ANOTHER RAILROAD

Means a Better and Greater Morganfield and the Development of the Vast Coal Fields of Union County.

MARION SHOULD PROFIT BY THE EXAMPLE

An enthusiastic meeting of the Morganfield Commercial Club and other interested citizens was held in the court house last Saturday night. Saturday morning word was sent to the city that representatives of the Chicago Construction Company were at that time coming over the route of the proposed railroad from Providence to Morganfield, and that a proposition would be submitted to the citizens of Morganfield on their arrival here.

As soon as possible bills were printed and distributed calling on all members of the Commercial Club and all other interested citizens to meet in the court house Saturday night at half-past seven o'clock.

The representatives of the Chicago Construction Company arrived here about six o'clock, having come from Wheatcroft in a carriage. Following the proposed route and studying the topography of the country.

At seven-thirty a large number of our citizens had gathered in the auditorium of the court house, and shortly afterwards the representatives of the Chicago Construction Company came in.

P. H. Miller called the meeting to order and in a few appropriate remarks stated its object.

I. C. Flournoy then made a short talk, in which he declared that the business men of Morganfield were at the mercy of the heavy hand of the Illinois Central; that the arbitrary rates fixed by that road had crippled the business interests of the city. It is manifest, he declared, that our town cannot grow as she should unless we have a competitive line of railroad. We cannot secure industries because no enterprise cares to subject itself to the mercy of one railroad. This is as good a town as a crow ever flew over, and all we need to push it forward is another railroad. Tonight we are to have a proposition to build another road submitted to us. We have with us Mr. John S. Level, who represents the Chicago Construction Company. He has gone over the proposed route today, and will submit a proposition to you to build a line of road connecting Morganfield with some point on the L. & N. system, provided we secure the right of way, switch and depot grounds and subscribe for $50,000 in first mortgage gold bonds.

The proposition of the Chicago Construction Company was then read. It had been prepared and reduced to writing. The proposition was drawn in the nature of a contract between the Chicago Construction Company and the subscribers to the fund.

In substance its provisions were that the Chicago Construction Company would

First, build a standard gauge railroad from Morganfield to some point on the L. & N. system provided,

The citizens of Morganfield subscribe for $50,000 of five per cent. gold bonds.

Second, that 25 per cent of the amount subscribed shall be paid after the road bed is graded from Morganfield to some point on the L. & N.; 25 per cent to be paid when all of the bridges, trestles and culverts are built; 25 per cent to be paid when the track is laid from Morganfield to some point on the L. & N.; and the remaining 25 per cent to be paid when trains are run over the line on advertised schedule.

Third, that the road shall be built by different citizens and different features of the road discussed.

Attention was called to the fact that another road would place Morganfield in the "common point" class when the matter of rates was being fixed, and that this meant we would get lower and better rates on all classes of freight; the construction of the road would in all probability be carried on from this point, which meant that more money than that subscribed would go into the channels of business of this city. It was also stated by the gentlemen who proposed to build the road that the earning capacity of the road was always the consideration of primary importance and that this road would run through one of the richest coal fields in Kentucky, which made it especially desirable. One gentleman, it was shown, will produce more freight than all of the agricultural section through which the road will run.

After a great deal of discussion a committee was appointed to confer with the representatives of the Chicago Construction Company in regard to some changes in the contract it was desired to make. This committee was composed of J. E. Taylor, John M. Crowe, Lucien Drury, R. M. Young and L. C. Flournoy.

The meeting then adjourned, and the committee and representatives of the Chicago Construction Company went to the Capital Hotel, in the parlors of which the desired changes were discussed.

The most important change, or rather addition to the contract, desired, was that relating to the time when work on the road should begin and when it should be finished. After discussing this matter thoroughly it was agreed that work on the roads should be commenced within six months from acceptance of the proposition and to be finished within two years from the time its construction begins.

This does not mean that the work will not be started before that time nor that the road will not be finished in less time than two years, but that it must be started and finished in that time.

RIGHT OF WAY.

Monday night the committee appointed by the commercial club met in Drury & Drury's office and discussed the proposed routes of the new railroad. Two routes are being considered, one going out by Boxville, the other following the direction of the Morganfield and Sturgis road.

J. K. Waller and Will Hamner were appointed to solicit the right of way over the latter route and J. G. Taylor was appointed to see after the right of way over the route going by Boxville.

The gentlemen appointed went to work the next day and met considerable encouragement. Almost every man approached either gave the right of way or promised to do so. While the reception given the solicitors was most encouraging sufficient rights to secure the road on neither route have yet been secured.

The road cannot be constructed unless the right of way is secured and those land owners over whose land the road will pass should consider every advantage offered carefully before declining to give the right of way.

It has not yet been determined which route will be selected, but we suppose the one offering the best inducements will secure the road.

And let it not be forgotten that whatever is done must be done at once. Consider the proposition carefully, and when approached by the solicitors be ready to say what you will do.

One important consideration for all owning land under which coal or other minerals are to be found, when discussing the new railroad proposition, is the increased value of mineral rights wherever the road runs near enough to make the development of such minerals practical. Mineral rights under land far removed from a railroad will never be worth anything, for the reason that the mineral can not be mined. Suppose you own 200 acres of land located some distance from a railroad. The mineral right under that land is practically valueless. Let a railroad run through or near your land and it is worth from $5 to $10 an acre—in other words, the railroad will enhance the value of your land from $1,000 to $2,000. Think of this when asked to give the right of way for the proposed road.

The proposition submitted by the Chicago Construction Company and amended by the committee appointed by the Commercial club, is as follows:

SUBSCRIPTION FOR BONDS

Articles of agreement, made and entered into this 1st day of April, A. D. 1905, by and between the Chicago Construction Company, party of the first part, and the undersigned citizens of Union and Webster counties, Ky., parties of the second part.

Witnesseth, that for and in consideration of the benefits accruing to the parties of the second part, from the construction of a line of standard gauge railroad between Morganfield, Ky., and a point on the Louisville and Nashville railroad system, we, the undersigned parties of the second part, hereby individually contract and agree to subscribe for, and to take and pay for, at the par value thereof, in the manner and at the times hereinafter specified, the respective amounts of first mortgage gold bonds set opposite our names, to be issued on said railroad, as follows to-wit:

When the railroad is graded the entire distance between Morganfield, Ky., and a point on the Louisville & Nashville Railroad system, twenty-five per cent. (25) of the amount subscribed hereon shall be due and payable. When the bridges, trestles, culverts, cattle guards, road-crossings, etc., are constructed and the road-bed made ready for the track, an additional twenty-five per cent. (25) shall be paid. When the track is laid the entire distance between Morganfield, Ky., and a point on the Louisville & Nashville railroad system, the third twenty-five per cent. (25) shall be due and payable, and on the day the railroad is open for traffic and the first train is run into the depot grounds, selected for Morganfield, Ky., the remaining twenty-five per cent. (25) shall be due and payable.

The said work at its various stages of progress to be acceptable to the railroad company. But no part of the subscription shall become due or payable until the mortgage herein provided for is executed by the railroad company and duly put to record, and the bonds herein subscribed for are placed in escrow in the People's Bank of Morganfield, Ky.

The above installments shall be due and payable to the party of the first part at the People's Bank of Morganfield, Ky., and the parties of the second part hereby authorize and instruct the party of the first part to draw on them for the respective installments as they become due, under this agreement, by sight draft. The party of the first part agrees to have said bonds properly executed by the railroad company, and to place the bonds herein subscribed for in escrow in the People's Bank of Morganfield, Ky., to be delivered to the respective subscribers therefor, when fully paid for, under the terms of this agreement.

