CALIFORNIA LETTER.

A Vivid Description of the Wonders of the Ocean.

LOS ANGELES, CAL., Aug. 15, 1905.—ED. PRESS: I thought I would write a few lines and give my friends, through the columns of the Press a glimpse of my experience in the great and growing west.

Last Thursday, Aug. 10, we left home at 6 o'clock in the morning. Stewart and I. We boarded a traction car and were landed in the big Huntington depot. We procured round trip tickets to Catalina Island. Taking an electric car for San Pedro, we arrived there at 10 o'clock and boarded the steamship Hermoso, plying between San Pedro and the city of Avalon, on Catalina Island. It being the first time I ever sailed on the bosom of the great deep. It is 35 miles from San Pedro to the Island, and the sea being calm and smooth we had a pleasant run and I don't think there ever was two beings enjoyed themselves more on the Pacific than we did; and the things seen will never be forgotten. As for my individual part I saw more wonderful things than ever before in my life, which I will try to describe, but it seems beyond human power to describe them.

There is the flying fish which interested us a great deal. It would shoot out of the water like a wad out of a gun, and would sail through the air, not over three or four feet above the water, for at least a couple of hundred yards, which was a wonderful thing to see. It made me think of Milton's fiend, who over bog and fen and vale and dell would run and leap and fly and swim. I saw one on land and he certainly has wings, which he uses to fly through the air as well as through the water.

At 1:30 we arrived at the city of Avalon. It nestles in a semi-circle, surrounded by bare mountains on the north, west and south, and on the east by the sea. There would be about a square mile if it was square. It is the largest level spot on the island. The island is twenty-eight miles long and from one-half mile to eight miles broad. The narrowest place is 15 miles north of Avalon and is half a mile from sea to sea. It is a narrow valley between the bare mountains and is called The Isthmus. There is a store and some boarding houses in it. H. E. Huntington is the owner of it now; he purchased it from the Banning heirs, who inherited it from their forefathers, who were Spaniards, and secured it as a gift from the king of Spain for some glorious achievement. It has never been of much consequence until recently; only a place for wild goats and eagles. Huntington is improving it by cutting down the mountains and terracing them. It is his intention to build an electric railroad the whole length of the island with stations and parks along the route for the sole benefit of sight-seers and tourists.

I think it highly probable those mountains contain large quantities of mineral and will some day pay rich dividends to their owner.

The next day after arriving at Avalon we took passage on the steam launch Cleopatra to visit the Marine Gardens and the Seal Rocks. The launch had in its center about three feet wide, running from stern to bow, a glass bottom, with benches on either side for passengers to sit on and look down into the gardens and wonder of wonders it is. I cried out of my soul, Oh, my God, the heavens declare Thy glory; the earth, the sea and air, proclaim thy wondrous power and silently uttereth praise to Thy matchless name.

We passed over a mighty forest, which seemed so thick of foliage that we could not penetrate it; then we could emerge out into an opening with here and there a tree covered with vines, which hung down with festoons covered with beautiful white flowers, and beneath those trees we see mossy mounds, with shrubbery covered with feathery looking flowers of a beautiful blue; then would pass before our entranced vision a beautiful scope of valley like land, with huge boulders covered with moss full of flowers and shrubs of a sage green color, and broad spaces of level land covered with long maiden hair grass of a beautiful pea green color, which like the forest and flower garden we passed over swayed back and forth as though a gentle breeze was passing over them, and amid all those trees and shrubs could be seen the vegetarian fish the size of a man's hand. It subsists on the vegetation that surrounds it. It is a bright red color and another fish, about eight inches long and two inches through, and of a beautiful azure blue, could be seen darting in and out of the hiding places; then scattered among the rocks and shoals could be seen the star fish, bedecked with diamonds seemingly; then could be seen the sea serpent, crawling among the rocks, also the eel, then the monster shell, half of which would hold a bushel; then we passed over at least half a mile of bottomless sea, as blue as the sky, wherein could be seen the jelly fish, which would measure about 20 inches across and appeared like clear white jelly, with red stripes running from the center edge. It is round, and looks like a balloon floating in the azure depths. Now all we went over, the forest and the gardens, has a measured depth of one hundred and fifty feet, yet we could see the bottom as plain as if it had only been six feet deep. For the water was as clear as crystal, and those trees stood as straight and erect as the trees on land, and once or twice I thought the launch had transformed itself into Jules Verne's Nautilus and I was twenty thousand leagues under the sea.

