Grand total ships lost.....19

In the great naval battle fought Saturday and Sunday in the Straits of Korea the Japanese obtained a complete and overwhelming victory.

Late advices show that Rojesvsky's fleet, composed of all his most effective and powerful ships, was completely broken and shattered. According to the latest information two Russian battleships, one coast-defense armor-clad, five cruisers, two special service ships and three destroyers were sunk and there were captured two battleships, two coast-defense armor-clads, and one special service ship.

Rojevsky's flag ship escaped, badly damaged, and with other vessels of his broken fleet is being pursued by the victorious Japanese. Near Admiral Nobogotoff, however, was captured, with 3,000 other prisoners. It seems probable that in their crippled condition other Russian vessels will fall into the hands of the Japanese before they reach Vladivostok.

While London rumors say that several Japanese vessels were lost, Admiral Togo reports officially that his squadron was not damaged. A number of Russian vessels still remain in Shanghai, but it is evident that fighting force the great fleet has been destroyed.

Admiral Togo is pressing his advance and harassing the Russian vessels which are attempting to take refuge at Vladivostok and to make complete his already sweeping victory.

Killed by Live Wire.

News was received here yesterday of the death at Columbus, Ohio, of Henry Hammond, who until a few months ago was employed here as an electrician by a Gas and Electric Light company. The message telling of the death was brief, merely stating that he was fatally injured by taking hold of a live wire.

Mr. Hammond married Miss Susie Scarborough of this city less than two years ago. To their union one child was born. Mrs. Hammond remained here for a short time after her husband left the employ of the gas company, and joined him at Columbus. Mr. Hammond has several relatives living in the city.

The body accompanied by Mrs. Hammond, left Columbus last night and will reach Evansville sometime this morning. It will be met here by a committee of the Elks lodge, of which order Mr. Hammond was a prominent member.

Mr. Hammond was popular in the city and had scores of friends who will be surprised to learn of his sudden death.—Evansville Courier, May 27th.

Religion Needed

That will make people honest with God and each other and office-holders patriotic and reliable. Citizens interested in the purity of politics and the noblest ideas of the country. A religion that will say "No" to all wrongs, and that will stand by the truth in love. Nothing nobler than doing right, and "right wrongs no man," but it gives rest to conscience, makes burdens light, faces bright, homes happy, rough places smooth, and dark places light. A religion that don't do this for a man there is something lacking.

W. J. HILL.

Voted Down.

The Northern General Assembly of the Presbyterian church has voted down a proposition to change its creed--to substitute for the Westminster confession a brief statement of faith. The action of the assembly was proper and means the permanent stability of the church. When a church or denomination abandons its foundation stone, its original creed, it had as well go into bankruptcy at once, for it will have acknowledged itself but a house built upon sand. Paducah Register.

J. T. Alexander.

A deal was consummated Wednesday whereby Mr. J. T. Alexander becomes the owner of the entire bank stock of Mr. C. J. Pratt in the Hopkins County Bank, and also is made its president.

This is one of the largest bank stock deals that has taken place in Madisonville for many years. For a long time Mr. Pratt has been at the head of this well known and popular banking institution and by his business sagacity has placed in the front rank of banking institutions in this state. Mr. Pratt is winding up his business affairs in this county, and will in the future make his home in Oklahoma City, Okla., where his two sons, Walter and Lawrence, now reside.

Mr. Alexander has long been identified with Madisonville and Hopkins county. He is a self-made man and by sticking everlastingly to his business has become a wealthy man. For several years past he has been engaged in the real estate and loan business, and by his straightforward dealings has made a host of warm friends who are elated over his latest success. ---Hustler.

Inspection of Plant.

M. R. Pogue, manager of the long distance connections of the Home Telephone company of Louisville, accompanied by C. G. Davis, manager of the Peoples Independent Telephone company of Paducah, is inspecting the long distance connections of the local system, with the view of the consolidation of the two companies.

Messrs. Pogue and Davis went to Smithland this morning and will return to Paducah Saturday after visiting all the connections of the local company.

