BRICK WORK IS COMPLETE

ON THE ADAMS & PIERCE MACHINE SHOP.

NEW HOTEL RUMORED

Work Commenced on Three Store Buildings on Main Street.

Messrs. Adams and Pierce have completed the brick work on their two story machine shop on Bank street and the carpenters will advance the wood work considerably this week, the roof having been put on. It will be but a short time until Adams and Pierce will be ready for business in their new quarters, being the first to rebuild.

This week Contractor G. T. Jennings turned the brick masons in on the three store buildings to be constructed for Mrs. Wheeler on Main street. It is reported that the building adjoining the Marion bank will be occupied by the Palace dry goods store of which J. B. Ray is proprietor, and it is understood that Messrs. McConnell and Stone, of the Cash store will occupy their old stand, but in a more modern and convenient store building. It is also understood that the middle building over the lot where the Marion hardware store stood, has been rented to A. J. Baker, a former member of the Marion Hardware Co., and it is generally supposed that Mr. Baker will handle a line of hardware.

On account of necessary stone material not having arrived the brick work on the following buildings was suspended for a few days: L. H. James' office building, E. J. Hayward and J. H. Orms store buildings.

Vice President Sam Gugenheim and President John W. Blue, of the Marion Bank, left today for Evansville where they will be in consultation with the architects and where bids on the new postoffice building and the Marion Bank building will be opened and the contracts will be let. Messrs. Blue and Gugenheim act for themselves in considering the bids on the postoffice building. The work on these buildings is to begin as soon as possible after the contracts are let out. It has been reported that Harry Watkins, representing Paris, Tenn., capitalists, has been negotiating with Messrs. Blue and Gugenheim relative to the purchase of a lot for a hotel site, but do not know how far the trading has gone in this matter but we are sure of one thing and that is that Harry Watkins makes a thing move when he goes after it.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Moody on the Experience of Conversion.

(Special)

J. B. Moody began a series of missions at the Baptist church last Sunday. Morning and night he delivered two powerful and comforting discourses on the "Sovereignty of God," and Monday night on "Atheism, Immoral and Irrational," and Tuesday afternoon on the "Great Promise of Christ in Matthew 23:13," and Tuesday night on the "Experience of Conversion." Large attentive audiences are greeting him. Below we give a synopsis of last night's discourse: Text, Gal. 4:15. When is the blessing, or happiness, ye speak of, ye were first converted. Subtext, "The Experience of conversion." "If the Galatians were happy when they were converted the happiness belongs to conversion. Hence it must be had; second, it may be lost; third, it should be sought; fourth, it can be found; fifth it can't be hid.

The speaker said that there were some difficulties in the way of a proper understanding of this experience. First, the variety of experiences, growing out of difference in temperaments, difference in circumstances of conversion, difference in the manner of reading, difference in the degree of faith in the converts, difference in their knowledge of the great salvation which they obtain in conversion.

After showing from the circumstances that the experiences are necessarily varied he then proceeded to show under the first head that we once had it, and the change from darkness to light and from death to life is so great that it should be recognized, as well as experienced. He gave two contributing causes to this happiness of the young convert. First, the gift of the Holy Spirit to those who believe—John 7:38, 39; Acts 10:44-47; Acts 15:7-10; Gal. 3:2, 4:6, 19:22; Eph. 1:13, as corrected in the new translation.

The second cause of this happiness he mentioned was consciousness of sins forgiven. Illustrated by the cases given in Luke 7:36-50, and Romans 4:1-7. That forgiveness is the taking away of conscious guilt was illustrated by reference to John 8:9; Hebrew 9:14, 10:1-4, 22; also Paul's experience in Romans 7:7-13.

Second—May be lost. Job lost it, Job 22:2-6; David lost it, Psalms 51:10-13; the Ephesian church lost it, Rev. 2:3-5.

We lose it—By going back to legal ideas of salvation; by scandalous sin, like David; by omission of Christian duty; by indwelling sin; by worldly-mindedness, Prov. 8:5-6; one may become dead while alive, 1 Tim. 5:6. Abounding wickedness, Matt. 24:12. Lot an example. By superstitions, illustrations by some of the familiar superstitions of the day.

E. T. FRANKS

Not Guilty of Assessing Revenue Employees to Aid Dr. Hunter.

Owensboro, Ky., May 16.—Civil Service Commissioner Green has arrived in the city and has established headquarters at the local internal revenue office. He is investigating charges of violations of the civil service law in the local revenue office. It is charged that Collector E. T. Franks was very much interested in the success of Dr. W. Godfrey Hunter in the recent congressional contest and that he levied assessments on his men and aided Dr. Hunter.

Commissioner Green has employed a stenographer and during the day twenty-six employees of the revenue service of this district were examined. The investigation will be continued tomorrow.

Collector Franks, who was seen tonight, said the charges filed with the commissioner were groundless and he did not fear the outcome of the investigation.

Tonight Commissioner Green denied that the local postoffice was being investigated. He said he thought that department was all right. However, Postmaster Van Rensselaer is chairman of the Republican city and county committee, and there has been some talk of action being taken against him requiring him to resign one of the offices.—Courier Journal.

ELEVEN YEARS OF SUCCESSFUL WORK

A BRIEF HISTORY OF THE PROGRESS OF THE MARION GRADED SCHOOLS.

SUPERINTENDENT EVANS SOON TO LEAVE

For Ardmore, Indian Territory.—The Commencement Was Very Much Enjoyed by a Packed House.—A Memorial For Trustees and Taxpayers.

With the close of the commencement exercises last week came the end of the eleventh year's work of the Marion graded school with Chas. Evans as superintendent.

Prof. Evans has worked here so faithfully and so long that wherever he or the school is remembered the good reputation of the other abides. Under his management the school has grown and prospered and beyond doubt has reached the highest standard and today leads the schools of its class in this state, and it is needless to say for the benefit of those who know Prof. Evans that he has merited and acquired a reputation for being an able school worker and institute instructor that reaches beyond the boundaries of Kentucky. Just recently he was unanimously elected to the superintendency of the public schools of Ardmore, Indian Territory, which position he reluctantly accepted because of his love for old Kentucky, and especially on account of the monument he leaves here to his credit, the present prestige and high standing of our city schools, and it is not necessary for the Record to say that Prof. Evans has here and all over Kentucky hundreds of friends that will regret to learn that he will leave the state. High-class, thoroughly original, and always interesting, his instruction ever fills a demand that few educators can supply.

