MARION, KENTUCKY.

A GENERAL REVIEW OF THE DISTRICT.

Mining Operations Still in Full Blast—A Commercial Club for Marion.

MARION'S MINERALS.

BY J. M. PERSONS.

Supt. of the Louisville-Marion Mining Company.

The mining prospects in this district were never brighter than at the present time, notwithstanding the near approach of the winter season.

Unusual activities at most of the mines would seem to indicate a continuous winter output, and the condition of the roads will permit, there will undoubtedly be some marketing of ores this winter, which is unusual for this section.

Plans have been formulated and preparations are being made at some of the mines for installing machinery for the separation of ores. Among these are the Big Four mine, owned by Morganfield parties, and the Ada-Florence, owned by Louisville and Marion parties, who are not marketing their zinc and lead ores until after being treated. The Columbia and Young Jim mines are making frequent shipments of all of their products as they are now in splendid shape for handling and treating their ores.

Our principal veins are still the Columbia and LaRue leads, with the Ada-Florence a possible competitor for this distinction also. Prof Wright of the State Geological Survey corps made an examination recently of the Ada-Florence mine and expressed the opinion that it is on an entirely new lead and a very strong one. This new vein at about 80 feet below the old one has proved to be the richest in the district for lead ore. The lead is diminishing rapidly as it is gained and is being replaced by lead ore assaying 65 per cent. This vein shows a width of about 15 feet in the Ada-Florence shaft.

The Columbia mine is progressing favorably under the management of Supt Robert Drescher. They are sinking their shaft deep and contemplate going down several hundred feet so as to open several levels and keep their workings steadily, night and day, which will surely give the enormous profits. At present of the Columbia shaft taken out which will mill 100 per cent. mine run. This mine fully developed will no doubt be one of the richest in the district, as the ores at the present time are of excellent quality and continuing with depth. All of the things coming out of the mine at present is zinc and

At the Young Jim mine, owned by Messrs. Blue & Nunn, and operated by Supt. Charles Grange, they are getting out ore at about 90 feet which will mill 40 per cent mine run, and this shaft, when as deep as the Columbia, will no doubt produce equally as rich ore as the Columbia. They now have their crusher in position and running steadily. They are at present separating their ores by the hand jig process and making speedy shipments.

All of the shafts which have been sunk on the Columbia lead, proves beyond a doubt that it is a true fissure vein, with the lime rock foot wall and slate hanging vein. The direct trend of this vein for the considerable distance it has been developed also characterizes it as a true fissure. The "pitchers" and "slides" (termed "feeders" by most all miners), which come into the Columbia frequently, is another proof of the true fissure, as well as the vast deposit of ores to a great depth. There is also a strong possibility of these fissures producing rich copper ores at a depth of about 3,000 feet.

The most important mine on the LaRue vein is the Big Four, in charge of Mr. A. D. Noe. They have a long open cut about 60 feet deep, and from 4 to 15 ft in width. The vein at this point seems to be about 16 feet wide, but the ore has not been taken out for the entire width and is very rich in lead, spar and zinc. They have taken out several thousand tons of ore, and have marketed their fluor spar. At the bottom of their shaft the spar is giving out and is being replaced by lead and zinc, comparing favorably in quality with the ores taken from the Columbia vein.

On the LaRue lead outcroppings have been found at several different points, which show ore to the surface. This lead, with a little more development work along its course will without doubt prove to be a very rich one, and much sought after by capitalists in search of profitable investments, as soon as it is as well known elsewhere as in Marion that the ore deposits in this district are very rich.

Fluor spar deposits in this district continue to be found in abundance. The principal spar lead is still the Old Memphis, operated by the Kentucky Fluor Spar company, of which Mr. A. H. Reed is Supt. and they are still taking out great quantities of spar from this lead, which has been opened to a depth of about 180 ft. The Kentucky company owns and operates a number of other fine spar properties, besides being the principal purchasers of spar from other companies, operating in the district. Their mill is kept running constantly, grinding spar and they are also making daily shipments of spar ore for fluxing. This company is very progressive and successful, and now gives employment to many hundreds of men in their mill and mines.

This district does not require any "booming" methods to prove its great value, but its most apparent need at the present time is a few more deep shafts on our principal leads to establish beyond a doubt that our veins are continuous, permanent and profitable investments, when capital shall be willing and anxious to take a part in the development of the district and share in the enormous profits which these mineral deposits will certainly yield.

