THE TABULAR ASSESSMENT

During the Years 1903, 1904 and 1905

COUNTY OF CRITTENDEN

The Rather Surprising Results Presented by Assessment as Taken Last Fall.

PROPERTY IS INCREASING IN VALUE

The completed tabulation of the county assessment as taken last fall shows on which the tax will be paid this year presents some rather surprising results.

During the year, 1905, taxes were levied on property, the taxable value of which was only $73,270 short of $1,000,000, but this year the result, after the action of the board of supervisors, the taxable value of the county is $198,630 short of the three million mark or $25,360 short of last year's figures.

Just the cause of this discrepancy cannot fully be centered on a single point, and one is left to conjecture, but there are some facts that are bound to give a bearing on it.

The supervisors having been instructed this year to raise all property transferred the last year to 70 per cent of the transfer value, the total taxable wealth of the county should have been greater than last year. In some cases, however, the board, may have neglected to do so, and again, in some instances, the supervisors may have allowed assessments on certain individuals to stand at considerable less than last year, a comparison in one particular case showing that a tax payer's assessment this year will be almost $13,000 less than the value of the same property last year.

Property in Crittenden county is decreasing in value rather than decreasing, and that our taxable wealth should be on the decline, is absurd, and there will be consequences attached to it that cannot be avoided. We will be subjected to raise by the state board and subject to severe criticism and again such a state of affairs is an open bid for the rate of county taxes to be increased. The decrease this year as compared with last, means nothing more than a losing of $1250 in tax money, enough to abolish one of the best offices in the county, but since the office cannot be abolished, the $1250 must needs be made up, and this brings one to another question.

The fiscal court last fall made the levy for this year, reducing the rate from the last year figure, 40c, to 25c. Now, with the $1250 loss to carry and the additional caused by a decrease in the county rate, it seems that the county is getting in shape to come out in the hole, but, there is something that is not right at all about the whole affair and especially the assessed value, as a glance at the annual tabulation for the three years given below will show. Crops were generally better and on the whole, values for both stock and farm products were better, the tobacco crop alone being the last year more than three times the value of the crop the previous year. All this is strong evidence that personal property and real estate should have shown an increase. The value of personal standing being about the same, the burden of the decrease falls upon real estate, and as real estate has not decreased in value, in fact, there are evidently some tax dodgers somewhere. As for us, we believe in the great common people and believe them to be honest and not guilty, but there are surely some land owners in the county who are not "toting" fair. Who are they?

Obituary.

R. H. Cochran, of Livingston county, was born Nov. 8, 1826, and died February 7, 1906, being eighty years of age. He professed faith in Christ at the age of thirteen and united with Old Salem church. He was married to Miss Celia Allsbrook in 1847 and to this union were born three sons and five daughters of which one son, Davis W., and three daughters, Mrs. James Woodyard, Mrs. John Sanders, and Mrs. Della Wiggins survive.

He was a half brother to the late John T. Cochran, of this city, and was a bright christian who was well versed in the Bible and delighted in the law of the Lord and meditated in his word. He liked to talk of the Bible and as a scripturist, was above the average.

His companion passed away eight or nine years ago, since which time he has made his home with his son, David. Being released from the cares of a family he spent a great deal of his time in visiting the different churches, especially during the protracted meeting season. He was a good neighbor and was highly respected by all. He was always found at his place in church and will be greatly missed there.

The funeral service took place at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. John Sanders, and was conducted by his pastor, U. G. Hughes, and his former pastor, J. J. Franks.

He was laid to rest by the side of his wife in the Allsbrook cemetery. U. G. HUGHES.

Card of Thanks.

I desire to thank the many friends that were so kind and so faithful in the long illness and in the death of my beloved companion, which occurred July 9, 1906. James Tolley.

MINING NEWS OF THE WEEK

The Winter Weather Favorable for Mining

BABB SHAFT CLEARED OUT

Lead in Good Demand and Producers of Joplin District Confident of an Advance in Price

MARY BELL PRODUCES FINE SPAR

The old shaft on the Babb place near Mexico has been cleared out and will soon be sunk to a greater depth.

At the Parish mines sinking and drifting goes steadily on and the pick strikes the ore both in the drift and the shaft.

Geo. Roberts, of Roberts & Co., is making a shipment of zinc carbonate taken from property near the Ohio river northwest of the city.

Parties are prospecting for zinc carbonate near Caldwell Springs adjoining the Frances group of mines and is reported that a rich prospect is in evidence.

Mr. Drecher continues sinking the Mary Bell shaft on the Columbia property. This shaft is producing some very fine spar and lead. A very heavy tonnage was removed from the Mary Bell last season and the outlook is a larger output in the future.

The cylinder head of the air compressor at the Cullen mines near Salem blew out several days ago and while the owners of this property, the Eagle Fluor Spar Company is awaiting the arrival of the repairs, the plant here is merely being run sufficiently to keep the water down in the big shaft.

Secretary Johnson Crider, of the Marion Mineral Company reports that his company is shipping large quantities of spar from its properties on both sides of the river. The large Cameron sinking pump which this company ordered, has arrived and presumably this pump is to be installed in the new prospect shaft, the "Buster Brown."

The repair work continues on the Pittsburg property near Green's Ferry, below Salem. This is a splendid property producing spar and lead. The output here however, has been hindered on account of the mining plant having been destroyed by fire some time ago, but it is reported that steady operating will be resumed as soon as all rebuilding is completed.

Joplin, Mo. February 11.—Fifty-four dollars per ton was the highest price paid for zinc ore in the district the past week. Other ores which have heretofore been bringing the top price were sold for $53.50 per ton. The basis price was $50 per ton for ores assaying 60 per cent zinc. Lead was in good demand, with a few choice bins in the Webb City district selling as high as $78.50 per ton and the majority of the sales reported at about $75 per ton. Producers of the district are confident of an advance in the price since the ruling of the secretary of the treasury, placing a 20 per cent ad valorem duty on foreign zinc ores, while the smelters maintain that the ruling will not apply to any ores now being imported by them.

So far the condition of the weather through the winter has been such that the county roads have been in fairly good condition, but the crucial point has not yet been passed. If we should have to pass out of winter into spring upon the heels of a thaw after deep freezing and with heavy rains it would take the roads four to six weeks to dry out and settle, which would necessarily delay the hauling of ores. However, it is hoped that the coming of spring will not witness such a state of affairs and if not, we will have passed from the fall season into the spring and summer without a cessation in the hauling of ores from the mines, and again this is becoming more probable every year on account of the better grading of road beds as a direct result of the good road agitation. It is expected that during the present year an immense amount of tonnage will be shipped from this district, chiefly because of the heavy and increasing demand for flour spar, the greatest flux known to science and which product abounds here.

Manila Soldiers Ready for China.

San Francisco, Feb. 5.—Army officers who arrived here on the transport Lagan yesterday report that the Thirtieth infantry and two squadrons of the Eighth cavalry have been ordered to prepare themselves for field service. The destination of these troops remains, but the only explanation of the order is that they are to be held in readiness for a China expedition at the first warning of an outbreak.

RICHMOND BYERS

A MYSTERY STILL

Thought To Have Been Located Near Crittenden Springs, but Again Is Father Disappointed.

