REBUILDING OF MARION

RECONSTRUCTION WORK BEING PUSHED.

EVERYBODY IS BUSY

And Preparations are Being Made for a Greater and Better Marion.

Harry Carahan has the rough lumber on the ground for his cottage residence on Belleville street and he is now getting ready to rebuild a two-story brick store building on Main street.

Contractor Jennings and his assistants were making excavations on the Wheeler lots adjoining the Marion bank site and getting ready to lay the foundations for the three new buildings that Mrs. Wheeler is to build. Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler left a week for Hot Springs, Arkansas, where they go for the benefit of Mrs. Wheeler's health, but before their departure they made all necessary arrangements for the completion of the new buildings.

Johnson & Paris who have contracts to build the Hayward store building on the corner where Vandell-Gugenheim Co., kept, and the Orme drug store buildings adjoining, made excavations this week and began the foundations for the modern structures to be built thereon. The contractors announce to us that Mr. Johnson has made a change in the plans of the interior of his building that will be profitable economy and very convenient. He will have a gallery in the rear end of the building overlooking the lobby and on which clerical business can be attended to.

Mr. Orme has also purchased the Frank Lloyd lot adjoining the site for the above building. He will utilize this lot together with the lot on which the Doss or Billart saloon building stood in erecting the largest store building that has ever yet been constructed in Marion. The building will be a handsome two-story brick structure 36 feet wide and 100 feet long. It is understood that it is to be occupied by Cochran & Pickens as a hardware store. The plans and specifications for this building are now being prepared by Harris & Shopbell the Evansville architects.

Mon. L. H. James has contracted with Boston & Paris to rebuild his store building on Bank street, near the postoffice site. Mr. James will have the same number of offices as before and the building will be constructed similar to the former but several brick will be used and there will be a few small changes in the arrangement that will add to the appearance of the building. It is very likely that the building will be occupied, when completed, by its former tenants, Attorney James & James, and Champion and Chamblin, first floor, and by Doctors J. O. Dixon and O. E. Shively, second floor. The building will go right up. The ground has been broken for the foundation and the contractors propose to build it right along with the Hayward and Orme buildings. In structure and appearance the office building will harmonize with the last two.

Mr. Harris, the Evansville architect, stated to a representative of the Record that he made a contract with the local Masonic lodge to prepare the plans and specifications for the new Masonic temple that will be constructed on the site of the former building on the corner of Main and Belleville, while he was in the city Wednesday. We hope to be able to give the plans and specifications when they are made up in order that we can give briefly an outline of the building. Mr. Harris also stated that he carried with him the contract to make the plans and specifications for the S. M. Jenkins office building to be erected on Bank street. He stated that the modifications in the plans and specifications of Blue & Gugenheim postoffice and other building had not yet been completed but that they would be ready in a few days. The new building will be an improvement over the former in some respects, and by reason of the fact that the physical conditions of the surroundings will be improved more than one hundred per cent, the building will be more favorably situated this time than before. There will be the brick hotel and business houses across the street and the Record office building and a brick machine shop across an alley on the east. Numbers of mining companies, lawyers and doctors and other professional men will have headquarters on this street, and, comparatively speaking, it might be termed the "Wall street of Marion," from the standpoint of importance and general location.

The brick work on the Adams & Pierce machine shop will be completed this week. The dimensions of this building are 45x65. In the corner next to the Record building Messrs Adams and Pierce will have their office and there will be a door leading direct into this from the street. Through the middle of this building there will be a ten foot driveway. Messrs Adams & Pierce are to be congratulated as they will be the first to complete and move into permanent quarters since the big fire.

Sunday's Evansville Courier says that Architects Harris & Shopbell are preparing plans and specifications for Western Kentucky buildings as follows:

For the construction of the Hotel Henderson at Henderson, Ky. This will be an extensive improvement and will make the building modern and convenient in all respects.

For the remodeling of the Capitol hotel at Morgantown. This will be a rearrangement of the entire house and will provide for quarters for the People's bank in the same building.

For the new Marion bank here. This building will be of buff pressed brick and will contain, besides a banking department, a number of modern office rooms.

They are preparing plans for a new postoffice and office building for Messrs. Blue & Gugenheim, of this city, and the plans will be ready for estimates during the coming week.

POPULARITY CONTEST

Miss Blanche Haase Scores

a Point and Takes Second Place.

The voting in the popularity contest moves steadily on. We have not had an opportunity to push the contest ourselves, but it has not been at all forgotten by our friends, as the success of the contestants to a certain extent will depend upon the efforts of their friends. A little personal canvassing among their friends may result in occupying an enviable position and a handsome prize for a reward. It will be either a handsome gold watch or a beautiful diamond ring for the winner. The prizes are of equal value and the person second in the number of votes in the contest will receive just as good a prize as the leading candidate—the difference being that the person leading will have first choice.

Miss Leaffa Wilborn leads this week with 148 votes and Miss Blanche Haase moves up one place, coming in second with 72. Another new candidate, Miss Pearl Marrell, enters the contest.

The result of the voting to date is as follows:

MINUTES

Of the Ministers and Members Held With Old Salem Church.

The following is the minutes of the members and ministers meeting held with "Old Salem" Baptist church in Livingston county Friday and Saturday on the eve of the centennial meeting last Sunday, April 30th:

The ministers and members meeting of the Ohio River Association of Baptists met with Old Salem church April 28, 1905. The weather being so unfavorable Friday morning the representatives of the different churches were late gathering. Elder R. A. LaRue preached in the forenoon.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

After song and prayer services Elder F. B. Blackburn preached the introductory sermon from 1 Cor., 11:12.

Organization and election of officers.

Elder E. B. Blackburn elected moderator and Elder U. G. Hughes re-elected clerk.

Enrollment.

Moderator appointed pastor and deacons of Old Salem church committee on divine service.

Elder M. E. Miller being absent, Elder J. S. Henry was substituted for him on the topic of missions.

Elder J. J. Franks to take J. S. Henry's topic, and Elder C. T. Clark to take topic of Elder Jno. Lockhart who was absent, and Elder T. A. Conway to preach sermon on missions instead of Elder C. E. Perryman who was absent.

Essay, "Some Suggestive Methods of Bible Study", read by Elder T. A. Conway. On motion received for criticism and after discussion by Elders Gibbs, Henry, Clark, Franks and others passed with its criticisms.

On motion of J. S. Henry adjourned until 8:30 Saturday morning after singing "How Firm a Foundation" and prayers by Eld Gibbs.

SATURDAY MORNING.

After song and prayer services the house was called to order by Mod E. B. Blackburn.

Essay, How to Train Young Christians in Church Work, by W. R. Gibbs.

On motion the essay was received for criticism and after many hearty approvals was passed.

On motion of J. S. Henry, U. G. Hughes was released from preaching the sermon for criticism.

Sermon on missions by Eld T. A. Conway; text, Matt 28:19, 20 (The Great Commission)

Adjourned until 1:30

SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

Essay: Proportionate Giving, by J. S. Henry.

On motion received for criticism and after remarks by Elders Gibbs, LaRue, Carter and others passed.

The committee on divine service announced preaching at school house by Elder T. C. Carter.

Speech, How to Increase the Spirituality of Church Members, by Elder J. J. Franks.

Adjourned to meet at 8:30 Sunday morning.

SUNDAY MORNING.

The body came together at 8:30 with song and prayer services.

Took up topic left off the evening before, How to Increase the Spirituality of Church Members. After many good talks the subject was passed.

Essay, Some Advantages of Sunday school, by C. T. Clark. The essay being heartily endorsed was passed.

Serious Attention to Church Discipline, by Elder R. A. LaRue.

Owing to the lateness of the hour and other business to attend to a motion was made to endorse the essay without criticism. The motion prevailed.

Moderator appointed the following committee to arrange program for next meeting: T. C. Carter, J. S. Henry, T. A. Conway, W. R. Gibbs, U. G. Hughes.

The following resolutions were offered by J. S. Henry: Be it resolved, That we extend to the members of Old Salem church and the people in this community our heart felt thanks for their kind hospitality shown us during this meeting.

The clerk was requested to publish the minutes of this meeting in the papers of Crittenden and Livingston counties and The Western Recorder.

Adjourned, closing prayer, Elder T. C. Carter.

