NUMBER 20

FEDERAL APPOINTMENTS

President Roosevelt Makes Some Changes.

LONG SUCCEEDS A. D. JAMES

Some Surprises For Politicians in the Blue Grass Regions of Kentucky.

COL. FRANKS RETAINS HIS OFFICE.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Recently President Roosevelt took up with Internal Revenue Commissioner John W. Yerkes, Republican State Chairman Ernst and Congressman Edwards and Bennett, of Kentucky, some Federal appointments in that state. Today, as a result of his consideration, he announced the following appointments for Kentucky to be effective at the expiration of the terms of the present incumbents:

Wm. G. Dearing, of Flemingsburg, to be the Surveyor of the Ports of Louisville, vice C. M. Barnett.

Geo. W. Long, of Leitchfield, to be United States Marshal for the Western district of Kentucky, vice Addison D. James.

Capt. Steven G. Sharp, to be United States Marshal for the Eastern district; Reuben D. Hill, to be United States Attorney for the Western district.

Jas. S. Tinsley, to be United States Attorney for the Eastern district.

It is announced that Geo. W. Lieberth, Collector of Internal Revenue at Covington; Edward T. Franks, Collector of Internal Revenue at Owensboro; Samuel J. Roberts, Collector of Internal Revenue at Lexington, and J. A. Kraft, Collector of Internal Revenue at Louisville, will be continued in office.

The Louisville postoffice matter will be taken up soon and disposed of. So far the referees have not definitely considered that matter.

The President's announcements today contains some surprises for the Kentucky politicians. George W. Long, for instance, was a candidate for Surveyor of the Port at Louisville, and his appointment to another Federal place will create some astonishment.

In New Quarters.

H. F. Foster, who was one of the Bank street barbers and suffered in the fire of March 28, and who has since run his shop in temporary quarters on Salem street, has moved into his new shop in the Jenkins building on Bank street. Mr. Foster runs two chairs and has added to his new shop a bath tub and appliances for hot and cold baths.

His wall fixtures are very pretty and most modern patterns, besides, he has an elegant mug case with fountain attached, a shining chair, and his lobby chairs are very comfortable and are similar to the late office pattern.

Deeds Recorded.

T. D. Jones and wife to Max Rushing, 13 acres near Grayneville, $300.

J. W. Blue, Jr., and wife to J. N. Boston, 1 lot in Walker's addition to Marion, $23.21 cash and $56.80 to be paid J. F. Arlback.

J. R. Summerville and wife to E. L. Nunn and E. M. Duvall, 11 acres near Mattoon, $161.

J. B. Kevil and wife and R. W. Wilson and wife to Mrs. Ellen Weldon, 1 lot in new Marion cemetery.

M. G. Mitchell and wife to Lem Z. Watson, 4 interest in 141 acres of land, $100.

Harry and Ernest Buchanan to Sam Raley and Wm. Quirey, 50 acres on Tradewater river, $350.

Mary Drury to S. M. Jenkins, two tracts of town property and $125 and the further consideration that said Jenkins assumes payment of note of $700.37.

Three tracts of land near Tradewater river containing 200, 204 and 31 acres.

A. B. Phipps, etc., to M. C. Clark 1 house and lot on Salem road near Marion containing 14 acres, $600.

W. C. O'Bryan to C. E. Weldon, 1 lot in O'Bryan's addition to Marion, consideration, $80.

Q. M. CONGER PROPRIETOR HOTEL CRITTENDEN

On Bank Street—The New Hrstelry To Be Opened to the Public on December 1.

Mrs. Ebell and daughter, who it was first reported had leased the new hotel, across the street from the CRITTENDEN RECORD office, decided to remain at Caseyville and asked to be released from her contract.

Messrs. Yandell & Orme have now let the contract to Q. M. Conyer, formerly of this city and well known here. He has been engaged in the hotel business at Kelsey for several years past, of which he has made a signal success.

He comes well recommended by all the traveling men, and will run a more modern hotel here than he did at Kelsey. He has been conducting a first-class $2.00 a day house at that place and his rates here will be the same.

The furniture has arrived and is being installed in the new hotel, which will be run under the name of Hotel Crittenden. Mr. Conyer will arrive next week and open up December 1.

Five Applicants for Carrier.

An examination was conducted here Saturday by Postmaster Geo. M. Crider, acting for the civil service commission, to determine the qualifications of applicants who desire to act as carriers for rural free delivery mail route No. 1. The following persons took the examination:

Frank Crider, J. M. Freeman, Noble Hill, Hosea Paris and R. F. Wheeler. The examination papers were forwarded to Washington where they will be graded. The persons receiving the highest grade will receive the appointment but must fill $500 bond. The work on the route will begin on the 15th of December.

NEW STEAM LAUNDRY

Modern and Up-to-Date in Every Particular

NO LONGER AN UNCERTAINTY

Under the Management of Jno. W. Wilson—Machinery Arriving and is Being Installed.

WILL RECEIVE PATRONAGE OF MARION

The long looked for and much needed laundry, plans for which have been so long agitated, is at last a certainty.

A modern and up to date steam laundry will be opened here very soon under the management of Jno. W. Wilson, of this city. The old Bingham mill lot on the west side of S. Main street, has been purchased, including building, boiler, engine, etc. All the necessary machinery for a laundry has been ordered and is now arriving and being installed.

Beyond a doubt this laundry will receive the entire patronage of Marion and surrounding towns from the start, as for several years Marion has been the central point through which the laundry of surrounding towns of both Crittenden and Livingston counties has been collected by local agents at this place and sent away to other agencies. The local agents here will not run in opposition to home industry, and will, of course, resign their agencies with distant laundries, leaving a clear field for the plant. Mr. Wilson is one of the best known and most popular citizens of this city and the people can rest assured that anything undertaken by him will be conducted in a thorough business like and up to date style.

A steam laundry has long been almost a necessity in this place and it is hoped that through the patronage and hearty support of the public, its success will date from its beginning.

Stock Barn Burned.

It is reported that Sam Hughes, of Sullivan, lost a large stock barn Monday night, which was entirely consumed by fire. He lost 1,500 bushels of corn, hay and oats, 13 head of horses and mules, two buggies, one hearse, two milk wagons and five or six fat hogs. The origin of this fire is unknown. The entire loss is estimated at about $4,000, with $1,300 insurance.

Strange Place for Milk.

One of the children sent to Woodstock last week by the fresh air society witnessed the milking of a cow for the first time.

He had followed the farmer to the barn yard, and as the milk fell into the pail the child asked:

"Is that the milk we drink?"

The farmer said it was, and then the youngster remarked:

"At home we keep the milk in a refrigerator. Do you keep yours in that thing?" pointing to the cow.

King-Conyer.

Yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock Rev. M. E. Miller, of the Baptist church said the words that made Mr. Clifton King, of Memphis, and Miss Lena Conyer, of Kelsey, man and wife. The marriage was solemnized in the parlor of the Kelsey Hotel in the presence of a large number of friends of the contracting parties.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. Q. M. Conyer, the genial proprietor of the Kelsey hotel and is a charming and attractive young lady, while the groom is a leading contractor of Memphis, also a model young man. After their marriage the young couple and invited guests were given an elegant reception at the Kelsey Hotel.—Princeton Leader.

We wish to say to our many friends that this clearing sale don't mean that we are going to retire from business, but we want the room for spring. DENMAN & LOVE.

PRESIDING ELDER VIRGIL ELGIN

Announces the Time and Places of the Quarterly Meetings, Also the Institute Program.

Presiding Elder, Virgil Elgin, has announced that he will hold quarterly meetings, in the Princeton district, at following times and places: Caseyville, Nov. 25-26; Hills Chapel, Nov. 30; Salem, Dec. 9-10; Marion, Dec. 10-11.

He has also given out the following program of a Missionary Institute for this district to be held at Kuttawa Tuesday, Dec. 5th:

TUESDAY, DEC. 5.

7:00 p. m.—Sermon. W. C. Hayes.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 6.

9:30 a. m.—Devotional. Conducted by V. P. Thomas.

10:00—Revival and Missions, by R. C. Love, G. W. Sugart and H. C. Cobb.

10:45—Money and Missions, C. S. Nunn and S. E. Ragland.

11:20—What is being done in our mission fields—E. D. Boggess, G. W. Hummel.

2:00 p. m.—Devotional. Conducted by Smith Givens.

2:15—Missions of our district—J. O. Smithson, J. S. Mitchell.

2:45—Are the people of Our District interested in the cause of Missions? F. A. Mitchell, J. W. Crowe.

3:30—Assessments in full; how to secure them—A. L. Moll, Alexander Royster. General discussion.

7:00—Sermon—J. R. McAfee.

Cash-Castleberry.

Wednesday evening, at 8:30 o'clock, at the home of the bride, Mr. Frank Cash and Miss Bessie Castleberry were happily united in marriage, by Rev. M. E. Chappel, pastor of the C. P. Church.

It was a quiet home wedding, only members of the family and a few intimate friends being present. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left for Hopkinsville, returning to Princeton yesterday evening and are now "at home" to their friends.

The bride is the second daughter of Mrs. Fannie Castleberry and is one of Princeton's prettiest and most popular young ladies and greatly admired by all of her acquaintances for her sweet and amiable disposition.—Princeton Leader.

Odd Fellows Lodge Organized.