A brief history of the growth of the Marion graded school speaks well for the school work done here and we publish it with pleasure.

January 21, 1895, Prof. Evans assumed charge of the Marion graded school, which opened with 297 pupils, the same term closing with 315, while the last year's work opened last September with 398 pupils, and closed May 12, 1905, with 492. The work began eleven years ago with five teachers and now the school demands nine. It began with an eight-room building and the new $5,000 addition with a large auditorium besides two extra school rooms, together with a $2,000 steam heating plant for the entire building testifies to the enterprise of our citizenship in the city schools, the pride of all.

With 406 common school graduates to its credit, an average of almost 37 for the eleven years, the Marion Graded School leads the state in that popular work and 74 boys and girls have graduated from the work of the high school department which carries one of the completest and most practical three years' courses taught in the state. The young men and ladies that have gone out from this department are finding almost every reputable station in life and some of them are making reputations that reach beyond the localities in which they reside.

The school has been a pioneer in such progressive movements as library building, oratorical contests, school room decorations and many other similar movements. The push and business of the citizens of Marion afford inducements to a growing little city, but there is no particular enterprise nor is there any institution that draws more families here than the Marion Graded School, which is due to the untiring efforts of Chas. Evans for the last eleven years, whose leadership has been well backed up by a loyal board and liberal taxpayers who have builded and builded well for the younger generation.

Despite the fact that the weather was unfavorable Friday night and Saturday night the opera house was packed almost beyond standing room and the exercises were concluded without a break.

The exercises Friday evening which consisted of a programme entitled, "Tennyson's 'Against Longfellow,'" was rendered by those common school graduates who did not participate in the exercises of the evening before, entitled, "Whittier," and they were carried out quite successfully.

With Friday night the commencement exercises of the common school graduates concluded, and Miss Fenwick Wathen was given a gold medal presented by Dentist Richard J. Morris to the pupil making the highest grade on written examination on hygiene after listening to the course of lectures delivered to the school on the subject which he had delivered.

Saturday evening the high school class rendered the most entertaining program of the commencement, which was entitled "An Evening With Robert Burns." The exercises consisted in the giving of historical narrations pertaining to the life of Burns together with readings from his writings, illustrated by tabular scenes. After the high school program was concluded, diplomas were presented to all the graduates. Their names are as follows:

On Friday the citizens of Marion and patrons of the school were invited to attend a special service in the new auditorium of the school building at 10 a. m.

After the devotional exercises Prof. Evans made the introductory remarks, which was followed by speeches from the teachers, as is the usual custom, and several visiting patrons expressed themselves as being pleased with the progress of the school.

The main reason for this special meeting was to present a memorial to the trustees and taxpayers, who, by their noble efforts, had erected the new building for the school. Miss Mary Deboe received the honor of presenting the memorial, which is a carved stone, and A. C. Moore accepted it in behalf of the trustees and taxpayers, expressing the highest appreciation and gratitude.

Superintendent Evans was presented an opal finger ring by his high school boys, and his high school girls presented him with a beautiful bouquet of cut flowers.

Incendiary.

Thursday night of last week, about twelve o'clock, Ditney church, situated near the boundary line between Crittenden and Livingston counties on Deer Creek, burned to the ground. The fire was discovered by Dock Monroe from his residence, which is situated near the church grounds. The building and all contents were totally destroyed, entailing a loss of about $500, with no insurance. There had been no services in the church since the Sunday before, and the fire is thought to have been of an incendiary nature. It has been reported that certain parties are under suspicion. Preparations are already being made to rebuild the church.

A convention has been called to meet at Eddyville early in June to nominate a successor to the late Senator J. W. Gilbert. Mr. Landram's entry into the race makes three candidates, the others being Felix Grasty, of Trigg county and Con Linn, of Calloway county.

MINERAL NEWS

Report of the Joplin Market and the Marion Fluorspar Shipments.

JOPLIN, Mo., May 14.—The highest price reported paid for zinc ore in the Joplin district during the past week was $46.50 for the output of the Ohio mine in the Webb City-Carterville camp. The Chapman and Lennon mining company sold their output in the same camp at $46, the same price paid for the Bumblebee ore in Joplin and the Kathryn ore in Neek City. The assay basis price was lowered in some instances as much as $2 per ton, the highest reported being $43 per ton of 60 per cent zinc. Lead was also lowered, bringing $37 per ton all week in Joplin, but one bin of lead in Webb City sold at $51.50 and several lots at $38, down to $32. The heavy rains during the past week somewhat retarded mining operations.

A year ago the highest price paid for zinc ore was $39 per ton for top grade ore, while the lower grade sold at $34.90 per ton. Lead a year ago brought $56 per ton. Ten years ago the average top price for zinc ore was $22.60 per ton. Lead was then bringing $32.30 per ton. The value of the zinc and lead output of the district ten years ago averaged weekly $71,180, which is about one-fourth of the value today.

The shipments for the week ending May 13th, from Marion, were as follows:

3 cars ground fluorspar	150,115 lbs.
4 " gravel "	282,915 "
3 " lump "	193,505 "
Total	626,535 "

STURGIS, Ky., May 17.—Thomas Nevius, of New York, has bought the Tradewater and Baker coal mines for $800,000.

DISPLAY OF ENTERPRISE

A Letter From the Secretary of the Louisville Commercial Club.

The Record is in receipt of the following letter from the secretary of the Louisville Commercial Club, which we appreciate not only on our own account, but because of the fact that our little city does not go without notice in Kentucky's metropolis.

Louisville, Ky., May 13, '05. Messrs. Jas. E. Chittenden and C. H. Whitehouse, Editors Record, Marion, Ky.

My dear Sirs:— I want to congratulate you upon the enterprise you have displayed since the recent fire in your town. The fact that your energy could enable you to get out a paper so quickly after the destructive conflagration should commend you to every citizen of your section and insure the hearty support of your publication. The article in the last issue on the rebuilding of Marion is an evidence of your city's enterprise,

COMMERCIAL CLUB

Meets and Transacts Much Business.

Last Tuesday evening May 16, the directors of the commercial club met in the office of H. H. Sayre, chairman of entertainment arrangement and building committee. This was the first regular meeting since the fire. All old business which the club had under way was taken up and discussed. Arrangements were also made for bringing such matters to a successful issue.