This was the most interesting meeting of the kind we ever attended. While our souls feasted on the hidden manna from above, the good people of old Salem community fed our bodies abundantly on the good things of the land.

Elder E. B. Blackburn, Mod.

Elder U. G. Hughes, clerk.

GEN. JOE WHEELER

MENTIONED AS FITZHUCH

LEE'S SUCCESSOR.

NORFOLK, Va., May 2.—Gen. Joseph Wheeler, of Alabama, who served in the Confederate army with Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, and was appointed with the latter Brigadier General in the United States Army, at the breaking out of the Spanish-American war, was today suggested as a successor to Gen. Lee as President of the Jamestown Exposition. Mayor Riddick has ordered Norfolk in official mourning, with the tolling of bells and the half-masting of flags in Lee's memory.

MINING PLANT SWALLOWED

SINKS IN A CAVERN 100 FEET DEEP.

INSPECTOR DISTURBED

By Singular Affair Occurring

Last Saturday Near

Joplin, Mo.

A special despatch to the Globe Democrat from Joplin, Mo., says:

"The earth literally opened Saturday afternoon and swallowed the $8,000 mining plant of the Holy Smoke, on the Aylor land, south of Cartersville, reducing that mill to kindling wood and half burying the debris 100 feet below the surface. The $10,000 contracting ore plant of the Lucky Judge, adjoining, is so seriously threatened by an extension of the cavern that it is being rapidly dismantled.

The hole in which the Holy Smoke mill went down is 400 feet broad and 100 feet deep, with a capacity of 160,000 cubic feet of earth.

Fifteen men at work in the underground drifts were warned by the groaning of the earth and escaped an hour before the final crash came.

State Mine Inspector Ragland is aroused by this and another disastrous cave-in a short time ago under the tracks of two railroads in Joplin, and declares that a radical change in the cave system of zinc mining must soon come about.

JOPLIN ORE VALUES.

Joplin, Mo., April 30.—The aggregate year's sales of ore from the lead and zinc district passed the $4,000,000 mark with the week closing April 29, and the market is up higher than for many weeks. The highest price reported paid was $48.50 per ton for the Bumblebee and Carnegie output of zinc ore. The Chapman and Lennon mining companies at Webb city, the Ohio at Cartersville, and several bins on the Continental zinc company's land in Joplin sold at $47.50 per ton. The Chapman and Lennon companies are outputting a grade of ore running 63 per cent. zinc and better from the old Garrison lease of the Elliott and Zimmerman land on Sucker Flat. The first week the ore was sold it was one of the two companies receiving the top price of that week.

The demand for zinc continues unabated and prices are very firm on a basis of $44 to $45.50 per ton of 60 per cent. zinc. No lead was reported sold during the past week higher than $58 per ton, though some ore loaded during the week but sold the previous week brought as high as $53 per ton.

THE POWERS CASE

ITS REMOVAL TO FEDERAL COURT ASKED

GEORGETOWN, Ky., May 4.—The attorneys for Caleb Powers tendered to the circuit court here yesterday a petition asking that the case be removed to the federal court for the Eastern district of Kentucky. The ground on which the petition is based is the alleged impossibility of securing respect for the accused's constitutional rights in the state court. Judge Stout called a special term of circuit court to try the case, for the fourth time, beginning July 10. He announced that he would pass on the petition for removal at that time. The attorneys for Powers contend that by the mere fact of the petition being tendered to the State court the case is removed into the federal court, at least so far as to give the latter tribunal the right to pass on the question of jurisdiction.

EXTENDING ROUTES

RURAL DELIVERY SERVICE IN KENTUCKY.

People Who Want Its Benefits Should File Applications at Once.

Samuel B. Rathbone, Superintendent of Rural Delivery for what is known as the Cincinnati division, which is composed of Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana, has been in Washington for several days in consultation with the postoffice department officials with reference to the work to be performed in the several States of his division during the present year. After having learned the "lay of the land" he said:

"We shall go right ahead with the establishment of rural routes in Kentucky. I now have four men at work there making the preliminary inspections. About 100 applications remain to be looked into, and the investigations will be pushed as fast as possible. We have all the money available that can possibly be used, and there is no drawback on that score."

Kentucky people who desire the rural mail service at their doors cannot be too strongly impressed with the fact that they should strike now while the iron is hot. When a community does not send in a petition for a rural route, the Postoffice Department takes it for granted that the people living in it are not desirous of the rural mail facilities. The initiative must always be taken by the community itself in the form of the petition, which must be signed and forwarded to the Postoffice Department, and the more signatures there are the better.

THE HON. OLLIE JAMES

Representative of the Gibraltar of Democracy in Kentucky, the Hon. Ollie James, is a picturesque character. He has been for some time reckoned as a machine man. But there have been indications right along that James is too big a man to follow the lead and dictation of the Hon. S. W. Hager, slated by the machine for the next gubernatorial term. It is now very evident that James is his own boss and proposes to so remain. The Lyon County Times, a strong admirer of the big congressman, quotes with approval an interview with Mr. James in which the latter says: "In my opinion Mr. Bryan is as strong with the people today, if not stronger, than at any time in his career, and it is not at all improbable that he will be the nominee in 1908."

So, also, declares Senator Blackburn. Is there an understanding between the senator and the congressman? The Times, which is close to the congressman, adds:

"It need not surprise the Kentucky politicians, according to a Washington dispatch, if Mr. James should enter the race for the nomination for governor of Kentucky in 1907. He says he is not a candidate, and that the election is too far in the future to talk about now. His friends are after him to become a candidate, however, and they hope to get his consent."

What a poser for Samuel Wilbur Hager! No more formidable opponent could he have for the next Democratic gubernatorial nomination than Mr. James. Mr. James' gubernatorial ambitions would also upset Gov. Beckham's desire to succeed Machine McCreary. The path of the machine to future Governorships and Senatorships is certainly not rosy.—Louisville Herald.

The old gubernatorial bee which has been buzzing about the bald place on Ollie James' head, we believe, will light before long. It is only waiting for a safe place to hit. A prominent politician from this end of the State, who was in Louisville a few days ago, said that James had about consented to be a candidate.—Clinton Democrat.

New "Race Suicide" Idea.

Dr. Alice B. Stockham, of Chicago, startled the Anthropology club of that city, a few days ago by urging the creation of a new cabinet portfolio to train husbands and wives and to provide for the scientific propagation of the human race.

Dr. Stockham was born in Ohio sixty-five years ago and took her medical degree in Cincinnati. She married a physician and devoted her life to the study of children—especially to the study of pre-natal influences. She traveled around the world and investigated some of the quaint systems in vogue in countries where paternalism is part of the government. She spent a year as guest of the Baroness Gripenberg in Finland, studying the educational handicraft called Slody, and brought a teacher to the Chicago Normal school at her own expense. Later, she was the guest of Tolstoy. Dr. Stockham has penetrated India, Thibet, Manchuria, Korea, China and Japan, and is the author of several text books. She is the bitter opponent of the theory that ignorance is innocence, and she writes without prudery.

Terrific Race With Death.

"Death was fast approaching," writes Ralph F. Fernandez, of Tampa, Fla., describing his fearful race with death, "as a result of liver trouble and heart disease, which had robbed me of sleep and of all interest in life. I had tried many different doctors and several medicines, but got no benefit until I began to use Electric Bitters. So wonderful was their effect, that in three days I felt like a new man, and today I am cured of all my troubles." Guaranteed at R. F. Haynes' drug store, price 50c.

CRAYNEVILLE.

Several of our people attended the minister and members' meeting at Salem Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Billie James had a hog to die with hydrophobia last week.

Mr. Eula Threlkeld and family visited friends here Saturday and Sunday.

"Uncle" Pat Woodsides, of Marion, was here Saturday.

Mrs. Emiline Hill is sick at Mr. John Woodalls.

Mrs. Davis, of Paducah, is visiting friends here.

Thomas Woodall and family visited at Jesse Stevens Sunday.

Mrs. William Manly and family, of Repton, visited her mother, Mrs. D. W. Brookshire Saturday and Sunday.

SHOT OFF HIS HEAD

AFTER HAVING AN EPILEPTIC FIT.

A Despondent Young Man Committed Suicide With A Shot-Gun.

