SALES AND TRANSFERS OF THE WEEK.

ACCORDING TO A BULLETIN recently issued by the United States Geological Survey the number of producers of fluor spar in 1902 was 18, the number who reported production 1903 was 12. These included 1 in Arizona, 4 in Illinois, 6 in Kentucky and 1 in Tennessee. There were 3 producers in Kentucky, 1 in Arizona and 1 in Illinois who reported production in 1902, but none in 1903. Kentucky's production, valued at $153,960, was nearly three times as much as that of all other states. It showed an increase of $10,550 in value over the production of 1902, which was due to an increased production of ground fluor spar. Illinois, Arizona and Tennessee, on the other hand, showed a marked falling off in production. Besides the 12 producers of fluor spar, there were 5 companies in Kentucky and 1 in Illinois that were developing fluor spar properties in 1903 and expect to be producers of this mineral in 1904.

THE REED MINING COMPANY issues their first annual report this week. It says that up to the first of May last, considerable prospecting on the 123 acres of land was carried forward and some ore shipped. Within the past few weeks an offer has been received by this company from one of the largest industrial enterprises in America to purchase from 6000 to 10000 tons yearly of a semi ore material that was uncovered in what is known as shaft No. 8, so called from being located on lot 8 just in the rear of the old Blick house. This material is of a very dark color and carries considerable iron and sulphur with possibly a small percentage of manganese. The base of it seems to be a shale, yet, whatever it may be, it has been thoroughly sampled and enough of it forwarded to decide the purchasers as to its value and they have made their offer accordingly. The price per ton, while not extravagantly high, should with good, economical moving, be enough to afford the Reed Mining Co. a handsome profit. The report mentioned states that at the present market price of the building lots and mining shares, two dollars per ton profit on this material will pay an annual dividend of 40 per cent on the investment, based upon the shipment of 5000 tons per annum. This product will have to be shoveled up, dried, crushed and passed through a 20 mesh screen before loading. As the whole material is taken and no sorting required a side track can be run over into the property at small expense and the transportation very greatly lessened although teams can easily make eight round trips to the freight cars at the depot daily. An addition to our already large output of 5,000 to 10,000 tons per year will be of very great advantage to this city.

The report says that not a dollar of debt exists on the property and that something over $4,000 is still to be paid over to the Company from the sale of lots and shares in the Reed addition which is due as fast as sales are made and the money received.

The cost of the crushers, screens, power, etc., is estimated at $3500. One hundred and thirty-one building lots have already been sold and paid for in this addition, the average price being in the vicinity of $50 each. Each lot carries a certificate of 1000 shares of stock in the Reed Mining Company. The price has been advanced to $75 and with the present outlook a great many will be disposed of during the present month. The prospect for the future certainly looks most encouraging.

THE LUCILE MINE has recently been given a thorough investigation by old man Uren. While no intimation has been given out as to the results of his work, it may be inferred that the report will be very satisfactory to the Lucile company as arrangements for a more extensive pumping system are being made and a corps of miners will be employed sufficient to carry out the recommendations of Mr. Uren. The Lucile has one of the deepest shafts in the district, considerably more than 200 feet and has shown almost from the surface every indication of a great body of ore somewhere in the depth. The mine will be closed down until the large pump and other machinery arrives when active work will again be resumed and pressed night and day.

THIRTY-FIVE wagons were hauling clay from the Stevens' mine at Salem to the rail road in this city all of the week. It is quite probable that this number will be more than doubled and that the required amount for the Western Tube Company at Kewanee, Ill., will be delivered before the bad road season opens. Mr. Bush, of Smithland, has the work in charge again this season and fire clay to burn will be met with in an unbroken line of wagons between Marion and Salem (12 miles) making the road less picturesque but decidedly more dusty.

THE NEW ERA, of Hopkinsville, has rather a sensational account of the unearthing of an unknown vein of coal at Nortonville only six feet underneath number 9 which was being worked. That paper says that Prof. Norwood, the State Geologist, was telegraphed for and his decision was anxiously awaited. Ordinarily a vein of coal asserts itself sufficiently to indicate that it is coal and most coal miners would certainly know what it was. We are informed by one of the best posted coal men in Hopkins county that this was simply a discovery of "hot air," the new vein of coal being entirely in the minds of the finders.

AMONG our mining men visiting various portions of the Illinois field this week are Messrs. L. W. Cruce, Geo. P. Roberts and L. W. Ring.

THE SALES in the Joplin, Mo., district for the seven months ended July 31 were 307,333,230 pounds of lead ore, valued in all at $6,126,595.

MCFEE AND DOLLAR prospects on the Will Davidson's place near Levas are very much improved. It now looks like a mighty good proposition. This property is an extension of the Charlie Larue vein recently opened.

THE COLUMBIA SHAFT is being deepened. It is intended to run the third level at 260 feet. At the present time Mr. Drescher is keeping the concentrating plant fully supplied with ore and the shipment of zinc and lead are very regular.

M. F. MCGRAW, of Toledo, Ohio, and Louisville, Ky., arrived here on Saturday last and is visiting Dr. Harry Watkins. He will likely purchase considerable mining property from Lawrence Cruce and possibly some of Mr. Person's holdings.

CHARLES H. ELLIS, of Calhoun, Ky., is reported to be organizing a bank at Morganfield, Ky., capital $25,000. John M. Crowe will, it is stated, be the president, and Mr. Ellis the cashier. It will be a national bank, and is to begin business November 1.

THE MARION BEARD property which is being prospected under the direction of that very successful ore finder, Joel Farmer, is showing very beautiful zinc and lead ore. It is understood that the second vein has been tapped and is really stronger in value than the first.

THE MARION MINERAL Co. are mining a very high grade fluor spar on their last year's purchased property in Illinois. Their shipping point is Equality, Ill., on the B. & O. S. W. railroad. The price paid for hauling between the mine and railroad it is stated, is $2.25 per ton.

W. C. UREN, of the "Old Jim" mine left on Tuesday for a month's visit to the St. Louis Fair. The RECORD will very likely publish Mr. Uren's impressions of our Crittenden and Livingston counties' mineral exhibit as compared with other countries and other portions of this country. Our readers will understand fully the advances we have made in the past two years after reading his letters.