Word was received here Friday that it was thought the lost boy, Richmond Byers, who was stolen from his father's home at Seeleyville, Ind., on May 29, 1904, was thought to be located at the Minner farmhouse near Crittenden Springs, but it proved not to be the little son of Dr. Byers, and once more doomed to disappointment, the father resumes the tireless search for his lost boy.

Learning that a little child had been cast off of a boat at Tolu and left on the river bank two or three months ago and was being cared for at the Minner place, Messrs. Pickens and Clark went out to investigate and upon comparing the child with the description of the lost one, which tallied exactly, with the exception of the little nick in the ear which could not be found, they returned to the city and telephoned Dr. Byers who arrived on the 7:40 train Friday evening. Early Saturday morning he went out to see the child who was very much like, yet not his own.

Again disappointed, he returned to the city and caught the 11:15 train southward bound for Arkansas where he goes to see another child answering the description of the lost boy.

This is the thirty-eighth boy he has gone to expecting to find his little one, and through the $1374.22, the Richmond Byers fund, raised by popular subscription through the columns of the Evansville Courier, they are enabled to go on with the search.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Byers are very much encouraged at the evidences of sympathy shown by the public in general, and they are very hopeful that they will yet find their little son.

Though the brunt of the search has fallen on Dr. Byers, though he has sown his money and his savings of years to the four winds in the hunt for the boy and was $225 in debt by the time the Richmond Byers fund was delivered to him, his wife is the heroine of the sad story of Richmond Byers.

Prostrated at first, unable to leave her bed for days, heart-broken and living in constant fear that her baby boy is being misused, she has by sheer force of will gathered her strength and kept the home together while her husband has gone out into the world to look for the boy.

When she saw that the family savings had been used up and when she saw that her husband's practice as a physician was falling off because he was seldom at home to visit his patients and often in too nervous a state to be trusted with an extreme case when at home, she threw herself into the breach. Telling her life partner to go on with the search and breathing words of hope and consolation into his ears when he seemed downcast and apparently on the verge of giving up hope, she opened a boarding house.

From the money she has made by keeping boarders she has kept the six other children in school, kept the roof over their heads and has often supplied money to help buy railroad tickets for her husband. She has decided that until they are both dead, she and her husband must keep up the search and unless success crowns their efforts they must go on and on, praying and searching until they are called away.

SHOCKING TRAGEDY

Occurred at the Little Town of Wheatcroft

PROMINENT YOUNG PEOPLE

Kills His Pretty Child Wife and Then With a Pistol Puts an End to His Own Existence

CITIZENS ARE AWED AT AWFUL CRIME

One of the most horrible shooting affairs imaginable occurred at Wheatcroft Sunday evening in which Abe Wallace, a young farmer, and son of R. P. Wallace, of Wheatcroft, shot and killed his child wife, and then ended his own life by sending a bullet through his brain.

About three months ago Wallace married a Miss Reese, of Wheatcroft, a bright and attractive young girl of only fifteen summers, he being but nineteen years of age.

The union was not a happy one and they were continually separating, after which Wallace would persuade his young wife to live with him again. From the beginning, it seems that he loved Miss Reese to distraction and she did not reciprocate his feelings with the same vigor, but the child, not realizing what the realities of married life were, consented to a marriage. Within only a few days she saw her mistake and decided not to live with her husband. The last reconciliation proved a failure and resulted in the awful tragedy.

Wallace tried to see his wife Sunday but she evaded him. However, she was walking along a street with a girl friend about 6:30 o'clock in the evening when Wallace walked up, pushed the girl to one side and then fired the fatal shot which took effect just above the victim's right eye, killing her instantly. He then stepped to one side, placed the muzzle of the revolver between his own eyes and fired the shot which sent his wretched soul to face its Maker.

The affair was a great shock to the quiet little town of Wheatcroft and has cast a gloom over the entire county.

Out for the West.

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 7.

Friend Chittenden:—Horace Greeley, as early as 1868 said, "Go West, young man, go West," but it seems that this admonition is being heeded in this good year of 1906 by old and young. We are a restless, migratory people.

After a pleasant trip with all the incidents that belong to an excursion train, we had a nice ride from Princeton to Memphis arriving at the latter city at midnight, and, though at this same hour we raced a break neck speed to catch the iron mountain horse, two minutes told us that we were that much behind time.

Memphis is a modest city of 150,000 hustling, bustling people. There is much talk of its recent suburban boom. To invest in "Memphis addition," real estate is a sure route to wealth, they say, but "they" don't always know.

We—wife, Hugh Ivan and I are out for the great West—not the "wild and woolly West" of ante-bellum days, but the progressive West of the twentieth century. With us travel J. W. Davis and family and Dan Fox, of old Crittenden. Their destination is Texas, Mr. Davis having the position of foreman on a Texas ranch.

To my many friends I would say that I am out for health. I don't know where I will locate or what I will do. I have a position on a newspaper staff, but my health may prevent my holding it. We will visit New Mexico and possibly the Pacific coast in old Mexico, the land of Montezumas and Cortez, of Maximilian and Diaz. But for a month, at least, we will sojourn in the great big state of Texas which State Speaker Read said you couldn't buy with a pair of boots if you didn't have the boots.

With the conductor's cry, "A-l-l o-u-t for Holdenville," we grab baggage and go leaving a description of the trip for another letter.

A Grim Tragedy

Is daily enacted, in thousands of homes, as Death claims, in each one, another victim of Consumption or Pneumonia. But when coughs and colds are properly treated, the tragedy is averted. F. G. Huntley, of Oaklandon, Ind., writes: "My wife had the consumption and three doctors gave her up. Finally she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which cured her, and today she is well and strong." It kills the germs of all diseases. One dose relieves. Guaranteed at 50c and $1.00 by HAYNES & TAYLOR, druggists. Trial bottle free.

Dr. G. E. Shively Resigns.

Owensboro, Ky., Feb. 8, 1906. To the city council of Marion, Ky.: Gentlemen:—

Permit me to say that it is with extreme regret that I tender your honor my resignation as mayor of the city of Marion, Ky., but after deciding to make Owensboro my future home I feel that it is my duty to resign this office. And allow me to say that the honor you conferred when you elected me as your mayor at the November election, 1905, devolves upon me a debt of gratitude ever mine to pay; and I know of nothing that would give me more profound pleasure than to be in your midst and serve you in this capacity. But my duty to my parents comes first, therefore I must resign that I may be with them here.

I know not who shall take my place with you, but my greatest hope is, that in your wisdom you will only make a better choice and that your citizens and town will prosper under his administration, as mayor of greater and new Marion.

Again thanking you for your unbounded kindness, and the honor that you and the good citizens of Marion have conferred, and trusting you will accept this as my resignation, and that I may some day have the pleasure of being with you again, I beg to remain

Your obedient friend,
GEO. E. SHIVELY.

Harmony Lady Quartette Company.

The Harmony Lady Quartette Company will be at the school auditorium Saturday night, February 24.

See what the leading papers say: The Harmony Quartette Concert Company is a combination affording a really enjoyable and diversified entertainment.—Libertyville, Ill.

Harmony Quartette Company gave best of satisfaction. One of the best musical programs given in the course.—J. R. McCollum, Saybrook, Ill.

Miss Daisy Higgins is an artiste and possesses talent and ability which has brought her fame among the best musicians.—Times, Renova, Pa.

Taking the entire program it was most pleasing, and numerous patrons of the course are particularly well pleased with the first numbers on the lecture course.—Logan, Ohio.