The bonds hereinbefore referred to shall be first mortgage gold bonds of the denomination of one hundred dollars ($100.00) each, and shall run for a term of twenty years (with option of redemption by the railroad company at any time before maturity at par value and accrued interest), and shall bear interest from the first day of January, 1906, at the rate of five per cent (5) per annum, due and payable semi-annually, and said bonds shall be secured by a first and paramount mortgage or deed of trust upon the said railroad, and all branches and extensions thereof, and additions thereto, including, also, all railway, rights of way, depot grounds, springs, wells and water rights, and all lands used in connection with the operation and maintenance of the said railroad, also all tracks, side-tracks, turn-outs, bridges, trestles, culverts, cattle guards, road-crossings, fences, depots, station-houses, engine-houses, machine shops, and all other structures now held or hereafter to be acquired by the railroad company, its successors, or assigns—as more fully set forth in the mortgage or deed of trust, which the party of the first part hereby covenants and agrees the railroad company shall execute to some responsible trust company to secure said bonds. The bonds to be issued on said railroad are part of the general issue of four hundred thousand ($400,000.00) of first mortgage gold bonds, to be issued on said railroad, and conditionally that the citizens of Morganfield and surrounding country will subscribe for fifty thousand dollars ($50,000.00) worth of same, the party of the first part agrees to construct, equip and operate the said railroad, commencing the construction thereof within a reasonable time from this date. Work to be begun within six months after the acceptance of this contract and be completed in two years from time it is begun.

In witness whereof we hereunto set our hands and subscribe the amount of bonds opposite our names, the day and year first above written. —Morganfield Sun.

SIX PROMINENT LAWYERS.

Will Defend Caleb Powers at His Next Trial.

Louisville, April 15.—The next trial of Caleb Powers promises to attract more attention than any of the previous hearings of this now famous case. From present indications Mr. Powers will be represented by two former governors, in addition to prominent Kentucky counsel.

Former Governor Frank C. Black, of New York, some time ago wrote to Mr. Powers stating that he had carefully studied his case, and that he would volunteer his services as one of his attorneys at the next calling of the case.

Yesterday Mr. Powers received a communication from former Gov. Robert E. Yates, of Illinois, volunteering his services.

In addition to Gov. Black and Gov. Yates, the following will act as counsel for Mr. Powers: Judge J. C. Simms, of Bowling Green; R. C. Kinkead and R. D. Hill, of Louisville; Judge H. Clay Howard, of Paris.

The case will probably be called by Judge Stout at the May term of the Scott county court, and a special term ordered for July or August to hear the case.

FERRY MAN SHOT

On Tradewater—Man Who Used Gun In Jail Here.

Wednesday John Childress, a farmer of near the mouth of Cypress creek, on Tradewater river, shot a Mr. Byrd, another farmer of the same locality, who is also ferryman at that point on the Tradewater. Only one shot was fired which entered Byrd's right side near the diaphragm and so far has not proved fatal. The incident was the result of dissatisfaction that arose over a small difference in an account they had attempted to settle previous to this time.

The scene of the shooting was on Byrd's ferry boat.

After the shooting Childress went to Blackford and gave himself up to the police judge, but as the authorities at Blackford had no jurisdiction in the case, the tragedy occurring in this county, Childress left Blackford and came direct to Marion and gave himself up. He was lodged in jail and will be given an examining trial Saturday.

Childress claims he shot in self defense. He says he had just driven his wagon and team onto Byrd's ferry boat to be transferred across Tradewater and while in the wagon he claims that Byrd raised a scuffle and made steps toward him to strike when he (Childress) secured his pistol, which was in the wagon, and fired.

It is said that there were several eye witnesses to the shooting.

We are still in business. W were not in the fire and our goods were not damaged.

FRUIT CROP ONLY DAMAGED

BY THE RECENT WINTER WEATHER.

TOBACCO IS UNHURT

The Frost Sunday Night was One of the Heaviest of the Winter.

Although almost the entire State of Kentucky was visited Sunday morning by a snowfall ranging from one to two inches, which was followed Sunday and Monday nights by heavy frosts, that of Sunday night being reported one of the heaviest of the past winter, yet reports from various points in the State indicate that the fruit crop is only damaged.

PASSED CRISIS IN SAFETY.

Lexington, Ky., April 17.—The fruit section of Central Kentucky has apparently passed the crisis of the cold wave of the last twenty-four hours in safety. The leading nursery men say that none of the fruit has suffered. Young tobacco plants are unhurt. The cold extended all over the Bluegrass region. The snowfall reached one inch, but the accompanying frost was not of the killing kind. Fruit prospects are declared to be fine.

FEARS OF FROST DAMAGE.

Paducah, Ky., April 17.—McCracken county was visited by a heavy white frost this morning, and it is greatly feared the fruit crops have been killed. The frost was one of the heaviest seen in this section this winter, and opinions vary as to whether it was destructive or not. The farmers claim it damaged everything.

SNOW AND WIND.

Lawrenceburg, Ky., April 17.—A heavy snow fell here yesterday, and the ground was covered for a short time. The snow was accompanied by a wind which did some damage to fencing and tobacco barns.

COLD AT OWINGSVILLE.

Owingsville, Ky., April 17.—The cold wave struck this section Saturday night, and snow fell for two hours yesterday, melting almost as fast as it fell. It is feared fruit is killed. The temperature is rising rapidly.

NO DAMAGE DONE.

Lexington, Ky., April 17.—Snow fell here yesterday morning for two hours, completely covering the ground and submerging the green foliage. The storm soon passed and no damage was done to fruit or vegetation.

SNOW AT NASHVILLE.

Nashville, Tenn., April 17.—At 8 o'clock yesterday morning a light snow fell here, the thermometer standing at 37. Reports from the central portion of the State show similar conditions.

SNOW IN SOUTHEASTERN KENTUCKY.

Mt. Vernon, Ky., April 17.—Snow fell for an hour here yesterday morning and covered the ground to a depth of two inches. Snow fell generally throughout southeastern Kentucky.

SOME DAMAGE IN INDIANA.

Indianapolis, April 17.—Dispatches from all parts of the state report snow flurries and a fall in temperature. In the northern portion it is believed that early fruit has been seriously damaged. Throughout the central and southern portions, however, the fruit has escaped injury, according to the belief of fruit growers.

DAMAGED BY HEAVY FROST.

Mayfield, Ky., April 17.—Much damage was done to crops, gardens and fruit by a heavy frost last night.

SNOW AT GLASGOW.

Glasgow, Ky., April 17.—The people here were yesterday morning treated to rather an unusual sight. At six o'clock a heavy snowstorm began, and for an hour or more the snow fell thick and fast. Several frosts have been reported, but up to this time the frosts have been considered harmless.

FRUIT MAY BE DAMAGED.

Hawesville, April 17.—A heavy snowstorm raged here for several hours early Sunday morning. The housetops were covered until about midday. It is feared that fruit in this section will be greatly damaged, as there was much ice.

SERIOUS IN THE SOUTH.

In Indian territory the truck farmers and fruit growers appear to have suffered especially heavy losses, with meteorological indications of even further damage. Kansas reports the entire peach crop killed, except in the southern counties. Indiana appears to have suffered a heavy loss in fruit, with the thermometer still sinking. Oklahoma, storm-swept, report that the tornadoes and cloudbursts which have played havoc with much of her present crops also menace the spring planting.

