STRONGER THAN ORIGINAL BILL

Will be Rate Measure When Returned to House

MORE DRASTIC AMENDMENTS

Opponents to Free Alcohol Bill Come Out of Hiding—Biggest One Yet to Come.

MAY MODIFY PHILIPPINE TARIFF BILL

Washington, D. C., May 14.—As the rate bill is shaping itself in the final days of the struggle, it looks as though the amended measure when it goes back to the House would be much more drastic than the original Hepburn bill. One of the most important of the several amendments that have been offered is that of Senator Spooner, offered last week, which aims to prevent the endless litigation that a court review of the Commission's findings would entail. To put his plan briefly as possible, he provides that in case of an appeal to the courts from the findings of the Commission, the railroad shall pay into court the difference between the rate fixed and the rate complained of with an additional six per cent interest on the money involved. In case the court decides in favor of the complainant, the railroad is to pay the difference and the six per cent interest on the money so held up. This would if enforced make the railroads almost as anxious to conclude a case as the shipper and would put an end to dilatory motions and prolonged hearings such as would otherwise be sure to follow. It is even provided that the payment shall be made to the person who has in effect paid the freight, even though he may not be the actual shipper. This would in the case of a farmer who had sold grain to an elevator based, as is frequently done, on the freight charges, to some central market point. In that case the farmer would be the beneficiary and would receive the money instead of it going to the elevator company.

But the Spooner provision is not nearly so drastic as the proposal of Senator McCumber to make rebating punishable with fine and imprisonment. This is avowedly a blow at the Trusts, for the wealthy men, who do not care particularly about fine such as any court might impose, have a rooted aversion to going to jail. The provision makes the penalty of rebating a fine of three times the amount paid in rebates and imprisonment for not more than five and not less than one year. As if to clinch the matter and to render the penalty as heavy as possible, the Statute of limitation which is in the nature of things only three years, is extended to six years in the matter of rebates. The law is of course not retroactive as that would be unconstitutional. But evidence may reach back from the time of the action for six years, not of course antedating the passage of the bill.

On the principle that half a loaf is better than starvation, Secretary Taft is preparing a modification of the Philippine Tariff bill that contemplates a reduction of only fifty per cent in the duties on Philippine rice, sugar and tobacco. Other products of the islands are to be admitted to this country duty free. This step would be of some practical advantage to the islanders, but it would be chiefly advantageous to the United States as an educational step. It will be recollected that there was a vigorous fight against the present reduction of 25 per cent in the Dingley rates when that measure was first enacted. It was claimed that the bill would injure if not kill the business interests of the United States. It has been found that no harm resulted and it would have been found that no harm resulted had the Payne bill had passed, as it seemed at one time likely to do. But if the fifty per cent reduction is adopted and it is shown that there is no harm done, then in all probability the seventy five per cent reduction will come in time and eventually free trade with the islands, which is a natural evolution and one hoped for by many both of the Republicans and Democrats in Congress.

Opponents of the Free Alcohol bill are coming out of the brush, so to speak, but the biggest one is still in hiding. There was a hearing before the Senate Committee last week of one George Clapperton, representing the wood alcohol interests of the northwest. It is just possible that in his evidence Mr. Clapperton tried to kill two birds, for he came out frankly and said that his opposition to the bill was that it would kill the wood alcohol industry. He said that there was $15,000,000 of capital invested in the business and that 15,000 men depended on it for a livelihood. He did not say, which is probably the truth that both of these figures were largely overstatements. But what he did say was that there was no likelihood of the bill hurting the Standard Oil Company. Now of course from a popular point of view this has been one of the most attractive features of the bill, to whack the Standard. But Mr. Clapperton says, "Tut, tut, the bill will not touch the Standard, but it will hurt us." This would render cheap alcohol none the less attractive to the public but it would take away somewhat from the glamor of the bill. However, the Standard is keeping very still, after its method whenever it can, and there was a strong suspicion at the Capitol that Mr. Clapperton might have been putting in a sideways word for the Standard and trying to render the bill less attractive on the plea that it would not hurt the Octopus after all.

Secretary Taft and Secretary Root have both served notice on Panama that they intend to have no revolutions to interfere with the work on the canal.

EARTHQUAKE CAUSED REELFOOT LAKE

Seismic Disturbances of 1812 Made Great Ponds and Cause Rivers to Run Upstream.

Hickman, Ky., May 15.—The New Madrid earthquake, which sank New Madrid, Mo., on December 17, 1811, occurred only 25 miles below Hickman, and the earthquake which sank Reelfoot lake occurred only about ten miles away. The New Madrid earthquake was felt several hundred miles, and vibrations occurred at intervals for more than a month. It happened that Fulton's steamer, the Orleans, the first boat launched on the Ohio river, was on its way from Pittsburgh to New Orleans and was not far from New Madrid when the first shock occurred. It was under the command of Capt. Nicholas J. Roosevelt, the grand-uncle of President Roosevelt.

Those on the boat were in great peril. The water of the river was for several hours turned upstream and the banks caved in for miles, the boat often being in great distress. Over an extent of 300 miles from the mouth of the Ohio river the ground rose and sank in great undulations. The surface broke open in fissures that trended northwest and southwest and were sometimes more than a half mile long, from which mud and water were thrown as high as the tops of trees. About one year the New Madrid distress an earthquake sank a strip of land about thirty miles long and seven miles wide and seven miles wide in the eastern part of Hickman and Fulton counties, lying about ten miles below Hickman, Ky., and that is now known as Reelfoot lake.

This lake is now widely known, and every winter hunters from all over the United States visit it, there being such a quantity of ducks and geese. The tops of trees and many stumps still exist, showing the depth it sank. In Arkansas, southwest of New Madrid, a large wooded territory sank for several miles and has since been known as "The Sunken Lands," creating a lake, the waters of which find an outlet southward through the St. Francis river into the Mississippi. The tops of the trees are plainly visible fifteen or twenty feet below the surface.

Senator Cox Honored.

Mayville, Ky., May 16.—State Senator W. H. Cox this morning received notice of his appointment as a delegate to the National Republican League, which meets in Philadelphia on June 17.

AN EDITOR USES HIS GUN

Louis Pilcher Puts Bullet in J. J. Peel

FIGHT IN NEWSPAPER OFFICE

Peel Had Attacked Him Because of Publication in Pilcher's Newspaper.

EDITOR WAS PUT UNDER $500 BOND.

Nicholasville, Ky., May 12.—J. J. Peel, a former policeman, and Louis Pilcher, editor of the Kentucky Democrat, which made its first appearance today, had a fight in the Democrat office this afternoon. The paper contained an attack on Peel, which was provoked by the injunction suit that Mr. Peel served on the Mayor and Board of Council last Thursday to prevent that body transacting any business. Pilcher was sitting in the office talking to a friend this afternoon when Peel walked in and asked: "Logic, what have I ever done to you to cause you to write about me in that manner?"

Before Mr. Pilcher could reply, Mr. Peel attacked him with his fist, and the two men engaged in a fight. Pilcher finally fell, and Peel kicked him in the head and left the office. Mr. Pilcher secured a revolver from the back room and fired two shots at Peel, who was then out on the street. The first shot struck Peel in the shoulder, the second passed through his coat. Before a third shot could be fired Pilcher was disarmed. Both were placed under arrest.