Miss Lillian Kirksmith, flute soloist, is a very girlish person and has a great future before her. She handles her instrument with ease and her tones are sweet and smooth.—Traverse City, Mich.

One of the most notable accomplishments of Miss Gertrude Kirksmith is the ease and grace with which she handles the violin. She is also gifted with an exceptionally fine soprano voice.—Reading, Pa.

Miss Maud Kirksmith possesses unusual talent as a violinist. The large audience was more than pleased with the selections rendered and accorded the most liberal applause. The entertainment was one of the most enjoyable of the season.—Trenton (Mo.) Republican.

Greatly in Demand.

Nothing is more in demand than a medicine which meets modern requirements for a blood and system cleanser, such as Dr. King's New Life Pills. They are just what you need to cure stomach and liver troubles. Try them. At Haynes & Taylor's drug store, 25, guaranteed.

A Living Monument.

If we were to assemble all those who have been cured of heart disease by Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and who would to-day be in their graves had not Dr. Miles' been successful in perfecting this wonderful heart specific, they would populate a large city.

What a remarkable record—a breathing, thinking, moving monument, composed of human lives,—that for which every other earthly possession is sacrificed.

The Miles Medical Co. receive thousands of letters from these people like the following:

"I feel indebted to the Dr. Miles' Heart Cure for my life. I desire to call the attention of others suffering as I did to this remarkable remedy for the heart. For a long time I had suffered from shortness of breath after any little exertion, palpitation of the heart; and at times terrible pain in the region of the heart, so serious that I feared that I would some time drop dead upon the street. One day I read one of your circulars and immediately sent to my druggist and purchased two bottles of the Heart Cure, and took it according to directions, with the result that I am entirely cured. Since then I never miss an opportunity to recommend this remedy to my friends who have heart trouble. In fact I am a traveling advertisement for I am widely known in this locality."

J. H. HOWMAN, Manager of Lebanon Democrat, Nashville, Tenn.

"Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails he will refund your money."

A Winter Night.

BY RUSTIC.

O'er earth's serene and white expanse,
A silence reigns, no twig is stirred.
The frosty moonbeams glint and glance
And not a pulse of life is heard.

Earth sleeps, a shroud her form invests,
A thousand lights watch o'er the dead,
A smile on her cold beauty rests
As if dreams hovered round her bed.

Yet doth the silent shroud of snow
But hide the life that sleeps beneath.
The bud shall burst—the plant shall grow Where now rests a frail, frail wreath.

So doth the shroud but hide the seed From which the awaking soul shall Come.

And life from its dark prison freed
In God's eternal love shall bloom.
Friend Chittenden:

Tonight, as I sit gazing at my firelight, A freight of scores of years ago Looms up before me. I can see the old Time open firelight shining full in the faces of the little circle gathered before it, lighting them up with such distinct-ness that I see them yet the aged father with his snowy beard, the mother with her wavy, silvery hair, the eldest sister, the sweet singer in our little Israel, the curly-headed boy, and the little one of the flock nestled in the loving mother's arms. After all these years they are still singing in the firelight, though the group has been more than a score of years with "the choir invisible." It was considered then days for every child, boy or girl, to kiss father and mother goodnight; and thus they parted at the time of even-song. For an hour, perhaps, I have been looking at the firelight—thinking. It is a pleasant hour while it lasts, and it leaves behind an aroma that clings like the violet's perfume.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON VII, FIRST QUARTER, INTERNA-TIONAL SERIES, FEB. 18.

Text of the Lesson, Mark 1, 21-34.
Memory Verses, 21, 34—Golden Text, Mark 1, 34—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1906, by American Press Association.]

This Sabbath day in Capernaum was probably shortly after His rejection at Nazareth (Luke iv, 28-30) as the anoint-ed of the Lord, for we read that, "leaving Nazareth, He came and dwelt in Capernaum" (Matt. iv, 13), fulfilling Isa. ix, 1, 2, and causing the place to be spoken of as "His own city" (Matt. ix, 1). The Sabbath day finds Him in the place of worship, as was His custom (Luke iv, 16), and we have no difficulty in knowing whence He got His message, for the Father who sent Him gave Him a commandment what He should say and what He should speak (John xii, 49); therefore His word was with authority and power, and not as the scribes, who sought honor from men and not from God only (John v, 44). The true servant of God will be sure to get his message from God and seek only the approval of God, never considering what men may think of it or of him as the messenger. The devil and his angels are real persons, for whom a real and fearful place of torment has been prepared (Matt. xxv, 41).
They know Jesus as the Holy One of God, the Son of God, the Christ (verse 24, Luke iv, 41), and they know that He will yet destroy them and all their works (Heb. ii, 14; 1 John iii, 8), for while in our lesson they ask, "Art Thou come to destroy us?" on another occasion they ask, "Art Thou come hither to torment us before the time?" (Matt. viii, 29). The Lord Jesus was never disturbed by the presence of these evil ones nor deceived by their testimony.
He would have none of them speaking of Him, but with His word cast them out (Matt. viii, 16). Some one has said that evil spirits are like bad tenants—when they get notice to leave they do all the harm they can to the property before they move out (verse 26). Notice that Jesus rebuked the evil spirit, not the man. While we hate sin and the devil we must love sinners, even as God does, and seek their salvation.
Those who saw and heard these things did not know that they were looking upon Him who talked with Abraham and Moses, the Creator of all things, the Redeemer of Israel, and they marveled at His power. Do we know something of His gift of power over all the power of the enemy and because of His work in and through us is His fame in any way being spread abroad in either home or foreign lands?

From the synagogue they go to the home of Simon, where his wife's mother is sick with a fever, and, awed by the events of the morning, they tell Him of her. He took her by the hand, and immediately she was well and took part in ministering to them. It is possible that some sick ones who are looking to Him to heal them and wondering why he does not do so might know His healing power if He saw that they would serve Him and live to His glory if they were healed. When He does or does not do what we ask Him for, He always has the best of reasons for granting or refusing our requests, and some day we shall see that it has not been without cause (Ezek. xiv, 23).
I have often been helped by these lines:
With peaceful mind the path of duty run, God nothing does nor suffers to be done, But what thou wouldest thyself, consider thou hast seen Through all events of things as well as He.

Some people act as if they parted company with the Lord when church was out, as if they said I'll see you again next Sunday, but those who know Him will always want Him with them, will rejoice in His assurance, "Lo, I am with you all the days," "I will never leave thee nor forsake thee" (Matt. xxviii, 20; Heb. xiii, 5), and will be careful not to allow any person, place or thing to mar fellowship with Himself. If we have a trouble of any kind, mental or physical, let us tell Him quickly according to Phil. iv, 6, 7, and we shall find Him as good as His word always.

Does any kind of a fever consume you, either in things lawful or unlawful, business, pleasure, lust of any kind, the egres of this world, let His hand dispel it as it did hers. All bodily ailments are suggestive of diseases of the soul, but He is the Great Physician, and nothing is too wonderful for Him.
See all the city with all their sick at the door when the sun did set, or, in other words, when the Sabbath was past, and see His power and consider the joy in that city that night. We are here in His name to know His power for our own souls and bodies and to magnify His name that others may know Him, too, but unless we know Him better than most people seem to who hear His name we shall not be very enthusiastic in making Him known.
His words and works all bore witness to the Father and that the Father had sent Him (John v, 36; xiv, 10).
If we are only fully yielded the same Spirit who wrought in and through Him will work in and through us to the glory of God, for while there are diversities of gifts and of operations it is the same God who worketh all in all, the selfsame Spirit dividing to every man severally as He will (1 Cor. xii, 4-11). The only knowledge of and belief in Him that profits is when it leads to a whole hearted reception of and submission to Him as one's own Saviour and Lord. The devils believe and tremble (Jas. ii, 19), but there is no profit or benefit to them in that. They can never know Him as their Saviour, but they must bow to and obey Him.
He wants no testimony or help from His enemies, but He does say to His own, "Let Me hear thy voice." "Ye shall be witnesses unto Me," and He expects us to manifest to the world that He does satisfy us and fill us.