Among the optimistic states is Missouri, which reports that the fruit crop may be saved. Illinois officials believe the crops there have escaped serious damage. Iowa is equally hopeful. Texas reports that the cold wave is passing and that little damage has been inflicted along the fruit belt.

LOCAL EXCHANGE

Completed at Hampton for Independent Telephone Company.

J. C. Ramage, local manager of the Independent Telephone system at Providence, was in the city Tuesday enroute home from Hampton, where he had just completed a local exchange that will be under the management of the popular druggist, H. E. Worten, of that place. The exchange has a splendid drop board, to which is already connected something like thirty-five or forty telephones. The system bids fair to be popular with the farmers in that locality, who will likely have lines extending to their farms.

SMALL FIRE

Occurred Wednesday And One of Tenters Came Near Losing Out.

Wednesday morning fire broke out in the tent of W. H. Copper and for a few moments it seemed that the temporary restaurant and grocery, which he had set up after the big fire in March, would be reduced to ashes. The alarm of fire was given, and men came to the scene from all directions, across the burned district of the city which had been cleared of debris and being in good practice from the work done in the recent conflagration, the guy ropes were all soon cut and the tent was torn from over the stand and the flames on the inside were soon smothered. The fire was caused by the overturning of the gasoline reservoir to a coffee urn. The damages sustained by Mr. Copper will amount to something less than $150.

After the fire a tent fly was secured and stretched over the stand and Mr. Copper went to work and by six o'clock in the afternoon the stand was enclosed in iron clad quarters. Mr. Copper is one of the city's most enterprising business men. He was the first to begin the re-construction work of the city. A few days ago the smoke rose from a splendid new bakery oven near the site of the old one. However we are compelled to say in passing that Mr. Copper has a baker that is as much at home with trowel and mortar as he is when kneading bread.

MAY GO TO ASYLUM

MRS. BROCKWELL EXAMINED FOR INSANITY.

Sentenced at Paducah To Life Imprisonment In Penitentiary.

Mrs. Mary Brockwell, of Paducah, who murdered her three children, pleaded guilty to the crime, and by agreement of attorneys, was sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary.

Her husband is in the asylum near this city, and many persons think she is crazy. County Physician Pendley asked the attorneys to await the action of experts who are examining her for insanity, and expressed the belief that she would be sent to the asylum.

A motion for a new trial by the attorneys for the defense was continued until the next term of court. Meantime Mrs. Brockwell will undergo an examination for insanity, and if proved sane, the verdict will stand; if not, a new trial will be granted.

On Friday night, March 24, Mrs. Brockwell gave three of her little daughters, Ola, Lillie and Lucy, aged four, three and nine years, respectively, morphine in coal oil, telling them that it was medicine.—Kentucky New Era.

TOBACCO TRUSTS

The following is a copy of a resolution introduced by Hon. A. O. Stanley, and adopted by the Tobacco Growers' convention at Slaughter'sville:

Resolved by the tobacco growers of Webster county, Kentucky, at Slaughter'sville assembled:

That we respectfully the attorney general of the state of Kentucky and the several commonwealth's attorneys to lend every assistance in their power to such officers as are, or may be employed by the federal government in the prosecution of all trusts and combines formed, or to be formed for the purpose of controlling or in any way lowering the price of tobacco, or in establishing for this staple any other value than that fixed by the law of supply and demand.

We fully realize that the efforts of the giant corporations, trusts and the emissaries of foreign governments, absolutely control the output and destroy, by illegal combinations, the value of dark tobacco in Kentucky and Tennessee will, unless restrained by law, at last result in the destruction of this industry, and in irreparable damage to the farming interests of this entire country.

AN EASTER WOOLING

BY EMMA T. KILMER
NIGHT 1905 BY EMMA T. KILMER

The Puritan Maid.

I.
EMURE and devout sat the Puritan maid in the governor's high backed pew. Thinking perchance that the burdens laid on damsels were more than a few. For to eyes as bright as a crystal spring where the pebbles lie smooth and white. An Easter bonnet would just be the thing to give them the greatest delight.

II.
THOUGH feathers and flowers were then tabooed, being Easter, the bonnets were there. And she longed to look round, but the minister stood close by on the pulpit stair.

Pretty? That goes without saying, of course, where two dimples played hide and seek. The one in the saucy, upturned chin and the other on rosy cheek.

III.
AT the first it seemed strange to find herself there, alone in that big, square pew. And directly in front of the rest of the folks, though no one was there who knew. That the governor's wife had been ill through the week, and, of all the pews in the church. To have that of the Moffatts left empty would seem like Easter-tide left in the lurch.

IV.
NOW, her mother had said as she bade her goodbye: "You will see that no sign of complaint is made of your trifling or want of respect for the words of our pastor, a saint. Who has ministered long in all holy things. And be sure to remember the text. Keep your eyes where they should be, not wandering off"— But whatever there might have come next

HE TURNED TO THE PAGE.

V.
WAS lost on Miss Catherine. "Why, there is the bell," she said as she ran through the hall. For to walk up that aisle with every one there would have suited her least of all.

And, lo! as the service began they stepped right into that great, square pew. A gentleman—well, he had been a guest, but not more than a month or two.

VI.
AND the sexton should never have put him there to embarrass the lady so. But she still sought her text as if she believed he had entered the pew below.

As a matter of course she would miss it then, and what could the gentleman do. In a case of that kind—keep himself to himself, and he in her father's pew?

VII.
A BIBLE lay ready at hand, which he took to show that he knew what to do. For he turned to the page that he wanted at once, writing, "Read it: it's John fifth of two."

Then, laying it carelessly down on the seat, the "lastly" was heard from the desk. And the people made ready to stand on their feet, as singing the hymn would come next.

VIII.
AND for this, as the congregation arose and neither of them could see me. I read, "I beseech thee, lady, but do not propose a new commandment to thee. For this is an old one, as every one knows. That we love one another," and she. Determined he should not outwit her thus. Marked hers in Ruth, at the sixteenth verse:

"Where thou goest I will go, And where thou lodgest I will also make my dwelling place, And where thou liest, lie. Teach me the way thy fathers trod, So I with thee may serve thy God. And they who claim thee near of kin Will not refuse to take me in." But the blushing child had to hide her face as the minister blessed them with peace and grace.

UNDER NEW SYSTEM

AFFAIRS OF ASSOCIATION ARE PLACED

Important Meeting of Executive Committee Held at Clarksville.

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn., April 18.—The executive committee of the Dark Tobacco Growers' Protective Association met here Saturday and put affairs under an entirely new system. The association now takes entire charge of the tobacco controlled by it, even to the sampling. The crop will be marketed through their own agents, who will be held responsible to the buyers for the condition in which it is offered.

For warehousing and inspecting the tobacco controlled by the association the executive committee recently fixed the charges at $3.25, of which $1.75 is to be paid by the farmer. This started an interesting fight, the warehousemen claiming that they could not handle the tobacco for that amount. The local tobacco board of trade entered the fight and asked that the regular inspectors of the market be allowed to sample the association's tobacco at the regular rate of forty cents per hoghead. This brought forth opposition, because one of the inspectors, Dr. Crouch, is said to have sold his tobacco outside of the association. Polk Prince, of Montgomery county, suggested that the warehousemen be allowed $3.40 per hoghead for handling the tobacco, they agreeing to pay twenty cents to the inspectors for sampling.