It is probable that the Home Telephone company of Louisville will absorb the local plant by June 1.

The Peoples Independent Telephone company has absorbed the plant of the Home Telephone company of Marion, Ky., and extensive improvements are to be made at Marion. ---Pad. News-Democrat.

A Desperate Duel.

Whitesburg, Ky., May 27.—A desperate duel between schoolboys over a sixteen-year-old sweetheart is reported here to-day from Lower Line Fork creek, in Perry county. As a result of the encounter Elwood Holcombe lies mortally wounded and Ira Cornette is seriously but not fatally injured. Holcombe is 20 years old and Cornette 18. Both have been paying attentions to Ella Ingram and a meeting this morning led to a quarrel which ended in the above tragedy. Miss Ingram is almost crazed over this affair.

Baby Killed.

Rives, Tenn., May 26.—Little Maggie Craig, the two-year-old daughter of C. P. Craig, a section foreman of the Illinois Central R. R. was struck and instantly killed by a passenger train at Moffett's station, near this place yesterday.

The little girl in playing crawled upon the track after a rock. The train struck her, hurling her into the air; the engine crew failed to see the child until it was too late to stop the train.

BY G. G. W.

Her little crib is a household shrine,
Touched by a breath of love divine;
And many a devotee
Pours forth the wealth of a loving heart,
And plays the earnest pilgrim's part
Here on his bended knee.

Nature hath decked our lady fair
With pearly teeth and lovely hair
And lips of ruby red.
But the jewels rare we chiefly prize
Flash love-light from her nut-brown eyes,
Like happy tears unshed.
And what shall be the offering
That daily to this shrine we bring
With true humility?
A spirit full of truth and trust,
A record merciful and just,
Undaunted loyalty.

Bees Scared Them Out.

Louisville, Ky., May 27.—Bees temporarily closed Cararo Brothers saloon at Third avenue and Green st. this morning. Charles Cararo mistook the honey makers for a storm-cloud and quickly closed the doors. Meanwhile the bees settled on the front of the establishment and a near by telegraph pole. Carraro peered through the glass and waved at his customers, who stood across the street waiting for the insects to move on. Finally the king and queen headed south and the insects were soon out of sight. This is an annual performance of the bee family.

The Show is Coming.

A Great and Honest Show is the title that Sun Brothers, owners of Sun Brothers' Newest Railroad Show, Trained Animal Exposition, have justly earned. The performances seen in its ring and in its elevated stages are acknowledged as the epitome of excellence, while the deportment of the attaches is such to be far beyond reproach. Innovation and bold enterprise have stamped the present tenting season as the most remarkable in the history of this great amusement institution. The Sun Brothers Show will exhibit at MARION, THURSDAY, JUNE 15

Two performances daily, rain or shine, 2 and 8 p. m. Watch for the great free street parade day of show at 12 o'clock, noon.

Pretty Girl Pays Wager.

Many freak bets on the late May-oralty election in Chicago have been paid. Among them Miss Cora Linwood, a pretty young cashier, wheeled D. J. Moggin, a Board of Trade man, around a down town block in a go-cart. Miss Linwood had many offers of help from men but she pointed to a Harlan badge pinned to her shoulder and explained that the joke was on her.

Ears Blown Off.

Carmi, Ill., May 25.—Men and hounds are hunting the cracksmen who, early this morning, blew open the safe in E. W. Hammer's store at Maumee and escaped with $500, a $100 diamond ring and a valuable pearl. It is thought that the job was done by experts. The store was guarded by a huge dog and when the robbers were fusing the powder the faithful animal barked. Both his ears were blown off by the explosion, and his frantic yelps brought armed men to the spot.

A Fearful Fate.

It is a fearful fate to have to endure the terrible torture of piles. "I can truthfully say," writes Harry Colson, of Masonville, Ia., "that for blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles, Bucklen's Arnica Salve, is the best cure made." Also best for cuts, burns and injuries. 25c at Woods & Orme, druggists.

The Days of Forty-Nine.