Pilcher was taken before Judge W. H. Phillips and placed under a $500 bond to appear next Thursday. Peel was tried before Magistrate Barkley and dismissed. Both men are well known throughout this section of the State, Mr. Pilcher as a newspaper man and Peel as a detective.

Men Who Harm a Town.

Mr. Walter N. McIntosh has started a new eight-page paper at Dongola, Ill., and in the first issue this gem appears:

"The men who harm a town may be found among those who oppose improvements, those who don't advertise, those who distrust public men, those who run it down to strangers, those who show no hospitality to any one, those who hate to see others make money, those who treat every stranger as an interloper, those who ask too prices for property, those who put on long faces when a stranger talks of locating, those who oppose every public enterprise that does not appear to be a personal benefit to themselves."

Hurt by Stock-pen Gate.

John Haffey, a locomotive engineer, was accidentally injured at Repton last Monday morning by being struck by the gate of the stock pen as he passed it with his head and shoulders projecting out from the cab window.

He was brought here on the passenger train and taken to the office of Dr. Driskill, the company's surgeon, who dressed his wounds, and he is reported as doing well. His mother lives at Henderson.

Bigamy Charge Result of Dream.

Fred Johnson was arrested in Lafayette, Ind., on a charge of bigamy as a result of a dream which was had by his first wife. In her dream her dead sister appeared and told her Johnson was married the second time. Johnson confessed.

The Circus.

The Sun Bros. Show exhibited here Tuesday according to advertisements and the exhibition was all that could be expected. There are larger shows on the road but none more popular, being free from the fakirs that usually follow such aggregations and everything carried on in an honorable and modern way. The weather was ideal and early in the day the throng of people began to gather on the streets. Everything passed off nicely and pleasantly, and while the saloons did a thriving business no drunkenness or brawls were in evidence.

The show gave two performances, one in the afternoon and one at night, and at both performances the tent was crowded. This is the second time the Sun Bros. Show have exhibited here and our people are pleased with the show and its management.

Obituary.

Mrs. Emma Crayne was born in Crittenden county, Ky., January 1, 1848. She died at the home of her son-in-law, P. M. Woodall, in Yakima county, Washington, May 3, 1906, age 58 years, four months and two days. Her maiden name was Cole. She professed faith in Christ at the age of fifteen and joined the C. P. church at Piney-Fork, Ky. She was married to B. T. Crayne in 1865. To this union were born five children, four of whom survive her—J. F. Crayne, of Seldon, Kansas, Mrs. J. F. Dorroh and Bert Crayne, of Crayneville, Ky., Mrs. P. M. Woodall, of Yakima county, Washington, and Mrs. Carrie McCaslin, deceased, of Crayneville, Ky.

In 1882 Sister Crayne withdrew her membership from Piney-Fork church and with her husband united with Pleasant Hill Primitive Baptist church and remained a consistent member until death. Sister Crayne was bereft of her husband in 1882. She supported her family and saw her children all married and conveniently situated in life. March 19, 1905, she came to Yakima county, Washington, to visit her daughter, Mrs. P. M. Woodall, who had preceded her to that state. Sister Crayne had been in the state of Washington a little more than twelve months and was contemplating a visit to her native country about the first of May, when shortly before that time she was taken suddenly ill and was sick but a few days until she died. Sister Crayne was socially a mild spirited christian lady, esteemed and admired by all who knew her.

The funeral services were held in the Adventist church, near her daughter, Mrs. P. M. Woodall's, home and were conducted by the writer after which the remains were interred in the cemetery at Zillah, Washington, followed by a large concourse of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodall hereby express their appreciation and thanks to all who so willingly and readily assisted them during the sickness, death and burial of their beloved mother.

WESTERN KENTUCKY TOBACCO GROWERS

May Accept Offer From Louisville Tobacco Warehouse Co. to Finance 1906 Crop.

Owensboro, Ky., May 14.—At a meeting here of the American Society of Equity, which is an alliance of the tobacco growers of Western Kentucky, it was decided to report favorably on the plan or offer of the Louisville Tobacco Warehouse Company to finance the 1906 crop. The Louisville people offer $1,000,000 on the crop, advancing $5 on A, B and C grades, $4.50 on D, grade, $4 on O and H grades, for two years, until the tobacco is sold. It will take a million dollars or more to handle the crop of 1906, and Owensboro was not prepared to advance more than $150,000.

The directors of the society met in court house Thursday last and decided to hold the first annual conference of the society in Owensboro on July 10, when it is expected 7,000 people will be in the city. The society was organized at Greenville a few months ago and has made rapid strides, and is now one of the strongest farmers' organizations in the South, covering Western Kentucky and Northern Tennessee.

Louisville and Greenville were after the meeting in July, but Owensboro landed it.

Married Five Years Ago.

Miss Catherine Moore, of this city, and Mr. Chas. Perry, of Irma, were married at Shawneetown, Ill., some five years ago, but the fact was not generally known until last week, when she left for Louisville to join her husband who was there awaiting her arrival. Mr. Perry is traveling for a large concern in Paducah. They will probably reside in Lexington after visiting relatives in other parts of the State.

TOM CAMPBELL'S WIDOW SUED

On Money Advanced Him by Stenographer

DEBT IS VIGOROUSLY DENIED

Miss Dorothy Kleimeyer Claims She Advanced $2,000 to Former Cincinnati Lawyer.

WAS IN TOO MANY PUBLIC AFFAIRS.

New York, May 12.—Pursued by litigation even beyond the grave after a lifetime of trying experiences with litigious enemies, Col. Thomas C. Campbell, who for years was conspicuous in New York and Ohio practice and politics, yesterday acquired posthumous notoriety in connection with a suit his stenographer, Miss Dorothy Kleimeyer, began against his widow, says the New York Press.

Campbell in life had almost as much business with courts in the role of defendant as he had as a lawyer, although he was counsel in several of the country's most celebrated cases.

Miss Kleimeyer yesterday painted the attorney in a new light—that of an employer who borrowed thousands from his amanuensis. She sued Mrs. Emma J. Campbell, the widow, for $400 she said is still due her, and demanded $60 more for services rendered to the defendant herself. Mrs. Campbell denied vigorously that she ever had availed herself of the stenographer's services and fought the other claim as earnestly.

Indeed, the widow did not content herself with a mere denial. Her son threw a questionable light on side issues in connection with the plaintiff's alleged loans to the Colonel. An attempt was made for instance, to show that Mrs. Campbell did not approve in every detail all her husband's ideas as to the duties of a shorthand writer.

George B. Campbell, the son, said he interfered to prevent Miss Kleimeyer from accompanying his father on the younger man's yacht. It was in the loss of that same yacht, the Roamer, on a Bahama key, that Colonel Campbell suffered exposure from which he died in the Skene Sanitarium, No. 759 President Street, Brooklyn, on January 5, 1904.

The Colonel's fate was of public interest in several States. He it was who was most active in the prosecution of Gov. Goebel's murderers, and who incited the Cincinnati riot that cost 100 lives that grew out of his success in obtaining a verdict of manslaughter for young Berner, charged with murder. He was president of the Hamilton Republican Club in Harlem and a political leader in the Buckeye State.

