REPORT ON STANDARD OIL

From the Sensation of the Week.

DISCRIMINATION FOR GARFIELD.

Existence of Numerous Discriminations on Part of Railroads.

PROFITS FOR STANDAD OIL CO.

Washington, D. C. May 5.—Speaking of the psychological moment the report of the Bureau of Corporations on the Standard Oil Company and the message of the President transmitting the same to Congress, came at such a moment if it were ever did. Just at the moment when the two sides are lining up for a fight on that rate bill and when that there is fighting for its integrity if it is a very life, the report on Standard Oil is a veritable bomb in the hands of the administration. The report has created the sensation of the week in Washington and Commissioner Garfield made the reputation of a lifetime in rendering it.

Behind the cold, official statement of the report, the most insistent clamor of newspapers and of the magazines seems to be. For this is official while the Standard Oil is an unofficial arraignment. Accompanying the report is the message of the President saying that the report would prove that the passage of an effective rate bill is an absolute necessity. But the President goes farther. He recommends the passage of a three alcohol bill for the same reason. The retention of the government lands to coal and oil lands in the public domain, the latter measure being as all elements of the administration will be to claim, a long step in the direction of socialism. But the report of the Bureau of Corporations is there to show that the recommendation is a much needed one.

The report on the Standard Oil Company is a lengthy document, but the Commissioner of Corporations sums up his conclusions rather briefly. They are somewhat as follows:

The investigation has disclosed the existence of numerous flagrant discriminations on the part of the railroads in favor of the Standard Oil Company. With comparatively few exceptions, such as the large oil concerns in California, the Standard has been the sole beneficiary of such discriminations. In almost every section of the country that company has been found to enjoy some unfair advantages over its competitors and some of the discriminations affect enormous areas. Discrimination in the transportation of oil embraces a variety of forms some of the most important of which may be said to be secret and semi-secret rebates. Discrimination in the open arrangement of rates. Discrimination in the treatment of private tank cars.

It is stated that the railroad discriminations discovered by the Bureau of Corporations netted the Standard a profit of $750,000 a year on its freight business. This was bad enough but it was only a drop in the bucket compared to the enormous advantage that this discrimination enabled the Standard to exercise in squeezing the last cent out of the consumer all over the country. The report states that out of 26,000,000 barrels of oil refined annually in this country the Standard handles 23,000,000. It will thus be seen that there are only a few scattered localities, and these as a rule close to the crude oil centres and with a market in easy reach, that are what might be called "competitive areas." In all the other great territories, competition has been killed by the ruthless system of under selling, spying and railroad discrimination on which the Standard has been built up and which its vast wealth enables it to practice. In the non competitive areas. Since the fair profit on a gallon of refined oil is half a cent, it is easy to see the vast revenue that the company has been able to exact from the public.

The method of discrimination enumerated above are not the only ones that the report charges the company with practicing. It habitually miss-bills goods, has the freight charges made out in the central office of the railroad companies so that there is no telling how much oil has been transported for a given price, uses the state rates pieced together to defeat the small power that the Interstate Commerce Commission would otherwise have over it and uses all sorts of secret and peculiar methods in getting at its one object, an unfair advantage over its competitor.

In this connection the President says that the danger of governmental control stifling individual initiative is as nothing to the stifling that individual initiative receives from the giant corporations which use their wealth and power to kill all competition. In his message accompanying the report, he says:

"The argument is sometimes advanced against conferring on some governmental body the power of supervision and control over interstate commerce that to do so tends to weaken individual initiative. Investigations such as this concisely disprove any such allegation. On the other hand the proper play for individual initiative can only be found in such government supervision as will curb those monopolies that crush out all individual initiative. The railroad itself without such government aid cannot protect the interest of its own stockholders as against one of these great corporations, loosely known as trusts."

In connection with the harm that the corporations of the Standard sort have done the country, the President further says that the action of the government in denying the railroads the right of combination in order to prevent them from doing unlawful things, has reacted in rendering them unable to protect themselves against the unlawful demands of such monopolies as the Standard. He says in concluding his message.

"Though not bearing upon the question of railroad rates, there are two measures, the consideration of which is imperatively suggested by the submission of this report. The Standard Oil Company has largely by unfair and unlawful methods crushed out home competition. It is highly desirable that an element of competition should be introduced by the passage of some law as that which has already passed the House, putting alcohol, for use in the arts and manufactures, on the free list. Further more the time has come when no more coal or oil lands held by the government either upon the public domain or on the land owned by the Indian tribes should be alienated. The fee to such lands should be kept in the United States government whether or not the profits arising from it are to be given to any Indian tribe and the lands should be leased only on such terms and for such periods as will enable the government to keep entire control thereof."

George Barnes Seriously Hurt.

Monday morning while hauling spar Mr. George Barnes, of near Salem, was thrown from the wagon and very seriously hurt. His leg was broken and it is feared he is injured internally. Physicians were called and the injured member was given proper attention.

Mr. Barnes is a well respected young man and stands high in the community. He has been unconscious since the accident and his friends are uneasy about his condition. His physicians say his leg will not have to be amputated.

A Lap Full of Snakes.

Hopkinsville, Ky., May 7.—Mrs. W. V. Wilkey, who lives in the north portion of this county, determined to remove a covering of old sacks from a hotbed which had protected it from the winter's blasts. She was sitting down industriously engaged pulling the sacks off when one of them dropped a whole bunch of snakes directly in her lap. She screamed, and jumping up, dropped them to the ground before any of them bit her, and her husband killed nearly all of the reptiles.

The Big Coal Deal.

A big deal in Hopkins county coal property was concluded Saturday when Mr. J. B. Braisher purchased the Oak Hill coal mines situated at Oak Hill station on the L. & N. road about a mile and a half north of Nortonville. The purchase comprises, besides the coal property, about twenty-five houses and the stock of the Company store.

SHERIFF OF LIVINGSTON

Having Trouble With His Bondsmen.

THE U. S. FIDELITY COMPANY

Makes Motion Through Smithland Attorney to be Released From Bond.

A LEGAL FIGHT IS MOST LIKELY.

(Livingston Echo.)