Shall we forget the good old days,
The days to memory dear,
When in the bonds of friendship true
We shared each joy and tear.

When on the desert's arid plain
We trudged on side by side,
Or on the old Pacific slope
We watched the coming tide.

We'll ne'er forget the dear old days;
The California mine;
The brave old parols of long ago,
Our parols of Forty-Nine.

On the prairie's wide expanse;
The Rocky's dizzy height,
We pitched our tents at eventide
And watched the camp fires bright.

'Neath heaven's canopy of stars
We lonely vigils kept
To guard our all from Indians wild,
While weary comrades slept.

We'll ne'er forget the dear old days,
We delved for yellow dust
And washed our shirts in flowing streams
To each one's great disgust.

O! California, land of gold,
We loved those early days;
We loved thy oceans balmy breath;
We loved thy sun's bright rays.

And now we meet for old times sake
Renew allegiance true
To toilers in the fields of gold
And dear old days to you.

And while we say good-bye once more
We pray the Hand Divine
May lead us safe to meet again,
For days of Forty-Nine.

Coleman Byford Not Hurt.

A report was circulated here Monday to the effect that Coleman Byford, formerly of this city, but now of Paducah, had been fatally hurt by falling from the third story window of a house on which he was at work. The report, however, proved erroneous. He is sick there with fever but did not get any fall as reported.

From the Upper Cumberland.

From Nashville to the head of navigation is known as the Upper Cumberland. A beautiful little river winding its way, from the Cumberland mountains in the eastern part of the state, through the high hills and bluffs of the central to the valleys of the Ohio in the west. The scenery along the upper section is grand. The hills are majestic, the bluffs high and precipitous, the valleys are narrow, yet so artistically tucked away between the high elevations that they have a picturesque appearance.

From Burnside to Nashville, a distance of three hundred miles, there is no railroad intersecting the river, nor are there many towns of small size, but a mass of continuous hills and deep hollows.

All this section of the country was once covered with some of the finest timber the state ever produced, of oak, poplar, walnut, pine and cedar.

The river being the only means of transportation for this valuable natural product, and Nashville the nearest lumber market, therefore logging and rafting has for many years been an interesting feature with these people, and the timber a great source of revenue.

The logs are generally cut about twelve feet in length and hauled to the edge of the cliffs of the river or creeks and along their banks, there to lie till a suitable tide comes, then they are rolled in and rafted. All along these water courses we see what is known as "log shutes," bluffs hundreds of feet high where logs are rolled off to the water below. Some times the tide rushes the raftmen so much that they are compelled to work all night.

During the zero days last winter men were compelled to work in the water over knee deep all day long and half the night, getting the logs down the creeks into the river before rafting. These rafts are very large when completed, containing from three to six hundred logs, averaging about 60,000 feet.

One man and two sons, who make all their money in the timber, put out this year nearly forty rafts, about 15,000 logs. They generally put five to seven men on a raft, costing about $125, to run one to Nashville. Some pilots do not check till they get into port, running night and day, which is very hard on the crew.

Nashville is a great lumber market. During the busy season the river banks are lined with double rafts for miles up the river from the city. A few of the best rafts from this section have gone to Metropolis, Ill., a distance of seven hundred miles.

I note these facts to give some idea of the timber interest in this part of the state. This occupation has been carried on for years till most of the timber is gone. The next generation will have to seek other avenues for money. Some are already breaking through the crust of the earth, sapping its gaseous products and troubling its oily sea. Success to the Press and its untiring editor.

Though the fire may burn,
And the winds may blow,
But with "Jinks" and the "devil,"
The Press will go.

From Morley, Missouri.

Mr. S. M. Jenkins, Marion, Ky. Dear Editor:—You have my deepest sympathy in having such ill luck of those horrid flames destroying your property. Would like very much to have seen Marion before I left Old Kentucky. I am now in Morley, Mo. It is a very beautiful place with ten or fifteen stores, two meat shops, drug store, three millinery shops, two depots and two churches, Baptist and Methodist.

