SOME STARTLING FACTS ABOUT

The Democratic Manner of Manipulating the

JURY WHEEL IN THE COUNTY

Forty-two Per Cent. of the Voting population to Furnish Eighty Per Cent. of the Jury Names

IS ILLEGAL, CORRUPT AND FRAUDULENT

The Press makes much ado over the court house gang, so styled by it, and makes many accusations against the officers of this county, who are trying to discharge their duties as best they see how without regard to the wishes of the "layout" that has secured control of the said sheet. The county officers pay no attention to the vapors of the Press, for it in itself is an irresponsible vacuum, nor to its contributors, for they are sorely pressed for an issue in this campaign, and are fearful of the loss of two votes in the next legislature, to say nothing of prestige lost through defeat at home.

But we wish to say here, that there is a "gang" or something of that description that visits the court house occasionally, which has the right-thinking people more alarmed than the Press "boogies." In November, 1903, Judge Gordon appointed as jury commissioners for one year for the Crittenden circuit court the following named persons who were Democrats: Thos. H. Cochran, Wm. Barnett and J. A. Graves. These men under the law put into the jury wheel not less than 250 nor more than 350 names of men qualified for jury service from which the lists were drawn that made up the jurors for the March, June and November terms of the said court for the year, 1904. At the November term, 1904, the circuit judge again appointed a jury commission for one year composed of Thos. H. Cochran, W. B. Wilborn and Joe Dean, again all Democrats, who were to fill the wheel again for jury service for the different terms of 1905. From this wheel and from the names put in by these men the following names were drawn and sealed, delivered to the circuit clerk, to be delivered by him to the sheriff 30 days before the beginning of each term that he might summon them. The names and political affiliations follow:

Grand jury, March term, 1904.—Willoughby Guess, Hugh C. Dalton and K. P. Orr, Republicans; C. L. Burks, J. Henry Bettis, E. E. Harpending, J. L. Clifton, Alex. Woody, B. F. Walker, W. N. Dehaven, W. J. Little, W. I. Tabor, Jonathan Stone, Thomas J. Stone, Geo. D. Hughes, Chas. Clement, W. J. Fuller, J. A. Lewis, Thos. A. Rankin and Al Dean, Democrats.

Petit jury, March term, 1904.—Elijah T. Franklin, R. F. Haynes, J. P. Reed and D. E. Gilliland, Republicans; David E. Brooks, P. B. Croft, Robt. Woods, Simon Stallions, W. L. Moore, R. M. Franks, Geo. D. Kemp, Edgy Gregory, J. R. Clifton, J. H. Brewster, Sam Woodson, Alex. Jones, Thos. M. Hill, John W. Arlback, G. B. Crawford, H. W. McKee, Jerry Croft, E. R. Merrick, Wm. A. Ringo, A. J. Eskew, D. P. Glenn, Ellis Ralston, T. N. Bracey and W. C. Hamilton, Democrats; T. C. Campbell and Daniel Riley, Populists.

Cruce, Eb Wathen, Dave Woolford, A. C. Melton, Levi Cook, W. C. Lynn, H. C. Love, Raymond Babb, L. B. Phillips, W. B. Rankin and W. B. Binkley, Democrats.

Petit jury, November, 1904.—L. J. Daugherty, Kellie P. Orr, T. H. Roberts, C. C. Woodall, U. S. Graves and A. J. Baker, Republicans; J. H. Brashear, Geo. B. Lawrence, C. E. Donakey, W. F. Summerville, W. W. Bennett, L. A. Weldon, T. E. Griffith, John A. Stenbridge, J. F. Dodge, R. S. Heath, J. B. Waddington, Geo. W. Parish, Sampson Stenbridge, P. K. Cooksey, Anthony Belt, Jacob Kittinger, Henry L. Threlkeld, S. G. Griffith, John W. Brown, Frank M. Kemper, G. W. Howerton, Geo. H. King, Chas. Bozeman and Geo. W. Gahagen.

Grand jury, March term, 1905.—R. T. Mays, W. B. Davidson and John L. Curry, Republicans; P. B. Croft, M. T. Davenport, E. H. Bigham, P. A. Howerton, P. C. Stevens, Geo. D. Kemp, Norman Hoover, Otis Hughes, Monroe Gilbert, S. D. Brown, Jim Paris, Thos. N. Lynn, E. L. Kemp, Chas. Walker, John W. Wilson, J. S. Brawwell and Jas. A. Fowler, Democrats.

Petit jury, March term, 1905.—Geo. Roberts, Jas. Wigginton, Geo. B. Lamb, John L. Lamb, Ullie Threlkeld, J. W. Corn and Geo. B. Baker, Republicans; Ed Love, W. D. Williams, Edwin Ralston, Wm. Hurst, W. E. Dowell, Wm. Barnett, W. I. Tabor, M. F. Pogue, Geo. Cannan, Jas. P. Loyd, Tom B. Kemp, Geo. W. Horning, A. Dean, D. R. Mantz, A. J. Bennett, P. E. Shewmaker, R. N. Walker, Robt. Vanhoosier, Albert McConnell, John Weldon, Thos. Wring and S. D. Asher, Democrats; O. T. Hodge, Populist.

Grand jury, June term, 1905.—M. K. Givens, Republican; W. H. Wallace, W. T. Terry, J. N. Truitt, Bid Drennen, Alonzo Babb, Chas. E. Horning, Z. T. Terry, E. R. Stevenson, J. T. Dehaven, Robt. S. Cash, Chas. A. Walker, J. H. Shadowen, A. F. Woolf, Jos. D. Hardin, J. W. Johnson, G. A. Stevenson and T. J. McConnell, Democrats; D. N. Riley Populist; T. H. Cossett, Independent.

Petit jury, June term, 1905.—H. N. Wheeler, Sam Stenbridge, E. W. Love, A. C. Melton, Hugh W. McKee, Ed Cook, R. E. Flanary, Judson Bettis, Robt. L. Hodge, W. E. Potter, Kit Shepherd, Ben Rankin, F. M. Brightman, Wm. Woodridge, I. D. Hodges, Rutledge Newcomb, Sam Leneave, R. D. Moore, W. N. Rochester, Chas. Burks, D. F. Murphy, J. H. Brewster, P. K. Cooksey, Lee Rankin, R. F. Wheeler, H. M. Cook, John Casner, W. B. Binkley, C. E. Doss and Geo. W. Jones, Democrats.

A careful perusal of this list will show some strange things. In the first place no one knows what has been put in the wheel except as he may judge by what has been taken out. The names of 250 men have been drawn from this wheel since Tom Cochran has been helping to fill it. 212 of these have been Democrats, while only 33 have been Republicans and 5 belonging to all other parties. In other words 85.2-5 per cent of the 250 were Democrats and only 14.2-5 per cent were Republicans. But let us see further. Of the Republican's drawn, Willoughby Guess is 75 years old and no doubt they were surprised when they saw he was able to serve. K. P. Orr is 70 years old and was not able on account of his health to be here and serve, and he has been selected twice. J. P. Reed would never quit trading long enough to sit on a jury. H. L. Sullivan was post master and not eligible. Neither H. A. Haynes nor W. B. Yandell could sacrifice their business to sit on the jury, and this left only 27 Republicans that would be likely to serve, or only 12 per cent.

In 1903 in this county the election showed 1806 Republicans, 1414 Democrats and 56 belonging to all other parties, giving the Democratic party 43.1-6 per cent of the total vote, or, if you please, subtract the colored vote as shown by the assessor's books for that year amounting to 162, leaving 3114 votes outside of the colored vote and showing the Democratic vote 45.1 per cent of the white vote for that year. Yet from this 45.1 per cent of the total white vote, 82.2-5 of the juries are drawn.

