William J. Paris, an Old Citizen of the County Found Dead at Lucile Hotel

Last Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock the lifeless body of Wm. J. Paris was found in a bed room at the Lucile house on Bellville street where he had retired the evening before.

It is not known exactly when he died and heart failure is the supposed cause as he was in his usual health when he left his home in the northern part of the county a few days before. He was in his 62nd year and leaves besides his wife, 8 children, James, Bayless, Andrew, Lonnie, Miss Minnie, Ellen, wife of U. S. Graves all of this county, Councilman Henry Paris, of this city, and Mrs E. L. Gass, of New Madrid, Mo.

The funeral was from the residence of his son, Henry, in this city and the luterment took place at Pilot anob, the Fowler Graveyard Satur-

Donnelly & Hatfield's Minstrels Under The Direction of Al. G. Field

THE TOLEDOS' FAMOUS IMPERSONATION

Al. G. Field, personal director of the Donnelly & Hatfield Magnificent Minstrels, for twenty years owner and manager of the Al. G. Field Greater Minstrels, has been fortunate in securing one of the strongest acts in vaudeville for this popular organiza-

The Toledos, impersonators of auimals, reptiles and amphibious monsters, will make their first American appearance with this company. They give feats of flexibility, contortion and acrobatic agility never witnessed before. The performance is an artistic one being elaborately staged.

The scene is laid down by the sea When the curtain goes up a sea-shore n semi-darkness is disc wed. Many colored sea shells are scattered about and huge rocks loom up at the water's edge. It is a weird, desolate place that reminds one of the antediluvian days. Strange sounds emanate from the dark recesses of the big rocks. There is a chorous of animal voices. With the passing of a thought agile creatures in greens and reds variegated colors rise as if by magic from the rocks and assume varied forms. Now a huge reptile throwing off all the lights and shades of the chameleon's coat, anon a big mouthed frog in all full moon and rippling waters, where colors of the rainbow. Now a ball a company of darkies gather and do without legs and without arms, now a series of dances. There is a monlegless monster that performs manner of acrobatic tricks.

The act is done inpantomime, without words, swiftly, noiselessly.

MAD DOG KILLED

Son of John Marvel

Iron Hill, Ky., Feb. 20, 1905.

Our community was startled early Sunday morning by the repeated bang! bang! of a shotgun and it developed that there was ample reasons for the apparent disregard of the Sabbath. A mad dog had made his appearance on Mack Walker's premises and proceeded to attack and bite everything in sight, among which was the faithful and valuable old dog Watch, and some members of the family had narrow escapes. Check Box Coats and Long Waisted Dresses-The Latest For the Small Miss-Elbow Sleeves and Colored Shoes the Spring Fashions For Wo-

By RENE DEVERAUX.

This is the day of the small girl, and she is seen in all her glory at the mat ince, along the promenade on Fifth avenue, at the bazaars and dog shows The day was when she wore pinafores or simple little homemade frocks, and she was relegated to the nursery. But today Dame Fashion gives quite as much consideration to the comfort and beauty of the small daughter of the house as to those of her elder sister. And the keynote is simplicity.

It is at the matinee that she may be said to have her fling, for there she may display her frocks and coats to the best advantage.

As just stated, simplicity is the ruling feature, and the richest little girl n New York is frequently dressed the simplest. The little ten-year-old daughter of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, who was in a box at the matinee last week with several tots of her own age, wore a white mull frock with a yoke of val lace. A deep bertha fell over the shoulders and in front graduated to a V, ending at the waist. The full sleeves reached just below the elbow, with a band of val lace, and the full skirt was plain, with a four inch hem. White kid shoes and a white double breasted cloth coat with a white fox collar completed this superb little toi-

Congressman James has again performed a signal service for his tobacco growing constituents, which they will not be slow to forget Last week he went before the Ways and Mean's committe and made so convincing an argument in favor of taking the tax from leaf tobacco that the committee agreed to recommend the enactment of a law to that effect. Such a law will take off the tax of 6 cents on leaf tobacco and will give the grower the right to sell his leaf tobacco without paying this tax, some to the tobacco grower.

Something New in Magazine Making

THE SCRAP BOOK is the most elastic thing that ever happened in the way of a magazine-elastic enough to carry anything from a tin whistle to a battleship. Everything that appeals to the human brain and human heart comes within its compass-fiction, which is the backbone of periodical circulation; biography, review, philosophy, science, art, poetry, wit, humor, pathos, satire, the weird, the mystical-everything that can be classified and everything that cannot be classified. A paragraph, a little bit, a saying, an editorial, a joke, a maxim, an epigram.