The many mining experts who have visited this section all agree as to the abundant wealth of ore deposits they have seen here, and do not hesitate to pronounce our veins of spar, lead and zinc ore the richest in the world. Then why should we hesitate to believe that this will soon be a great center of activity for mining and kindred industries, and to make preparations to reap our share of the profits?

The day will soon be here when hundreds of smokestacks will send skyward daily the evidences of the prosperity of the district, and fulfill the predictions herein set forth.

Our New Salem correspondent says:

The mining interest in this part of the county is certainly brightening up as the days come and go. One thing a blind man can see; that is the knowing ones are getting control of all the good properties in this section. We are no prophet but we say inside of five years this county and Livingston, will be two of the wealthiest mineral counties in Kentucky. Why do we make this prediction? Any one can look around and see from every quarter big mining plants going up and being equipped with the finest and up-to-date mining machinery. It takes time, only wait and see.

The Hopewell Mining company are in good spirits since the discovery of the large lead vein at the famous Ada-Florence. This vein runs through the Hopewell Mining company's property. The company have started drifting from the bottom of their shaft, and will more than likely strike the vein before they drift far, if in the right direction.

Some time ago the Kentucky Fluor Spar company gave our notice to all their foremen at various mines that they would give a free pass to the World's Fair to the foreman that put out the most spar in three months run. It is understood that foreman Rushing of the Asbridge mines, won this prize.

Our Lewis correspondent sends the following:

Dr Curran Pope of Louisville was here last week looking after his mining interests. Prospect work was begun on the Watson place last week and a good quality of spar was found close to the top of the ground the first of the week.

Our Carverville correspondent writes:

From the way the Schoolfield-Spees mines hang on to work it would seem that work will continue all winter. F. M. Abbott, the expert timberer, who came about two months ago, left Tuesday for his home in Covington.

The Big Four Mining company has shut down. They have about 2,000 tons of lead and zinc already mined. They are making preparations to build a mill to clean up that which is already mined before mining any more.

The Louisville-Marion Mining Co. are getting out about ten tons of fluor spar per day at the Leander White mine. Supt Persons says they could get out three times this amount if they had the machinery in.

Blue & Nunn are still piling out the lead and zinc and running their compressor ten hours a day. Supt Grange is doing some fine work at this mine. He is the right man in the right place.

The Kentucky Fluor Spar company have started pumping water out of the Klondike mine and expect to put in a new crew of miners as soon as the water is out of the mine.

Sherman Clark, hotel keeper at the Columbia mines, is now chief contractor at the Mary Belle spar mines. He will put a large force of miners in at once.

Bob King has leased the mineral right on Felix Cox' farm and is getting out some very fine fluor spar, and selling the same to the Ky. Fluor Spar Co.

The Marion Mineral company had a big cave-in at their Miller mine a few days ago but fortunately no one was at work at the time.

Major Clement has started up his "Bitter Apple" mine again and they are getting out some fine ore.

The Kentucky Fluor Spar company have started up the Wheeler mine on the Tabb vein.

A COMMERCIAL CLUB.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Nov. 10, 1904.—Mr. C. H. Whitehouse, Marion, Ky.—My Dear Sir: Yours of the 9th inst. informing us of a movement in your town to organize a Commercial Club is at hand. I congratulate you upon deciding on that movement. A Commercial Club is the most useful organization that can be started in a town or city.

This Louisville Commercial Club has contributed more influence in promoting prosperity in Louisville and Kentucky than any other organization that we know of. Of course in a small town like Marion, with 2500 inhabitants, you could not expect to organize a club such as we have in this city, but it is possible to organize one commensurate with your needs and population.

I will enclose under another cover a copy of our by-laws and list of members. This list is two years old and is consequently very incomplete, because in the next one we publish we will add five hundred names to it, and we are not going to stop adding until we have a membership of two or three thousand. There is nothing that can wield such a potent influence as a Commercial Club, except like organizations, such as Board of Trade and Chamber of Commerce. I would advise in the first place that the officers be composed of President, Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer, and five directors, and the directors be chairman of your standing committees, such as City Development, Membership, Finance, and such others as you would choose to make. The first thing to do will be to get up a spirit of enthusiasm and secure members.

Our membership is composed of merchants, manufacturers, preachers, doctors, and all classes of men, as it is non partisan and non sectarian, and they are all joined together for a common good.

If you do not find what you want in the book I send you, please ask specific questions and I will endeavor to give you such information as you desire. I would be glad if when you organize you would send us the name of your club, and also a list of the officers. Our inland towns are awakening in progressiveness and public and any other information you can, so that we can give it to our daily papers, which will show that spirit.