Again in 1904, the Republican vote was 1690, the Democratic vote was 1207, and the vote of all others 100,

HIS ELECTION NOW SEEMS CERTAIN

"Some More Sidelights on the New Recruit." These are the head lines in this week's Press. The outside editorial writer and political news contributor making an attack upon R. L. Moore, the Republican candidate for State Senator, seems worried about the senatorial race. Well he may be. Moore will be elected. When Mr. Moore ran for railroad commissioner on the Democratic ticket, as stated by the Press, the Democratic party had some decent standing in this state. It had not overthrown the fundamental principles of Jeffersonian Democracy by declaring for free silver regardless of its intrinsic value. It had not declared for all the pernicious follies and isms as enunciated in the platform of that party in 1896, which drove thousands of the ablest men in that party from it. Such men as John G. Carlisle, Senator Lindsey, Gov. Simon B. Buckner, John W. Lockett, Judge Matt Givens and many thousands others. It had not passed the Goebel election law for the purpose of stealing the offices to which other men had been elected; it had not stolen the nomination for Governor for one of the worst men who ever offered for office in Kentucky, and that, too, by the most corrupt and fraudulent methods known to political thieves and thugs, methods that drove such men as Gov. John Young Brown and thousands like him from the support of that nominee. It had not stolen the governorship and the state offices from men honestly and fairly elected. It had not corrupted the courts of the state by packing the juries in order to further the end of the ballot box stuffing and political thieves. In fact it is no longer the old Democratic party, but is an organization of the most corrupt set of men who are now in control of that party—the worst this country has ever seen. It had not hired thieves and thugs, marauders and outlaws to come to Louisville to run elections and registrations as its leaders do today. It giving the Democrats 40 per cent of the total vote or deducting the colored vote, 159 as before, 42.1 per cent of the balance. Yet 42.1 per cent of the total vote furnishes 82.2-5 per cent of the jurors.

But more yet. 20 names have been drawn from that jury wheel twice in two years. What does this mean? That the same names are being put in year after year. The names follow and among them is the name of our old friend and Republican who was not able to attend court, Kellie P. Orr. Chas. Burks, drawn for March term, 1904, and for the June term, 1905.

A. Dean, drawn for March term, 1904, and for March term, 1905.

P. B. Croft, drawn for March term, 1904, and for March term, 1905.

J. H. Brewster, drawn for March term 1904, and for June term, 1905.

Hugh W. McKee, drawn for March term, 1904; and for June term, 1905.

H. M. Cook, drawn for June term, 1904, and for June term, 1905.

G. W. Jones, drawn for June term, 1904, and for June term, 1905.

A. C. Melton, drawn for November term, 1904, and for June term, 1905.

J. H. Shadowen, drawn for June term, 1904, and for June term, 1905.

J. W. Johnson, drawn for June term, 1904, and for June term, 1905.

Ben Rankin, drawn for November, 1904, and for June, 1905.

W. B. Binkley, drawn for November term, 1904, and for June term, 1905.

Sam Stenbridge, drawn for November term, 1904, and for June, 1905.

P. K. Cooksey, drawn for November, 1904, and June term, 1905.

G. A. Stevenson, drawn for June, 1904, and for June, 1905.

had never countenanced and condoned such acts as were recently committed upon Laffoon Allen, his brother and General Basil Duke in Louisville by a gang of toughs, who assaulted and knocked them down because they were in favor of an honest registration.

R. L. Moore has been voting the Republican ticket for nearly nine years. He voted for McKinley in 1896-1900 and for Roosevelt in 1904. He voted for Gov. Taylor in 1899 and Morris B. Belknap in 1903. Mr. Maxwell has supported the Democratic party all the while it has been committing and condoning the above outrages against the state and the nation as well. He has never lifted his voice against any of these evils, but has endorsed the men at the head of his party and approved these wrongs. Below is a statement of the clerk of the precinct in which Mr. Moore registered in 1904 and which fully explains itself. We give this statement because of the misconstruction applied to this case by that infallible sheet, the Crittenden Press.

"Marion, Ky., Oct. 12, 1905.—To whom it may concern: I wish to state that I was clerk of the registration and election precinct in which Hon. R. L. Moore registered in October, 1904, and by error on my part he was registered as a Democrat when he should have been registered as a Republican. He called my attention to my mistake the next day but I did not then think I had the right to correct it on the registration books, as they had been returned to the county clerk.

Respectfully,
JOHN T. PICKENS.
We, the undersigned, state that we have known that the Republican candidate for State Senator, R. L. Moore, has affiliated with the Republican party since 1896.—W. B. Yandell, J. A. Pickens, R. M. Wilborn, W. H. Copher, B. L. Wilborn, A. J. Butler, J. M. Freeman, Wm. J. Deboe, A. Towery, H. Koltinsky, J. M. McCaslin, T. G. Davidson and J. A. Moore. The Republicans of Marion and Crittenden county, know of this fact.

A Whirlwind of Pleasure

Would properly term "A Breezy Time." It is one of the most effective musical farce comedies in town this year. There is just plot enough to keep people guessing. As to the specialties given by different members of the company, each one is an artist in his or her line. There have been written many new additions in the line of comedy to "A Breezy Time" for the coming season, and the above company will surpass anything that may be seen in the line of farce comedy. Marion Opera House, Saturday, October 14. Seats on sale at Woods & Orme's drug store.

Caution!

Persons, when traveling, should exercise care in the use of drinking water. As a safeguard, it is urged that every traveler secure a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy before leaving home, to be carried in the hand luggage. This may prevent distressing sickness and annoying delay.

W. I. Tabor, drawn for March, 1904, and for March, 1905.

Kellie P. Orr, drawn for March, 1904, and for November, 1904.

Geo. D. Kemp, drawn for March, 1904, and for March, 1905.

Ellis Ralston, drawn for March term, 1904, and for June, 1904.

But stranger still, we find two names that were drawn out twice in one year, and our old friend who is a staunch Republican but who is too feeble to attend court, is in that list. They must be doubling up and putting in names of Democrats who are able to serve, and Republicans who will likely not be able to attend, two or three times each time it is filled. The other name is Ellis Ralston and a study of the list will show that K. P. Orr was drawn for the March term, 1904, and for the November term, 1904, and that Ellis Ralston was drawn for the March term, 1904, and for the June term, 1904.

What a joke it must be to these Democratic jury commissioners when they put in the name of a Republican who is a postmaster, or a civil officer, or some octogenarian, or some man who could not afford to leave his business, and say to each other as they do it, "Now, they can't say we don't put in the names of Republicans."

Now, the question is: Are you fellows who are being continually sat upon by Tom Cochran when he fills the jury wheel going to vote for him because he is a good fellow, or vote for Dave Woods and Joe Rochester who endorse his action because they pat you on the back and say there is no politics in this election? This wheel tells you in language more eloquent than tongue can frame, that he does not believe that you are intelligent, sober, discreet and impartial citizens because that is who the law says shall constitute our juries.

Ask yourself, if he goes to the legislature, whether he goes for any good to you, or whether he goes for the personal satisfaction of politicians and wire pullers.

AN OPPORTUNITY GIVEN TOWERY

To Speak Again and Name His Man

HE IS ALSO ASKED TO STATE

Why O. M. James, "The First Man,"
So Blandly Let a Golden Moment
Pass Wherein He Could

HAVE STOPPED JURY AND EXPENSE

In this week's Crittenden Press appears an article signed by Judge Towery and in which an effort is made to vindicate some Democrats whom he claims as his friends. The petition in the suit published in THE RECORD was based on the certificate concerning the Towery survey of the land in question. Mr. Towery signed the County Surveyors name to the certificate. The information that the certificate had been signed by Towery was obtained from the Auditor of the State. It seems strange that if some Republican was the instigator of the indictment that the information as to the facts in the case had to come from the Democrats. Now the truth is the Democrats were in control of the majority of the grand jury which found the indictment as well as the entire court.

Towery says: "I say further that O. M. James was the first man to inform me that there was an effort being made at the beginning of aforesaid grand jury to have me indicted and this was before the primary, when he offered his assistance to me, not knowing whether I would be the nominee or not, and I gladly accepted the same, and he would have appeared in the court as my attorney, had I been nominated in the primary."

"I feel it is proper to make the further statement that I know the parties who did bring about the indictment and who were enemies within my own party."

Now Judge Towery, if Mr. O. M. James knew what you say he did why did he not prevent such an indictment after you had informed him of the facts in the case and that there was nothing in it? Every one knows that Ollie could then and there have informed the court of such a putrage that was about to be perpetrated upon his friend and the court undoubtedly would not have permitted his grand jury to be used for the purpose of persecuting an innocent person. He could have influenced by honorable persuasion in this matter just as easy before the indictment was found as after wards.

Such rot is too silly for an intelligent person to believe.

Judge Towery, if you know who had you indicted you owe it to the public to tell who he is. Do not wait until eve of the election to do so. That would be wrong and cowardly. If you are in favor of fair play you will give the party a reasonable opportunity to answer your accusation. We say, that Democrats had you indicted, and that you are now being duped by them in order that they may advance the interests of your Democratic son-in-law in the race for county attorney.