President Cochran appointed Prof. Chas. Evans, C. H. Whitehouse, Eli Nunn and J. Frank Conger as a committee to attend a meeting of the Livingston County Business Men's meeting at Salem May 18, which action was in response to a request of that body, with a view to discussing the proposed fair to be held at Salem next fall, if the the co-operation and participation of Crittenden county is very much desired.

Dr. Frazer reported that all correspondence regarding the proposed change of road crossing at the intersection of the Crayneville road and railroad, was destroyed by fire. He will, however, resume his correspondence with the I. C. officials and as far as possible secure duplicate drawings and other data for action by the club.

Arrangements were made for the regular meeting of the club on next Tuesday evening at eight o'clock at K. of P. hall.

Progress

Shall we arise out of the ashes into a Greater Marion? Witness the activity in building operations which is now evident on every hand and learn of the new building permits granted by the city council for your answer.

Is this new growth, this untiring activity, this unbounded faith in the future of the city and district substantial in nature or permanent in character? This same question and its inevitable answer has figured in the development and growth of every city which has ever attained any notable prominence.

Success depends not alone upon our stumbling on a golden opportunity, and fortune is not served on silver platters, but is dependent upon the recognition of "opportunity in embryo," faith in our own foresight and, finally, upon our acting promptly and perseveringly to overcome all difficulties and forge possibilities into realities, prospects into successes.

The opportunity is ours to grasp, and vigorous, active, energetic minds and hands have hold of the handle, which, wielded properly and effectively, shall bring order out of chaos, changing adversity into prosperity, and when the sting of loss occasioned by the recent fire shall have lost its effect, all will realize, as some now do, that we have indeed received a blessing in disguise in the awakened energy of our citizenship and the recognition of our needs and opportunities.

When the new and greater Marion shall have come up out of the ashes with handsome offices, store buildings, hotel, and business houses in general, furnished and reoccupied—in short, when the present abnormal conditions shall have changed to normal and our ordinary business avocations can be conducted in the regular manner and channel—how would you feel if a second holocaust of fire should destroy all that had been created? Would we have the faith, the means and the incentive to rebuild?

Even the most efficient waterworks system and fire-fighting apparatus does not absolutely prevent the destruction of a city under the most adverse conditions, but the purchase of a fire engine, hose and hook and ladder service, and the installation of a waterworks system commensurate with our needs should not be objected to on this account. We can and should reduce to a minimum the probabilities of such calamities overtaking us in the future, and provide adequate means of fire protection sufficient to prevent the spread of fires into a general conflagration, as on March 28.

SHIPPING

In the midst of an intelligent and civilized community, in the heart of the Union, with modern conditions and conveniences all around us, with railroads prospective and de facto, in the light of all this and much more, in the name of reason and common sense, why should we and how much longer will we submit to the present state of development of our alleged mining district and the absence of all facilities and incentive to its full and proper development? The echo answers why and what? Its reverberation will doubtless disturb our quiet solitude and blissful satisfaction for several decades before the whistle of the locomotive or gong of the electric car comes to change our present stage-coach, prairie-schooner, mule and horse power and other before-the-war conditions, into a modern and developed section of the country suited to our location and resources.

In the buoyancy of our youth, innocence and inexperience we have dreamed many dreams, evolved many schemes, advanced many theories and been told many things of the wonders of the district, which in the light of age and reason, sobriety and experience, halt at the threshold of reality awaiting the building of a railroad through the mining section.

Again and again
We have hoped many hopes
Based on the tales often told,
Of the "things which are doing"
With a view to securing
Another railroad.

Let us pray.

We Risk It.

More Double Track

Writing in The Raleigh Post of yesterday, Mr. J. C. Caddell foresees the time when trains running between Greensboro and Charlotte will dash through a continuous city, and says that the next ninety-nine-year lease of the North Carolina Railroad by the Southern will call for four tracks instead of one. So, indeed, it will be; and this reminds us of the agreeable statement in the Washington correspondence of The Post of yesterday that a force of hands will tomorrow begin grading on the double track between Greensboro and High Point. It is a continuing wonder how the Southern Railway contrives to handle so many trains, passenger and freight, on a single track, between Greensboro and Charlotte, with so few accidents, and a continuing cause of congratulation to the alert and clear-headed train dispatchers. The Southern is a great system, the most effective developer of the South, and it has not undertaken its double-tracking policy too early. Think of the volume of its traffic fifty, even twenty-five years from now.

INDIGESTION'S RECORD

"The best remedy I can prescribe for your indigestion, madam, is Green's August Flower. I know of several other physicians who prescribe it regularly."

Indigestion is making an awful record as a cause of sudden deaths. It is beating heart-failure in its ghastly harvest. You read in the papers daily of apparently healthy and even robust men being suddenly attacked with acute indigestion after enjoying a hearty meal, and of their dying in many cases before a physician could be called in.

This should be a warning to you who suffer with regular or periodical attacks of indigestion. If these unfortunate victims of acute indigestion had taken a small dose of Green's August Flower before or after their meals they would not have fallen a prey to such sudden seizure. August Flower prevents indigestion by creating good digestion. It also regulates the liver, purifies the blood and tones up the entire system in a natural way.

CRITTENDEN COUNTY

Woman Gives Interesting Account of Trip "Out West."

Yakima City, Washington, May 6. —If you will allow me space in your valuable paper I will try and tell you something of our trip to Washington. We left Crayneville somewhere between three and four p. m. Tuesday, March 14th, 1905. We were delayed at Marion on account of a freight wreck between that place and Repton until half past seven that night, so we did not see this end of old Kentucky except what we saw by moonlight. We left Evansville at 11:30 the same night. We reached Mattoon, Ill., at half past four in the morning and had a four hours stay there and when the dawn began to break trains were passing covered with snow, although we never found any snow on the ground until we reached Champagne, Ill. Illinois is a pretty country, apparently level and where we could see the ground was black as coal. We arrived at Chicago at 12:20 Wednesday and had six hours stay there. I did not see any of Chicago only that I could see from our car. Mr. Dardy took the most of the boys over part of the city and they say they never saw such sights in their lives. We left Chicago at 6:20 Wednesday evening, arriving at St. Paul Thursday morning at 9:15, when we reached there it was raining some and so cold that most of us stayed in the depot all day but some of the boys were out enough to find out that there was some people in St. Paul that would not do for Crittenden boys to fool with.