Sheriff W. D. Bishop's indictment has been heralded in the blackest color everywhere through the Banner and other sources. He has been hounded as perhaps no other man of this county ever was. To people not acquainted with the facts, he is made to appear as an outlaw or great public criminal. By the people here in the county, who know the circumstance, he is respected and upheld by even his political enemies more than ever before. It is frequently remarked that it is a persecution and should not be tolerated. Mr. Bishop is a man not to be trifled with, and if a clique is trying to crush him, he will most likely teach it a lesson. He will be sheriff despite the Smithland ring.

Mr. Bishop filled his bond as sheriff with a guaranty company. Most sheriffs of the state do that. Mr. Harry Haynes, of Marion, was the agent who secured it. Last Monday Judge Davis was requested by Attorney G. W. Landrum to open special term of county court that he, as attorney for the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Co., might present a petition and make a motion to be relieved of the bond. Mr. Bishop telephoned the agent at Marion and reports that the agent knew nothing about it. Mr. Bishop made some rather cutting remarks when the motion was made and charged that in his opinion a copy of the indictment had been sent the company. Mr. Parsons immediately denied having done so himself, to which Mr. Bishop replied that he was not the only man that could have done so.

Mr. Bishop was elected sheriff and most people regardless of politics are willing that he serve. The people's will must stand. No set of fellows should be allowed to overthrow it. He has paid one hundred dollars to the bonding company and they have been at scarcely any risk up to the present time. If he is thrown down by the company, there must have been some inside information furnished, with a purpose to injure him personally. If so, look out.

Some of the first questions asked by the bonding companies are: Have you ever been bonded? Have you ever been turned down? The injury can readily be seen. A personal bond can readily be filled. Last week a demand was made of the Livingston County Bank and Citizens Bank of Carversville to fill bonds for safekeeping of the money collected by the sheriff. This was unusual but it was remarked that they were trying to crush this administration and that the bonds would be filled. It is going to cause the sheriff to be exacting with the taxpayers. The money of course is in very great danger. He means to show the people that he can collect more taxes than have been done heretofore.

REV. COCKRUM WRITES INTERESTING LETTER.

Was Eye Witness to San Francisco Disaster—Visiting Friends in Unfortunate City.

Below we publish a letter from Rev. H. C. Cockrum, of California, to his uncle, Mr. C. W. Bryant, of this county. Rev. Cockrum was at San Francisco at the time of the great earthquake, and describes his experiences. He has visited relatives in this county and preached at some of our churches. His letter follows:

Arroyo Grande, Cal., April 27, 1906.

DEAR UNCLE: Of course you have heard of the awful earthquake and fire in San Francisco, but thinking you might feel a little anxious about us I write to say that Annie and I were in city during that week. We were spending a few days visiting friends and sight-seeing. At 5:15 on Wednesday morning we were suddenly awakened by the fearful commotion and sprang out of bed but could not stand still, and for 45 seconds the shaking continued. The house we were in was not very seriously damaged and the fire did not reach that section.

From the top of a hill near our friends we watched the fire and the great buildings melt away before its mad and merciless march. It was a terrible sight, one I can never forget. By day the sun shining through the clouds of smoke was the color of blood, and by night the lurid flame leaped up to immense heights.

Many of the pipes were broken by the earthquake so the water supply was insufficient and the fire had to be fought with dynamite, clearing away a path over which it could not pass. When a heavy blast of dynamite was fired the thunderous report would roll and reverberate down the bay for miles and miles.

In three days three hundred thousand people were rendered homeless.

Just below us were one of the thoroughfares leading into the great Golden Gate Park, where thousands fled for safety. The rich man was driven from his palace and the poor man from his cottage. All distinctions based on wealth were demolished and all were put on one common level. In a very real sense the rich and poor met together.

Just how many were killed can never be known, but the number would have been much greater had the shock come at almost any other hour. An hour or two later everybody would have had fire in the stove getting breakfast and fire would have broken out in a thousand places over the city. Of later the streets in the business parts would have been crowded with people as I had seen them two days before, and the falling stone and brick would have killed thousands.

As to territory, I presume one-half the city was burned, and as to wealth four-fifths or more. The relief work was prompt and generous. Ship and train loads of provisions poured in and was rapidly distributed. It was simply wonderful. I had good opportunity to witness the relief work. I saw bread lines half a mile long. Christ, in the hearts of His people, fed—not five thousand but thirty or forty times that many. The sympathy, love, unselfishness manifested was beautiful indeed.

We left the city on Saturday. Two young men carried our baggage and we walked five miles down Market street through the very heart of the burned district to the Ferry Depot, crossed the bay at Oakland and came home to find all safe and well. The earthquake did no damage this far south.

I am to speak in the opera house here Sunday evening of "Lessons from the Great Disaster." I still like California—not especially fond of earthquakes, that is such big ones. Have no desire to rush back east simply because the ground trembles a little here once and awhile. Am very frank to admit that we have no desire for a repetition of our recent San Francisco experience.

Your nephew,

H. C. COCKRUM.

The Frost Sunday Night.

The frost of Sunday night, though almost as heavy as might be expected in April, did no damage to crops it is thought. Tobacco plants were mostly under canvas and those that were not suffered but little serious damage if any, on account of the dampness of the earth, as rain fell almost every day of last week, even up to 5 o'clock Sunday morning.

New Asylum Machinery.

The State Board of Control at Frankfort Friday let the contracts for the new electric light plant and laundry at the Hopkinsville asylum. J. Clark & Co., of Cincinnati, got the contract for the electric lighting machinery at $3,300, and the Watkins Laundry Machinery Company, of Cincinnati, a part of the contract for laundry machinery at $1,980.

Who's Who?

What about the county indebtedness? Who vilified last fall but a ring Democrat? Who started this talk about stealing? Wasn't it first heard just before the Democratic primary? Wasn't a Republican a pretty decent sort of fellow last fall?—Livingston Echo.

BLACKBURN OR OLLIE JAMES

Blackburn Will Make Race If James Declines.

ANTI-MACHINE CANDIDATE.

It is Expected that Definite Information Will be Received Shortly.

DEPENDS ON EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

Information comes from Washington that in the event Congressman Ollie James declines to become the anti-machine candidate for governor, Senator J. C. S. Blackburn will enter the contest. Senator Blackburn's candidacy depends, however, on the action of the Democratic executive committee in fixing the mode by which nominations shall be made. If a primary is called and Mr. James declines to make the race, the Senator Blackburn will be the standard bearer for the anti-machine forces.