Then we passed on to the Seal Rocks, which consists of three great rugged rocks, about forty or fifty feet long and twenty feet wide. They are near the shore and when the surf would dash against those rocks there would be from one to two hundred seals clambering to get on the rocks. Some would get there while others would miss their mark and wash back seaward in the surf, and when it came again, which is every few minutes, they would come again to try their luck. There are also sea dogs and sea lions. Their heads are like a dog's head, they bark like a dog and the large ones roar like a lion and from their roar, I reckon, they get the name of sea lion.

Well, we came back home without meeting with any accident or incident, worth mentioning, well pleased with our vocation, wiser if not better men.

With best regards to the Press and all its readers, I am,

Yours faithfully,
R. B. DORR.

A Good Meeting.

The church at Deer Creek decided to protract their meeting from the regular meeting in August. The pastor, Elder W. R. Gibbs, had no preaching help the first week of the meeting but the church rallied nobly and stood by the pastor and a great revival was the result at once. The work spread, widened and deepened and still continues at this writing. Every heart and home in the community seems to be under the spell and power of the meeting. Quite a number of professions and baptisms already. The writer was in the meeting last week. This is a fine church, a fine pastor and fine people.

Infernal Machines.

New York, Aug. 18.—An explosive package capable of causing his death was sent to Jacob H. Schiff, the banker, today, at the office of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., of which he is a member. Mr. Schiff was at Bar Harbor today and when the machine enclosed in a wooden box, about six inches long, was received at his office the clerks immediately sent it to the police.

At first the police reported that the affair was a joke, but further investigation by an expert revealed the presence of thirty-one grains of a highly explosive powder, and two 38-caliber loaded cartridges. Arranged so as to fire the charge merely by ordinary handling of the package was a cylinder of emery paper, lying in contact with both the powder and several matches. The flash of this powder would have discharged the cartridges, which had been carefully filled at the fulminating ends. Lead slugs were packed in beside the bullets, evidently to make the discharge more dangerous.

Through the machine there was an oily saturation to insure the flash of any one of the matches reaching the powder. The whole mechanism was concealed under a newspaper wrapper of Wall street stock quotations.

Mr. Schiff was one of the delegation which recently visited Mr. Witte the Russian envoy, at Portsmouth, in the interest of the Jews in Russia.

A second infernal machine, resembling that sent to Jacob H. Schiff, was received today at the office of M. Guggenheim's Son's at 71 Broadway. The contents were nearly the same as those of the Schiff bomb. A clerk was suspicious of the package as the address was made of printed letters, cut from a newspaper, and he placed the package in water. After standing there a short time there was a slight explosion due, it is thought, to generating in the box.

In addition to the contents of the Schiff bomb the one received at the Guggenheim office contained a small glass vial in which was some liquid, thought to be either nitro-glycerine or olive oil.

The Joe B. Williams.

Everything possible is being done to float the steamer Joe B. Williams, which sank recently near Golconda. It is now thought that it will be a big task to raise the mammoth towboat.

The log which penetrated the hull is holding her fast, and it is probable that the only thing that will lift the boat is for the river to raise.

The steamer Wash Henshall, arriving at the scene of the sinking to render all the assistance she could, which makes three boats, the steamers Ranger and Fulton having been at the wreck several days.

The unlucky boat is resting easy and could in all probability be easily raised were it not for the log holding it.

There is no rise in sight except a slight one coming out of the Cumberland.

The coal combine will make all efforts possible to lift its boat.—News-Democrat.

From Wealth to the Poorhouse.

New York, Aug. 17.—J. T. Raplee, an aged broker, said to have once been worth $500,000, and who recently obtained refuge at the Westchester poor house, was taken from that institution by his niece. She said the old man had squandered his money foolishly but that he had relatives who were abundantly able and willing to take care of him during the remainder of his life and that there had never been any necessity for his going to the Westchester institution.

The Sun's Eclipse.