We left St. Paul at 10:15 Thursday night, it being the last layover on our trip and the only place we had to change cars. Friday being almost the first traveling we had done in day time no idle time was spent by any one. We struck the bad lands of Montana Friday evening about four o'clock. The bad lands are sights to behold, hills and rocks of all shapes and sizes. We ran into the Rockies some time that night and traveled in them all day Saturday and part of Saturday night. The most beautiful sight I saw on my journey was the pine grove of the Rockies. I suppose it was between six and seven miles long and reached from one mountain to the other. We landed at Toppenish, Washington, Sunday morning at 6:30 and our crowd all got off of the train there but my own family, Tom Spinali and family and Billie Riley. In less than an hour's ride from Toppenish we all landed at North Yakima and were turned loose and not a soul there we knew. You can imagine how we looked, a little band full of us set down there 3,500 miles from home and not a soul we ever saw before, but by nine o'clock Henry Curr was there with a wagon and team and after a good old hand shake we left for his home where we received a good old Kentucky welcome.

We have settled down in the Yakima valley and it is certainly the prettiest country I ever saw and as far as I have seen has never been misrepresented either by Mr. Hill or any one of the agents that have spoken of this country in Kentucky.

The principal crops in this valley are hops, hay, potatoes and fruit. The potatoes we have been using for eating are the culls that would not do to ship and I never saw as large potatoes in my life and I can't imagine what size the shipping potatoes can be. Wages are good here, from $39 to $45 per month, land is high, from $50 to $150 per acre, but any man that will come here and work can own a home in the course of a few years.

I would advise people who want to come to Washington to try and get on an emigrant car, for you will get through on less expense than you will on a general passenger. You can bring more baggage and larger children free on an emigrant car and you will have some good man to see after you and advise you what to do, as we had.

Messrs. Hill and Dardy were so good and kind to show and tell us all how to do to get through all right. I think it was so kind in Mr. Hill to come through with us when his traveling costs him like it does. He has to pay so high for his meals and he is so old he can't sleep around on benches like younger people, and his bed costs him one dollar every night.

If anyone does not believe he can get through better on an emigrant car without paying on children, just drop Newt Brown a card at Yakima City and he can tell you about it.

Well, I will close, and if this does not go into the waste basket I will write again when crops are harvested, and I think I can then tell how large the potatoes grow here.

Respectfully,

MATTIE HILL.

SPRING CATARRH

Changeable Weather Will Cause Disease.—Breathe Hyomei

AND CURE CATARRH

The changeable weather of spring with its warm days and cold nights, is responsible for a great increase in the number of cases of catarrh. It is now that Hyomei, the only guaranteed treatment for catarrh that cures without stomach dosing, should be used in every home.

For more than a century physicians have been sending persons suffering from catarrh to Egypt, Colorado, or Australia, where the pure, healing air would cure the disease. For one person who could take this trip, thousands have been compelled to stay at home and continue their daily toil. To these sufferers who could not change their climatic conditions, we offer Hyomei, a method by which pure air, impregnated with Nature's own remedies for the cure of catarrh, can be inhaled by every sufferer in his or her home. Breathe through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, its healing, volatile, antiseptic fragrance reaches the lungs and air passages as no stomach dosing possibly can do. It gives immediate relief and makes lasting cures.

The complete outfit, consisting of the inhaler, medicine dropper, and bottle of Hyomei, costs only one dollar, and extra bottles of Hyomei, if needed, can be procured for fifty cents.

Proof that the Hyomei treatment will do all that is claimed for it is found in the guarantee under which R. F. Haynes sells it, an agreement to pay back the price, if the purchaser can say that Hyomei has not given satisfaction.

A NEW EDITION

Of Sherwin Cody's "Art of Short Story Writing."

A new edition of Sherwin Cody's "Art of Short Story Writing" is announced, to be known as "Story Writing and Journalism." Mr. Cody has added a new section on Literary Journalism, in which he tells some of the semi literary ways in which money can be made by the pen. The sections on Short Story Writing and Creative Composition will remain as they now stand in volume entitled Construction Rhetoric in his series of four books, The Art of Writing and Speaking the English Language.

DROPPED DEAD!

You pick up a paper nearly every day and read that some man or woman in apparently perfect health has died suddenly at a banquet, on the street, at the theater, of "heart failure."

80 per cent of such cases follow heavy eating. The digestive organs are not in condition, the food ferments in the stomach, forming gases which distend the walls of the stomach—which presses against the heart—crowds suffocates—"Heart failure" results. Take a spoonful of after eating. It relieves that "full feeling," stops fermentation, aids digestion and prevents biliousness and constipation.

L. G. HAMMER, Wagoner, Ind. Ter., under date of May 31, 1902, writes: For over a year I was troubled with my heart. Doctors and medicines were unable to help me; finally I noticed an advertisement of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin stating that oftentimes Heart Trouble was caused by indigestion, and that Syrup Pepsin would cure indigestion and Gas on the Stomach. I tried it and was fully cured and wish to take this means of letting others know of the merits of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

"THE MAN IN GRAY."

Beautiful Three Color Print.

As its offering of respect to the Confederate Veterans Reunion, the Henderson Route is distributing a beautiful three color print, entitled "The Man in Gray," which is receiving widespread admiration throughout the entire south.

The picture, which is printed from an extra fine etching, reproduced from an original drawing by Mr. Robert M. Hoe, the celebrated artist of the Courier-Journal, is 16x22 inches, and is printed on fine enameled paper, sufficiently heavy for use unframed, but equally suitable for framing.

It is executed in the three cardinal colors of the confederacy—gray, blue and red—on a white background, and has been rightly termed by critics "a gem."

They are enclosed in strawboard mailing tubes for safe transmission by mail, thus avoiding any possibility of breakage and insuring safe delivery.

Send five (red) stamps to L. J. Irwin, Louisville, Ky., for this beautiful reproduction, and after you receive it, whether you are from the north or out of the south, you will be an enthusiastic admirer of the "Hero of the Gray." 44 St

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE.

COCHRAN—We are authorized to announce Thomas H. Cochran, a candidate to represent the district composed of Crittenden and Livingston counties in the Kentucky legislature; subject to the action of the Democratic party.