Miss Kleimeyer testified she was not only the Colonel's stenographer, but his managing clerk. She loaned him $2,000, she said, of which $1,600 was protected by claims against realty he left in Ohio and Kentucky. Miss Emma Kleimeyer, the plaintiff's sister, and Mrs. Kleimeyer, mother of the young woman, gave testimony intended to corroborate her story.

The defendant tearfully asserted she begged Miss Kleimeyer to stay away from her home when Campbell was brought here in the steamer Orizaba in a dying state.

"I once found my mother," George Campbell testified, "in her home in Brooklyn in a hysterical condition because my father had asked Miss Kleimeyer to accompany him on a yachting cruise. My father was ill at the time and was going to take the cruise with my mother. I told Miss Kleimeyer that I was the owner of the yacht and that she could not come with us. I engaged a stenographer named Wilson for the voyage, and Miss Kleimeyer remained in New York."

Campbell denied Miss Kleimeyer had any claim against his father's estate. A sealed verdict was ordered.

Mrs. J. B. Champion Dead.

Last Sunday morning, after a short illness, Mrs. J. B. Champion died. After the birth of her little son she had gradually grown worse, and in spite of all that careful nursing and medica-skill could do, she yielded up the life that was made especially dear to her because of her young husband and little babe.

Mrs. Champion was twenty-two years old and had been a member of the Presbyterian church since childhood. She was married Nov. 1904, and was idolized by her husband.

Besides her husband and babe Mrs. Champion leaves a father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Green B. Crawford, of Tolu; one brother, Will T. Crawford, of this city, and one sister, Miss Clara Crawford, of Tolu.

The remains were interred at the new cemetery Monday afternoon after the funeral service which was conducted by Rev. J. R. McAfee at the C. P. church.

No Whisky in Prescriptions.

The physicians of Lancaster have decided not to write prescriptions for whisky in the future, the tidal wave of reform having struck the capital of Garrard with telling force, and the "lid is on." The following card has been issued by the doctors: It has been reported that the physicians of Lancaster have solicited the taking out of whisky licenses by the druggists. We, the undersigned, emphatically deny that we have asked any one to take out license, and further pledge ourselves to write no whisky prescriptions under any circumstances.

TRAMPS AND OIL SPILLED TOGETHER

Search for Bodies and Fill Barrels With Wasting Illuminant—All Work Alike.

Paducah, Ky., May 16.—A report to the effect that three tramps were killed in the freight Central yesterday, is interesting farmers in that vicinity and this morning at Heath, Ky., on the Illinois morning searchers began tearing into the debris of the thirteen wrecked cars to find the bodies if there. The railroad company received no reports of any one killed and the debris of the wreck was shoved aside on the right of way to clear the track. The shattered remains of the car remain as left by the company and it is hard work tearing them up. Farmers have been busy all day searching for the bodies, but at last reports had been unsuccessful in finding anything that resembled a body.

The bursting of the oil tank enabled farmers to secure coal oil free and one farmer is said to have secured 137 gallons. He had several barrels hauled to the scene and placed his can under the tank to secure oil. They worked it together one farmer filling his can and making way for the next, each taking turn about.

Former Treasurer Sued.

GOV. BECKHAM NAMES MEMORIAL COMMISSION

For Erection of Lincoln Memorial Tablet to Be Erected in Hodgenville.

Frankfort, Ky., May 16.—The last General Assembly passed a bill appropriating $2,500 to erect a memorial tablet in the city of Hodgenville in honor of Abraham Lincoln, near Hodgenville. The bill provided for the appointment of a commission of five to select and erect this tablet and the Governor has selected the following persons:

The Hon. Robert Enlow and Charles L. Hubbard, of Hodgenville; Hon. L. B. Hall, of Louisville; Hon. Charles C. Beard, of Fordsville, and Richard Loyd Jones, of New York.

Messrs. Enlow, Hall and Beard were members of the last House and Mr. Jones is the political editor of Collier's who has visited Kentucky several times and who has taken quite an interest in the project of purchasing the Lincoln home.

HAS ALLIGATOR FARM

FLORIDA NATIVE RAISES REPTILES IN INCUBATOR.

Declares They Make Better Pets for Ladies Than Chameleons—Eat One Another, So Food Costs Him Nothing.

Palm Beach, Fla.—Joe Frazier, who was born with a hankering to get on in the world, and who could see no better way than starting an alligator farm, has started the millionaire visitors at the beach by moving his whole menagerie of sawbacks down from his original lagoon incubating ground to the sands of the beach, where he expects to reap a fortune by selling young live alligators as watch-charms to the men and as substitutes for chameleons to the ladies. He had some difficulty in moving them recently. Some of them got out, chased the visitors off the beach and took a hand at bathing in the surf. "But," says Joe, "an alligator is as innocent as a lamb if you take him right, and take him before he takes you."

He doesn't see why anyone should object to the near presence of his pets. "Er young 'gator makes a pretty watch charm if he is tied up by a gold chain so's he can't bite," he says. "An' they is a heap sight prettier than them lizards wat wimlin is a wearing around on their dresses."

Joe's farm, a mile or so back on the shell road, has been a favorite sight for visitors, and everyone who goes there wants to take home a basketful of young snappers, just to prove that he has been in Florida. The big ones lie around in the yard, yawn and eat any stray dogs or cats that happen to intrude, and the females occupy their time by laying eggs. The eggs Joe digs out and places in the sun in an old canoe, which makes a fine incubator. Here they hatch out in the mellow sunshine and crawl over each other and take lessons in biting off each other's tails. One of the proprietor's favorite stories to make his visitors' eyes stick out is that alligators' eggs are fine eating, and that he has alligator eggs on toast every morning.

A few years ago New York was startled by the information that Central park had suddenly been turned into a breeding place for wild alligators, and that the pools were full of them. Women refused to let their children go there. The keepers and policemen kept finding half-grown 'gators in the water. Then the secret came out.

Hundreds of people who had visited Joe's farm had taken back young 'gators as pets and kept them in their homes in the city till they got big enough to try to eat up the children and cats and dogs. Then, in desperation, the owners thought of Central park as being the easiest way to get rid of their voracious pets.

When Joe started his alligator farm the 'gator tribe had begun to disappear, and dealers in alligator hide were beginning to substitute mottled cow hide for handbags and other gew-gaws. Then every hide that Joe could produce brought its price, and 'gator teeth from Joe's farm began to appear in the market. Joe made money.

"But I should think it would cost a good deal to feed them while they are growing!" said one visitor.

"Oh, they eat each other when they're hungry," he said: "an' if half of them's that born grows up my profit is good, 'cause I ain't fed 'em anything but their brothers and sisters."

Girl Faces Fierce Bear.

East Liverpool, O.—The presence of mind and bravery of a young girl saved the life of her father, Joseph Johnson, aged 60, a farmer, who lives near New Cumberland. A fierce bear invaded his premises and Johnson undertook to drive it off. The animal knocked him down and rolled him over a bank. It was attacking him with its tusks and would have killed him had not his daughter come to the rescue. With a club she attacked the bear and not only caused it to relinquish its attack on her father but drove it off the place. Johnson, besides a broken leg and a broken rib, sustained severe contusions and lost considerable blood.