People rising at 5 o'clock on the morning of August 30 and turning to see the sun will find the moon in their way. The eclipse will only be partial in this section, however, and be seen better with the aid of colored or smoked glasses. Part of the sun will be obscured when it rises, and the dark shadow grow, till only a bright crescent is seen; then the shadow will recede and by 6 o'clock the disc will be clear again. Universities and astronomical societies all over the world will send expeditions to these places and continuous photographs be taken, for a total eclipse never lasts over six minutes and this one only three. Accurately plotting the orbits in which the sphere moves and their schedule time of passing scientists can now predict that in 1925 a total eclipse will be visible in the United States, the first one seen since the one in 1868, and in 1899 Paris will see one for the first time since 1727. The shadow of the moon, which is so much smaller than the earth or sun, extends over only some 136 miles radius and can not hide the sun many minutes so scientists are preparing to make the most of a this rare opportunity.—Ex.

Society Shocked.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 17.—It has been years since Peoria society has suffered as that produced by the developments in the inquest over the death of Edward Drouin. Mrs. Drouin is incarcerated in the county jail, violently agitated, and seemingly deranged. The interior of their Fisher street home is filled with furniture of the strangest character and the walls are covered with fac simile reproductions of the "coat of arms" adopted by Drouin and his wife. For some time he has posed as "King of the World," and his wife as "Empress of the Universe".

With an energy almost inconceivable, Mrs. Drouin spent hours of each day writing letters to prominent people in this city, warning them of attempts upon their lives, and asserting that a band of people were threatening the extermination of the populace by turning on the "electric fluid."

All efforts to investigate were frustrated by the vigilance of the wife. When searched their apartments were found to contain vast quantities of mineral and medicinal waters designed to destroy the efforts of the people with the "electric waters."

DEATHS

Wm. H. Woolf who died at the home of his son, A. Franklin Woolf, seven miles east of Marion, was one of the county's best men and a very highly esteemed citizen. He was born Dec. 17, 1820, in Caldwell Co. He was united in Marriage to Matilda Baker, May 17, 1846. They moved to Crittenden county Dec. 1850. Mr. Woolf was a christian and for many years was a member of the Olive Branch Baptist Church. A few years ago he joined the Repton Baptist Church and held his membership there at the time of his death. His wife preceded him to the grave several years ago. Seven children survive him as follows; Jas. W. and Rodert who live in Arizona, John T. of Salem, A. Franklin at the old home place, Mrs. Mary Frances Hall at Coulterville, Ill., Mrs. Martha Ann Drennan and Mrs. Ludy Hurst of this county. One daughter, Sarah E. who married S. C. Towery died several years ago and one son, Wm. Marion, disappeared in New Mexico several years ago and it was presumed he was murdered and his drove of cattle stolen, as he was never heard of after going with a drove of cattle to the grazing lands in the territory mentioned. Mr. Woolf was a man to whom integrity and honor were second nature and his whole life exemplified his belief in living right and his example was one which any young man might emulate. His remains were laid to rest Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the family graveyard at Olive Branch, Rev J. S. Henry officiating.

In the death of W. H. Hurst there was something unusually sad. His loved ones were left fatherless and his wife a widow only a few short moments after losing her father. Mr. Hurst was in every way a representative citizen. He was high-toned and honorable in all his dealings and was a man much beloved by all his friends and acquaintances, and it seems hard that he should be taken in the prime of life. Mr. Hurst would have been 43 years old Monday, Aug. 21. He died Aug. 16, 1905. He leaves a wife and four children—Leonard, Fred, Ormond and Robert Earl.

He was born in East Tennessee and removed to this county with his father when a year old where he has since resided. He married Jan. 12, 1890, Miss Ludy Woolf, daughter of "Squire" Wm. H. Woolf, one of the most highly esteemed citizens of the county. The remains were laid to rest Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at the Olive Branch cemetery, Rev. J. S. Henry officiating.

Bear Cubs as Milkmaids.

New York World: Who milked the cow every evening on its return from pasture has been puzzling the brain of Augustus Damm for a week past. Damm is a farmer on the Greenville turnpike, five miles east of Port Jervis, N. Y. The mystery was solved last evening by Damm, who watched his cows an hour before milking time. Two bear cubs emerged from the brush near the pasture and selecting each the teat of a cow, began pulling.

The farmer ran out and captured both cubs. The cubs squealed, so that Damm looked about for their mother, but the animals appeared to be alone. and the young bears are now locked up in his barn.

FARMERS ORGANIZED

Farmers' Club Organized With a Large Membership.