The Crittenden Press claims that the Democrats are sore because the Republicans fail to renominate Towery for county judge. One reason is because the Republican party believes in majority rule, and a majority of the Republicans saw proper to nominate another person for that place. The efforts of the Press to try to persuade persons to vote for candidates who are in favor of Goebelism, stuffing ballots, packing juries, having honest men, who are in favor of fair elections, assaulted and clubbed, because Judge Towery was defeated for renomination, will prove a miserable failure.

Travis Reunion.

A happy and joyful reunion of the Travis family occurred at the Old Coperas Spring, the original home of grandfather James Travis, Saturday, October 7. The day was indeed one of those bright, balmy autumn days that puts good cheer into every heart. Quite a good crowd was in attendance. There were many members of the Travis family, big, little, old and young from Crittenden and adjacent counties. Quite a number of the friends of their time-honored families were present to grace the occasion with their presence and to add to the good cheer of the day. There were many happy handshakes and pleasant smiles as relatives and friends met each other, exchanged greetings and brightened the chain of friendship. The exercises were enlivened with good music and interspersed with earnest prayers. Uncle Harvey Travis made an interesting talk on the history of the Travis family tracing it from the time the three old brothers left the Emerald Isle giving the off-shoots of the Travis Tree in various directions and showing their development in a numerous progeny.

Dr. Frazer made a splendid address on "The Characteristics of the Travis Family," he showed a close observation of human nature, and while some of the characteristics might have been over drawn, as we feel our imperfection so sensibly, yet it was quite a compliment and greatly delighted the members of that family. Some excellent poems, written for the occasion by Dr. Perkins, were read by Rev. Jas. F. Price. A bountiful supply of eatables was spread at the noon hour and all were invited to participate. The noon interval was spent in refreshing ourselves with the good things for the appetite and with many pleasant and social chats. The afternoon was spent in an experience meeting, in which soul stirring experiences thrilled the hearts of many.

We are truly glad to have so many of our friends present to enjoy the occasion with us, and wish that others had been there. We express our sincere thanks to Mrs. Fannie Walker, Mrs. Elvie Cochran and J. T. Travis for their excellent music, to F. I. Travis for his organ and for making the necessary arrangements, to our friends who brought such bountiful dinner, and to all we contributed to the enjoyment of the day.

THE CUMBERLAND PRINCETON PRESBYTERY

Met in Session Here Last Week-- Best Meeting in Its History.

The Cumberland Princeton Presbytery met in its semi-annual session at the Marion church, Oct. 3, 1905.

The regular session was preceded by the Elders and Deacons Association. This association met at 10 a. m. Tuesday and proceeded to organize. Elder A. A. Deboe, of Marion, was elected moderator, Dr. Love, clerk. The association was in session during the day and was harmonious throughout. One, but to take a look at these business men, the official family of the ministers, and in surveying the field, need have no misgivings about church affairs. To see those business men—who had met the world and wrestled success single handed from the problem that confronts them, no longer need the thought be dwelt upon, that church affairs belong to women and children only.

Live questions were discussed, among others the most practical was, "How Finance a Church." These difficult problems are being studied and practically solved.

The regular presbytery began its session Tuesday, Oct. 3, at 7.30 p. m.

Rev. Price, of Providence, preached the opening sermon.

Rev. M. E. Chapel, of Princeton, was elected moderator.

After appointment of committees, presbytery adjourned until Wednesday morning.

WEDNESDAY MORNING.

Devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. J. R. King.

Rev. J. F. Price made report No. 1 of historical society, by reading a history of Piney Fork church.

Rev. J. L. Wyatt, D. D., of Hopkinsville, preached an excellent sermon from Gen. 3:15, after which, communion services were held.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

The afternoon was spent in a Sunday school institute, Revs. Wyatt, Tucker, Jacobs, Autahony, J. L. Price and Chappell.

At 7.30 the Ladies Missionary Society, of the C. P. church, held a very interesting session, Rev. Anthony, of Sturgis, preaching the sermon.

THURSDAY MORNING

After devotional exercises the historical committee made report No. 2 giving a history of Bethlehem.

After the reports of the various and necessary committees, Rev. E. R. Overby preached an excellent sermon from the subject, "The Dispensation of the Holy Spirit."

THURSDAY AFTERNOON.

At the afternoon session there was farther report of committees and adoption of reports previous adjournment. At the closing session Thursday evening Rev. M. E. Chappell, of Princeton, preached an excellent sermon. Presbytery then adjourned to meet at Morganfield, April, 1906.

Following are the ministers present: J. F. and J. L. Price, M. E. Chappell, E. R. Overby, R. A. Anthony, J. R. King, G. L. Woodrough, P. D. Tucker, B. F. Jacobs and W. T. Oakley.

Synopsis of Previous Chapters.

CHAPTER I.—I am left an orphan at six and am saved from a dissolute uncle by Eben Holden, an old man who has worked for my father. Uncle Eb takes me through the wilderness from Vermont to seek a new home in New York State.

II.—Our adventures in the woods. Uncle Eb scares away a panther.

III.—A woman presents a little wagon to me, to which Fred, our dog, is attached. A man tries to enter our camp in the woods.

IV.—Uncle Eb repulses the intruder. He stay in an old cabin and are warned against the night to leave by its mysterious owner.

V.—I meet Jed Peary, a country poet who takes a liking to me. I am almost frozen to death and am saved by Uncle Eb.

VIII.—Hope and I try to save our old dog from the butcher's hands, but are compelled by circumstances to leave him to starve.

IX.—The mysterious "night man," a nocturnal prowler of the countryside, is bugaboo to the children. Story of Nehemiah Brower, who killed another boy by accident, ran away and was reported drowned near Van Deiman's land. I escort Hope to a "school leycum."

X.—I win distinction at school. Hope's musical ability develops. Her voice is praised by young Mr. Livingstone, a visitor from the city. I disclose my love for Hope to Jed Feary, who advises me to study.

XI.—Hope and I—Gerald Brower, my young foster brother, dies. Hope and go away to the Hillsborough academy.

XIII.—My Academy work is praised. Mr. Livingstone sends Christmas gifts from the city to Hope and her mother.

XIV.—Hope and I confess our mutual love, which is not to be spoken of until we are older.

XV.—Hope and I go to a country dance.

XVI.—David Brower sells his farm and goes to live in the village for his children's sake. Hope goes to New York to live with Mrs. Fuller, a friend and study music. I go to college. Uncle Eb makes us each a gift of money.

XVII.—I visit Hope in New York. Her city life seems to have estranged her from me. I am graduated a college.

XVIII.—Uncle Eb and I visit the Fullers. David Brower gives me a letter of recommendation to Horace Greeley, who is an old friend of my foster father.

XIX.—Mr. Greeley assigns me a subject to write upon for the Tribune. At a dinner at the Fullers' I meet John Trumbull, a mysterious man, who has saved Hope from a street accident. Uncle Eb and Trumbull are very intimate.

XX.—Hope wins success at a church concert. She is going to England with Mrs. Fuller. The latter interrupts a talk between Hope and I. Uncle Eb tells me not to give up the idea of winning Hope.

XXI.—I take lodgings down town. I write to Hope telling her of my love. I get a little encouragement in the Tribune office and invest most of my money in new clothes.

XXII.—Mr. Trumbull takes a walk and I spend a night in his rooms. No answer from Hope. I fail to get employment on the New York or Philadelphia papers. One of my fellow boarders is Waxy McClingan, a journalist.

XXIII.—I get employment breaking stone and am seen by Mr. Greeley. He gives me a position at the Tribune and invites me to dine with him.

XXIV.—I report the reception of the Prince of Wales and see Mrs. Fuller there. Hope is in Europe studying music and has not written to me (become friendly with Trumbull).

XXV.—The excitement before the Civil War. I join a militia regiment and resign from the Tribune. I meet Margaret Hull, Trumbull's fiancée.

XXVI.—Off to the front. I am wounded at Bull Run and am carried off the field at night by a man whom I do not see.

XXVII.—I am commended by the president for bravery. I return to New York and am met there by Hope and Uncle Eb. Hope and I reach an understanding. My letter did not reach her. Uncle Eb tells us that father has lost his money through investment in an invention.