A nice level country; it is of a sandy soil, very fertile. Rains often. Land produces abundantly. The people are very sociable, reminds you in many ways of Old Kentucky.

Great advantages here for a poor man. Some few rich men here who own this whole country and we have the Johnson Land company, that own thousands of acres of land, some that is ditched and lots of the best improved land, which will put a man on a farm and furnish him everything except the team, and as many milk cows as you want to feed, and gives six dollars per acre for clearing ground, and two-thirds of the crop. Money to pay hands every two weeks if desired. Most all farms rent well with good houses to live in.

As I have given you some brief notes of Missouri I reflect over the past when in Kentucky. Mr. Jenkins I appreciate the opportunity of being correspondent of your paper, and coming in contact with as perfect gentlemen as you. You certainly have been a source of help to me of which you know that I thank you very much.

I recommend Miss Ida Ordway as your correspondent, who is a faithful little girl and will accomplish what she undertakes, as she was perfectly willing to accept the offer. I wish you again a prosperous year and hope your paper is in full circulation. Husband and I are well pleased.

A friend,
MRS. GEO. SCOTT.

Girl Diver of the Lakes.

Pretty, well educated and twenty years of age, Miss Francis Baker, of Detroit, has won the reputation of being one of the most fearless and resourceful divers along the great Lakes, and within the last three years has accumulated almost twenty thousand dollars in a profession that heretofore only the most courageous and physically perfect of men have dared to follow. The story of this girl's success, of her brilliant adventures, her discovery of treasure roads like a modern romance, and this element of romance was completed a few years ago when Miss Baker discovered and raised fifty thousand dollars worth of copper from the treasure ship W. H. Stevens, which sank in eighty feet of water, in Lake Erie several years ago. Woman's Home Companion for June.

Expensive Japanese Railroad.

Japan subsidized a company to build the Korean railway, just opened. All the rolling stock came from the United States—the locomotives from the Baldwin works Philadelphia, the cars from various American car works, and the ninety pound rails from the Carnegie Steel Works. The cost of the Seoul-Fusan line, 276 miles, has been about $50,000 a mile or $13,800,000. There are 26 tunnels 96 long bridges, and about 500 smaller ones. The two chief construction engineers were Japanese.

WRITTEN BY FRANK LOYD.

The morning dawned clear and beautiful, with a sun of gold and diaphanous sky of azure crystal, was welcomed with a salute by the artillery of Fort McIntosh. Immediately taverns, hotels and mesas poured forth their guests and the town was again a mass of motley throngs. Cowboys from all parts in leather boots and leggings, "charros" from the distant and mediaeval haciendas of old "New Spain," farmers and their wives, city tackeys and city folks of urban ways and dress, northern tenderfoots.

People began early to crowd the house-tops, "azoteas", windows, porches and galleries, to throw confetti and paper flowers at persons whom they recognized in the crowds below.

The population of Laredo, Texas, is probably nine-tenths Mexican, all the city officers being Mexicans. At 8 o'clock mayor Sanchez, and the honorable board of city councilmen escorted by a band of Indian braves, in full battle array and headed by the 26th U. S. Infantry band proceeded to the bridge joining Laredo, Texas, with Nueva Laredo, Tamaulipas, where they met the mayor and high civil and military officials of Nuevo, at the monument marking the joining line of the two republics. The guests with the monterey cavalry were conducted to the city hall, where on a balcony overlooking the spacious public square the high dignitaries of both municipalities took their seats to witness the events about to be transacted.

The warrior braves betook themselves to their wigwams, on the north and south side of the great square. The band stationed itself out of range of the coming bloody affray.

At 9 o'clock the excitement began. Groups of savage aborigines emerged from their primitive shelters, where a council of war was in session, and began to reconnoitre the plaza. The Milma rifles, a local company of militia, made a sortie from their encampment at the rear of the hall and drove the savages to their lair. The Texas Rangers and city police officers were already stationed in the citadel to guard the sacred treasure, a massive golden key, and the "sesame" to the town.

The hall, decorated by an artist from the east, presented a splendid and gaudy display of artistically arranged banners, pennants and multi-colored bunting.