R. C. Crenshaw, assistant commissioner of agriculture of Kentucky, was in Marion Monday 'per engagement to organize a farmers club. He spoke to a large and enthusiastic audience composed mostly of farmers at the court house at 1:30 p. m. and his hearers gave him a respectful hearing and seemed to enjoy and appreciate his remarks. He is a progressive farming man and Kentucky was naturally of all creation. How to get the best out of the land is the place to produce more and better crops. All this is from the farm. He said that the doubling of the general knowledge of the farmer is the best way to get the most out of the land. CALIFORNIA

Do you want to live where the climate is mild the year round—where labor is never oppressed by stress of weather, and where animal vitality is never lost by mere conflict with cold?

Do you want to live in a region where the resources are more varied than in any other equal parts in the world, where the division of great ranches affords a fine opportunity to get a small farm that will assure you a competence?

Do you want to live where, with a minimum of labor, you can grow profitable crops of grapes and small fruit, oranges, lemons, olives, prunes and all kinds of fruits and grain, where crops are sure, business is good and a capital daily finds profitable investment?

Then go to California, where both health and opportunity await your coming.

The Chicago, Union Pacific and North-Western Line

is the most direct route to the Pacific Coast, and there are two fast through trains daily via this line, over the famous double-track railway between Chicago and the Missouri River.

Special low round-trip rates are in effect via this line throughout the summer to various Pacific Coast points, and colonist low rate one-way tickets will be on sale during September and October, which give an unusual chance for settlers to make the trip at a minimum of expense.

Daily and personally conducted excursions are operated through to San Francisco, Los Angeles, and Portland without change, on which a double berth in a Pullman tourist sleeping car from Chicago costs only $7.00, via the

THURSDAY, AUG. 24, 1905.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

We are authorized to announce T. H. COCHRAN, of Marion, as a candidate for Representative from the counties of Crittenden and Livingston subject to the action of the Democratic party.

A party of capitalists from New Albany and Jeffersonville, Ind., were in Paducah Tuesday en route to Elizabethtown, Ill., at which point they propose making some mining deals.

The state prison commission is preparing to build an electric railroad from Eddyville depot to the penitentiary; a distance of about one mile and a quarter. The survey will be made at once and the work pushed to completion.

A dispatch from Smithland states: Roy Duncan, the 16-year-old son of Rev. Mr. Duncan of near Dycusburg, died Monday from the effect of a knife wound inflicted by George Bevers, with whom he had a difficulty. Bevers is hiding near the scene with a posse after him.

The yellow fever situation appears to be assuming a graver and more complicated aspect. Despite the efforts of the Sanitary Commission the disease is appearing at widely divergent points. There is now but little hope of stamping it out before frost. A rigid quarantine has been instituted by Cairo and Memphis against Paducah and Fulton, and is being energetically enforced.

No man who aims to keep in touch with the broad expansion of mining interests in Crittenden and the adjoining counties, or who desires to know the progress in rebuilding this city, and of its other interests upon which all industrial developments depends can afford to miss keeping in touch with this community by taking the Crittenden Press, the exponent of all news items of this section. The Press reaches the people and is therefore the best advertising medium, as it covers the territory. Advertisers should remember this, and those desiring to hear the news from their "Old Kentucky Home" should not fail to bear it in mind.

Faith.

BY ELLA WHEELER WILCOX.

I will not doubt, though all my ships
at sea
Come drifting home with broken
masts and sails;
I shall believe the Hand which never fails
From seeming evil worketh good for me;
And though I weep because these are battered,

Still will I cry, while my best hopes
lie shattered,
"I trust in Thee"

I will not doubt, through all my prayers return
Unanswered from the still, white realm above.

I shall believe in it an all-wise Love,
Which has refused those things for which I yearn;

And though at times I can not keep
from grieving,

Yet the pure ardor of my fixed believing
Undimmed shall burn.

I will not doubt, though sorrows
fall like rain;

And troubles swarm like bees about
a hive;

I shall believe the heights for which
I strive

And only reach by anguish and by pain;

And though I groan and tremble with my crosses

I yet shall see, through my severest losses

The greatest gain.

I will not doubt, well anchored in the
faith,

Like some staunch ship my soul
braves every gale;
So strong its courage that it will not fail

To breast the mighty, unknown sea of Death.

Oh, may I cry when body parts with spirit,

"I do not doubt," so listening words
may hear it,

With my last breath.