Nothing Like It in the World

There isn't anything in the world just like THE SCRAP BOOK. It is an idea on which we have been working for several years, and for which we have been gathering materials. We have bought hundreds and hundreds of scrap books from all over the country, some of them a century old, and are still buying them. From these books we are gathering and classifying an enormous number of gems, and facts and figures, and historical and personal bits that are of rare value. Furthermore, we have a corps of people ransacking libraries, reading all the current publications, the leading daily paper and digging out curious and quaint facts and useful facts and figures from reference book, cyclopedia, etc., etc.

Don't fail to get a copy of this first issue of THE SCRAP BOOK. It sells at the price at which all our other magazines sell—Ten Cents a Copy and One Dollar by the Year.

HELPS TO STUDY.

With Christ's leaving Galilee and his journey northward, we begin the study of the sixth period of his life, the period of retirement.

In this week's readings we have two important discourses-"the bread of life" and "purification; " also two important miracles-"Christ's walking on the water" and "his healing the daughter of the Syro-Phoenician. About the fourth watch of the night he came to them on the sea; between from the river banks into the earth. 3 and 6 a. m. This was the Roman method of reckoning time. They divided the night into four watches of three hours each. The Jews made three watches of four hours each. v.52, "For their heart was hardened." "Heart" in the Bible denotes the center and source of man's spiritual actives, including the intellect, the sensibilities, the will. (Mk. 2:8; 3:5.)

The discourse on the bread of life was spoken to many of the 5000 who had been fed. They had wholly failed to see the true significance of the rign or miracles, but followed him simply to have their hunger satisfied. He showed them that the manna the fathers ate in the wilderness could not give them eternal life, but that it was the symbol of himself, the true Bread of Life. He speaks to them, not of any physical process, but of a spiritual The party returned last night, and appropriation of himself which takes place through following the teaching say they covered a distance of eight which he utters. He who studies his words earnestly and faithfully, so that they become the ruling force of his life, eats the flesh and drinks the the end of the cave. blood of Jesus; for the teaching of Jesus is the expression of his character. To conform to it is, therefore, to make one's own character like that of Jesus. So he explains also the figure of the vine and the branches (Jno. 15:7,8).

At about this time the Scribes and Pharisees sent a delegation from Jerusalem (Mk. 7:1; 3:2), Jesus had a controversy with them, and with unsparing plainess denounces them as hypocrites who were making void the cold wave having come on after they Word of God by the traditions of mer. The traditions of the elders is that entered the cave they became chilly body of teachings and usages in regard to the divers washings and ceremon- and emerged from the region of darkial purifications of the Jews which had gradually grown up among the Phar- ness. isees (Gal. 1:14). These regulations were religious, not sanitary or matters of social propriety. These traditions had for the Pharisees all the force and are grand to behold. Another party sacredness of law; even as in modern times many Christians are apt to be more tenacious of the usages and traditions of their church than studious of Monday, and they propose to go to the Scriptures to find out the real truth, or deeply anxious for the salvation the end of it. Many wild varments of souls. In this question of defilement the contrast is between physical were discovered by the explorers food that goes into the man, and moral action which proceeds from him. They returned with seven coons and "All these evil things proceed from within and defile the man." The evil five oppossums. One of the coons that mends, their evil thoughts and deeds, do not simply show their wicked- tipped the beam at fifty pounds and ness, but defile them, make them wicked. We are the creaters of our own was the largest one ever seen in this evil character by giving vent to our evil tendencies.

The salient features of the Later Galilean Period are organization, instruction of the Twelve, evangelization; popularity at the beginning but waning at the end, and the opposition increasing. Despite the reception of Jesus with which his work in Galilee opened, it is now certain that not even the mystery is solved. here can be peaceably develop his kingdom, and that the faith to ultimate success is by the way of rejection and death. The most definite positive results of these months of work is the little band of twelve who, however imperfect their ideas of Jesus' kingdom and person, are yet living with him, faithful to him, and willing to be led and taught by him. The conditions in Galilee were no longer favorable for further evangelistic work. Thus the period which opened with popularity ends with disappointment on the part of the multitude, abandonment of him by his many followers, and intensified opposition on the part of the Pharisees. It need not surprise us to find the next period opening with the withdrawal of Jesus into temporary retirement. Phoenicia, of which Tyre and Sidon were the principal cities, was at this time included in the Roman province of Syria. This, doubtless, was the first time Jesus had ever gone outside Jewish territory since a child. This journey was not for preaching, but for retwement, and for intercourse with his disciples. This woman is called a Syro-Phoenician by race to distinguish her from the Carthaginians, or African Phoenicians. The Gospel must first be preached to the Jew, but it is equally adapted to the Gentile.