XXVIII.—I return to the Tribune. I make a speech, the beginning of my political career.

XXIX.—Hope and I return home for Christmas. Uncle Eb helps father to recover his money and restores to mother and father their long lost son, Nehemiah, in the person of John Trumbull. He has been the mysterious "night man," who returned home in secret after years of wandering around the world and after being reported drowned. He had been befriended by Uncle Eb, who helped to start him in his successful city career. He is also the man who saved me from the Bull Run battlefield.

XXX.—Close of the tale, with Uncle Eb's epitaph.

There was a little quaver in his voice. We all looked at him in silence. Uncle Eb drew out his wallet with trembling hands, his fine old face lit with a deep emotion. David looked up at him as if he wondered what joke was coming until he saw his excitement.

"Here's twenty thousand dollars," said Uncle Eb, "a real, genuine bank check, just as good as gold. Here 'tis! A Crissimus present for you an' Elizabeth. An' may God bless ye both!" David looked up incredulously, when Land. One night there came a big storm. A shipmate was washed away in the dark. We never saw him again. They found a letter in his box that said his real name was Nehemiah Brower, son of David Brower of Faraway, N. Y. U. S. A. I put it there, of course, and the captain wrote a letter to my father about the death of his son. My old self was near done for, and the man Trumbull had a new lease of life. You see, in my madness I had convicted and executed myself."

He paused a moment. His mother put her hand upon his shoulder, with a word of gentle sympathy. Then he went on:

"Well, six years after I had gone away, one evening in midsummer we came into the harbor of Quebec. I had been long in the southern seas. When I went ashore on a day's leave and wandered off in the fields and got the smell of the north I went out of my head—went crazy for a look at the hills of Faraway and my own people. Nothing could stop me then. I drew my pay, packed my things in a bag, and off I went. Left the burg afoot the day after; got to Faraway in the evening. It was beautiful—the scent of the new hay that stood in cocks and winrows on the hill, the noise of the crickets, the smell of the grain, the old house, just as I remembered them, just as I had dreamed of them a thousand times. And when I went by the gate Bony, my old dog, came out and barked at me, and I spoke to him, and he knew me and came and licked my hands, rubbing upon my leg. I sat

"Nehemiah not dead!" he repeated, looking down at the draft. They turned it in the light, reading over and over again the happy tidings pinned to one corner of it. Then they looked into each other's eyes. Elizabeth put her arms about David's neck and laid her head upon his shoulder, and not one of us dare trust himself to speak for a little. Uncle Eb broke the silence.

"Got another present," he said. "'S a good deal better 'n gold or silver'—"

A knock at the door interrupted him. He swung it open quick. A tall, bearded man came in.

"Mr. Trumbull!" Hope exclaimed, rising.

"David an' Elizabeth Brower," said Uncle Eb, "the dead has come 't life. I give ye back yer son Nehemiah."

Then he swung his cap high above his head, shouting in a loud voice, "Merry Crissimus, merry Crissimus!"

The scene that followed I shall not try to picture. It was so full of happiness that every day of our lives since then has been blessed with it and with a peace that has lightened every sorrow. Of it I can truly say that it passeth all understanding.

"Look here, folks," said Uncle Eb after awhile, as he got his flute. "My feelin's hev been teched hard. If I don't hev some jollification I'll bust. Bill Brower, limber up yer leather a leetle bit."

Nehemiah, whom I had known as John Trumbull, sat a long time between his father and mother, holding a hand of each and talking in a low tone, while Hope and I were in the kitchen with Uncle Eb. Now that father and son were side by side we saw how like they were and wondered we had never guessed the truth.

"Do you remember," said Nehemiah when we returned, "do you remember when you were a little boy coming one night to the old log house on Bowman's hill with Uncle Eb?"

"I remember it very well," I answered.

"That was the first time I ever saw you," he said.

"Why, you are not the night man?" "I was the night man," he answered. "I stared at him with something of the old familiar thrill that had always come at the mention of him years ago."

"He's grown a leetle since then," said Uncle Eb.

"I thought so the night I carried him off the field at Bull Run," said Nehemiah.

"Was that you?" I asked eagerly.

"It was," he answered. "I came over from Washington that afternoon. Your colonel told me you had been wounded."

"Wondered who you were, but I could not get you to answer. I have to thank you for my life."

Hope put her arms about his neck and kissed him.

"Tell us," said she, "how you came to be the night man."

He folded his arms and looked down and began his story.

"Years ago I had a great misfortune. I was a mere boy at the time. By accident I killed another boy in play. It was an old dog we were playing with, and nobody knew it was loaded. I had often quarreled with the other boy. That is why they thought I had done it on purpose. There was a dance that night. I had got up in the evening, crawled out of the window and stolen away. We were in Rickard's stable. I remember how the people ran out with lanterns. They would have hung me—some of them—or given me the blue beech if a boy friend had not hurried me away. It was a terrible hour. I was stunned. I could say nothing. They drove me to the burg, the boy's father chasing us. I got over into Canada, walked to Montreal and there went to sea. It was foolish, I know, but I was only a boy of fifteen. I took another name. I began a new life. Nehemiah Brower was like one dead. In France I saw Ben Giltman. He had been a schoolmate in Faraway. He put his hand on my shoulder and called me the old name. It was hard to deny it—the hardest thing I ever did. I was homesick. I wanted to ask him about my mother and father and my sister, who was a baby when I left. I would have given my life to talk with him. But I shook my head.

"No," I said, "my name is not Brower. You are mistaken."

"Then I walked away, and Nemy Brower stayed in his grave."

"Well, two years later we were cruising from Sidney to Van Dieman's Island. One night there came a big storm. A shipmate was washed away in the dark. We never saw him again. They found a letter in his box that said his real name was Nehemiah Brower, son of David Brower of Faraway, N. Y. U. S. A. I put it there, of course, and the captain wrote a letter to my father about the death of his son. My old self was near done for, and the man Trumbull had a new lease of life. You see, in my madness I had convicted and executed myself."

He paused a moment. His mother put her hand upon his shoulder, with a word of gentle sympathy. Then he went on:

CHAPTER XXX.

SINCE that day I have seen much coming and going.

We are now the old folks—Margaret and Nehemiah and Hope and I. Those others, with their rugged strength, their simple ways, their undying youth, are of the past. The young folks—they are a new kind of people. It gives us comfort to think they will never have to sing in choirs or "pound the rock" for board money. But I know it is the worse luck for them. They are a fine lot of young men and women—comely and well-mannered—but they will not be the pathfinders of the future. What with balls and dinners and clubs and theaters they find too great a solace in the rear rank.

Nearly twenty years after that memorable Christmas, coming from Buffalo to New York one summer morning, my thoughts went astray in the north country. The familiar faces, the old scenes, came trooping by, and that very day I saw the sun set in Hillsborough as I had often those late years.

Mother was living in the old home alone with a daughter of Grandma Bissette. It was her wish to live and die under that roof. She cooked me a fine supper with her own hands and a great anxiety to please me.

"Come, Willie," said she, as if I were a small boy again, "you fill the wood box, an' I'll get supper ready. Lucind', you clear out," she said to the hired girl good-naturedly. "You dunno how 't' cook for him."

I filled the wood box and brought a pail of water and while she was frying the ham and eggs read to her a part of a speech I had made in congress. Before thousands I had never felt more elation. At last I was sure of winning her applause. The little bent figure stood there dutifully turning the ham and eggs. She put the spider aside to stand near me, her hands upon her hips. There was a mighty pride in her face when I had finished. I rose, and she went and looked out of the window.

"Grand!" she murmured, wiping her eyes with the corner of her handkerchief.

"Glad you like it," I said, with great satisfaction.

"Oh, the speech!" she answered, her elbow resting on the window sash, her hand supporting her head. "I liked it very well, but—but I was thinking of the sunset. How beautiful it is!"

I was weary after my day of travel and went early to bed there in my old room. I left her finishing a pair of socks she had been knitting for me. Lying in bed I could hear the creak of her chair and the low, sung, familiar words:

"On the other side of Jordan,
In the sweet fields of Eden,
Where the tree of life is blooming
There is rest for you."

Late at night she came into my room with a candle. I heard her come softly to the bed, where she stood a moment leaning over me. Then she drew the quilt about my shoulder with a gentle hand.

"Poor little orphan!" said she in a whisper that troubled. She was thinking of my childhood, of her own happier days.