CAUSE OF PARIS RIOTS.

Friends of Aspirants to French Throne Aided in Recent Disturbances—Sketch of Three Pretenders.

Paris.—That the recent rising in Paris was fomented by adherents of three pretenders to the throne, who desire to see France again an empire, is the general belief in Paris. Prince Louis Philippe Robert, duke of Orleans, is the Bourbon-Orleanist pretender. He is the eldest son of the late count of Paris, and was born in 1869. In 1899 he entered Paris, notwithstanding the exclusion act of 1886, and was arrested. He was released after a short time, and then went to Brussels, as being nearer France. In 1905 he led a north polar expedition. Prince Victor Napoleon (of the house of Jerome) is a son of the late Prince Napoleon and the Princess Clothilde, sister of the late King Humbert of Italy. He was born July 18, 1862. After the death in South Africa, in 1879, of the so-called prince imperial (son of Napoleon III. and Eugenie) Victor was put forward as a rival of his father in imperial claims, being supported by Paul de Cassagnac and others. He lives in Brussels, is morganatically married, and has three children.

Victor's younger brother, Prince Louis Napoleon, is preferred by a certain faction of the Bonapartists. He was born in 1864, is a general in the Russian army, and desires to wed a daughter of the king of the Belgians, but the latter opposes the match.

AFTER LONGWORTH'S SEAT

Theodore Horstmann, a Cincinnati Reformer, May Oppose Son-in-Law of President for Renomination.

Cincinnati.—Nicholas Longworth, son-in-law of the president, must fight this year to retain his seat in congress, though the chances are that he will be renominated and elected. Mr. Longworth is the representative from Ohio's First congressional district, half of Hamilton county. He is now serving his second term in the national house of representatives and there are ambitious Republicans in Cincinnati who think they should be given a chance. The leading one of these is Theodore Horstmann.

Mr. Horstmann was city solicitor of Cincinnati about ten years ago, elec-ed as an organization Republican. Later he was nominated for mayor on a fusion ticket and defeated by the Republican candidate, ex-Congressman John A. Caldwell. The Democratic nominee was Isaac J. Miller. The fusion ticket was made up of men who demanded reforms in the city government.

As city solicitor Mr. Horstmann acquired a wide knowledge of municipal affairs and after he retired from office tried to obtain reforms through the courts. Through suits begun, with Mr. Alter, a Democratic millionaire reformer, as plaintiff, Mr. Horstmann attacked street tax levies and other matters of council legislation, sometimes successfully. He has watched the council like a hawk and has long been a conspicuous opponent of the Cox machine.

Child Had Heart Outside Body.

Physicians of Newark, N. J., say there is no parallel in medical records for the phenomenon of nature that was disclosed recently in that city at the birth of a boy to Mrs. Charles Heib, of No. 157 Camden street. The heart of the infant, instead of being in its normal position, was by a curious freak of nature placed completely outside the chest, directly over its natural position. For 48 hours the exposed organ did its work, but it was observed that the child began to grow gradually weaker and soon died. Dr. Wintch said the child's heart was a little larger than usual, and the ventricles were separated, but otherwise it was normal.

IN OCEAN DEPTHS.

Some of the most beautiful sights are found in the sea—the coral reefs and the sunken gardens, filled with strange marine plants. Some marine animals live only in the purest water, others only in the foulest water; for every condition there is a life to fit it.

In all ocean basins, hills and ridges, as well as troughs and deep holes, occur, and the bottom is covered with the skeletons of marine animals, changed by time into slime and stone. Some of the animals of the ocean have no eyes, having no need of them; others have a hundred eyes.

The largest animal and the tiniest animal are found in the sea. In places the sea is 30,000 feet deep. Its average depth is over 12,000 feet. Twice every 24 hours the water rises and falls. At the entrance to the Bay of Fundy the rise at spring tide is no less than 70 feet. The natural power that controls the tide is a tremendous one.

And the plant life in the ocean is almost as remarkable as the animal life. Learned men have been studying it for centuries and are only beginning to understand it. If you want to be interested as no novel can interest you, procure a book telling in a simple manner of the life in the sea. There are plenty of such books written for the people rather than for scientists.

WASTED TO A SHADOW.

But Found a Cure After Fifteen Years of Suffering.

A. H. Stotts, messenger at the State Capitol, Columbus, O., says:

"For fifteen years I had kidney troubles, and though I doctored faithfully, could not find a cure. I had heavy backaches, dizzy headaches and terrible urinary disorders. One day I collapsed, fell insensible on the sidewalk, and then wasted away in bed for ten weeks. After being given up, I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. In a couple of months I regained my old health, and now weigh 155 pounds. Twelve boxes did it, and I have been well two years."

RESSED TO WORKING GIRLS

Barrows Tells How Mrs. Pinkham's Advice Helps Working Girls.

Girls who work are particularly susceptible to female disorders, especially those who are obliged to stand on their feet from morning until night in stores or factories.

Day in and day out the girl toils, she is often the bread-winner of the family. Whether she is sick or whether it rains or shines, she must get to her place of employment, and the duties exacted of her must be agreeable.

Among this class the symptoms of female diseases are early manifest in back and aching backs, pain in the limbs and lower part of the stomach. In consequence of frequent standing of the feet, periods become painful and irregular, and frequently there are faint and dizzy spells, with loss of appetite, until life is a burden.

All these symptoms point to a derangement of the female organism which can be easily and promptly cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Abby F. Barrows, Nelsonville, Ohio, tells what this great medicine did for her. She writes:

"I feel it my duty to tell you the good that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. Before I took it I was very nervous, had dull headaches, pains in back, and periods were irregular. I had been to several doctors, and they did me no good. Your medicine has made me well and strong. I can do most any kind of work without complaint, and my periods are all right. I am in better health than I ever was. I know it is all due to your remedies. I commend your advice and medicine to all who suffer."

IN OTHER LANDS.

An electric railway will probably connect Moscow with St. Petersburg.

In the insane asylums of Germany more than a third of the patients owe their condition to strong drink.

Last year there were 39,211 millions matches sold in France, bringing into that nation's treasury $5,216,950, this being a state monopoly.

A man of 80, elected a judge for Fribourg, Switzerland, is to go through a university course in order to enable him to pass the examination required by law.

A proposal to enact that no newspaper shall be edited, composed or printed from Saturday midnight until sunrise on Monday morning, has been negatived in the French senate.

Denmark holds the record among nations for thriftiness. Her inhabitants have, on an average, £10 9s. apiece in the savings banks; English people have only £3 2s. a head.

In Australian gold mines it is considered that ventilation becomes bad when the proportion of oxygen falls below 20 per cent, or less than 70 cubic feet of air a minute is supplied for every man working in a mine.

The city of London's chief inspector of weights and measures reports that the weight of all loads of coal tested last year was satisfactory, and that "in most cases the weight exceeded the amount specified on the ticket."

One of the labor party's members of the new house of commons lately received from a constituent who thought he had a grievance to which the government should give attention, a letter of no less than 1,700 closely-written pages.

MATING GARB OF BIRDS.

The gnatcatcher is a dull brown bird, but in the spring his plumes turn a beautiful green.

Thus the warrior bird of Germany puts on for the mating season a ruff of many bright hues, while the female dons a cape of white.