Danville, Ky. Fcb. 14 .-- A Cave has been discovered near Danville, Ky., two miles east of Perryville, which, it is believed, will rival the famous Mammoth cave in Edmondson county.

While hunting minks and other varments valuable for their furs, on the banks of Salt river, in a secluded section last week, Irving Parks discovered a large entrance leading He followed the subterranean opening for a half mile when he encountered a river between 50 and 75 feet wide. Returning to Perryville he told of the discovery, and a party composed of John Mitchell, Eugene Carpenter, Josiah and Geo. Godbey, and Mr. Parks visited the cave; they were equipped with lanterns and sufficient food to last for several days. miles underground but did not reach

After passing the river, which was not more than two feet deep at any point, the bottom of the cave was comparatively dry, and the atmosphere was cool and refreshing, the

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON

NORTH YAKIMA, Feb. 4, 1906 -Editor Press: If you will please allow me space in your good paper I will try to write to our relatives and friends that are scattered over Caldwell, Crittenden and Livingston counties! There are a good many of them we never have written to as

We have been in this state one year and nine months and we havent got anything ahead yet. You know this is said to be a great country, and I reckon it is. I havnt seen but very little of it yet, but what I have seen

There seems to be plenty of money here, but it's made today and spent tomorrow. I don't think it is the best place in the world for a poor as plentyful here as in old Kentucky man. I think there are other places just as good. There is so much of the time here that the market is glutted; I think I had rather be where there is not so much raised that there is no market for it. I don't wish to run the country down because I dont like it; there are other Kentuckians and relatives that we would rather here that claim to be well satisfied, and would not leave for anything. I am glad they are pleased for it is not pleasant way to live, to be so far from your own native state, and not

That is one reason ! don't like it s too far from home. Then another thing it is too much of a mixed up place for me. I had rather be at home in my own native state, among my own kind of people.

We had bad luck last year. We made a crop of hops, expecting to make a few hundred dollars but the price this year was so low that we didn't clear anything. We made something like a thousand dollars but it took it all to pay the cost and ex-any better off here than anywhere else, and land is so high that a it on time, and then there is not many that could live and have the patience to ever pay for it.

There is a few things about the country that I like and that is, the winter weather don't hurt a person as bad here as it does back east. Then the irrigation is a great thing it is nice to see how it makes things of Japanese embroidery; the embroidgrow; and while it is a good thing enough to net our representatives in this way I believe that it causes sickness. It seems that the people are more healthy when the ditches are shut off than in the summer, when the ditches are all running and the water is spread out over the land. Then people begin to have what they call malarial fever and typhoid fever. Now there will be some who will not agree with me in what I am saying, but that will be all right, I am honest in what I am saying; this is what I long list of dangerous ailments would | think about it, though I may think

The Bull That Remembered

One fine spring morning when the buttercups were full of butter there was standing in the meadow a long legged, sad eyed little bull. It was a great day for him, for he had just come into this world, all green below and all white above, and everything was strange and queer, and his legs were wabbly and wouldn't go where he told them. He made the most of his first days in the world, for they were to be his happiest, though he didn't know it at the time.

Our little friend did not like that boy's looks, and he liked less what he did, for he drove him from his mother, he beat him with the stick, he pulled his tail, he put him in a box stall in the stable all by himself. and when he cried for mother he fed him on a bottle with a nasty rubber

"You horrid boy!" said the little bull. 'I'll get even with you for this if it takes me years to do it. You think I can't remember because I'm a dumb beast. But you wait.

All this he said out loud, but the boy only laughed. He couldn't understand. The years went by, and little Mr. Bull grew into big Mr. Bull, but he did not forget. Each day that freckled boy came near Mr. Buil would give a low grunt and say: "I can wait. I shan't forget." By and by the boy had grown to be a young man. He put on long pants and a tail coat. Midwinter Hats of Gauzy Stuffs. Modified Bandeaux a Noticeable Feature - Sweeping Plumes and Full Tulle Ruches-Bridesmaid Hats of Black Beaver and Pink Tulle.