THE KENTUCKY MIDLAND Railroad Co., has been incorporated to build a line from Central City to Madisonville, 26 miles. This is probably the line reported as being backed by the Oregon Coal Co., which has holdings near Earles Postoffice, five miles from Madisonville, a survey for the road having been completed. The directors are as follows: P. J. and R. J. Jennings, Ed. Tranholmes, B. E. Wood and J. Erb.

ARTICLES of incorporation were filed at Hopkinsville for the Giles Creek Mining Company. The incorporators are County Clerk John P. Prowse, Circuit Judge Thomas P. Cook, County Judge W. T. Fowler and Deputy Sheriff T. J. Tate. The capital stock is $5,000, divided into shares of $100 each. The company reserves the right to increase this to $20,000 should occasion demand. The company is formed for the purpose of mining lead, zinc, fluor spar and other minerals, and for refining and disposing of same. The mines will be located on Giles Creek, about four miles from that city on the Greenville road.

PROF. H. FOSTER BAIN, of the United States Geological Survey accompanied by A. Foster Crider, who has been associated with the survey work for two years or more spent several days this week investigating several difficult geological problems in this district. Their decision will be very apt to cause deeper sinking on several of the important prospects in our near vicinity.

THE FLUOR SPAR output of the Kentucky Fluor Spar Co., is estimated as follows: Yandell mine 20 tons, Tabb 20, Tabor 20, Wheatcroft 6, Ashbridge 40, Memphis 20, Brown 20, and several less important producing properties making an aggregate of some 175 tons every week day during the mining season. A portion of the output is held as a reserve at their three shipping points, Marion, Craneyville and Mexico on the I. C. railroad.

LAWRENCE W. CRUCE sold on Tuesday to Miller & Company, of Evansville, Ind., one of the most productive lead properties in Southern Illinois. The mine is situated near Cave-in-rock and has already in the ore house fully 60 tons of high grade lead ore that should bring at the present market price fully $3000.00. The Miller Company will at once commence work in mining, shipping and erecting a reverberatory furnace for putting the lead ore into metal. Consideration $15,000.00.

J. R. FINLEY, Secretary of the Lucile Mining Company, of this city, is inspecting the Pell mine which is near Elizabethtown, Ill. It is supposed that the Lucile people are lack of this movement. The Pell property consists of about 150 acres in fee simple, a shaft nearly 100 feet in depth and a first-class Joplin type of separating mill capable of handling 50 tons of ore daily. It is stated that the lead and zinc ore pay streak is fully three feet wide at 65 feet depth at which point this vein dipped out of the shaft. If the statements about the Pell mine are corroborated a great big producing zinc, lead and fluor spar shipper will be added to the Illinois district.

WILL LOWERY, of Salem, who has had the lay of the land down pat ever since he was old enough to distinguish fluor spar from oak lumber has a shaft some sixty feet in depth on the T. J. Babb property near Salem. At twenty feet John Harpending reports one of the strongest veins of zinc blende and carbonate of zinc ever uncovered in the district. At 60 feet this heavy vein of ore has widened out to fully seven feet. Mr. Lowery has just completed for a foreign corporation an option for 1000 acres of mining property scattered throughout the entire district and what is a little remarkable, he shows good ore on every tract of land.

THE JOPLIN MARKET for last week was strong and buoyant. Lead ore advanced $1.50 per ton, zinc selling at $40.

Our private Joplin advices say: "The mines are not outputting as much ore as is needed by the smelters drawing their supply from this territory. The demand for experienced miners in this district is increasing every week, and many mine operators are having considerable difficulty in securing enough men in the ground to keep their mills supplied with dirt. Good wages are being paid but the demand for men is greater than the supply. Every experienced miner in the district who wants work is employed. This condition is brought about by the increased prospecting and the putting on of extra shifts by many of the larger companies. Many mines that have been idle for some time on account of water or other reasons are being put in operation. This is due to the continued good price of ore."

DARK TOBACCO

Should be Fire Cured and Tied in Small Hands For The English Market.

SUBSTITUTE FOR BURLEY NOT NEEDED.

This season the tobacco growers of this section should fire their tobacco and prepare it for the English market. The crop of barley seems to be full and very likely there will be a sufficient amount of it to meet all demands, hence it is not likely that there will be any demand for air cured dark tobacco.

Formerly, to prepare tobacco for the English market meant in stripping from the stalk to tie it in as large hands as possible. It was then sold to the local buyers who stemmed it and prized the strips ready to ship abroad. In the last few years great quantities of dark tobacco have been shipped to England in this manner, the English people using the dark product, while the air cured and barley products are chiefly in demand on the home market.

However, the English government through the eyes of Joseph Chamberlain perceiving of the amount of labor necessary to stem the immense amount of tobacco there and what the work would mean to the laboring class of parts of England, a budget was prepared and approved by the House of Commons which placed an additional revenue of 6 cents per pound on strips. Among other things this was doubtless one reason why the offerings for dark tobacco prepared for the strip market was lower last season since to be shipped abroad in the leaf and hand it would have to be rehandled. So this crop of the dark tobacco will be wanted by the English buyers to ship abroad in the leaf. To prepare the growing crop so as to command the best prices on this market, the crop should be allowed to ripen well in the field before cutting. After it is cut it should be allowed to begin to yellow and then fired. Then in stripping it from the stalk, assort it well and tie it up in small, smooth hands. Thus it can be handled, prized and shipped abroad without retying.

The revenue placed on strips by the English government attains the end they have in view and unless it is removed, which is not likely in the near future, there will be no tobacco brought here for strips but it will all be shipped abroad in small hands and the stemming will be done by laborers in England.

Walter Walker.

Walter Walker has sold his interest in The Grand Junction (Col.) Herald, to his partner, H. E. Frost.

The Herald says: "In the six months that Mr. Walker has been associated with the writer we have found him congenial and willing to do his part in the arduous duties of the office. He is an indefatigable worker, a versatile writer, and far above the average newspaper man in comprehending the manifold duties and details of journalistic work. We have no hesitation in saying that Mr. Walker has a bright future before him if he desires to follow his chosen calling. For the present he will go out in the country where he can continuously have outdoor exercise."