Crittenden Lodge No. 198, Independent Order of Odd Fellows was duly and constitutionally instituted in Marion last Thursday night. The following grand officers came down from Morganfield and put on the degree work: A. W. Clements, Grand Master; Kit Barnaby, Deputy Grand Master; R. M. Sigler, Grand Warden; Collins Waller, Grand Secretary; Boyd Harris, Grand Treasurer; Geo. Zeller, Grand Marshal; C. M. Bixby, Grand Inner Guard. A number of visitors were also present from neighboring lodges. At midnight the lodge repaired to Copher's restaurant where a delicious repast was highly enjoyed. Copher knows how to do these things in the highest style of the art, and in this respect he is with out a rival. After the supper they returned to the hall and elected and installed the officers for the ensuing term. Good talks were made by Grand Master A. W. Clements and others. At 5:40 the lodge adjourned the grand officers returning to Morganfield on the early train.

In Time of Peace.

In the first months of the Russia-Japan war we had a striking example of the necessity for preparation and the early advantage of those who, so to speak, "have shingled their roofs in dry weather." The virtue of preparation has made history and given to us our greatest men. The individual as well as the nation should be prepared for any emergency. Are you prepared to successfully combat the first cold you take? A cold can be cured much more quickly when treated as soon as it has been contracted and before it has become settled in the system. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures of colds and it should be kept at hand ready for instant use. For sale by Haynes & Taylor, the enterprising druggists of Marion.

CIRCUIT COURT CONVENES

Fall Term Promises a Dull Session.

DOCKET LIGHTER THAN USUAL

The Grand and Petit Juries Are Formed and But Very Few Cases Disposed of.

JUDGE CHARGES THE GRAND JURY.

The fall term of the Crittenden Circuit Court convened Monday with Judge J. F. Gordon on the bench. The court delivered his charge to the grand jury in a forcible manner, making plain to them the duty before them, and calling their attention to all the misdemeanors which should come under their surveillance.

The grand jury is composed of the following: T. E. Griffith, Foreman; M. H. Weldon, I. D. Nunn, R. H. Kemp, C. S. Jackson, Will Mott, John Ford, Thos. Walker, H. H. Sayre, James Carter, Joel Stevenson, Jeff McChesney.

The petit jury is as follows:

Ira B. Clark, Henry Threlkeld, G. W. Howerton, Jas. A. Hill, Ed. Dean, Charles Truitt, John H. Parrish, John R. Jackson, Powell Heath, Wm. Taylor, Alex. Woody, E. R. Williams, Lacy Miller, Linford Love, W. J. Little, G. C. Gray, R. M. Franks, Frank Woodsides, Arthur R. Nunn.

So far several cases have been called but up to Thursday at noon there had been no jury trials. The docket for this term of court will not appear in the columns of THE RECORD as formerly, it being printed elsewhere. Most of the cases called have been continued but we will give an account of the proceedings in full next week.

Gordon's New Jury Commission.

Circuit Judge J. F. Gordon Thursday morning appointed the following persons to act as the next jury commission in this county:

Wm. Barnett, of Tolu, Aaron Towery and Fred Casner, of Piney.

These men will fill the jury wheels for the future courts and upon their action depends the political color of the juries.

City Ordinance.

The city council of the city of Marion, Ky., do ordain as follows:

That a side walk be built on the west side of College street fronting and abutting the property of Mrs. E. M. Frisbie. Said walk to begin at the northwest corner of Belleville and College streets and extend as far north as said property extends.

Said walk is to be built five feet wide, curbing to be of stone, top and edge of curbing to be dressed, pavement to be of brick, same to be hard and otherwise suitable to such purposes, and said pavement to be laid on a bed of cinders not less than twelve inches deep. The stone curbing for said walk is to be not less than eighteen inches long and not less than fifteen inches wide, and not less than three inches thick, the whole to be done in a good and workmanlike manner. Said walk is to be completed within thirty days after the passage and publication of this ordinance, and if said walk is not completed within said period of thirty days, the city marshal will advertise for ten days for sealed bids to complete said walk as required by this ordinance and let the contract to have said walk built to the lowest bidder and the expense of putting down said walk, if done under contract with the marshal as herein provided shall become a lien upon said property as provided by the charter of said city in such case made and provided.

Passed and approved this November 14, 1905.

J. W. BLUE, JR., Mayor.

J. C. BOURLAND, City Clerk.

New Store.

L. M. Moore, formerly of White Plains, has removed to Marion and opened on Bank street a modern confectionery stand. He will be assisted by his wife. He comes well recommended and we bid him welcome.

NEW WINTER RESORT SEASON 1905-1906

Southern Portion of United States—Beautiful Sapphire Country.

To the man whose imaginations is fed with facts and fortified with observation, the southern portion of the United States will always seem the favorite child of omnipotence and its handmaiden—Nature. Practically every resource that ministers to the wealth and greatness of a people has been lavishly placed within its borders.

Through the Creator of this full-bodied magnificence dwell neither here nor there—but every where—we like, in all reverence, to call these Southern states indeed "God's country." One who knows the south realizes how, after material gifts have been so generously bestowed, the designing power completed its work by dotting it liberally with those imperative auxiliaries of modern civilization—resorts, summer and winter. In the case of the South these resorts have proven not only protectors of our people's health; they are adding now and they will add substantially in the future to our actual wealth.

The Florida resorts have no detailed eulogy at this date. They have won already thousands of wealthy Northerners and Southerners from the lure of the European spa or the call of the Riviera. A more wonderful conquest, and one which should interest the entire South, is that of the radiant Sapphire country, that Eden of the north Carolina mountains, with which the word "Toxaway" has become inseparably identified. Its beauties and its health-compelling qualities have been open to civilization for only a few years relatively; yet "Toxaway" means to a host of Southern and Northern people today recreation and recuperation under conditions as ideal as can be arranged by the copartnership of man and Nature.

The six hotels under the management of the Toxaway Hotel Company, with Mr. J. C. Burrows at its head, have been instrumental in this rapid achievement. The Sapphire country itself has done the rest. The hostilities have been artfully located, getting the wide benefits which come from altitudes ranging from 2,250 to 4,780 feet. The far-reaching estate of Toxaway comprises 31,000 acres, in which are more than seventy-five miles of brook and river fishing, yielding the gamest of game trout. In the rugged recesses of the estate there are deer, wild turkey and ruffed grouse, with bears here and there and occasionally quail. The three lakes, like shimmering sapphires, splashed down in the heart of the mountains, with the winding forest roads, create indelible impressions of the place.

With the opening of the winter season Toxaway Inn—the greatest of all the Toxaway resorts—announces itself ready for business for the approaching season after completing the most successful summer season known in the history of summer resorts.

From this time on this institution becomes not only a summer but a winter resort, appealing to the South in the summer and to the North in winter. It is on the direct line of travel from eastern and western points to Florida, and Manager Burrows has made every arrangement to catch the business as it goes to and comes from Florida.

And it is safe to say that those who stop to take in the beauties of the Toxaway country will be amply compensated, for in the matter of scenic attractions there is nothing like it this side of the Rocky Mountains.—Constitution, Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 12, 1905. 18-3t

Hoofs of Colts And Mares

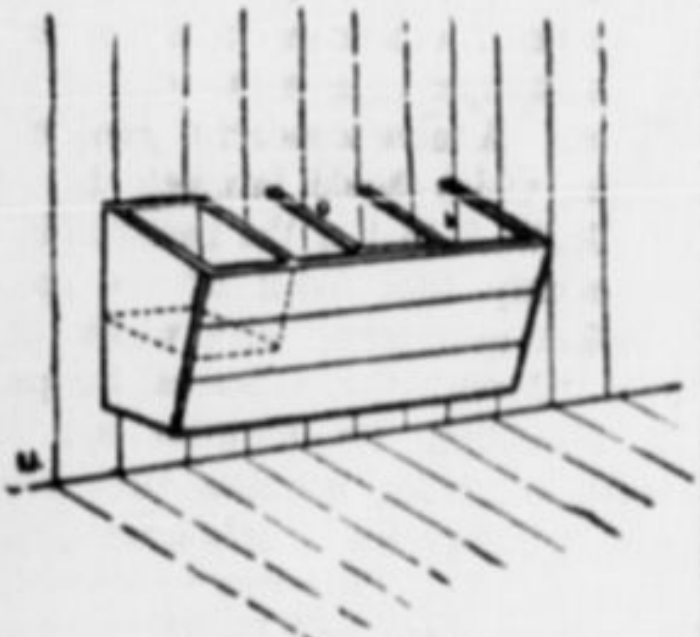

Breeders who intend to exhibit colts and brood mares at the shows this fall should be remembering that it takes a long time to grow out a badly chipped and broken hoof, says Breeder's Gazette. We are just now in the period of the year when the pestilential flies devour the stock that runs in the fields, and especially in a season of plentiful rainfall it does not take long to smash the hoofs up in bad shape. Then it is not possible to get them in shape again before it is time to load for the journey to the fairs.

It is extraordinary that so many breeders seem to fail to understand what a great handicap a stub toed colt labors under in the show ring. Annually we see him with little or no hoofs at all. It costs only a little to keep colts shod for these few weeks now, and it will pay many times over. Then there is the additional matter that if a colt is worth showing at all he is worth showing to the very best advantage, and that means that he must have special care.

It would hardly do to run a big bunch of shod colts and brood mares in the field together, for they might injure one another, but colts are hardly ever got right ready for the shows run in bands on the grass. In the hot weather they should be stabled in the daytime and let out at night either singly or in pairs. The foot is the first thing the judge looks at in the show ring when it comes to judging horses, and surely for that reason, if not for personal profit and pride, breeders should see to it that their animals do not go stub toed into the arena.

Hay Saving Manger.