(Hopkinsville New Era.)

As soon as Hal Gebhart had recovered from the effect of an epileptic fit Saturday afternoon he secured a shotgun and blew the top of his head off. He fired two shots at himself before he succeeded in inflicting a fatal wound.

Gebhart was twenty-five years old and had been in the asylum here. He resided six miles from Henderson on a farm with his father. The members of the family heard the shots fired and rushed to where they had left young Gebhart. He was on the ground with a double barreled shotgun by his side. His death was instantaneous.

The Henderson Gleaner says:

"Gebhart was 25 years of age and lived at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Gebhart, on a farm near Smith's Mills. He had been suffering from attacks of epilepsy for some time and had been sent to Hopkinsville for treatment but had been at home for some time. It is supposed that his mind gave way while suffering from the ailment and caused the act."

"The young man was at home with his mother and sister when he suddenly announced his intention of taking his life. They made an effort to prevent him from securing the gun, but he evaded them. The first shot fired went wild but the second struck him on the side of the face just in front of the ear. It made a ghastly wound and death was almost instantaneous."

"Gebhart was well known in his neighborhood. He also had relatives in this city. The funeral will occur from his home."

Saved by Dynamite.

Sometimes, a flaming city is saved by dynamiting a space that the fire can't cross. Sometimes, a cough hangs on so long you feel as if nothing but dynamite would cure it. Z. T. Gray, of Calhoun, Ga., writes: "My wife had a very aggravated cough, which kept her awake nights. Two physicians could not help her; so she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which eased her cough, gave her sleep, and finally cured her." Strictly scientific cure for bronchitis and La Grippe. At R. F. Haynes' drug store, price 50c and $1.00; guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

Evils of Strong Strong Drink

Editor of The Record:—I noticed in your columns a few weeks back an article headed "Why I Cannot Afford to Drink." I suppose the writer had reference to intoxicating liquor. There are many reasons why we should not. First, we read in first Corinthians, 6:9-10, these words: "Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? Be ye not deceived: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate, nor abusers of themselves with mankind, nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners, shall inherit the kingdom of God." The drunkard is close with all the above degraded characters which disqualifies them from being fit subjects for heaven. Moral and religious society has no greater abomination to contend with than the wrecks it has stranded on this side of the grave, and on the other are scattered along the banks of life among all nations, from the savage barbarian to the highest stage of civilization, the widowed mother, the fatherless children, the grief-stricken, gray bearded father, the broken hearted wife, the disgraced criminal, the abandoned outcast and the fiendish murderer illustrated in every class of society.

The hellish work it has done for suffering humanity, the reputations it has ruined, the promising careers it has destroyed, the families it has disgraced, the men it has brought to the gallows, the lives it has cost, the disease it has wrought point to it as the greatest of the world's accursed evils. It is the ally of the gambler, the companion of the burglar, the friend of the thief, the tool of the perjurer, the confederate of the assassin; it destroys virtue, mocks honesty, encourages crime, stimulates misery, excites passion, infuses hate, kills friendship, kindles strife and incites murder.

From the time it leaves its source and enters upon its venomous career until it reaches and poisons the blood of man, it leaves footprints of crime in its track and covers its way with insanity, suicide, pestilence and destruction, and looks back with malicious pleasure at the desolation it has wrought. It has stained the honor of every nation, befouled the thrones of empires, covered with shame the judicial ermine, polluted the jury box, defiled the ballot; it is the sum of all villainies, the root of all evil, the spring of all wickedness; it brings disease, not strength; despair, not hope; death, not life.

MARION - - KENTUCKY

AS RACING GROUNDS

FOR TWO STATES GUTHRIE MAY BE CHOSEN.

Reported That Tennessee Horsemen Are Likely to Go There.

The Guthrie News says:

"The News hears news and gives it to its people. It is said that negotiations have already begun looking for more business and more people for the Hub City. Since the anti-racing bill passed the Tennessee legislature the race-horse people of Nashville and Memphis have begun to look about for some Kentucky soil where they can concentrate and Guthrie is naturally the place, and only place suitable. It is not unlikely that the owners of our fair grounds will be approached soon with an interesting proposition. A big race park at Guthrie would mean much."

GOT RICH QUICK

But Former Kentucky Boy Is In Trouble.

Edward A. Vaughan, former Kentuckian and a student at the Kentucky Military Institute, who served with the Third Kentucky Infantry during the Spanish-American war, has come to grief in Minneapolis. He went there with $4,000 early this year, sent out literature containing a picture of a beautiful residence which he said was his home, and an immense grain elevator which he claimed to own.

On account of inside information which he is said to have pretended to have of operators on the stock market he advertised for remittances in the sum of $100 and upward to be invested by him in wheat, and is said to have done a land office business.

After an investigation by the post-office officials a fraud order was issued against him.

Appreciates The Record.

Piggot, Ark., April 21, 1905. Mr. Jas. E. Chittenden, Marion, Ky.

My Dear Friend:—Will write you a few lines to let you know I am proud to see the dear old Record resurrected from the ashes and burning again after the great fiery disaster which befell it a few weeks since. I hope the Republicans and patrons of the Record will continue to uphold it as their banner and do all in their power to aid you in the good work which so far you have carried out with a degree of success that has attended the efforts of no other man who has ever attempted it.

The primary went just to suit me. Hurrah for Blackburn! I hope he, together with all the others, will be victorious at the polls this fall.

Well, hoping this will find you enjoying all the health and happiness you could wish, I am, as ever, a friend and well wisher to your paper. JOHN E. ROBERTS.

GEN. FITZHUGH LEE DIES OF APOPLEXY IN WASHINGTON, D. C.

Was On His Way to Boston When Stricken.—Worthy Nephew of Gen. Robert E. Lee.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, of Virginia, died at the Providence Hospital in this city at 11:20 o'clock last night as the result of an attack of apoplexy and paralysis with which he was stricken early yesterday while traveling by rail from Boston to Washington. At his bedside when he died were his brother, Daniel Lee, and Drs. Edie and Kean.

The end came quite suddenly and without pain. The dead general was doing fairly well considering the severity of the attack until about ten o'clock when a change came for the worse.

Gen. Lee was one of the moving spirits in the Jamestown Exposition project. He was president of the Exposition company and had been working constantly and with marked success in its behalf.

Fitzhugh Lee was a nephew of Robert E. Lee, and followed the fortunes of his distinguished uncle and of his native State in the war of the States, but accepted, as did the former, all the results of the war, and has since served Virginia in a number of official capacities. To him, perhaps, as much as to any other man may be credited that firm reuniting of North and South, which existed even before the war with Spain disproved a favorite theory abroad that the United States of America is a conglomerate nation, "held together by a rope of sand."

Since he took up the work of the Jamestown exposition he had made his official residence in Norfolk, but his activities in connection with this work gave him very little time there. During the session of congress just closed the general spent a large part of his time in Washington in the interest of the necessary legislation authorizing the exposition.

He had made several trips through the west and appeared before the legislatures of Pennsylvania and New York seeking state appropriations for the exposition. This was the purpose of his Boston visit.

Gen. Lee was 68 years of age and always had enjoyed robust health. However he had led an exceptionally active life, being a veteran of three wars. He served in the Mexican war, was in the confederate army during the civil war and his conspicuous services in the Spanish war is current history.

PLENTY OF RAIN

Predicted for Month of May By Rev. Hicks.

A summary of probable weather conditions for the month follows:

May will open with cooler clearing weather. About the fourth there will be a decided change to warmer. A series of rain, hail, wind and thunder storms will begin, repeating themselves in many localities for several successive days, leading up to the 8th or 9th. Along with the rising barometer and clearing weather, at the cessation of this storm period, frosts may be looked for in many central to northern sections.

About the 15th reactionary storm conditions will reappear, culminating in thunder and rain storms, to be followed by much cooler weather for two or three days. The next storm period will be central on the 18th, covering the 17th to the 20th. Look for much rain, with thunder and wind storms.

Light disturbances may continue throughout the interval between the 20th and 24th, and break out with renewed energy about the last named date. Quick change to anti-storm conditions—cooler weather, bracing air and rising barometer. The closing storm period of the month is central of the 29th, extending from the 27th to the 31st. General and possible severe disturbances may be expected.