Shortly after his defeat in the Democratic caucus, Senator Blackburn was urged by friends to immediately announce his candidacy for governor. He had declared his purpose to wage war on the machine, and it was suggested that the best plan for him to pursue was to become a candidate for governor and a speaking tour of the state, pointing out to the people the evils of the machine.

At the time, however, Senator Blackburn did not take kindly to the suggestion, and advised his friends to select another man. He, it is said, suggested the name of Ollie James, who he believes, is able to wrest control of the organization out of the hands of Gov. Beckham and his friends. Other Democrats have urged the candidacy of Mr. James, and he has been assured of support from many sections of the state. With Auditor S. W. Hager as his opponent Mr. James' friends declare he could win in a Democratic primary by a majority exceeding 20,000 votes.

It is known that Senator McCreary is urging Mr. James to become a candidate, for he believes that the combination of James-McCreary will be able to defeat that of Hager-Beckham. It seems to be the purpose of the committee to call a primary not only for the nomination of candidates for state offices, but for United States senator as well. Gov. Beckham is almost absolutely in control of the committee, most of the members being among his appointees, and he has favored a primary all along.

Senator McCreary says he will be satisfied with a primary, and this is the very thing that Senator Blackburn desires, otherwise he would not consent to make the race for governor in the event Mr. James declines. In the next few days a conference of the anti-machine leaders will be held here, and the question of a candidate will be finally determined.

In the event that Mr. James is a candidate he will receive the support of Senator Blackburn, Senator McCreary, Congressman Dave Smith and A. O. Stanley. It is also said that he has been promised the support of W. B. Haldeman, editor of the Louisville Times. This same support would go to Senator Blackburn, it is believed.—Paducah News-Democrat.

The Investigation.

The Fiscal Court ordered, some time ago, an investigation of the county's financial records. Mr. M. P. Molloy, of Eddyville, was employed to do the work with W. I. Champion. The report is published this week.

These men have gone over the books very carefully and the most they can say is the records were made to balance. No attempt was made to examine claims which have been paid. Whether or not the claims were legally allowed, legitimate, or reasonable was not entered into in making the investigation. All claims found were given full credit without question.

Now of course another vindication is claimed, in fact it has been claimed for some time, and the present administration is charged with failing to establish the charges of "theft" and "extravagance." We resent such assertions as a play for popularity. We do not wish to injure any one and will give credit to any one deserving it, but we demand that things be told straight. We deny that any such charges emanated from any source outside the Democratic party. Everybody remembers the libelous charges in the Banner just before the last Democratic primary against Judge Abell. It was Judge Abell who when he dared oppose Judge Evans in the primary. Who contributed those articles? It was the Democratic county chairman. It was the man whose part in the campaign last fall was so eloquently silent. He was shelved for the first time since his political debut. Now who is the author of the charges against Judge Evans about the four thousand dollars? We wait for an answer.

Such charges as these led to suspicion and finally to the investigation. People wanted to know what was going with their money, and under the circumstances, it was no more than just. It is to be regretted that a more detailed examination could not or was not entered into, but as it is it will be far more satisfactory than if no investigation had been made. If the charges of "theft" were untrue, they ought never have been made and if Judge Evans' defeat last fall can be contributed to the charges against him, it can be charged just as readily that he won the nomination in the primary on such charges against his opponent. His victory so narrow a margin shows how loyal the party was to him.

We hurl it back at you every time you claim a vindication in this matter, that you are the very set of fellows that started it. We claim that the previous administrations have been expensive, but we have never said any one stole.—Livingston Echo.

BOWLING GREEN AND RICHMOND

Get the State Normal Schools, to Be Established and Maintained by the State.

Richmond and Bowling Green, two of the most progressive towns in Kentucky, were selected as the sites for Normal Schools which are to be established and maintained by the State. This decision was reached by the special commissioners appointed to fix the location of the two schools, which are to be known as the Eastern Kentucky Normal School and the Western Kentucky Normal School. Although several towns were after the schools, there was no serious opposition, and Richmond and Bowling Green were easy winners.

The meeting was purely formal, as it was practically settled some time ago that Richmond and Bowling Green were the favored cities. In fact, the location of the two schools was practically decided at the last session of the Legislature when the bill providing for their creation and support was introduced. At that time Mr. Miller, the author of the bill, as the representative of Richmond, made a proposition that put all other cities in the Eastern district in the shade, as it was proposed to give the State a deed to property worth $150,000 on condition that the Eastern school was located at Richmond. The site offered was that of the old Central University, which is conceded to be one of the best in the South.

At the same time Bowling Green entered the fight for the Western school, and made a proposition that almost equaled Richmond's. The citizens of Bowling Green, through their representatives, proposed to give the State property valued at $125,000, on condition that the Western school was located there. Guthrie, Hopkinsville, Owensboro and Henderson were mentioned as candidates for the school, but after Bowling Green had made its generous offer little was heard from the other towns.

EVERY-DAY STRUGGLE.

Women of Every Occupation Suffer from Kidney Complaint.

Lightner, 703 South Cedar St., Kansas is one of the thousands who suffer from kidney troubles brought on by daily work. "I first noticed it eight or ten years ago," said Mr. Lightner, "the dull pain in the back fairly made me sick. It was hard to get up or down, hard to straighten, hard to do any work that brought on the back. I had frequent attacks of gravel and the urine was often and with pain. When Dr. Williams' Kidney Pills, however, were of the trouble disappeared and not returned. I am certainly cured."

TELEPHONE TIDINGS.

Liverpool has tried and abandoned the long-distance telephone service. London, with three times as big a population as New York, has only two long-distance telephones—only 50,000.

The first long-distance telephone in this country was that between Liverpool and Manchester. It was opened in 1880.

Wireless telephony has been invented by Mr. Thomas Gladwell, of New York (Mont.), who claims to have had successful results up to a distance of 100 miles.

The longest telephone circuit in the world is that between New York and Chicago. It is 950 miles long. The longest in Europe connects London with Marseilles, these places being 600 miles apart.

It is now possible to "ring up" the nearest railway station from a moving train, and to telephone, via the station, any subscriber. An experiment was conducted successfully on the High-gate railway.