The grebe's wedding dress is two tufts of brilliant blue feathers. They stand like horns upon his head. They enhance his beauty greatly.

The fire-weaver's wedding dress is the most splendid of all. This bird, a sober fellow in the winter, wears, when he takes a wife, a dress of bright red.

TRANSFORMATIONS.

Curious Results When Coffee Drinking Is Abandoned.

It is almost as hard for an old coffee taster to quit the use of coffee as it is for a whisky or tobacco fiend to break off, except that the coffee user can quit coffee and take up Postum Food Coffee without any feeling of a loss of the morning beverage, for when Postum is well boiled and served with cream, it is really better in point of flavor than most of the coffee served nowadays, and to the taste of the connoisseur it is like the flavor of fine Java.

A great transformation takes place in the body within ten days or two weeks after coffee is left off and Postum Food Coffee used, for the reason that the poison to the nerves has been discontinued and in its place is taken a liquid that contains the most powerful elements of nourishment.

It is easy to make this test and prove these statements by changing from coffee to Postum Food Coffee.

"There's a reason."

DEATH OF JOHN THE BAPTIST

Sunday School Lesson for May 20, 1906

—Specially Prepared for This Paper.

LESSON TEXT.—Mark 6:14-29. Memory verse, 20.

GOLDEN TEXT.—"Be not drunk with wine wherein is excess."—Eph. 5:18.

TIME.—Imprisonment of John after nearly two years of preaching took place in March or April, A. D. 28, and he was beheaded just a year later, at the age of 33.

PLACE.—Jesus in Galilee with disciples. John in prison in Machaerus, east of the Dead sea, where probably Herod's feast took place.

Comment and Suggestive Thought. V. 14. "King Herod." Mark, for courtesy, styles him king. "Heard of Him." Heard of Jesus, who was attracting so much attention by his wonderful works in Galilee. "His name was spread abroad." The apostles were journeying through Galilee, thus multiplying Jesus' influence and extending His fame. "John the Baptist . . . the dead." Herod was at least nominally a Sadducee, and professed to believe neither in spirits nor a resurrection.

V. 15. "Others said." Others entertained various opinions about Jesus. With these they tried to calm Herod's troubled conscience. "Elijah." Elijah, "A prophet, or as one." A new prophet, or as one bearing great resemblance to the old prophets.

V. 17. "Herod himself." Not moved by matters of state, but for purely personal reasons. "Laid hold upon John." Arrested him. "For Herodias' sake." Because the crime for which John reproached him was with and on account of Herodias.

V. 18. "John had said unto Herod." He had repeatedly besought the tetrarch to forsake his sin, undoubtedly assuring him that even for such as he, there was forgiveness and restoration from God upon true repentance. "It is not lawful for thee to have her." He was her uncle, and it was not lawful for those so near of kin the marry; moreover he had a wife and she a husband living at the time.

V. 19. "Had a quarrel." Rev. Ver. "Saw herself against him." That is, she became the sworn enemy of the Baptist. She strongly "desired to kill him," but "could not," because she lacked personal authority; and Herod would not order his execution.

V. 20. "Herod feared John." Matthew says he also feared the people, for they counted John a great prophet. "Observed him." "Kept him safe"—out of the reach of Herodias' malice. "Heard him." Herod was a man of keen intellect, and it seems that Herod often called the prisoner from the dungeon to the palace, which was under the same roof, that he might listen to him. He "did many things," or "was much perplexed." Perhaps he abandoned some sins, and began the practice of some virtues.

V. 21. "A convenient day." A day which brought Herodias opportunity for executing her purpose. "Lords, high captains, chief estates." The three classes mentioned were the great men of the court, of the army and of the province.

V. 22. "The daughter of Herodias." Salome. "Came in and danced." In the corrupt age of Herod a feast among high dignitaries would be incomplete without the coming of one or more professional dancing-girls in dainty costumes and with voluptuous dances, commonly accompanied by tambourines or tinkling bells, to entertain men of debased instincts. But for one of high birth to enter the banquet hall, was considered a great shame, hence the strong expression, "herself came in." "Pleased Herod." He fancied that Salome honored him by degrading herself. Had he been sober, he would have felt horrified.

V. 23. "He aware." He confirmed his words by repeated oaths. "Unto the half of my kingdom." A foolishly extravagant expression commonly used by kings, but not meant to be literally interpreted.

V. 24. "Went forth." Left the scene of feasting to find her mother, who was in another part of the castle. "The head of John the Baptist." This request Herod would be warranted in refusing. John's head was of more value than the half of his kingdom, and under no just law was it his to give.

V. 25. "Straightway with haste." Undoubtedly Herodias counseled great haste of all parties, lest the girl become too horrified to proffer the request, and lest Herod, when sobered, refuse to grant it. "By and by." Immediately. "In a charger." In a platter, a dish.

V. 26. "Exceedingly sorry." Herod's sorrow was probably as deep as he was capable of feeling, but was not, as the sequel shows, deep enough to cause him to refuse the infamous request. "Oath's sake." In the original the word "oath" is plural, indicating that he had made the promise repeatedly. "For their sakes." Lest he should appear to them to be fickle and vacillating. "Reject her." Refuse to grant her request.

Practical Points. V. 17. It is no excuse for sin that it was done at the instigation or for the sake of another.—Ezek. 18:20.

V. 18. If hearing the truth does not make us better, it makes us worse.—Jas. 4:17.

V. 22. Frivolous minds find pleasure in frivolous amusement.—Prov. 15:21.

V. 23. Many harbor the whole of the Kingdom of Heaven for a temporary pleasure.—Mark 8:26.

V. 27. That life which fulfills its mission is a success, whether its years be many or few.—John 17:6.

PHONETIC PHENOMENON.

How the "O" Came to Be Left Out in the Modernized Spelling of "Phenix."

They were talking about spelling reform and the idiosyncrasies of English spelling in general, relates Success Magazine.

"There's that very word 'phonetic,' said one of the men; 'that's a sample of English spelling. The reformers call their system the 'phonetic system,' and yet they have to spell 'phonetic' with a 'pho' in order to let people know what they mean. The very word that means 'spelled as pronounced' is as far from it as possible."

"Now, now!" drawled his friend, "you're too hard on the good old English speller. You ought to be proud of 'phonetic.' Why, that word is so trimmed down, and sawed off, and cut short, that I wouldn't know it was English if I met it alone on a blank page. You ought to thank the language for the word. It is a beautiful word. That 'pho' might have been spelled like 'dough' and the 'net' like 'ette' in 'rosette,' and the 'ie' like the 'liq' in 'liquor.' That would be a good old-style English word—phonetic. But it is coming! Phonetic spelling is coming! Look at that word 'phenix.' It is spelled 'phenix' everywhere now, and I remember it always used to be 'phenix.' The 'o' has gone. That shows."

"Nothing!" said the objector. "What does it show? That the phenix is a bird. Isn't the phenix a bird? Yes! Well, that round thing you say was an 'o' was an egg. That's all. 'I was just an egg, and the phenix laid the egg. That's all."

BABY'S AWFUL HUMOR.

Thin Skin Formed Over Body and Under It Was Watery Blood—Cured in One Week by Cuticura Remedies.