HAYSTACK MONUMENT.

Marks Birthplace of Foreign Mission Work in This Country.

Many a visitor to Williams college is taken to the birthplace of American foreign missions, marked by a unique monument in a little park near the college grounds.

For once in the history of the world a prayer meeting is commemorated by a monument. In Mission park in Williamstown stands a shaft which was dedicated on Sunday, July 28, 1867, to the memory of five students of Williams college who met at the close of one sultry summer day in the year 1866 to hold a prayer meeting, as was their custom. They were overtaken by a sudden shower of rain and were compelled to seek the friendly shelter afforded them by a neighboring haystack.

The group of young evangelists who were present at the prayer meeting on that particular occasion consisted of Samuel J. Mills, James Richards, Francis L. Robbins, Harvey Loomis and Byram Green.

Sheltered from the rain by the haystack, they continued amid the conflict of the elements their devotional exercises and discussed religious topics of deep interest to themselves. While the storm raged Mills communicated to his fellows the plan of executing a great life work. It was nothing less than a mission to some heathen land and the ultimate evangelization of the world.

They communicated their plan to such of their fellow students as they believed would sympathize with them and organized the Society of Brethren, a secret society, which had for its object the establishment of foreign missions.

The result of the prayer meeting was the organization in Bradford, Mass., in 1810 of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions. From this start grew the great society of the American board, which has distributed millions of dollars. Since the first meeting of five persons its corporate and honorary members have increased to over 70,000.

Years after the students had formed their great scheme of evangelization the spot where they held the prayer meeting was marked by a cedar stake.
This led to the purchase of Mission park by the alumni of Williams college and in 1867 to the erection of the Haystack monument. The cedar stake monument became marble through Harvey Rice of Cleveland, who designed and at his own expense reared the prayer meeting site marker.

The monument stands on the identical spot where the haystack stood. It is a strictly Berkshire county production, composed of Berkshire marble, quarried at Alford and wrought in the workshops of the Berkshire Marble company. Its height is twelve feet, its shaft, cap and base square polished, its color a silver blue.—New York Tribune.

Hindoo Caste.

The four grades of society among the Hindoos are the Brahmins, or sacer-dotal class, who are said at the moment of creation to have issued from the mouth of Brahma; the Kshatrya, or Chutsee, or military class, sprung from the arm of Brahma; the Vaisya, or Rasi, or mercantile class, from the thigh of Brahma, and Sudras, or Sodars, or servile class, from the foot of Brahma. The business of the Sudras is to serve the three superior classes, more especially the Brahmins. Their condition is never to be improved, they are not to accumulate property and are unable by any means to approach the dignity of the higher classes. These divisions are hereditary, impassable and inflexible.

Meyerbeer.

Meyerbeer was so nervous and "fidgety" about his works that when they were in course of preparation or rehearsal or performance he never gave himself or any one else concerned a moment's peace of mind. He was constantly making changes or alterations in the score and would sometimes write a passage in three or four different colored inks in order to try the different effects and then could not make up his mind which was the best. He worried over his opera "L'Africaine" so long, delaying, retouching and polishing, even while it was in rehearsal, that the self imposed labor made him ill, and he died before the first public performance.

Dynamite Whiskers.

The name "whiskers" is applied to feathery crystals which gather upon the outside of the wrapping of frozen dynamite. The "whiskers" are more "irritable" than dynamite itself. A case is on record where sticks of dynamite had been thawed out in hot water and the can of hot water in which it was done left in the blacksmith shop without being emptied of the residual scum of grease and whiskers. The first blow of the blacksmith's hammer on a nearby anvil was sufficient to set off the whiskers by concussion. The can was blown to pieces, but fortunately no one was hurt.

The Kaffirs.

The Kaffirs are great philosophers.
If an ox should die the owner never grieves, but remarks: "Now I must go to work for master (all white men who treat them well are called masters), and in six months he will give me a cow. It will have a calf. If it is a bull calf in a year I'll have a pair of oxen, but should it be a heifer calf I'm all the richer, for the next year I'll have two calves instead of one."

The opinions of the misanthropical rest upon this very positive basis, they adopt the bad faith of a few as evidence of the worthlessness of all.—Bo 1906.

form of Stomach Trouble.

H. T. Hall, of Nobleville, Ind., writes: "I feel it my duty to give you a voluntary testimonial for Syrup Pepsin. My wife has been troubled with Chronic Constipation in a most severe stage. We have tried all remedies we could hear of, together with prescriptions from local physicians, and until we finally got hold of your remedy, found no relief, but after taking your remedy for a few days only, we have results that are simply marvelous. I send you this entirely unsolicited, and will surely speak a good word for your remedy wherever and whenever I can."

Farmers, fruit or vegetable growers, in fact everybody is greatly interested in local weather conditions, but only a few have cared to arrange for keeping records, for the reason that it was considered troublesome to do so. The trouble grew out of the fact that good, simple weather record books were not available until Dr. Miles perfected and published one. Now weather records are a recreation and a pleasure to keep.

The weather record for 1906 is a pamphlet blank book printed on good writing paper, one page for each month, one line for each day, with blank space for record of high and low temperature, changes of weather, etc.

This weather record for 1906 is now ready to be mailed and contains valuable articles, such as Different Storms, How to Make Thermometer Shelters, How to Make and Use a Rain Gauge, Concerning Barometers, etc.

The Temperature Chart is made up from government statistics; shows the highest and lowest temperature that has occurred in the United States at the various weather bureau stations since their installation which varies from eight to thirty-five years.

We have made special arrangement by which any of the readers of this paper can obtain the Weather Record and Temperature Chart free, by filling out and signing the following blank:

Common Colds are the Cause of Many Serious Diseases

Physicians who have gained a national reputation as analysts of the cause of various diseases, claim that if catching cold could be avoided a long list of dangerous ailments would never be heard of. Every one knows that pneumonia and consumption originate from a cold, and chronic catarrh, bronchitis, and all throat and lung trouble are aggravated and rendered more serious by each fresh attack. Do not risk your life or take chances when you have a cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will cure it before these diseases develop. This remedy contains no opium, morphine or other harmful drugs and has thirty years of reputation back of it, gained by its cure under every condition. For sale by

OUR FASHION LETTER.

Return to the Modes of the Early Victorian Era.

GRAY SQUIRREL NECK SCARFS

Alice and Army Blue to Be the Favorite Colors For Spring—Skirts of Indian Red Voile For Misses—Anklets Are a Quaint Fad.

One of the fascinating trifles in woman's wear is a collar of ostrich feathers interspersed with knots of bebe ribbon in two shades of blue.

Some of the new stocks show a line of gold about the top instead of the usual ruching.

Evening slippers of tinted or white satin are adorned with a large white or pink rose of silk with a jeweled center.