KILLED HIMSELF

After Murderous Assault On Brother Officer.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, May 1.—Capt. W. A. Raibourn, Twenty-ninth Infantry, U. S. A., committed suicide at Fort Douglas, after making murderous assault on Lieut. W. H. Pointe, also of the Twenty-ninth Infantry. Pointe was shot twice by superior officer, one bullet penetrating his left thigh, and another inflicting a deep flesh wound in his right leg. After Lieut. Pointe had fallen Capt. Raibourn turned his revolver upon himself, sending a bullet into his head, about three inches behind his right ear. He died almost instantly. Capt. Raibourn had been drinking heavily, and the tragedy was the outgrowth of his arrest on Tuesday last on a charge of drunkenness.

MILK RIVER VALLEY

Reclaiming Act Will Bring Renewed Prosperity to Montana.

Montana is coming in for a big share of the general prosperity of the country, and 'twill only be a few short years when she will rank with any of the northwestern states in agricultural greatness. The recent act of the interior department of the United States in setting aside $1,000,000 toward reclaiming three or four hundred thousand acres in the Milk River valley is but a beginning of a much vaster development of this section as the needs grow space. Already the agricultural worth of this to be famous valley has been adequately demonstrated in the results which have followed the irrigation works already established. It has been successfully proven that all kinds of agricultural products grow in great abundance wherever irrigation is used. The soil is naturally rich and needs only moisture to make it yield prolifically. The Great Northern Railway furnishes adequate transportation facilities, its main line practically cutting the valley in two. The fact that the government has decided to begin immediate operations will prove a great incentive to the people of that section who have always believed in the future of their country and will open to settlement a vast area of rich land to the homeseeker and investor.

PROF. BORING DEAD

The remains of Prof. Hanson Boring were taken to Madisonville Wednesday for interment. He died several days ago at Welaka, Florida, where he had gone for his health. He was aged seventy-one years. His wife survives him.

Prof. Boring was a prominent educator and was well known throughout this section. He was for years connected with the educational interests in Hopkins county and some six years ago represented the county in the legislature.

Some years ago he missed being nominated by the state Democratic convention by a half of a vote for superintendent of public instruction.

Prof. Boring, when a young man, lost both arms in a threshing machine. By his extraordinary will power and fine intellect he rose to the forefront of Kentucky's educators.

POSED AS MARRIED

AND NEGRESS PASSED AS WHITE WOMAN.

Neighbors Were Indignant And Threats of Violence Made.

(Hopkinsville New Era)

William McConnell, a white man, and Gertrude Smith, a negress, are in jail. It is charged that for the past two weeks the couple have been living together in a house near the toll gate property on the Fairview pike just across from the grounds of the Western Kentucky Asylum for the Insane where they posed as man and wife.

McConnell, being absent from the house most of the time, the neighbors knew nothing much about him. The woman, however, visited about in the neighborhood, always introducing herself as Mrs. McConnell and, as she is exceptionally fair skinned, she was readily accepted as a white woman.

Recently she spent a night in the home of a respected white citizen, claiming she was afraid to stay by herself as her husband was away.

The truth was not learned until yesterday and the residents of that neighborhood were highly wrought up over the matter and threats were freely made. It is probable that violence would have been done the couple had they not been promptly taken into custody by Deputy Sheriff George Clark and Chief of Police Shanklin.

McConnell claims Michigan as his home. The negress' character had long been known.

The couple were fined once before in the city court for the same offense.

Appeal to Veterans.

Robert Patton Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, have appealed to Confederate veterans to aid in buying Johnson's Island, calling attention to the fact that their option in the military cemetery will expire June 1.

Interesting Ruling.

(Hopkinsville New Era) Druggist L. L. Eign has received from the acting commissioner of internal revenue the following letter which is of interest to druggists and their patrons:

"Your letter of the twenty-first instant has been received, submitting the following question: 'Mrs. B., a customer in the county, writes me to send her by rural delivery 1 oz. quinine, 1 box capsules, 1 lb. salts and a pint of whiskey. I carry no license to sell liquors. Can I take fifty cents out of the cash register and pay this fifty cents for a pint of whiskey and charge her with 'cash fifty cents?' Or will this be a violation of the revenue laws?'"

"A druggist who makes it a practice to thus fill orders of this kind involves himself in a special tax liability as retail liquor dealer, under the internal revenue laws of the United States."

To Save Neck.

Col. Bennett H. Young and others presented to Gov. Beckham a petition bearing the names of 25,000 persons asking for a commutation to life imprisonment of the death sentence of George Warner, who killed Pulaski Leeds in Louisville. The governor gave the delegation a patient hearing, but reserved his decision until later.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE.

COCHRAN—We are authorized to announce Thomas H. Cochran a candidate to represent the district composed of Crittenden and Livingston counties in the Kentucky legislature; subject to the action of the Democratic party.

Politics For Gentlemen.

Congressmen Edwin Denby delivered recently a remarkable address in a Detroit Baptist church. The spirit and standard of Congressman's address can be very easily inferred from such statements as these:

First—The game of politics, rightly played, is the noblest game an American gentleman can play.

Second—The poorest excuse that can be offered for not entering politics is that politics is too dirty.

Third—No man lives whose hands are so clean that he is prevented from entering the game of politics.

Fourth—What the game needs are men with clean hands, who are willing to do their best to see it rightly played.

The American gentleman is profoundly concerned in the promotion of public good. The greater of culture, comfort and content in any community, the better for those who occupy positions of leadership, influence and importance. There is with every advancement in civilized life a greater degree of security for property, a stimulus to education, an encouragement for the maintenance of the best standards of living.

The American gentleman does not hesitate to remove dirt and defilement in other quarters. Why hesitate in the political arena? No mortal man has hands too clean for conditions prevailing in American politics. The American people are taken as a whole, the cleanest on earth. If a foul politician or gang of foul politicians here and there obtain temporary domination, the duty of the clean-handed American especially in Louisville, is very clear. Every man must do his best to procure and perpetrate better conditions in political life. American history shows that the really successful American politician has been at all times the honest American man, doing full civic duty in or out of office.—Louisville Herald.

If another railroad ran in another direction from Marion, would it not afford better inducements for factories?

The State Board's 20 per cent. raise on real estate in Christian county was reduced to a ten per cent. raise. In this county we were fortunate in escaping entirely from a proposed raise of 25 per cent.

Lexington is to get the State Fair this year. As soon as we get our pay for advertising the State Fair which was held at Owensboro two years ago this fall, we will let our readers know the date of the fair to be held at Lexington. No more free advertising goes with the Graphic.—Glenn's Graphic.

The people of Madisonville are hustlers. They have taken time by the forelock and are hot after an extension of the Tennessee Central when the Frisco begins improvements. A mass meeting was held May 2nd and steps were taken to see that Madisonville does not get left. A little of this spirit will help any town. A great deal of it is what makes a city.—Paducah Sun.

The city council has eliminated the construction of frame or iron-clad business houses. Now let us build substantial brick structures, securing correct and proper insulation in electric wiring, avoiding window, back or side door exposures as far as possible, and then, when the water works plant is installed, we will have a city that we can protect from such fires as we had March 28th.

It is easier and cheaper to wire buildings while in process of construction, but avoid having wires placed in obscure or inaccessible parts of the building. When the inspector for the Kentucky and Tennessee Board of Fire Underwriters comes to make up the rates for the new and better Marion he will want to trace wires from their entrance to the point of the last chord. We speak advisedly when we say that when wires are attached in inaccessible parts that charges are made for defects whether they exist or not. Remember that we are building for the future as well as the present.

Will Speak in Cadiz.

Congressman Ollie M. James, of Marion, will address the Trigg county members of the Dark Tobacco Growers' Association at Cadiz next Monday, county court day.—Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

Notice to Present Claims.

All persons having claims against the Crittenden County Republican Committee for service as primary election officers, houses for holding election, or any expenses incurred on account of said primary election held April 1, 1905, will please present their claims at once.

T. ATCHISON FRAZER,
Treasurer.

THOSE WASHINGTON ECHOES

Able Treated by a Citizen of Crittenden County
Who Professes to Know the Authors Thereof.