Yours very sincerely,
J. C. VAN PELT, Sec'y.

A school teacher asked her pupils the other day who Nero was. The only response came from a little fellow who held up his hand. "Arthur," she said, "do you know who Nero was?" "Yes, ma'am," he answered proudly; "he's the one we sing about in our Sunday school." The teacher was unable to recall any song in gospel hymns where Nero was mentioned. "What is the song like Arthur?" she asked. "Nero, my God to thee, was the answer the child gave."

THE BOY THAT GETS THERE.

The boy who has to be called two or three times to be up for breakfast will never lead in any great enterprise. The boy that is up early in the morning and makes a fire in the stove, uncalled, will bustle to the front and have the commendation of his neighbors. There is not enough ambition among the young men of the South. Life is too brief to waste hours and days idling around store houses. The farmer is a wealth maker, but to be a success he would know all the elements that enter into plant growth the wonderful mysteries of chemistry. Agriculture is a life-time school and no scholar reaches to the highest round on this ascending ladder. Young men, be up and pushing, and acquit yourselves like men.—Southern Agriculturist.

KENTUCKY AT THE FAIR.

Kentucky, famous both for the quantity and quality of her whisky, has made a record on the water wagon, as will be evidenced by the statement that at the close of the Louisville and Purchase Exposition nearly 800,000 gallons of water will have been consumed in the Kentucky building at the World's Fair.

No whisky has been bought by the Kentucky Commission and all that has been used was the gift of the distillers of the State.

"Hundreds for water, not one cent for whisky," was the Declaration of the Kentucky Commission at the opening of the Exposition, and it has been carried out to the letter. The water bill at the end of the Exposition will have amounted to $23,649.75, at the rate of 3 cents per gallon for 788,395 gallons.

When the butter won't come, put a penny in the churn," is an old time dairy proverb. It often seems to work though no one has ever told why.

When mothers are worried because the children do not get strength and flesh, we give them Scott's Emulsion.

It is like the penny in the churn because it works and because there is something missing about it.

Scott's Emulsion is simply milk of pure cod liver oil and some hypophosphites specially prepared for delicate children.

Children take it naturally because they like the taste and the remedy takes just as well to the children because it is so perfectly adapted to their wants.

For all weak and pale and children Scott's Emulsion is the most satisfactory treatment.

We will send you the penny, i. e., a sample free.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

Sturgis is to have an electric light plant. A franchise has been bought by the Sturgis Electric Light Company and work on the plant will begin at an early date.

For the use of Kentuckians and other visitors to the State pavilion a modern water fountain was installed, and that ice water was the more popular beverage among these people, who are supposed to have an especial fondness for something stronger, is attested by the enormous quantity consumed. It is understood that there is some whisky to be found in the building but it has been used only for medicinal purposes.

No Kentuckians have been arrested, either by the Jefferson Guards or the World's Fair police, upon any charge whatever, since the opening of the Exposition. Several citizens of that State are on the Jefferson Guard and they have proved to be of the very best service to the officers.

Thousands Cured. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve has cured thousands of cases of Piles. "I bought a box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve on recommendation of our druggist," writes C. H. RHODES SCHOLARSHIP. Winchester, Ky., Nov. 10.—The trustees of the late Cecil Rhodes, the South African multimillionaire, who left the great bulk of his fortune to education, have notified the committee for Kentucky that another scholarship will be awarded in January, 1905. Clark Tandy, of Hopkinsville, a graduate of the State College, won the first scholarship and he is now at Oxford University enrolled as a student. The appointment will be made by competitive examination to be held in the city of Lexington in January. Full information may be obtained from either Prof. Arthur Yager, chairman, Georgetown, or Dr. John L. Weber, Secretary, of Winchester.

Only Makes a Bad Matter Worse. Perhaps you have never thought of it but the fact must be apparent to every one that constipation is caused by lack of water in the system, and the use of drastic cathartics like the old fashioned pills only makes a bad matter worse. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are much more mild and gentle in their effect, and when the proper dose is taken their action is so natural that one can hardly realize it is the effect of a medicine. Try a 25c bottle of them. Sold by Woods & Orme, Druggists.

Spafford, Postmaster of Chester, Mich., says: "Our little girl was unconscious from strangulation during a sudden and terrible attack of croup. HARD TO BEAT.