Presently a wild and prolonged war whoop was heard that would curdle the blood of any Kentuckian. At the same moment, headed by the beautiful Pocahontas, a wild, ungovernable horde of red men burst upon the public square, menacing with their tomahawks, releasing volleys of deadly arrows, and whirling with strange, savage gestures, with bloody instruments of death, the flint-bladed "mocanas" of the Aztecs. War whoops and yells filled the air, and an occasional wounded and mangled scalp, reeking with blood, was hurled high into the air, terrorizing all who saw it.

A wild race was made around the municipal stronghold and whoops and slinging arrows and missiles. They now decided to take the citadel by storm. At this moment guns, pistols, winchesters and Krag Jorgensen's protruded their barrels from windows, loopholes and from behind the battlements of the roof, pouring a stream of fire and smoke upon the frontier wild men. Even from the windows of the clock tower of the gloriously decorated hall arms protruded and delivered their greeting of powder and lead. Finally the red men won. They climbed up the pillars and breaking first the barred doors rushed up the stairs. Victory belonged to them.

Amid the deafening cheers of the vast throng of people witnessing the assault, some of them emerged on the balcony bearing in triumph the big gilded key to the city. Mayor Sanchez took the key and making a fitting speech delivered it to a lady, I think her name was Rumsey, who as Pocahontas was Queen of the parade.

Taking the key she gracefully turned her steed "about face" and rode away with deafening applause, followed by a motly train of victorious warriors.

The city was their's. It now being 11 o'clock the parade began to form on "Bull" plaza. This was the grandest, biggest and best ever seen in the border city. Headed by U. S. troops, followed by the border militia Milma Rifles, of which State representatives Mr. Cranke was captain, the Laredo companies with engine, hook and ladder truck, and hose carts handsomely decorated, cadets of Laredo seminary and a band of Indians. The splendid and festive pageant proceeded along the principal streets

In close order came handsome and expensive trade displays, beautiful and artistic, allegorical floats representing societies, guilds, and local organizations, agriculture and fruit growing interests, the railroad, mining and big corporations, came next. Then followed as a triumphal cortege from some golden and flowery fairy land a host of decorated carriages filled with fair beauties of Laredo and abroad. Various other most comical and ludicrous features were presented.

At regular intervals in the long closed pageant were placed the several musical bands, which played incessantly beautiful marches and national airs, of both nations. All along the route the houses were decorated in bunting, and from their roofs and balconies the inmates showered flowers and confetti upon the passers by.

At half-past one a great concourse of people, among whom were cattle men from all parts of the State of Texas, and many from Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona, assisted at the last and greatest roping contest ever to be held in Texas, the State Legislature having passed laws forever debarring the practice of roping cattle for sport in that state, to take effect immediately after the Laredo carnival.

On this account a great round up of old ropers, cowpunchers and cattlemen came here to witness this windup of this noble dying race of Western sports.

Nearly fifty brawney belegged western type of cowboy entered the lists to compete for a dazzling prize, being a purse of one thousand dollars.

On the far side of the enclosing fence, of the Athletic Park, were penned fierce steers from the lower Rio Grande country, aware that some thing was in progress for their lively entertainment they stamped and shook their great slender horns with rasping noise that could be heard many blocks away.

As each one was let in and a big Texas cow trailer with jingling spurs broad hat and long lariet hove down by his side, on his western mustang, a vocal "geita," familiar on all cattle ranges arose from the crowded grand stand and multitude for whom there was no room in the grand stand.

"Vicious" is not the word to describe the temperament of even the mildest toned pet steer among this particular outfit. Every one had the mean, self-confident, independent bovine artistic temperament that speaks in look of eye and salutatory poise of the eloquent tail.

The best ropes in the state were in the contest class, and quick work was done as steer after steer entered the arena and headed across the inclosure like a wild locomotive on a down grade tangent. The puncher would give chase, follow the beast until like the locomotive her cylinders were pumped full of air, then throw some sand ahead and swing on, or throw a derailing switch with his long, encircling rope.