Then she went away, and I heard in the silence a ripple of measureless waters.

Next morning I took flowers and strewed them on the graves of David and Uncle Eb. There Hope and I go often to sit for half a summer day above those perished forms and think of the old time and of those last words of my venerable friend now graven on his tombstone:

I shan't afraid
Shamed of nuthin' I ever done.
Always kep' my tugs tight,
Never made 'em 'twas no'ary.
Never botched a fish bigger 'n 'twas
Er bed 'n a boss trade
Er shed a tear I didn't hev to.
Never cheated anybody but Eben
Holden.
Goin' off somewheres, Bill—dunno the way nuther—
Dunno 't it's east or west or north or south.
Er road or trail,
But I ain't afraid.

THE END.

A Poem.

"There, my son; that will do for this time," sternly interrupted the long suffering parent. "I don't know who was the first man to invent wrestling nor how many nicks make a muckle nor how many is many nor how few is few nor how a sailor smokes his horn-pipe nor why Good Friday never comes on a Tuesday nor why rabbits can't add, subtract and divide as well as multiply, nor why an owl should hoot and not howl nor the answer to any one of the many other foolish questions that your abnormally developed bump of inquisitiveness incites you to propound."

"Yes, but, father, I don't want to ask any silly questions. This is a most important one. Please, do you think when a stout man is self contained he has more room inside of himself to contain himself in than a thin man has or is himself so big that he is just as tightly crowded inside of himself as the thin man is and how much of himself is it that is self contained and how much is on the outside doing the containing, and—"

"Clarence, go to bed this instant!"

The Phonograph in the Moon.

Cyrano de Bergerac in his "Histoire Comique des Etats et Empires de la Lune," whose first edition is dated as early as 1650, relates that the genius that guided him to our satellite gave him for his entertainment some of the books of the country. These books are enclosed in boxes. "On opening the box I found inside a concern of metal, something like one of our watches, full of curious little springs and minute machinery. It was really a book, but a wonderful book that has no leaves or letters, a book for the understanding of which the eyes are of no use—only the ears are necessary. When any one wishes to read he winds up the machine, with its great number of nerves of all kinds, and turns the pointer to the chapter he wishes to hear, when there comes out, as if from the mouth of a man or of an instrument of music, the distinct and various sounds which serve the great Lunarians as the expression of language."

A Continual Strain.

Many men and women are constantly subject to what they call "a continual strain" because of some financial or family trouble. It wears and distresses them both mentally and physically, affecting their nerves badly and bringing on liver and kidney ailments, with the attendant evils of constipation, loss of appetite sleeplessness, low vitality and despondency. They cannot, as a rule, get rid of this "continual strain," but they can remedy its health destroying effects by taking frequent doses of Green's August Flower. It tones up the liver, stimulates the kidneys, insures healthy bodily functions, gives vim and spirit to one's whole being, and eventually dispels the physical or mental distress caused by that "continual strain." Trial bottle of August Flower, 25c; regular size, 75c. For sale by Woods & Orme.

The flavor is half the battle. The purity is the other half. My sorghum is pure and has a flavor that is delicious.

How Is Your Heart?

Is your pulse weak, too slow, too fast, or does it skip a beat? Do you have shortness of breath, weak or hungry spells, fainting, smothering or choking spells, palpitation, fluttering, pains around the heart, in side and shoulder; or hurt when lying on left side? If you have any of these symptoms your heart is weak or diseased, and cannot get better without assistance. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure strengthens weak hearts, and rarely ever fails to cure heart disease. Try it, and see how quickly you will find relief.

"About January 1st, 1902, I took down with weakness and drowsy, and gradually grew worse. I was told by my family physician that my case was hopeless. My neighbors and family had given me up to die. My limbs and body were swollen to one-third larger than normal size, and water had collected around my heart. For at least three months I had to sit propped up in bed to keep from smothering. I sent for five bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and by the time I had taken them all I was entirely cured. I feel better than I have for twenty years, and I am able to do any kind of work on my farm. My attending physician told me that if it hadn't been for Dr. Miles' Heart Cure I would now be in my grave."

I am a Democrat.—Hoover.

All old men should work the road.—Rochester.

Don't forget Marion! It is just as wide awake as the political situation is interesting.

Just imagine Press Maxwell and Conn Lynn both answering "present" in the state senate when the Third district is called.

Robert L. Moore knows what district he is running in and where the Fourth district is called, he will answer "present."

Who can believe in the Dixon Journal when they see its editor doesn't know that Crittenden, Webster and Caldwell are not in the Third senatorial district?

"You may break, you may shatter the vase if you will, but the scent of the roses will cling to it still."—Press

Robert Love Moore has been a Republican so long that his most intimate friends can find no trace of the stifling smell of Democracy about his person, not even his "close neighbor" (discovered by the Press,) who is trying to make him a Democrat by facts and figures, as opposed to his Republican principles.

Why should the wealthy Democratic nominee want the Kentucky state senatorship? The emoluments of the office compared with his present income is about as 1 to 2000. You will have to make lots of figures to figure it out and that may be what Pressley G. Maxwell does on Sunday.

It is said that when P. S. Maxwell approaches a Republican he says that R. L. Moore is a Democrat and if the Republican is going to vote for a Democrat he ought to vote for one on the Democratic ticket, and when he approaches his Democratic friends he says to them that he trusts they will support him and leave Republican "Bob" at home with his Sunday school class. However that may be, Mr. Maxwell, the Republicans of the Fourth district know that Robert L. Moore left the Democratic party years ago when you trembled for fear your income would have to be converted into fifty cent dollars and if that was not the case it could never be said of Robert L. Moore that he held a Goebel reception at his home in Marion.

We notice an announcement in the Press as follows:

"We are authorized to announce P. S. Maxwell as a candidate for state senator from the Third senatorial district."

Now, what we wish to say is, that while Mr. Maxwell may know, as the Press said last week, "no fear or shadow of turning," and while he might be "a powerful influence in the state senate," which judging from his unusual wealth may have some significance, yet we think he ought to know that this is the Fourth senatorial district instead of the Third. Ordinarily, we would attribute such a state of affairs to an error on the part of the Press, but, as it is infallible its editor being a responsible supervisor of the matter it contains, and presumably the office devil never makes mistakes, hence it appears that the burden will have to rest upon Mr. Maxwell, notwithstanding the fact, and as the Dixon Journal termed him, he impressed the Democrats of Webster as being a learned and prominent lawyer.

The Dixon Journal of Sept. 29, on a supplement that looked like the wrapper to some sort of cheap patent medicine, undertook to stick its bill into Crittenden county politics by referring to the Towery case and backing up an empty tree in full confidence that it had THE RECORD tree. As far as Crittenden county politics is concerned, the Democratic party has an organ here, whose editor is responsible, and who is an excellent supervisor of news-matter in general to keep up the Democratic fences. Of course, if the Press was incompetent or its editor or its political writers unequal to the occasion, then the Dixon Journal might feel necessitated to stick in its bill. The Journal says:

"Most every one who keeps up with the political news of this section knows of the Judge Towery indictment in Crittenden county and most everyone considers the indictment shameful and out of place. Especially are the Democrats out-spoken in the matter and every Democratic lawyer in Marion volunteered his service to defend Judge Towery in the case. A few weeks ago the Record, a Republican sheet of Marion came out in an article concerning the Towery case which left the impression that every member of the grand jury which indicted the judge, was a Democrat. This is untrue."

Yes, Mr. Journal, those who keep up with political facts in this section, not necessarily "political news," know of the Judge Towery indictment and that it was a shameful and diabolical farce comedy on the part of its instigators. And those who read the particulars of the court as reported from the court records in our last issue, are on, and readily understand the outspoken sympathy of the Democratic lawyers who volunteered their services after the damnable act had been done and the judge defeated for re-nomination. No, Mr. Journal, we will advise you to be careful how you quote the careless statements that often appear in the columns of the Press and had you exercised more judgment in the above instance you would not have heralded the statement to your readers that there were four Republicans on that famous jury when there were only three, and had you read THE RECORD of the same week as the issue of the Press from which you quote so elaborately, you would have seen the open letter which a member of that jury, purported to be a Republican, addressed to The Crittenden Press, asking it to correct the mis-statement it published in calling him a Republican.