A great many horses acquire the wasteful habit of throwing out hay or other fodder on the stable floor, says an Arkansas farmer in Farm Progress. This is done in order to secure the loose leaves and other choice portions which settle or accumulate in the bottom of the manger. The habit is a bad one and a large part of the coarse fodder is made unfit for use by being trampled under foot. Much of it gets out of reach and is entirely lost, especially if the animals are tied short, as they usually are, when placed in a stall.

MANGER IN PLACE.

This waste can be prevented by use of the simple arrangement shown in the accompanying illustration. The two strips, c, are made from 1x3 hard wood and are hinged to the back of the manger. These two strips are connected at the outer end by a strip of hard wood, b. This arrangement is raised when the hay is being put in the manger, is then lowered and fastened down by means of a tongue or hook and remains there until the next feeding time. With it there is no danger of any hay being wasted.

The Hog For the Farmer.

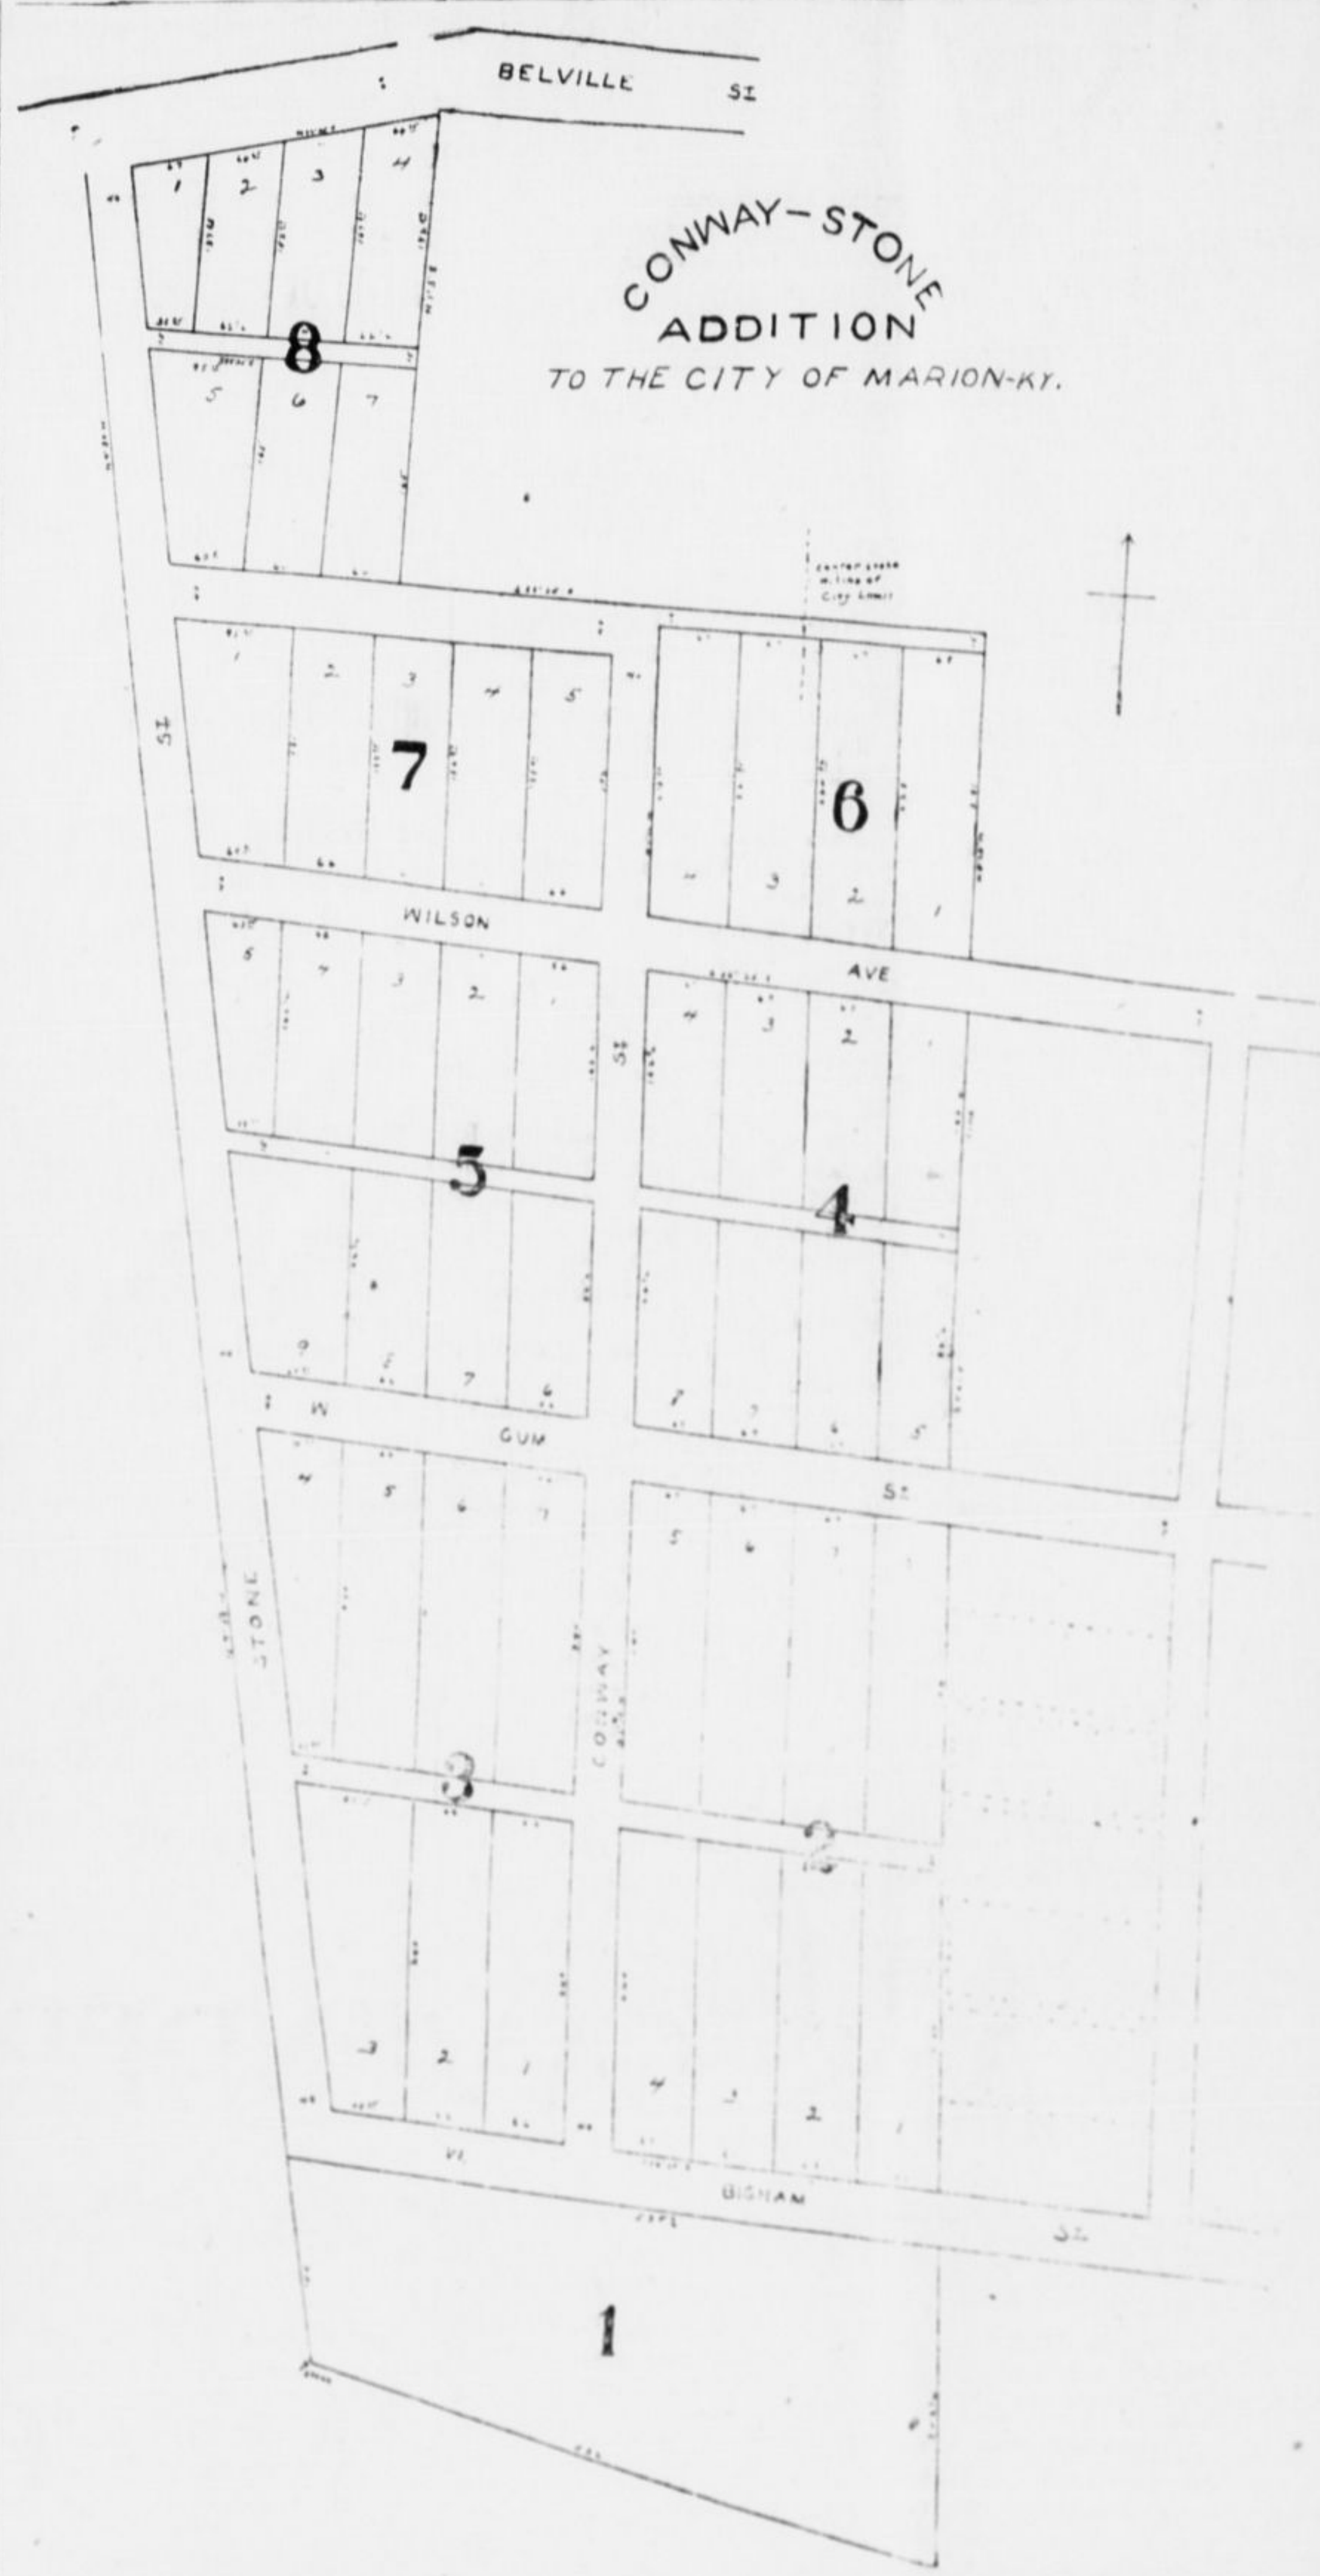

The farmer, as a rule, does not care whether his hog wears red, white or black hair or whether his ears stick up or hang down. What he wants is a hog with a constitution, and any system of breeding that endevors the constitution is the kind of breeding he does not want in his herd. He wants his hog to be as immune from disease as possible, and to obtain this he must have the constitution-pigs that will fight for the best test before they are three hours old and that will even steal if given half a chance. The farmer's hog must be a hustler, a greedy fellow, healthy, vigorous and growthy and as good a looker as is possible to obtain without losing any of the before named important qualities.

Agricultural experiment stations have proved beyond any doubt that no man can afford to raise scrub hogs. Do not understand me to infer that you cannot make money handling scrub stock. What I do mean is that if you are making money handling such you can with the same amount of care and labor make much more by handling pure breeds or even high grades.—W. W. Jones Before Kansas Institute.

A Word For the Mule.

From repeated experiments that have come under my observation in the past twenty-five years I have found that three mules fifteen hands high that were constantly worked consumed about as much forage as two ordinary sized horses worked in the same way, and while the mules were fat the horses were only in good working order, writes J. F. Cook in Farm and Ranch. Although a mule will live and work on a very low fare, he also responds as quickly as any animal to good feed and kind treatment. True, it is charged that the mule is vicious, stubborn and slow, but an experience in handling mules on the farm has failed to sustain the charge save in few instances, and in these propensities were brought about by bad handling. They are truer pullers than the horse and move more quickly under the load. Their hearing and vision are better than the horse.

Contract for Construction of Ore Mill.

W. E. McGraw, of this city, has been awarded a contract for the construction of a large flour spar and zinc ore mill for Sanders Brothers, of New York, who have established a large plant at Marion, Ky. The building will be a large frame structure and will be completed as soon as the weather will permit.

Mr. McGraw has completed several contracts for large buildings at Marion in a most creditable manner, he having been engaged there for several months. He and other local contractors have practically rebuilt the burned district of that little city.—Henderson Journal.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR YOU!

To get your choice of the latest and most attractive
Millinery Goods at Cost, and even below the cost mark!

The Misses Harrig, who have been engaged in the millinery business here for the last few seasons, have returned to Madisonville, and I have purchased their entire stock, consisting of the latest styles in pattern, trimmed and ready-to-wear hats from the New York, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Nashville markets, besides beautiful little baby caps, laces, ribbons and other millinery notions.

Something About This Sale.

This wonderful closing out sale begins at once and will last until the entire stock is closed out. Come early and get first choice. I want all of my friends to secure some article of value from this sale, and I believe it is large enough for all my friends both far and near to profit by it. This large stock of millinery is NOT OLD, SHELF-WORN, OUT-OF-DATE GOODS, but new, up-to-date, stylish millinery, bought for this fall and winter trade by a fashionable milliner of large experience. Call and examine the goods for yourself.

Besides a few Children's Specialties secured in this purchase, I have a complete line of the little tots' necessities in my regular stock.

Why Do I Sell Them So Cheap?