REPAIRING BRAIN

A Certain Way by Food. Every minister, lawyer, journalist, politician, author or business man is under pressure of modern conditions to the active and sometimes excessive use of the brain.

Analysis of the excreta thrown out of the pores shows that brain work uses down the phosphate of potash, separating it from its heavier compounds, albumen, and plain common sense teaches that this elemental principle should be introduced into the body anew each day, if we would replace the loss and rebuild the brain tissue.

We know that the phosphate of potash, as presented in certain field grains, has an affinity for albumen and that is the only way gray matter in the brain can be built. It will not answer to take the crude phosphate of potash from the drug shop, for nature rejects it. The elemental mineral must be presented through food directly from nature's laboratory.

These facts have been made use of in the manufacture of Grape-Nuts, and any brain worker can prove the value of the proper selection of food by making free use of Grape-Nuts for ten days or two weeks. Sold by grocers everywhere (and in immense quantities), manufactured by the Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

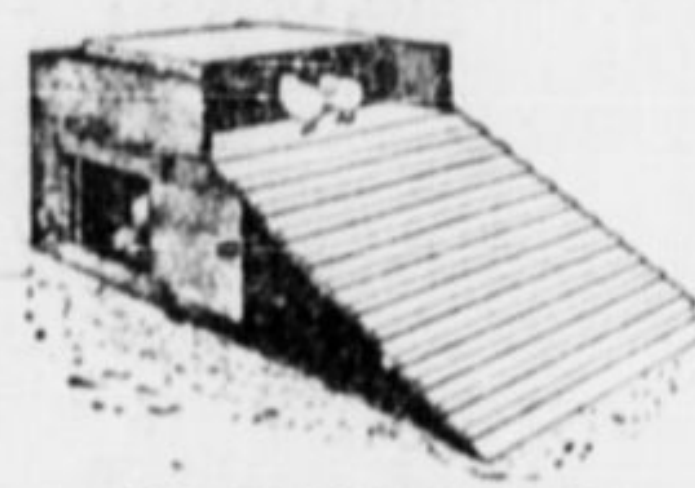

POULTRY AND BEES

A HOME-MADE BROODER.

Description of the Device Recommended by the Agricultural Department.

As a general rule it is best to buy such articles as brooders from men who manufacture them and guarantee them to work. In making such contrivances yourself you run your own risk; but many have succeeded with home-made brooders, and for the benefit of those who wish to try, we quote the following, condensed, from Farmers' Bulletin No. 237, of the United States department of agriculture.

For about a dollar, those who prefer the artificial method of raising chicks can make a brooder out of an old packing case, which will accommodate 50 chicks. The details of the construction are shown in the illustrations. The lower section of Fig. 2, where the lamp for heating is placed, is a box three feet square, made of ten-inch boards, and covered with tin or galvanized iron. Above this cover, around the edges of the lamp box, one-inch strips are nailed. Two one-inch holes are bored through these strips on each side of the box for the purpose of ventilation. A floor of matched boards is laid on the strips. A hole eight inches in diameter is cut in the center of this floor and over it is reversed an old tin pan, ten inches in diameter, the sides of the pan being punched full of holes to allow free circulation of heat. Over this is placed a table two feet six inches square, with legs 4 1/2 inches high. Around the sides of this table is tacked a curtain of felt cut from top to bottom at intervals of five or six inches to allow the chicks to pass in and out at will, the whole being surrounded by boards four inches high and three feet long nailed together at the corners and resting on the floor of the brooder. When the chicks are ten days old one of these boards may be taken away and a bridge used so that the chicks may run from the brooder to the floor of the room. (See Fig. 1.)

AN IDEA IN HEN HOUSES.

Plan of Nests Which Will Prove Convenient Both for Laying and Setting Hens.

I have a good and simple way of making hens' nests which I will give to others, says a writer in Prairie Farmer. My way is to take boards six inches wide and 12 feet long and have them sawed up into 12-inch lengths. One board will make three nests 12 inches square. Some thin boards can be used for the bottom. Now make a platform three feet wide across a portion of the house at the desired height from the floor. Place the nests on this in an even row close together at the edge of the platform next to the roosts. Now make a partition of woven wire or boards from the top of the nests, and middle of platform, to the roof of the house. When a hen wants to set, and you have no use for her for that purpose, she can be placed on the other side of the partition and be inclosed by the back of the nests and the wire netting where she will be away from the laying hens. Nests made in this manner can be easily cleaned and freed from insects.

Weeds in the Corn.

I find it is a difficult matter to keep the weeds down, especially in the corn field, writes C. C. Gibson, of Morgan county, Ill., to Farmers' Review. I do it by careful cultivation and having only about 20 acres to a man and team. I have neither the morning glory or bind weed to trouble me. I am not troubled with any kind of weeds in my small grain except when I get a poor stand of grain. Then weeds of different kinds take the place of the grain. The kind of weed making the most trouble in our vicinity is a grass known as fox tail. We do not find the state law as to obnoxious weed at all effective.

Struck by Lightning.

Mrs. Nancy Cleary, of Brewster, N. C., suffered as if struck by lightning. She says: "I was almost paralyzed from my waist down, and my back hurt me constantly, from female troubles. I had headache, seemed always tired, and felt as if I was dying. I took Wine of Cardui, which cured me, and now I feel like a new person." Cardui relieves periodical pain, and makes sick women well. $1.10 at drug stores.

MISQUOTED PHRASES.

Do you know that the word "dude" comes from the English word "duds," which means clothes? Hence, a dude is one very fond of clothes.

Do you know that the expression "Sure as eggs is eggs," was never meant to be as ungrammatical as it sounds? The original was sure as X is X.

Do you know why foolscap paper is so called? When Charles I was king of England, only certain people were allowed to manufacture paper, and it all had to bear the royal arms. Parliament made sport of the law, and ordered a fool's cap and bells to be used instead.

Do you know the origin of the phrase "Up Salt River?" Before steam navigation along the Ohio was carried on by flatboats, which were rowed up stream. This was particularly hard work, especially up Salt river, a dangerous, crooked branch of the Ohio river in Kentucky. When slaves were to be punished, this was a common method employed by their owners. Hence, at election times, people refer to sending the defeated candidates "Up Salt River" as a penalty.