Gray squirrel neck scarfs are to be bought as low as $2.

There is a return to the early Victorian era and to the old fashioned jacket. Small hats of the "billycock" fullness is arranged somewhat on the supplied order from a plain yoke and empiement, edged with velvet and fastened with five buttons a little above the waist line.

SARTORIAL NOTES.

Alice and army blue are to be the favorite colors for spring. The advanced showing of materials in these attractive shades is perfectly stunning. There are all kinds of weaves, including the herringbone effects, which have been smart all winter.

Sets of beautiful nainsook underwear made up with the trimming of all the pieces of the same pattern of embroidery or lace are more exquisite than ever. Real lace adorns this expensive lingerie. American women have grown so particular that nothing but real lace is thought good enough to go with hand embroidery.

A lovely gown of Indian red voile for a girl of twelve has its skirt made with a full flounce, in which are two deep tucks set on the upper part of the skirt under another tuck. Broad tucks set the waist off in a sort of square, and just inside it wanders a graceful little vine embroidered in silk which matches the red voile exactly. Drawn work done directly on the voile makes a yoke, and the same drawn work—just narrow lines of the thread caught together in a simple pattern—runs all around the full bounce of the skirt. The sleeves have draped uppers and deep cuffs. The gown is made over white silk, so that every bit of the drawn work shows to advantage.

New plus of the safety order representing enameled orchids and other flowers are three and four inches in length. They are meant to pin together boleros, stoles and collars and are quite effective.

The girl's dress pictured is of blue and white spotted chaffie. The skirt has three straight gathered bonces. A princess effect is gained by the skirt and waist being shirred together. A smart collar and tabs of lace make a dressy finish for the bodice.

DRESS NOVELTIES.

Women who like to be always doing or wearing something out of the common have taken to adorning themselves with anklets. Some of these new anklets are the tiniest gold bands, inscribed with ancient charms and said to defend the wearer from diseases and evil of every kind. Other anklets are made of precious stones strung together.

VELVET EVENING WRAP.

er. They are worn under the stocking and scarcely show through, so fine and small are they.

One of the prettiest ideas in neck ruffles is an affair of feathery ribbon that can easily be made at home. It consists simply of a rose quilling of eight inch ribbon fastened upon a two or three inch foundation of canvas, with about an inch of the entire ribbon on both sides frayed to make a good silky fringe. To each end of the ruff are attached two little tails made in the same way, without the foundation and of four inch ribbon. Plain satin ribbon is the best for this, as it is firm and holds the folds out well.

The evening wrap illustrated is of dark green velvet. Front and sleeves are decorated with stitched straps trimmed with metal buttons. The neck is finished with a lace collar.

JUDIE CHOLET.

OUR NEW YORK WEEKLY LETTER

Spring Fashions in Colors and Fabrics. Advance Styles in Semi-made Robes and Shirt Waist Patterns.

As soon as the snows of January begin to fall the southern exodus takes place and some of the most fashionable gowns of the season are traveling south to make gay with beauty and color those sunny, southern towns. Snow and ice, sleet and hail are left behind, with slippery sidewalks, to the unfortunate who have to remain. What a pity every one cannot hie away from busy, wintry New York, with trunks filled with duffy, floating, fascinating robes that are only made for verandas and shaded magnolia walks.

A gown builder on Fifth avenue has just finished one of these gowns for a well known society girl to take south. It is the familiar but ever beautiful combination of white cloth and lace, made up in princess fashion, with a stunning little bolero of lace.

If Paris is the birthplace of novelties, New York can quickly make use of them. A young lady who always does her shopping in Paris and London came home recently congratulating herself on her exquisite gun metal costume of latest Parisian cut, only to find many of her friends wearing the same thing.

Gun metal will be very popular for a spring color, as also will royal blue and pompadour pink. In spring fabrics all the softest shades imaginable are used with the most exquisite colorings. Hand painted mullins with a deep border of pink roses suggested an old fashioned costume of fifty years ago. The tendency for old fashions is revealed in the designs of early spring goods, and a very charming thing was a crepe organzie in pale and deep shades of lavender and pink. French tulles will be worn a great deal. They come in all delicate shades suggestive of spring, with dainty bouquets scattered over them, looking almost like a Dolly Varden, but less pronounced in coloring.

A very serviceable little frock could be made of crepeorgie or of imported embroidered linen, the embroidery done in a small odd design of pale blue or green. Another, equally useful and attractive to any one who likes smart laundered things, was a jacquard ging ham in gray, white or blue.

Spring will see the culmination of the silk vogue, and hardly before midwinter is here all the newest weaves will be displayed in their heavy or soft folds. Satin messaline, a very soft clinging material, makes a most beautiful evening gown if combined with rich lace. Hair line stripes in fancy silks make very stunning walking costumes, and there is nothing more serviceable, for the ever popular shirt waist seems to be here to stay and will stay as long as the cost costume continues its useful career.

In shirt waists there are so many seen that it is bewildering, but some are within reach, really delicately embroidered ones, of the most limited purse. To the girl who can sew a very pretty new idea was seen in one of the shops this week consisting of exquisitely trimmed batiste with material enough in it to make a shirt waist in the average sizes. It was called the "ready to make waist," as a paper pattern was sold with it to save the extra trouble of designing.

But in embroidered things there is nothing that can equal some lingerie semi-made robes that are attracting a great deal of attention. The embroidery is machine made, but put on so cleverly on fine nainsook and batiste that only careful observation could detect any difference from handmade work. Some of them were made of figured batiste or lawn in pale blue or pink, with delicate designs on the flowing sleeves and collar. They range in price from $9 up for the white robes and $12 up for the colored ones.

Frightfully Burned.

Chas. W. Moore, a machinist, of Ford City, Pa., had his hand frightfully burned in an electrical furnace. He applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve with the usual result: "a quick and perfect cure." Greatest healer on earth for Burns, Wounds, Sores, Eczema and Itches. 25 cents at Haynes & Taylor's Drugists.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving patient strength by pulling up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. Cotton statistics show that the acreage in the south for this season is 28,000,000. The crop of 1905 comprises 10,167,818 bales of 500 pounds each. Texas led with 2,382,975 bales.

Miss Anna Gould some years ago married a French count, Boni de Castellane. Now she is wanting a divorce. If the cost of the marriage had been made in silver instead of Gould she would have known in a moment that she had made a false count.—Princeton Leader.

Some people would not be so comical should they appear more modest. Brazen brass is a shell which shatters and falls when punctured, but there is a virtue in the modest, unassuming soul that has, regardless of one's taste in the fleeting moment, a hidden foundation in which that virtue shall yet raise its head triumphant.

If one man were taxed 50 cents and another 100 cents, the inequality would be manifest, yet there are numerous devices for taxing property in one form and then taxing it in another form all under the plea of equality. A man owns a lot worth $5,000. He borrows $5,000 and puts up a house. It is taxed for $10,000 and the mortgage is taxed; $15,000 in all, and the effect is the same as if the original owners found his tax 75 cents, while his neighbor paid only 50 cents.—Louisville Post

Representative Fred Landis, of Indiana, has a lengthy signed statement by Major Charles A. Bookwalter, of Indianapolis, which gives details of Col. Tom Campbell's effort to bribe him to permit Gov. W. S. Taylor to be kidnapped and brought to Kentucky. Campbell offered Bookwalter $25,000 if he would allow Taylor to be forcibly taken away. If we remember correctly Campbell was to receive $5,000 from that $100,000 appropriation for every conviction. He did not say whether or not the $25,000 would be paid out of that famous appropriation.—Richmond Pantagraph.