SCHOOL BEGINS NEXT MONDAY

The Eleventh Session Has The Brightest Outlook The School Has Ever Known—Five Thousand Dollar Addition Will be Ready December Fifteenth.

REMARKS BY MR. EVANS TO PUPILS AND PATRONS

To the Pupils and Patrons of Marion Graded School:

School begins next Monday morning at 8:45 in the School Hall. The school begins its Eleventh session with the brightest outlook it has ever known. A splendid past to help us, a united and loyal constituency, a rapid growing city, a splendid non-resident attendance coming, a school sentiment rarely known in the State, and the five thousand dollar addition ready Dec. 15th surely it is not a bad phrase this, "brightest year yet."

But it is our business to see that education in this vicinity shall grow to "more and more." The things have made for the strength of the past:

Patrons have put their children into school the first day. As patrons in truth you have kept them there. Attendance is the GREAT LAW OF SCHOOL SUCCESS. You have not been carping critics, but you have been silent supporters. A sneer at the school at the breakfast table has ruined for many a boy and girl a whole year of training. You talk school at home and abroad, you support it with your votes and money. These influences from the patrons are reflected in the pupils. The pupils at the school work, nothing doubting. The pupils realize in every way that school work is the one business now of their lives. They know and admit that Marion School building is the only place of honor for the boy or girl of Marion of school age and who could attend. They are too aspiring and sensible to think they have done their duty entire, by graduating in the Common School merely and so go on to High School and College.

If these principles have made us known as the best school center in the State for our size, then let us cleave unto them with our lives. The teachers pledge their all to build with care upon our tried foundation stones of Progress, Happiness, Work and Morality. With the School's motto: "Nothing too Good for the Common School," upon our lips, let us move up to the good things that await those who build carefully, earnestly and morally for their children. All friends are invited to our opening Monday morning.

NATIONAL ELECTION!

A SLIM CHANCE FOR PARKER AND DAVIS!

"Before the presidential campaign is begun, it is possible to tell how many votes in the electoral college each party is sure of. Some states are safely Republican, others safely Democratic. They never change. In others, the independent voter thrives."

The above statement sent out from New York and accompanied with the figures below is being used by the Democratic party to explain how they have a good chance to elect Parker and Davis:

Thus it stands that if Roosevelt can carry Illinois, Indiana and one other debatable state, he will be pretty apt to be elected, or if he carries Indiana and Wisconsin he will likely win in enough of the smaller debatable states to elect him.

WHAT PARKER MUST DO.

On the other side, Parker must carry New York, Wisconsin, West Virginia and Indiana or their equivalent. He must carry both the east and the west. If he should carry New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and West Virginia in the east, he would lack 12 votes, unless he carried some of the Western States. If he should lose all those and carry Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin he would lack votes.

The issue of both parties were made to suit the debatable states, and while the Republicans have slightly the best of it, the fight is an open one.

In assigning the different states to the different columns, the experience of previous presidential years has been the guide. Only where a state has been overwhelmingly and persistently Democratic or Republican has it been assigned arbitrarily to either column.

Of the above doubtful states all have gone Republican except two, Utah and Colorado, for the last two presidential campaigns, in the main the populist being cast for the Democratic electors. Of the other two Utah went Republican in 1900 and Colorado has cast a fusion majority as against Republican electors for the last 12 years.

With the assistance given by the Populists, the Democrats have been unable to carry the debatable states, hence we can not see how they can hope to carry them when the populist vote will be cast for Tom Watson and bimetalism.

What Is Life?

In the last analysis nobody knows, but we do know that it is under strict law. Abuse that law even slightly, pain results. Irregular living means derangement of the organs, resulting in constipation, head ache or liver trouble. Dr. King's New Life Pills quickly re-adjusts this. It's gentle, yet thorough. Only 25c at R. F. HAYNES' drug store.

Hicks on September.

A secondary storm period, beginning the last two days in August, will last into the first and second days of September, storms having moved into central to eastern parts by the first and second.

The storm period beginning on the fourth and extending to the tenth promises to bring many prolonged and severe perturbations.

The disturbances at this time will almost certainly be aggravated in character, and prolonged, with possibly very slight intermission, into and through the reactionary storm period central on the 11th and 12th.

During the early stages of these early disturbances, an excessively high temperature, or heated term, is sure to make its appearance over most parts of the country.

We predict that Wednesday the seventh to Saturday the tenth, will bring a decided crisis showing that equinoctial hurricanes of great extent and violence are near, if not sweeping our southern coasts, or that phenomenal heat over the interior covering the greater part of the country will be culminating in low barometer, thunder storms and possible tornadoes in many places.

If hurricanes and marked barometric depressions reach our south early in this period very cool northerly winds will flow southward over all central and western states, followed by "backing winds" that is, shifting from east to north, northwest and west—attended by several days of dogged, persistent cold rains. We believe that the equatorial cyclones and hurricanes will delay their approach to our southern coasts long enough to cause a severe heated term during the first half of the month, or until severe storms on and touching the 11th and 12th. Earthquake and volcanic phenomena will be reported from various parts of the globe on and about the ninth.

Northerly currents will induce marked boreal conditions over western and central sections, bringing frosts to northern states not far from the 12th to the 15th.

The next regular storm period extends from the 16th to the 21st.

Whatever character of storms are in progress during the period, 16th to 21st, Sunday the 18th, to Wednesday the 21st, will bring the culminating crisis of the period.

A regular vulcan storm period is central on the 29th, extending from the 27th, two or three days into October. As we enter this period the temperature will again rise to quite warm, and scattering storms will be advancing eastward over the country about the 20th and 30th.

In all we have said about the probability of hurricanes and high equinoctial storms and gales in September, we must not be understood as forecasting things out of the ordinary. We mean no such things. We do say that storms of decided energy will be perfectly natural but there is nothing in the astronomic outlook to excite fears of more than ordinary phenomena.

Tom Watson Speaks.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 1.—Thomas F. Watson, candidate for President of the People's party, addressed an immense audience in the hall of the house of Representatives of the Georgia Legislature to-night.

The address was delivered at the closing session of the State Convention of the Georgia Populists, which met this afternoon, selected electors and indorsed the nomination of Mr. Watson for the presidency.