An Interesting Letter.

Mary Hagugley, of 117 Peach St., Syracuse, N. Y., writes to tell of the terrible suffering of her sister, who, for the past 24 years, had been tormented with side ache from female trouble, keeping her weak and ailing. "She took Wine of Cardui and is now well. Cardui has been a Godsend to us both," she writes. For all women's troubles, Cardui is a safe, efficient, reliable remedy. At druggists; $1.00.

WORDS WRONGLY USED.

Never used the word "liable" when you mean "likely." Do not say, for instance, that "he is liable to come in at any moment." "Liable" implies misfortune, and means "exposed to," "subject to," "in danger of."

Why do most of us speak of "unraveling a mystery?" Any good dictionary shows that "ravel" means to "unweave." You "ravel" a mystery, therefore, when you solve it. In "Hamlet," Shakespeare says: "Make you to ravel all this matter out."

If you and your friend Smith know a man called Jones, do not speak to Smith of "our mutual friend"—meaning Jones. Jones is your common friend. If you are friendly to Smith, and Smith is friendly to you, you and Smith are "mutual friends;" but that is the only sense in which the term may rightly be used.

CONCERNING CITIES.

In five years Krupp's town of Essen has increased 93 per cent. Cologne, with its 426,930 people, has had an astonishing growth.

Any city of more than 100,000 inhabitants is considered a great city. Of these Germany has more than any other country, namely, 41.

Great Britain and the United States have 39 each. Then there is a break till we reach Russia with 16. France with 15, Italy with 12, Japan and Austria-Hungary with eight each.

Cashier W. T. Bell, of Mount Union, Pa., has the distinction of having two sons cashiers or banks who are among the youngest not only in Pennsylvania, but in the United States. Harry A. KIDNEY TROUBLES

Increasing Among Women, But Sufferers Need Not Despair

THE BEST ADVICE IS FREE

Of all the diseases known, with which the female organism is afflicted, kidney disease is the most fatal, and statistics show that this disease is on the increase among women.

Unless early and correct treatment is applied the patient seldom survives when once the disease is fastened upon her. We believe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most efficient treatment for chronic kidney troubles of women, and is the only medicine especially prepared for this purpose.

When a woman is troubled with pain or weight in loins, backache, frequent, painful or scalding urination, swelling of limbs or feet, swelling under the eyes, an uneasy, tired feeling in the region of the kidneys or notices a sediment in the urine, she should lose no time in commencing treatment with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it may be the means of saving her life.

For proof, read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Sawyer.

"I cannot express the terrible suffering I had to endure. A derangement of the female organs developed nervous prostration and a serious kidney trouble. The doctor attended me for a year, but I kept getting worse, until I was unable to do anything, and I made up my mind I could not live. I finally decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a last resort, and I am to-day a well woman. I cannot praise it too highly, and I tell every suffering woman about my case."—Mrs. Emma Sawyer, Conyers, Ga.

Mrs. Pinkham gives free advice to women; address in confidence, Lynn, Mass.

PLEASANT TRUTHS.

Why not give the cheery word, the truthful word that will brighten the load of a fellow burden bearer.

Do we not deprive the world of a joy we might have given when we do not hasten to speak the pleasant truth?

There are truths which are so joyous that it is only gladness to speak them—truths which seem to have no unpleasant side at all.

Happiness is a quality of which we might obtain a larger share than usual if we determined to discover the pleasing side of the most unpleasant truths.

Now if one side is always more pleasing than the other, why, the question may be asked is it not more honorable to choose always the pleasant side to present our friends.

There is always more than one side to a truth. Two sides, at least can be seen, by the most simple minded person and those whose minds are complex can readily see many sides to the same question.

A Strange Story.

Mrs. Isaac W. Austill, of Chestnut Ridge, N. C., tells a strange story of great suffering. "I was in bad condition for months, but got no relief. My periods had stopped, all but the pain. After taking part of a bottle of Wine of Cardui, nature worked properly and without pain. I advise all suffering women to use Cardui." A pure specific remedy for women's ills. $1.00, at druggists.

Miss Nora Stanton Blatch has been elected to membership in the American Society of Civil Engineers, the first woman so distinguished. She is a granddaughter of the famous Elizabeth Cady Stanton and the first woman to win the degree of civil engineer in Cornell university. Miss Blatch has under consideration an offer from the Chinese government to undertake some important work in the interior of the eastern empire.

Nautical Knowledge.

She (on the Atlantic liner)—Did you observe the great appetite of that stout man at dinner?

He—Yes; he must be what they call a stowaway.—Stray Stories.

"Love," says Dr. Emil Reich, of London, "is the offspring of godlike abundance. Which may have a tendency to make a young man feel, when he is settling up for flowers and bonbons, etc., that perhaps he was mistaken, after all.—Indianapolis News.

A Harmless Laxative.

If you must take a laxative, take a harmless one. Lax-Fos does not gripe, therefore, does not irritate. Irritation is what does the harm. Price 50 cents.

A politician in landing a job is very much like a woman in landing a husband. He puts in all his work before he gets the job, and forgets to keep up appearances after he has it.—Atchison Globe.

Try Garfield Tea! It purifies the blood, cleanses the system, brings good health.

The trouble with the dead beat is that he is so very much alive.

WHAT GIRLS SHOULDN'T DO.

Place reliance in the drawing quality of a graceful pose.

Talk about the extent of their wardrobe in public places.

Regard it pretty to pout when a man falls to notice compliments.

Carry their jealousy so conspicuously as to be generally noticed.

Use the forcible expressions which so easily can be misconstrued.

Show a desire for an extravagant display at a social assemblage.

Attempt to force a man into heavy expenditure every time they are taken out.

Give away the pretty little trinkets presented to them as evidence of good feeling.

Torture of Women.

It was a terrible torture that Mrs. Gertie McFarland, of King's Mountain, N. C., describes, as follows: "I suffered dreadful periodical pain, and became so weak I was given up to die, when my husband got me Wine of Cardui. The first dose gave relief, and with 3 bottles I am up doing my work. I cannot say enough in praise of Cardui." A wonderful remedy for women's ills. At druggists; $1.00.

Shocking.