This question is easily answered. I BOUGHT THE STOCK AT A GREAT BARGAIN, which was my only reason for buying it, and I want to give my customers the benefit of my "good luck." When one makes up one's mind to get out of business and seek "greener fields" a bargain for some one is at hand—I could not resist the temptation to buy this large stock of millinery at the price. The result is I have it crowded in my store room, which was already uncomfortably full, and now I MUST SELL THEM. The first to come gets choice.

Don't forget the location, and that the first to come will have the best opportunity. Also remember I have good values for you in my large store.

THE "ORIENTAL LIMITED" TRAIN OF THE GREAT

Northern Railway Between St. Paul,
Minneapolis and Puget Sound Points.

This new train has been aptly named. Travelers of this progressive age demand the highest degree of comfort when they are contemplating a journey of considerable length. In the placing in service of the "Oriental Limited," the Great Northern Railway has achieved a distinctive success in the excellence, ease and elegance of this regal train. If a man is making a journey for purely business reasons, he wants comfort. The "Oriental Limited" lands him at his journey's end with a pleasant memory lingering in his mind of the comfort which has been provided for him. All the conveniences of a modern, up-to-date hotel, all the comforts of home, the privacy of a club, are at his command. Instead of dreading a long journey he looks forward to it with pleasurable anticipation. To the tourist the same applies. The delightful surroundings of this train, the opportunities for enjoying the passing scenery en route makes the "Oriental Limited" the train that pleases.

Healthy Mothers.

Mothers should always keep in good bodily health. They owe it to their children. Yet it is no unusual sight to see a mother, with babe in arms, coughing violently and exhibiting all the symptoms of a consumptive tendency. And why should this dangerous condition exist, dangerous alike to mother and child, when Dr. Beecher's German Syrup would put a stop to it at once? No mother should be without this old and tried remedy in the house—for its timely use will promptly cure any lung, throat or bronchial trouble in herself or her children. The worst cough or cold can be speedily cured by German Syrup; so can hoarseness and congestion of the bronchial tubes. It makes expectoration easy, and gives instant relief and refreshing rest to the cough-racked consumptive. New trial bottles, 25c; large size, 75c. For sale by Woods & Orme.

LEAD REACHES $71.50.

Joplin, Mo., Nov. 19.—The high price of zinc ore was maintained again last week, although there was an effort on the part of the buyers to reduce the price. The ore on the Mocking Bird and Rob Roy lands sold at $55. per ton. The assay basis price was quoted all the way from $48 to $54 per ton of 60 per cent zinc.

Sells More of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy than of All Others Put Together

The following letter from a lady where Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is well known shows by the unprompted demand for it that the medicine sells on its own merit. Mr. Thos. George, a merchant at Mt. Elgin, Ontario, says: "I have had the local agency for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy ever since it was introduced into Canada, and I sell as much of it as I do of all other lines I have on my shelves put together. Of the many dozen sold under guarantee, I have not had one bottle returned. I can personally recommend this medicine as I have used it myself and given it to my children and always with the best results." For sale by Haynes & Taylor, the enterprising druggists of Marion.

DENMAN & LOVE.

A RUINOUS POLICY.

The Sale and Use of Unsuitable Sires For Breeding Purposes.

We have persistently advised the use of pure bred sires in the breeding up of live stock, and many men have gone further by replacing their graded stock by pedigreed animals of considerable merit. There is now another step to be taken that is quite as important as breeding out the scrub blood or substituting pure bred for grade stock. We refer to the necessity of culling out all unsuitable breeding animals in every herd and stud of the country. writes A. S. Alexander in Farmer's Review. Hundreds of bulls, boars and rams are being sold for breeding purposes each year that are doing harm instead of good and that should have been castrated by their breeders. It is hard to get breeders to attend to such matters as this. They can usually find buyers for indifferent sires and so take the chance when it presents itself, but the policy is ruinous in the end. The reputation of the breed and the herd is at stake in the sale of every animal that goes off the farm for breeding purposes.

The breeder cannot afford to sell a poor representative of his herd if he will but stop to think the matter over fully. By castrating the poor individual he will make a profitable feeding animal and spoil a bad sire. If he sells he but enlarges the number of scrub pure breeds in the land and their number is getting to be enormous. If there is anything that will hurt the pure bred stock business worse than the continued selling and use of poor individual sires and stuns we have not heard of it, and we are convinced that the time has come to act honestly and severely in this direction.