Scenes like this bring the heart of any old time Texan near up into his throat.

The performance ending the manager announced that the great bull fight would begin over the river in Mexico, and now the street cars, wagons, buggies, and thousands of foot passengers went pell-mell over the bridge, to witness the Spaniard's greatest amusement.

Obituary.

Mary Lucinda Raney was born March 14, 1886, died May 10, 1905, at Rev. Charles Ramsey's.

She was a patient sufferer and bore her afflictions with patience until God called her away. On Tuesday before she died she called all of her relatives around her bed and told us to meet her in heaven. She called each one by name and kissed us and told us to meet her in heaven. We were all weeping when she got through talking. Then she told us to not weep when she was gone but say she was just gone home. She called her mamma and said, "Mamma I am not going to die, but going home to my little baby." On Monday night she said she saw angels and heard such lovely music. Her remains were laid to rest in the Freedom cemetery, Thursday evening. She leaves a father, mother, three brothers, two sisters, a husband and little girl to mourn her loss.

Dearest sister from us you are gone, Your face no more can we see; But in that happy, sweet home Someday we shall see thee.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

We are authorized to announce T. H. COCHRAN, of Marion, as a candidate for Representative from the counties of Crittenden and Livingston, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

We are authorized to announce CHARLES O. POGUE, of Frances, as a candidate for Sheriff of Crittenden county, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

Baron Alphonse de Rothschild, head of the banking house of that name, president of the Bank of France died at his home in Paris on Friday last of acute bronchitis, aggravated by gout. The Baron was born in 1827, and has been a central figure in the financial affairs both of the old and the new world. Baron Rothschild was of a pleasing personality and was very popular. He gave many millions to public and private charities.

For nearly two months the business interests of the great city of Chicago have been disarranged and some of them entirely suspended, by reason of the teamster's strike. The evil has even extended to the lines of transportation, passing through that city, and merchandise in transit delayed beyond the bounds of reason. These strikes are yearly becoming more frequent and harder to manage. The present strike emphasizes the need of a national board of arbitration with compulsory powers.

It would appear from recent events that one of the gravest menaces to human life in this country just now is travel by rail. The many recent railroad disasters, with death and horror following in their train, but serve to emphasize this fact. Just think of it! Over one thousand persons in this country have lost their lives by railroad accidents since the first of last January! One thousand lives sacrificed to a rivalry of competition and a greed of gain! It is frightful to contemplate. The secret of the greater number of these railroad disasters is that safety has been too much sacrificed to speed, and that for a country whose railways are subjected to so many and such sharp curves passenger trains are allowed to attain too great a speed for the safety of those who pay to ride in them. A better and safer plan is pursued in England and on the European continent.

The great battle at sea between the fleets of Russia and Japan was fought on Saturday and Sunday last and both engagements resulted in a thorough and complete victory for the Japanese. The result of this fight should bring peace, but the blind infatuation of the Czar and his nobles may cause him to still plunge blindly forward to their undoing. Another result of this battle is that it places Japan in the front rank as a world power, and with the magnificent navy she will undoubtedly build with the immense indemnity of one billion dollars, Japan and China will dominate the orient and dictate their own terms to other nations holding concessions or possessions therein—the United States included.

LATEST.—By latest dispatches it appears the entire Russian fleet was destroyed. Twenty-two vessels were either sunk or captured. Admirals Rojesvsky and Nabogotif are captives in the hands of the Japanese.

Notice.

All those owing me will find their notes at Marion Bank for collection, and to save costs, had better call at once and pay them.

NOTICE.

To The Patrons of The Marion

Section 4, Rule No. 6, of the National Board of Underwriters reads: "An approvable cut-out and switch must be placed as near as possible where the service wires enter the building. This cut-out and switch must be placed so as to be easily accessible in case of an electrical storm or other trouble."

This rule means that each person using electricity for light or power purposes "must," to be approved by the insurance company, have a fusible cut-out and switch, so that all lights in the building can be controlled from this switch. Miss Frances Gray entertained the euchre club Tuesday evening very delightfully, at the Gray home on the corner of Wilson Avenue and Main street. The beautiful interior, delightful weather and choicest refreshments assisted the hostess in making the evening one long to be remembered by her guests.