The warehousemen accepted the proposition and this matter was settled. The board of trade requested that their inspectors be appointed to do the sampling. The executive committee took up this matter and after considerable discussion, the committee submitted a proposition to the regular inspectors, allowing them to do the sampling provided they would accept twenty cents instead of forty cents. This proposition was turned down by the board of trade. The committee then elected C. T. Young, one of the oldest and most prominent tobaccoists in Clarksville, its general inspector, fixing his bond at $25,000. It was decided that he would have entire charge of the sampling in all counties in the association, he to appoint his assistant inspectors.

CONSUMPTION'S WARNING

Inside facts soon become evident in outside symptoms.—Dr. G. G. Fenner.

Q The aid of scientific inventions is not needed to determine whether your lungs are affected. The first symptoms can be readily noted by anyone of average intelligence.

Q There is no disease known that gives so many plain warnings of its approach as consumption, and no serious disease that can be so quickly reached and checked, if the medicine used is Dr. Fenner's German Syrup, which is made to cure consumption.

Q It is in the early stages that German Syrup should be taken, when warnings are given in the cough that won't quit, the congestion of the bronchial tubes and the gradual weakening of the lungs, accompanied by frequent expectoration.

Q But no matter how deep-seated your cough, even if dread consumption has already attacked your lungs, German Syrup will surely effect a cure—as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble.

JAMES FOR BRYAN.

THINKS HE WILL BE THE NOMINEE.

Big Congressman May Him- self Be a Candidate For Governor.

Representative Ollie James is out in an interview declaring that Bryan can have the Democratic nomination
three years hence if he wants it.

"In my opinion," said Mr. James,
"Mr. Bryan is as strong with the people today, if not stronger, than at any time in his career, and it is not at all improbable that he will be the nominee in 1908."

It need not surprise the Kentucky politicians, according to a Washington dispatch, if Mr. James should enter the race for the nomination for governor of Kentucky in 1907. He says he is not a candidate now and that the election is too far in the future to talk about now. His friends are after him to become a candidate, however, and they hope to get his consent.

TO BUILD FACTORY

The new duty imposed by the British parliament on stripped tobacco will throw numerous hands in Hopkinsville out of employment, but it will not affect the building of the Imperial company's big factory here,
and the present plans of construction
will be carried out.

It is said that about 5,000 persons in Kentucky and Tennessee will have to seek new jobs, and the decision will have the effect of reducing the efficiency of several other branches of the tobacco trade, particularly the manufacture of fertilizer made from the stems and the manufacture of extract made from same. Hopkinsville is not directly affected, the chief points in Kentucky being Henderson and Owensboro.

The extent to which the industry has been affected can be approximated when it is considered that between 50,000,000 and 70,000,000 pounds of tobacco were shipped annually to England. This will now be stripped in England, and it is said a company has been organized there to take over the stems and utilize them as they were utilized there.—Kentucky

Terrific Race With Death.

"Death was fast approaching," wrote Ralph F. Fernandez, of Lima, Pa., describing his fearful struggle with death, "as a result of liver trouble and heart disease, which had robbed me of sleep and of all interest in life. I had tried many different doctors and several medicines, in my first I got no benefit until I began to take Dr. F. Fernandez's Bitters. So wonderful was their effect, that in three days I felt like a new man, and today I am cured of all my troubles." Guar-

The Resurrection Flower, the Lily

By GEORGE
H. PICARD

Copyright, 1906, by George H. Picard

THE lily has long been the resurrection flower of the Christian churches. It is a distinction based entirely on its beauty and adaptability. All vegetable growth is symbolic of the resurrection. The plant which springs from a tiny poppy seed is more miraculously so than that which comes forth from a more promising bulb like the lily. The stately flower is also the symbol of martyrdom and virginity. The early Christian painters, to whom the world is indebted for so many of its theological traditions, are probably responsible for that.

One of the most exquisite of the monkish legends is to the effect that the lily is one of the flowers which changed their color on the morn of resurrection day. Is it not true, these gentle sophists ask, that the Saviour himself declared that even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these? Originally erect and resplendent with color, it bowed its stately head and put aside its gorgeous raiment, retaining only its sweetness.

The flower which has come to be known in the American market as the Easter lily is a variety of the Lilium longiflorum, named harrisi, from its originator and first cultivator. It is so easily cultivated and may be shipped so successfully that its propagation has become a great industry in certain favorable locations, notably in Bermuda, which seems to be peculiarly adapted to its production in unlimited quantities. Lily growing is now the chief business in Bermuda, and the frostless and humid island is a level stretch of lily fields. There are more than 200 farms on the island which are devoted to the cultivation of this fragrant crop.

The major part of the industry consists in the raising and exporting of bulbs. These are shipped to all parts of Europe and America, and they are easily brought into flower by professional florists and even by the most inexperienced amateur.

A marketable lily bulb must measure
at least five inches in circumference.
Propagated from a scale—the technical name for one of the external accretions to the parent bulb—at least three years of growth and cultivation are necessary before it can be marketed as a mature flowering bulb. Commercially the bulbs are divided into three classes—five to seven, seven to nine and nine to eleven. These designations represent the average circumferences of the bulbs in inches. A five to seven bulb should bear five or six perfect blossoms. A seven to nine bulb, if given liberal treatment, will yield seven or eight flowers. The largest size lily bulb is expected to furnish from ten to sixteen extra large blossoms. The prices of bulbs are graded according to their size.

The stock used to keep up the succession of bulbs is derived from the smaller ones, as a rule. Sometimes, however, it becomes necessary to vary the process and to use only the largest bulbs for propagating purposes. When that happens the price of mature lily bulbs soars upward, and the supply is visibly diminished. The lily crop is planted in October, and most of the labor of preparing the soil and putting in the bulbs is done by the negro farmers, who are sometimes in the employ of the great lily planters and sometimes till their own freehold fields. After the crop is in little is required beyond keeping the growing plants free from weeds.
The warm sun and the humid atmosphere are depended upon to do the rest, and they rarely fail to do their part in the interesting process.

Late in February or very early in March the Bermudan landscape is a thing once seen to be remembered all ways. On some of the larger farms it is no uncommon sight to find 100,000

lilies in full bloom in a single field.
The whole island of Bermuda is converted into a gigantic lily bed. The odor which rises from this vast aggregation of sweets is almost overpowering, especially in the early morning, when there is no breeze to waft it seaward. Passengers on the steamers which ply between the various ports of the group can easily recognize this scent several miles out at sea.

The lily plantations retain their beauty for several weeks. Firstly, however, the stalk withers and dries up, and all the remaining energy of the plant is devoted to the formation of the bulb. During the latter part of June the digging begins. This is decidedly reminiscent of the annual potato digging at the north. All the sentiment attached to lily culture gives place to a very keen and careful computation as to the probable outcome.
As the bulbs are taken from the ground they are sorted into their various classes by expert hands and carefully packed in boxes, each one wrapped in a protective covering of dried sphagnum. Shipments begin in July and are continued until the latter part of August. Undersized bulbs and those reserved for next season's planting stock are packed in sand which has been dried to prevent germination.
Thus prepared, they are permitted to rest for two months before the fall planting begins.

When the lily bulbs reach the great importing centers they are handled with great promptness. The importers forward them in great quantities to seedsmen and florists, who have placed advance orders, and they are then retailed to all descriptions of growers.
The annual lily crop brings the Bermudan farmers at least $250,000, and the bulbs and flowers retailed in American cities alone amount to more than $500,000. This seems a large sum

NEW RULES ADOPTED

STATE RAILROAD COM-MISSIONERS.

They are Effective at Once-- Some of the Prov- isions.