A trial was lately made in Austria to decide in how short a space of time living trees could be converted into newspapers. At Eibenthal at thirty-five minutes after seven in the morning three trees were sawed down; at thirty-four minutes after nine the wood having been stripped of bark, cut up and converted into pulp, became paper and passed from the factory to the press, whence the first printed and folded copy was issued at ten o'clock. So that in one hundred and forty five minutes the trees had become newspapers.

Mrs. Louis Craig of Dorchester Mass., is one of many whose life was saved by Dr. King's New Discovery. This great remedy is guaranteed for all Throat and Lung diseases by Woods & Orme, Druggists. OFFERS FIVE DOLLARS.

Five dollars has been bid for the Nevada building at the World's Fair, that being the smallest sum offered for any of the State buildings. The bidder is J. W. Watkins of St. Louis. The letter making the offer was received at the Nevada building and filed in the unanswered letter box in the archives of the building where it will probably remain.

The communication written by Mr. Watkins is in the form of a contract. He says the contract does not include the furnishings or decorations of the building but simply the bare structure, without any of its adornments. In the contract Mr. Watkins guarantees to remove the buildings and to restore the site on which it stands to its former condition.

By consigning Mr. Watkins' letter to the unanswered file the Commissioners mean that they have a much better bid. In fact, they admit that they have had several offers ranging from two hundred to six hundred dollars. The Commissioners have not decided what disposition they will make of the building.

TRAIN WRECKED.

The engine pulling the miniature railway train which runs between New York and the North Pole and the southwest corner of the Palace of Forestry, Fish and Game broke from its train just after crossing the roadway near the Administration restaurant yesterday afternoon.

It left the curve about seventy-five feet west of the exhibit palace and turned over, completely demolishing the cab, tearing off the running boards and part of the jacket of the boiler.

No one was injured, but traffic was delayed until steam could be raised in another engine.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.—$1.00

Attention is called to the letter published in this issue of the Press addressed to Mr. C. H. Whitehouse, from the Louisville Commercial Club, apropos of the effort which is being made to effect a like organization for Marion. This subject and this movement is one which we have long cherished in our hearts as being the most urgent necessity for the advancement of Marion's interests. It embraces in its scope everything which goes before and beckons progress into our midst. Such an organization, being non-partisan, and non-sectarian, can take up almost every issue which concerns the progress or protection of a community, can discuss it calmly and candidly, decide upon its merits or demerits and exert an influence which will almost invariably secure the greatest good to the greatest number.

The columns of The Press will be freely opened for the full discussion of the subject, either for or against the influence of a Commercial Club in this community, but we wish to assert here and now that we are in hearty sympathy with the movement and will give it our earnest support, as it can fail of its good purpose only by a radical perversion of the present avowed intentions of its organizers. Our citizens owe it to themselves, to their mutual interests and advancement, to see that our best citizenship is represented in the Marion Commercial Club, and thus control its destiny for good. Mr. Whitehouse informs us that the interest has already been manifested and signatures to the petition for membership obtained, sufficient to insure the immediate success of the movement.

With an effective organization behind any movement its success is already half assured, and with a good Commercial Club Marion can secure such needed advantages as waterworks and an adequate fire system. These advantages and measures for self protection are sadly missed when our city is visited by such a damaging fire as we had last night in the central block. We were certainly very fortunate that the fire was so readily confined almost within the limits of its origin, but when high winds prevail almost the entire business and residence section would be threatened and human life as well.

The Marion Commercial Club will doubtless take up these issues promptly, and may its success equal the enthusiasm with which the effort is being received is certainly to be hoped for.

In the PRESS today we publish a statement from William Jennings Bryan by way of comment on the result of the late election and advice and recommendation as to the future action of the party. Mr. Bryan is decidedly optimistic and views philosophically the recent disaster to the Democratic. His idea is never to surrender, but to reform the battalions, strengthen the lines and again go into battle with colors flying and standing substantially on the Kansas City platform. Mr. Bryan also says truly that although the late election was a Republican triumph it was not, strictly speaking, a Democratic defeat, as it resulted from Democratic apathy, which seems to have been universal. At the close of the war of the rebellion the Democratic party did indeed seem to be dead. Without representation in Congress, with all their State organizations shattered, with not even a nucleus left, save the bare name, around which to rally, it was but a few years before the grand old party had arisen from its ashes, reasserted its supremacy, and taken charge of every branch of the Federal Government. And what has been will again be.

Truth crushed to earth will rise again.
The eternal years of God are hers,
But error, wounded, writhes in pain,
And dies amid her worshippers.