Not every man who wishes to improve his live stock knows how to select a representative sire of the best individuality. For this reason he has to trust to the honesty of the breeder, whom he asks to make the selection for him. He may state that he does not wish to pay a high figure, and the breeder very naturally takes advantage of the circumstances to send him a poor individual that is cheap so far as cost is concerned, but terribly dear when we consider the mischief he will do in the herd to which he goes. The honest breeder who has at heart the best interest of his patrons and of the industry in which he is engaged should never find himself in a position to supply a cheap and at the same time inferior sire of any sort. He should castrate every animal of this kind and have nothing but good individuals for sale. Were every breeder to act in this way the number of serviceable sires would be reduced, but their value would increase and the value of the breed represented would also be certainly enhanced in time by the persistent use of nothing but first class sires.

Yakima Valley Washington

Is the most attractive irrigation proposition in the United States. All but alfalfa is a sure and profitable crop. Twenty-acre ranches can be purchased for $1,000, on easy terms. The Northern Pacific Railway traverses the entire length of the valley, thus ensuring good transportation facilities. Good schools and churches abound, and rural mail routes have been established throughout the valley, which will soon be one large village. Thunderstorms are rare, and cyclones unknown. The climate, which is very mild, is extremely beneficial to consumptives and those afflicted with bronchial and catarrhal troubles.

For descriptive pamphlets of this region, or information regarding lands, business openings in "other territory" served by the Northern Pacific, will be sent free, write to C. W. Mott, Gen'l Emigration Agent, Northern Pacific Ry., St. Paul, Minn.

"I Thank the Lord."

Cried Hannah Plant, of Little Rock, Ark., "for the relief I got from Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It cured my fearful running sores, which nothing else would heal, and from which I had suffered for five years." It is a marvelous healer for cuts, burns and wounds. Guaranteed at Haynes & Taylor's drug store; 25c.

Beware of the false prophet, the individual who has more tongue than mind.

The spleen of the ungodly spendeth
itself abroad but puckereth much when roasted.

Now for the general improvement
and development of Crittenden county
its capital.

Prone to err, yet deep in the human heart there is a spark of the friendship
that bound Damon to Pythias.

The friends of Hon. E. T. Franks in his home county are gratified to learn
of his reappointment as collector for
the second district of Kentucky.

The appointment of former State
Treasurer Geo. W. Long, of Leitchfield,
under Governor Bradley, as U. S.
marshal for the western district of Kentucky to succeed A. D. James, was a little surprise.

We have a sincere feeling of gratitude toward several kindly ladies who have felt themselves moved to present
us with bouquets of pretty flowers with which to adorn our desk. In the recent campaign we were not in the race for office but we were in the contest, and
judging from these little tokens of regard we won out to the admiration and satisfaction of our friends. To us they mean more than office, more than words,
and money could not separate us from
the sweet memory that will swell up in our soul in years to come when we think of our editorial efforts and the keen interest that was shown in reading our columns in the fall of 1905.
A gentleman has walked into our office
and said here are some flowers my wife said give you, or to some member of the office force, has said hand this
box to the editor and tell him to ask no
questions, and one of those elderly
ladies, who has reached the stage in life where she has heard the sweet,
prattling sound of child's voice calling
grandmother, has walked into the office
and said we like your paper, and here
are some flowers I thought I would bring you. To pass these things by without proper acknowledgement and an expression of gratitude would be a
gross injustice to the rewarding spirit
of humanity, which we trust in us may
ever exist in its fullness.

Educational Column

W. HUGH WATSON, Editor.

Impulse is not the pulse by which
the temperature of life is tested.

—(0)—

The impulsive life is not a successful
one, constancy being eliminated; its
win sister, success, is also.

—(0)—

They who make a success at anything are those who keep eternally at
it. "Peggin' away" is a noble virtue.

—(0)—

The key to success is character—the only thing that goes with us out of the world and that which Oliver Wendell Holmes characterizes as "genuine, honest, old Teutonic pluck."

—(0)—

The mind to work solves difficulties
and all others are useless. Are there others? Yes; the mind to idle, the mind to bask in pleasures, the mind to goad. Mrs. Wilcox says there is one who works to twenty who leans, and
the "lean" can be "played" upon.

—(0)—

"Nothing that is can pause or stay."
No ring of the false prophet has this quotation from Longfellow, but it is true of everything. No stop, either backward or forward, is a decree of the Fates, and like the laws of the Medes and Persians, cannot be repealed.
"Nothing that is can pause or stay" is
the star of progress and progress will cease to be progressive before the star
can set.

—(0)—

Nine times out of ten he who courts
favors paddles the favor dispenses,
thereby crippling manhood. Favors
are all right and the seeking of them
is no draw back to independence. It is not the counting of favors, but the way the courting is done that lessens
worth. The other fellow is not necessarily bad because he is after the same thing you are. Your opponent is not a thief nor a scoundrel because he is a candidate for the same honors you are.
There are yet many "popular" things
to be educated "out of" the popular mind. Since example is the best of precepts the teacher should set the example of broadening with education
the "popular mind."

WOMEN AND MARRIAGE

Woman, as a rule, risks more in marriage than a man. The man whose home is not happy can find refuge in his club, or solace in his work, but if
a woman makes a mistake, poor thing,
the only refuge she has is the grave.

When a young woman accepts a young man's offer of marriage, she does the most serious and solemn thing
in her life. She either builds her nest
under the flushed eaves of heaven,
where the angels of God bowed, or she sets it hard by the gates of woe to be swept by their wings of flame.

What a world of meaning there is in these words by a bride's mother to the bridegroom as he leads away her daughter:

Deal gently with her; thou art dear,
Beyond what vestal lips have told,
And like a lamp from the fountain clear,
She turns confiding to thy fold.
A mother yields her gem to thee,
On thy true breast to sparkle rare.
She places 'neath thy household tree
The idol of her fondest care;
By all thy treasured hopes of heaven,
Deal gently with my own dear child.

And now, with a view of giving
directions to your thoughts, allow me
to offer some suggestions, precautionary and advisory:—

Let there be no taint on your affections, no mercenary traffic in the sanctuary of your heart. All honor to the women who make their own way in the world, rather than live a life with a man for the sake of support. Money
and family cover up a multitude of sins; they have to.

To many parents and daughters there
has been an irresistible potentiality in these qualifications of a suitor. I know it is counted a silly thing to marry for love, but she who marries without love
and reduces marriage to a mercenary
contract, degrades marriage, degrades
herself and inflicts an irreparable outrage on the man she marries.

Commercial matrimony is an evil
peculiar to our times. The gold fever
is epidemic and the death rate is appalling. Society today pays homage to the golden calf. Mothers place their daughters upon the social auction block
and offer them to the highest bidder.
And how many young women there are today who turn what is pure away and
sell themselves to the man who is willing to pay for his victim!

Many women feign to love a rich
man, who, if he were poor, they would positively hate. Can ancestry or wealth cover up mental imbecility or moral baseness? Can money pay a noble woman for the absence of that generous love of a manly heart, that alone can supply the deathless yearnings
of her nature, smooth the roughest
paths of human life, wreath rainbows
around its darkest clouds, fling roses
on its desert wastes, dry up sorrow's
bitter tears, make life's heaviest burdens light, sustain in hours of sickness as with a giant's power, and
finally soothe the dying pillow and lead
her departing spirit with sweet benediction.

No! Gold cannot buy happiness.
The desire to have a home is commendable, and while one may find
many a scene of sweetest relations in palaces of prosperity, yet there are many places where wealth anticipates
every wish, and yet where a skeleton
more grim than death haunts the cupboard and an ache sharper than
consumption's tooth gnaws at the heart.

Never marry a man to reform him.
Some young women imagine that a little wickedness is a sort of spice in a young man's life. You will find the habit after the wedding day to be anything but pleasant spice.

How many alliances have we seen
celebrated amid music, flowers and enthusiastic congratulations of friends
where the presence of a specter followed the hapless twain from the altar
to sorrow, heartache, disaster, divorce,
death. Arm in arm they walked to the altar, she pure, innocent, unsuspecting, he soiled by sin, habituated
to evil, a stranger to real love; they promise to love, honor and cherish
each other. A few months past, perhaps a year or two, the spell is broken,
the poor bride awakes to the crushing fact that her husband is not the man her fancy pictured him. She thought her love would win out against his bad habits, conquer his sinful indulgence, but now, when her chains
can not be broken, she wakes up to her delusion and her sorrow, hopes
blasted, heart broken and life ruined.

She fancied a fairy palace and found a prison. Instead of a delightful home she found only a limbo.
Alas for the woman on whose soul
falls the light and rests the burden of a drunkard's wife—a burden that is a mountain, a ponderous world in its crushing heaviness to that woman's heart.

One of the most serious and widespread evils of our time is the inebri-
ety of men, alike in high and low life. When these inebriate men are husbands, as most of them are, it is impossible to frame a statement of consequences that will give an idea of their enormity.

A happy marriage does not depend
upon sound health and good habits
alone—there must be on both sides
well grounded respect and genuine

love uniting the twain in oneness of sympathy and purpose. Yet no man should undertake the marriage contract who has not a sound mind in a sound body, and I would have the state
prohibit marriage to all lacking this fitness.

And it is equally important that the woman should have soundness of mind
and body, for marriage has in view
perpetuation and improvement of the race. To call into being a soul crowned with the sapphire glow of immortality and weigh it at the start with a disease or defective body—who can see
into futurity with sufficient clearness
to predict the consequence?

Avoid the young man of display.
There is a tendency in woman's nature to trust to fiction rather than to fact. Society was never so much of a Vanity Fair. Every frog is ambitious to swell himself to the dimensions of an ox. Show never had such dominion. The maintaining of appearance is the characteristic snare and evil of the hour, both in and out of married life. "All is not gold that
glitters," and usually the more glitter
the less gold.

