hustler.

A DELIBERATE SUICIDE.

Indianola, Miss., Aug.—One of the most determined and deliberate suicides ever known in the South occurred here when Dr. D. G. Harris, a widely known physician, killed himself by severing the main artery in his thigh. Dr. Harris first tried to cut his throat but finding difficulty in locating the jugular vein he made several deep gashes in his left arm without effect. He then rolled up his trousers and deliberately covered the large artery in his thigh, and death resulted quickly from loss of blood.

No Need to Move.

Near the close of the civil war Gen. Grant found it necessary to take a short railroad trip, accompanied by his staff. His aide bus tied into the carriage in which the general intended to ride to see that the required number of seats were vacant.

He saw that Grant and the staff could sit together if an old man who was a passenger on the train, consented to move forward. Approaching the old man the aid asked:

"Would you mind moving forward, so that Gen. Grant and his staff can sit here?"

"There is no need for me to move," replied the old man, "the general can sit beside me and hang his staff out of the window."

A DISASTROUS FIGHT,

Tazewell, Va., Aug. 31.—Information reaches town of a most disastrous battle last night between the Whitakers and Altizers at their home on Indian creek, on the border of West Virginia 15 miles north of Tazewell.

As a result of the fight Noah Altizer is dead, Lee Whitaker seriously injured, Bill Whitaker shot through the thigh with the chances of his recovery very meager, and John Stanton, an adherent of the Altizers, seriously wounded.

The trouble occurred at a meeting of the Hardshell Baptists and Seventh Day Adventists, with whom the Whitakers and Altizers are affiliated.

The services were in progress when some one fired a shot, and a general fusillade begun with the result named. The Whitakers and Altizers have been enemies for thirty years.

KILLED TWENTY JAPS.

Cheefoc, Aug. 31.—The last issue received here of the Novi Kral, the official organ at Port Arthur, contains an article warmly praising the conduct of Capt. Letsdoff, commanding the marines at Zaredontui, who stood on top of a wall, his revolver in one hand and his sword in the other, and killed or wounded twenty odd Japanese who, mounting on the shoulders of their comrades, attempted to scale the wall. When the Japanese were repulsed the Captain sat down and was wiping the perspiration from his face when a Shrapnel shell tore his body to pieces.

LIVER TROUBLES

"I find Thedford's Black-Draught a good medicine for liver disease. It cured me on after he had spent $100 with doctors. It is all the medicine I take."—MR. A. OLIN, MARTIN, Fatchsburg, W. Va.

If your liver does not act regularly go to your druggist and secure a package of Thedford's Black-Draught and take a dose tonight. This great family medicine frees the constipated bowels, stirs up the torpid liver and causes a healthy secretion of bile. Thedford's Black-Draught will cleanse the bowels of impurities and strengthen the kidneys. A torpid liver invites colds, biliousness, chills and fever and all manner of sickness and contagion. Weak kidneys result in Bright's disease which claims as many victims as consumption. A 25-cent package of Thedford's Black-Draught should always be kept in the house.

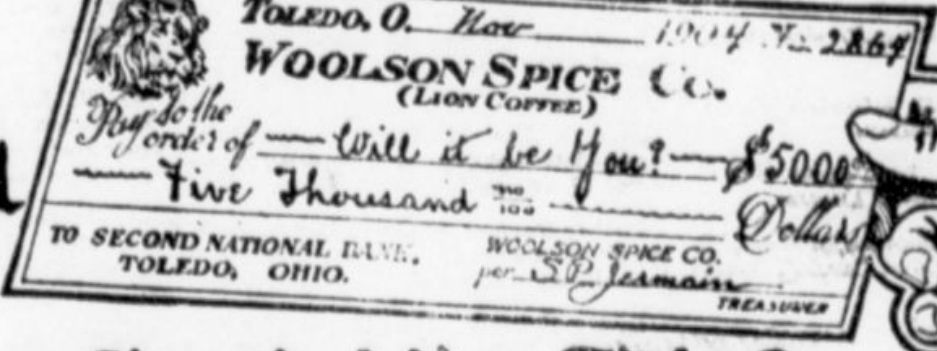

"I used Thedford's Black-Draught for liver and kidney complaints and found nothing to equal it."—WILLIAM COFFMAN, Marshfield, Ill.

TEN CONGRESSMEN.

Louisville Times: Representative James N. Kehoe of the Ninth Congressional district who is Kentucky's representative on the Democratic Congressional Committee, has reported that Kentucky will elect ten Democratic members this fall and will give Judge Parker an overwhelming vote.