In Massachusetts W. L. Douglass, Democrat, ran 120,000 ahead of the Presidential ticket and was elected Governor. In New York the Democratic candidate for Governor ran 100,000 ahead of the Presidential ticket. In Michigan the Democratic candidate for Governor ran 90,000 ahead of Parker. In Missouri the Democratic candidate for Governor ran 50,000 ahead of the National ticket and was elected. In Minnesota the Democratic candidate for Governor ran 135,000 ahead of the Presidential ticket and was elected. Now, if tickets were split to this enormous extent in the above-named States, why not in others? And may not this account, in part for the phenomenal majorities given Roosevelt?

Another of the Cecil Rhodes scholarships in the University of Oxford, England, is to come to Kentucky, and the Committee in charge have been notified of the fact, and the matter is now open for competition. These scholarships are tempting prizes from a scholastic point of view. Young Tandy, of Hopkinsville, captured the first one awarded to Kentucky and is now enjoying its advantages at Oxford. Why not some ambitious pupil of the Marion Graded School enter the contest for this superb prize? Surely we have the material in that institution necessary for this purpose. Suppose you think of it.

The Chicago Tribune says the election of Folk as Governor of Missouri can be accounted for in two words—just Honesty! Folk believed it wrong to steal and sent the thieves to prison. For this the people made him Governor.

Russia has issued an ultimatum to the United States and the other Powers desirous of mediation for peace, and the fiat of the Czar is that the war will be prosecuted to its bloody termination.

Good roads should be the watchword. "When Rome wished to conquer a country she first built a good road to it and then through it, and the conquest was complete and lasting. There is no Alexander the Great as great as a good road." We unhesitatingly advocate good roads. Every mile of road built in a county adds to the value of the land in that county, more than double the cost of the road. The PRESS has been fighting for good roads for twenty years and intends keeping up the fight until the desired result is accomplished.

W. R. Hearst to O. M. James.

Hon. Wm. R. Hearst, the great newspaper editor, who has himself just been re-elected to Congress from New York city, sends congratulations to Congressman O. M. James in the following telegram:

New York, Nov. 12, 1904.—Hon. O. M. James, Marion, Ky.: Please accept my sincere congratulations on your re-election to Congress. W. R. HEARST.

YOUTHFUL CONGRESSMAN.

Litchfield, Ill., Nov. 10.—Zeno J. Rives, unknown beyond the limits of his home, is the Twenty-first Illinois district, and the fact is as surprising to him as it is to his defeated opponent—Ben F. Caldwell, the Sangamon county banker.

Rives is only 23 years of age and is just beginning the study of law in Litchfield, and while popular with his own circle of friends is not possessed of a sufficiently extensive acquaintance to be of much Montgomery county or the congressional district to boast of the fact that he goes to Washington as the result of his own personal merit or magnetism.

In fact Rives did not make a canvass of his district at all, and pursuing the quiet seclusion of his profession life in one of the smaller of the Illinois cities, allowed his constituents to vote as they pleased, without argument from him.

Congressman Caldwell, who is defeated for reelection, is one of the popular men of Central Illinois, and is known throughout that part of the State, and has been repeatedly elected to the lower house of congress without difficulty, the most strenuous contest having been the struggle between himself and Jas A. Connolly, six years ago.

Wedding Guests.

Mr. John Strahley and wife, Mrs. Irwin Strahley, Mrs. Henry Furste, Mrs. George Neider, Mrs. Howard Shumard, sisters of the groom and Master Crandall Shumard a nephew of the groom all of Cincinnati, arrived Wednesday morning to attend the Strahley-Maxwell wedding and left at 7 p. m. for home.

BRILLIANT NUPTIALS

Of Mr. Arthur C. Strahley and Miss Mary Isabel Maxwell.

The most brilliant society event that has ever occurred in Marion was the wedding of Miss Mary Isabel Maxwell to Arthur C. Strahley, of Cincinnati, and the reception at the bride's home which followed.

The day was bright and beautiful—an ideal one for such an event, all nature seemed to smile with the happy bride. The ceremony was said at half past one o'clock, in the parlors of the Maxwell home, on the corner of Wilson avenue and Main street, the Rev. S. J. Martin, of the Presbyterian church, of which the bride is a member, officiating. Promptly at the hour named as the sweet strains of Lohengrin's bridal chorus were heard on the Italian harp the bridal party entered. The bride with the matron of honor, Mrs. Horace Heudell Sayre, the groom with his bestman, J. Dale Beresford, of Cincinnati, Miss Elizabeth Duke Maxwell, a niece of the bride, was flower bearer and maid of honor. Her gown was of white tulle and she carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums. The bride's gown was an exquisite creation of chiffon voile in Marie Antonette style and was elaborately trimmed in real lace and pearl passementerie and was one of the most beautiful wedding gowns ever seen in Marion. She carried a large bouquet of orchids. The matron of honor was gowned in pink crepe de chine, with real lace and chiffon applique and carried a profusion of pink carnations.