As you value your life, be satisfied
with nothing but solid, sober reality.

Avoid, Oh! avoid, the driving doodle, the walking model for ready-made furnishing stores. He may think himself exquisitely stunning, but to a real woman he is a nonentity—he will weary your mirror.

Marry your equal. The burden of married life is heavy enough under the most favorable conditions. Other things being equal, there is more hope
for happiness between persons whose habits, tastes and education would put them somewhere near upon a basis of equality, than between those who are widely separated in social position.

You are not expected to marry to please your parents, but to please yourselves. But, remember that no one has your interests more at heart than your parents. You will seldom go wrong if you take their advice and heed
their counsel.

Marry into a family you have long known. If the man be a stranger to you, if he is decent, he will say: "Here
are the names of men and women who know me. Inquire about me."

Marry a man in some way superior. Noble minds should ever keep with their likes. A man marrying a woman below him in society may raise
her up. She goes down to his level.
William Penn said something like this:
"Marry for love, but be sure you love
what is lovable."

Break up all clandestine correspondence and clandestine meetings. Have no letters come to you under assumed name. When you are afraid to let your mother see your letters you are on the edge of danger.

Ferryman's Record.

C. E. Rose is a ferryman known for many years up about Carrsville. He is a brother of the late A. J. Rose, of Paducah. The ferryman is a very remarkable man, and has kept a record
of his entire work on the river for 26 years. Last Fourth of July he gave a drummer who had crossed the river
with him many times the record of his work up to date, July 4th, 1905, and
the drummer gave it to a newspaper
man. It is:

"I began pulling a skiff in the spring
of 1877, and have been constantly at it ever since, except about 18 months I lived in Evansville, giving me about 26
years service.

"I have saved six lives during that time, and nobody has been drowned
while in my charge."

Rose has also kept a record of every
trip he has ever made, which is as follows:

"Have pulled the skiff 105,981 times.
Have carried in a skiff 21,518 passengers. Have earned with my skiff $15,- $81.31.

"My route is between Cave-in Rock, Ill., and Carrsville, Ky.

"I keep a record of my work and
can tell the date that any one made a trip with me, and where he or she went if I knew him or her."

WASHINGTON LETTER

From Our Regular Correspondent

Washington, D. C.—The International Board of Consulting Engineers, who are acting in advisory capacity to the Panama Canal Commission, voted this week on the subject of the type of canal to be adopted. Their decision has not yet been made public but will be early next week. When it is once decided whether the canal is to be of the lock type or built at sea level, the work can proceed with more rapidity.
But up to date there has been a great deal done, how much very few people,
in the United States, seems to know or care. There has been a great deal of criticism of the canal commission for not proceeding faster. But the facts
is that the work has been pushed as rapidly as possible, considering the number of changes in the commission
and engineers that have been necessary.

—(0)—

The decision as to the type of canal
marks an important period in the work
and it just as well to consider at this moment what has already been accomplished. In the first place the Isthmus has been cleaned up as it was never thought possible to do it. In fact the work of the sanitary corps,
under Col. Gorges, has been as important as the digging of the canal itself.
For the sanitation of the Isthmus has made it a habitable strip. The French tried to do the canal work without the preliminary sanitation and failed
utterly. Of course partisan critics will profess themselves skeptical of
the amount of work actually done.
But the records of the war department
state the following as some of the things accomplished: A sewer system
has been advised for the town of Panama and is half completed, the town is being paved with brick for the easier
cleaning and policing and there has been installed a complete system of
water works so that for the first time
in three centuries the inhabitants will have good drainage and a pure drinking supply, there will be three other water systems necessary, one for the Culebra, one Empire and a third for Cristobal and Colon. All these are under way. By cleaning the town and killing the mosquitos, the yellow fever
cases have been reduced from 61 in June to 3 in October. There are now 13,000 laborers on the ground and the rate of sickness is only 25 per 1000
which would be considered moderate in northern climate.

—(0)—

In the line of actual construction the United States inherited the unfinished
French work which consisted of fifteen miles of sea level canal at the North end and five at the South. The work has eaten into the great Culebra Hill
to a point of 140 feet above sea level.
This hill is 340 feet high and ten miles
wide and has been the great bugbear
of a canal line at Panama. There are 20 steam shovels on the ground and 60
more ordered or on their way to the scene of the work. The Panama railroad has been double tracked with the exception of nine miles, which will soon be doubled also. This is not a bad showing for the work up to date.
There has been a great deal of opposition to the canal from the railroad interests, which will of course be effected by it, and there probably will be a great many more calamity howls to the effect that it is an engineering impossibility. But one can consider the progress made with a great deal of satisfaction and the assurance in about
five years the work will be completed.

—(0)—

Political interests in the past few days has turned largely toward "Uncle Joe" Cannon, who as the next speaker
of the House, will have the making or
blocking of a great deal of legislation.
Mr. Cannon after his first visit to the White House admitted what he would not admit before, the possibility of railway rate legislation at the coming session. But he has come out in a flat footed statement against tariff legislation and there is going to be a hard fight over this. The President feels that he has the country behind him
on the tariff revision plan as well as on
rate fixing and the visit of the shoe
men the other day, headed by ex-governor Douglas, of Massachusetts, indicates that he is going to have some warm and strong support. There are some more business delegations that are coming to Washington on the same
errand, and Speaker Cannon, astute politician as he is, will find he has all
his work cut out if he intends to block
consideration of tariff, and as he con-temptuously expressed it, "prevent
the country from being held up by the tail this winter."

—(0)—

It is not often that Secretary Hitchcock lets himself go as he did the other day on the subject of the conviction in that Oklahoma land fraud case where
two men were imprisoned six hours
and fined $1000, for illegally fencing
212,000 of government land. The Secretary declared that the conviction had cost the government thousands of dollars and four years hard labor and
he was disgusted with the inadequate punishment in the case. He said, however, that the government proposed
to follow the case up and if the fences

IS IT NOT TO YOUR INTEREST TO

Trade With Schwab?

Are you not satisfied to have a house that stays
open the year around? You are fully aware that all others have quit every summer. You surely don't care to sell five months in the year and eat your surplus seven months in the year. For twenty years
you had this experience. Stay with those that stay with you.

A Living Monument.

If we were to assemble all those who have been cured of heart disease by Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and who would to-day be in their graves had not Dr. Miles' been successful in perfecting this wonderful heart specific, they would populate a large city.

What a remarkable record—a breathing, thinking, moving monument, composed of human lives,—that for which every other earthly possession is sacrificed.

The Miles Medical Co. receive thousands of letters from these people like the following:

"I feel indebted to the Dr. Miles' Heart Cure for my life. I desire to call the attention of others suffering as I did to this remarkable remedy for the heart. For a long time I had suffered from shortness of breath after any little exertion, palpitation of the heart; and at times terrible pain in the region of the heart, so serious that I feared that I would some time drop dead upon the street. One day I read one of your circulars, and immediately went to my drugist and purchased two bottles of the Heart Cure, and took it according to directions, with the result that I am entirely cured. Since then I never miss an opportunity to recommend this remedy to my friends who have heart trouble; in fact I am a traveling advertisement for I am widely known in this locality."

J. H. BOWMAN,
Manager of Lebanon Democrat,
Nashville, Tenn.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your drugist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails he will refund your money.

Letter From Silver Heights.

Now, as the election is over and one half less one half are elected, say Billie Joe? We are glad that the case is even as well as it is. We are thinking about the mule but we don't like to mount it just now unless Billie Joe will mount it first. We thought we were prohibition all right until we saw our name on the jury list as a Democrat, but they say, "Marvel not!"

Did you ever see such a persimmon crop? We have a persimmon tree at our place that is 5 feet high that has 24 persimmons on it and four of them are just 13 inches off of the ground. We also have one bush 3 feet high that bore three persimmons. They are neither ducks nor drakes.

I have thought I liked opossum, but some days ago I had the pleasure of taking dinner with my friend, W. A. Woodall, and they had two as fine as ever were devoured by such mortals as we are. Oh, such gravy! I took twice and would have taken again but I was afraid—not of Will Woodall, but I took so much each time. Will had three more in the pen fattening. If I get straight and find out when he sends for his mother and sister, I am going to try it again. I enjoyed the day very much, and the opossums. Will has fine hogs, fine dogs, a fine stable, fine tobacco, fine chickens and fine cooks, and I am not fooled.

We sold Mrs. Bob Hill a fine index bible and will sell more in that neighborhood.

Let every one remember the dates of Bro. T. C. Gebauer's lectures Friday night, November 24, at Dycusburg; Chapel Hill, Saturday night, November 25; Marion, Sunday night, November 26; Repton, Monday night, November 27; Tolu, Tuesday night, November 28. Let us all go and reorganize, get in our reports and have a good time.

Yours for a great big time,
R. M. FRANKS, County President.

Tourist Cars Popular.

The idea that an inferior class of people patronize the tourist sleepers is an error. On many trips only the best class of travelers are found. They are more men and women of good sense who would rather travel to California in this manner and save a snug sum of money to be used elsewhere. It is beginning to be understood that it is by no means necessary for the traveler to spend a large sum of money in order to enjoy a trip to the Pacific coast.

If you cross the continent in one of the tourist sleepers of the Union Pacific you will enjoy your trip and save considerable money. Inquire of

The Hick's Almanac for 1906.