The Kentucky Railroad Commission has formulated a set of rules governing the investigation of complaints which may be filed before that body. These rules have been filed at Frankfort for record. In speaking of these rules Secretary Glenn said:

"The work of the commission has increased to such an extent during the past year as to necessitate a more systematic handling of the large number of complaints which are constantly being filed with the commission. It is believed that these rules will materially expedite these investigations and aid the complainants as well as the railroads in presenting their contentions to the commission."

The new rules provide among other things that all complaints to the commissioners must be in writing, either the form of a letter or a petition.

That no technical pleading is required in the complaint.

Before causing notice to be issued to the carrier, the latter shall be notified of the complaint and the person or persons who file it, that the abuse may be removed if desired,
without a formal trial.

The secretary of the commission will make complete copies for both sides.

Those complaining and complained of may appear either in person or by counsel before the commission.

Any member of the commission will issue subpoenas for any witness desired by either side.

"HOLD ON DOC,"

The Groom Cried, in Midst of Wedding, "I Got Ter Spit."

HAMILTON, O., April 17.— While Dr. Guy Porter Benton, the dignified president of the Miami University, at Oxford, O., was uniting in marriage a rustic couple in his study, Wm. Turner, the groom, interrupted the services with "Hold on, Doc, I got ter spit," and going to the door shot a streak of tobacco juice from his puckered lips and followed it with ejecting a big quid of tobacco. He then calmly returned to the side of his bride and the worthy doctor concluded the cermony.

Saved by Dynamite.

Sometimes, a flaming city is saved by dynamiting a space that the fire can't cross. Sometimes, a cough hangs on so long you feel as if nothing but dynamite would cure it.
Z. T. Gray, of Calhoun, Ga., writes:
"My wife had a very aggravated cough, which kept her awake nights.
Two physicians could not help her;
so she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which eased her cough, gave her sleep, and finally cured her." Strictly scientific cure for bronchitis and La Grippe. At R. F.
Haynes' drug store, price 50c and $1.00; guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE.

COCHRAN—We are authorized to announce Thomas H. Cochran, a candidate to represent the district composed of Crittenden and Livingston counties in the Kentucky legislature; subject to the action of the Democratic party.

ORIGIN OF THE FIRE.

Our exchanges have about completed the task of explaining the cause of our recent fire, and have attributed it to some small boys, who it is alleged were in Orme's stable "learning to smoke and gamble." If this were the truth, we should be as willing as any one to acknowledge it, and give it publication, but absolutely no authority can be found giving this as the origin of the fire.

It is alleged in the story that has gone the rounds of the press that the "small boys" had made a full confession, and even told what heroic efforts had been made to extinguish the flames as they fed on the dry hay.

We are as much concerned over the origin of the story as in locating the responsibility for the fire, particularly as many inquiries have come to us from anxious parents, but so far the truth in both cases has eluded our efforts and careful inquiries.

If the local correspondents of contemporary papers have been more vigilant or more successful than ourselves in tracing the fire to its proper origin they deserve the credit, but so long as we remain uninformed in the matter we shall brand the story as a "fake." At any rate, both the origin and the effect of the disastrous fire point out the fact that we need fire protection as well as fire prevention. We must have waterworks, fire engine and drilled fire corps.

The frost Sunday night was a heavy blow to the fruit crop.

The Crittenden Record has arisen from the cinders full of brightness, full of promise and full of sparkling items—Louisville Herald.

It is said that never before in the history of Kentucky has there been such a scarcity of mules, and in consequence of a heavy demand, prices are unusually high. The exportation of mules within the past few years, for war purposes, is given as the cause of the scarcity.—Todd County Progress.

Residence Burned.

It was last Thursday that the two story residence burned belonging to J. F. Hughes, between Fredonia and Crider. Mr. Hughes and family were at Fredonia when the fire occurred. There was no one on the place and there was no fire from which the building could have caught fire and for that reason it has been thought that the fire was of incendiary origin. Mr. Hughes' loss was something like $2500 and he carried no insurance. He is well known here and has many relatives in this county.

CONWAY-STONE

Suburb Now Opened Up and Building Lots Ready For Sale.

Capt. W. J. Stone, who is interested in opening up the Conway-Stone sub-division of Marion, was in the city Thursday on business connected with the new suburb. A survey has been made and the lots laid off ready for sale. One lot has been sold already, we are informed, to Mr. F. G. Cox.

Building lots for residence purposes are in good demand, and with the opening up of this large addition a splendid opportunity is offered for making suitable selections in the direction the growth of the city is rapidly extending. We understand that several parties are negotiating for residence lots in the new addition.

Arrested at Paducah.

Lewis Armstrong, who was indicted for perjury and placed in the lockup here from which he afterwards made his escape about two years ago, was arrested at Paducah and brought back Wednesday by Deputy Sheriff Moore, of McCracken county. Armstrong was lodged in jail to await the next term of circuit court.

NOTICE.

Tuesday evening, April 25, is regular meeting night for the Commercial Club. All members should be on hand.

Arrangements will be made for using, temporarily, the K. of P. Hall for Club meetings.

REV. DR. PENTECOST

TAKES TAINTED MONEY FOR THEM.

Not Sanctified By Altar—Donations Made By Rich Men.

"There is a moral quality in money. Judas sold the Saviour for thirty pieces of silver. This is $5.10 in our money. Do you suppose Judas is the only person who has betrayed the Saviour for $5.10? Every man who takes money from his neighbor without equivalent, is betraying his Master," declared Rev. Geo. Pentecost in a sermon at the Madison avenue Baptist Church in New York Sunday, on the subject of so-called "Tainted Money."

"Some people," he continued, "ask why need we inquire into the color of money, whether it be clean or dirty, so long as it be given to God, for the altar sanctifies the gift."

"I do not hesitate to say that this is the most immoral doctrine I ever heard. We must look at the whole question. There is more in the Bible about money than regeneration or forgiveness. We must ask how God has told us to get money and to use money."

The richest man in the world, Dr. Pentecost declared, has been said to hold from five hundred to one thousand millions of dollars.

"He has given," he said, "in charity $28,500,000 during his life, and some people hail him therefore as one of the greatest benefactors of modern times. They have raked over his life with a fine-tooth comb, and this is the sum they have discovered he has given. I tell you it is no more for that particular gentleman to have given that enormous sum than it would be for the man with an income of $5,000 a year to give 5 cents a year."

"If the Lord has so prospered him as to give the high genius, the high integrity to make so great riches, the $28,500,000 is not benevolence; it is mere paltry excuse."

You will find U. G. Hughes, the tombstone man, at the same old stand, on corner opposite school building.

Call at Levi Cook's jewelry store and see the handsome gold watch that the Record will give away.

He then escaped unnoticed, although guards patrol that vicinity almost constantly. Ritchie is five feet six inches tall, weighs 150 pounds, has blue eyes and dark brown hair. He came from southern Kentucky.

POLK OUT ON BOND

He Shot Robert Mitchell, His Son-in-Law.

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn., April.—R. E. Polk, who shot and seriously wounded his son-in-law, Robert Mitchell, Saturday afternoon at the former's home near Rosaview, surrendered to the officers Saturday night and was committed to jail until today, when he furnished bond. Mitchell is in a serious condition, but it thought that he will recover. The affair created much excitement all over this and Robertson counties on account of the prominence of the parties. Reports of the affair are still conflicting.

VANDERBILT FIRE

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 20.—The main building of the Vanderbilt University was gutted by flames this morning and, together with its contents, is a total loss.

The fire began at ten o'clock and, owing to the high wind, could not be controlled.

Several smaller buildings were burned, and St. Thomas hospital was destroyed.