If the great naval fight comes off, neither admiral will be able to plead that he lacked time for preparation.

The Baptists of the North and South, who have been divided since the war, are about to consolidate and use only one waterworks system.

A member of our editorial staff was in Louisville recently, where his erstwhile white palm straw hat caused some comment by reason of its alleged unseasonableness. His Louisville friends did not seem to know the times and the seasons. They ought to come down here and learn that style and comfort go hand in hand.

There is a strong probability of the Tennessee Central R. R. coming into Kentucky by way of Hopkinsville, Princeton, Marion and on to Paducah, and should such develop into a reality, the people of Smithland should make an earnest effort to have it come by here. If we fail to get a branch of the I. C. built to this place, then we should labor to get the Tennessee Central.—Livingston Democrat.

A CARD.

Mr. Editor. If you will allow me space in your valuable paper I will explain to the inquiring public my intention of making the race for jailer. Having once asked for the place, and finding that I was not the choice of the public, I cheerfully submitted to a majority. But times and things have changed. I feel it my duty and having been asked to make a second attempt for the office, offer myself a candidate for the office, subject to the action of the prohibition party. Having first ran on the Republican ticket but having reached an age where I know and recognize as a fact that we need men in our offices who will say "no" when it becomes necessary to the welfare and happiness of our homes and county, I present myself to you as a straight Christian gentleman, to the best of my ability, and ask that you consider me such when you cast your vote in November.

I like good things and would love of COMMERCIAL CLUB MEETING.

Notice

Tuesday evening, May 23rd, at 8 o'clock, at the K. of P. Hall, the Commercial Club will meet in regular session. All members are requested to be in attendance.

Thomas H. Cochran,
President.

to have "cream" and support of all the parties, and I think as jailer don't have the right to make laws, but his business is to get men to quit breaking the laws, he ought to have the consideration of all good men so I beg you consider my "aim" before you come to a conclusion.

Yours truly,
W. J. HILL.

Farmers' Club.

The publication of the Livingston county farmers' club meeting programs in this county is arousing an interest on the part of our farmers and upon an invitation from a committee of the farmers' club, the Crittenden county Commercial club sent a committee composed of Messrs. Charles Evans, J. Frank Conger and C. H. Whitehouse to Salem yesterday to meet with the farmers' club to discuss matters of mutual interest that will be reported later.

Prisoners Captured.

Jailer Threlkeld, of Smithland, returned to that place the first of the week from Caseyville, where was captured Will Proctor, colored, and James Cowan, white, who broke the Smithland jail last Thursday night and escaped. John Wells got out also, but has not been caught. The Caseyville marshal recognized Cowan and Proctor as they passed through there together and they were arrested. At Smithland warrants were issued against Wm. Stanley, Cecil Berry and a boy named Clements, charging them with smuggling into the jail the files with which the three alleged murderers effected their escape. Wells is thought to be headed for Owensboro, and a sharp lookout is being kept.

RESOLUTIONS.

Whereas, the allwise and loving father has seen fit to take from our midst our beloved sister, Ethel Birchfield, be it

Resolved, that we, as a Sunday school, cherish her memory and that in her death the Sunday school has lost a worthy member, the community a Christian friend, the parents a loving and dutiful daughter, her brothers a kind and gentle sister; and be it further

Resolved, that the Clear Spring Sunday school extend to the bereaved family of our late sister our deepest sympathy and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Crittenden Record and Crittenden Press for publication, and to the family of the deceased sister.

Mrs. J. D. Elder, Jennie Davis,
Fannie Joyce, Committee.

HON. CLIFTON J. PRATT

Preparing to go West.—J. T. Alexander Buys His Property.

Clifton J. Pratt, it is reported, has sold his residence in Madisonville together with his stock in the Hopkins county Bank to J. T. Alexander. It is also understood that Judge Pratt resigned as president of the bank and Mr. Alexander was elected to fill the position. These gentlemen are both well known and have numbers of friends in this city. It is reported that Judge Pratt is making preparations to remove to the West.

Episcopal Services.

Rev. M. M. Benton and Bishop Woodcock, of the Episcopal diocese of Kentucky, will be in the city Wednesday May 24th and will conduct services at the Cumberland Presbyterian church that evening at 7:30. This is the date of the announcement instead of May 22 as previously announced.

HOME TELEPHONE CO.

To Absorb Independent and Improve Local System.

Mr. J. T. Alexander, of Madisonville, who is a stockholder in the People's Independent Telephone Co., was in town Thursday greeting his old friends. He is of the opinion that the Home Telephone Co. will absorb the People's Independent Telephone Co. and that the new exchange will be put in here with the latest and most improved equipment and that the service given can not be surpassed.

The Home Telephone Co. is operating in all the principal cities and towns in the country and if our exchange becomes a part of this great system it will be what the citizens here have needed for some time.

Mr. Alexander will recommend to the company what is needed here in the way of improvements, and we feel assured that he will look to the interest of the people of Marion and vicinity.

Notice.

The state Sunday school convention will meet at Somerset June 7th to 9th. Who will go as a delegate from Crittenden county? Let us hear from you at once.

The Crittenden county Sunday school convention will be held at old Piney Fork in July. Let every Sunday school in the county prepare to go and take part.

Yours for the cause,
R. M. FRANKS,
County President.

THE VITAL NECESSITY

There is no other one thing with which I have so much trouble as this lack of persistency among advertisers. They lack the nerve to fight long and hard. While they will expend a good deal of cash and energy in making a single plunge, they will grow tired if called upon to expend the same amount through a campaign of six months.

The road to success is an uphill road all the way. Do not try to sprint.

For a little way it goes easy, and you get over the ground fast, but the goal seems all the farther away when the nervous energy in that spurt is spent. There are but 40 per cent of advertisers who make their advertising pay.

The rest never learned that persistency in advertising is the one vital necessity.

They jumped into advertising without preparation in the way of the money to meet the expense or the experience to keep from wasting it. They failed to consider that the creation of trade through advertising was a long process.—Inland Printer.

Successful merchants use our columns persistently.