The young men returning to college after the Easter holidays, made a good deal of noise at the junction.

"What do you call them?" a traveler asked, wearily.

"Well, sir," said the station agent, "We don't know their real name here; we always call them returned empties."

The Crittenden Record.

ISSUED WEEKLY.

JAS. E. CHITTENDEN, Editor and Publisher.

SUBSCRIPTION ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR.

Entered as second-class matter July 15, 1904, at the postoffice at Marion, Ky., under Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

FRIDAY, MAY 11, 1906.

When the "its" ride in the saddle the dog is having his day.

The Republicans of Kansas have nominated Gov. Edward W. Hoch for re-election.

Sometimes it matters not what the circumstances, the man on top thinks he is "it."

In the city election of St. Paul last week the issue was "The Lid." The lid off candidates all won.

A good man loves solitude and he can stay by himself and be in good company—rascals run in gangs.—Sam Jones.

If this thing keeps up much longer somebody will have to organize the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to the Standard Oil Company.

It is frequently asserted by local politicians that Messrs. McCord and Chittenden had to plead guilty in order to settle their cases without a trial. The Editor has made inquiry and has been told that such is not the case. That often when persons do not want to fight a case, they waive a jury and enter no plea, but let the court assess a fine. Mr. Chittenden asserts through his paper that such was done in his case.—Livingston Echo.

Senator Tillman in a speech before the Senate make a sharp attack on certain members of the Federal judiciary. His speech consisted of quotations reflecting upon the conduct of Federal judges in different parts of the country.—Courier Journal May 4th.

We would add that Mr. Tillman need have no fear of being indicted in the Federal court, however, because the objects of his reproach live in a broad plane of common sense, reason and enlightenment.

Never forget that THE RECORD has a number of enemies who would like to see it wiped out of existence, and it would have been long ago if the reports its enemies have started from time to time had made it so. We admit that Democracy and our enemies have persecuted, oppressed and made rough sailing for us, but our resources are not quite exhausted and we would ask our friends not to give credence to the various reports they hear until it is confirmed in our columns.

Correct.

The Banner says there is such a thing as a change of venue. Yes; everybody knows that, but it doesn't make it any cheaper to fight a case by changing. Mr. Chittenden claims to have considered the financial side.—Livingston Echo.

Geo. M. Crider Re-appointed.

Washington, May 7.—The President today sent the following postoffice nominations to the Senate for Kentucky: L. W. Key, Mayfield; G. M. Crider, Marion; S. T. Moore, Princeton.

Not If as Rich as Rockefeller.

If you had all the wealth of Rockefeller, the Standard Oil magnate, you could not buy a better medicine for bowel complaints than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The most eminent physician can not prescribe a better preparation for colic and diarrhoea, both for children and adults. The uniform success of this remedy has shown it to be superior to all others. It never fails, and when reduced with water and sweetened, is pleasant to take. Every family should be supplied with it. Sold by Haynes & Taylor, the enterprising druggists of Marion.

Sciatica Cured After Twenty Years of Torture.

For more than twenty years Mr. J. B. Massey, of 3322 Clinton St., Minneapolis, Minn., was tortured by sciatica. The pain and suffering which he endured during this time is beyond comprehension. Nothing gave him any permanent relief until he used Chamberlain's Pain Balm. One application of that liniment relieved the pain and made sleep and rest possible, and less than one bottle has effected a permanent cure. Mr. Massey relates his experience for the benefit of others who may be similarly afflicted. If troubled with sciatica or rheumatism why not try a 25-cent bottle of Pain Balm and see for yourself how quickly it relieves the pain. It Is Dangerous to Neglect a Cold.

How often do we hear it remarked: "It's only a cold," and a few days later learn that the man is on his back with pneumonia. This is of such common occurrence that a cold, however slight,

Protect Proprietary Medicines.

Did it ever occur to you that proprietary medicines are a blessing to mankind generally? The good ones have long continued sale; the poor ones have short life and soon leave the market.
If we had to depend entirely upon physicians and druggists it would be expensive and very inconvenient at times, especially in the country and at night when neither could be conveniently reached. For nearly forty years Boache's German Syrup has been used in many families, and thousands of lives of adults and children have been saved by its use, when it was impossible to reach a physician. German Syrup is the best household remedy for coughs, colds, throat and lung trouble. It quickly relieves the hacking cough, loosens the phlegm, and brings sound and refreshing sleep. Twenty-five and seventy-five cents. For sale by Woods & Orme.

Simple Way to Cure Catarrh by Hyomei Without Stomach Dosing.

It is the height of folly to dose the stomach with internal medicines to cure nasal catarrh. It cannot be cured except the catarrhal germs that are present in the nose, throat and lungs have first been killed.
The soothing air of Hyomei heals the smarting and raw membrane of the air passages in the nose, throat and lungs, kills off the catarrhal germs and rids the system of the last trace of catarrh.
The complete Hyomei outfit consists of a hard rubber inhaler which can be carried in the purse or vest-pocket, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei, and costs only one dollar, while extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents.
Haynes & Taylor positively guarantee a cure when Hyomei is used in accordance with the simple directions on the package, or Haynes & Taylor will refund the money. This certainly shows their faith and belief in the virtues of Hyomei.

Year by year records are published of the destruction of human and cattle life by the wild beasts and snakes of British India. Last year 24,676 man beings and 76,226 cattle were killed, and of the people 21,827 deaths were attributed to snakes, while the cattle 76,080 were killed with wild beasts, panthers being charged with 40,000 and tigers with 30,000 of the total; snakes accounted for 15,9. This is but a trifling percentage the actual annual mortality, as it includes the feudatory states, with the 50,000,000 inhabitants.

FARM LANDS

Best Opportunities for Securing Homes.

Many farmers in the Northern and Western states are selling their land and locating in the South. Many who have been unsuccessful in their homes in the older states are buying land in the new South. Opportunities exist along the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain route. The rich, alluvial, bottom lands of Missouri, Eastern Arkansas, Texas, capable of producing 60 bushels of corn, a bale of cotton, 100 tons of alfalfa, 150 bushels of wheat, and other grains, vegetables and fruits, can be bought for $15.00 per acre. When the land is slightly improved will rent for $10.00 per acre cash. The soil is rolling, lighter soil, adapted to fruit growing—peaches, apples, grapes, berries, also melons, pumpkins and other vegetables, and for $5 to $10 per acre in improved state. Many places with electric light and some improvements can be bought very cheap.

