STRIKING APPEARANCE OF NEW MARION TODAY

As Compared With the Desolate Appearance on Morning After the Destructive Fire of Last March

In Less than a Year a Modern City Springs into Existence to Take the Place of the Old Town.

Truly it can be said that from the shattered and burned ruins of the old Marion has come forth the new and modern Marion.

We are hardly alone, however, as we view the two city's outlines, that this is one and the same place, that others were once there and destruction has left but feeble warnings of whom any city should be proud.

The new is in every way an improvement over the old and those who knew Marion before the fire will find no occasion to make of the new city a place of ridicule.

The citizens and business men of Marion are heartily and wholeheartedly doing their part to make a good town.

The new City is the first of its kind to be raised from the ashes of a destroyed city.

The new Marion is to be the first of its kind to have the new City is a place of business and pleasure.

The old Marion was simple and frugal, but the new Marion is to be a place of luxury and beauty.

The old Marion was a place of sloth and idleness, but the new Marion is to be a place of hard work and industry.

The old Marion was a place of ignorance and superstition, but the new Marion is to be a place of learning and enlightenment.

The old Marion was a place of poverty and destitution, but the new Marion is to be a place of wealth and abundance.

The old Marion was a place of sin and corruption, but the new Marion is to be a place of virtue and morality.

The old Marion was a place of darkness and gloom, but the new Marion is to be a place of light and joy.

MAD DOG ATTACKS ALL IN ITS PATH

Miss Little Twelve Year Old Sen. John Marsell and Dave Roch, forced to a

Last Sunday morning about six o'clock at the home of J. M. Walker on the southeast corner of Fourth and Main, Miss Doris Walker, of about 18 months, was killed by a mad dog. The dog has been running loose in the neighborhood for some time and was known to be a danger to the children. Miss Walker was playing in her yard when the dog attacked her. She was taken to the hospital where she died later that day. The investigation revealed that the dog was a strayed animal and that there was no previous history of it being dangerous. The owner of the dog has been cited for failure to keep his animal under control.