Senior Guglielmo Marconi's Bride. The wireless telegraphy inventor, Signor Guglielmo Marconi, recently took as his bride an Irish beauty, the Hon. Beatrice O'Brien. She is vivacious and witty, is the daughter of the fifteenth Baron Inchiquin and is one of eight sisters. She can trace her descent from the famous Irish monarch, Brian Borohme, who was king of the Emerald Isle from 1002 to 1014 and was slain at the head of his army at the battle of Clontarf. His grandson, Turlogh, king of Munster, had four sons, the third of whom was the progenitor of the Barons Inchiquin. Marconi's choice of a bride from Ireland is not inappropriate, as his mother came of the Irish race.

Bogy of Populism

"Populism is a term at which many eminently respectable but sadly misinformed persons, like the staid old farm horse when he first encounters an automobile on the road to town," writes Charles Q. De France, Secretary People's Party National Committee, in Tom Watson's Magazine for May. "They regard it as synonymous with Socialism, anarchy, bomb throwing, nihilism and half a dozen other real or fancied evils. That it is simply a short expression for progressive, radical or Jeffersonian Democracy has never occurred to them."

"Populism is a term which well illustrates the growth of language, the evolution by which circumlocution is avoided and clearness of expression attained. Yet, at the same time, it is an apt illustration of the power of a subsidized press to create an erroneous public opinion."

"Back in the early '90s, when the People's Party was being organized in a number of Western States, there was considerable discussion as to whether it should be regarded as a political organization on the usual lines, or whether it should be a sort of league of independent voters, free to choose and vote for such candidates, on any ticket, as might seem best fitted to represent the interests of the different organizations of farmers and wageworkers out of which the People's Party finally evolved."

"The Omaha National Convention in 1892 settled the question in favor of regular party organization. It is true that there were intended to be points of difference between the People's Party machinery and that of either old party, but these points were minor rather than fundamental. The delegate convention was retained—which, to my mind, was the one mistake made at Omaha. Until some system of direct nominations is adopted, whereby every elector may have a vote direct—and not by delegate, who may misrepresent him—I fear that as our party grows in strength we shall more and more be called upon to combat the same influences which dominate both the old parties. However, this is digression."

"With the advent of the People's Party a difficulty was found in describing a member of that party. A member of the Republican Party is, of course, a Republican; and a member of the Democratic Party is called a Democrat—but how designate one affiliated with the People's Party?"

"The omnipresent and omniscient newspaper reporter, as usual, solved the difficulty. His agnosticism applies to nothing except the word 'fail.' And with him circumlocution and criminality are almost synonymous. It would never do to be ringing the changes on 'an adherent to the People's Party,' or 'one affiliated with the People's Party,' hence, it was not long before we began to see the word 'Populist' used in verbal descriptions of what the cartoonist invariably depicted as a 'one galus' man, armed with fork or rake, and blessed with a hirsute adornment truly Samsonian."

"Applied as a term of reproach, yet responding to the inexorable law which compels men to follow along the lines of least resistance, the word 'Populist' came to stay. It stuck, just as the term 'Methodist' did—or 'Christian,' for that matter. From 'Populist,' descriptive of the man, to 'Populism,' designating his political belief, was an easy step—and now, after fifteen years of abuse, ridicule, vituperation and gross misrepresentation, the great middle class is just beginning to get a clearer view and to discover that Populism is the only logical answer to the question, 'What shall we do to be saved from economic ruin?'"

So wonderful was their effect, that in three days I felt like a new man, and today I am cured of all my troubles." Guaranteed at R. F. Haynes' drug store, price 50c.

LESSON VIII, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, MAY 21.

Text of the Lesson, John xviii, 28-40. Memory Verses, 37, 38—Golden Text, John xviii, 37—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1905, by American Bible Association.] In this lesson, which leads up to the crucifixion, we must, however briefly, sum up the events from last lesson onward. Let us not forget that it is His last night in a mortal body. The darkness ever deepens, and the conflict grows more and more fierce, for all the powers of darkness are about to do their worst, and He is about to bear in His own body the sins of the whole world (1 Pet. ii, 24; 1 John ii, 2).

His going forth from the city over the brook Kedron, rejected by Israel, His Son (Ex. iv, 22, 23; Hos. xi, 1), carries us back to David going forth over the same brook, rejected by his son (1 Sam. xv, 30), but the type was a very faint shadow of this awful reality. How the agony was heaped up in the betrayal of Judas, the denial of Peter, being forsaken of all, the mocking and buffeting and cruel scourging and finally the hiding of His own Father's face as He who knew no sin was made a sin offering for us—remember, "for us," and let your heart say "for me," suffering all this for me that I might not suffer through all eternity, and all of His own voluntary will (Lev. i, 3), for no power on earth or in hell could take Him or take His life from Him unless He willed it (John x, 18). In the garden see those who came to take Him going backward and falling to the ground when He simply said, "I am." They never would have risen again if He had not willed it, but He let them take Him and bind Him and lead Him away to Annas and Caiaphas and to Pilate. "He was brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so He openeth not His mouth" (Isa. liii, 7). He left us an example that we should follow His steps (1 Pet. ii, 21-23).

After much buffeting and suffering and uncalled for abuse He is brought before Pilate in the early morning by these self righteous Pharisees, who would not enter Pilate's judgment hall lest they should be defiled, not considering it degrading to hate and persecute and determine to kill an innocent man. Even though they did not accept Him as the Messiah, their prophets had said, "Let none of you imagine evil against his brother in your heart" (Zech. vii, 10; viii, 17). They were taught to love God with all their heart and their neighbor as themselves (Lev. xix, 18), yet see in them a repetition of the treatment of Joseph by his brethren. Hear them accuse Him of being a malefactor (verse 30). He, the Holy One of God, the spotless Lamb, who did no sin.

See the Scripture being fulfilled in the Jews asking the Romans to be His executioner, for had the Jews killed Him He would have been stoned as Stephen was, but it was foretold that He should be crucified, His hands and His feet pierced (Isa. xlii, 1; Zech. xii, 10), and Jesus had Himself said that He was to be crucified (Matt. x, 39). How weighty and all important the sayings, "The Scripture cannot be broken," "All things must be fulfilled" (John x, 35; Luke xxiv, 44).

Our Lord acknowledged to Pilate that He was the King of the Jews, but that no earthly power would or could give Him His kingdom; it is given Him by the Father, even as He said in His prayer in last week's lesson, "The glory which Thou gavest Me." His words, "My kingdom is not of this world" (verse 36), do not in any way indicate that His kingdom will not be on this earth, for it is the repeated affirmation that it will be (Dan. vii, 27; Rev. v, 9, 10; xi, 15; Matt. v, 5; Num. xiv, 21, etc.), but it is "not from hence." It will come by judgments and a great catastrophe at His second coming in glory.