This is a fine stock country. No water needed. Free range, pure air and climate. A healthy growth of timber with a great future. Write for map and descriptive literature to Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, Kansas and Indian Territory. Very low rates on first and third months of each month.

Watson's Magazine

The leading exponent of Jeffersonian Democracy, edited by Hon. Thos. E. Watson, of Georgia, the Father of the Free Press; author of "The Life of George Washington," "The Life of Napoleon," and other books. Mr. Watson was the People's Party nominee for Vice-President in 1896, and for President in 1904. He is today heading the reform movement which is sweeping the country in a short time.

Watson's Magazine is not a Socialist publication. It does not stand for Socialism. It is the means of education. Mr. Watson believes in the government ownership of railroads, telegraphs and telephones; the ownership of street railways, gas, electric lights, water works, etc.; and he believes in private ownership of all industries not natural monopolies.

The middle class—the home owners, farmers, small business men and property owners—won Jefferson's victory over Jackson's money power in 1832; won Lincoln's victory in 1860. But at the time after the flush of victory had died away, they became careless of their rights and went to sleep. They are now a good portion of the time asleep.

Watson's Magazine is waking them. Another great victory is in the air. Keep in touch with the movement.

Valuable Information.

Each man has one chance in a life time to reach the point of success, and this opportunity is offered in Missouri, Arkansas and Louisiana, the three great agricultural and timber states, where land can be purchased at from $3.50 to $20 per acre each year, in cotton, corn, hay, sugar cane, fruit and vegetables. The returns from alfalfa growing in this district have proven a record breaker—six crops each year or six tons per acre at $15 per ton on local markets is what is claimed. All that is necessary is for the homeseeker or investor to look over the situation personally, as the country speaks for itself, and on the first and third Tuesdays of each month homeseekers' tickets are offered at rate of one fare plus $2 for the round trip. In the World of Fashion

SOME SMART STYLES.

If you, or any member of your family, can do fine handwork, you are most fortunate this year, for this is the day when the pushing, boastful sewing-machine must take a back seat. Hand-sewing has "come in" with a vengeance, retiring machine-made work into the background with the folk that set the pace in dress. And so the modest little woman with skill in her fingers may make for her own women folk the fashionable frocks and blouses of the day that will compare with the $30 and $20 lingerie waist purchased at the shops. A good pattern secures the right cut, the handwork is then the whole thing.

Even the seams nowadays are made by hand, and the sewing of yards of frilling and insertion and lace. Yesterday we saw a lovely white mull trimmed with cream-colored lace and insertion, very simply trimmed, but the work so exquisite, the design so becoming, we voted it the prettiest blouse noticed thus far. The wearer's whole costume was worth mentioning; a white mohair skirt, a long black silk cloak, a beautiful white ostrich feather boa, a black chip hat with one white plume, shiny black shoes and gloves.

Black and white looks chic again, is particularly effective for a woman with black eyes, seems to intensify their darkness. A neat little black and white costume, easily reproduced, consisted of a plaited cloth skirt, white mull blouse, and a most attractive girlish wrap. The deep girlish wrap almost a coat in itself, and really became one by the addition of an up-shoulder strap which was more than shoulder straps and yet not a bolero. The dainty wrap was adorned with rows of frills of narrow black ribbon, and looked quite dressy. For the ordinary summer day such a dress would be just right for comfort, the upper part being adjustable, easily slipped on or off.

Black silk gloves, of course, have gone up in price now that the heavy kid ones are getting a bit warm. Time was when one could get a nice pair in elbow length for one dollar, but a few days ago we found the price had been trebled. Let us hope the mits will not follow suit; we want to keep the elbow sleeves, but do not care to spend all our substance on "hand-shuhs."

With the tailored street dress there is nothing in better style than a simple sailor hat trimmed with pompadour ribbon. The high crowned sailors are preferred, although many smart low-crowned ones are seen. The peacock feather craze has been carried pretty far, but of late better taste has had its way, and in place of the yard-long, assertive tail, we see shorter feathers used. On a gray sailor three green peacock eyes that stood out just a little from the bow at the side, really made a decorative effect that was very pleasing.

Each spring we wonder if materials ever were so soft and light and pretty, but surely the spring parade this year is unusually elegant. The dark costume is the exception, old and young go in for light colors, as well as light materials. Not only in auto and carriage are they seen, but they fill the streets. And we must chronicle the liking for red—a color usually considered too warm looking for warm days. All-red hats are affected—but if truth be told as a rule they are most becoming. Recently we observed a blonde-haired woman of our acquaintance sported one of these hats of unrelieved gaudiness, and remarked what a mistake she had made. She looked sallow, faded, and usually she appears as fresh as a peach.

Not a little gold and silver are seen, used for trimmings in both dress and millinery. A little gleam here and there often adds to the costume, but too much is tawdry.

Many checked materials are employed with good results. The new suspender frocks are very pretty in these check suitings, the blouse always on the lingerie order. Later we shall have something to say about a checked silk frock and mull gumps.

Fashions for the Little Ones

Spring days and consideration of folk at the springtime of life. How the mother loves to plan the clothes for the wee lads and lassies—at least it should be a pleasure rather than a burden, even if the pocketbook is an ever-slim one. Such dear little things can be made for a song, remnants be picked here and there and turned into gumps and blouse and even whole frocks.

Children's millinery this year is very picturesque, the granny bonnets as quaint and becoming as can be. For girls entering their teens there are half-bonnet affairs like the one shown in the accompanying illustration. The whole costume is designed for a girl of 12, the dress a dark blue serge. Style is given by the smart collar and tie, and daintiness in the lawn frills, which may be either of pale blue or of ecru lawn. The hat is trimmed only with ribbon, which is drawn through a cut in the rim in front and fashioned into a large rosette, ribbon falls over the hair at the back. Elbow sleeves are used for little girls' frocks even more than for the mamma—if possible everybody now appearing in cut-off sleeves.