The Rev. H. R. Hick's Almanac will not be published for 1905, but his monthly journal, Word and Works, has been changed into a large and costly magazine, and it will contain his storm and weather forecasts and other astronomical features complete. The November number, now ready, contains the forecasts from January to June, 1905. The January number, ready December 29, will contain the forecasts from July to December 1905. The price of this splendid magazine is one dollar a year. See it and you will have it. The November and January numbers containing the Rev. H. R. Hick's forecasts for the whole year, and more complete than ever, can be had by sending at once 25c to Word and Works Publishing Company, 2231 Locust Street, St. Louis, Mo.

OUR FASHION LETTER.

The Attractiveness of the Modish New Girdles.

SHORT SKIRT IS HERE TO STAY.

Empire Lines Are Assured Favorites. Beautiful Veilings of the Season. White Wool Waists of Albatross Are to Be Much Worn.

Perhaps the most serviceable of school hats are these made of cloth with stitched brims and soft crowns. No trimming is used beyond a quill or two.

The new girdles are very attractive. They are narrow in the back, almost like a belt, but are deep and pointed in front.

The plainest, most severe tailor cuts are smart this year, while half fitted

CRAPE MORNING GOWN.

and tight back coats are both worn, not the box coat, which is ever an ugly fashion, only becoming to children. Coat sleeves are all large leg of mutton, but fuller than in the spring. Turn back cuffs, embroidered or of silk, make a plain model attractive.

Close and snug, but not by any means tight, are the lines laid down by fashion for the new costumes. A cut that shall suggest but not too openly reveal the lines and curves of the figure is what the creators of fashion in Paris are achieving.

The mourning dress illustrated is of crape voile. The skirt has a front panel formed of box plaits set between a band of crape. Above the deep hem runs a three inch band of crape, headed at the top and bottom with three tucks. Around a yoke of crape plaited bretelles and an embroidered vest complete the modish waist.

WALKING SKIRTS.

The short skirt is here to stay, and those contemplating making up winter walking dresses have to study its ways. The short skirt has many things in its favor. It is very light in weight and becoming to the feet when they are well shod, which is an absolute necessity.

Empire lines are assured favorites. These semi-short waisted lines seem nearly related to the bolero, and on many fall jackets or long coats both appear, bolero-like effects being simulated on the garments.

A smart veil is the finishing touch to a small, chic hat. Most of the new veilings are exquisite beyond description, delicate lace edgings, hand embroidery and point-like applications of chenille adorning their fine spider web meshes. In the simpler variety of veilings becoming meshes in white with black dots of any or all sizes stand out as being exceptionally swaggy.

White wool waists, especially in albatross embroidered in cyclot hole work, are to be much worn during the winter. Lingerie waists still hold their own, and soft silks have by no means lost their popularity. Among the wool waists batiste, flannel, mohair and velvets are the favorites. Plaids are much worn for informal occasions.

The waist seen in the cut is of checked

ed mohair in blue and green effects. It is made up on the bias with box plaits coming from the shoulders strapped at intervals with black and white braid in pointed motifs. A collar, revers, cuffs and globe of plain mohair ornamented with buttons complete the design.

WHAT TO WEAR.

A modish model for a child's dress is a box plaited slip made with three plaits back and front, quite wide, with side seams curved in at the waist. The neck is cut in a shallow square and the sleeves cut off halfway above the elbow and finished with a box plait at the back. If desired, down each box plait at the edge a simple line of braid or embroidery may be run. This is also carried around the square neck, and the sleeves are touched with it.

CHENILLE TOQUE.

The fashionable coiffure for winter is worn high on the head and finished with a shower of false curls. From the low, flat pompadour hang little tendrils of curled hair.

Dutch collars are new and the most becoming things in the world to women with round throats. They are round little affairs, some of them embroidered in blind work, but must have a touch of broderie anglaise about them somewhere.

Very smart is the toque illustrated. It is evolved from chenille in mingled shades of rose and soft greens. The brim is high at the sides and back, at which point are placed a group of light green tips and a rosette of velvet ribbon.

FACTS AND FANCIES.

A dainty dressing sack is made of alternate strips of two inch satin ribbon and white insertion. The flowing sleeves and neck are finished with a lace frilling matching the insertion.

Black lace coats are to be very smart this winter and are worn now with black chiffon skirts. A bolero of white lace on a black gown, if a woman has a good enough figure to carry it off well, is always smart and effective, but if the figure is not all that it should be it were well to have the lace in black also, thus eliminating the sharp contrast.

Beautiful broadcloth is being imported for winter gowns, and exquisite em-

broderie effects are among the trimmings for these dresses. Cheviot and tweed suitings for street frocks will be elaborately trimmed with braid.

Some of the new coats show waistcoats of colored oatmeal cloth. Later in the season these vests will be of thick flannel.

On the newest boleros there is a tendency toward squareness at the shoulders, and the coats of the fall denote the revival of the sack in every possible length, though the majority of these are short and braided in great variety.

The new hats have plumes on the underbrim resting against the hair, while the crown is simply trimmed. A pretty model is of Alice blue felt in a round shape encircled by a wreath of faded pink roses. Three fluffy plumes of blue shading to white are placed on the left back underbrim.

An up to date decoration for evening coats are bands of white satin embroidered with gold beads in wails of tray patterns.

The gown with a decidedly military air seen in the illustration is carried out in navy blue cheviot, one of the new two toned shot effects. The skirt is a many wored affair trimmed with braid at the bottom. The double breasted, tight fitting jacket features soft frogs and cuffs of black satin.

TRAVELERS COME COSTIVE!

The change in diet and drinking water, the motion of the cars, the irregular habits of travelers, no matter whether they travel on business all the time or for pleasure occasionally, usually result in a constipated condition of the bowels, some stomach or bowel trouble.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

With them. It is a pleasant liquid laxative and a certain cure for sick headache, train sickness and all stomach trouble. Your druggist sells it in 50 Cent and One Dollar bottles.

W. P. Gaines, of Little Rock, Ark., Traveling Salesman for the South Premier Typewriter Co., writes: "While traveling through Western Arkansas, in February last, I had a severe attack of Acute Indigestion. There was no doctor at hand, and I was suffering terribly. Your agent handed me a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin (which at that time was unknown to me). I took two doses and was relieved at once, and I want to say how that when I am on the road I am never without a bottle of Syrup Pepsin in my grip. I consider it as essential as my order book, and can find nothing equal to it for Stomach Trouble and Constipation."

Blackburn Can Lose by Treachery.

The Kentucky legislature is overwhelmingly Democratic and that is no more than we expected. But because the expected has happened is no reason why we should revise the figures in the senatorial race. The Democratic nominees for senator and representative were already Paynter or Blackburn men, and the election is not supposed to change their convictions or their pledges. Senator Blackburn can be defeated only by treachery on the part of the members elected to the Democrats who gave them their nominations. —Clinton Gazette.

Man's Unreasonableness

Is often as great as a woman's. But Thos. S. Austin, Mrg. of the "Republican," of Leavenworth, Ind., was not unreasonable, when he refused to allow the doctors to operate on his wife for female trouble. Instead, he says, "we concluded to try Electric Bitters. My wife was then so sick she could hardly leave her bed, and five (5) physicians had failed to relieve her. After taking Electric Bitters, she was perfectly cured and can now perform all her household duties." Guaranteed by Haynes & Taylor, druggist, price 50c.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON IX, FOURTH QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, NOV. 26.

Text of the Lesson, 1 Cor. x, 23-33.
Memory Verses, 31-35—Golden Text,
1 Cor. x, 12—Commentary Prepared
by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1905, by American Press Association.]
We must not allow any topic, however important, to take our thoughts from the topic of the whole epistle and of the whole Bible, the salvation of Jehovah, and the Lord Jesus Christ Himself, that salvation. It is always most important and helpful to notice the beginning and the ending of the whole book or any portion of it, and that again is suggestive of Him who says: "I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending, saith the Lord" (Rev. i, 8). The epistles generally begin and end with "The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ," a definition of which is found in 11 Cor. viii, 9, but it brings before us the beginning, continuance and consummation of our salvation (Rom. iii, 24; v, 2; 1 Pet. i, 13). The return of Christ to complete our personal salvation, the redemption of the body, and to bring salvation to all Israel and all nations is seen in chapters i, 7, 8; xvi, 22, and all through the epistle, and nothing will deliver from the drunken or any other form of the self life like this blessed purifying hope.

A book or epistle is often divided into sections, and the divisions of this epistle are easily recognized by the words "Now concerning" or "Now as touching" (vii, 1; viii, 1; xli, 1; xvi, 1). Our lesson is in the section concerning things offered unto idols, and idols suggest the devil and demons and not God (verses 19-21). Deut. xxi, 17; Ps. cv, 36, 37). Chapter viii, 4, is a very helpful word covering the whole life of the believer—one God, the Father, and one Lord, Jesus Christ, of whom and by whom are all things. Then in our lesson (x, 31), "Whether therefore ye eat or drink or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God," sets before us all that is required of us. But, oh, it means so much, this whole hearted denial of self and living unto God! Discipleship is very costly, and therefore among all Christians there are few who are willing to be always delivered unto death for Jesus' sake that the life of Jesus may be made manifest in our bodies (11 Cor. iv, 11).

There are many things lawful, not sinful, to the believer which are neither expedient nor edifying. A redeemed person has been purchased by the precious blood of Christ that he may be the Lord's own possession, set apart for Himself, henceforth living unto Him who died for him and rose again (111, 14, 15; v, 3; 11 Cor. v, 15), and the great question is not, Can I do this or that without harm to my spiritual life? but rather, Will it please the Lord, and will it magnify Him in the sight of others? In chapter ix, 12, the writer says, "We suffer all things lest we should hinder the gospel of Christ," his aim being "by all means to save some," and so to decay himself that his own life and service should not be disapproved (ix, 22-27). The Israelites who conformed to the ways of the ungodly about them and were cut off for their sins are referred to as examples of God's hatred of sin, and we are warned not to live selfishly, as they did, assured that, while all are tempted, God, who is faithful, will never suffer His own to be tried too much or too long, but will invariably deliver.