Miss Kitty Gray assisted her sister in receiving.

Mrs. Mack White Dead.

Mrs. Mack White died yesterday afternoon. She had been sick about a week. She was born in Crittenden county, Ky., April 1868, and died May 30, 1905, aged 37 years. Her parents were Newton and Martha Newcom. She first was married to Wm. Fowler. They had two children, both of whom are living. After Mr. Fowler's death she married Mack White. Of the two children by this last marriage only one is living. She professed religion in early life at Mt. Zion and joined the Methodist church.

Mrs. White was an earnest, faithful christian woman. Her life has been one of toil and trial. Yet she has continued steadfast in her faith in Christ. In her last sickness she talked sweetly of heaven and the joys that awaited her. She said that she could be completely resigned if only her husband and children were prepared to meet her in glory. But her longing heart ran out for their salvation. She asked her sister to pray for them. She will be interred today in Mt. Zion cemetery, Rev. J. R. McAfee officiating.

The neighbors and friends of Mrs. White are to be commended for their assistance rendered in her afflictions and funeral preparations and for their thoughtfulness as kindly bestowed upon her family. These tender touches truly exhibit the spirit of christianity.

Daughtery and Dixon, and a trained nurse from St. Mary's hospital. She has improved very much and is now up and on the road to recovery—which will be gratifying to the friends of the family.

From later reports we learn he was testing an electrocuting machine and touched a live wire by mistake. SOME REMINISCENCES.

Now I shall not bother our kind Editor for enough space to give a description of a bull fight but will say no other performance or show of any kind in the world is received by the sport loving public with so thorough and great an appreciation as bull fighting. While half a dozen bands are playing and wild yells from the Mexicans are deafening the matador, Picardo Bandarillo, Capos Tereros, and Mazos enter the ring, bringing their manteleta, Bandarillo and Pica with them, then the furious wild bull is turned out of his cage, leaping in the ring like a lion from his cage, dashing at everything in the ring. Now you will feel your hat crawling off your head and every hair wanting to stand by itself. You now realize that something will soon be lying dead in the ring, but not knowing whether it will be a bull, horse or man. Your writer has seen one dead bull, two dead horses, and one crippled man in the ring at the same time. Only one bull, two horses and eight men are in the ring at the same time; when the bull is finally killed the ring is cleared of the killed and wounded, and a new bull and horses are brought in. This is repeated till from six to ten bulls are killed. The dead bulls and horses are dragged outside of the ring and given to the poor Mexicans, who gladly cut them up and take them home for food.

The Mexican bull fighters are very quick and active, but are often gored to death by the ferocious beasts. The fight ended with deafening yells and as our appetite began to appeal to us in behalf of their wants, we went to supper. After supper we gathered on the banks of the Rio Grande. The great spectacular scene commemorating George Washington and his little band of continentals crossing the Delaware on that memorable and so important night of Dec. 24, 1776, was enacted on the Rio Grande.

Artificial ice floes in great numbers had been anchored below the foot bridge, forming in the intense glow of the myriads of colored and artificial lights with which the whole scene was illuminated, a solid covering of beautiful, crystal ice, showing highly realistic in its shimmering covering of icing.

Six boats, containing Washington and his followers in continental dress plied their way through the ice floes. In the glowing light, not lessened in beauty by a full, silvery moon, the effect was wonderfully grand.

A maddening shout of enthusiasm arose from the throats of the thousands of spectators. Peal after peal of patriotic applause split the air. Slowly the procession of boats made the American shore, like some argosy of colonial patriots shades crossing the Stygian stream of classical inferno. They landed and were received by escorts who conducted them to the head of an illuminated street pageant. This procession marched for about half an hour and disbanded on Market plaza, where "Hidalgo," the Mexican Liberator, received Washington and Hidalgo then disappeared.