It would be impossible to mention the beautiful gowns worn by the other guests in the short space of time we had. The house was decorated as never home was before in cut flowers, chrysanthemums, evergreens and palms and was a bower of blossoms and beauty in every room. The sweetest of music was rendered throughout by Mrs. Marshall Jenkins, the talented Italian harpist, and among the compositions rendered on the harp were such as the Shepherd's evening song, by Chas. Blake, Then you'll remember me, from the Bohemian Girl, Angel's serenade by Ge. Braz, and on the piano O thou sublime sweet evening stars, Tanhauser, by Gustave Lange, Tramperei, by R. Schumann, melody in F by Rubenstein.

The luncheon of two courses and the punch bowl were important features. The dining room being especially enticing, decked as it was in yellow chrysanthemums and ever greens, and in all parts of the mansion pink carnations and ever greens were in evidence. The decorations were the handiwork of Mrs. P. D. Maxwell and Mrs. H. H. Sayre.

The bridal couple left on the 3:33 train for St. Louis and the World's Fair and an extended trip; other relatives and attendants left on the 7 p. m., for their various homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Strahley will live in Cincinnati in a beautiful new brick residence, one of the gifts of the groom's father. Other gifts include checks, bonds, cut glass, gold and silver, table silver in end.

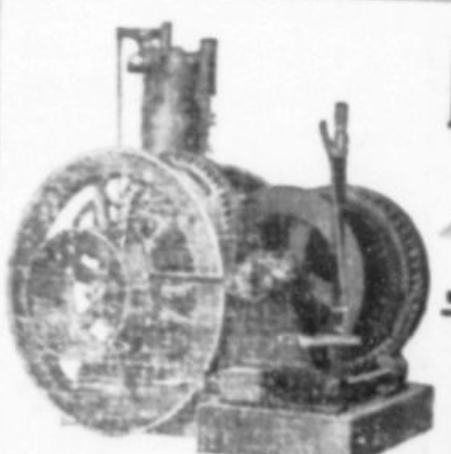

less variety, candelabra and beautiful things which would delight any bride, were received here and at the home of the groom in Cincinnati. To say that the bride deserved them all only slightly expresses the sentiment felt toward her here in her home. She is universally loved and is a noble christian character, with a charm of manner which won hearts to her feet wherever known.

The fortunate groom has made many friends on his visits here and is a well known attorney of the Queen City and is rapidly pressing to the front in his profession.

Those bidden to the wedding reception were: Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Woods, Congressman James and wife, Levi Cook and wife, Senator Debus and wife, Job D. An and wife, Chas. A. Moore and wife, G. M. Crider and wife, Dr. Driskill and wife, Dr. Dixon and wife, S. M. Jenkins and wife, R. W. Wilson and wife, John W. Wilson and wife, J. W. Blue and wife, Chas. Evans and wife, J. H. Orme and wife, T. H. C. Chran and wife, C. S. Nunn and wife, S. J. Martin and wife, R. F. Haynes and wife, H. A. Haynes and wife, T. J. Yandell and wife, W. B. Yandell and wife, J. I. Clement and wife, R. F. TROUBLE.

Trouble comes to all of us, it is strewn with broken expectations, inconsolable griefs. Death is shadows across almost every day and its constant ravages ever near to us, fill the bravest with terror. But in us the rainbow has been ever present. We have believed that existence was just the same all-prevailing power, handiwork jeweled the heavens, stars, who leveled the plains, up the mountains and taught us to run down to the sea, designing and contemplated our death. What it shall be we do not know. How it shall come we cannot tell. Whether it shall come as a phantasm thought, "amid the clouds or wreck of matter," or as a beauty of a May morning we do not know. But it will come. It will be for this world to end as it began, and there is much to be gained for the sedition that is beginning. The inequality of wrong is sometimes triumphed over, but power occasionally visits unblemished virtue misjudged and understood. As surely as the sun shines will come when the one will be and the other rewarded, and exact justice, the phrase known to any language, meted out to all.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

The Residence of David Woods and Wallingford's Livery Stable in Ruins.