Mamma's affect short coats, also do small girls affect the jaunty jacket. The refecters, so popular for some time back, hold their own still. A refect is easy to get into, has warmth where needed, is not burdensome. Those made of cloth and trimmed with white collars and cuffs are in excellent style. Everything should be tubbable until the child is old enough to keep clean without constant reminding. There are heaps of ready-made collars at all prices, offered at the stores, and they help out a home-made garment wonderfully.

Women fond of needlework will make lingerie hats for their little girls, and embroidered lawn caps for the baby. Designs for these are easily procured, and though they take considerable time to complete, they are the prettiest thing shown in children's millinery.

Long-waisted linen dresses look so cool and comfortable, and many of them will be seen this summer. They may be bought ready-made, or easily fashioned at home. The loose coat of fancy mixture is a satisfactory garment for slipping on over a wash-dress of an evening, and the modish ones have a certain smart mannishness that miss no doubt approves highly.

Lingerie hats match the frock in color with a pink chambray, a pink embroidered hat, etc. Of course the white wash-hat will look pretty with any summer costume, colored hats are merely a bit newer.

Even quite tall girls will wear one-piece frocks, and a pretty model has a box plait immediately down the front, extending from a short yoke of embroidery almost a square. Bands of embroidery are attached either side the insertion, forming shoulder pieces, loose on the outer edge. The sleeves are elbow length.

New Way of Killing Rabbits.

They used to tell the story on a Hindsboro hunter that instead of a gun he carried a paint pot when he was out after rabbits and on the end everything made a black daub. Then he threshed around in the timber and scared up the rabbits and the poor animals in their fright thought the black daubs were holes and dashed their brains out against them.

Lincoln's Youth and Early Manhood

His Friend, Intimate and Bodyguard

Abe Tackles Jack.

Thus far Abe had managed to escape initiation at the hands of Jack and his associates. They were disposed to like him and to take him on faith, or at least to require no further evidence of his manhood than that which rumor had already brought them. Offutt, with his busy tongue, had spread wide the report of his wondrous doings on the river, and, better still, all New Salem, including many of the Clary's Grove boys, had witnessed his extraordinary feats of strength and ingenuity at Rutledge's mill dam. It was clear that no particular person was spoiling for a collision with him, and an exception to the rule might have been made in his favor but for the offensive zeal and confidence of his employer.

The example of Offutt and Clary was followed by all the "boys," and money, knives, whisky and all manner of things were staked on the result of the wrestle. The little community was excited throughout, and Jack's partisans were present in great numbers, while Offutt and Hill Green were about the only persons upon whom Abe could rely if the contest should take the usual turn and end in a fight. For these and many other reasons he longed to be safely and honorably out of the scrape but Offutt's folly had made it impossible for him to evade the conflict with out incurring the imputation and suffering the penalties of cowardice. He said: "I never tussle and scuffle, and I will not. I don't like this wooling and pulling."

But these scruples only served to aggravate his case, and he was at last forced to take hold of Jack, which he did with a will and power that amazed the fellows who had at last baited him to the point of indignation. They took side holds and stood struggling, each with tremendous but equal strength, for several minutes without any perceptible advantage to either. New trips or unexpected twists were of no avail between two such experienced wrestlers as these.

Presently Abe profited by his height and length of his arms to lift Jack clear off the ground, and, swinging him about, thought to land him on his back, but this feat was as futile as the rest and left Jack standing as square and as firm as ever. "Now, Jack," said Abe, "let's quit. You can't throw me, and I can't throw you."

But Jack's partisans, regarding this overture as a signal of the enemy's distress and being covetous of Jack's knives, whisky and "smooth quarters," cheered him on to greater exertions. Rendered desperate by these expectations of his friends and now enraged at meeting more than his match, Jack resolved on a foul and, breaking holds, he essayed the unfair and disreputable expedient of "legging." But at this Abe's prudence deserted him, and righteous wrath rose to the ascendant.

The astonished spectators saw him take their great bully by the throat and, holding him out at arm's length, shake him like a child. Then a score or two of the boys cried "Fight!" Bill Clary claimed the stakes, and Offutt, in the fright and confusion, was about to yield them, but "Lincoln said they had not won the money and they should not have it, and, although he was opposed to fighting, if nothing else would do them he would fight Armstrong, Clary or any of the set."

Just at this juncture James Rutledge, the original proprietor of New Salem and a man of some authority, rushed into the crowd and exerted himself to maintain the peace. He succeeded, but for a few moments a general fight was impending, and Abe was seen with his back against Offutt's store undismayed and resolute, although surrounded by enemies.

Abe and Jack Cronies.

Jack Armstrong was no bad fellow after all. He was stout and rough, but great hearted, honest and true. His big hand, his cabin, his table and his purse were all at the disposal of a friend in need. He possessed a rude sense of justice and felt an incredible respect for a man who would stand single handed, staunch and defiant in the midst of persecutors and foes. He had never disliked Abe and had, in fact, looked for very clever things from him even before his title to respectability had been made so incontestably clear, but his exhibition of pluck and muscle on this occasion excited Jack to a degree of admiration far beyond his power to conceal it. Abe's hand was hardly removed from his throat when he was ready to grasp it in friendship and swear brotherhood and peace between them. He declared him, on the spot, "the best fellow that ever broke into their settlement," and henceforth the empire was divided, and Jack and Abe reigned like two friendly Caesars over the roughs and bullies of New Salem.

If there were ever any dissensions between them it was because Jack, in the abundance of his animal spirits, was sometimes inclined to be an oppressor, while Abe was ever merciful and kind; because Jack would occasionally incite the "boys" to handle a stranger, a witless braggart or a poor drunkard with a harshness that shocked the just and humane temper of his friend, who was always found on the side of the weak and the unfortunate. On the whole, however, the harmony that subsisted between them was wonderful. Wherever Lincoln worked Jack "did his leading," and when Lincoln was out of work he spent days and weeks together at Jack's cabin, where Jack's jolly wife, "old Hannah," stuffed him with bread and honey, laughed at his ugliness and loved him for his goodness.

Abe rapidly grew in favor with the people in and around New Salem, until nearly everybody thought quite as much of him as Mr. Offutt did. He was decidedly the most popular man that ever lived there. He could do more to quell a riot, compromise a feud and keep peace among the neighbors generally than any one else, and these were of the class of duties which it appears to have been the most agreeable for him to perform.