Judge J. K. Hines, of Atlanta, was made permanent chairman, and in his opening address spoke strongly against fusion with the Democratic party, saying Populists and Democrats no longer travel the same paths. He said:

"There is a solid South and a solid North, kept solid by sectionalism. We are the first party that ever crossed in safety the bounds of sectionalism. We are the first party ever to cross Mason and Dixon's line for a presidential candidate."

WATSON GAINING

The Anti-Parker Democrats to Vote Populist Ticket.

Washington, Aug. 30.—Politicians who absorb their political information to the Hoffman House cafe in New York city are disposed to judge the probabilities of the campaign from the New York view point. And when they reach Washington they invariably spread information favorable to Judge Parker. New York city is probably the worst place on the continent to learn the political sentiment of the country generally. And the big hotels are the poorest places in the big city to ascertain reliable news unflavored with partisanship. Occasionally, however, appears a man who has traveled and has used his eyes and his ears during his journeyings. One of these showed up today. He is Mr. T. F. Downing, who has long been engaged in business in Maryland, adjacent to Washington. Mr. Downing has just completed a trip from San Francisco to the East, and during that trip he took occasion to dig up a few facts of a political nature.

"I have always been a believer in the double standard," said he today, "and I voted for Mr. Bryan in 1896 and again in 1900. I am firmly convinced that Mr. Roosevelt will carry every Northern State unless the row in Wisconsin results in the loss of that State to his party."

"Do you intend to vote for Col. Roosevelt yourself?"

"No. My vote will be cast for the Populist electors. My support will go to Tom Watson, of Georgia, and I predict that the strength of the Watson ticket will astonish those gentlemen who are responsible for Judge Parker's telegram. That message which is thought to have accomplished so much for the Judge in the East in solidifying the gold Democratic vote, has certainly driven from the Democratic ranks thousands of men, who, like myself, sincerely believe in bimetalism. And those thousands will vote for Mr. Watson or for Roosevelt."

"It cannot be possible that you expect the Watson ticket to cut any figure in the campaign?"

"I most assuredly do. A few days ago I was in Omaha, and while there I called upon my old friend, De France. Much to my surprise, I found that he is the Secretary of the Populist National Committee. Up to that time I had no idea there was such a body as the Populist National Committee. I naturally inquired how he expected to run the campaign. He assured me that there are many wealthy men affiliated with the party who are able, ready and willing to bear the financial burden. One wealthy mine owner had already contributed $1,000 and wrote that he was ready to duplicate the check as often as necessary. While I sat in Mr. De France's office several other contributions were received, and I was assured that there will be no trouble over lack of funds."

"But is the Populist party well enough organized to assure the placing of electoral tickets in each State?"

"Already full tickets have been named in twenty-three States and others will fall into line in ample time. In Ohio it will be necessary to secure about 20,000 signatures to enable the Populists to secure recognition on the official ballot. Up to last week 16,000 of these names had been secured."

"There is another thing which has been lost sight of. Mr. Watson was formerly notified of his nomination in Cooper Union, New York, on Thursday evening. The expense of this notification is in the neighborhood of ten thousand dollars. The money has been raised and it was not contributed by the Republicans. Mr. Watson has a great many friends where he is expected to have them and while he has not at present the support of any great metropolitan newspapers it need cause no surprise if announcement is made within the next sixty days that four of the most widely circulated have come to his support."

"You surely do not mean that the Hearst chain will abandon Parker for Watson?"

"I have not said as much, but if you have watched the trend of events among the Democratic party managers since the nomination of Parker you may judge perhaps that Mr. Hearst has not been treated with the consideration which his prominence in the Democratic party entitles him to demand. The party today is in the hands of the men whose interests are absolutely opposed to the rank and file. Democratic orators in congress and out have for years inveighed against the "money power" and "Wall street and yet Judge Parker's campaign is in the hands of the biggest of the Wall street men. Under the circumstances it is not strange that thousands of sincere Democrats refuse to accept Judge Parker as the exponent of true democracy and those who do not want to throw their votes away will be found in the Roosevelt camp, while others like myself will vote for Tom Watson."

TAXABLE

Are Life Insurance Policies. Says the Attorney General.

Attorney General Hays delivered an opinion in response to a query put by Auditor Hager, that policies of life insurance are taxable under the constitution and laws of Kentucky, the assessment of each to be its guaranteed or estimated cash surrender value.

The opinion, if sustained by the courts, to which the question will be taken at once, will effect thousands of policy holders in Kentucky, the assessment being made on the holder. The question was raised by a mountain county assessor and by Biscoe Hindman, of Louisville, state agent for an insurance company of New York. The assessor sought to assess for taxation under the general tax laws of the state, two paidup policies of insurance, one of which bears interest.

Warning, Civil Service Commission.

In view of the approaching election the Civil Service Commission recently addressed a letter to the heads of all Government departments and bureaus, calling their attention to violations of the civil service law which have occurred in the past in connection with political campaigns, and inclosing a circular containing a warning against the demanding of payment of political assessments and partisan activity of office-holders.

NOBLE ACTION

Husband Uncomplainingly Serves Sentence for Wife's Crime.

A news dispatch from Golconda, Ill., says:

At the February term, 1895, of the Hardin county circuit court, Jas. H. Kirkham was convicted on the charge of murdering Dr. Newton Fowler and was sentenced to the penitentiary at Chester for a term of fifteen years. After serving a short term he was pardoned by Governor Tanner. The evidence upon which he was convicted was circumstantial, and many at the time had doubt of his guilt.

After his conviction his wife secured a divorce and was married to J. J. Ledbetter, by whom she had one child. Mrs. Ledbetter died about one month ago in St. Louis, after undergoing an operation, and in expectation of death she wrote to Hon. S. W. Morris, of this city, clearing up the mystery, by confessing that she had caused the death of Fowler. In the letter she tells that Fowler had been drinking and had attempted to stop her on the street, and that she pushed him out of the way. He slipped on the ice, striking his head on the pavement and was killed.

In her confession she says that she told her husband that she had killed Fowler, but that he kept silent, was tried, convicted, and sent to prison for the crime she had committed.

In return for this she secured a divorce from him a year later and married J. J. Ledbetter, but on her deathbed she repented and wrote a confession to her first husband's attorney clearing his name.