Editor Record:—

Dear Sir—In your issue of the 28th ult. are printed two letters from Washington—one from Toppenish, by Star Jacobs, the other from Zittah, by T. R. Rowlands, both of whom are from Crittenden Co., Ky. Having an unfathomable knowledge of the up's and out's of both I was not amazed at the incongruity of their epistles. But "the confusion worse confounded" of their statements may have a tendency to create a doubt as to their sanity or to their veracity. Those who have neighbored with both of them may have no difficulty in coming to a conclusion as to which one of them is telling "the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth." Both have been so boggarily stinging with it that it is possible by this time they should be filled to overflowing with it, and, by accident, or unthinkingly, dele out a slight sprinkle of it unawares.

Now, among we, us and company, honor, honesty, fairness, every consideration, demands perfect openness to the light and hospitality toward the truth, in whatever direction it may come. It is the necessary temper of the truth Crittenden county citizens mind. We are all aware that nothing great in emigrating has ever been done by men who lake the divine afflatus of the truth seeker. I, myself, do not claim a monopoly of truth; but I am bound to accept all truth so soon as it is demonstrated to be truth, but to hold the judgement in suspense till this has been done. Gentlemen of the emigration, it is not my wish or intention to disprove you in the least in regard to your truthful communications. "No sir-tree!" Brutus was an honorable

May Day Outing.

Monday the boys and girls of the high school, or the ninth, tenth and eleventh grades of the Marion graded school, with well filled baskets, were driven in buggies and wagonettes to the woods on Piney creek near Iron Hill, where they spent the day. It is a delightful place at the base of a rugged and picturesque hill. It is a custom for the high school boys and girls to spend the first day of May in the woods in this manner. They were accompanied by the principal, Chas. Evans.

A KIND MOTHER

And a Christian Lady Passes Unexpectedly to the World Beyond.

Monday afternoon about five o'clock Mrs. John S. James died at her home on Belleville street of blood poison, resulting from an aggravating carbuncle on the hand. The death was a most unexpected one to all her friends as well as her own family. Her people realized that she was suffering acute pain from the afflicted hand, but not even the family physician expected that death was so near. Even when death entered the home, the youngest daughter, Miss Pearl, a student of the Marion Graded School, was absent from the city on a May day outing with her classmates.

Mrs. James was the daughter of the late Leo Hughes, of this county, and a sister to the wife of the well known Methodist preacher, Rev. J. W. Bigham, of Florida. She leaves a husband and three children, Ruby, an invalid, Pearl and Mrs. A. W. Henry, besides three brothers and sisters to mourn their loss.

Mrs. James, above all, was a christian lady. In her home she was loving, gentle, patient and kind—all that the name, mother, implies. Among her neighbors she manifested an humble spirit, never by word or deed incurring the ill will of any.

The funeral was conducted from the residence Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Rev. T. A. Conway administering. The body was laid to rest to await the resurrection morning in the new cemetery.

WAS A MILLIONAIRE

JOSEPH JEFFERSON HAD LARGE FORTUNE

Owing to the Death His Son
Cancels All His Engagements.

BOSTON, April 29.—Joseph Jefferson was undoubtedly the richest actor in America. His early privations were amply compensated for by the plenty of later years. Although he never speculated, his investments proved safe and profitable, and he was rated as a millionaire. It is understood he left a will, but neither relatives nor friends will discuss this topic until after the funeral.

His death causes the cancellation of the engagement of his son, Thomas Jefferson, at the Boston theater this week. The grief of the latter is so great that he has concluded to abandon his spring tour in "Itip Van Winkle," and will not again go upon the stage until October next, when by arrangements completed today with Manager Lawrence McCarthy, he will open his season at the Boston theater.

SARAH, MISS.

Where a Young Man Says
There is Plenty of Game and Lots of Girls.

Dear Editor:—If you will allow me a little space in your valuable paper, I will write you a few lines in regard to this part of the country. This town is on the Y. & M. V. R. R. (called the yellow dog) and is a business place, you bet. There is all kinds of labor here, and you can get your own price. Tie work, lumbering and farm work to who laid the chunk. Cotton is about all they raise here. Corn is cultivated to a small extent, but wheat is hardly known in the State. The farmers can't get a market for corn or hogs.

The Yazoo bills here average about 3-4 of a bale of cotton per acre and the bottoms about 1-2 bales. There is railroad land here just as fine as you ever saw that can be bought for $7 to $9 per acre on installments. This is a healthy climate where you have good water to use which can be obtained by driving 200 or 300 feet.

In this State they have from three to nine months school, and out in the jungles the school houses are very much scattered, therefore the children do not have the very best show for an education, but some of the towns along the line have fine school houses and schools.

There are no chills here at this season of the year, and farmers have their crops planted. Corn is large enough to plow, but owing to the heavy rains that have been falling for the last few days, not much farming is going on.

The people here are sociable and friendly, and I will say to any young man over-riding to wed that if he will come to Tate county he can find a partner, for I know of one family here in two miles of town where there are thirteen young girls, and they are good looking. Any of the boys wanting to be cited can come down and we will take a hunt together, for there is plenty of game here.

Wishing you a happy future, I remain,
Yours very truly,
K. HARDIN.

Board Adjourns.

The Board of Church Extension of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, completed its labors at Louisville and adjourned until the next meeting, one year off. The board granted donations amounting to $50,000 and allowed loans amounting to $45,000, making a total of $95,000, which was distributed by the board to needy churches. A loan of $150 was made to Pembroke church.

From Day to Day.

There are two forms of criminal activity in which the United States enjoys an unenviable distinction. One of them is lynching and the other is train-robbery. Both are equally odious and equally injurious to the good name of the nation. Lynching is an offense against civilized society that can be dealt with only by the individual states, but train-robbery is a crime with which the federal government is competent to deal as well as the local authorities, and both acting together should be able to make them much less frequent than formerly.

China will be gridironed with railways if all or most of the present railroad schemes are put through. One English syndicate proposes to put a girdle around Shanghai, connecting nine important cities with the market of Shanghai. Another English scheme is to connect Hankow with several important cities north and south of the Yangtze river. England's chief sphere of influence is the Yangtze valley, with its immense wealth of mineral deposits—chiefly iron, and anthracite and bituminous coal.

A meeting of the paper and wood pulp manufacturers of Canada was held in Montreal a few days ago, at which it was unanimously resolved that, in the interests of the dominion, and especially of the province of Quebec, every effort should be made to obtain legislation to prohibit the export of logs and wood pulp. A special committee was appointed for the purpose of preparing a petition to lay before parliament, now in session at Ottawa.

In Paraguay the women are in proportion of seven to one as compared with the men. The consequence is that the men are taken the greatest care of, and everything which is unpleasant or might be risky to the life of a man is done by the women. The streets are cleaned, ships are loaded, oxen driven by them, and it is even said that they have taken part in their country's wars, acting as substitutes for their men folk.

In the London Times of recent date there was a cablegram from Colombo, Ceylon, in which the statement is made that Sir A. J. Blake had announced, at a meeting of the Asiatic society, that Singapore medical books of the sixth century recorded 87 varieties of mosquitoes and 424 kinds of malarial fever caused by mosquitoes.

In Japan ships are loaded with coal by women and girls; but the work is made comparatively easy by putting the coal in small baskets, which are passed on from one end of a line to the other.

Many of the British soldiers suffered greatly from snow blindness in Tibet. The native Tibetans escape snow blindness, as do the inhabitants in other snowy parts of the world, by greasing the face and then blackening the skin all round the eyes with a burned stick.

DEBRIS REMOVED.

Laredo Begins to Assume Normal Appearance.

LAREDO, Tex., May 1.—This city is again beginning to assume its customary appearances, despite the great havoc wrought by the storm of Friday evening last. Large forces of laborers have been engaged in clearing away the debris which filled the streets, and it is now possible to drive to any point in the city.

Communication with Mexico is still cut off. The worst is now over, and it will be but a few days when business will resume the usual course.

The number of dead remains at sixteen in this city, as at first sent out by the Associated Press, and five lives were lost in New Laredo. It will be several months before the international footbridge can be reconstructed.

AFTER THE FRISCO.

MADISONVILLE'S BUSI-NESS MEN AT WORK.