"When my little girl baby was one week old she had a skin disease. A thin skin formed over her body and under it was watery blood, and when she was washed it would burst and break. She was in that condition for weeks, and I tried everything I could think of, but nothing ever any good. When she was three months old I took her to San Antonio to see a doctor, but the doctor we wanted to see was not at home, so my sister gave me a cake of Cuticura Soap and half a box of Cuticura Ointment, and I sold me one each, which I did in time. I used them three times, and the humor began to fade, and in one week she was sound and well, and it has never returned since. I think every mother should keep the Cuticura Remedies in the house."—H. Aaron, Benton, Tex.—July 3, 1905.

One on the Doctors.

The Boston Herald tells a story of a physician of Salem, Mass., who, talking to a group of friends, said: "I wanted to be a soldier, but my parents persuaded me to study medicine."

"Oh, well," rejoined one of the party, "such is life. Many a man with wholesale aspirations has to content himself with a retail business."

Each to His Taste.

"Did you see where the chaplain general of that aristocratic patriotic society played for all those who have not the same ancestry as themselves?"

"Well, that's a matter of taste. Maybe some people have their own reasons for accepting the Darwinian theory, but Adam and Eve are good enough for me."—Baltimore American.

All in the Reach.

The way to reach, or to attain to anything, is to bend oneself toward it with all one's might; and we approximate it just in proportion to the intensity and the persistence of our effort to attain it.—Success Magazine.

Preparing to Get Even.

"Yes," he said, "I wish to adapt a girl."

"A little girl?"

"No, a girl old enough to have energy and perseverance, and one who has had enough experience with the piano to make her think she knows how to play. And if she thinks she can sing, why, so much the better. I tell you I am going to get even with the people in the next flat, even if I have to adopt two musical prodigies."

The Crittenden Record.

ISSUED WEEKLY.

JAS. E. CHITTENDEN,
Editor and Publisher.

SUBSCRIPTION ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR.

Entered as second-class matter July 15, 1904, at the postoffice at Marion, Ky., under Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

FRIDAY, MAY 18, 1906.

Grover Cleveland announces that he will never be a presidential candidate again. This makes it practically unanimous.

The ladies in Kansas cannot vote for Governor, so that Gov. Hoch will never know whether he did just right or not when he failed to get that kiss.

A man who can tell a good story, keep an audience interested and play the fiddle would be an improvement on some of Tennessee's line of Democratic Senators.

The jury did not think John A. Moore made a masterly argument in the Henderson case, but on the contrary, from its action, it did not consider that he had made a speech.

Mr. Bryan has sent a message from Egypt to his trainers that he will "also run" for the Presidency some more if circumstances seem to demand it. How a habit does grow on a fellow.

The Missouri man who swapped a 41-year-old wife and five children for a 11-year-old wife and one child ought to have been compelled by the laws of compensation to give a jack-knife and plug of tobacco to boot.

Fiddling Bob Taylor has been chosen by the people of Tennessee, in primaries, to represent them in the United States Senate. This looks like a bad mistake. A Senator should be trained on some wind instrument.

The Senate has agreed to a bill which provides that passes may be given to "attorneys who are employed exclusively by the railroads." It will be interesting to learn how many members of Congress will be able to get passes under the rule.

The editor of the Press says Henderson cowardly assaulted him. On the trial of the case the evidence showed that the editor had provoked the difficulty by very abusive language. He had called Henderson a liar and unfairly attacked him many times through his paper, and recently accused him of being untrue to his client.

School Tax.

I will be at the office of Bourland & Haynes Thursday and Friday, May 24 and 25, 1906, for the purpose of collecting 1906 school tax for Marion Graded School district. A 5 per cent penalty will be added to all unpaid tax after May 25.

H. A. HAYNES,
Treas. Marion Graded School.

It Is Dangerous to Neglect a Cold.

How often do we hear it remarked: "It's only a cold," and a few days later learn that the man is on his back with pneumonia. This is of such common occurrence that a cold, however slight, should not be disregarded. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia, and has gained its great popularity and extensive sale by its prompt cures of this most common ailment. It always cures and is pleasant to take. For sale by Haynes & Taylor, the enterprising druggist of Marion.

Decoration Day.

Crittenden Post G. A. R. will decorate graves at old Pleasant Hill Cemetery, near Creswell in Caldwell county, on the 30th day of May. A. C. Deboe, J. N. McDowell, W. H. Coleman and W. H. James compose the present committee on arrangements and Jasper Crider will deliver the Welcome address, response by J. M. Walker. Everybody will have opportunity to speak. Come and bring provisions and flowers.

J. M. WALKER,
Commander.

Not If as Rich as Rockefeller.

If you had all the wealth of Rockefeller, the Standard Oil magnate, you could not buy a better medicine for bowel complaints than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The most eminent physician can not prescribe a better preparation for colic and diarrhoea, both for children and adults. The uniform success of this remedy has shown it to be superior to all others. It never fails, and when reduced with water and sweetened, is pleasant to take. Every family should be supplied with it. Sold by Haynes & Taylor, the enterprising druggists of Marion.

For Sale.

300 bu. of white corn and 5 tons of clover hay on the farm one mile west of Mattoon, Ky. Call or write me at above office. Resp. A. R. HUGHES.

Young Men and Politics.

Should a young man enter political life, and how?

This is a question which probably a million young men have been trying to solve in one way or the other since your first vote a few years ago. Have you taken a practical interest in politics, attended primaries, addressed meetings and cheerfully given your time in such work as you believe to be beneficial to public affairs? Is your interest and ability recognized under the management of a "Boss"? Suppose you should be a candidate for the assembly at Frankfort and this prove acceptable by you and was greeted with favor wherever you were known and you would be such a man as after a little experience leave the whole assembly. But no nomination would be certain without the consent of the "Boss." It would not be required that you should make downright pledges. Bossism has been refined beyond that point, but it would be necessary for you to go down and see the "Boss," talk with him ten or fifteen minutes, talking over the prospects in the district, receive the assurance that your candidacy would be an agreeable man in the political game and go away with tacit understanding that in the convention the "Bosses" unseemly would bring about your nomination. But as the candidate would go away from the interview the "Boss" would understand only one thing that an alliance offensive and defensive had been made in exchange for his influence at Frankfort perhaps the young man would not be called upon to do dirty work. He would vote without suggestion for or against. He would seem to be free—unless there should be a close question in which his vote would be absolutely required. Then he would undoubtedly be called upon to "deliver the goods," and he would be expected to close his eyes to the corruption going on around him, indulge in no reform outcry upon the legislation which would be really vital to great business plans. There would be plenty of little reforms in which he would take part and which the "Boss" would rather approve which would attract the attention of the public and strengthen the "reformer" in his power to do mischief to public interest by giving him public confidence, but suppose that arriving in the legislature he did not pursue this line of policy? Suppose he proved an intricate—a dangerous man? What then? His political career would be given a short shift. He would be quickly set upon by the assembly. His influence in legislation would be nil. Rumors would be passed around suggesting an hundred unfavorable characteristics and at the end of his term he would retire of course. There would be always danger that he might be a man of such strength and rectitude that he would become a menace to the combination of corruptionists and by his actions go back to the people so strong as to enable him to secure re-election in spite of the machine. This is the risk the boss must incur in selecting his type of man, but he has dealt with so many such he gauged so accurately the passivity of the ordinary man when surrounded powerless and hopeless.