After a brief, patriotic speech in praise of Washington and Hidalgo, a curtain was lifted at the back of the speaker's stand and for a moment a tableau representing the two patriots clasping hands was visible.

This with the bands playing and the yelling of the thousands of Mexicans made a deafening close of the day.

Quality vs. Quantity.

Hard muscles and strong body do not depend on the quantity of food you eat, but on its perfect digestion and proper assimilation. When you take Kodol dyspepsia cure your system gets all the nourishment out of all the food you eat. It digests what you eat regardless of the condition of the stomach and conveys the nutrient properties to the blood and tissues. This builds up and strengthens the entire system. Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia, belching, sour stomach, weak heart, etc. Kodol dyspepsia cure for what is sometimes called America's national disease--dyspepsia--is destined to eventually work a wonderful and lasting benefit to sufferers from this distressing and mind harassing condition. In Memoriam.

Sister Lulu Carrington was born June 9, 1864, died March 20, 1905, and was laid to rest in the cemetery at Chapel Hill, in the afternoon of March 21st, 1905.

She professed religion early in life and after some years joined the Presbyterian church at Chapel Hill.

She was married while quite young to Dr. Carrington of Marion, Ky., who lived but a few months after their marriage.

From then until the time of her death she lived with her parents and gave her life to caring for them and her brothers.

In all the relations of life she endeavored to be faithful and to do her whole duty.

She was a sweet spirited christian, a loving and dutiful daughter, a kind sister and true and faithful friend.

She was sick during much of her life but was patient and resigned.

Her pastor, who frequently visited her, found her always resigned, and ready to go when the summons came.

In that spirit she crossed the dark river and saw her Saviour face to face, and entered into a life where no one is ever sick or knows any sorrow.

May the blessings of God be upon her kindred who are left behind; may they all see her again in the beautiful beyond.

A FRIEND.

Save 1-2 Your Paint Bills

By using Weir's Bavarian White Lead, the most durable and therefore the most economical lead or paint made. It has zinc in it. The zinc gives the paint a beautiful gloss and prevents the lead from destroying the LINSEED OIL WHICH IS THE LIFE OF ALL PAINT. "Pure Lead" by itself will eat and destroy the linseed oil, thus causing the paint to become porous or open and dust off. Weir's Bavarian White Lead is better and cheaper than mixed paints because one-half of every gallon of mixed paint is linseed oil for which you pay $1.50 per gallon and get an old, stale, unsound linseed oil. Buy fresh oil from your dealer's barrel at its true value. 4 1-2 gallons linseed oil and 100 pounds of Weir's Lead will make 6 1-2 gallons best paint ready to use, that will cost you no more than other standard brands of lead and much less than mixed paint and will last twice as long as either. Write D. T. Weir White Lead Co., St. Louis, Mo., for their booklet "Facts About White Lead." Weir's Bavarian White Lead is for sale by Cochran & Pickens, Marion, Ky.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's catarrh cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Convulsion, Fits, then Epilepsy.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine has been so successful in curing these brain-wrecking diseases that there is every reason to believe that even the most hopeless cases can be benefited, if not fully restored. We will be prepared to refer any one thus afflicted to many who now enjoy the blessing of health, after years of hopeless suffering.

"I have a son that had brain fever when two years old, followed by fits of the worst type, and he was pronounced incurable. I spent hundreds of dollars for him, without relief. After about fifteen years he became so bad that we sent him to Longview hospital for the insane, at Logansport, Ind. He was there nearly three years, but he continued to grow worse, so we brought him home July 30, 1902, in an awful condition. He had lost his mind almost entirely. He hardly knew one of the family; could not even find his bed; was a total wreck. He had from 3 to 19 fits a day. We were urged to try Dr. Miles' Nervine, and before the first bottle was used, we could see a change for the better. We have given it to him ever since, and he has had but two very light spells since last August, 1902, and then he was not well other ways. We pronounce him cured, as he can work and go anywhere. If any one wishes to ask any questions concerning this, they are at liberty to do so."

E. H. BUNNELL, Lincoln, Ind.
Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money.