TOTAL NUMBER

Of Casualties to Persons on United States Railroads in 1902.

Total number of casualties to persons on the railways in the United States for the year ending June 30, 1903, was 86,393, of which 9,840 represented the number killed and 76,553 the number injured; casualties occurred among three general classes of railroad employees as follows: Trainmen, 2,070 killed and 25,676 injured; switch tenders, crossing tenders and watchmen, 283 killed, 2,352 injured, other employees, 1,253 killed, 32,453 injured. The casualties to employees coupling and uncoupling cars were employees killed 281, injured 3,551. For the year 1902 the corresponding figures were killed 167, injured 2,864; the casualties connected with coupling and uncoupling cars were assigned as follows: Trainmen killed 211; injured, 3,023; switch-tenders, crossing tenders and watchmen killed, 57; injured 416; other employees killed 13; injured, 112.

One passenger was killed for every 1,957,441 carried and one injured for every 84,424 carried. With respect to the number of miles traveled, however, the figures show that 58,917,645 passenger miles were accomplished for each passenger killed and 2,551,096 passenger miles for each passenger injured.

Hasn't Slept for Ten Years.

Albert E. Herpin, Trenton's sleepless wonder, who has not slept for over ten years, still refuses offers from all parts of the world to exhibit himself and only within the last few days has he refused a $10,000 offer from a scientific association in Vienna to undergo a thirty-days' test of his ability to do without sleep.

Herpin is in the employ of the city and is a republican. He claims to have received a letter from President Roosevelt to come to Washington, as he would like to shake hands with a wideawake republican.—New York Times.

CAME BACK TO HIS OWN.

Reflections of a Busy City Man Who Found Himself in Quietest Part of Maine.

The man who lives in a great city becomes accustomed to its noises. Then some day the man goes out of town, to the mountains or to the quietude of rural life, says the New York Sun.

"That's what I did," said a man whose place of business is in old John street. "I was in the quietest part of Maine. For two weeks I had to fight for sleep."

"The quietness, the awful stillness of the night, actually kept me awake until at last I had to resort to opiates. I had heard of this sort of thing before, but I had never experienced it. When I returned to the city I was like a boy coming home."

"The first day I was at my desk I shoved up the window. The old familiar cry of 'hey-up' from the teamsters sounded comforting. Then the clang of the trolley car gongs broke in upon me, and I felt good."

"I heard the battle of teamsters just below—that old fight for space and place that goes on the year round in the city. I longed to see them go at one another in bulldog style."

"Not a sound that I had heard for a year had changed. The noise was no greater, no less. I think if any man had dropped out I should have noticed it. This had a sort of consolation in it. 'They are all here,' I murmured to myself."

"Then I looked out toward the crush at the crossing of Nassau street. I saw the pushcart man fighting to hold his own. He looked so natural."

"At the opposite corner I saw a pedler whom I have seen there for years. I have bought my shoes and trinkets from him for so long that I should feel lonely if he were to go."

"And when I started for home that first day on my return the same old policeman helped me across, just as he had done these many years. I spoke to him and thanked him more sincerely than I had ever done before."

"He didn't know I had been away. He hadn't missed me, but I'd missed him."

"When I went to bed that night I threw open my window and fell asleep to the noise and rattle of the elevated trains. I had returned to my own."

HAD FAITH IN NORTH STAR

Uncle Caesar Didn't Believe in Praying Until That Began to Sizzle.

In a recent speech before the Hampton institute graduating class Gov. Montague, of Virginia, told a characteristic story to illustrate his belief in the ultimate triumph of civilization and the establishment of the highest ideals of justice between man and man as a corollary.

In the year "when the stars fell" the slaves of one of the governor's kinsmen were terribly wrought up over the celestial pyrotechnics.

Some of the younger negroes banded themselves together to search out the oldest negro upon the plantation to find out how he viewed the situation.

Finally they located him, sitting under a large pine tree, unconcernedly contemplating certain sticks which had been arranged in circles and semicircles.

"Uncle Caesar," cried the younger negroes in consternation, "don't you see de stars a-fallin'? Whyh don't you git down an' pray? Ain't de world comin' to de en'?"

"Huh!" grunted the old man in disdain; "I dun bin watchin' dat north star up dar fur de las' two hours. When dat begins to splutter an' sizzle, den I'se gwine to git down an' pray!"

"But Oi suppose that head av yours do be big enough fer you," said the son of Erin.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

FOR SHERIFF

DUVALL—We are authorized to announce Alonzo J. Duvall a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Crittenden county, subject to the action of the Republican party. Election 1905.

It is reported that Mt. Vesuvius is in eruption—also W. J. Bryan is on the stump again.

We believe that the success of the colleges or other institutions of learning and the attention given them by the citizens of any town or city, is a true measure for the moral atmosphere of the place.

It speaks well for the Kentucky State College that all the graduates of the department of mechanical and electrical engineering find employment among the largest of firms in the United States and there is a demand for more.

The strength of the Populist party this fall will show that the stage-like effect produced in the St. Louis Convention when it refused the gold plank but endorsed the Parker telegram, did everything but win their applause, and that they will not be deceived and misled by the play.

Judge Parker's campaign is in the hands of one of the biggest of the Wall street men. Will it not be a bitter pill for the voting population of the Democratic party to swallow after Democratic politicians have been crying in and out of Congress with great alarm, "money power" and "Wall street" for several years?

We sincerely hope that stupid shipping clerk of the Kellogg Paper Co., will not make the same mistake this week that he did two weeks ago and ship the News Democrat whiskey in the place of paper, and thereby prevent its making its appearance.—Sturgis Herald.

The Kellogg Newspaper Co. sells patent insides, etc., but possibly it was a patent sort of news ink that would enable one to paint things red.

Very few of our own citizens realize the growth of Marion during the last few months. It is true in a general way we are well aware of the almost universal prosperity of our merchants and business men. It will probably come as a surprise to most of us to learn that during the present year forty-six new residences have been built and occupied. In addition to this fully forty lots have been purchased for the almost immediate erection of homes. It is a growth void of any boom or boomers.