He knew so well the insidious germs contained in the average political ambition that the call on the "Boss" having been made that modern hydra would dismiss all fear of ambitious youth's ever becoming recalcitrant. These would be the conditions as they came into view after some thought had been given the matter submitted. What am I to do? The young man would ask. I should like to enter political life. I have an ambition to serve the state. Unless I can be regarded at least not unfavorably by W-K—I am certain to be turned down in the nominating convention regardless of my desire to serve the people of my district. But what would you do if you entered the assembly under such auspices? I would exert every effort to secure good legislation he would reply. But would you be free to do so if you arrived in official life under the favor of a boss? Would you not feel that by your visit you had given an implied promise? Would you not be under an obligation which would weigh like a millstone about your neck and after awhile perhaps sink you in the morass of corruption. But there were young Roosevelt, Parker and many others in the first instance, I've no doubt, entered politics under the favor of a boss. But don't the careers of these fine young men satisfy you? To quote the favorite expression, are they not a type of Abraham Lincoln or were they bound hand and foot? Is there no entrance to political life for ambitious young men? Yes there is one which every young man should take he should go into politics from a desire to obtain for himself and his fellow voters the endless benefit which accrue under a republic. If every voter would do his full duty he would swear to himself that he would perform his full share in securing honest legislators and wise laws. If you have a business resolve to your self that you will look to it for success, for monetary rewards. But go into political life give up your spare moments to giving an interest to affairs. Go to primaries, to the conventions, municipal, pal, county and state, if possible. Look carefully into every issue, debate it, study the men of your section, learn their true values, single out those that can be depended upon to think rightly and act rightly, those that are wrong, those that are corrupt. Above all teach yourself to think justly, be steady, do not be deflected from a right idea by business interests or friendship, or by clever words. Learn to penetrate deception. Put away all hope of reward for these efforts. They are your contributions as a citizen to the good of the state, and above all be cheerful and good humored, even with those whom you know to be in the wrong. Let the boss and his henchmen know that you may be counted as a steady influence in the decision of affairs at the primaries, at the conventions and at the polls. They gain their power by being eternally diligent in wrong doings. They must fear the man who will be eternally vigilant in wrong doing. It is improper to desire to serve the people by holding office. You should resolve to do so when the right time comes. A thoroughly independent who understands politics and the people their right policies, and their enemies such a man is what we want in congress. Yours Truly,

J. C. HARDEN.

POWERS TAKEN TO GEORGETOWN

Attorney Has Mandate Filed Returning Prisoner to Kentucky Courts.

London, Ky., May 16. Attorney General of Kentucky appeared in the United States Circuit Court here today before Judge Cockson and entered a motion for the court to grant his permission to file the mandate of the Supreme Court of the United States in the Caleb Powers' case and have entered orders remanding Powers back into the custody of the Scott Circuit Court.

The motion was granted and the mandate filed, and Marshal Sharp was directed to immediately transfer Powers from the Newport jail to that of Georgetown.

Sciatica Cured After Twenty Years of Torture.

For more than twenty years Mr. J. B. Massey, of 3222 Clinton St., Minneapolis, Minn., was tortured by sciatica. The pain and suffering which he endured during this time is beyond comprehension. Nothing gave him any permanent relief until he used Chamberlain's Pain Balm. One application of that liniment relieved the pain and made sleep and rest possible, and less than one bottle has effected a permanent cure. Mr. Massey relates his experience for the benefit of others who may be similarly afflicted. If troubled with sciatica or rheumatism why not try a 25-cent bottle of Pain Balm and see for yourself how quickly it relieves the pain. For sale by Haynes & Taylor, the enterprising druggists of Marion.

Obituary.

In loving memory of Kittle Floyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Floyd. Kittle was born Nov. 1896 and died Feb. 1906, aged nine years. She had been afflicted all her life and was idolized by all the relatives. She wrestled four weeks with whooping cough and then the angel came for her. She was only a bud here, but she will bloom in the bright celestial city to enjoy sweet peace and walk the golden streets that have no end. It is sad to stand by the bedside and watch our loved ones fade away, but faith points to bright beyond—not lost but gone on before. She leaves a father, mother, two brothers and five sisters.

The writer extends to the bereaved family her heart-felt sympathy. We would say weep not, grieve not; your loss is her eternal gain, but strive to behold with an eye of faith that beautiful mansion where Kitty lives. Her life like the swift fleeting snow-drops.

On earth was pure and brief; Bearing joy and goodness as it passed, Leaving all at the parting in grief.

A Mountain of Gold

could not bring as much happiness to Mrs. Lucia Wilke, of Caroline, Wis., as did one 25c box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, when it completely cured a running sore on her leg, which had tortured her 23 long years. Greatest antiseptic healer of Piles, Wounds and Sores. 25c at Haynes & Taylor's drug store.

Convict Sentenced to Be Hanged.

Eddyville, Ky., May 11.—Bon Huffaker, a convict in the branch penitentiary at Eddyville, sent up on a life murder charge, was today convicted in the Lyon circuit court of the murder of Ben Shurtle, and sentenced to be hanged. Shurtle was a convict who was employed in the same department with Huffaker. The killing occurred May 1, 1895.

This is one of the most remarkable cases in the history of the courts of Kentucky.

A GREAT OFFER

On account of moving into new and larger quarters the

Owensboro Business University

WILL MAKE THE FOLLOWING GREAT REDUCTION IN RATES ON JUST FIFTY SCHOLARSHIPS:

OUR regular rates for a single scholarship in either department is $45. Combined course of Bookkeeping and Shorthand, $80.00.

In this effort to reach a great spring enrollment, we will make the great sacrifice of $15 on the single course or $25 on the combined course.

This makes the course in Bookkeeping or Shorthand $30. The combined course $55. This is certainly the greatest offer ever made by any school at any time.

Further, any one securing the sale of only five of these cash scholarships will receive a free scholarship in either department.

These scholarships will be good at any time you wish to enter, but will call your attention to the fact that only fifty will be sold at this price.

This means immediate action on your part.

If further information is wanted, write us at once as these will be placed on sale the 10th of this month.

Protect Proprietary Medicines.
Did it ever occur to you that proprietary medicines are a blessing to mankind generally? The good ones have long continued sale; the poor ones have short life and soon leave the market.
If we had to depend entirely upon physicians and druggists it would be expensive and very inconvenient at times, especially in the country and at night when neither could be conveniently reached. For nearly forty years Boeche's German Syrup has been used in many families, and thousands of lives of adults and children have been saved by its use, when it was impossible to reach a physician. German Syrup is the best household remedy for coughs, colds, throat and lung trouble. It quickly relieves the hacking cough, loosens the phlegm, and brings sound and refreshing sleep. Twenty-five and seventy-five cents. For sale by Woods & Orme.