He has furnished Chairman W. G. Cowherd with facts concerning the situation in each congressional district in the state. He figures every district safely democratic except the Eleventh, and has reported to Chairman Cowherd that the Republican vote in that district this fall will be cut down materially.

Mr. Kehoe has also predicted an increased Democratic majority in the State, and believes that the vote for Parker and Davis will reach a majority of 40,000.

Mr. Kehoe is a clear headed and capable politician, and is carrying on his duties systematically, and in a manner which will bring results. He has shown a disposition and desire to aid the Democrats in every section of the State where work should be done. He says he will see that Kentucky gets her quota of the speakers assigned by the committee and wants to see the State do herself proud in the coming election.

Mr. Kehoe is directing the work from his home in Maysville.

Senator Davis' Son Very Ill.

Elkins, West Va., Aug. 30.—John T. Davis, only son of democratic vice presidential nominee, is a patient in Davis Memorial Hospital. He was today brought from New York, suffering with typhoid fever. The hospital physicians tonight announce him as a dangerously sick man. Senator Davis is very much worried, the death of his wife and daughter, Mrs. Brown, in 1892, being due to the same disease.

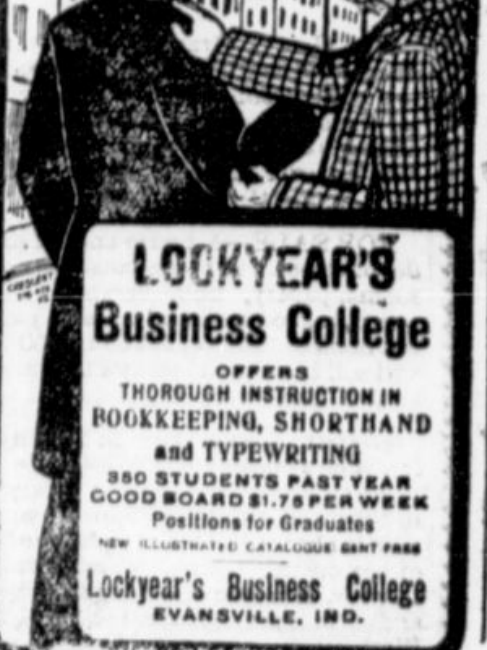

MR. BRYAN.

New York, Aug. 31.—Secretary Urey Woodson, of the Democratic National Committee, has received a letter from William J. Bryan, in which Mr. Bryan says he will be at the disposal of the Democratic committee for campaign purposes during the month of October. Mr. Bryan indicates that he would prefer speaking in the West, mostly in Indiana. Chairman Taggart says that the committee has not yet taken up the subject of Mr. Bryan's itinerary, and it is not yet known whether he will speak in the Eastern states although there have been several requests from different localities that if Mr. Bryan enters the campaign he should make one or two speeches in Connecticut and New York.

College Life Elevates Ideals,

If the college never did anything else but show a youth that there is something better in life than mere money-making and the pursuit of a sordid aim—something better than the rush for the almighty dollar—it would justify its existence a thousand times over.

Many a youth has entered college whose absorbing ambition was to amass a fortune; but, as his mental horizon has broadened and his powers have expanded he has felt a new aspiration develop within him—a desire to make the most of himself—a longing to help humanity, to lift the burden from the oppressed; or else he has developed a literary taste undreamed of before and longs to add some thing to the treasury of the mind.

The history of the college as a turning-point in careers would, if truly written, read like a romance. Many a low, sordid aim has gradually given way to nobler and loftier ambition, until the mere money making pursuit which seemed all important at the time of entering college, is considered worthless; and, instead of money making millionaires, many college graduates have been millionaires of character, of helpfulness, of noble deeds.

A college course, if faithfully pursued, helps a youth to realize his possibilities. It develops faculties which he never dreamed he possessed, when he entered, for the simple reason that his previous training had not called these faculties into activity.

Some of our greatest judges, brightest lawyers, best physicians and most eminent writers started for college without the slightest idea of possessing any special ability in the lines in which they have since become famous.

Every youth owes it to his Maker, and to himself, to develop his God-given faculties to their utmost extent.

As well might a rosebud refuse to open its fragrance upon the world on the plea that there is more to be gained by remaining undeveloped, as for a youth to refuse to cultivate his powers, to unfold his possibilities by a liberal training, simply because it would take time from a money making career.

Development is the great law of creation. We have no right to hide our national faculties. It is a duty of our being—to unfold our possibilities, our energy, our faculties to the utmost, no matter what vocation we may follow.