By RENE DEVERAUX. This is a season of evening hats, and hapeaux fluffy and soft as summer skies are a midwinter feature of theater costumes. With fashion's usual inconsistencies, as the weather grows colder headgear assumes more airy effects, cloudlike tulle ruches and long. sweeping plumes adding to the pictursqueness of box and restaurant par-

Happily, as the season advances, back and side bandeaux have assumed more normal proportions, leaving the hat tilted, but a trifle more same in appearance. Even so, however, there is still sufficient room for a superabundance of trimming, and many of the smartest vening hats have their bandeaux en irely covered with one long white ostrich feather. Short back sailor shapes fashioned of Irish crochet and other lacy materials are taking the lace of the decidedly bent plateau felts, some of which are charmingly combined with fur and flowers.

At one of the week's fashionable church weddings the bridesmalds were gowned in pink chiffon cloth, quaintly fashioned, their bodices draped with long lace fichus, with ends reaching almost to the hem of the gown in front. Worn with these gowns were large black beaver hats rolled at the left side and picturesquely covered with pink tulle ruches and numbers of pink curling ostrich feathers. The flowers carried were pink carnations, and each girl wore a necklace with pendants of pink tourmalines, the gift of the bride.

While long skirts are undoubtedly making a strong bid for popularity, at many of the smart affairs of the week the short skirt was decidedly most worn. Some advanced spring gowns brought out for those who winter south are made with walking length circular skirts and exceedingly short boleros, terminating both back and front a trifle below the bust line. As a rule these short boleros are vastly more becoming than long coat effects, and for early spring wear or for southern climate are lighter and more comforta-

THE SUNSHINE SOCIETY.

An Organization Which Brings Good Cheer Into Darkened Hearts.

Among the many societies organized by the generous men and women of to-day for the welfare and happiness of others none has quite so interesting a history and unique a character as the International Sunshine So-

It is so broad in its scope that it embraces all the charities, yet is in itself no sense a charity, but an interchange of kindly greeting and the passing on of good cheer, material or otherwise. Sunshiners do not labor under any rules, but there is always the personal touch of sympathy which means so much to the unfortunate man or woman to whom fate has seemed unkind.

A more appropriate name could not have been found for the society, the members of which pledge themselves to bring sunshine into the lives of others; to do something each day to lighten someone's burden; to speak the cheerful word that may bring new Congress for forestry of $30,000. Good Cheer. Have you had a kindness shown? Pass it on. Twas not given for you alone-

Pass it on. Let it travel down the years, Let it wipe another's tears, Till in heaven the deed appears-Pass it on.

At the time the verse was selected no one knew the author and it was not for several years after the Society had adopted the motto that the writer was discovered to be Rev. Henry Burton, D. D., of Lytham, England. Mr. Burton wrote the poem twenty-five years ago and had almost forgotten it until the Sunshine Society brought it into prominence. Mr. Burton is rector of the Lytham Episcopal Church and has become so interested in the Society that now everybody in his church and Sunday school has become

Newspaper Aid.

The newspapers must be given credit in a large degree for the growth of the Society. Originating in a newspaper office it has everywhere received the endorsement of the press until today over 200 papers are regularly carrying Sunshine departments.

The Society has a publication of its own called the Sunshine Bulletin, of which Mrs. Alden, the founder and president-general, is editor. Features of Sunshine Work.

Each State division of the Sunshine Society endeavors to have some established feature besides the individual sunshine each member strives to scatter. This work takes the form of day nurseries, homes for crippled children and aged ones, maintaining beds in hospital wards, fresh air and outing cottages, Sunshine libraries, lunch rooms for working girls, etc., etc.

The greatest evil the Society has to contend with is the fake sunshine societies grafters organize to defraud the public. Caponizing Fowls.

One of the most attractive features of poultry raising is the production of capons. This is a story all by itself. It is an experiment which one can enter into and with a very slight expenditure for a set of instruments, can follow it to any degree desired. It requires some judgment and a little attention, but caponizing is not difficult: it is one of those things which, while it looks, in the beginning, to be a hard proposition, gradually comes to you all of itself, so that the first thing you know you become almost an expert. and the reward is very considerable. necessary is a proper regard to the tem- large flocks of fine chickens from Capons always sell readily and at a perature, and to the brooding of the them, but it was necessary to do a good advance in price. POULTRY FEEDING.

An Important Phase of the Chicken Growing Industry.

Poultry feeding is sometimes a most rious problem to those who desire to nake this line a specialty. Experince has shown that there are certain pecial lines of agricultural operations ith which poultry raising may adantageously be connected. In dairyng there is usually a large quantity skim milk or butter-milk which may be utilized to furnish a considerble part of the poultry ration. Upon the fruit farm fowls are also of adantage. They keep down insect pests nd they may have a free range a reater part of the season without the ssibility of doing any damage. Plum wers have found poultry especially eful in obliterating the curculio, and ven the apple crop has been considerably benefited. If it is found that