The "innocuous desecrated" in politics as our fat friend Grover Cleveland might have said, has been given a rude shock at Smithland in Livingston county. Last week a political barbecue was very much in evidence near that lively city on the banks of two rivers, the Ohio and the Cumberland. Nearly all of the old political war horses were present and improved their opportunities for oratorical flights of imagination. The crowd, and there was a large one, was completely filled with enthusiasm and roasted shote and several other things. Many of them have not yet reached their homes, but that is generally a necessary sequence to a Democratic pow pow.

GORDON

REVERSED!

By Appellate Judge Barker in The Colored School Injunction Suit.

A SPLENDID LEGAL POINT.

Last fall at an election held in the colored school district here known as district D, Ed Crider was elected trustee. He went before County School Superintendent Jno. B. Paris, for qualification, but on the ground that a person who can not read and write, is not qualified for trustee. Paris would not qualify him and held that for the same reason there had been no election and recognized Robt. Wheeler as trustee, whose term of office was to have expired when his successor was elected and qualified.

Crider went before County Clerk Welden and qualified as trustee and with Valentine Threlkeld, a regular trustee, he chose W. E. Cobb and Mrs. W. H. George to teach the district school this fall.

Robert Wheeler and Mayfield Hughes, the other regular trustee, had in the meantime chose G. W. Brooks and Laura Johnson to teach the school and accordingly the school was opened by them a few weeks ago. Threlkeld, Crider, etc. then went before Circuit Judge Gordon and enjoined Brooks and Johnson from teaching the school, Wheeler and Hughes from having the school conducted and J. B. Paris from paying the public money to these teachers. Moore & Moore represented the plaintiffs in securing this injunction.

Attorney A. C. Moore for the defendants, carried the case to the Court of Appeals last week and obtained a hearing before Henry S. Barker, of said court. Ignoring all questions such as misjoinders of parties or actions in the case or whether there was a question as to the election of a trustee, and so on, Judge Barker reversed the judgment of Judge Gordon on the ground that there was no great or irreparable injury to be suffered by the plaintiffs which the code makes a prerequisite to the issuance of an injunction.

Whereas Judge Barker passed on only the question of whether the injunction should exist, holding that the case should have been settled by ordinary action thus leaving the legality of actions of certain parties in the matter open to question. Monday evening Attorney A. C. Moore for the defendants and Attorney Jno. A. Moore for the plaintiffs called their clients together and settled the matter in the form of compromise by allowing G. W. Brook to act as the principal of the school, W. E. Cobb as assistant.

The Governing Power of the Christian Faith

By DR. A. T. HADLEY,
President of Yale University.

Seven years ago when England was celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the accession of her queen, and when every part of the British empire united in offerings of patriotic pride, the chorus of congratulation was broken by a sharp note of warning from that empire's greatest poet:

"If, drunk with sight of power, we loose
Wild tongues that have not thee in awe,
Such boastings as the Gentiles use,
Or lesser breeds without the law—
Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,
Lest we forget—lest we forget."

If wealth and dominion follow as a result of faith and enthusiasm, they are good. But if wealth and dominion are made a primary object and are trusted as a source of national strength instead of its consequence or evidence, they prove a false reliance. And it is an unfortunate fact that very few nations have achieved wealth or dominion without suffering loss of faith and enthusiasm and remaining with the empty husk of greatness at the very moment when they deemed themselves most powerful.

Our chief danger comes from the other quarter—from trusting to the work of reason in places where we are imperfectly prepared for its operation. Most of us are so constituted and trained that the relaxation of discipline will not leave us at the mercy of blind passion, but it may leave us at the mercy of an almost equally blind spirit of selfish calculation.

To make human unselfishness the fundamental standard of right conduct is as disastrous as the attempt to make our unchecked animal instincts the standard of right conduct.

Almost every evil—political, social or commercial—which constitutes a serious menace to the permanent prosperity of our country can be traced directly to our tolerant acceptance of selfishness as a basis of morality.

Do not be blind to this truth: That if you have no higher motive than your own personal interest it means that your soul is for sale if the price be made sufficiently high. It is for you to show in your lives that honor of a gentleman is not for sale, the faith of a Christian something more than an empty form of speech.

The really fundamental thing in a man's life is his choice of a religion. Two religions are to-day struggling for the mastery. There is the religion of mammon, whose dominant purpose is selfishness and whose creed is indifference to moral considerations, except so far as they may be regarded as instruments of individual advancement. There is the religion of God, whose purpose is service and whose creed is loyalty to something larger than yourselves.

Pulpit Sensationalism

By DR. WILLIAM M. LAWRENCE.

If a preacher does not exaggerate he will have no audience. I make a plea for pulpit exaggeration. Sensationalism is justifiable in the pulpit because spiritual truths must be driven home to the hearts of the modern churchgoer by arguments that will appeal to the imagination as well as to the reason.

Exaggeration in the pulpit is entirely allowable. If the modern minister stated things as they actually are people would not listen to him. I do not give this as an apology for lying, but it is a fact that the audiences of to-day demand sensationalism. They want to be impressed by big and extraordinary things, and the preacher must supply this demand. This necessitates exaggerated statements. The audience is attracted to them, discounts them, and accepts them at their real worth, while without the exaggeration they would never have noticed them.

The minister who understands the psychology of the crowd can easily see how exaggeration governs a multitude. The swaying of a crowd in different ways illustrates the power of unionism and clubs. The congregation succumbs to this government and really loves to be mastered.

A congregation's attention falls off if the sermon is on its own level. It does not like to debate or reason, and objects to being compelled to reason. The members of a congregation are never able to appreciate the truth when placed in doctrinal relations. So the popularity of a minister depends on his power to impress his hearers with such language that they will spread his message of their own accord.

The tearful preacher has no place in the pulpit nowadays. People despise him. They would rather have frowns and scowls than overworked tenderness or sloppy sentimentalism.

A Minister's Education

By DR. J. H. GEORGE,
President of the Chicago Theological Seminary.

The finishing touch to the young minister's education should be one or two years' experience as a reporter on a daily newspaper. The distinctive characteristic of the American of to-day is his deep interest in education, as demonstrated in our public school system, and in the development of our colleges and universities. As a result, America is a nation of educated men and women. Hence it is necessary that we have a thoroughly educated ministry to serve them.