Does it mean nothing to a farmer to uncover the mysteries of growth, to know the magical combinations of the chemistry of the soil, to be familiar with nature's methods of developing crops? Is it worth nothing to him to be able to see the glory in the grass, and to read the handwriting of the Creator in the rocks? Is it worth nothing to him to be able, like Agassiz, to interest himself for hours with a grain of sand, because it contains the very mysteries of God Himself—to be able to read sermons in stone, books in the running brook, and God in everything? Is it worth nothing to a farmer to be able to know the composition of the rain bow, the secret of the esthetical works of God—to realize that the best part of the farm—the landscape—is not contained in the title deed? Is it worth nothing to him to be able to analyze the wild flowers in his meadows, to interpret the song of the lark and the habits of the nightingale? A liberal education even for a farmer often makes all the difference between the delights of Paradise and the monotony of drudgery.

If a liberal education did nothing else but to take the drudgery out of life, by helping us to see glory in toil, and only enable us to be artists instead of artisans,—to attain superiority instead of having to be satisfied with mediocrity—to see the uncommon in the common,—it would pay us handsomely to secure it.

There is no honest calling so humble that it may be raised a thousand fold by unfolding one's natural faculties. For example how much more a machinist sees in the price of iron or steel he works upon than does a man who knows nothing of its chemistry composition, or possibilities. His educated mind sees possibilities in the molecules of the bar; he knows of their motion, while the other man sees only a dead mass which he thinks would not interest any one. The former understands the law of force, attraction, repulsion, adhesion, and cohesion; the properties of the molecules in various metals are to him sources of entertainment and pleasure, while the other man understands nothing of the chemical ingredients or natural philosophy of the bar, and stares at it blankly, without interest.—Kentucky Journal.

A People With Tails

A German traveler claims to have discovered in the forests of Borneo a people who still wear the tail of our primitive ancestors. He does not write from hearsay. He has seen the tail, says the London Chronicle. It belonged to a child, about six years old, sprung from the tribe of Peonans. As nobody could speak the Peonan language the youngster could not be questioned, but there was his tail, sure enough, not very long, but flexible, hairless and about the thickness of one's little finger. The Peonans are reported to be very simple, honest folk, with a child like system of barter. They deposit in the public places the goods they wish to exchange, and a few days later they find there the equivalent they desire. Nobody dreams of stealing. This is almost as remarkable as the vestige of the ancestral tail.

Tragedy Averted.

"Just in the nick of time" our little boy was saved," writes Mrs. W. Watkins of Pleasant City, Ohio. "Pneumonia had played sad havoc. With him and a terrible cough set in besides. Doctors treated him, but he grew worse every day. At length we tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and our darling was saved. He's now sound and well." Everybody ought to know, it's the only sure cure for Coughs, Colds and all Lung diseases. Guaranteed by Woods & Orme, Druggists. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

RACE WAR

Henderson, Ky., Sept. 1.—A lively race war occurred here between fifteen or twenty white boys and fifty or sixty negroes, in which rocks and pistols were used. Nancy Thompson, an aged negro, was shot in the head. No negroes are allowed in Audubon, the cotton mill suburb of this place. This has caused bad feeling among the negroes and they determined to get even, so they gathered their forces on Powell street. The white boys attempted to disperse them. The police interfered in time to prevent further bloodshed. As it was, a dozen heads were cracked before the belligerents could be parted.

A Power For Good.

The pills that are potent in their action and pleasant in effect are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. W. S. Philpot, of Albany, Ga., says: "During a bilious attack I took one. Small as it was it did me more good than calomel, blue mass or any other pill I ever took and at the same time the effect was pleasant. Little Early Risers are certainly an ideal pill." Sold by Woods & Orme, Druggists.

Announcement is made semi-officially by members of the World's Fair management that the $1,000,000 loan applied for more than a month ago, to be used in case of emergency, will not be needed. It is stated that the revenue to the World's Fair has exceeded expectations, and the total daily receipts, in round numbers, amount to about $75,000.

According to the statement of President Francois, the cost of maintaining and operating the Exposition, including the Government loan payment, is $65,000 a day, in which event, based upon the conservative estimate, the Exposition has a net revenue of $10,000 a day.

Kentucky News.

Lang Bros. Druggists, Paducah, Ky., write: "We sell more of Dr. Mendenhall's Chill and Fever Cure than all other remedies combined, having retailed over 700 bottles in one season. The physicians here prescribe it and persons who use it once will have no other." Children like it.

A Match Betrayed Him,

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 2.—The home of Joseph T. Carew, millionaire merchant, has been robbed of jewelry to the value of thousands of dollars. The robbery was unknown to the police or even to Mr Carew, when railroad detective Tom Hart, of the C. & H. and D., at 2 o'clock this morning battled with and overcame a man whom the flame of a match had betrayed in hiding in a freight car at Ivory