It is not for us to be ever inquiring of others, Is this unto God or the devil? Nor are we to judge others, for even the Son of Man came not to judge, but with clean hands and a pure heart walk before and with God, and let the King of glory fill the house, "For the earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof" (Ps. xlii). We can mingle with people, eat in their homes, seek their welfare, conform in a measure to their ways without criticism or fault finding, provided we are not seeking profit for ourselves, but the profit of many, that they may be saved, and in all things that God may be glorified (verses 31, 33). When our hearts are right with God, we will ever remember the Lord Jesus and consider Him, and He, dwelling in our hearts, by faith will live His life in us to the glory of God and the good of all men.

Oh, how little of Christ there is in many who bear His name! He never pleased Himself, He never sought His own will nor His own glory. He did always those things that pleased the Father. He gave Himself to suffer in our stead, what no tongue can tell that we might be saved. The only salvation for sinners is in Christ, and when He is truly received, and the life surrendered to Him, then we will not live to please ourselves nor think of ever judging others, but judge this rather that no man put a stumbling block or an occasion to fall in his brother's way, for every one of us shall give account of himself to God (Rom. xiv, 12, 13). On the line of offenses we must seek two things—never be an offense to others, and never be offended with our blessed Lord because of anything He does or permits to be done (John xvi, 1; Luke vii, 23).

There is in verse 32 a threefold division of people recognized throughout the New Testament, and the one must not be confounded with the other. The church is never called Israel, for Israel is a nation with a land, while the church is an elect company gathered out of all nations, having no special portion of earth, but destined to reign with Christ over the whole earth (Rev. v, 10), when all nations shall be blessed through Israel. If we take the marginal or revised version, Greeks (Rev. i, 1) of gentiles, then we are carried back to chapter i, 22-24.

"HEART WHISPERS"

Reviewed by W. Hugh Watson.

James Pringle Adcock, who has of late, brought out his daintily bound volume of poems, "Heart Whispers", is a native of Livingston county, a farmer by occupation—a writer from choice. In his introduction he tells: "Now, since such idlers might in safety sing, I tried and found my muse could flap her wing. Then was my fruitless task begun, And 'Heart Whispers' is the result."

It is very doubtful whether there are at present any great writers of poetry—writers whose works like Shakespeare, Burns and Byron, will live growing greater as they grow older. Markham, of New York, author of the poem, "The Man With the Hoe", and James Whitcomb Riley, of Indiana, are the greatest of living poets. In Kentucky we have such poets as Cowien, whose poetical works have been praised in this country and in England, Robert Burns Wilson, whose poetry is pleasing, has yet some promise of rank as a verse maker, while Major Stanton who died a year or two ago, held his claim to be remembered by "The Moneyless Man." Cale Young Rice, of Louisville, was our junior poetic writer until Mr. Adcock entered the field. Mr. Rice is the author of two small volumes of poetry. Mr. Adcock has one volume out and two others in manuscript, early publication of which is promised.

"Heart Whispers" contains many admirable selections, but all of the lyric sort and none of any great length. The divisions of the book are:

"Miscellaneous", "Extemporaneous", "Eulogistic", "Elegiac", "Odes", "Epitaphs", "Epigram", "Amorous Melodies" and "Patriotic Lays."

For a first work it is a great effort, and much resembles Robert Burns whom he admires. Especially in the selection of titles for single poems is

While he is truthfully clever in his lines on woman's timidity:

"Thus woman flutters round about
And throws her fond allurements out.
Her wanton zephyrs lightly bear
Her downy dress and silky hair,
Most timorous of all timid things,
And yet the sweetest bird that sings.
She flies from man who comes her way
As if he were a beast of prey;
And, flying softly, whispers back,
"I go but you can find my track;
Despair not of the prize you sought:
I'm flying that I may be caught."

In his patriotic pieces there is not that smoothness characteristic of his compositions on other themes. But his "America" is sound and has good advice for our country:

"America, though nations hate thee,
And gladly would thy prospects blight,
Be true, for triumph yet awaits thee
If thou persist in doing right."

While the tribute paid to the soldiers of the revolutionary war is deserving:

"The men that grew in wilds afar
To hew the forests down,
Were nerved to wrench the brightest star
From England's gorgeous crown."

With some pride but more patriotism he sings of our recent unpleasantness with Spain:

"And rear upon the Cuban plains
The shrine of liberty."

And,

"Now, Cubans, on to glory!
Let naught your steps delay.
Columbia's hands are gory
Because of you to-day."

In the long ago, Robert Burns wrote:

"Man's inhumanity to man Makes countless millions mourn."

And, in speaking of Napoleon, who, it was suggested first to send him to St. Helena, says of such greatness as belongs to such as Napoleon:

"In teaching men to call him great,
He taught some truths severe;
A million homes made desolate,
Attent it with a tear."

Some one has said that this is an age of commercialism and not of poetry. But as long as there are hearts and sentiment, poetry will be read, for we as people have not quite lost the chivalric trait. As for a technical discussion of that field of literature, it is not our purpose. The public, if the true

JAMES PRINGLE ADCOCK.

he like Burns, "To a Worm", "To a Dead Eagle", "To a Cricket", etc. In sad numbers he seems to sing most and best:

"I scarcely know, but life appears a dark, unpleasant dream."

While reluctantly,

"Then farewell to fame, farewell renown,
I cast your spells away,
O let me to my grave go down
To mix with kindred clay."

In the stanza on the daisy growing between his parents' graves, he seems to claim at least a first possession:

"I was the first and I am wont to sleep
Between the hearts that here return to clay:
My life was bright; I little thought to weep,
Above their cold remains this lonely day."

The epigram on the poet's mind is suggestive of the pressing necessities many writers have undergone in order to stick to their purpose:

"The poet's mind its fountain seals,
When Fortune's hand caresses;
But like the grape its sweetness yields
In Torture's iron presses."

Indian Summer.

BY RUSTIC.

The hills look blue and strangely near,
Seen through this perfect atmosphere;
The light leaves, falling thickly down,
Fill all the ways with gold and brown.

In sheltered nooks belated flowers
Make summer of the sunny hours;
A summer chastened and more fair
Than August's sultry noontides are.

No hint of winter's frost or snow
Lurks in the sunshine's golden glow;
But all is soft and sweet and calm,
Like far-off lands of spice and palm.

O rare, rare days! Their radiant light
Makes every common pathway bright,
And sorrowing hearts who will may hear
Some words of hope that lift and cheer.

A Continual Strain.

Many men and women are constantly subject to what they call "a continual strain" because of some financial or family trouble. It wears and distresses them both mentally and physically, affecting their nerves badly and bringing on liver and kidney ailments, with the attendant evils of constipation, loss of appetite sleeplessness, low vitality and despondency. They cannot, as a rule, get rid of this "continual strain," but they can remedy its health destroying effects by taking frequent doses of Green's August Flower. It tones up the liver, stimulates the kidneys, insures healthy bodily functions, gives vim and spirit to one's whole being, and eventually dispels the physical or mental distress caused by that "continual strain." Trial bottle of August Flower, 25c; regular size, 75c. For sale by Woods & Orme.

Distinctively Different; In Every Way the Best.

The Weekly Globe Democrat, of St. Louis, covers a field peculiarly and exclusively its own.

It is issued twice a week. A big SEMI-WEEKLY paper. Eight to ten large pages every Tuesday and Friday. One Dollar a year.

Nothing particularly different, you say, about that—there are other "Twice-a-Week" papers.

Yes, but the similarity ends there. No other paper is like the Globe-Democrat in any other respect.

An entirely unique feature of the Globe-Democrat, a feature which is highly prized by its readers, is its systematic method of preserving and presenting the CONTINUITY OF NEWS.

The two papers each week, Tuesday and Friday, are carefully prepared with the view of giving the complete news of all the world for that week.

They are so combined in the make-up as to form continued and connected stories of the various important events, showing the developments from day to day and the final results.

Other weekly and twice-a-week papers, as a rule, print only a few telegrams of the day of issue.

The "Twice-a-Week" Globe-Democrat gives the telegrams of every day in the week more comprehensively than the average Daily, and of more value to the average reader.

Moreover, the "Twice-a-Week" Globe-Democrat is not simply an echo of the Daily edition.

It is a separate and distinct publication, especially prepared to supply the requirements of people who want all the news of all the earth—and something more.

It presents the World's daily history in concise but complete form. It is of equal interest in all parts of the United States. It is invaluable alike to men and women, young and old.

It thoroughly provides for every member of the family. In high-grade literature it particularly excels. Its market reports are correct and complete in every detail.

Its departments devoted to "The Home," "The Farm and Garden," "The Family Circle," "The Sunday School," "Science and Industry," are each and all THE BEST of their kind and either one is more than worth the subscription price of the paper.

In politics it is strictly REPUBLICAN, but it is above all a newspaper, and it tells the truth without fear or favor. It has no equal or rival as a great National news and home journal.

Remember the price, only One Dollar per year—104 papers—less than one cent a copy. Postage prepaid.

You will make no mistake if you send $1.00 TODAY for a year's subscription. Or you can get your own paper ONE YEAR WITHOUT COST by inducing two of your neighbors to subscribe and sending their names with $2.00.

FREE SAMPLE COPIES, containing order blanks and full particulars, will be cheerfully furnished upon receipt of postal card request. Address Globe Printing Company, Publishers.