Miss Ruby Castleberry will be prepared to make you any kind of a hat you may want, no matter what material or style, providing it is the latest at McConnell & Stone's.

Voice Out of the Silence.
BY O. G. W.

Out of the Silence! Out of the Silence! The Silence! Ah me! with what significance that word falls upon the sorrowing heart! A full and eternal silence, that in the last analysis is the reality of realities. The budding leaves, the unfolding flowers, the singing birds, are children of the Silence. The deepest thought is of the Silence. The deepest love is of the Silence. Birth is a doorway out of the Silence. Death is a doorway into the Silence. The sweetest messages the heart has ever known have come to it floating upon the wings of Silence. In hours of greatest ecstasy and in hours of greatest affliction, we stand on the borders of the Silent Land, welcoming, oh, so gladly, the coming, striving, oh, so wisely and longingly, to follow the dear departed guest. Solemn, awful, majestic, eternal Silence, since it breaks our hearts and crushes our hopes and takes the sunshine from out our lives. Kind, winsome, Divine Silence, since it is sooner or later the home of all that make life precious, and beautiful and fair.

Inarticulate Voices of the Silence, what do they say to us who so miss their familiar tones and the enrapturing inspiration of their earth-like song. They speak, do they not, of the mystery of life; not of the mystery of death, as an isolated fact, but of the mystery of life, and of death as a part of life.
Voice of the night and voice of the storm
Call and plead through the darkening room,
Oh, for one glimpse of your vanished form.
Speak to me, sweetheart, out of the gloom.
Heaven, your heaven, is far and dim,
Earth, our mother, is fond and near.
Faint the echoes of harp and hymn,
Darling, my darling I want you here.
Have you forgotten, entranced in joy,
Beauty and light of the realms above,
Space can not fetter nor death destroy,
The soul that loves with a god-like love!
Brave to battle and strong to bear,
Steadfast I wait for your promised word,
Wait and watch through the heavy air,
Never by rustle of wings is stirred.
Voices of memory sob and sigh,
Call and plead through the haunted room,
Oh, for my lost one to make reply,
Speak to me, sweetheart, out of the gloom.

And did it so slick and sly.
It must be an "It," for no woman or man,
Nor boy nor girl would ever plan
To rob a SAMB like me.
However, I hope the "stock" it stole
May not endanger "It's" pilfering soul,
Nor lead "It" to lie about it;
For the good Lord knows as well as you,
That all such DEVILS will get their due,
And I can live without it.

Train Went Through a Draw.
Norfolk, Va., Aug. 17.—Owing to the inability of the engineer D. L. Reig, to control his airbrakes, an excursion train from Kingston, N. C. bound to this city, plunged through an open draw over the western branch of the Elizabeth river, eight miles from Norfolk, this afternoon and half a hundred persons, mostly negroes, were drowned.
Up to a late hour tonight only seven bodies had been recovered from the wreckage. The list of injured as far as can be ascertained reaches nearly a hundred.
A number of physicians from this and nearby cities have gone to the wreck.

The train consisted of an engine and six coaches. The engine and two cars plunged through an open draw of the bridge, the engine and one coach being completely submerged in twelve feet of water.
The train was running twenty miles an hour when it approached the draw and both the engineer and fireman discovered the open draw, but too late to stop the train. The airbrakes were applied but did not work properly.
The scene following the wreck was one of indescribable horror, with the shrieking men, women and children who were drowning, struggling out of the partially submerged coaches, and floating in the river. The uninjured passengers immediately started to the rescue of the unfortunates imprisoned in the car.
The engine and coaches are submerged, with a third passenger car hanging over the draw.

The Lucky Ones.
Provo, Utah, Aug. 17.—Ray Daniels, of Provo, Utah, was the first name for homesteads in the Mintah reservation, which began here today. The second name drawn was that of Noah L. Balbock, of Angora, Cal.
Daniels and Balbock will be entitled to the first and second sections, respectively, of the reservation lands to be thrown open to entry on Aug. 28. The value of these homesteads of 160 acres each, have been variously estimated, but conservative persons place the value of the first five claims at from $5,000 to $10,000 and state that $10,000 is probably a liberal valuation of the best claim open to entry as a homestead.