ST. VALENTINE'S DAY.

Over 500 years ago young people began sending love letters to each other and it was thought that birds also chose their mates on the 14th of February, hence it was called St. Valentine's day and the custom still continues. St. Valentine's day fell on Wednesday this year and no doubt, many of our readers received valentines whether comic or otherwise.

"Heathen Editor" Dead.

Lexington, Feb. 8.—Charles Chilton Moore, editor of the Bluegrass Blade, of this city, and widely known as an agnostic who preferred to call himself the "Heathen Editor," died this afternoon at 2 o'clock at his home, Quaker Acre, near this city, after an illness from heart disease which had confined him to his home for about six months.

Mrs. Ida Tolley Dead.

Mrs. Ida Tolley died last Friday at her home near Levisa, of consumption. She had suffered with this dread disease for ten weeks and death was almost welcome, being a relief to her long suffering.

Mrs. Tolley was twenty-five years of age and leaves a husband and four little children, the oldest child being but four years of age.

She was a native of Union county and nine years ago at Henshaw was married to Christopher Tolley by Rev. J. S. Henry, of this city. They lived in Illinois and later moved to Crittenden county where she died.

She was a woman of many lovable traits, a faithful wife and loving mother and a devoted member of the Deer Creek Baptist church.

Funeral services were held Saturday conducted by Rev. J. S. Henry, of this city, and the remains laid to rest in the Love grave yard.

Punctuality.

Punctuality is the quality first after honesty. Truthfulness, exactness, and care are qualities above price. Refinement and politeness of manner coupled with neatness of person and appropriate apparel are the first marks of lady and gentleman, while gentleness of voice and careful of speech are the unmistakable evidence of the wellbred. If, in addition, one is careful and orderly in the performance of every task, then indeed is there a place forward in the ranks of the world's workers for him. If all who must work for a living were ambitious to perform every duty in the best manner, always with promptness, not haste, with neatness and order, not confusion, there would be for such no idle days without income.

Educational Column

SUPT. J. B. PARIS, Editor.

Stuffing for an examination and preparing to teach, are two very different propositions.

-0-

The patience to wait for that steady substantial mental growth consequent to real teaching is one requisite of the true teacher.

-0-

In a German paper is the following paragraph: "Teachers (in the U. S.) are elected but for one year then they must be re-elected. They are not judged by their worth but by their ability to ingratiate themselves into the favor of the school board. Please inform me as to the truth of this statement. Surely such cannot be true."

-0-

Humiliating indeed for the school people that are compelled to admit that the foregoing is correct. Too often the question of politics or religion enters into the choice of the teacher to utter exclusion of moral fitness or professional ability.

-0-

Below is given in full an article clipped from the Southern School Journal, concerning the normal training schools for teachers. There are those who will object to an investment of money in training schools for teachers simply from the fact that they cannot see an immediate return in a money value. Increase the efficiency of the teaching force and the returns cannot be measured by a money value. It will mean better manhood and womanhood, independent producers instead of dependent consumers and a noble citizenship. Read and see if this article isn't about right:

THE ONE THING NEEDFUL IN KENTUCKY.

What is Kentucky's greatest need? A productive soil? She has it. A healthful climate? None more salubrious can be found under the canopy of heaven? Mineral wealth? Her hills are teeming with it. A noble history to inspire the hearts of her sons and daughters with the patriotic fire? The dauntless heroism of our pioneer forefathers, the achievements of Kentucky's sons on the blood-stained battle field, in pulpit and forum, and in councils of state, the illustrious name she has given to art, to law, and to letters—all cry No.

The answer to the question is to be found in the figures given out by the Kentucky Educational Improvement Commission. Over 14 per cent of our native white voters wholly illiterate and half of our children not attending any school! That such a condition of affairs can exist in a free state is appalling. Without doubt, the great need of our commonwealth today is popular education.

It is a truth, to the American people axiomatic, that a state whose destinies are controlled by the popular will is responsible for the education of its citizens. Kentucky has recognized this obligation in her constitution and in laws passed from time to time by the General Assembly establishing a system of free schools. The desired end has been clearly seen, but the means used have undeniably proved inadequate.

A system of public schools has been provided for. Where is it defective? The two essential elements in every school are pupils and a teacher. All other elements are merely accessory. Though Kentucky has, perhaps, not been liberal in providing the accessories, she has by no means received returns her expenditures in this direction would warrant. The one thing needful must relate to one of the essentials. Kentucky's compulsory education law and the thousands of her children probing in the darkness of ignorance bear silent witness to the fact that pupils are not wanting. Can it be that the other essential, the teacher, has not been provided for? The process of elimination leads infallibly to this conclusion.

One thousand schools without teachers! The large majority of the remainder with untrained teachers! Here is where our state has fallen short of her duty. No intelligent man will permit his child to be treated, in case of illness, by any except one specially trained for the medical profession. No intelligent man, when his property is involved in litigation, will employ for counsel any except one specially trained for the legal profession. Yet the percentage of Kentucky teachers who have received special training for the teaching profession is so small as to be a negligible quantity.

Our people have shown more intelligence in the training of their horses than of their children. As a result, our horses are celebrated the world over. A Kentucky farmer would not think of entrusting his valuable horse to any but a competent trainer, but the average Kentucky farmer never thinks of demanding special preparation on the part of the trainer of his child. And how much more is at stake! If he employs a poor trainer and his horse is ruined, he may buy another horse and employ a better trainer. If his child's intellect is ruined by poor teaching, the loss is irreparable and the consequences cease only with eternity.

The crying need of the hour in Kentucky is teachers who have undergone a special course of preparation for the work of teaching. Our State, which has recognized as fundamental the importance of public education, has failed to provide even one State Normal School designed exclusively for the training and inspiration of the white teachers, on whose fitness for their high calling and the success of the whole system depends.

Let us all get together and demand a system of State Normal Training Schools, so located as to be easily accessible to every teacher within our borders; for on the competency our teachers hang the destinies of our Commonwealth.—H. M. Gunn, in Southern School Journal.

A Habit to be Encouraged.

The mother who has acquired the habit of keeping on hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, saves herself a great amount of uneasiness and anxiety. Coughs, colds and croup, to which children are susceptible, are quickly cured by its use. It counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia, and if given as soon as the first symptoms of croup appear, it will prevent the attack. The remedy contains nothing injurious and mothers give it to little ones with a feeling of security. Sold by Haynes & Taylor, the enterprising Druggists of Marion.

HYOMEI GIVEN A REMARKABLE TEST

Haynes & Taylor Have Sold Hyomei for Years and Know It Will Cure Catarrh.

Haynes & Taylor have given Hyomei a most thorough and remarkable test. For a long time they have offered to refund the money to any purchaser of Hyomei, if it failed to benefit.

The remedy has made so many cures among their customers that they have urged its use in the most chronic cases of catarrh.

Breathed for a few minutes four times a day, through the inhaler that comes with every outfit, it soothes the irritated mucous membrane of the nose, throat, and lungs, kills the catarrhal germs, and restores complete health.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs only $1 and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the pocket or purse, will last a lifetime, a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei. If this is not sufficient for a complete cure, additional bottle of Hyomei can be obtained for 50 cents.