A dispatch from Madisonville says "A petition is being circulated in this city in an effort to secure the Frisco Railroad, which it is said, will be built from Hopkinsville to Evansville, Ind., and should the line be built from Hopkinsville, Ky., to that point it will come through Madisonville, if money will secure it. The people here are very anxious for another road, and they will turn money loose to secure it. The city of Madisonville only has one road, the Louisville & Nashville, which is good, but for many reasons they want a second one. Madisonville is on the proposed route for this new link of road, and the people are very strongly of the belief that they will secure it."

SPRING CATARRH

Changeable Weather Will Cause Disease.—Breathe
Hymel

AND CURE CATARRH

The changeable weather of spring with its warm days and cold nights, is responsible for a great increase in the number of cases of catarrh. It is now that Hymel, the only guaranteed treatment for catarrh that cures without stomach dosing, should be used in every home.

For more than a century physicians have been sending persons suffering from catarrh to Egypt, Colorado, or Australia, where the pure, healing air would cure the disease. For one person who could take this trip, thousands have been compelled to stay at home and continue their daily toil. To these sufferers who could not change their climatic conditions, we offer Hymel, a method by which pure air, impregnated with Nature's own remedies for the cure of catarrh, can be inhaled by every sufferer in his or her home. Breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, its healing, volatile, antiseptic fragrance reaches the lungs and air passages as no stomach dosing possibly can do. It gives immediate relief and makes lasting cures.

The complete outfit, consisting of the inhaler, medicine dropper, and bottle of Hymel, costs only one dollar, and extra bottles of Hymel, if needed, can be procured for fifty cents.

Proof that the Hymel treatment will do all that is claimed for it is found in the guarantee under which R. F. Haynes sells it, an agreement to pay back the price, if the purchaser can say that Hymel has not given satisfaction.

INDIGESTION'S RECORD

"The best remedy I can prescribe for your indigestion, madam, is Green's August Flower. I know of several other physicians who prescribe it regularly."

Indigestion is making an awful record as a cause of sudden deaths. It is beating heart-failure in its ghastly harvest. You read in the papers daily of apparently healthy and even robust men being suddenly attacked with acute indigestion after enjoying a hearty meal, and of their dying in many cases before a physician could be called in. This should be a warning to you who suffer with regular or periodical attacks of indigestion. If these unfortunate victims of acute indigestion had taken a small dose of Green's August Flower before or after their meals they would not have fallen a prey to such sudden seizures. August Flower prevents indigestion by creating good digestion. It also regulates the liver, purifies the blood and tones up the entire system in a natural way. Two sizes, 25c and 75c. All druggists.

FIFTY PRISONERS

ARE TRANSFERRED TO EDDYVILLE BRANCH.

Main Penitentiary at Frankfort Overcrowded and Relief Necessary.

(Hopkinsville New Era)

The state prison commission has determined to transfer half a hundred inmates of the main prison at Frankfort to the branch institution at Eddyville. Commissioner George V. Green, of this city, is in Louisville to arrange for railroad rates for the party and the transfer will be made today.

All of the prisoners to be transferred are males, and all are new prisoners with no noted characters among them. The prison at Frankfort is very overcrowded, there being just about 1,400 persons confined there, among the number seventy women. Lately the contractors have declined to take any new men, having no room to work them. The reverse of this is true at Eddyville prison, where about 600 men are confined. The contractors there want more men in the shops and the overflow at Frankfort, men who are new to prison life, will be sent to that institution.

This is the first time for a number of years that a transfer of prisoners from one of these institutions to the other has been made. Years ago only disabled convicts were sent from the main prison to the branch institution.

Meet at Asheville.

It is announced here that Asheville, N. C., has been selected for the national gathering of the Southern student conference, composed of delegates from the Young Men's Christian Associations at the colleges and universities of the south, June 17 to 25. The Young Women's Christian Association will hold its conference at Asheville June 10 to 19.

His Eighth Wife.

The Henderson Gleaner tells a story of a negro who has just secured license to marry his eighth wife. His name is Isaac Osborn and he is sixty-six years old, while his only twenty-two. He was when he was twenty years old his first wife lived ten months to three years. His ship of a good farm makes it desirable, and it is said that the marriageable negroes sit and wait for Uncle Ike's wife each thinking she will have luck than her predecessor.

Government Emplo

Collector of Internal Revenue Joseph A. Craft, at Louisville, issued an order to the employment office that they must reach Republican committee of government service. This is with the desire of the Senate Washington to separate political and government service. Craft's order will cause two members of the City and County to retire.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

LESSON VI, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, MAY 7.

Text of the Lesson, John xv, 1-12. Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Copyright, 1905, by American Press Association. Unless we include in our meditations that the lesson committee has led to omit we shall have had but very small glimpse of the life and teaching of our blessed Lord. Here, for example, we have but one brief lesson in the most wonderful of all His discourses and one lesson from the volume of all recorded prayers—two lessons from what has been well called the holy of holies of all Scripture. We had eaten with His disciples the Passover which He so much desired to eat with them before He suffered. He had instituted the supper by which we know His death till He come, and had graced Himself and had washed their feet, teaching them to do to one another as He had done to them, and now in these last words He opened them His heart as never before and said for them and for us who believe in Him through their word, "I am the true Vine." "I am the true Vine," reminding us of Matt. x, 35, "Ye shall hear of wars and rumors of wars; see that ye be not troubled." What more powerful testimony can there be than an untroubled heart in the midst of trouble? We have heard Him say, "I am the light of the world." "I am the good Shepherd." "I am the Door." "I am the Living Bread" which came down from heaven. "I am the Way and the Truth and the Life," but now He uses a new word, "I am the true Vine," taking us back by contrast to such words as "The Branches of the Lord of hosts is the name of Israel and the men of Judah are the pleasant plant," and "Israel is a vine; he bringeth forth fruit unto himself" (Isa. v, 7; Hos. x, 1). "I am the true Vine," the Vine that brought forth fruit unto Himself. He pleased Himself, never sought to win glory, nor His own glory, nor to win us, but He is branches in us, in bear much fruit, that the Father, the Husbandman, may be glorified. Let us remember that He is alone with the eleven, to whom He had said, "I am clean" (John, x, 10), and again in verse 3 of our lesson, "Now ye are clean through the word which I have spoken unto you." These are true branches in the true Vine and can never wither (John x, 27-29). There are many who, though they may seem to be branches, are not and never were branches any more than Judas Iscariot. Such go out in due time, because they were never really in the Vine or the fold. They are plants which were never planted by God the Father (John 15, 19; Matt. xv, 13). But there are true branches in the true Vine which do not bring forth fruit unto God. They are spoken of in Cor. III, 15, as having their works burned and they themselves saved as by fire or in I Cor. v, 5, as having the death destroyed that the spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord Jesus. Surely those in I Cor. xi, 30, who were weak and sickly and dying before their time are in the same class. Instead of this, which may be the experience of many, but need not be the experience of any, it is the desire of our heavenly Father that we bear fruit, more fruit, much fruit, to His glory. He waits year after year, looking for fruit and doing all He can to get it before He orders the tree cut down or the branch taken away (Luke 13, 6-9). But if the self life persists, predominates the order is finally given, and men are often the instruments in His hand to remove and burn the branches or cut down the tree. Let us be true and abide. How simply and easily the branches are a vine under the skill and care of a husbandman bear fruit! There is no struggle, no effort, but just a yielding to the wise care which prunes and causes to bleed and ties up here and there, so as to obtain the desired fruit. Then, is this abiding which is so simple and without which all is nothing (John 15, 5). If it is not by effort, how is it? I know nothing better than that I have thought given forth by Hudson Taylor on one occasion that it is weakness and not strength that abides. The strength is found by His mother just as He put it. "His strength is perfect in our weakness." As we know more closely we note that there is a hiding in His love and in His grace (John 7, 9). The first step is to believe firmly. "Forasmuch as God loved me and gave me grace for me" (Gal. ii, 20). "He hath delivered me from the curse of the law, and made a curse for me" (Gal. iii, 13). "He who spared not His own Son, will with Him also freely give us all things" (Rom. viii, 32). These meditations being well grasped or upon, the daily life is just composed of such beliefs and similar ones, and the Spirit will work out in us all righteousness (Rom. xv, 13). It is believing all that is written, yielding, trusting, obeying and abiding in us both to will and to good pleasure (Phil. ii, 13).

