WILLIAMSHF'S ROAD NO GOOD FOR CIRCUS TRAINS

OLD Settlers Reminiscence of an Eccentric Character.

While turning down old fancy iron bars in the'80's and '90's, as well as during the early days of the new century, Madison County, Indiana, was not a great circus center. The land of that time was vast, and there were few railroads and no town or village of any size within a radius of 25 miles. The nearest depot was at New Albany, Indiana, and it was there that most of the circuses were engaged to load and unload their stock. There were also a few local circuses that made regular trips to Madison County, but they were not of much importance.

The main route was taken through of Madison County, and all those who desired to see the circus men given the opportunity.

Meeting Dressed Sty.

During the meeting season, it was usual for the Masonic lodge to hold its meetings in the lecture room. The members would gather and the lodge would be opened by the Master, and then the proceedings would begin with the reading of the minutes and the transaction of any business that might be pending.

Hot Dry Weather Bolting Tobacco Plants in This Adjournment.

The report states that the tobacco plants are wilting and dying, and that the yield will be greatly reduced if the weather continues.

While irrigation has not been much used in the county, there are several farms that have tried it with success. The method of irrigation involves the use of a system of ditches and culverts to carry water to the fields. The water is then distributed evenly over the fields, and the crops are irrigated. This method is particularly effective in areas where the soil is heavy and the water table is low.
SENATE ADOPTS RATE BILL

By a Practically Unanimous Vote, the Measure Receives Senatorial Assent, and Now Goes Back to the House For Consideration in Amendments.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.-After a long and careful consideration and investigation, the Senate yesterday passed the railroad rate bill left from the Senate at the close of the session last week. Senator Giddings, of Ohio, the author of the bill, is a member of the committee which reported it. The measure was considered by the Senate only a part of the session, and Senator Giddings, in opening the debate, said that this was the first step toward the accomplishment of the great object of the bill, which is to prevent the roads from increasing their rates beyond the amount of tax that is imposed upon them. The Senate adopted the measure by a vote of 57 to 48. Senator Giddings, in closing his speech, said that the roads were satisfied with the measure, and that it would be a step in the right direction toward the accomplishment of the great object of the bill.

The doctors were pessimistic about his prospects, but I was determined to try the Liver Regulator. I gave him two tablets of the Liver Regulator each day, and within a week his fever had subsided and his appetite had returned. After three weeks, his jaundice had disappeared and he was able to return to his normal diet.