The minister's education must be exact, scientific, and philosophical. As a foundation there should be the primary college degree, to which should be added a close intimacy with Biblical literature, church history, the progress of civilization, and a thorough knowledge of the conditions of life as they are to-day.

For this knowledge of social conditions and the problems of life there is demanded an extensive actual experience which shall bring him in contact with all sorts and conditions of men. To my mind there is no better way of acquiring this experience than by doing regular reporting in a great city. The news gatherer comes in contact with real life in all its phases. His knowledge of people does not come from books but from a study of their actual relations and attitudes. He deals with human nature and its puzzles constantly.

The theological graduate who for a year or two does newspaper work and studies the men with whom he comes in contact has an almost inexpressible advantage over the bookworm who has acquired all his knowledge of men from theses on the subject of "Man!"

ARE EXTREMELY DELICATE.

Scientific Operations Necessary in
of the Earth.

The science of geodesy is making rapid strides along the line of accuracy, and there is not much left to be perfected in the way of method. The all-important problem of modern, as well as ancient geodesy, of course, is the measurement of the dimensions of the earth, which enters into all practical work of surveying, navigation and terrestrial physics, says the Philadelphia Record. The International geodetic association several years ago undertook the problem, the different nations having agreed to contribute their share toward an accurate determination. As has already been recorded, the determination was undertaken in Ecuador, in 1901, and extended from the Colombian to the Peruvian frontier, and every possible refinement to attain the maximum degree of accuracy was adopted. The greatest difficulty is to secure an accurate base line, which is complicated by so apparently trivial a thing as the expansion of the measuring medium. The latest refinement in the bar method is that originated by the United States coast and geodetic survey, using a single bar immersed in melting ice, the containing trough being carried on a suitable car upon a temporary track. Later still, M. Guillaume discovered an alloy of 64 per cent. steel and 36 per cent. nickel possesses an exceedingly low coefficient of expansion, and, consequently, offers the best medium for accurate base line measurements. This alloy is known as "invar," and is usually employed in the form of a wire supported by tripods and stretched by a definite weight. A very valuable piece of work on the island of Spitzbergen was completed with the use of this alloyed wire.

Even the infinitesimal variation in the force of gravity at different portions of the earth is not too insignificant to be disregarded, and must be determined and a correction applied. This delicate determination is made by observing the pressure of the atmosphere by the determination of the boiling point of water, and comparing the same with the barometric reading, the difference, if any, being considered due to a gravity upon the mercury.

FIGHT MANKIND'S BATTLES.

Insect Friends That Make War Upon
Destroyers of Fruits and Grain.

Finding that all ordinary means of keeping down the numbers of the insect pests which prey upon the crops are insufficient, entomologists are turning their attention to the discovery of insects which prey upon the parasites they wish to destroy.

A pestilent insect known as the San Jose scale, which ravages the crops of American farmers, is now being attacked by a species of beetle from China. The beetle is very fond of the scale insects—as articles of diet—and devours them in great numbers.

Another voracious insect which wages war on mosquitoes is being cultivated, so that when its numbers are sufficiently great it may be let loose upon them.

It is to be hoped, however, that when the insect armies which are to fight battles on behalf of mankind have exterminated the enemy they will not—like some human armies—take to looting and thus themselves become pests.

Best Brain Wins.

The Japanese are well-informed and wait steadily with wonderful self-control until their preparations for the grand attack are quite complete. It is in brain that they beat the Russians, whose soldiers die in heaps with their old heroism, and who suffer less in morale from defeat than more mobile or better commanded troops. They are there to die for the czar, and they do their duty with a splendid unflinchingness which rivals that of the Japanese.—London Spectator.

Improvised Wedding Rings.

Recently five couples of gypsies were to be married at a church in Surrey, but only two gentlemen had the necessary ring. The church warden, however, came to the rescue by cutting off the rings from the kneeling-hassocks, and the ceremony was satisfactorily performed.

TO PROVE EARTH ROUND.

Simple Experiment That Was Tried
in England Thirty Years Ago.

Although it was demonstrated more than 2,000 years ago that the earth is globular in form, there are certain persons who maintain that it is flat. About 30 years ago a controversy on the subject waxed so hot that it was determined to put the matter to direct experiment in order to settle the question once for all, says the Philadelphia Record.

The place chosen was near Bedford, England, where there is a straight six mile stretch of water. At both ends and in the middle of this water posts were erected, each of the same definite height above the water level. Upon looking with a telescope along the top of these three posts it was clearly seen that the center one overtopped the others by about six feet, owing to the curvature of the surface of the earth.

These experiments were recently repeated in a more scientific manner by H. Yule Oldham, who read a paper on the subject before the Glasgow meeting of the British association. The same results were obtained, with the important difference that by the employment of a tele-photographic lens and camera the six foot prominence of the middle post was recorded in an unmistakable manner.

CERTAINLY A BRAVE GIRL.

Daily Task of Invalid Rural Mail
Carrier in Helping Her Mother.

The bravest girl in the state of New Jersey on Uncle Sam's list of rural mail carriers is Miss Villa Potter, of Willow Grove, says the New York Times. She carries the mail from Newfield, Gloucester county, to Porttown and the surrounding county, covering a route of 29 miles all told.

Miss Potter has been an invalid for 18 years, being a victim of typhoid fever when 13 years old. Her father, Michael Potter, was killed in a well several years ago, and her brother, Frank, died carrying the mail. Then she determined to help her mother make a living.

Every morning her mother wheels her out to the mail wagon and assists her to get in. The farmers all along the route build the boxes close to the roadside, so that the invalid can deliver the mail without getting out, for she cannot stand alone. Her mother takes care of three horses and two cows, and by the help of her daughter makes a comfortable living.

Miss Potter's appointment two years ago was enthusiastically approved by the people, who, she says, show her every possible kindness. Her popularity increases because of her punctuality.

TOWN WHERE FUEL IS FREE

Shoe Factories of Lynn, Mass., Supply
the People the Wornout Lasts.

"Go to Lynn if you want free fuel," said a Bostonian, recently. "You can get in Lynn the best wood in the world for nothing. The town of Lynn is full of enormous and magnificent shoe factories. These factories, in order to keep their product fashionable and correct, change their lasts every season. Thus as soon as a season is over thousands of lasts become worthless except for burning."