Compare this small expense with the fees charged by specialists, and remember, too, if Hyomei does not cure, they will refund your money.

Farmers' Association Meets.

The Crittenden county farmers' association met here Monday and elected delegates to attend the state meeting to be held at Frankfort. The following minutes were reported by the secretary:

The Crittenden county farmers' club met at the court house for the purpose of transacting any business that might come before it.

The club was called to order by the president, J. Frank Conger. The object of this meeting was to appoint delegates to represent the farmers' club at the state institute to be held at Frankfort on February 27, 28 and March 1.

The following delegates were appointed to attend the state institute: Eli Nunn, J. D. Hodge, A. H. Cardin, Henry Brewster, P. C. Stephens, C. W. Fox, Al Dean, R. F. Wheeler, and J. Frank Conger.

The meeting adjourned to meet again on the third Saturday in March, 1906.

J. FRANK CONGER, Pres.
CHAS. W. FOX, Sec.

Meeting of City Council.

At the regular meeting of the city council Tuesday night, Councilman Geo. C. Gray presided as mayor pro tem. The new officers, Marshal A. S. Cannan, Attorney Jno. C. Moore and Clerk Jas. L. Travis were sworn in.

The resignation of Dr. G. E. Shively as mayor was presented and accepted. The council then elected former Mayor Jno. W. Blue to serve until his successor was duly elected and qualified to fill the office.

Several ordinances were passed and it was ordered that crossings be put in at several points in the city.

The extended growth of the city received proper attention in so much as it was ordered that ten more street lights be put on at the following points:

At end of Poplar street near Mrs. Nora Yates.

At top of Blue hill.

At crossing of Elm and Coon Road near Dr. A. J. Driskill's.

At crossing of Bingham and Main near Hugh Hurley's.

At crossing of Walker and Elm near Thos. McConnell.

On south Main near J. R. Finley's.

At end of Cherry near J. L. Travis.

On East Belleville near A. S. Cannan's.

On East Depot near A. C. Moore's.

On West Depot near Geo. W. Stone's.

All the new lights are to be five feet higher than the old lights, besides some of the older lights are to be raised five feet. The light that is now near W. H. Copher, on Poplar street, is to be moved back to its former location at intersection of Maple and Poplar.

The addition of the ten extra lights will make in all thirty-three lights which will cost the city about $2,145.00, but the extra cost is more than made up in the revenue received from the suburbs that have been taken in and which are to profit by the new lights and besides, the development of Marion demands a good system of lights.

Where one plants the seedlings of the previous year's crop finds himself strictly in a potato business.

There is said to be an improvement in the type of tramps that the country compared with years ago. All the same, they are parasites pure and simple.

The aged farrow cow is a predestination, but sometimes work out her destiny, and a kindly disposed person in the city are innocently compelled to buy up as prime beef. It does so bad when a Chicago pig works her up with beer and pork.

Statistician Hyde of the agriculture department, who went to Europe soon as he resigned, was called to turn and give evidence in the graft developed in connection with the department. It is not improper to mark in this connection that the returns Secretary Wilson will talk with the Hyde.

A fact of no small importance in western Canada, guessed at in a manner this year, is that in the line of Alberta, at least, and possibly covering a much larger area, wheat can be raised with more success. This will insure the maturing of a crop which some spring sometimes has all it can get ripe before frost.

We have no patience with the discussions involving strife between farmer and the merchant. There is no reason on earth why there should not be the utmost harmony between these two. The man who upsets the farmer does all the work and merchant lives by beating him out, like the man who styles himself "Ruben," should be shut up. The greatest good and most profitable relations will arise from a friendly operation of the man within the operation limits and his brother out.

The business of farming is no other occupation in the sense that it is just about what one chooses to do. Just because a man is engaged in tilling the soil and raising crops, he should live like a barbarian. I have seen men running retail and practicing professions who are inclined to the uncouth in their life. The man largely makes his business. If he is slovenly and by nature he will show it in his action. The time is not far distant when the art of agriculture is to be high in the list of the world's professions.

There are three things connected with our modern development that we cannot well do without and leave ugly scars in their trail. They are stone quarries, brickyards, and coal mines, each of which with the appearance of the country is a bad way. The quarry, because usually in some bluff, is less objectionable than the others. The brickyard, usually located adjacent to town or city, becomes the worst of an eyesore with its extraneous while coal mines leave mountains of cinders, ashes and debris that are almost impossible to remove. While nature will always make a desperate effort to redeem and beautify such a scene, she finds it hard work to handle this proposition, and they remain scars and mutilations on the face of the landscape for all time.

Just at this time of the year I have been the interesting event of the gathering of the swallows preparing to migrate to the south. If you watch he will see these birds, which have nested in the north, gradually assembling in large flocks, frequently monopolizing a long line of telegraph or telephone wire, resting a few moments and then going out on a short circuitous flight and returning to the perch. This will be kept up for three or four days, with a great deal of chattering and noise, each flight becoming wider in its radius and the number of birds continually increasing. Usually some morning, usually about May 20, the day of migration arrives, and they gathered once more at the old meeting place, they wheel into the air, and off to the south like a flash, to be seen until next May. How far do they fly? These same birds inside of four or five hours will be found in Louisiana and the Central American states, a speed made in the southern passage being estimated at 120 miles per hour. We have four or five varieties of swallows which breed in the north and stay with us from May until August, among which are the house martin, the barn swallow and the sand swallow, all of which have the same migratory habits.

WILL WE PROTECT HOME INTERESTS?

Senators McCreary and Newman Introduce Immigration Regulation Bill.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 3, 1906.
Editor Record, Marion, Ky.
My Dear Sir: The Board of Directors and the State Development committee of the Louisville Commercial Club submits the subjoined expression of their views upon the subject of Immigration and of Kentucky's relation to certain pending legislation bearing thereon, in line with the action of the recent State Development Convention on this subject. In so far as you may feel an interest in the matter, we would deeply appreciate your assistance in urging upon the legislature through editorial comment or otherwise, earnest consideration of the of the subject. Very truly, A. Y. FORD,
Ch'm. State Development Com.

KENTUCKY'S INTEREST IN IMMIGRATION.

Senator Jas. B. McCreary's bill now pending in the Senate of the United States to regulate immigration has a special interest for Kentucky, not because it is the solution offered by one of the State's Senators to a question of great national importance, but because Kentucky has of late shown a keen interest in this subject. The means proposed by Senator McCreary increases the restriction upon undesirable immigrants and increase the facilities by which States with representatives at immigrant ports may secure from the great mass of immigrants that are pouring into the country, whatever they may need of the better class of agricultural and industrial laborers, and protect themselves measurably against immigrants of an undesirable kind.

The first of these things Senator Mc-Creary proposes to do by increasing the tax on immigrants from two to five dollars, by adding to the list of excluded immigrants, and by increasing the efficiency of the inspection service for enforcing this exclusion. The other end is to be promoted by authorizing and directing the Commissioner General of Immigration to maintain in connection with each immigrant station a bureau which shall furnish information as to the resources, products, manufactures, climate, soil, prices of land, etc., of each State and Territory, the route of travel thereto and the cost of transportation, the opportunities for employment in each State and Territory in the various skilled and unskilled occupations, together with the rates of wages and the cost of living. To the same end—and this is of special interest in view of pending legislation in Kentucky—Senator McCreary's bill provides that when any State desires to maintain an agent at any immigration station of the United States, the Commissioner General of Immigration shall provide such agent with suitable quarters, permit him to have access to all immigrants and give him aid so far as possible.