About 2 o'clock Wednesday morning fire was discovered by Mr. Buford Cardwell in the large livery barn of Dudley Wallingford. Cardwell immediately gave the alarm and rushed to the stable, where he succeeded in releasing a number of horses. Young Byford was asleep in the office of the stable at the time and the window had to be broken in order to rescue him from suffocation. Fortunately the most of Wallingford's teams were out on the road, but he lost his beautiful $400 omnibus, which was the pride of Marion. The other losses in the stable include a large lot of corn and hay, several buggies and three horses—one belonging to Mr. LaRue, one to Mr. Vinson and one to Mr. Tonkin. The one owned by Mr. Tonkin was the fine $250 thoroughbred formerly owned by Sam Gugenheim. Mr. Wallingford had but $600 insurance and his loss above that amount will be about $3500. Wallingford thought he had $1200 insurance, but $600 of it ran out recently.

Immediately adjoining the livery stable was the beautiful private residence of Mr. D. Woods, for many years clerk of the Crittenden county court. This was burned to the ground, though the greater portion of the contents were saved. Mr. Woods carried an insurance of $1,150 only, which will make his loss fully $1500 above the insurance.

Sam Henry had his marble shop in a small building adjoining the stable, and lost a lot of fine marble, and several completed grave stones. His loss will probably reach several hundred dollars but we did not learn that he carried any insurance.

Another small building, worth probably $150, belonging to Sam Gugenheim, which had been occupied by Mr. Kingston as a picture gallery, was torn down and destroyed in order to save an adjoining building.

Two houses across the street belonging to Mrs. Electa Frisbie were scorched and smoked, as was the Presbyterian church also.

This fire is another expensive reminder of the absolute necessity for water-works or some other adequate means of fighting fire in our town. A large number of our citizens turned out and worked manfully to stay the flames and rescue property. The origin of the fire is veiled in mystery.

BRYAN ON THE RESULT.

Says the Reorganizers Have Had Their Eyes Opened as to the Conditions.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 9.—Bryan tonight gave out an extended statement concerning yesterday's election, which is intended to serve as his comment on the result and as his answer to reports connecting him with a movement looking to the formation of a new party. He says:

"The democratic party has met with overwhelming defeat in the national election. Questions for consideration now are what lessons does the election teach and what of the future? The defeat of Parker should not be considered a personal one. He did as well as he could under the circumstances. He was the victim of unfavorable conditions and of a mistaken party policy.

"He grew in popularity as the campaign progressed and expressed himself more and more strongly upon the trust question but could not overcome the heavy odds against him.

"The so-called conservatives charged the defeat of 1896 and 1900 to the party's position on the money question, and insisted that victory could be won by dropping the coinage question entirely. The convention accepted the theory and the platform made no reference to the money question, but Parker felt it his duty to announce his personal adherence to the gold standard. His gold telegram, while embarrassing to the democrats of the West and South, was applauded by the Eastern press. He had the cordial endorsement of Mr. Cleveland, who certified that the party had returned to 'safety and sanity.' He had the support of the democratic papers who bolted in 1896, and he also had the aid of nearly all those who were prominent in the campaigns of 1896 and 1900, and still his defeat is apparently greater than the party suffered in either of these years.

"The reorganizers were in complete control of the party, they planned the campaign and carried it on according to their own view and the verdict against their plan is an unanimous one.

"Defeat was due to the fact that the democratic party attempted to be conservative in the presence of conditions which demand radical remedies. It sounded a partial retreat when it ought to have ordered a charge along the line. In 1896 the line was drawn for the first time during the present generation between plutocracy and democracy and the party's stand on the side of democracy alienated a large number of plutocratic democrats who in the nature of things can not be expected to return and it drew to itself a large number of earnest advocates, whose attachment to these reforms are much stronger than their attachment to any party name. The republican party occupies the conservative position. That is, it defends those who, having obtained unfair advantages, through class legislation, insist that they shall not be disturbed, no matter how oppressive their exactions may become.

"The democratic party can not hope to compete successfully with the republican party for this support. But it can strengthen itself by inviting the open and emphatic hostility of this element. The campaign just closed shows that it is as inexpedient from the standpoint of policy as it is wrong from the standpoint of principle, to attempt any conciliation of the industrial and financial despot who are gradually getting control of all the avenues of wealth. The democratic party, if it hopes to win success, must take the side of the plain, common people.