We do not consider "Raikes" and raps essential in journalism, but when we are attacked in an unjust and unwarranted manner, we are always ready to defend our position, because Mr. Journal, when you see it in THE RECORD, you can rest assured there is something in it. We make no statements that we are not able to back up. And we would respectfully say to you in advance that if you rely solely on the Press and its political editorial staff with reference to the senatorial race and the personality of the Hon. R. L. Moore, the Republican candidate, you will miss the truth about as far as you did in your issue of the 29th.

INVITED TO SPEAK IN OHIO.

Hon. Wm. J. Deboe is in receipt of a communication from Senator Chas. Dick, chairman of the Republican Executive and Campaign Committee, of Ohio, inviting him to go to that state and make a speaking tour in the interest of the Republican state ticket. Mr. Deboe will be unable to accept the invitation and has written Senator Dick expressing his regrets.

HOW ABOUT ARFLACK?

The Democrat Editors and Lawyers of the Press speak of poor one armed John Morgan being defeated by political trickery but they never mention the fact that poor old man, George Arflack, was told to be on hand at 2 o'clock, in the afternoon, that the nomination would be made at that time. How a few Democrat politicians met, behind closed doors at 10 o'clock in the morning of the same day, and nominated another man for jailer and how they had deceived this good old citizen and yet they talk of fraud and trickery.

ANOTHER LIE NAILED.

The Press keeps talking of a meeting of the Republican nominees at the court house a few nights before the primary and say that the ticket was stated at that meeting. We would like to know how the Press hopes to make the Republican voters of this county believe that any meeting of this kind could have accomplished anything in a primary where people vote by secret ballot. There was no such meeting as the Press speaks of and the statement is false and a mighty poor effort to deceive the voters. The truth is the nominees did not vote for each other as a unit but every nominee lost from one to more than half of his choice.

PROUD OF OUR BOB OF COURSE WE ARE

"Old Timer" Answers the Press on This Subject.

Editor THE RECORD: We notice in last week's issue of the Press, Oct. 5, a boast of how proud the Democrats were of their candidate for state senator and in said article they asked the question if their Republican friends could truthfully say the same of their candidate for state senator.

Now, Mr. Editor, as I am the oldest Republican in the county, I feel it my imperative duty to answer this challenge and feel that I voice the sentiment of all Republicans of this senatorial district, when I say yes we are very proud of Bob, Gov. Hindman, Bill Owens and many other honorable Kentuckians who have become so disgusted with the disgraceful, damnable and inhuman acts of the, so called, Democratic party that they come out from among them and say to the world "we believe in a government of the people, by the people and for the people, and not a government of the Goebelites, by the Goebelites and for the Goebelites." Those men believe as all Republicans do and as our forefathers did, that all men are created free and equal and imbued with inalienable rights which is life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. We are proud of them because they denounced your music hall convention, because they denounced your election steal, because they denounced your appropriation of $100,000 to purchase evidence against the innocent and shield the guilty in the execution that consoling vow made at John Sanford's grave.

We are proud indeed of Dr. Bob because he denounces, in the terms of a gentleman, the Cantrill method of selecting juries now being put into practice in Kentucky.

Yes, we are proud to say the people of Caldwell and Crittenden have never had to pay Dr. Bob's railroad tax nor bear any of his burdens. He stands on a level with the common people and acts in concert with the common people. Yes Gentlemen, we stand with outstretched arms to welcome all such as Dr. Bob to our ranks and we are justly proud of him.

OLD TIMER.

An Appeal

TO THE VOTERS OF CRITTENDEN COUNTY:

As chairman of the Republican Campaign Committee I appeal to the voters of Crittenden county to vote the straight Republican ticket at the coming November election for county officers, for state senator and representative. Our candidates are all personally known to me and are clean men of good, moral character and fully competent to fill the offices to which they aspire. It is necessary, more than ever before, for the Republicans of this county to register their protest at the polls against partisan juries and the unfair and unlawful practices of the Democratic party in this county.

CITY ORDINANCE.

The City Council of the City of Marion, Ky., do ordain as follows:

That a proposition to incur indebtedness and issue bonds, therefor, by said city of Marion, Ky., to the amount of twenty-seven thousand ($27,000) dollars for the purpose of building and erecting a water works plant in said city, be submitted to the qualified voters of said city; that an election be held at the usual voting places in said city, on the 7th day of November, 1905, to vote on said proposition; that notice of such election be given as required by section 9637, sub-section 3, Kentucky Statutes, and that tickets, or ballots, be prepared and printed, to be used at such election, which shall be in the following form:

For incurring debt Yes ☐
For incurring debt No ☐
The former of which shall be taken as a vote, assenting to the creation of such debt, and the latter as dissenting therefrom.

Said ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and approval and publication.

Passed and approved October 10, 1905.
LEVI COOK,
Mayor pro tem.
J. C. BOURLAND, City Clerk.

CITY ORDINANCE.

The City Council of the City of Marion, Ky., do ordain as follows:

If any person, licensed to keep a billiard table, pigeon-hole table or pool table, shall knowingly allow or permit any betting on the game played on such table, he shall be fined not less than twenty-five nor more than one hundred dollars for each offense, and shall forfeit his license; and any person who shall bet on any such game shall be fined not less than twenty nor more than one hundred dollars.

No spirituous, vinous or malt liquors shall be sold or drunk in any room where a licensed billiard table, pigeon-hole table or pool table is kept, whether same be cut off by partitions or not, or in any room opening into such room; nor shall any game be played on any such table on Sunday; and any person licensed to keep any such table, who shall sell or permit to be sold or drunk, any spirituous, vinous or malt liquors in the room where such tables are kept, or shall permit any game to be played thereon on Sunday, shall be fined twenty-five dollars for each offense and shall forfeit his license.

Passed and approved October 10, 1905.

Nothing to Fear.

The question of injurious substances in medicines, which has been agitating the minds of many people, does not concern those who use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mothers need have no hesitancy in continuing to give it to their little ones, as it contains absolutely nothing injurious. This remedy is not only perfectly safe to give to small children, but is a medicine of great worth and merit. It has a world-wide reputation for its cures of coughs, colds and croup, and can always be relied upon. For sale by Haynes & Taylor, the enterprising druggists, of Marion.

Cheap Rates for the Occasion on the Illinois Central Railroad!

On March 28th the entire business portion of Marion was practically destroyed by fire. Since that date, little over six months have elapsed, but the citizens of our stricken city by their enterprise and hard labor, assisted by the good will and best efforts of the entire county have builded a new and better Marion.

In honor of the occasion we hereby cordially invite the people of this and the surrounding counties to participate with us in celebrating Greater Marion on October 25, 1905.

DARK BROWN TASTE

Nothing makes you feel as miserable as a bilious, nauseating dark brown taste. Yours may be the most innocent dark brown taste in the world, or it may be the result of bending your arm—chop suey—or those things. No matter how you got it, you can only get rid of it by cleaning out your stomach and bowels. Waste no time but begin at once to take

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

It will make you feel new all over, clear your brain, relieve all discomfort, restore your appetite. No other medicine like it in effect or result.

Prof. A. Brackett, of Des Moines, Ia., writes: "It gives me pleasure to attest to the curative powers of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is an aid to digestion and cures constipation, and is a valuable remedy to have in any house. After being out late, I often take a dose before retiring, and wake up the next morning with a clear brain, ready for the business of the day."

LESSON III, FOURTH QUARTER, INTER-
NATIONAL SERIES, OCT. 15.

Text of the Lesson, Ex. 1, 1-11—Memory Verses, 5, 6—Golden Text, Ps. cxvii, 3—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1935, by American Press Association.]

The kingdoms of this world had passed from the head of gold, Babylon, to the breast and arms of silver, the Medes and Persians (Dan. ii, 32, 37-39). The lion had given place to the bear (Dan. vii, 4, 5), which bear, although so described in reference to other nations, is spoken of as a ram, a harmless domestic animal, in reference to Israel because of the kindness of Cyrus and Darius to Daniel's people (Dan. vii, 20). The seventy years of Judah's captivity were ended, and the time had come for her restoration, according to Jer. xlii, 10. Not only had the restoration been foretold, but the very king who should accomplish it had been mentioned by name some 200 years before (Isa. xlv, 28; xlv, 1).