Got the Cash.
Chicago, Aug. 17.—Gus Bobbs, a messenger employed by the dry goods house of Charles A. Stevens & Brothers, has disappeared with $10,000 of the firm's money, and a reward of $500 has been offered for his capture. Bobbs was employed in place of the regular messenger, who is on a vacation. He was sent to the bank this afternoon to make a deposit, carrying $10,000 with him. Later it was learned that he had left for New York.

The cruiser Chicago, flagship of the Pacific squadron, was considerably damaged last week at San Francisco, while towing the disabled gunboat Bennington.

Save 1-2 Your Paint Bills
By using Weir's Bavarian White Lead, the most durable and therefore the most economical lead or paint made. It has zinc in it. The zinc gives the paint a beautiful gloss and prevents the lead from destroying the linseed oil which is the life of ALL PAINT. "Pure Lead" by itself will eat and destroy the linseed oil, thus causing the paint to become porous or open and dust off. Weir's Bavarian White Lead is better and cheaper than mixed paints because one-half of every gallon of mixed paint is linseed oil for which you pay $1.50 per gallon and get an old, stale, unsound linseed oil. Buy fresh oil from your dealer's barrel at its true value. 4 1-2 gallons linseed oil and 100 pounds of Weir's Lead will make 6 1-2 gallons best paint ready to use, that will cost you no more than other standard brands of lead and much less than mixed paint and will last twice as long as either. Write D. T. Weir White Lead Co., St. Louis, Mo., for their booklet "Facts About White Lead." Weir's Bavarian White Lead is for sale by Cochran & Pickens, Marion, Ky.

A Calhoun Woman Gives Ed Summers Twenty Lashes.

In the presence of 200 people on one of the principal business streets of Calhoun last Friday, Mrs. Belle Whitehouse severely horsewhipped Ed Summers, one of her neighbors, striking him nearly twenty times with a heavy buggy whip, says the Owensboro Messenger. When she had left off whipping him, she said:

"I let you off easy this time, but I shall double the dose if you repeat the offense."

The affair caused intense excitement and people from every quarter of the town ran to the scene. Perhaps thirty people were in sight when Mrs. Whitehouse came up with Summers, but half the population of the town had gathered before the participants in the affair had left the scene. After telling Summers that she would administer more severe punishment if provoked again, she went to her home.

Mrs. Whitehouse says that Summers has circulated reports to the effect that she has conducted herself at her home in a manner incompatible with virtue. She is a widow, and since the death of her husband a few years ago, has lived with her three children, a few doors from Summers' home. She is a member of a highly respected family and has always borne an excellent reputation.

Summers is of middle age and is married. He is a paperhanger by trade. He has never been popular in Calhoun. The people of the town generally believe that the reports he is said to have circulated about Mrs. Whitehouse were without foundation.

It is not believed that legal proceedings will be instituted against Mrs. Whitehouse, as sentiment is quite strong in her favor. Several prominent men said tonight that in the event a warrant should be taken out against her and a fine assessed they will pay the fine.

All Sorry Ollie Was Not There

Herrin Bros. took in about four hundred dollars at their barbecue on Saturday. While the Hon Ollie M. James did not get there a very large crowd of people was present all day, representing all parts of Crittenden county and a great many from Illinois as well. The meats were superbly cooked; 169 tickets were sold for a first table and all were highly pleased. Nine carcasses were cooked and disposed of, against 2:30 o'clock p. m. of that day. We would like to go back again.—Hardin Era.

Girl Loses Mind While At Piano.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 17.—Cries of "Murder!" "They're killing me!" coming from the parlor of the home of Mr. E. T. Dalton, 2719 Bismark street, where a moment before Miss Bettie Dalton had been playing on the piano and singing, caused members of the family to rush thither. They found her a raving maniac. Her cries were occasioned by the effect that she was being stabbed to death by some imagined enemy.

A moment before the cries had come from the room, Miss Dalton was singing at the piano and apparently in the highest spirits. The cause of her sudden loss of mind is a mystery. She was stricken with spinal meningitis several years ago, and it is thought perhaps that it may have been the aftermath of this.

Everything possible to soothe Miss Dalton was done by the family, to no avail, and last night, at the advice of a physician, they had her taken to Beechurst sanitarium, where it is thought that by quiet and close attention she may recover.

Miss Dalton is eighteen years of age and well known among the younger society.

Declines to Insure.

Henry Paul dropped dead at Lawrence University the other day after a two hours' session with an insurance solicitor and after refusing to take out a policy, explaining that he came from a long-lived family, and expected to live at least a half-century longer.