"The election has opened the eyes of the hundreds of thousands of honest and well meaning democrats who a few months ago favored the reorganization of the party. These men now see that they must either go into the republican party or join with the democrats of the West and South into making the democratic party a positive, aggressive and progressive reform organization. There is no middle ground."

Mr. Bryan says he did what he could to prevent the reorganization of the democratic party and when he failed in this he did all he could for Parker and Davis, and there were some vital ones promised by their election. Now that the campaign is over he will help, assist those who desire to put the democratic army once more upon a fighting basis; he will assist in organizing for the campaign of 1908. Mr. Bryan continues:

"It does not matter so much who the nominee may be. During the next three years circumstances may bring into the arena some man specially fitted to carry the standard. It will be time enough to nominate a candidate when we are near enough to the campaign to measure the relative availability of those worthy to be considered, but we ought to begin now to lay our plans for the next national campaign, and to form the line of battle.

"The party must continue to protest against a large army, and against a large navy and stand for the independence of the Filipinos for imperialism adds the menace of militarism to the corrupting influence of commercialism.

"The party must also maintain its position on the tariff question. It must renew its demand for an income tax, to be secured through constitutional amendment, in order that wealth may be made to pay its share of the expense of the government. Today we are collecting practically all of our Federal revenue from taxes upon consumption, and these bear heavily upon the poor and lightest on the rich.

"The party must maintain its position in favor of bimetalism. It can not surrender its demand for both gold and silver as the standard money of the country, but the question must remain in abeyance until conditions so change as to again bring the public face to face with falling prices and a rising dollar. This, therefore, can not be made the controlling issue of the contest upon which we are entering.

"The trust question presents the most acute phase of the contest between democracy and plutocracy so far as economic issues are concerned. The President virtually admits the trusts contributed to his campaign fund, but he denies that they received any promise of aid or immunity. No well informed person doubts that the large corporations have furnished the republican campaign fund during the campaigns of 1896, 1900, and 1904, and no one can answer the logic of Parker's arraignment of the trust contribution. The trusts are run on a business principle. They do not subscribe millions of dollars to a campaign unless they are paying for favors already granted or purchasing favors for future delivery.

"Roosevelt has four years within which to make good his declaration that no obligations were incurred by the acceptance of trust funds.

"Death to every private monopoly must be the slogan of the party on this question, any other position is a surrender.

"The party must continue its defense of the wage earners; it must protect them from the encroachment of capital. The fact that the laboring men have not always shown their appreciation of the party's position ought not to deter the party from doing its duty by them.

"The party must continue its opposition to national banks of issue and must insist on divorcing the treasury department from Wall street.

"The party must continue its fight for the popular election of senators, and for direct legislation, wherever the principle can be applied.

Doesn't Respect Old Age.

HOW TO STAY YOUNG.

How old are you? The adage says that women are as old as they look and men as old as they feel. That's wrong. A man or woman is as old as they take themselves to be.

Growing old is largely a habit of the mind. "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." If he begins shortly after middle age to imagine himself growing old he will be old.

To keep one's self from decrepitude is somewhat a matter of will power.

The fates are kind to the man who hangs on to life with both hands. He who lets go will go. Death is slow only to tackle the tenacious.

Ponce de Leon searched the wrong place for the Fountain of Youth. It is in one's self. One must keep one's self young inside so that while the "outer man" perisheth the inner man is rewarded day by day.

When the human mind ceases to exert itself, when there is no longer an active interest in the affairs of this life, when the human mind stops reading and thinking the man begins to die.

MAY CUT OUT WICKLIFF.

Bardwell, Nov. 3.—There is considerable friction between the town of Wickliff and the Illinois Central Railroad Co., because of the unwillingness of the railroad company to accede to the demands made by the town. The railroad is preparing to build a new road from a point south of Ft. Jefferson, east of Wickliff, and intersect with its line north of town. Wickliff is demanding certain things from the railroad the company thinks is wrong, and as a consequence they are smartly at loggerheads. The railroad company threatens to cut Wickliff out of its system.

Your Education.

Is your education as satisfactory and profitable as you would like? Most people must answer this question in the negative, because they do not use their education. The training given in this institution is useful every day and is therefore the best education in the world. It will prepare you for success when the opportunity comes. Be Ready. Be Ready.

Practical Practice.

The way to learn to do a thing, is to do it.
The way to learn to conduct a business, is to conduct one.
Practice makes perfect—A course at Lockyear's Business College begins in actual practice, continues in actual practice, and ends in actual practice. We use over $5,000 worth of typewriters, office furniture, individual desks, and books, making the entire course of the highest value.