Josiah, one of the good kings of Judah, was mentioned by name about 300 years before he was born (1 Kings xiii, 2; 2 Kings xxiii, 15-17). Besides these five others are named in Scripture before their birth. Let the scholars tell their names. Every thought and purpose of God will surely be fulfilled; His counsel will stand, and He will do all His pleasure (Isa. xlv, 24; xlv, 10; Ps. cxliii, 11). When His time has come He stirs the hearts of whom He pleases to accomplish His purpose. He may have used Daniel, His servant at the court of Cyrus, to enlighten Cyrus concerning His purpose, but He alone could make Cyrus willing. Throughout the whole Bible it is most fascinating and inspiring and leads to heartfelt adoration of Jehovah to watch Him working, whether as Creator or Redeemer, Israel's Messiah, the Great Head of the church or the King of kings and Lord of lords. Notice in the first two verses of our lesson such statements as "the word of the Lord," "the Lord stirred up," "the Lord hath given me" and "He hath charged me," then see the hearty obedience of Cyrus to the word of the Lord.

The central topic of the book of Ezra is the rebuilding of the house of the Lord at Jerusalem, as will be seen more fully in our next lesson, and this house is mentioned at least fifty times in the book. We cannot think of Israel as a nation apart from the temple or tabernacle, for no sooner had God brought them out of Egypt than He gave commands to Moses to have them build Him a sanctuary that He might dwell among them (Ex. xxv, 8). While Israel is for the present blinded, the fullness of the gentiles is being gathered, and another house is being built, a living temple made of living stones, with which we have to do (Rom. xi, 25, 26; Eph. ii, 19-22; 1 Pet. ii, 5).

To gather the material for this building, the church, the gospel must be preached everywhere, and, as in the days of Cyrus, so now the word is. Let him go who is willing, and God will be with him, and whosoever remaineth let him help with gold and silver and goods those who go forth (verses 3, 4). Whether we abide at home or go to the ends of the earth, unless we are living to complete the church, the body of Christ, we are not of much use. If we can neither go nor give we can by earnest, believing prayer work through those who have gone and bring blessing from heaven to any part of the earth.

In verses 5 and 6 we see the willing ones whom God made willing going forth and the others helping with willing offerings, for God was working (Phil. ii, 13). If there be first a willing mind it is accepted according to that man hath and not according to that he hath not, and God only expects us to do as of the ability which He giveth (11 Cor. viii, 12; 1 Pet. iv, 11). If we are only yielded to God He will not leave us untalented, but we must be sure to use the one talent if only one we have.

Although the Lord gave the vessels of his house at Jerusalem as well as His people into the hands of other nations for a time (Dan. i, 1, 2; Jer. xii, 7), He never ceased to care for them, and the man who dared to ill treat them was slain that same night (Dan. v, 2, 30). He cares for each one of His redeemed, even though they may be in man's estimation vessels of a second sort or even lowlier, and whoever touches one of them touches Himself. See verse 10 and Zech. ii, 8; Acts ix, 4. A gentle handling over these treasures to a Jew makes us think of the queen of Sheba bringing presents to King Solomon and the wise men of the east bringing gifts to the Child Jesus as the King of the Jews and points onward to the time when the wealth of the gentiles shall come to Israel and the nation and kingdom that will not serve Israel shall perish (Isa. ix, 5-12; Ps. lxxii, 10, 11).