He deprecated a man's action in taking out life insurance, saying that nearly every man is better fitted to invest his own money.

It weighed 40 pounds and measured 11x16 inches and its circumference was 37 inches. It was quite a curiosity and drew a large crowd, all of whom were amazed at its immensity. A gentleman who wanted to take it home as a curiosity, bought it paying one cent per pound for it.

In Memoriam.

William Newton Cain was born in Crittenden county January 1, 1866, and died at his home in Jonesboro, Ill., August 2, 1905, after an illness of two years and eight months, of that dread disease, consumption. He was a son of W. J. Cain, who died some eighteen years ago.

Newt professed faith in Christ when a boy, and while his christian experience was not always the brightest, he lived an honest, upright life. He joined the church in Jonesboro more than a year ago and died happy in a Saviour's love.

He was married to Miss Nonie Williams of this county in 1896. This happy union lasted only until Sept. 9 of the same year, when she was called to Heaven.

He was again married in November, 1899 to Miss Anna Hamilton of Jackson, Missouri, who with their one son, Leroy, survive him; He leaves a host of friends and relatives in Kentucky as well as in Illinois, to mourn his loss.

Tis hard to give him up,
But oh, how blest
To know he has gone
To perfect rest.

In Memoriam.

Mrs. Mary G. Foster died at the home of her youngest daughter, in Salem, Aug. 12. She was in her 96th year.

Born in the famous year 1809 she knew the century in its infancy and outlived it. How wonderful a span of history her life covers. How rich and varied must have been the experience of that life. How like the garnering of a full, ripe ear of grain was her death.

Her maiden name was Mary Threlkeld. She was born, lived and died in Livingston county. She was married in 1896 to Moses Foster, and twelve children, five of whom survive, blessed their union. The oldest, Robert Davis of Kansas, is 72. Her husband dying in 1858, she had the trials of widowhood and responsibility of a large family through a critical period.

She was again married to Bart Foster in 1882, and he died after two years. Since then she has been a member of the family of Robert Boyd, her son-in-law.

She was a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian church.

She has long been an interesting character to many of her relatives and friends. She had a good memory and power of expression, and she loved to recall the past.

She was buried beside her first husband in the old family burying ground near Dyer's Hill, Rev. J. B. Lowery conducting the services.

Many friends miss her, yet rejoice at her gain, for the poor, tired spirit must be glad to be free from the infirmities of age and join the by far greater host of friends on the other side.

PROVIDENCE M. and F. ACADEMY.

The M. and F. Academy, will open Monday, Aug. 28, and continue nine months. This institution is just entering the eighth year of its existence and the high grade of work done by students during passed years have far surpassed our expectations. There has been no time in the history of the school when it had before it higher prospects than at the present time.

This school is not connected with a public school, yet the general enrollment for the year which has just expired closely approached one hundred and fifty. During the six weeks normal session forty-one young teachers were in attendance.

We are prepared to give teachers some higher courses. Every young man or woman should complete the state certificate course, or the equivalent, before going away from home to attend college. There are a number of good reasons why they should do this. We can give students the higher courses of study, preparatory to entering college, in a much more satisfactory manner than they can be had at some of the higher institutions of learning. Then why not patronize a home institution, and begin the work in dead earnest to the end.

We solicit the patronage of all industrious and orderly students, and would appreciate it; and if this class of young persons will enter the school at or near the opening, as near the first term as possible, attend regularly, make it a rule to be strictly on time, adopt a system of work and use a reasonable amount of industry, they will never have cause to regret the step. The patrons of a well disciplined home school seldom, if ever, reap a harvest of barren results.

It matters not how limited one may feel his education is, all we care to know is that he is in dead earnest.

The general discipline of the academy does not wholly bar students from social enjoyments, but those who are in the fixed habit of wilfully neglecting school duty for the sake of amusement will not suit us. We have neither time nor energy to spend with this class but we have at least one hour of extra time without extra charge to the young man or young woman who is hustling for supremacy.

Owing to the great amount of rain during the summer months it will not be possible for us to complete our annual tour in the interest of the school and in the event we fail to see you in purpose of laying before you our plans for the years work and offering inducements, give us a pleasant surprise by coming right on to school any way.

Very respectfully,
J. Y. BROWN, Prin.,