Talmage Sermon

By Rev. Frank De Witt Talmage, D.D.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 30.—In this sermon the preacher draws from the old story a powerful lesson on the sins of modern society and shows the way of escape from such sins and their consequences. The text is Luke xvii, 32, "Remember Lot's wife." Truth is truth at all times. But truth is never more powerfully driven home to the consciences of men than when illustrated by parable or symbolized by biography or exemplified by anecdote. Christ always symbolizes truth in a very simple way. Today He appears to us, as well as to the Pharisees of old, and says: "Men, you know the history of Lot's wife. With great opportunity of usefulness, yet she became false to her trust. Do not make the sinful mistakes she made. Do not have her doom your doom. By yonder pillar of salt learn that the wages of sin is always death. Repent of your sins while there is yet time. Repent as John the Baptist exhorted you to repent. Come and bow at God's mercy seat, and bow now." May God teach us one and all to linger only long enough in the plains of Sodom and Gomorrah to learn the mighty gospel lesson that there is no safety anywhere for sinful man outside the protecting and forgiving love of Jesus Christ. Like Lot's wife, the most of us! Why? We are freed from the bitter temptations which, as a pack of hungry wolves, follow in the wake of mercenary poverty. We have never known what it is to arise in the morning and have nothing to eat. We have never known what it is to shiver in cold because we could not afford a warm garment for our backs. We never knew what it was to stagger about a great city after the hours of midnight in a snowstorm because we did not know where to lay our heads and then had to apply to the police station and sleep with a lot of filthy, dirty tramps upon the stone floors, with our ragged shoes under our heads for a pillow. We may not have been able to count our sheep by the thousands and our herds of horses and cattle by the hundreds, as Lot's wife did. We may not have servants galore and messengers to do our slightest bidding. But, like Lot's wife, when she and her husband separated from the Abraham household, we have always had enough food to eat, enough clothing to wear and a comfortable place in which to slumber. We have never been in a position where hunger was gnawing at our vitals and where temptation came snarling and snapping at our heels in our desperate struggle for a physical existence. We never knew what it was to long to earn our bread by the sweat of our brow and never be able to crunch a crumb. Deserves Pity. Even murder, the worst of crimes, has degrees of turpitude. God pity the man who is placed in the awful position of one who realizes that he has to slay his brother or die himself. God pity the starving shipwrecked sailor who crouches upon the edge of a raft in the middle of the Atlantic ocean watching his companion at the other side of the raft, who is hunger mad like himself. God pity him as he leaps forward as a tiger might leap upon the back of a trembling fawn and buries his teeth in the jugular vein of his friend and drinks the flowing blood in fiendish glee as a mountain lioness would bury her teeth in the soft fur of a rabbit or a fat prairie dog. I tell you, my friends, God has different standards of judgment for sin. It makes a great deal of difference how he condemns us for sin if, on the one hand, we, like Lot's wife, have financial plenty and if, on the other hand, we are poor, hungry outcasts, with no work and no means of earning any kind of an honest livelihood. To sin for pleasure and to sin because you do not know which way to turn for food are two entirely different propositions in God's economy. Oh, the temptations that come to some men on account of their struggles for a physical existence! I was never more impressed with the awfulness of such temptations than when reading this tragic story: Some years after the overthrow of Napoleon a banquet was being given in London to the British officers who had fought under Wellington at Waterloo. During their dinner the old commander, then the most honored man in England, took out of his pocket a beautifully jeweled snuffbox which had been presented to him by his sovereign. In order that his companions in arms might see it he passed it down the table. A short time after Wellington asked where it was, and no one could find it. The jeweled snuffbox had disappeared. Of course all the officers present felt that there was a thief among them. Some one proposed that the doors be locked and every one searched. Much to the surprise of the company, an honored ex-colonel of a line regiment refused to be searched. Evidence, of course, pointed to him as the guilty man, but on account of old associations' sake Wellington let him go. That night when the great duke was undressing for bed much to his surprise he found the jeweled snuffbox in his pocket. It had not been stolen. He had abscondingly thrust it into his pocket. At once Wellington ordered his carriage and rode to the residence of the suspected colonel. In and out of the streets he went until his coachman drew up before a poor tenement house. Wellington climbed the rickety stairs and found his old companion living in poverty and squalor. He threw his arms about the colonel's neck and begged his pardon. Then he said, "Colonel, why did you not let us search you and free you from the suspicion of the theft?" "Because," answered the colonel, "though I am poor, I am very proud. My wife and children have not had enough to eat for months. Meat they have not had for a week. And while you were eating I slipped the meat off my plate and hid it in my pockets, that they might eat it after I reached home." Ah, the temptations of sin, which must continually abide with such starving men and the homeless! God is going to judge such sinners differently from the way he will condemn our sins. Like Lot's wife, we have had our physical necessities supplied. Aye, almost all of us have had more than the necessities. God has given to us many luxuries as well. When we entered into sin we went there to seek pleasure, and not for the necessities of food and clothing. We sinned because we wanted to sin, and not because in one sense we felt we had to sin to live. The Training Lot's Wife Had. Like Lot's wife, are we? Most of us—aye, all—have felt the gospel inspiration of a Christian home. I know not whether this woman was born in a godly cradle and reared in a pious home. I know not whether in her younger days she was taught to say her evening prayers at her mother's knee. But I do know that as soon as she married she was taken to a godly home. Lot, her husband, was Abraham's foster child and nephew. His father died when Lot was very young. Abraham and Sarah had no children; therefore they adopted this orphan—his mother was evidently dead—and brought him up as their own son. No sooner did Lot bring home his young bride than, methinks, I can see this old gray haired patriarch Abraham welcome her to his home. I can see him place his hand upon her head and say: "My child, I welcome thee in the name of the Lord. I welcome thee as my daughter." Methinks I can see Sarah take the young girl in her arms and press her to her heart and place a holy kiss upon her fresh young lips. That night, as usual, the aged couple have family prayers. Lot and his bride kneel by the old folks' side. Step by step Lot's wife is taught to trust God and to live for God and to be one of God's little children. She is not a cannibal on the Congo, taught from her infancy that the best banquet she can have is the quivering flesh of a captive whom her husband has brought home in chains. She is not an Aztec Indian, who thinks the best offering she can make to God is the bleeding heart of a human sacrifice torn out from the ribs of a pleading suppliant. She is a child of the covenant, having lived at least for years amid the highest and noblest of godly surroundings. She was destroyed because she refused to obey the teachings of God which she learned from her father-in-law and mother-in-law. Lot's wife's doom awful, you say. Yes, but shall not God condemn more severely those who have deliberately wandered forth into the ways of sin and who have once lived in Christian homes than those who have never heard the name of Jesus except in blasphemy? Shall not God more severely condemn you and me for our sins than he would our companions in evil whose mothers were like Delilah, Jezebel or Rahab instead of like Sarah or Esther or Ruth? Indeed, so strong is the influence of our parental Christian homes that they are tugging at our hearts today in spite of present sins. We cannot drown their echoing calls if we would. Influence of the Old Home. Some time ago a dear friend of mine was out in a mining town. There at that time was a miner noted for his sins. Gambler, drunkard, blasphemer and peddler of filthy stories was he. My friend met him one day and said: "Are you as bad a man as you make out to be? You say you are going home this spring to visit your mother. Will you get drunk there as you do here? Will you tell her the vile stories you tell here?" The man looked at my friend a moment and then said: "No, sir! I would sooner cut off my right arm than let my mother or my sisters see me as I am. I came from a Christian home, and the old truths which were taught me there are still pleasing to me to be a good Christian man." Oh, my friends, when Lot's wife went astray she did not sin in ignorance. Like ourselves, she once lived in a godly home. Like yonder miner, she had, as we have, the prayers of her pious loved ones pleading with her to keep pure and true and upright, as she ought to have been. Will you continue to disregard the Christian teachings of your youthful days? But do the lessons of Lot's wife end here? No. Drawing near today to the Abrahamian encampment we hear a great strife and turmoil. The herdsmen of Lot and the herdsmen of his uncle are in bitter strife. Perhaps the cause of the quarrel was down at the well when the men were drawing water. Perhaps the struggle was due to one shepherd persisting in his claims that he had a right to all the grass in one valley. Anyway, the row was on, and the employees appealed to their masters for settlement of the difficulty. That evening Abraham and his foster son determined to part. They came to the conclusion that as their flocks were so great and the pasture so scant they had better separate and each go his own way. But Abraham, with the one parental spirit, said to his foster son: "My boy, you can have your choice of the land for your future home. Then, after you have made your selection, I will make mine." Then what happens? The Bible says that Lot went to Sodom because the grass was rich and the pasture good. But reading between the lines I think I can tell other reasons for the choice. That night when the great shepherd encampment is asleep I see the lights burning in Lot's tent. I hear a woman in earnest conversation with her husband. She is talking about like this: "Lot, what is the good of our living in a tent all our lives? We have lots of sheep and horses and cattle. We are rich. We can do what we like. You can let the overseers look after the herds. Why not go down to Sodom and mingle in the society of wealthy and refined and aristocratic people? Our girls are growing up. They need a 'coming out' party. Oh, I know there are bad people living down there, but because they are bad we do not necessarily have to be very bad. Besides, Lot, don't you remember those big merchants of Sodom who stopped with us last year on their way to Damascus? Their wives were charming people. They moved in the best society. They asked me to come to Sodom to live, and they would introduce me to their friends. Come, let us go and live in Sodom! The grass is good in the plains of Jordan. There we can find good pasture for the flocks and herds and have lots of pleasure besides." And Lot and his wife went to live in Sodom. Why? Why They Went to Sodom. Can you find one circumstance, one ground for hope of spiritual development, that could have induced Lot and his wife to go to live in Sodom or Gomorrah? What Pompeii and Herculaneum were to the ancient Romans these vile cities were to the inhabitants of the east. Their sins were so vile and awful and debauching that no public teacher of this day dare mention them or write them for print. Today as you walk among the ruins of Pompeii you see the most revolting and disgusting pictures painted upon the walls, which prove how the inhabitants of the aristocratic suburbs of Rome gloried in their bestialities. Such were the inhabitants of Sodom. They made no pretense to decency. They not only sinned, but they gloried in their sins. They published those sins everywhere. They practiced them openly. Yet that was the place where Lot and his wife, with their two daughters, deliberately decided to dwell after they had left the sweet, holy fellowship of Abraham's home. My brother, my sister, are your companions today evil companions? Are they men and women who sin and sin openly? Are they inhabitants of the evil cities of the plain? Man, how is it about that club? I do not say all men's clubs are bad. But some certainly are bad. Is your club made up of Christian members? When you go there do you feel you are honoring Christ? Do you ever hear the lewd joke, the vile story, the drunken blarney, there? Do you associate there with men who are neglecting their homes and who are accustomed to speak lightly of woman's purity and the sacred nobility of motherhood? Wife, how is it with your associates? For years you have been struggling to get into "society." What "society"? The "society" of Sodom or of Nazareth? The "society" of wives and daughters who are trying to make the world better through Christ or the "society" of avowed worldlings? Why did Lot's wife long to associate with the sinful inhabitants of the cities of the plain? Why are you, O men and women, struggling to associate with people who care no more for your Christ than for Buddha or Mohammed or Confucius or Plato? Are your associates today made up of a gambling, drinking, card playing, dancing, Sabbath breaking and God dishonoring set? If you are deliberately companionship with such associates you are like Lot's wife, living with the wicked in the evil cities of the plain. Why He Looked Back. Now we come to the great climax of these symbols. Lot's wife was half-way converted. She was in exactly the same position as you were when you lost your baby. You knelt by that casket and said, "O God, give me back my baby!" "O God, give me back my baby!" The man looked at my friend a moment and then said: "No, sir! I would sooner cut off my right arm than let my mother or my sisters see me as I am. I came from a Christian home, and the old truths which were taught me there are still pleasing to me to be a good Christian man." Then what happens? The Bible says that Lot went to Sodom because the