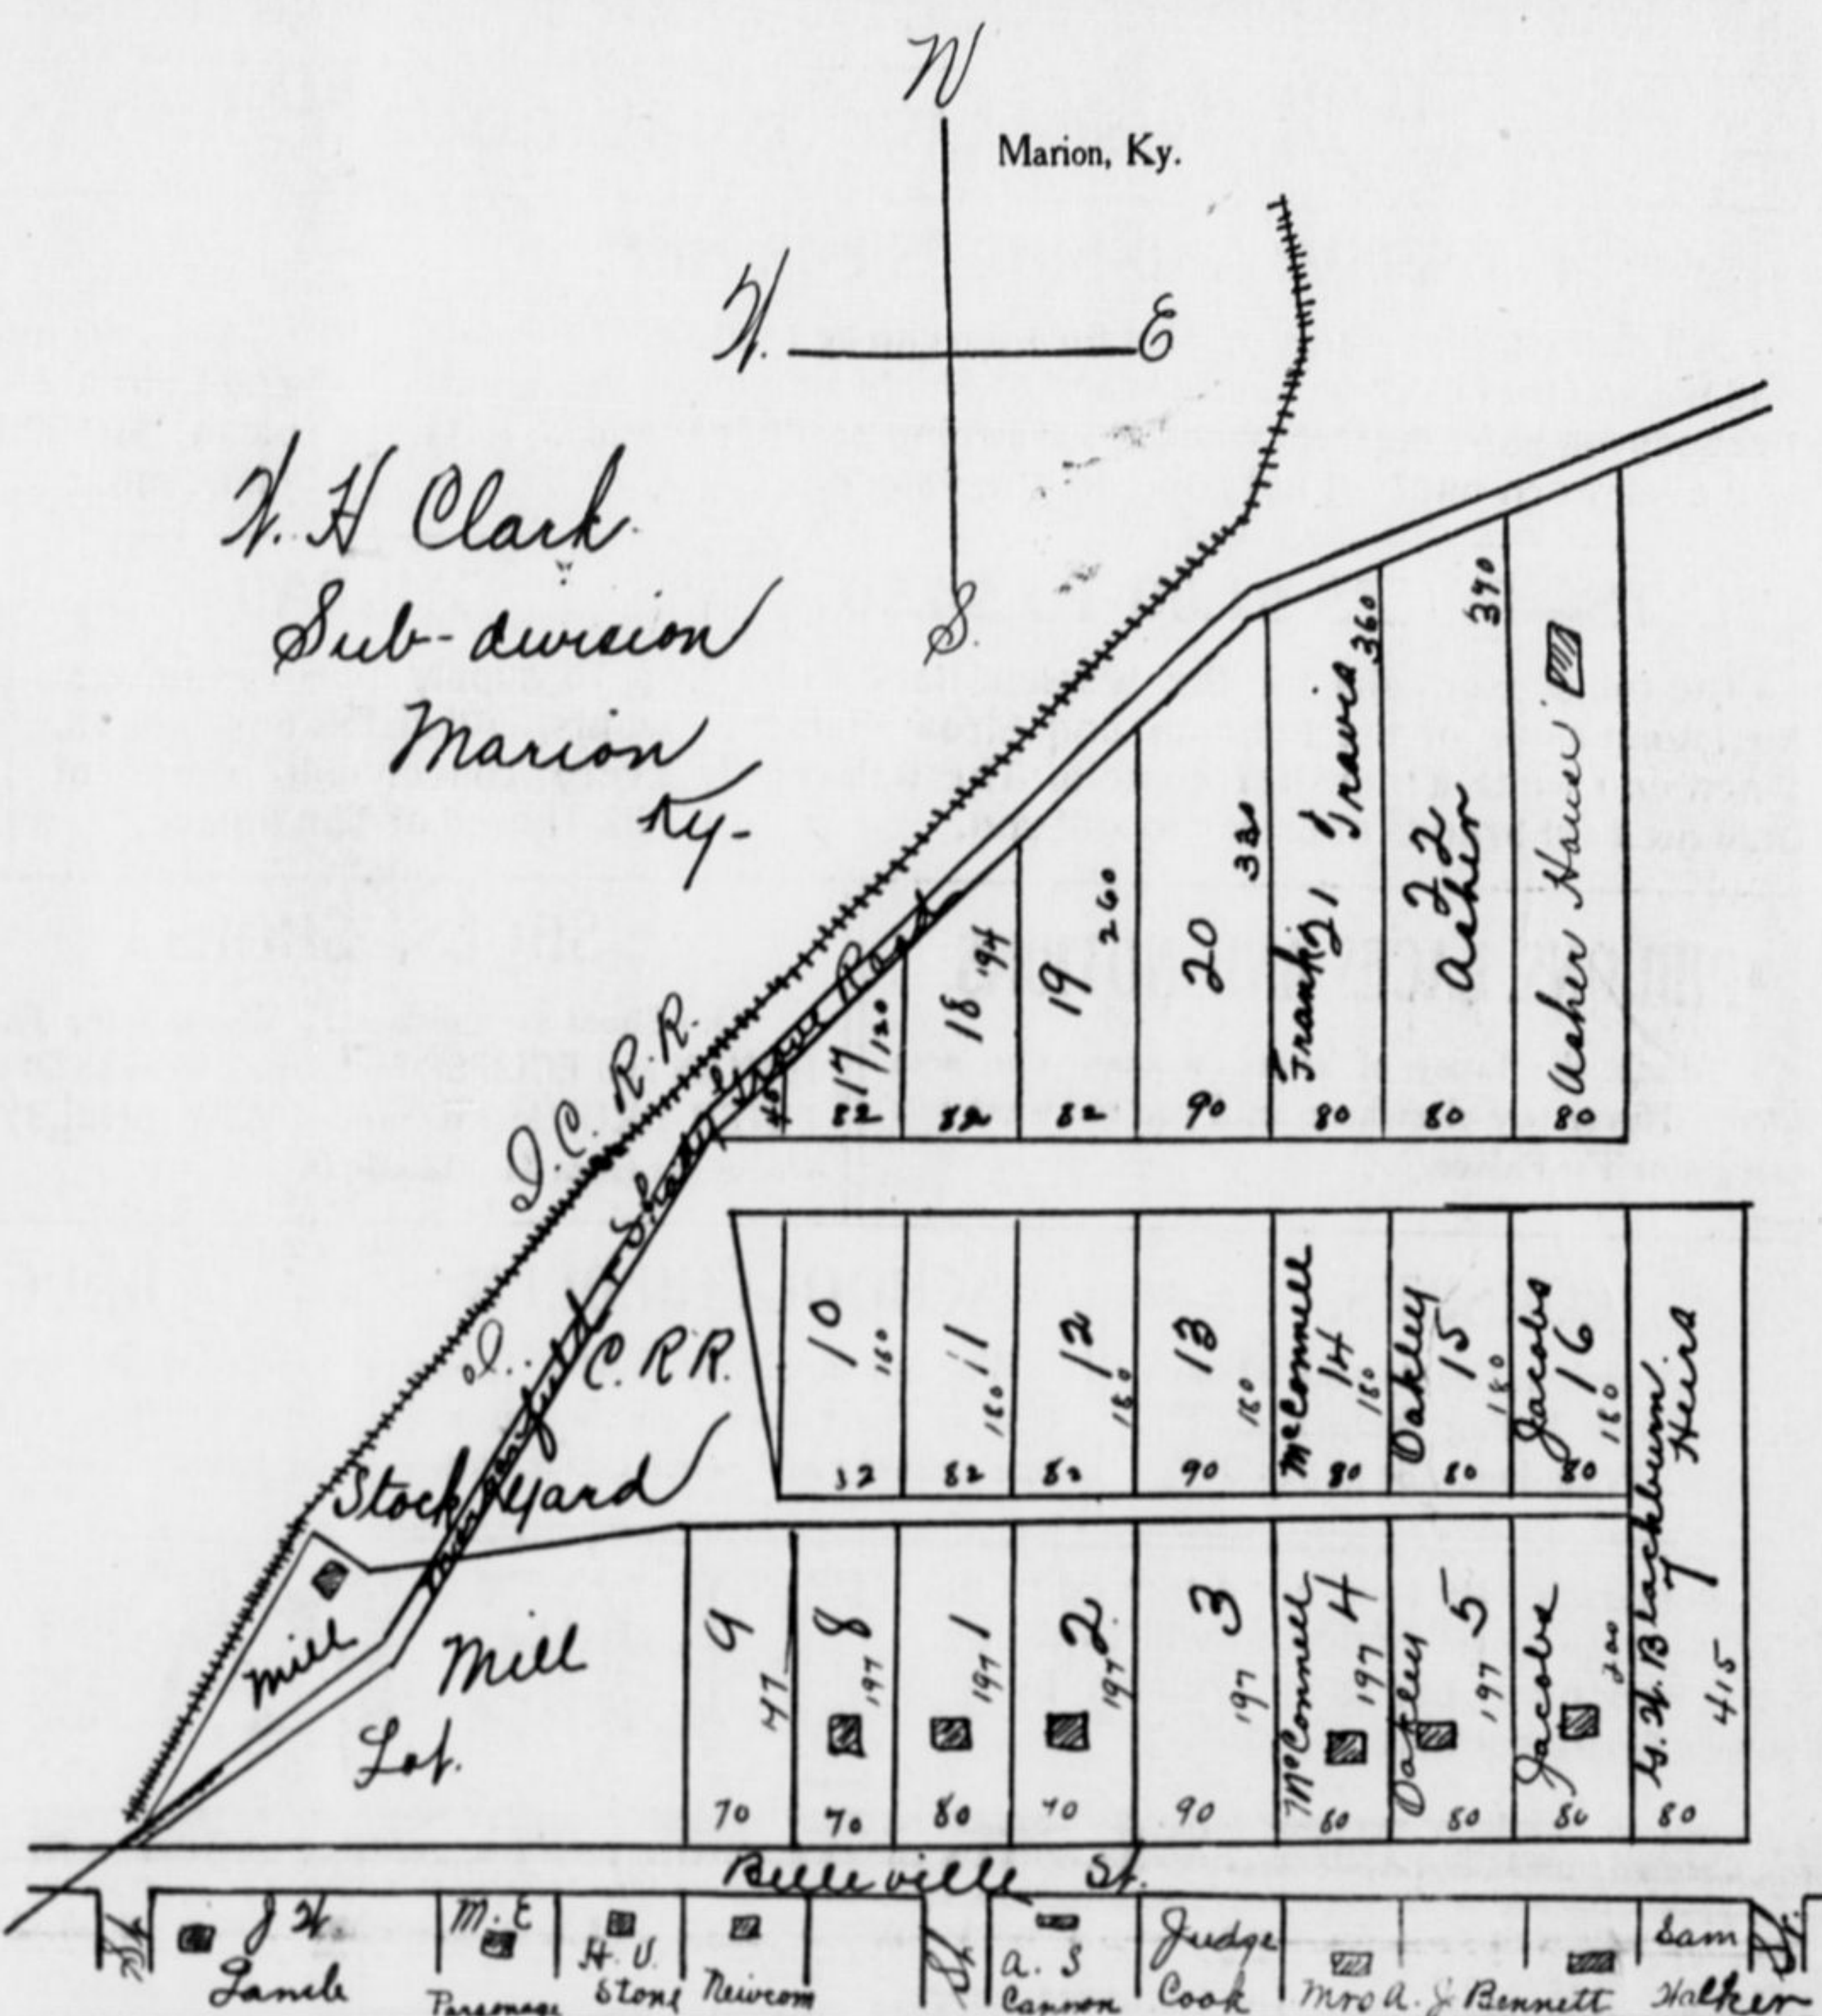

We are not surprised to read of gold and silver basins and chargers and other vessels, but what about the nine and twenty knives? Well, they were all the Lord's property and belonged to His house, and He had need of them. We do not enjoy the "cutting things" as much as those which bring us what we call "something good," but He knoweth best, and we ought to believe Rom. viii, 28, with its "all things." Let us be content to be anything He wants us, even one of the unnamed "other vessels," and rejoice to be His property under any circumstances. The lesson closes with the words "from Babylon unto Jerusalem," which is a great deal better than the other way, as Babylon stands for religiousness without God and reaches from Cain to the end of this age. Let us give heed to Rev. xviii, 4; 11 Cor. vi, 14-16.

City Lots and Residences.

Have you seen the desirable building lots in Clark's Addition to the city of Marion, Ky., and the residences therein that are now being offered for sale by W. H. Clark?

If you have not it will certainly be to your interest to do so before purchasing real estate elsewhere.

These lots and residences are in East Marion and within the corporate limits of the city of Marion. They are of easy access, well located and command a splendid view of the city. They front on the principal streets and are in the coming residence portion of the city. Just the place for a residence.

No part of Marion has grown so rapidly or so well as East Marion and you could certainly do no better than invest your money in the lots and residences shown in the above plat. These lots are especially adapted to building purposes and are the most desirable part of Marion. They will be sold at a reasonable price, and terms of sale will be arranged to suit purchaser.

If you desire to purchase a residence or lot in Clark's addition to the city of Marion, you will call on or write to Wounds, Bruises and Burns.

By applying an antiseptic dressing to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries, before inflammation sets in, they may be healed without maturation and in about one-third of the time required by the old treatment. This is the greatest discovery and triumph of modern surgery. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is an antiseptic, and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness, and prevents any danger of blood poisoning. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering such injuries entail. For sale by Haynes & Taylor, the enterprising druggists, of Marion.