"The manufacturers might sell the lasts, but for some reason or other they don't do this. They give them away. And the Lynn people appreciate this generosity. At any rate it is possible in their beautiful town to see a Lynn man with a grateful look on his face taking home a load of lasts in a cart."

"The lasts make admirable fires. The good, hard wood in them gets redhot and burns with a great glow of heat for a long time, like coal. The only trouble is their shape. They look, you know, like feet. To see them flaming in a fireplace gives a stranger a shock at first. He wonders if he has happened in upon the end of a cremation."

Taken Up Into Heaven."

LESSON TEXT.

2 Kings 2:1-11; Memory Verses 9-11.

1. And it came to pass, when the Lord would take up Elijah into Heaven by a whirlwind, that Elijah went with Elisha from Gilgal.

2. And Elijah said unto Elisha, Tarry here, I pray thee; for the Lord hath sent me to Bethel. And Elisha said unto him, As the Lord liveth, and as thy soul liveth, I will not leave thee. So they went down to Bethel.

3. And the sons of the prophets that were at Bethel came forth to Elisha, and said unto him, Knowest thou that the Lord will take away thy master from thy head to-day? And he said, Yea, I know it; hold ye your peace.

4. And Elijah said unto him, Elisha, tarry here, I pray thee; for the Lord hath sent me to Jericho. And he said, As the Lord liveth, and as thy soul liveth, I will not leave thee. So they came to Jericho.

5. And the sons of the prophets that were at Jericho came to Elisha, and said unto him, Knowest thou that the Lord will take away thy master from thy head to-day? And he answered, Yea, I know it; hold ye your peace.

6. And Elijah said unto him, Tarry, I pray thee, here; for the Lord hath sent me to Jordan. And he said, As the Lord liveth, and as thy soul liveth, I will not leave thee. And they two went on.

7. And fifty men of the sons of the prophets went, and stood to view afar off: and they two stood by Jordan.

8. And Elijah took his mantle, and wrapped it together, and smote the waters, and they were divided hither and thither, so that they two went over on dry ground.

9. And it came to pass, when they were gone over, that Elijah said unto Elisha, Ask what I shall do for thee, before I be taken away from thee. And Elisha said, I pray thee, let a double portion of thy spirit be upon me.

10. And he said, Thou hast asked a hard thing; nevertheless, if thou see me when I am taken from thee, it shall be so unto thee; but if not, it shall not be so.

11. And it came to pass, as they still went on, and talked, that, behold, there appeared a chariot of fire, and horses of fire, and parted them both asunder; and Elijah went up by a whirlwind into Heaven.

THE LESSON includes the first chapter of 1 Kings, which gives us the last public act of Elijah.

GOLDEN TEXT—"He was not; for God took him."—Gen. 5:24.

TIME.—Something over ten years after the events of the last lesson.

PLACE.—Elijah started at Gilgal and traveled with Elisha toward the southeast, through Bethel and Jericho, and then across the Jordan, perhaps to Mount Nebo.

Comparing Scripture with Scripture.

Testing of Elisha.—As one reads this lesson the question is forced upon us, Did Elijah wish to get away from Elisha? In the light of verse 9 I think we must say "No." The angel of God did not want to get away from Jacob, and yet he said "let me go." He wished to test Jacob, and the testing completed the blessings followed (Gen. 32:24-25) Elijah, knowing of his early departure, would test Elisha and prove his fitness as his successor. Testing is not for the purpose of destroying but to prove fitness for service. Jacob held on and got the blessing. Elisha followed his master and obtained his request. The Syro-Phoenician woman is a striking example of persistency obtaining the blessing. Matt. 15:22-28. God tests His children (Heb. 12:6, 7, 11) and the Christian is admonished to rejoice in the testing.—Jas. 1:2-4.

Elisha was persistent. He had the qualities of a Paul. Phil. 3:13. He saw the glory of blessing ahead and he was determined to have it at all hazards. This is one of the indispensable qualities in God's servants. If they lack it, they prove unfit for the responsible places in Christ's kingdom.

(2) Watchful. No heavy eye ever saw God's glory. No sluggish heart ever felt the exquisite heart beat of the Divine presence. That Elijah was to be taken up into Heaven had in some way been revealed to Elisha and the students at the schools of the prophets at Gilgal. Bethel and Jericho, vs. 3, 5. Elisha was determined to behold that glorious sight. The eye of faith was in the watch tower, and the natural eye, obedient to the soul yearning, was faithfully keeping Elijah in view. Gilgal is left behind and Bethel is reached, but nothing can divert the attention of Elisha, nothing can make him tarry behind. Jericho is visited and still Elisha hangs on. The Jordan is reached. If Elijah goes down into its depths, Elisha will follow. Ah, how many Christians are back on the hill top with the 50 sons of the prophets when they ought to be following him after the blessing.

(3) Ambitious. "Let a double portion of thy spirit be upon me." True ambition finds its center and object in God. Elisha was ambitious for God as a possession, that he might more effectively serve God during the apostate state of the kingdom. The ambition that makes God its end and aim and purpose is the safe ambition. We are told to "covet the best gifts." 1 Cor. 12:31. The great trouble with Christian people is that they ask and receive not because they ask amiss, that they may consume it upon their lusts. Jas. 4:3. The assurance of Rom. 8:26-27 is blessed encouragement.

(4) Triumphant. "Elisha saw it. V. 12. Elisha's intensity of purpose obtained for him the promise. The Christian may always win spiritual triumphs. 2 Cor. 2:4. The amount of spiritual blessing God is willing to give is dependent wholly upon our capacity to receive. We need to pray for larger capacity.

THE GOLDEN TEXT.

"He Was Not; for God Took Him." Dr. G. Campbell Morgan tells of a little child who gave a most exquisite explanation of walking with God. She went home from Sunday school, and the mother said: "Tell me what you learned at school." And she said: "Don't you know, mother, we have been hearing about a man who used to go for walks with God. His name was Enoch. And, mother, one day they went for an extra long walk, and they walked on and on, until God said to Enoch: 'You are a long way from home; you had better come in and stay.' He went."