the "city of death?" "An old Christian legend," says Dr. Baxendale, "tells us that the mountain of Calvary can be compared to a high mountain, on the top of which is a palace filled with all treasures—gold, gems, singing birds, a paradise of pleasure. Up its sides men and women are climbing to reach the top, but every one who looks back is turned into stone. And yet thousands of evil spirits are around the climbers, whispering, shouting, flashing their treasures, singing their love songs to draw their eyes from the palace at the top and to make them look back." Such is the history of your Christian life. Like Lot's wife, you started away from Sodom. You began to climb the hills of safety. But you looked back. You fatally looked back. My apostate friend, can it be, after you have once started for the "city of God," that you will linger longer by this "city of death?" Can it be that a second call, and perhaps a last call, is not coming to you in this morning's sermon to seek the divine safety? Will you heed the call today? A Duty to Others. But I cannot close these suggestions without one more thought. Christian church members having fled from the "city of destruction," will you not try to persuade others to flee with you? You must wish to be saved; yes, but you must also try to save others. If Lot's wife had by the power of the Holy Spirit saved ten others she would have saved all in the evil cities of the plain. If all of us who are professing Christians will save ten each year for Christ it will not be long before the glory of the Lord shall cover the earth, even as the waters cover the seas. Is that too much to ask? Less than one soul a month for Christ. Is that too much to ask? It is not too much if you and I heart and soul have consecrated our lives for the service of our Master. If we each save ten souls a year for Christ we can save Sodom. When God determined to exterminate the cities of the plain Abraham said: "O Lord, wilt thou destroy the righteous with the wicked? If there are fifty righteous, wilt thou save Sodom for the fifty's sake? If forty-five, for the forty-five's sake? If ten, for the ten righteous' sake?" Then the Lord said, "Yes, I will save Sodom for ten righteous' sake." So Abraham arose from his knees and in all probability said: "Now I will go down to Sodom and visit my niece and her chief friends. I will get all the names of the people with whom she is identified in religious work, and I will save that whole town from destruction for the ten righteous' sake." The old man comes to the city. He is welcomed by his aristocratic foster daughter. He says to her, "My child, where live the godly people whom you have led to repentance?" "Why, uncle," she answers, "to tell the truth I do not know if any of my neighbors and society friends are servants of God. Yesterday I was at the great chariot race, but there we only talked horse. Last night we went to a dance, but there we only talked dress and gossip. Last week I attended court but there we only talked politics. I do not know if even there are ten righteous people living in Sodom. During all the years I have lived here I have not brought one of my friends to God." Is Lot's wife's answer your answer? Church members, will you not during the next year at least try to bring ten immortal souls to Christ? Is it too much to ask? Lot's wife could have saved Sodom. The Christian people of this country can bring this city and this state and this nation to Christ if they each will bring ten souls a year to Jesus. Is it too much to ask for Christ? Ten souls per year for each member. Is it too much to ask for Christ? We Risk It. Druggists Who Sell Dr. Miles' Nerve Agree, if it Fails, to Refund Cost. Of course we reimburse the drug gist. DIRECTS INVESTIGATION IN ARKANSAS

Of Geological Survey to Examine Water Resources—Gaining Prominence.

Washington, April 29—An investigation of the geology and water resources of what is technically known as the embayment, or low, watery area of Arkansas, north of the Arkansas river, is to be made during the summer under the auspices of the Geological Survey by A. F. Crider, assisted by L. W. Stephens, of the survey.

The investigation will include a detailed examination of the geology and water resources and a study of the physiography, history and the cause, date and effects of the earthquakes to which the region has been subject. Data of many kinds will be collected in regard to wells, springs and underground waters in general.

It appears that the surface water, and water in shallow wells over large areas in this section is not good for domestic purposes, and contrary to the theory of scientists that malaria is due to mosquitoes, persons in this region believe that malaria is caused by drinking the surface waters, and in proof of this point out that where the water supply comes from deep wells there is comparative freedom from malaria.

The waters will be analyzed and careful records kept of their ingredients.

Mr. Crider, a native of Crittenden county in the Western Kentucky mining district, has been with the United States Geological Survey corps for several years and has merited one or more promotions.

Miss Browning Re-elected.

It may be pleasing to numbers of our readers to know that the Board of Trustees for the Evansville schools in electing their teachers last Monday for the ensuing year, re-elected that ever popular teacher hailing from our little city, Miss Alice Browning, as principal of department work.