As He had said before, "My sheep hear My voice," so now He says, "Every one that is of the truth heareth My voice" (verse 37). Even though we preach the simplest, purest gospel we are nowhere taught that all will receive it, for during the whole of this age there will be the four kinds of soil described in the parable of the sower, and wheat and tares will grow together till the end of the age. Those whom the Father has given to Him will come to Him, and His word faithfully spoken will always accomplish His pleasure (Isa. lv, 11). Pilate's question, "What is truth?" was seemingly thoughtlessly uttered and received no reply, but we have the answer in John xiv, 6.

In verse 38 and chapter xix, 4, 6, note Pilate's threefold testimony to His innocence, and yet when they demand His death He is surrendered to their will and a robber and murderer is set free. It is even so to this day; the Life and Light of men, the only Saviour of sinners, is despised and rejected, and the father of lies, a murderer from the beginning, is believed and received and followed by the multitude. Whom have you chosen? Our eternal welfare depends upon our relation to Christ. We may say, as Pilate said, "I find no fault in Him," or we may even say, as some do, "I believe He was the best of men and a great teacher," but the great question, the vital question, is, Have you chosen Him as your own Saviour? That there is something divine in every man which only needs development is also most unscriptural, for the Holy Spirit of God has put on record that all are by nature children of wrath, dead in sin, and that the carnal mind is enmity against God (Eph. ii, 1, 2; Rom. viii, 7). The Lord Jesus Christ is before us for acceptance or rejection, and the greatest of all questions is, "What shall I do with Jesus?" (Matt. xxvii, 22.)

Louisville

In the Heart of the Famous Blue Grass of Kentucky.

If you have never visited the metropolis of Kentucky, Louisville, the gateway to the South, you may never have another opportunity as favorable as the one offered during the

Confederate Veterans' Reunion

June 14-16, 1905

Which, it is anticipated, will attract a hundred thousand and visitors from all parts of the country, but more especially from the new and bustling South and South-west.

Rates of approximately two cents a mile for the round trip will be in effect from most all points in the United States on account of the Reunion, and Kentucky is prepared to entertain royally her honored guests at that time.

It may not be amiss to remark that the "Man in Gray" will hold the center of the limelight during this period (and he is justly entitled to this honor), but the favorable rate will also attract a horde of sight-seers, pleasure-seekers and investors to Louisville, the town that ships more carload freight than any two other cities in the South. This freight mention is merely incidental and to acquaint you with the importance and magnitude of our business interests.

The Purpose of this Article

Is more to interest you in Kentucky's most popular railroad, the Henderson route—more properly termed the St. Louis-Louisville Comfort Line—as a solid comfort passenger line than as a common carrier of freight, although we appreciate, and will continue to do so, all the freight that moves our way.

Our passenger service between St. Louis, Evansville and Louisville compares favorably with any competitor, and one feature of it, we feel satisfied, is much superior—that is the "invariably on time" feature—which, you will agree with us, is a very important factor.

Our equipment, consisting of Reclining Chair Cars (seats free), Pullman Drawing-room Sleepers, Vestibule High back Seat Coaches and Parlor Cars through without change, is as fine and comfortable as any operated in or out of Kentucky—bar none—and we earnestly solicit your patronage.

In purchasing your ticket to Louisville for the Confederate Reunion, or on any trip which takes you between St. Louis, Evansville and Louisville, declare the Henderson Route in and insist on your ticket reading our way.

Louisville, Ky. General Passenger Agent.

Hooe, the celebrated artist of the Louisville Courier Journal, executed in the three cardinal colors of the Confederacy—red, blue and gray—on a white background. Picture is 16x22 inches, and is printed on fine enameled paper, sufficiently heavy for use unframed, but equally suitable for framing.

They will be enclosed in strawboard mailing tubes for safe transmission by mail, thus avoiding any possibility of breakage and insuring safe delivery.

KENTUCKY PRESS ASSOCIATION TO MEET AT CERULEAN SPRINGS.

Two Hundred Newspaper People Will Hold Annual Convention at Popular Health Resort.

Editor Henry R. Lawrence, who is a member of the executive committee of the Kentucky Press Association, makes the following announcement in the Cadiz Record:

The Kentucky Press Association will hold its convention this year at Cerulean Springs. This matter was decided upon at a meeting of the executive committee held in Louisville. The exact date has not been fixed, but the convention will be held sometime between the 10th and 15th of July.

The party will arrive at Cerulean Springs in the afternoon in time for supper, and the business meeting will be held the morning following in the pavilion, and that afternoon they will leave on a week's trip to Chicago and the lakes.

Something like two hundred people will attend this meeting, and the fact that the convention is to be held on Trigg county soil is a compliment to the county that every citizen will contemplate with no small degree of pride. Cerulean is one of the most beautiful resorts in the state, and that Capt. Pool will spare no pains in giving the editors of the state every courtesy possible and the most royal entertainment while they are with him, goes without saying.

Mr. Doughtrey was leading the way, so my crowd all left me except Mr. Monroe Andrews. Finally the whole crowd returned to the car, the snow and sloop being about knee deep. We left Chicago at 6:45 in the afternoon, so it soon got dark and we didn't have any lights yet, but after an hour or so we got lights in the car. Well, we made pretty good time all night through northern Illinois and Iowa. We got into Minnesota by day light. Well, when we got to St. Paul I made for town as usual. We didn't stay there long. Arrived at 8 o'clock in the forenoon and left at 10:30 in the evening, but several of us had taken in the town from one side to the other. We changed cars in St. Paul and it was from bad to worse, being terribly crowded the rest of the way. We were all pretty tired when leaving St. Paul. Some were sleeping, some were singing, but the most you could hear was babies crying. Well, by this time we had reached St. Cloud, Minn., and will be continued in next copy.

Saved by Dynamite.

Sometimes, a flaming city is saved by dynamiting a space that the fire can't cross. Sometimes, a cough hangs on so long you feel as if nothing but dynamite would cure it. Z. T. Two physicians couldn't help her; so she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which eased her cough, gave her sleep, and finally cured her." Strictly scientific cure for bronchitis and La Grippe. At R. F. Haynes' drug store, price 50c and $1.00; guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

PROVIDENTIALLY

Saved From a Watery Grave
In Indian Territory.