The condition of the fruit crop in Kentucky is uncertain. While killing frosts in this region, and in some other sections of the state, frost was light at Lexington, Bowling Green and many places.

In the weekly crop report issued it states that although frosts occurred frequently during last week, no harm was done until Saturday. It is feared that much damage has been done to fruit and garden truck since then.

During the early part of the week moderately heavy rains fell over the state and were beneficial to crops, but the cold which succeeded retarded growth. Corn planting was hindered by wet ground and cool weather, but all crops are reported in good condition, with farm work well up.

TO PROTECT GIRLS

WARNING SIGNS PLACED IN DEPOTS

Cards Have Been Distributed in Thirteen Different States.

Posted conspicuously all through Kentucky and neighboring states, the following sign, framed in a border of plain wood, has been put up by the Women's Christian association, of Louisville, in an effort to protect and assist young women going from small towns into larger cities in search of work or on pleasure trips:

ATTENTION!

Warning to Young Women Traveling Alone.

Do not start to a strange city or town, even for a night, without previous information of a safe place to stop.

Do not leave home without some money for an emergency and sufficient for a return ticket.

Do not ask or take information or directions except from officials.

Do not accept offers of work, either by persons or by advertisements, without information.

TRAVELERS' AID COMMITTEE, Women's Christian association, Louisville, Ky.

The signs have been sent from Louisville into thirteen states and more than 1,600 of them have been sent out. The women have received hearty co-operation from the railroads, and no objection has been made to placing the warnings in the depots.

The signs are a part of the work which was begun last summer by the Women's Christian association. At that time the association began caring for and protecting women and girls who travel alone, throwing about them the proper influences and seeing to it that they reached their destination. The association established matrons at the depots to watch the lone women and girls, and much good resulted.

The scope of the work has widened and the association is sending the large signs of warning through a number of the states. They are placed in the smaller towns, especially in mining and manufacturing districts, where the young girls are more tempted to leave home and try their fortunes in the cities. The following women of Louisville are members of the Travelers' Aid committee:

Miss Lucy Belknap, chairman; Mrs. John Alexander, Miss Mary Jennie Bell, Miss Ella Compton, secretary; Miss Margaret Griswold, Miss Susan T. Green, treasurer; Mrs. J. B. Judah, Mrs. R. W. Knott, Mrs. Isabella T. Lloyd, Mrs. John McDonough, Mrs. S. C. Maxwell, Mrs. T. P. Taylor, Mrs. Susan Warner, Mrs. Bennett H. Young.

INTERESTING LETTER.

Alfalfa, Wash., March 29, 1905.
Mr. Editor:

If you will allow me space in your valuable paper I will try to tell our many friends in old Crittenden something of our trip to Washington.

We left Crayneville about four o'clock, Tuesday, March 14th. When we got to Marion we were there delayed until seven p. m. on account of a wreck which occurred between that place and Repton. We left Evansville at 11:30 p. m., arriving at Mattoon, Ill., at 4:30 a. m. Mattoon is a nice little city. We saw nothing between Marion, Ky., and Mattoon, Ill., as it was dark all the way.

At Mattoon we struck the I. C. double track, then we went over the country at good speed. We saw some fine country, comparatively level as far as eye could see, and the soil as black as could be. The principal crop was corn.

We had a ten minutes stop at Champagne, where we began to see some snow on the ground, and then at Repton we went the more snow we saw until we got to Gilmon, then it was sleeting and snowing. We had a short stop at Kankakee, Ill. Here the snow was about six inches deep and the people were camped in tents. The country was a little broken at Kankakee, but the soil looked like it would make the stuff.

We arrived at Chicago at noon Wednesday, and had a six hour stop. Our car was left in the switch yards and the agent, Mr. Dardy, said for us to stay in the car and he would come back and go with us to see some of the city, but some of us boys, not believing that he would come back, left the car and took in the city by ourselves. As we were from the backwoods of Crittenden you can imagine how we looked gawking through the streets of Chicago. We can't tell much about the city, only that she was a "golly buster" and had some houses that it took two boys and a man to see the top of, and as to lake Michigan, it is too big to talk about.

We pulled out of Chicago at six o'clock p. m., and after we got out of the city you can talk about riding on the train. The train we were on ran at the rate of seventy miles an hour until we got to Rockford, Ill.

We arrived at St. Paul at 10:20 a. m., and lay over until 10:15 p. m. St. Paul is a nice city, although the streets are lilly. I did not see as much of St. Paul as I did of Chicago, for I was almost past going with a cold, but I saw enough to know that there are lots of slickers there.

After leaving St. Paul we could see nothing until we got to Fargo, N. D., at daybreak, which was about six o'clock. North Dakota has some fine land and is a great wheat country. But the most interesting scenery to me were the bad lands in Montana. We saw sights that were wonderful to behold. Of course we could get only a glimpse of things, but we could see that nature (or in other words, God) has done some wonderful creating. Crossing the mountains was not so scary as we were expecting from what we had heard of them. We saw nothing that was scary to us.

We landed at Toppenish, Wash., at 6:30 o'clock Sunday morning, March 19th. When our crowd got off the train at Toppenish we all felt, and I imagine, looked like a sack full of cats turned loose in some strange place. There was no one at the depot except our crowd and the depot agent, but soon Mr. Collie Hill came and we had a Kentucky hand shake. Part of our crowd went to the hotel and part went to Mr. Hill's. By noon there had quite a few of the Kentucky people come to Toppenish to see who came in the crowd. Before it was dark our crowd was scattered to the four winds of the earth. All who wanted to work got employment at once.

This seems to be a fine country. It will surely make the stuff if it gets the necessary water and the proper work, yet we haven't seen any of those large potatoes and big apples or anything else that is overgrown, still everyone that has been here any length of time has plenty of money.

We would advise people that want to come to Washington not to come in an immigrant car with Mr. Bulger Hill, for if you listen to him he will get you into trouble with the railroad men. You are not allowed as many privileges in an immigrant car as you are on a general passenger car. All Hill cares for is to get you on the train and then bum you for what he eats, so I would advise you if you want to come to Washington to come on any old train, and don't come expecting to find things too good, for if you do you may find things different from what you expected.

I guess I had better close by wishing the Record much success and a good patronage.

Respectfully,

J. M. ANDREWS.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

LESSON IV, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, APRIL 23.

Text of the Lesson, John xii, 12-26. Memory Verses, 12, 13—Golden Text, Matt. xxi, 9—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1905, by American Press Association.]

Multitudes going forth to meet Him with songs of praise and palms of victory, according to Ps. cxviii, 25, 26, make the heart rejoice, because this is as it should be and will be in due time. Although they rejected Him and crucified Him, they will as a nation see Him again, and then will they truly say: "Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord." "Lo, this is our God, We have waited for Him, and He will save us. * * * We will be glad and rejoice in His salvation" (Matt. xxi, 26; Isa. xlv, 9). There is a glorious going forth to meet Him mentioned in 1 Thess. iv, 16-18, in which we shall all take part who are members of His body, redeemed by His precious blood. The palm branches take us back to Ex. xv, 27; Lev. xxi, 40, the cherubim and palm branches of Solomon's and Ezekiel's temples, and on to Rev. vii, 9. When the Son of God shall be King of Israel, then shall we understand all these.

The finding of the ass' colt is fully recorded by Matthew, Mark and Luke and is most suggestive of many helpful truths. The colt was found tied where two ways met, and the two disciples who were sent for him loosed him and brought him to Jesus. It is not flattering to the natural man to compare him to an ass' colt, yet listen to this: "Vain man would be wise though man be born a wild ass' colt" (Job xi, 12). Again it is written that the firstborn of asses and men were to be redeemed, and if the former was not redeemed its neck had to be broken (Ex. xiii, 13). Judge from this the standing of an unconverted person, and yet for such Christ died.