Simple Way to Cure Catarrh by Hyomei Without Stomach Dosing.
It is the height of folly to dose the stomach with internal medicines to cure nasal catarrh. It cannot be cured except the catarrhal germs that are present in the nose, throat and lungs have first been killed.
The soothing air of Hyomei heals the smarting and raw membrane of the air passages in the nose, throat and lungs, kills off the catarrhal germs and rids the system of the last trace of catarrh.
The complete Hyomei outfit consists of a hard rubber inhaler which can be carried in the purse or vest-pocket, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei, and costs only one dollar, while extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents.
Haynes & Taylor positively guarantee a cure when Hyomei is used in accordance with the simple directions on the package, or Haynes & Taylor will refund the money. This certainly shows their faith and belief in the virtues of Hyomei.

Mrs. Harvey Burks, Harrisburg, Illinois. Cured by "ZEMO" After Five Years' Torture.
WHY? SUFFER THE TORTURE OF ECZEMA OR ANY SKIN DISEASE WHEN THIS GOOD MEDICINE +ZEMO+ HAS NEVER FAILED TO CURE
E. W. ROSE MEDICINE CO., ST. LOUIS, MO. HARRISBURG, ILL., May 12th, 1906.
DEAR SIR: Believing that "ZEMO" saved my arms, if not my life, I will gladly tell all sufferers from eczema what your good medicine did for me. I suffered six years from a torturing case of itching eczema of both arms. I tried eight different doctors and every remedy I could hear of without relief. The disease grew worse and spread to my neck and breast; my arms had crusts; hoarse entered in them; I soon became an invalid and was confined to my bed part of the time. My husband bought a bottle of "ZEMO"; the first application stopped the itching, and I began to improve; in six weeks and one day the disease had disappeared, and my arms were clean and smooth as my nature will allow, before and after using "ZEMO". My arms were so bad some of my friends wanted me to have them taken off, but I would not agree. I am now entirely cured and have gained ten pounds in weight, and feel better than I have felt in many years. I consider my quick recovery by using "ZEMO" nothing short of a miracle. I will gladly answer all inquiries and recommend "ZEMO" to all persons suffering from any itching skin disease.
Yours gratefully,
Mrs. Harvey Burks.

A Living Monument.

If we were to assemble all those who have been cured of heart disease by Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and who would to-day be in their graves had not Dr. Miles' been successful in perfecting this wonderful heart specific, they would populate a large city.

What a remarkable record—a breathing, thinking, moving monument, composed of human lives,—that for which every other earthly possession is sacrificed.

The Miles Medical Co. receive thousands of letters from these people like the following:

"I feel indebted to the Dr. Miles' Heart Cure for my life. I desire to call the attention of others suffering as I did to this remarkable remedy for the heart. For a long time I had suffered from shortness of breath after any little exertion, palpitation of the heart; and at times terrible pain in the region of the heart, so serious that I feared that I would some time drop dead upon the street. One day I read one of your circulars, and immediately went to my druggist and purchased two bottles of the Heart Cure, and took it according to directions, with the result that I am entirely cured. Since then I never miss an opportunity to recommend this remedy to my friends who have heart trouble; in fact I am a traveling advertisement for I am widely known in this locality."

Lincoln's Youth and Early Manhood

By

His Friend, Intimate and Bodyguard

The Peacemaker.

One day a strange man came into the settlement and was straightway beset by the same fellows who had meditated a drubbing for Abe himself. Jack Armstrong, of course, had a difficulty with him, called him a liar, coward and various other names not proper for print, but the man, finding himself taken at a disadvantage, backed up to a wood pile, got a stick and struck Jack a blow that brought him to the ground. Jack wanted to whip the man badly, but Abe interfered and, managing to have himself made arbitrator, compromised the difficulty by a practical application of the Golden Rule.

"Well, Jack," said he, "what did you say to the man?" Whereupon Jack repeated his words.

"Well, Jack," replied Abe, "if you were a stranger in a strange place, as this man is, and you were called a d-d liar, etc., what would you do?"

"Whip him!"

"Then this man has done no more to you than you would have done to him," "Well, Abe," said the honest bruiser, "it's all right," and, taking his opponent by the hand, forgave him heartily and treated.

Abe's duties in Offutt's store were not of a character to monopolize the whole of his time, and he soon began to think that here was a fine opportunity to remedy some of the defects in his education. He could read, write and cipher as well as most men, but as his popularity was growing daily and his ambition keeping pace, he feared that he might shortly be called to act in some public capacity which would require him to speak his own language with some regard to the rules of grammar, of which, according to his own confession, he knew nothing at all. He carried his troubles to the schoolmaster, saying, "I have a notion to study English grammar."

"If you expect to go before the public in any capacity," replied Mr. Graham, "I think it the best thing you can do."

"If I had a grammar," replied Abe, "I would commence now."

There was no grammar to be had about New Salem, but the schoolmaster, having kept the run of that species of property, gladdened Abe's heart by telling him that he knew where there was one. Abe rose from the breakfast at which he was sitting and, learning that the book was at Vane's, only six miles distant, set off after it as hard as he could tramp. It seemed to Mr. Graham a very little while until he returned and announced, with great pleasure, that he had it. He then turned his immediate and most undivided attention to the study of it.

Reads by Burning Shavings.

Sometimes, when business was not particularly brisk, he would lie under a shade tree in front of the store and pore over the book; at other times a customer would find him stretched on the counter intently engaged in the same way. But the store was a bad place for study, and he was often seen quietly slipping out of the village, as if he wished to avoid observation, when, if successful in getting off alone, he would spend hours in the woods, mastering a book or in a state of profound abstraction. He kept up his old habit of sitting up late at night; but, as lights were as necessary to his purpose as they were expensive, the village cooper permitted him to sit in his shop, where he burned the shavings and kept a blazing fire to read by when every one else was in bed.

The Greens lent him books; the schoolmaster gave him instructions in the store, on the road or in the meadows; every visitor to New Salem who made the least pretension to scholarship was waylaid by Abe and required to explain something which he could not understand. The result of it all was that the village and the surrounding country wondered at his growth in knowledge, and he soon became as famous for the goodness of his understanding as for the muscular power of his body and the unfailing humor of his talk.

Early in the spring of 1832 some enterprising gentlemen at Springfield determined to try whether the Sangamon was a navigable stream or not. It was a momentous question to the dwellers along the banks, and when the steam boat Tailsman was chartered to make the experiment the popular excitement was intense and her passage up and down was witnessed by great crowds of people on either bank. It was thought that Abe's experience on this particular river would render his assistance very valuable, and, in company with some others, he was sent down to Beardstown to meet the Tailsman and pilot her up.

With Abe at the helm she ran with comparative ease and safety as far as the New Salem dam, a part of which they were compelled to tear away in order to let the steamer through. Thence she went on as high as Bogue's mill; but, having reached that point, the rapidly falling water admonished her captain and pilots that, unless they wished her to be left there for the season, they must promptly turn her prow down stream.

Fortunate Missourians.

"When I was a druggist at Livonia, Mo.," writes T. J. Dwyer, now of Graysville, Mo., "three of my customers were permanently cured of consumption by Dr. King's New Discovery, and are all well and strong today. One was trying to sell his property and move to Arizona, but after using Dr. King's New Discovery a short time he found it unnecessary to do so. I regard Dr. King's New Discovery as the most wonderful medicine in existence." Sorest Cough and Cold Cure and Throat and Lung healer. Guaranteed by Haynes & Taylor, Druggists. 50c and $1.