It is important that the United States should adopt stringent measures for the exclusion of undesirable immigrants, in view of the accumulated evidence showing that an organized effort is being made to unload a vastly greater number than usual of such immigrants on this country. It is likewise especially important to Kentucky that this State should not passively take its chances, without effort to protect or help itself, when other States are providing official representatives at immigrant ports. If Kentucky does nothing, it will not only allow all desirable immigrants, such as are needed on our farms and in our factories, to be diverted to States that have the enterprise to go after them, but it will be more than likely to receive more than it wants of the undesirable class, since there is some reason to apprehend an organized effort to send these undesirable people to the South, while the West and Northwest get the pick of the thrifty Germans, Scandinavians and Irish.

This immigration question is an important one and a practical one. A step toward putting Kentucky in a position to derive some advantage from the provisions of Senator Mc-Creary's bill is proposed in the bill that has been introduced at Frankfort by Senator Newman. This bill provides for a commission which shall, among other things, look after the immigration interest of the State. It does not go as far as some would like for it to go, but it goes in the right direction and would put Kentucky in a better position, both for securing that influx of thrifty population, for which there is such a demand in many parts of the State, and for imposing some check upon the kind of immigration that the State does not want. It provides also for supplying needed information to investors and home-seekers from other States.

MARION, KY.

PROVIDENCE SUFFERS TERRIBLE LOSS

Portion of City Burns to Extent of More Than a $10,000 Loss.

Town of Providence, Webster, was visited by a destructive fire afternoon of Feb. 8, at 4 o'clock several of the leading business were destroyed. For some was thought that the whole portion of the city would be away by the flames, but the was finally brought under control more than ten-thousand dollars of property was lost. The loss-ers: Frank Morton, store; Mont-Bros., building and stock; C. ice, building and stock; B. F. ings, building and furniture stock; Kirkwood, barber shop; Abe r, clothing stock; Walter Slattery, er shop; and Rice Head, meat et. The large dry goods store of Givens was extinguished after been ignited.

greater part of the losses were ed, and the buildings will probab-e replaced. It was only by exrdinary efforts that the entire busiportion of the town escaped being ed out.

Smith's Mills Burns.

More than half the business section Smith's mills was destroyed by fire on, Thursday, Feb. 8, the losses regarding about $9,000. The Odd lows building, occupied by Nelson thers, grocers; the building of Geo.
Powell, occupied by Latta Bethel, ertaker and furniture dealer; the idence of Wm. Grady; the barber shoe shop of Wm. Crowder, and office building of Dr. Royster were ed to the ground by the flames and eral adjacent buildings were badly naged.

The fire originated from a defective in an attic above the store room occupied by Nelson Brothers, and beere any one knew of it the flames ere beyond control. A bucket brig-e composed of sixty or seventy-five en and boys made a desperate effort ave the adjoining buildings. But ore the fire fighters could get the ames under control four buildings ere leveled to the earth.—Gleaner.

$10,000 Donation.

James R. Rash, of Earlington, has iven South Kentucky college ten-ousand dollars.

This generous donation not only inures the retention of the institution on its present beautiful site in that city, but with subscriptions of citizens of there and elsewhere, makes possible its general enlargement in the way of new buildings and educational usefulness, and will place the college among the foremost institutions of learning in Kentucky.

Mr. Rash's gift is made for a memorial to his son Ben L. Rash, Jr., a bright and popular boy, who died in his early youth. An older son, Frank Rash, was a student at the college several years ago and was graduated with high honors, and is now a successful civil engineer. A new college building will be erected, and will be known as the Ben Rash memorial building.

James R. Rash is one of Hopkins county's best known and most substantial citizens, and has a host of friends there. He is general manager of the St. Bernard Coal company.

No More Football.

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 8.—Announcement was made today that the faculty of Harvard has expressed its opinion to the committee on the regulation of athletic sports that intercollegiate football should be prohibited at Harvard students in 1906, and until a reasonable game shall have been formulated.

The faculty has sent the following to the athletic committee:
"Ordered, that in the opinion of the faculty inter-collegiate football should be prohibited to Harvard students in 1906, and until a reasonable game of football shall have been formulated, and fully exemplified in the practice in individual colleges."

It is now regarded as probable in athletic circles here that Harvard will play no football next season, whatever may be done in succeeding years. The committee on athletics is composed of three members of the faculty, three graduates and three undergraduates.

A. C. Biggs Dead.

The little city of Waverly, and in fact the entire county, was shocked Tuesday morning by the sad announcement of the death of Mr. A. C. Biggs, at his home in Waverly the previous night at 11 o'clock.

His death was quite sudden. Mr.
Biggs spent Monday in Marion attending to some business and returning home in the evening, he was taken suddenly ill while on the train. His condition grew gradually worse and he died at 11 o'clock Monday night. He was thought to have been a victim of ptomaine poisoning which resulted from eating a box of sardines.

The Good Old Way.

A severe cold or attack of la grippe is like a fire, the sooner you combat it the better your chances are to overpower it. But few mothers in this age are willing to do the necessary work required to give a good, old fashioned, reliable treatment such as would be administered by their grandmothers.
backed by Boschee's German Syrup, which was always liberally used in connection with the home treatment of olds and is still in greater household favor than any known remedy. But even without the application of the old fashioned aids, German Syrup will cure a severe cold in quick time. It will cure colds in children or grown people.
It relieves the congested organs, allays the irritation and effectively stops the cough. Any child will take it. It is invaluable in a household of children.

James Holoman.

Walter C. Jones and Miss Lizzie Margaret Holoman were married at the home of the of the brides parents, Elder and Mrs. Holoman, who live south of Crayneville, on Sunday, Feb.
4, Elder J. L. Paris officiating.

The bride is the youngest and a very attractive daughter of Elder Holoman and wife. The groom is a son of Wm.
James, who lives in the same vicinity, and is a model young man for quietness and sobriety.

The wedding was attended by many relatives and friends. After the ceremony the guests were invited to the dining room where all partook of the beautiful repast which had been carefully prepared by loving hands.

May peace and happiness be theirs forever, is the sincere wish of A Friend.

We are glad we have made preparations to supply your various needs in our line at a price that will let you live. With this in view we have bought large quantities of everything a farmer needs from a hand strap to a two-horse wagon. We bought right and we will sell right. Why? Because we add nothing to the price of the article to make up for lost accounts. WE SELL FOR CASH, therefore we make no bad accounts to lose. While preparing for your needs we did not forget to lay in an immense supply of the justly Celebrated American Field Fence

Put a Bull Behind the Bars

We call special attention to the hinge joint at each intersection of stay with main bars. This is the essential of every good wire fence. Unless the stay has a hinge joint the fence cannot receive pressure from contact and right itself. All rigid stay fences have been unsatisfactory and disappointing, as they crush down and when once down, remain so.

AMERICAN FENCE

Is made with a hinge joint, by which the maximum of elasticity is secured and the fence if properly stretched, remains in place indefinitely. With the hinge joint, no amount of strain on the bars can effect the connection of stay and bar, while the opposite is true of all rigid stay fences.

We know we have a good thing for you. The manufacturers guarantee the fence to us and we guarantee it to you.