[For The Record]

Braggs, I. T., May 9, 1905.—On last Friday evening, May 5, about 6 o'clock there fell here the most powerful rain I ever saw. My brother-in-law, my two little boys and myself were about a mile from home and took shelter in an unoccupied house until the rain ceased. We then started for home. All the little brooks were great rushing torrents of water. Within three or four hundred yards of home we had to cross a small creek which then resembled a small river, as it was overflowing its banks. Wading in water some distance to reach the bank, we all undertook to cross on a small foot log which supported a water gate. It was now dark; the lightning was flashing fast and it was beginning to rain again. My brother-in-law suggested that we "coon it" across the log as it was the only means of getting to the house without great delay. So he led the way and crawled over safely to the other side. He then called to me to come on. I started out on the log, the two boys following close behind me. When I had got about middle way of the stream my brother-in-law came back on the log meeting me to relieve me of my umbrellas which was proving to be a great hindrance to my progress. We were now all four on the log and the swift, raging current had suddenly risen almost to the top of it. Humphrey, my brother-in-law, shouted, "Hurry, brother George, the log is about to give away." "I can't leave my little boys," I replied. "I'm afraid they can't make it over." A moment later he shouted, "It's gone, brother George."

At the same time we were all instantly dashed down stream by the powerful current. The last thing I heard before the water filled my ears was the heart rending screams of my little boys. My head soon shot above the water and I made but few strokes before finding myself standing on solid ground holding to a sapling, the water coming almost waist deep. I now knew I was safe, but supposed both my dear little boys were drowned.

Through the flashing of the lightning I saw Humphrey standing on the other side of the stream. "I'm safe," I shouted to him. "I'm safe, too, papa!" shouted little Curtis, who stood out on my side of the stream not more than four or five steps from me. Of course, this sent a thrill of joy through my soul, but the next distressing thought was "Where is poor little Roy?"

Through the blaze of lightning we looked and looked in vain. We stood and listened and listened, but the gushing waters and the roaring thunder were the only sounds that greeted our ears. Roy's voice was hushed in death was the only conclusion we could reach.

"Roy is gone," I cried aloud to my brother-in-law across the stream. "Poor boy," was his only reply.

Humphrey was on the side next to home and he went on home. Curtis and I had to go back about half a mile to a neighbor's house and wait for the stream to run down—the very sensible thing that we all ought to have done in the first place.

While waiting for the stream to run down I came back to it through the rain three times and walked carefully up and down the bank, praying and calling at the top of my voice, "Roy! Roy! O, Roy!" in the vain hope that he might answer me from scrub or driftwood. Every hour seemed like a whole night.

About two o'clock I found that the stream had run low enough for me to wade it at the ford. Leaving Curtis in bed at the neighbor's house, I set out for home. It is useless for me to try to tell how I felt. Perhaps you, reader, who have had dear ones snatched suddenly away from you, can imagine my feeling.

Just as I had entered the yard gate with slow step and aching heart, my brother-in-law met me. All within the house was still as

My Own Story

By

Caleb Powers

This book is a calm, dispassionate account, from the standpoint of the man most interested, of the conditions in Kentucky leading to the assassination of William Goebel, and of Powers' indictment and conviction on the charge of complicity in his murder.

It covers his youth in the mountains of Kentucky, the conventions of 1899, the election, the shooting of Goebel, the arrest, the three trials and the prison life.

For dramatic situations, human interest and political importance, the case of Caleb Powers is unequalled.

death. I supposed my wife to be prostrate and completely overcome with grief.

But thank the Lord! There was good news in store for me. My brother-in-law stepped lightly up to me and said in calm, glad tones, "Brother George, Roy is safe. He came home in about an hour after I got here."

Then there was shouting and rejoicing such as I have neither the space nor the words to describe.

I soon ran back to our neighbor's and brought little Curtis home, and the family was once more happily united.

How was little Roy saved? Ah, that is a question that he alone can answer, and he has answered it in a simple story that is interesting and pathetic beyond measure. By permission of the editor I shall give the story in Roy's own words next week.

FIGHT ON TRUST PRACTICALLY WON

OF COMMITTEE.

BIG DEAL ON FOR CROP.

Pledges For 1905 Tobacco
Will be Sent Out Immediately.

[Hopkinsville New Era]

An important meeting of the executive committee of the Dark District Planters' Protective Association was held here yesterday afternoon. President Charles Fort, of Robertson county, Tenn., presided, and Vice President Charles E. Barker, Secretary Snaddon, F. G. Ewing, chairman of the executive committee, and a number of the chairmen of the county organizations in the nineteen counties of the dark tobacco belt were present.

The feature of the meeting was the report of Chairman Ewing who returned yesterday from New York where he spent several weeks in the interest of the association. While declining to give the result of his trip in detail, the committee expresses itself as jubilant over the outcome and confident that the fight of the farmers against the tobacco trust is practically won.

The following committee was appointed to draw up a contract with G. Reuzins, of New York, in the interest of the association, and it is reported that the entire 1904 crop of the members of the organization is involved in the transaction: C. P. Warfield, C. T. Young, C. F. Jarrett, C. C. Reynolds with Mr. Ewing as chairman.

Chairman Ewing was instructed to forward to all the county chairmen pledges for the 1905 crop, and President Fort says that the signing of these pledges will sound the death knell of the trusts.

The committeemen present stated that the Regie, anticipating a movement of this sort, was already offering farmers in some sections $10 a round for their next crop.

J. Edwards, of Clarksville, was appointed general classifier for the association.

A new tobacco market was established at Springfield, subject to the rules of the association, with James Couch as salesman.

Farmers' charges for storage was fixed at 1.75, one per cent and insurance.

Among the prominent members of the organization present besides President Fort, Chairman Ewing and others already mentioned, were: J. W. Dunn, Robertson county, Tenn.; W. H. Rice, Houston county, Tenn.; J. R. Claypoole, Simpson county; A. B. Jackson, Logan county; C. C. Reynolds, Todd county; W. W. Radford, Christian county; E. E. Wash, Trigg county; D. B. Kirtell, Smith county, Tenn.; and C. P. Warfield, general salesman.