Our Lord rode on that ass' colt into Jerusalem to fulfill that which was written of Him hundreds of years before (Zech. ix, 9), and each of the four gospels contains the record of the fulfillment. It is written in the same prophecy that the Lord shall come with all His saints to the Mount of Olives on the east side of Jerusalem, shall choose Jerusalem again and be King over all the earth (Zech. xiv, 3-9; II, 10-12), and as truly as the one prophecy was literally fulfilled the other will be. Blessed are all who believe (Luke i, 45).

According to verses 17-19 of our lesson, it was the raising of Lazarus that drew the multitude out to meet Him, and, as we have the option of a resurrection lesson today instead of this one, this would be a good place to emphasize that it is the risen, living Christ whom we follow and that we seek to know the power of His resurrection, that His life may be manifest in us. The desire of these Greeks, who were probably either Grecian Jews or proselytes to the Jewish faith (Acts vi, 1; II, 10), to see Jesus was a foreshadowing of the time when, as the Pharisees said in verse 19, all the world will go after Him and all nations be gathered to the name of the Lord to Jerusalem (Jer. iii, 17). Compare Matt. ii, 1, 2; viii, 11, 12.

The desire of these Greeks should be the utterance of every congregation to every preacher. "Sir, we would see Jesus," for the Bible is given to us that we may know God, and God can only be known and seen in Christ Jesus. "Neither knoweth any man the Father save the Son, and he to whomsoever the Son will reveal Him" (Matt. x, 27). He is the Living Word, and the written word centers about and consummates in Him. He could truly say: "Lo, I come; in the volume of the book it is written of Me" (Is. xli, 7; Heb. x, 7), and on one of the resurrection days "He expanded unto them in all the Scriptures the things concerning Him," saying: "All things must be fulfilled which were written in the law of Moses and in the prophets and in the Psalms concerning Me" (Luke xxiv, 27, 44). He is the Creator of all things, the only Redeemer, the only Judge of all mankind. There is no life apart from Him (I John v, 12).

The association of Philip and Andrew in chapters i and vi and in this lesson is a most interesting and profitable study. That they should tell Jesus is suggestive of what we should all do and always do. See Matt. xiv, 12; Mark vi, 30; Phil. iv, 6, 7. As our Lord hears of the Greeks desiring to see Him, and recalls that He was not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel (Matt. xv, 24), and thinks of the other sheep not of this fold (John x, 16), and the time when all kings shall fall down before Him and all nations serve Him (Ps. lxxii, 11), for He ever grasped the whole and looked on to the kingdom and the glory. He considers the only way to this glorious consummation and speaks of His death and resurrection, for He knew all that should come upon Him and had often told them (Luke xviii, 31, 32), but they understood not, for they would not take what He said literally, and there was no other way to take it. There is no crown but by the way of the cross, no glory except by suffering. Any other way is of the devil. See Matt. iv, 8-10; xvi, 21-23.

The shadows of Gethsemane and Calvary are already upon Him, yet while the body would shrink the Spirit cries, "Father, glorify Thy name" (verses 27, 28). If we would serve Him we must deny Him fully, renouncing self and all selfish ways, a continual dying, that His life may be made manifest in us (I Cor. iv, 10, 11). Compare Luke ix, 24, 25, 30, 33; xviii, 33. Self assertion and pleasing and exaltation are of the old man; self denial is Christlike.

RICH IN MINERALS

A REPORT IS MADE ON WESTERN KENTUCKY

Christian, Trigg, Caldwell, Livingston and Lyon Are Commented On.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 18.—The United States geological survey has just published an interesting and valuable report on the lead, zinc and fluorapatite deposits of Western Kentucky. The report is in two parts, and was prepared by Messrs. E. O. Ulrich and W. S. Tangier Smith.

The deposits investigated are situated in Livingston, Crittenden and Caldwell, and adjacent portions of Christian, Trigg and Lyon counties, and in the counties immediately across the Ohio river in the extreme southern portion of Illinois.

The surface of the area is generally rolling and more or less irregularly broken. Some comparatively level uplands appear, but they are always of rather small extent. The irregularities are due primarily to conditions resulting from the abundant faulting to which the region has been subjected.

This district is usually considered a minor division of the lead and zinc districts of the Mississippi valley, but in some ways rather sharply distinguished from the other districts of the valley. It differs from them chiefly in the following respects: (1) In the presence of basic igneous dikes; (2) in the abundance of fluorite and its almost constant association with the lead and zinc ores; and (3) in the mode of occurrence of the ores, which are found principally in true fissure veins that have resulted from fracturing and subsequent faulting. "In the other districts the lead and zinc are of primary importance, while in this region the igneous dikes and the fluorite are the primary or predominant features and the lead and zinc are only incidental.

The stratigraphic geology and geological structure of the area are thoroughly discussed by Mr. Ulrich. Seven illustrative plates contribute to the interest of his investigation.

In taking up the second part of the inquiry, which relates to the ore deposits and mines, Mr. Tangier Smith gives a history of mining operations in the district before discussing the ore deposits or describing the individual mines. His part of the work is illustrated by eight photographic plates and thirty-one drawings.

The minerals forming the ore deposits and associated with them in this district are galena, cerussite, pyromorphite, sulphur, sphalerite, smithsonite, hydrozincite, calamine, greenockite, chalcocite, malachite, fluorite, barite, calcite, quartz, kaolinite, and ankerite. In addition to these small quantities of some of the hydrocarbon compounds are occasionally found in the veins. Of all these minerals, only fluorite, barite, galena, sphalerite, and smithsonite are known to be of economic importance within the district.

The ore deposits thus far developed are somewhat unevenly distributed through Crittenden, Livingston and Caldwell counties. At the present time, as in the past history of mining in this region, the mines of Crittenden county include not only the largest producers in the district, but the largest number of productive veins as well.

The successful development of the district is primarily dependent on the fluorite, as in the majority of the veins the lead and zinc ores can be considered only as by-products, and in many cases perhaps as mere impurities in the fluorite. Most of the mines are as yet in the oxidized zone, and much of the ore from this belt must be cleaned before shipping. With depth, however, the veins will become better defined and the ores cleaner. Further development along the veins now mined will undoubtedly be advantageous. Better transportation and shipping facilities will help to increase the output of the district.

Miss Bonny of The Sunshine Club

By JOHN D. WYNNE

Copyright, 1905, by C. N. Lurie

MR. GRUMMY stood looking out of his window, remarking to himself that the weather was beastly. Mr. Grummy was a testy bachelor of forty, who lived with his maiden sister, aged sixty. He had accumulated a snug fortune and, not having anything else to do, occupied his time in what is facetiously called kicking. He kicked at the weather, the party in power, the trusts, the trades unions, and he had just been kicking against the churches for celebrating Easter with what he termed a lot of flummery because Miss Grummy had asked him for a donation to buy flowers for the church.

"This is Mr. Grummy, I believe," said a cheery voice behind him. Turning, he saw a lady, aged perhaps thirty, looking at him with the most beaming countenance he had ever beheld. She smiled with her mouth, with her eyes—indeed, it seemed to Mr. Grummy that she smiled from the crown of her head to the sole of her foot.

Like any fair lake that the breeze is upon When it breaks into dimples and laughs in the sun.

"Yes, I am Mr. Grummy," said the bachelor.

"And I am Miss Bonny. Your sister told me that I would find you here, and I came in to see you on a little matter the nature of which I will explain to you before entering upon the matter itself. I am a member of the Sunshine club."

"I wish your club would improve the weather," growled Mr. Grummy, but with less acerbity than usual.

"Our work is to try to make people comfortable. We visit the sick and place flowers by their bedside. We endeavor to find out people's special wants and supply them. In short, we are a charitable association, dispensing our charities so as to give the greatest comfort and pleasure."

"Now, that's what I call practical,"

Miss Bonny, figuratively speaking, had thrown a lasso around Mr. Grummy's neck and led him not like a lamb, but like a wild bull that had found a master, though still restive, to the humble home of the Trainers. He had no fancy for looking over the family condition, though that was his ostensible purpose. He simply intended to be with Miss Bonny, but when he beheld Alice Trainer and saw she had a very sweet face and was devoted to her invalid mother he was interested. When he left Miss Bonny he gave her the 25 cents she had asked for, and she appeared as pleased as if he had given a hundred times as much.

"Do you intend going to church Easter Sunday?" asked Miss Bonny.

"Church? No. Why should I go to church? Besides, I have no one to go with me."

"There is Miss Grummy."

"H'm. I wouldn't mind going if you would permit me to"—

"With pleasure."

Easter morning was bright and balmy. An hour before church time Mr. Grummy called on Miss Bonny and asked if she would go with him to the Trainers, as he had an egg for each member of the family. Miss Bonny assented, and together they walked to the Trainers' home. From the moment Miss Bonny entered the sunshine of her presence infused itself into the mother—the father was dead—the daughter and little Tom. Mr. Grummy gave them each an egg, and Miss Bonny noticed that the hand receiving it sank as if under a weight. Tackling Alice's egg, Miss Bonny tapped an end on a table and cracked it, exposing something very like sunshine. It was certainly as yellow as sunshine, for it was gold. Indeed, it was gold coins. The shell was full of them.

Of course there was a flutter, and all eyes were directed to Mr. Grummy, who turned his back, grunting that if he was to go to church he would be on

EASTER MORNING.

said Mr. Grummy. "This giving money to underserving people who will turn upon you and rob you—this wastefulness on such occasions as Easter"—

"I am glad you approve of our cause," interrupted the lady with a voice which in contrast with Mr. Grummy's sounded like the notes of a zither beside those of a kettledrum.

"because I have a case in point. I know you for a practical man, Mr. Grummy. You know we give comfort simply by conferring with and advising certain people who are in any way troubled. I made the acquaintance of the family I have in mind through the daughter, Alice Trainer. I didn't tell you the name was Trainer, did I? Well, Alice came to me about a love affair. She is engaged to a young plumber"—

"A plumber! They're all a set of thieves."

"Johnny Burnes isn't, for I am his confidant too. He only gets $15 a week, but he and Alice are going to be married on this pittance. Now, don't you think, Mr. Grummy, that, inasmuch as you are opposed to placing flowers in the churches on Easter Sunday, you might give me 25 cents to go with some other similar amounts to get Alice a few decent clothes for the bridal?"

"As a practical man," said Mr. Grummy, "I've never done any such work and don't know anything about it. I suppose I ought to go and see these people."

"You'll find them"—

Mr. Grummy held up a deprecating hand. "I'm not going hunting all over town. You'll have to pilot me."

"Certainly, Mr. Grummy. When shall we go?"

"I have only one time to do anything—now!"

time and not one of the laggards that make nuisances of themselves by interrupting the service. But Miss Bonny remained to crack the other eggs and found them also full of gold pieces. Then she ran after Mr. Grummy, who had by this time got half a block away.

Miss Bonny was one of those people who can divine what other people want and more especially what they don't want. She knew instinctively that Mr. Grummy would not like to have her refer to the egg matter, so she said nothing about it, talking only about what deserving people the Trainers were. Suddenly she was surprised at her companion stopping at a flower store. He went in, purchased a large box of flowers and directed them sent at once to the church to which he and Miss Bonny were going. When they entered the Gothic door half an hour later some young girls were placing the flowers among the others with which the church was decorated.

Thus it was that by sunshine methods Miss Bonny converted Mr. Grummy from his opposition to everything that he did not approve—and he approved of nothing—to a valuable member of society, ready to give liberally and fall in with church observances, especially with Easter Sunday, which became his favorite holiday. Notwithstanding this change inwardly, Mr. Grummy is the same outwardly. Though Miss Bonny has had the care of him as his wife for years, he kicks as hard as ever. Mrs. Grummy has the tact always to find an excuse for his kicking and doesn't mind it in the least so long as he does exactly what she wants him to do, and that is give her valuable assistance for the Sunshine club.

FRUIT IS DESTROYED

NIPPED IN BUD BY HEAVY FROST.

Cold Snap Shatters Hope for a Good Fruit Year.

Says the Hopkinsville New Era:

The indications for a prolific fruit crop in Christian county were never better until Sunday, but the heavy frost and accompanying cold weather probably destroyed most of the fruit in bloom. This means that the delicious apples, peaches, pears, cherries and strawberries will likely be unattainable this year unless bought from shippers. Several fruit raisers who claim to be authority on the subject, state that they have carefully examined the blooms and that there was no doubt but that practically the entire crop was ruined. Early Sunday morning there was a heavy flurry of snow.

The thermometer Sunday night went several degrees below freezing and this temperature and the heavy frost nipped the buds. Wherever water was left in anything like an exposed place it was found covered with a thick ice.

All early vegetables such as beans, peas, tomatoes, etc., are killed with few exceptions. Potatoes and corn, where these crops have commenced to come up, are bitten down to the ground, and while the potatoes will grow again it is feared the corn will have to be replanted.

Reports from the country indicate that as yet no damage to the wheat can be detected, although it is rather early to tell definitely about this. Tobacco plants are thought to be safe.

Since noon reports from some localities state that the peach crop is not an entire loss, and that while the great majority of buds are dead, there are some which show no signs of bad effects from the frost.

PAUL JONES' BODY

Ambassador Porter's Search Is Successful.

PARIS, April 15.—The long search by Ambassador Porter for the remains of John Paul Jones has been at last rewarded by the discovery of the Admiral's body in a perfect state of preservation. It was immersed in alcohol, and not only was the resemblance to portraits and medallions of the great sailor convincing, but all the physical facts, such as height and color of hair tallied. Paris surgeons held an autopsy on the body, the results of which showed the existence of the disease of which the Admiral died.

POPULISM IN CHICAGO.

Judge Dunne's Triumph the Logical Outcome of Ag Begun 15 Years Ago By the People's Party.

Every old gray-haired Populist in the United States is rejoicing the election of Judge Edward F. Dunne as mayor of Chicago Municipal Ownership platform, because he sees, after years of the triumph of a principal which has never been clearly enunciated national platform of any except the People's party. After years the abuse and vituperation of the old party press, these people reform view with satisfaction the rapid growth of sentiment in public ownership of public utilities.

Nominally Judge Dunne is a Democrat—but his party has declared for public ownership in its national platform. Nor has publican party. And the Socialists scorn the victory in Chicago in "State Capitalism," as reactionary and dangerous. The People alone has steadfastly upheld the principal which enabled Judge carry Chicago by 25,000, a city which less than six months ago Judge Paaker by a plurality of 110,000.

That the Chicago election this spring was a distinct victory for Populism—and nothing else—is shown conclusively by Hon. Thomas son in a spicy editorial which will appear in the May number of the son's Magazine. Out April 25th. Price ten cents at all news by mail, $1 a year. Address:
