UP IN THE HOUSE

dge Amendment to Agricultural Bill Temporarily Clogged in the House.

OR WHIPPING POST BILL SUICIDE.

Washington, D. C., June 4.—Tempo- at least the Beveridge Amend- to the Agricultural Appropriation has been held up in the House. One who eats meat and a good who do not know by this time the Beveridge Amendment is the legislation which let loose a storm when it was suggested to government inspectors in all of packing and interstate slaughter owing to the disgraceful filth sanitary conditions recently dis- in Chicago. The most deplora- state of affairs was discovered with a personal commission sent by the President. The Beveridge amendment in consequence was put as on the Agricultural Appropria- Bill. The President threatened to sh the whole report that had been to him if there was an attempt to back the legislation, but the story out and the papers of the country pended to print columns about the er so that the packers, feeling almost the worst had been done dy, have tried their best to block ill in the House.

excuses for holding up this na- ally important piece of legislation. It is hard to say how of them come from the friends measure and how many from the in disguise. The packers have and the nerve to fight the legisla- openly, but have tried to make the producers fight their battle, by ing them that if the cost of the tion is saddled on the packers, will take it out of the price of e. Although the aggregate cost the inspection would be something $2,000,000 it would amount to only five cents per head of cattle ighted so that it is plain to see the desire to shift the cost of the tion is only a cloak to the killing e bill altogether. If this inspec- were paid for by an annual appro- tion, the inspecting force would be and quantity. After just so many ctors had been assigned to duty, would be no more available. is what the Meat Trusts want. rtain number of inspectors are ary for their interests, as they sell meat abroad unless it bears official stamp of this government. if anyone could have the govern- inspection who was willing to pay t, the force of inspectors would be ible quantity. All of the indepen- who are now kept out of the ex- meat business by the Trusts, d be able to break in and there d be enough inspectors to thor- ly safeguard the interests of the e in all sections of the packing es and prevent the lawbreaking according to all accounts, the at has engaged in for years the lation in question is in a very per- state, and it is doubtful if the bill nally get through Congress with material modifications likely to im- its usefulness and leave just the ole that the Meat Trust wants h which to escape any inconve- or diminution of its profits.

of the most surprising and shock- events that has happened in public e recently was the suicide this week Representative "Bertie" Adams of delphia. Mr. Adams was best n throughout the country as the os author of the Whipping Post personal convictions on the subject e whipping post as a punishment rime of any sort, no one can deny wife beating, for which it was to the punishment is worthy of almost enalty that can be devised for it. ill had the serious endorsement of eat many serious minded people, and the President in his impulsive fash- ion, had given it his hearty support and and said that it was a good thing and ought to be shoved along. But for some reason or other, the House did not take kindly to it, possibly because more men vote than women, and the bill was laughed out of court. Mr. Adams felt this very keenly, though it is not supposed that it had much bearing on his suicide. But so sensitive was he about it that one risk the loss of his friend- ship ever after who mentioned the whipping post in his presence. The real cause of his death was ex- plained by him in a note to Speaker Cannon. He had become involved financially, and while he was generally regarded as a rich man, he was in reality on the rocks in money matters. He was a great society man, a well known club man, a regent of the Smith- sonian Institution, and his death was not a great surprise to everyone but will be a cause of genuine regret. There were plenty of people abundantly able to help him and who would have helped him if they had known he needed it.

It has been reported that the House and Senate Conference were on the verge of an agreement as to the Rate Bill. But this is not true. Two of the members of the conference committee are going out of town and will be away for some days. Meantime the remain- ing members will do the best they can to come to an agreement. Some of the features still in dispute and likely to cause a prolonged wrangle are the provisions respecting express companies, bringing them within the scope of the bill, the Lodge Amendment declaring pipe lines common carriers, and the provisions referring to siding and switch connections. The House has acceded to 29 of the Senate Amend- ments while the Senate has receded from only three. But there is enough material in the remaining questions to keep the conferees in session several days more.

JUDGE GEO. DU RELLE

Backed by John W. Yerkes For U. S. District Attorney—Jolly Also a Candidate.

A strong tip is out on Judge Du Relle as the successor of the late Reuben D. Hill as United States Attorney of the Western district of Kentucky, and it is believed to be nearly certain that he will be appointed as Judge Du Relle has the indorsement of the Republican organization of the state.

All of the custom house officials have signed an application on behalf of Judge Du Relle. One of his most active supporters is John W. Yerkes, Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Others who will announce themselves in this race in a few days will be George W. Jolly, of Owensboro, who formerly held the position of United States District Attorney before Kentucky was divided into two districts, former Congressman John W. Lewis, of Springfield, August L. Wilson and H. M. Thatcher.

None of them will discuss his candi- dacy in advance of Mr. Hill's funeral, but the friends of each are working to advance their interests.

OFFICER KILLS NEGRO

Shot At Carnival Grounds While Flee- ing From Arrest.

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 4.—John Coleman, a negro, who broke down a fence at the park Saturday night, where the Carnival was being held, was fatally shot and died Sunday.

He ran through a crowded portion of the park, pursued by Officer Ames Hayden and other parties. As he undertook to escape behind a tent, Hayden ordered him to stop and fired two shots in the air. Some unknown person fired one or two shots, accounts differing, and the negro was shot in the back, the ball going through his body.

The coroner's jury found that the negro came to his death by a shot from a pistol in the hands of Officer Hayden.

OLD FOLKS DAY AT C. P. CHURCH

Many Old People Enjoy a Pleasant Time

OLD TIME SONG SERVICE.

Whole Services Conducted as in Ye Olden Time—Proves a Veritable Love Feast.

SHORT SERMON BY THE PASTOR.

A good congregation assembled at the Cumberland Presbyterian church last Sunday to enjoy the services of Old Folks Day.

A number of elderly people were there at an early hour appreciative of the fact that the services would be held chiefly for their encouragement. Quite a number from the country were present to take part in the services. The songs were from the old "Southern Harmony," that book from which our fathers and mothers, many now living, learned to sing the gospel. They were sung with the old time spirit, and tears could be seen running down the cheeks of men and women as their hearts were touched by these simple melodies.

The services were conducted in the old-fashioned way, relining the hymn before the sermon, and yet the Holy Spirit seemed to put His stamp and seal upon the service from the very first song.

A short sermon was preached by the pastor on the good that old people can do. The service was then turned over to the congregation and impressive talks were made by W. J. Hill and others. A hearty hand-shake was enjoyed by all, in which the power of God was demonstrated in the happy- ing of many hearts and tears and hand- shakes and love and joy blended all in the happy bonds of love.

The pastor wishes to acknowledge his indebtedness to Bro. Billy Joel Hill and wife for the blessing which they brought to the service.

REVIVAL MEETINGS BY THE "MARTIN FAMILY"

Quite a number have already identified themselves with the church and many others will before the meetings conclude.

A beautiful floral service was held last Sunday night, and greater crowds will be present next Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:45 p. m., when special themes will be presented.

LYNCHING IS AVERTED

Negro Spirited Away From Greenville Jail

COOL WORK BY THE SHERIFF

Seventy-five Enraged Citizens of Cen- tral City Organize to Mete Out Speedy Justice.

COMMITTS ASSAULT ON WHITE WOMAN.

Greenville, Ky., June 5.—A mob of seventy-five men visited the jail here at 1 o'clock this morning and demanded the delivery of Harrison Alexander, a negro, charged with criminal assault on Mrs. George Whitehouse, a white woman of Central City. The alleged offense was committed Saturday after- noon.

Rumors of the visit of the mob here caused Sheriff Shiver to take the prisoner from jail about dark and drive to Alton, where he was lodged for safekeeping. This act on the part of the sheriff saved the life of the negro.

This is the first mob here for thirty years and it is supposed was formed at Central City, where the indignation is intense.

VENERABLE JURIST

DEATH RESULTED FROM ACCIDENTAL GUN SHOT

Popular Young Man Meets Untimely End Last Friday While Hunting.

Will L. Blake, the sixteen year old son, of Mr. Roe E. Blake, of Francis, Ky., accidentally shot himself in the right shoulder while out hunting last Friday. The accident occurred about two and one half miles from Francis.

Young Blake set his gun against a rail fence and started to climb over it. One of the rails slipped and thereby the gun was discharged. The charge lodged in the boy's shoulder. He was taken to the house and medical aid summoned at once.

Dr. Cook, of Crayneville, and Dr. Graves, of Dycusburg, both responded and after consultation called in Dr. A. J. Driskill, of Marion. It was decided best to amputate his arm which they accordingly did but the loss of blood was too great and he died at one o'clock Saturday evening.

The Blake family formerly lived at Dycusburg, Ky.

REMARKABLE DISCOVERY IN UNION COUNTY MINES

Petrified Log 170 Feet Deep in Lime- stone Rock—Grew a Million Years Ago.

At a depth of one hundred and seven- ty feet in the coal mine at Smith's Mills, Union county, a petrified log was found in a bed of limestone rock. The bark and the form of the log may be plainly seen in the roof of the mine, and it would be an interesting study for persons interested in geology. The fact that the petrified timber is at such an extreme depth, and that it is in solid limestone, makes it evident that it grew probably a million years ago.

Noiseless Flat Latest Fad.

Washington, June 2.—"Noiseless flats," a recent and beneficial innova- tion, is taking Washington by peaceful storm. In nearly all of the recent apartment-house leases the "noiseless clauses" are inserted. They provide that tenants must wear rubber heels on their shoes, equip baby gocrats, carriages and all practicable toys with rubber, and keep rubber tips on all chairs, tables and movable furniture.

All this rubbering is paid for by the landlords, who receive full value in the eagerness for which the noiseless flats are sought out by old residents. Rubber shops are established near most of the apartment houses, where the ten- ants are bound by contract to go to have their rubbering done.

As a natural result of the quiet of material things, voices of tenants in these noiseless flats are, it is said, tak- ing on a velvet tone. In the absence of the sharp clatter elsewhere prevail- ing, inhabitants of the rubber-tired apartment house find it no longer nec- essary, as many of them formerly did, to shout in order to be heard. The "rubber" or "velvet" voice is becom- ing a noticeable feature in those who have lived longest in the padded hotels.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

S. war department as assistant surgeon of the marine hospital, and will be located at Evansville. Dr. Royster is in the twenty-third year of his age and was reared at Smith Mills. He will take charge at once.

UPTON SINCLAIR STRIKES BACK

Author of "The Jungle" Faces Prince of Packers With Awful Array of Facts Calculated to Destroy the Infamous Industry.

In a recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post Mr. J. Ogden Armour makes the assertion that the government inspection of the beef trust slaughter-houses is an impregnable wall protecting the public from impure meat, and that not an atom of diseased meat finds its way into the products of the Armour. Mr. Upton Sinclair, author of "The Jungle" (a terrific statement of packing house conditions), studied the meat industry for two years, including much time spent in the Chicago stockyards as a workman; he is the best equipped outside authority on stockyard conditions. In Everybody's Magazine for May Mr. Sinclair makes a startling and convincing answer to Mr. Armour's assertion. Commencing with the statement that J. Ogden Armour is the absolute and not the nominal head of the great packing house industry which bears his name Mr. Sinclair says: "I know that in the statements quoted, Mr. Armour willfully and deliberately states what he absolutely and positively knows to be falsehoods."

That he might be properly equipped to describe conditions in "Packing town" Mr. Sinclair worked for a period as a laborer in the plant of Armour & Co., and he tells of sights of filth and horror such as he hopes never to see again, but the strongest coincidence of the truth of the claim that meat unfit for human food is put on the market comes from a man for years superintendent at Armour & Co.'s Chicago plant, Thomas F. Dolan, of Boston. Mr. Sinclair in his article says:

"At the time of the embalmed-beef scandal at the conclusion of the Spanish war, when the whole country was convulsed with fury over the revelations made by soldiers and officers (including Gen. Miles and President Roosevelt) concerning the quality of meat which Armour & Co. had furnished to the troops, and concerning the death-rate which it had caused, the enormity of the 'condemned-meat industry' became suddenly clear to one man who had formerly supervised it. Mr. Thomas F. Dolan, then residing in Boston, had, up to a short time previous, been a superintendent at Armour & Co.'s, and one of Mr. Philip D. Armour's most capable and trusted men. When he read of the death-rate in the army, he made an affidavit concerning the things which were done in the establishment of Armour & Co., and this affidavit he took to the New York Journal, which published it on March 4, 1899. Here are some extracts from it:

"There were many ways of getting around the inspectors—so many, in fact, that not more than two or three cattle out of 1,000 were condemned. I know exactly what I am writing of in this connection, as my particular instructions from Mr. W. E. Pierce, superintendent of the beef houses for Armour & Co., were very explicit and definite.

"Whenever a beef got past the yard inspectors with a case of lumpy jaw and came into the slaughterhouse or the 'killing-bed,' I was authorized by Mr. Pierce to take his head off, thus removing the evidences of lumpy jaw, and after casting the smitten portion into the tank where refuse goes, to send the rest of the carcass on its way to market.

"I have seen as much as 40 pounds of flesh afflicted with gangrene cut from the carcass of a beef, in order that the rest of the animal might be utilized in trade.

"One of the most important regulations of the bureau of animal industry is that no cows in calf are to be placed on the market. Out of a slaughter of 2,000 cows, or a day's killing, perhaps one-half are with calves. My instructions from Mr. Pierce were to dispose of the calves by hiding them until night, or until the inspectors left off duty. The little carcasses were then brought from all over the packing-house and skinned by boys, who received two cents for removing each calf. The pelts were sold for 50 cents each to the kid-glove manufacturers. This occurs every night at Mr. Armour's concern at Chicago, or after each killing of cows.

"I now propose to state here exactly what I myself have witnessed in Philip D. Armour's packing-house with cattle that have been condemned by the government inspectors.

"A workman, one Nicholas Newson during my time, informs the inspector that the tanks are prepared for the reception of the condemned cattle and that his presence is required to see the beef cast into the steam-tank. Mr. Inspector proceeds at once to the place indicated, and the condemned cattle, having been brought up to the tank-room on trucks, are forthwith cast into the hissing steam-bollers and disappear.

"But the condemned steer does not stay in the tank any longer than the time required for his remains to drop through the boiler down to the floor below, where he is caught on a truck and hauled back again to the cutting-room. The bottom of the tank was open, and the steer passed through the aperture.

"I have witnessed the fact many times. I have seen the beef dropped into the vat in which a steam-pipe was exhausting with a great noise so that the thud of the beef striking the truck below could not be heard, and in a short time I have witnessed Nicholas bringing it back to be prepared for the market.

"I have even marked beef with my knife so as to distinguish it, and watched it return to the point where it started.

"Of all the evils of the stockyards, the canning department is perhaps the worst. It is there that the cattle from all parts of the United States are prepared for canning. No matter how scrawny or debilitated canners are, they must go the route of their brothers and arrive ultimately at the great boiling vats, where they are steamed until they are reasonably tender. Bundles of gristle and bone melt into pulpy masses and are stirred up for the canning department.

"I have seen cattle come into Armour's stockyards so weak and exhausted that they expired in the corals, where they lay for an hour or two, dead, until they were afterward hauled in, skinned, and put on the market for beef or into the canning department for cans.

"In other words, the Armour establishment was selling carrion.

"There are hundreds of other men in the employ of Mr. Armour who could verify every line I have written. They have known of these things ever since packing has been an industry. But I do not ask them to come to the front in this matter. I stand on my oath, word for word, sentence for sentence, and statement for statement.

"I write this story of my own free will and volition, and no one is responsible for it but myself. It is the product of ten years of experience. It is the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help me God.

"THOMAS F. DOLAN.
Sworn to and subscribed before me this first day of March, 1899.

"ORVILLE F. PURDY,
Notary Public, Kings County, N. Y.
Certificate filed in New York county."

The significance of this statement, as Mr. Sinclair notes, is heightened by the fact that, published as it was in a newspaper of prominence, whose proprietor is a man of immense wealth and could be reached by the courts, Mr. Armour made no move to institute suit for libel, practically admitting that the statement was true.

Mr. Sinclair makes the assertion, and gives abundant proof, that the worry incidental to the "embalmed beef" scandal during the war with Spain caused the death of Philip D. Armour, and that millions of dollars were spent by the packing interests in the effort to keep concealed the truth about the matter. The awful mortality from disease among the soldiers during that few weeks' campaign was distinctly attributable to the meat rations supplied to the army. There seems small reason to doubt that meat as little fit for human food is still being placed on the market. How much disease and death has been the outcome may be imagined.

Summing up the entire facts of the situation, Mr. Sinclair concludes:

"Writing in a magazine of large circulation and influence, and having the floor all to himself, Mr. Armour spoke serenely and boastfully of the quality of his meat products, and challenged the world to impeach his integrity, but when he was brought into court charged with crime by the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, he spoke in a different tone, and to a different purpose; he said 'guilty.' He pleaded this to a criminal indictment for selling 'preserved' minced ham in Greengrub, and paid the fine of $50 and costs. He pleaded guilty again in Shenandoah, Pa., on June 16, 1905, to the criminal charge of selling adulterated 'blockweir'; and again he paid the fine of $50 and costs. Why should Mr. Armour be let off with fines which are of less consequence to him than the price of a postage stamp to you or me, instead of going to jail like other convicted criminals who do not happen to be millionaires?"

A Stone Barometer.

In northern Finland, so a native paper informs us, is a large stone which serves the inhabitants as an infallible barometer. At the approach of rain, this stone turns black or blackish gray, while in fine weather it is of a light color and covered with white spots. Probably it is a fossil mixed with clay, and containing rock salt, niter, or ammonia, which according to a greater or less degree of dampness in the atmosphere, attracts it or otherwise.—Sunday Magazine.

The Many Virtues of Salt.

Salt puts out a fire in the chimney. Salt in the oven under baking tins will prevent scorching on the bottom. Salt and vinegar will remove stains from discolored tea-cups. Salt and soda are excellent for bee stings and spider bites. Salt thrown on soot which has fallen on the carpet will prevent stains. Salt put on ink when freshly spilled on a carpet will remove the spot. Salt thrown on a coal fire which is low will revive it. Salt used in sweeping carpets keeps out moths.

PRACTICAL HENS' NESTS.

Style of Box Which is Easily Made and Easy to Keep Free from Dirt.

The accompanying drawing is made from a model of my hens' nests that I used as an illustration in a poultry talk at our local institute. It seemed "to take," so I thought that a description of it would be of some interest to readers of The Ohio Farmer. The plan of nest is original with me, and the idea is that it can be easily and thoroughly cleaned, and also that it does not serve as a roosting place at night for the hens, as many nests frequently do.

The nests are made somewhat as follows: The bottom of one set of nests consists of a single board that rests on cleats or strips nailed on the upright end boards. The bottom can be removed at pleasure, drawer fashion, leaving the nests bottomless so that the old nest material, dust and house-harboring filth all drop out. There need be no boards nailed on back of nests as the wall of the building where the nests are placed, serves as a back.

I place my nests so that the bottom of the nest is two or 2½ feet from the floor, thus saving floor space. A 1x2-inch strip fastened, perch like, about six inches in front of nests is very convenient for a hen that wants to lay, as she can pass along on it until she comes to a vacant nest. A board of nearly the width and of the same length as the top and hinged to lower edge of top (this is not given in the drawing) can be laid back during the day, leaving the nests open, and let down at evening, closing the nests and then the hens have just one place to roost and that where they belong, on their perches.

Any number of nests in a set can be made, suiting the number to the convenient wall space. Mine vary from three to six or about 15 nests in all, in each of my two buildings. If plenty of nests are provided and they are kept clean, and enticing nest material and china nest eggs are used, hens that have range will seldom steal their nests away.

GROUND BONE AS FEED.

It Is Essential to the Well-Being of the Poultry—Grind the Bones.

It is surprising that so many fresh bones are allowed to go to waste on our farms when they are particularly adapted for poultry feed. Fresh bone contains nitrogen, phosphorus and lime in considerable quantities. The lime is useful in the shells of the eggs, but this is the least important thing connected with the feeding of bones. The lime might be supplied in old plaster. But the phosphorus in the bones constitutes a very important element of food and this phosphorus goes to build up the bones in growing fowls. It is more useful for growing fowls than for mature fowls, but is serviceable for both. The bones also contain considerable quantities of nitrogen, and this nitrogen goes to make muscle. The only way that a farmer can use bones, says the Farmers' Review, is to buy a bone mill by which they can be reduced to a very fine condition with small effort. We have heard people complain that it required too much muscular effort to grind bones. But this was true largely a long time ago. Bone grinding mills have now been perfected to such an extent that little effort is required. Every farmer should keep enough fowls to justify him in buying a bone mill, which can be purchased for a very few dollars. Fowls crave food of this kind both summer and winter.

BUZZ AND CACKLES.

Never carry chickens by their legs. Never set a hen that has scaly legs. The water supply is just as important as the food.

Sulphur must not be fed during damp or rainy weather.

Prof. Hill says that an overfed fowl is never a well-fed one.

We can neither set a hen nor marry a wife unless she is in the humor.

Rose combs are better than top combs in cold climates, as they do not freeze easily.

Do not permit the birds to get dirty. Give them clean ground to exercise over.

Bees need ample air in the hive. Remove dead bees as far back from the entrance as possible to insure free circulation.

erily, the seasons rapidly whirl around, and a year's work and profits are lost by the habitual "putting off" until to-morrow what should be done to-day—is one of Geo. S. Whitford's wise sayings.—Farm Journal.

The Best Roost.

It may be natural for a hen to roost on a pole to which she has to cling leaves them. It is of little use to try but I like a flat roost better, says the Farm Journal. On this the hen can sit down, and the muscles of her feet are kept warm and are in better shape to scratch with in the morning.

Red Pepper.

I asked one of the best hen men of this country what he thought about feeding red pepper to hens. "We don't do it at our house," was the answer, and that was enough for me.

PERMIT WAS BROAD ENOUGH

War-Time Reminiscence Illustrative of the Humor of President Lincoln.

Mr. Linton Park, who is now an inmate of the Soldiers' and Sailors' home at Erie, Pa., was among those who joined in the chorus, "We are coming, Father Abraham, three hundred thousand more." He enlisted at Washington, and was assigned to the Second District of Columbia regiment, relates Youth's Companion.

Mr. Park was then, as now, a vegetarian. While he could assimilate everything connected with his answer to the call of duty from the stand of patriotism, he could not assimilate the army pork. It was plain that if the government wished to do the square thing by Park it would have to show broad-mindedness in the matter of rations.

So he took his troubles to President Lincoln, and explained that in some respects he was like the children of Israel after they set out from Egypt. He could not forget the leeks and onions with which he was wont to regale himself back in Indiana county.

Lincoln smiled. "You want me to turn you out to graze like Nebuchadnezzar?" he asked.

"It would beat salt pork," was Mr. Park's reply. Thereupon Mr. Lincoln wrote carelessly on an ordinary sheet of paper:

"The bearer, Linton Park, is hereby granted permission to browse wherever he chooses."

Mr. Park saw the humor in the note, and enjoyed it quite as much as Lincoln did. He also enjoyed his privilege of "browsing." The note is still in his possession.

PERHAPS IT CURED HIM.

Maybe the Wife Had Been Out, Maybe Not, the Effect Was the Same.

Capt. Mark Casto was being congratulated on his gift of $1,500 from the Carnegie here fund for bravery in the wreck of the Cherokee, relates the New York Tribune.

"The gift was unexpected," said Capt. Casto with a modest smile. "It was as unexpected, though by no means as unpleasant, as the report that a wife made to her husband when he came home at three o'clock in the morning."

"The man came home very quietly, in fact, he took off his shoes on the front doorstep. Then he unlocked the door and went cautiously and slowly upstairs on his tiptoe, holding his breath."

"But light was streaming through the keyhole of the door of the bedroom. With a sigh he paused. Then he opened the door and entered."

"His wife stood by the bureau fully dressed."

"I didn't expect you'd be sitting up for me, my dear," he said.

"I haven't been," she said. "I just came in myself."

Only Justice is a Square Deal.

"Prisoner," said the judge, "stand up. Have you anything to say why judgment of the court should not be pronounced against you?"

"I'd like to say, your honor," answered the prisoner, "that I hope you will not allow your mind to be prejudiced against me by the poor defense my lawyer put up for me. I'll take it as a great favor if your honor will just give me the sentence I'd have got if I had pleaded guilty in the first place."—Chicago Tribune.

Tess—Isn't that Chicago girl tall? She must be nearly six feet.

Jess—Yes; and it she stood on tiptoes she'd be seven feet.—Philadelphia Press.

KNIFED.

Coffee Knifed an Old Soldier.

An old soldier, released from coffee at 72, recovered his health and tells about it as follows:

"I stuck to coffee for years, although it knifed me again and again.

"About eight years ago (as a result of coffee drinking which congested my liver), I was taken with a very severe attack of malarial fever.

"I would apparently recover and start about my usual work only to suffer a relapse. After this had been repeated several times during the year I was again taken violently ill.

"The Doctor said he had carefully studied my case, and it was either 'quit coffee or die,' advising me to take Postum in its place. I had always thought coffee one of my dearest friends, and especially when sick, and I was very much taken back by the Doctor's decision, for I hadn't suspected the coffee I drank could possibly cause my trouble.

"I thought it over for a few minutes, and finally told the Doctor I would make the change. Postum was procured for me the same day and made according to directions; well, I liked it and stuck to it, and since then I have been a new man. The change in health began in a few days and surprised me, and now, although I am seventy-two years of age, I do lots of hard work, and for the past month have been teaming, driving sixteen miles a day besides loading and unloading the wagon. That's what Postum in the place of coffee has done for me. I now like the Postum as well as I did coffee.

"I have known people who did not care for Postum at first, but after having learned to make it properly according to directions they have come to like it as well as coffee. I never miss a chance to praise it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

The Crittenden Record.

ISSUED WEEKLY.

GEO. M. CRIDER, Editor and Publisher

SUBSCRIPTION ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR.

Entered as second-class matter July 15, 1904, at the postoffice at Marion, Ky., under Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

FRIDAY, JUNE 8, 1906.

A WORD TO FRIENDS.

Friends of the Crittenden Record: There comes a time in the life of every man when he must yield to the inevitable. Such a time has come to me as the editor of this publication. Circumstances have caused me to dispose of my interest in the Record at a great sacrifice. All our readers remember the sad day when the flames leveled Marion in ruins and with it the entire outfit of our paper. With a hard struggle we started again hoping to give the people a newsy paper dealing justly with all, upholding the right and exposing the wrong.

That we have been put to heavy expense and incurred the enmity of some is well known to all. In all matters we have been actuated from pure and high motives, and I am deeply grateful to the people of Crittenden county and elsewhere, regardless of political affiliations, for each and every act of kindness shown me. I am sorry to break away associations here for the time, but circumstances compel me to take up work that will afford me support for my family, and in conclusion I wish to say that I commend to you the management of the Crittenden Record and respectfully ask you that you give it your support under the editorship and control of Geo. M. Crider.

Very sincerely,
JAS. E. CRITTENDEN.

Any trouble that may befall during this month can be easily accounted for. It came in on Friday.

At the close of President Roosevelt's administration the only unfinished business will be the Panama canal.

In the Massachusetts legislature the lie has been followed by a blow. In Washington it no longer stirs up even a breeze.

A lot of voters who have heard of the "free alcohol bill" will find themselves up against a great disappointment next fall.

When Mr. Bryan hears that "Licking" county, Ohio, has endorsed him for the Presidency, he is sure to be reminded of something.

The slight earthquake shocks reported in Southern Illinois seem to indicate that the Yates Senatorial boom is still trying to attract attention.

An exchange wants to know what makes a preacher tired that he must take a vacation. Perhaps it is the couples he married during the year.

A few weeks ago some one remarked that there are good trusts and bad. The administration seems to be having very poor luck in locating any of the good ones.

In the Tennessee Democratic convention one speaker declared that he wanted to see a new machine erected on the ruins of the old one. What rare candor.

Elsewhere in these columns we call our readers attention to an article entitled "On Track of Perfect Light." It treats of the new incandescent lamp that sells for $5.00 apiece. The local light plant here sell a lamp for 25 cents. The prediction is made that in twelve months a two cent lamp will be a reality.

The dispatches state that Count Witte, the deposed Prime minister of Russia, has decided to spend the summer in Belgium and Germany. On account of the Count's game leg being no account we think Mr. Witte should exercise his Portsmouth sagacity in getting a good early start and thus avoid the rush from Russia.

Shows New Surgical Method.

Chicago surgeons and physicians will have an opportunity to witness an operation by Dr. Alfred Duchrasen, the celebrated German physician of the Prussian University of Berlin, discoverer of the new method of internal incision surgery. Dr. Duchrasen left here for Chicago after performing two successful operations. Since 1890 he has performed 1,900 operations on women and lost only 1 1/2 per cent of his cases. Dr. Duchrasen hopes his present tour of the United States will result in his method being adopted.

An Alarming Situation

AS A DELEGATE SAW IT.

The Assembly at Decatur, Ill., has come and gone, and in many respects it was the greatest Assembly in the history of the Cumberland Presbyterian church. It was the largest in the number of commissioners, and had before it the most important work that could befall it, which was taken up in its proper order and transacted with neatness and dispatch, and with the solemnity due the occasion.

The writer of this article had the pleasure of attending this gathering of representative Cumberland Presbyterians, and witnessed their every movement. Of course there was nothing unusual in the workings of this Assembly until that greatest of all questions, that of consummating the union of the C. P. church and the Presbyterian U. S. A., but when that great subject came to the surface, then all were aflame with deep interest, and while there was present more or less excitement at times, it was of a nature becoming Christian gentlemen, and went to show that while there was some opposition to the reunion and union of the two churches, those opposing it were conscientious in their position and entitled to, and did receive the courtesy and sympathetic admiration of the entire Assembly.

The great bone of contention in regard to the reunion and union of the churches was the "Third Chapter of Westminster Confession of Faith," which contains what the anti-unionists term "fatalistic doctrine," and the great majority could see no other material difference in the doctrine and polity of the two churches, and many expressed themselves that if the Presbyterian church would clear that up they could see nothing to keep them out of the united church.

The union question was fully and pleasantly discussed on both sides by able men, and while the unionists were largely in the majority of us, yet they treated us with all friendliness, and with true Christian courtesy and brotherly love. They had such a majority over us that would have enabled them to run over us "rough shod," but instead they were patient and indulgent, and allowed us every privilege of parliamentary usages, and endeavored in a kind and sympathetic manner to show us our error and mistake. We cannot say too much in praise of the fairness in the moderator and stated clerk and his associates, as they all seemed so considerate of our feelings in the matter.

The Assembly passed a resolution to the effect that in going into the united church the Cumberland Presbyterians surrendered nothing integral to the doctrine and polity of the C. P. Church, and that they did not understand that the Presbyterian church asked it of us.

The Presbyterian General Assembly in session at Des Moines, Iowa, passed resolutions to the effect that no acceptance of doctrine is required beyond a personal faith in Jesus Christ as the son of God, and Savior of the world, and a sincere acceptance of him as Lord and Master; and that the reunion involves no change whatever in the relation of communicants to their own particular churches; and declares away anything in the Westminster confession of Faith that may be interpreted in any fatalistic sense. They proposed to accept all of our ministers just as they are in our church and give them work, and a reasonable salary. Some of our ministers understood that all who do not come up to the standard of education of the ministers would be turned out. They had been misinformed. The truth is, the united church has work for them all, and is anxious to have them at it. After all these things were made known to me, I wondered what fairer proposition could be made, and decided that it was good enough for me, and I heartily entered into the re-united church. Now a word to the anti-unionists, and I will close this article. Let me admonish you to be patient in this matter. Do not be hasty and make some rash statement or declaration that you will regret. Go slow, and inform yourself thoroughly before you act. I was at first one of your number, but everything objectionable to a Cumberland Presbyterian has been wiped away, and there is working in the way of a hearty reunion, and I think you will so decide when you thoughtfully and prayerfully considered the question after fully informing yourself, so let us stop wrangling over this matter, and join hands in the fight against the great common enemy; by so doing we honor God and glorify his name.

Every Heart-Ache

Every pain in the breast, difficult breathing, palpitation, fluttering or dizzy spell means that your heart is straining itself in its effort to keep in motion. This is dangerous.

Some sudden strain from over-exertion or excitement will completely exhaust the nerves, or rupture the walls or arteries of the heart, and it will stop.

Relieve this terrible strain at once with Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. It invigorates and strengthens the heart nerves and muscles, stimulates the heart action, and relieves the pain and misery.

Take no chances; make your heart strong and vigorous with Dr. Miles' Heart Cure.

"I suffered terribly with heart disease. I have been treated by different physicians for my trouble without results. I went to a physician in Memphis who claimed that I had dropsy of the heart. He put the X-ray on me, and in connection with his medicine he came near making a finish of me. Some time before this a Mr. Young, of St. Louis, was in our town. He saw my condition, and recommended Dr. Miles' Heart Cure to me. I gave it little attention until my return from Memphis, when I concluded to try it, and am pleased to say three bottles cured me."

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails he will refund your money.

Following The Flag.

When our soldiers went to Cuba and the Philippines, health was the most important consideration. Willis T. Morgan, retired Commissary Sergeant U. S. A., of Rural Route 1, Concord, N. H., says: "I was two years in Cuba and two years in the Philippines, and being subject to colds, I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which kept me in perfect health. And now in New Hampshire, we find it the best medicine in the world for coughs, colds, bronchial troubles and all lung diseases. Guaranteed at Haynes & Taylor, druggist. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

With the President threatening to publish the Neill-Reynold report if the beef trust opposes the inspection provision, and the beef trust threatening to fight inspection if the report is published, somebody is liable to yell "Play ball."

Popular Dry Goods Store Moves into Larger Quarters.

The A. S. Cavendar dry goods store is moving from the corner of Main and Salem into the large new store room adjoining the Hina Hardware Co.
This change was made desirable, as well as necessary, because of the increased business done by the popular and well known house and the reduction in insurance rate in the new block.

The new quarters are large and convenient and will enable Mrs. Cavendar to display her large stock of goods to an advantage that was impossible in the old building. She invites her customers to call and inspect her new place of business.

This week witnessed the closing of another mining deal.

Mr. W. J. Phillips, of Columbus, Ohio, and nineteen associates form the above styled company and set aside $10,000 as a fund to draw from in their mining operations.

They bought the mineral right to 41 acres of Mr. Willis Lynn's farm known as the Smart place near the old Columbia mine paying therefor $3,000 in cash.

This property is very valuable and carries the Columbia lead. They will begin operations immediately and have employed Mr. Grant Davidson to look after the work.

WARNING!

To Tax Payers of Crit- tenden County.

The tax books for 1906 are now ready and I will take pleasure in issuing you a tax receipt. At the last session of the legislature great changes were made in the law governing the collection of taxes, and I refer you to the following sections of the new revenue bill passed by the last legislature:

"ART. VIII. SEC. 20.—All State, county and district taxes, except as otherwise specially provided, shall be due and payable on or after the first day of March after the assessment, and all taxpayers whose taxes are not paid on the first day of November after the same are due shall be deemed a delinquent, and such taxes shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum from the first day of November after they are due until paid; and any person or persons failing to pay their taxes by the first day of November in the year following the assessment for such taxes, shall pay a penalty of six per centum additional on taxes due and unpaid. The sheriff or collector whose duty it is to receive or collect the taxes shall collect the interest and penalty and account for the same in the same way in which they are required to collect and account for the taxes."

Sections 21 and 22 say, in part:
"Within fifteen days after November first tax warrants will be issued by the County Clerk directing the sheriff to sell property and collect all delinquent taxes. A six per cent. penalty goes on all unpaid taxes after November first and in addition to this the same bears interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, also the cost of advertising, clerk's fees, etc. The sheriff is subject to a penalty of from $100 to $500 for each failure to collect taxes as required by this law."

I hope that you will help me to comply with the law, as it will be more pleasant for all concerned and profitable to you.

May would be much more charming if she would quit giving evidences of desire to be a frigid proposition.

The Ohio valley now feels that it could get along comfortably without another cold spell until late in October.

It is much better that the ruction was over before the Gaekwar of Baroda looked down on the senate from the diplomatic gallery.

And now if Dr. Frissell, of the Presbyterian hospital in New York is right, the germ of rheumatism has been discovered. Maybe the germ of laziness will be discovered some day.

Premier Campbell-Bannerman pathetically appeals to the public for a preventive against incursions of women suffrage delegations. Some people always did ask for the impossible—but he might try a lot of mice.

Ben Franklin's advice was never to write a letter when it could be avoided. By striking out the word "letter" and inserting the word "telephone" and by substituting the word "use" for the word "write," the feelings of Senator Lodge would be adequately expressed.

A telegraphic line, consisting of 24 wires, each representing a letter, was established by Lesage, at Geneva, in 1774; and in the same year Bishop Watson made experiments over 10,000 feet of wire near London. In Germany the invention is credited to Sommering—1809.

The turkey is an American bird. Lucullus and the Epicureans did not know about him. He was found in his wild state after Columbus' time. About a hundred years after the discovery of America broiled young turkeys became great delicacies on the Frenchman's table.

J. S. Schultz, a German, obtained the first actual photographic copies (of writing) in 1727; and to Thomas Wedgewood is due the honor of first producing pictures on sensitized surfaces in 1802. In 1839 John Daguerre (with Joseph Niepce) perfected the daguerrotype process, the first practical photography.

The Lombardians were the first to use effective quarantine methods against the plague and infectious diseases, and mention of a quarantine is made in Lombardy and Milan in 1374, 1383 and 1399. Prior to that time the Christian communities resigned to the visitation of the plague, regarding it as a divine punishment.

The diving-bell was not mentioned before the 16th century. Two Greeks in that century (1538) gave an exhibition before Charles V. descending into water of considerable depth in an inverted large kettle. They took down with them burning lights. The men returned to the earth level without being wet. The light was still burning.

Sealing-wax in the present form was first noted in London in the middle of the 16th century. A sort of earth was used by the ancient Egyptians in sealing papers and documents. The Egyptians placed such earth on the horns of cattle and upon it was stamped the seal of the priest. Thus were identified the cattle to be used in the sacrifices.

Straw hats have come to the front within a few days. And how rapidly the men adopt a style, without much regard whether it becomes them or not! They are worse than the women folk. I note one style of straw, with the brim tilted up behind and drooping in front. To that one style the men have drifted in droves. It becomes some men, but not all. It appears that about three men out of four were indulging in it.

The state of New York has had for more than a century "an Indian question," but so judiciously has New York handled it that few persons are aware of the fact that there are more than 5,000 Indians living on reservations in that state, maintaining tribal relations without controversy, dispute or disorder. The new census shows the number of such Indians on reservations to be exactly 5,069, of whom 1,472 are in the Cattaraugus reservation in the western part of the state.

The Florida fishing season is now in full swing, having begun officially on April 1, and the disciples of Isaac Walton are pulling in tarpon, kingfish and jewfish in the regulation manner, but for many amateurs fresh fishing has the greatest charm—to pursue devilfish with sail or motor boat, or bait sharks and gaff them is much sport. To say the least, such freak work varies the monotony of tarpon or kingfish angling, affords great danger and excitement and occasionally leads up to that champion of sea demons, a 14-foot sawfish.

A commission man who is in business in New York City says there is the easiest place in the world to make money if you get the right start. "Why," said he, "I have known of orders for asparagus at $12 a bunch, the ordinary sized bunches, about six or eight inches in diameter. Price cuts no figure when the very rich want something. They simply give an order, and if you can deliver the goods the bill will be paid cheerfully. And often when fruits or vegetables are in season fancy, even extravagant, prices are paid for the finest specimens.

Sheepskin Denied Fair Kentuckian Because She Attended Hops.

Lexington, Ky., May 31.—College circles were stirred here Wednesday when it became known that Miss Saute Margaret McGinnis, daughter of Jas. McGinnis, of Danville, Ky., one of the graduates of the select Campbell-Hagerman college, had been denied her diploma by the faculty. It is said that Miss McGinnis repeatedly violated the rules regarding dancing. She is a member of one of the wealthiest and most aristocratic families of central Kentucky, and during her stay at the college has been the life of her classmates. When it became known that she was to be made to suffer for her indiscretion it cast a gloom over the entire commencement exercises, and the usual amount of gaiety was lacking. President B. C. Hagerman, of the college, said the young woman willfully violated the rules of the college and that she had been warned time and again that unless there was a decided change she would have to suffer the consequences. Notwithstanding these repeated warnings, it is said, the young woman continued to attend hops and other amusements and dance with the young men, and as a result she returned to her home in Danville minus her much-coveted "sheepskin." Through Attorney David Hunter Miss McGinnis Wednesday night announced that she will file suit to compel delivery of her diploma and also sue the faculty for damages.

VACANT LOT

In a Cemetery Was Advertised For Sale Along With a Monument.

Owensboro, Ky., June 2.—"For Sale"—Vacant extra lot in Elmwood cemetery, 10 by 20 feet, with monument that cost $335, sufficient space on monument for several inscriptions, at a bargain for quick sale. J. Q. Haynes. This brief want ad. in a local paper has caused one of Owensboro's capitalists no end of annoyances and he has received letters from all over the country making inquiries concerning his plot of real estate and tombstone. Mr. Haynes owns a lot in Imwood adjoining the lot in which his father is buried. There is a large tombstone, which partially covers both lots. There is an inscription on the tombstone on the side which covers the father's grave, but on the side of the monument on the vacant lot there is no marking. Mr. Haynes was desirous of purchasing another lot, and he inserted the preceding ad. in an Owensboro paper. Friday night he said that he had no intention of selling the monument, and would not part with it for any sum of money. He says he was worried to such an extent that he had the advertisement taken from the paper.

INNOCENT MAN

Convicted of a Crime, Court Finds, and Rules to Set Him Free.

Frankfort, Ky., May 31.—The court of appeals Wednesday reversed the Campbell circuit court in the case of Arthur Westrup against the commonwealth and directed that the court give a peremptory instruction to find him not guilty. Westrup's wife died in childbirth in February, 1905, having refused to ask a physician's advice because of his prejudice against the doctor, and because she relied on a formula in a book to pull her through. Eventually her husband sent for a doctor and did all he could to save his wife, but she died. He was for some reason indicted and given an eight months' jail sentence on the charge of involuntary manslaughter, committed by allowing his wife to die for lack of medical assistance. The court here says what Westrup did was greatly to his credit and that the verdict was flagrantly contrary to the evidence.

OLD ASHLAND DISTRICT.

Candidate Will Be Named to Succeed Congressman South Trimble.

Frankfort, Ky., June 1.—The democratic committee of the old Ashland district called a delegate convention to select the party nominee to succeed Congressman South Trimble, the convention to be held here on July 12 next. W. H. Kimball, of Fayette, and W. H. Swope, of Owen county, are announced as candidates. It is thought each of the nine counties in the district will present a candidate.

Bond Clerk Suspended

Louisville, Ky., June 1.—Mrs. Nanie A. Cardwell, who has for 13 years been bond clerk in the office of the collector of customs, is under temporary suspension pending the investigation of charges by the treasury department to the effect that Mrs. Cardwell has made careless entries.

Storm in Central Kentucky.

Lexington, Ky., June 1.—A heavy rain and wind storm passed over central Kentucky, doing much damage. Telephone lines were broken, destroying the connections with outlying districts. Trees and fences were blown down and many buildings damaged.

Fire in Dycusburg.

Kuttawa, Ky., June 2.—Fire broke out in Dycusburg, a river town ten miles below here, and destroyed post office, Clifton house, S. H. Cassidy's residence and tobacco factory, and swept the business part of the town.

A TERRIFIC STORM

Passed Over Louisville, Doing Considerable Damage.

Louisville, Ky., June 1.—A terrific rain and wind storm, which passed over Louisville Thursday, did damage approximating $50,000 in the downtown district, by the blowing in of plate glass windows, damage to roofs, the wetting of costly fabrics and the flooding of basements. The wind reached a velocity of 52 miles an hour and half an inch of rain fell in the first seven minutes of the storm. The wind came from the west and its full fury was felt on the river. Almost every boat was blown loose and some had narrow escapes. Serious damage was done to the Bull dam. The passengers on the ferry boat City of Jeffersonville received a terrific fright, the boat being blown out into the middle of the channel and onto some rocks at the head of the falls. The passengers were rescued an hour later, but the boat itself is high and dry. The City of Cincinnati, with a large number of passengers aboard, ready to leave for Cincinnati, also had an exciting experience. She was blown loose, but sustained no damage beyond breaking her railings.

St. Joseph's church, at the corner of Webster and Washington streets, was struck by lightning and damaged, as was the St. Louis Bertrand school at the corner of Sixth and St. Catherine.

SALOONKEEPERS WON.

Judge McCann Holds One Section of the Law Unconstitutional.

Louisville, Ky., June 2.—In the police court Judge McCann handed down a written opinion holding that Section 1302 of the Kentucky statutes, forbidding the sale of intoxicating liquors on Sunday was unconstitutional, but that Section 1321 providing for the general observance of the Sabbath day had been held to be constitutional by the court of appeals, and the court was bound by that decision. Judge McCann therefore dismissed all the warrants against the saloonkeepers arrested Sunday. He holds that if the prosecution wants to proceed against the saloons it can be done under Section 1321. The court holds that under Section 1321 it is unlawful to print or sell newspapers on Sunday, to work in a printing office on Sunday, to sell cigars, tobacco, groceries or anything else except absolute necessities. Judge McCann in his opinion also held that any person who following a religion different from the Christian religion, observes a day other than Sunday as his Sabbath, is exempt from prosecution under Section 1321.

COVINGTON MAN

Will Supply Paper For Kentucky—Printing Contract Let.

Frankfort, Ky., June 2.—The state printing board elected J. W. Hedden, of Mt. Sterling, as superintendent of public printing. Hedden is the editor of the Mt. Sterling Advocate. J. B. Flake, of Covington, was awarded the contract for furnishing the state paper for the next two years, and J. E. Hughes, of Lexington, secured the contract for the second-class printing, which includes county and state record books and all blank books that the state pays for under the law.

A Profound Mystery.

Lexington, Ky., June 2.—Profound mystery surrounds the finding of the dead body of a white man, apparently about 20 years old, between two trees in Feast & Paries' show grounds Friday night. There was not a mark on the body, not a scrap of paper or card in pockets and the trade mark had been cut from his clothing. One hand clutched a handkerchief. Local police do not know the man and the show company says he is not one of them.

Four Were Spilled.

Lexington, Ky., May 31.—While returning to this city Wednesday morning in an automobile Albert Brent, Hughes Bronston, Lewis Brown and Guy Warren all received more or less serious injuries. The machine was running at a high rate of speed when some of the machinery broke and threw the car onto the railway tracks, dumping all of the passengers.

ELEVEN MEET QUICK DEATH.

Electric Car Overtakes While Round-ing a Curve at High Speed.

Providence, R. I.—Eleven persons are dead, a score seriously and many others slightly injured as the result of overturning of a crowded electric car at Moore's Corner, in East Providence, early this morning. More than one hundred young men and women who had spent the evening at Crescent Park, six miles below the city, were on a chartered car, returning to this city. It is believed that two of the injured will die.

The motorman was unfamiliar with the road over which he was traveling. The car, an open one, was of heavy build and was crowded. Fog prevented a clear view of the road ahead, and the motorman, unable to see far ahead and unaware of the sharp curve below, allowed the car to coast rapidly down the hill. Suddenly he felt the car swinging to the curve, and realizing the peril, applied the brakes and reversed the power, but the car was thrown twenty feet from the track.

Seven passengers were pinned beneath the car and instantly killed. Those who were able began the work of rescue. A large joist was used as a lever, a pile of stones forming a fulcrum, and the car was raised from the ground just enough to permit the escape of the imprisoned passengers. Two persons had succeeded in escaping when the joist broke under the weight of the car, and the heavy vehicle fell back, killing two of the injured.

The rescuers again raised the car from the ground, and by building a pile of stones, kept it in position while the dead and injured were removed. Two of those taken out, John Garin and George Atcheson, both of whom had sustained fractured skulls, died within an hour.

CONFEDERATE MEMORIAL DAY

Services at Arlington Cemetery—Williams and Herbert the Orators.

Washington.—Several thousand persons today visited the National Cemetery at Arlington, where with music and oratory tribute was paid to the Confederate soldiers whose bodies lie at rest beside the soldiers of the North. The exercises were held in the Confederate section of the cemetery, where lie 267 Confederates, who died in hospitals and prisons in the vicinity of Washington, and whose bodies were placed there through the act of the late President McKinley. The services were under the auspices of the Confederate Veteran Association of Washington, the Daughters of the Confederacy and the Southern Relief Society.

Music was furnished by the Thirtieth Cavalry Band. Addresses were made by Representative John Sharp Williams of Mississippi and Hilary A. Herbert, formerly secretary of the navy. A feature of the exercises was the unveiling of the floral Southern Cross by Miss Elizabeth Gould. It was the gift of A. J. McLaughlin Camp, No. 305, United Confederate Veterans, of the District of Columbia. An immense floral wreath, on which was inscribed the word "Fraternity," the gift of the Confederate cities of the district, was placed on the monument to the unknown Union dead, while a beautiful climax of the day's ceremonies was the decoration of the newly made grave of Gen. Joseph Wheeler.

EXPERIMENTING WITH TREES

Louisville and Nashville Preparing for Supply of Cross Ties.

Birmingham, Ala.—The Louisville and Nashville railroad is making an interesting experiment in tree culture in Baldwin county, which lumbermen and others who are looking far ahead to the time when there will be a timber famine in the South are watching with interest. About a year ago the railroad purchased 1,040 acres of land in Baldwin county and began clearing it off for the purpose of planting catalpa trees on it for fence posts and cross ties. The catalpa grows very rapidly, expanding an inch in diameter in a year and growing seven or eight feet in height. It is said that cross ties made from it last thirty-two years. Out West, where it is cultivated, large fortunes have been made in handling the timber, so it is stated.

SUSPECT IN BOMB OUTRAGE

Kills a Guard and Then Commits Suicide.

Madrid.—The capture and suicide at Torrejon de Ardos of Manuel Morales, the chief suspect in the bomb outrage against King Alfonso and Queen Victoria, adds another dramatic chapter to the incidents surrounding the royal wedding.

Morales was recognized in the little town of Torrejon de Ardos. A guard sought to detain him, but Morales, drawing a revolver, shot the guard dead. Then he turned to flee, but a number of inhabitants were upon him, and turning the revolver upon himself he sent a shot to the region of his heart, expiring a few minutes later.

Cotton Crop Report.

New Orleans.—The Picayune's correspondents in the cotton belt report that there has been good progress made by the cotton crop during the past week. Rain has been comparatively light, but sufficient except in a few instances, and all crops, but particularly cotton, have been benefited. The stand is good and the plants are growing vigorously. Although slightly behind the average date in the matter of growth, the cotton fields are said to be uncommonly clean and well cultivated. A fine corn crop is promised in Louisiana.

SENATOR GORMAN IS DEAD

Had Been Ill For Several Months With La Grippe.

FOR MANY YEARS LEADER IN MARYLAND POLITICS

Born of Poor Parents, a Page in United States Senate, Member of Legislature, Married Into a Wealthy Family, Then Senator From Maryland.

Washington, June 4.—Arthur P. Gorman, of Maryland, died here Monday.

He had been seriously ill with grip for several months, and his death was not unexpected.

Although not a very old man, Arthur P. Gorman has had a longer career in active political life than almost any man now on the public stage. It began in 1852, when at the age of 13 he became a page in the United States senate.

Was a Page in the Senate.

For 12 years from the date of his appointment as page in the senate, Gorman was connected in an office-holding capacity with that body. In 1866 he was postmaster of the senate, and was removed, and was immediately appointed collector of internal revenue for the Fifth district of Maryland. This office he held for three years, when he was removed by Grant, and went home to Howard county, Maryland, to run for the state legislature. He was elected, and re-elected to the lower and later the upper houses of the Maryland legislature, serving in that body for 21 years.

Married Into Millionaire Family.

He allied himself by marriage with Henry Gasaway Davis, the multimillionaire coal and railroad proprietor of West Virginia, became associated financially with Stephen B. Elkins, son-in-law of Davis, and otherwise built up the political financial structure which was his strength.

Goes to United States Senate.

He built a handsome residence and bought a large tract of land at Laurel, in Howard county, and raised up a large family of daughters and one son. He went to the United States senate first in 1880 and served until 1899, when an anti-machine revolt in his state sent him home. He bided his time, and four years later returned to the senate.

His Parents Were Poor.

Arthur P. Gorman was born in Howard county, Maryland, March 11, 1839. So poor were his parents that they did not even own the few acres which they tilled. His education was begun in the country school, and was continued after he became page in the senate by personal reading and study.

KILLED FUGITIVE'S MOTHER

Black Man Fled Into Home, Which Was Fired Into by a Louisville Mob.

Gibbsland, La., June 4.—Allen Turner, a young negro, has been arrested at Arcadia, La., charged with attempting to assault Mrs. James Barron at her home in Bienville parish. After failing in the attempt, the negro escaped to the home of his mother, where he was trailed by possemens. He was then called to come out, but refused, and the possemens fired and killed the negro's mother. He was then captured and later turned over to an officer, who succeeded in landing him in jail. Mob violence is threatened.

Old Engineer Wreck's Victim.

Deming, N. M., June 4.—Santa Fe passenger train No. 822 was wrecked at Nutt, a small station twenty miles east of here. Engineer Chris Peterson, one of the oldest in service, was killed.

Milwaukee Fisherman Drowned.

Madison, Wis., June 4.—Ernest Schultz, of Milwaukee, while fishing, sat on a beer keg in a boat, fell overboard and drowned in Lake Monona.

CHEAPER FARM LANDS

Southwest Offers Best Opportunities For Securing Homes.

Many farmers in the Northern and Eastern states are selling their high priced lands and locating in the Southwest. Many who have been unable to own their homes in the older country are buying land in the new country.

Unusual opportunities exist along the lines of the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain Route. The rich, alluvial, delta lands and river bottom lands of Southeast Missouri, Eastern Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas, capable of producing 60 bushels of corn, a bale of cotton, 4 to 6 tons of alfalfa, 150 bushels of potatoes, and other grains, vegetables and hay crops, can be bought for $7.50 to $15.00 per acre. When cleared and slightly improved will rent for $4.00 to $6.00 per acre cash.

Uplands more rolling, lighter soil, adapted to fruit growing—peaches, pears, plums, grapes, berries, also melons, tomatoes and other vegetables, can be bought for $5 to $10 per acre in unimproved state. Many places with small clearings and some improvements can be bought very cheap.

This is a fine stock country. No long winter feeding. Free range, pure water, mild climate. A healthy growing country, with a great future.

Write for map and descriptive literature on Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, Kansas and Indian Territory. Very cheap rates on first and third Tuesdays of each month.

Watson's Magazine

The leading exponent of Jeffersonian Democracy, edited by Hon. Thos. E. Watson, of Georgia, the Father of Rural Free delivery; author of "The Story of France," "Life of Napoleon," "Life and Times of Thomas Jefferson," "Bethey" and other books. Mr. Watson was the People's Party nominee for Vice-President in 1896, and for President in 1904. He is today heading a middle-class reform movement which is bound to sweep the country in a short time.

Watson's Magazine is not a Socialist publication. It does not stand for collective ownership for all the means of production. Mr. Watson believes in public or government ownership of railroad, telegraphs and telephones; in municipal ownership of street railways, gas, electric lights, water works, etc.; and he believes in private ownership of all industries not natural monopolies.

The middle class—the home owners, farmers, small business men and property owners—won Jefferson's victory in 1800; won Jackson's victory over Nick Biddle's money power in 1832; won Lincoln's victory in 1860. But such time after the flush of victory and died away, they became careless of their rights and went to sleep. They have slept a good portion of the time since 1865, but—

Watson's Magazine is waking them up. Another great victory is in the air. Keep in touch with the movement.

Quaint Modes and Other Modes of the Day

REMINISCENT OF OLD STYLES.

There is a pretty revival of certain good old styles, for instance the old-fashioned bertha or fichu is an article of dress that one can but approve. It finishes off the costume, allows one to wear a thin summer dress without the addition of a wrap. Most dresses look unfinished on the street if no wrap is worn, but the fichu takes the place of bon or coat, or whatever the frivolous pretense of outdoor apparel.

Other good points belong to the fichu; it may be added to an old frock and quite redeem it; it looks so modest and dainty, when made of fine lawn and well shaped; it hides deficiencies of the figure. Usually with it a deep girdle should be worn, a narrow belt and a fichu are not in harmony. It is very effective as part of a flowered muslin costume, then very like the gowns grandmamma wore, wherefore picturesque and quaint, giving the modern young woman some flavor of the stately days of old.

The Empire modes are assuredly quaint—when they are not impossible. And the mob caps, the lingerie hats, generally becoming as well as picturesque. By the way, at the shops you ask for a wash hat, and what are you apt to be shown? One of those hideous things of stiff frame, huge sailor effect, with all-over embroidery drawn tight over brim and crown, and the trimming as stiff and ugly as the rest of the make-up. If you really want a lingerie hat, you must inquire for children's wash hats; from among them make your selection. But there is a sufficient variety, a lot of pretty ones to choose from. I examined them the other day, and though depressed by the prices was enamored of the prettiness. There were big floppy piques elaborately braided, around the crown some soft folds of pale blue liberty silk drawn and a great bow a little to the right in front. Then there were hand-embroidered blue linens, their trimming white silk. Fussy affairs of chiffon did not appeal to me, I much preferred the kind that were really washable—having such a horror of unclean finery, which every fastidious person must have who lives in a big dirty town. The all-over embroidery hats were charming, about the edge of the hat a dainty fringe of lace. Then there were chapeaus of innumerable frills of lace, but they, too, belonged with the too-fussy. The summer girl is much more attractive in the simple and neat than in the over-elaboration.

How pretty she looks of a morning coming down the avenue in her tub frock of white linen, as crisp and fresh as can be. Her skirt is untrimmed, her waist a white tailored linen with lay-down collar, a handkerchief pocket at the left; the coat short, just to the waist line, the skirt sensibly, cleanly short. White shoes and stockings she wears, and up aloft floats a white linen parasol. In the afternoon this same costume may appear—for a white frock looks dressy no matter how simple—or she may wear one of those lovely new mixtures of silk and cotton, a distinctly 1906 product; the material comes in most delicate shades, and our summer girl wears this year only delicate shades, the streets are very gay with lilacs and pale grays, light azures and exquisite pinks.

Some of the Summer Blouses

A notable change in the lingerie blouse of to-day is that not a few are made with a low neck; even on the street one sees the Dutch neck, and even a lower cut. For house wear this is pretty, but not at all suitable for general public gaze. Of course with the low blouse is worn some ornamentation on the bare neck with tiny pendants here and there. The girl may have made it herself from some original design, and doubtless it was inexpensive, but certainly it was lovely.

As we said before, there are many ways in which waists are cut out at the neck. The one but slightly square is a pretty fashion; the one with a slight dip in front just below the chin, another style meeting with favor. The design shown here is that of a blouse with quite a deep cut, to be worn for dressy occasions. Lingerie blouses to go with accordeon-pleated skirts are a feature of the day, and gives daintiness to the jaunty costumes. A new touch is the introduction of lace under mull, the trimming showing through, looking shadowy and illusive, just the thing for the illusion-like waist.

Of course all sleeves are short, and the way of finishing the neck may be followed in the finish of the sleeve. For instance, a blouse with a square neck edged with insertion will have a puffed sleeve with simple band of insertion, the sleeve stopping above the elbow, having no frill at the bottom. The surplice waist with low-cut V is pretty, and becoming to the woman with a plump neck.

Many of the sleeves stop well above the elbow. One pretty silk bodice had a longish puff of a sleeve edged with rows of shirring and a frill, from inside the frill extended a close cuff of lace, the lace coming just to the elbow. Another waist had a similar sleeve, but the lace was omitted, the sleeve very short. Some of the blouses are accompanied by removable chemisettes; one may have at choice high neck or low. And of course this may be carried out in the sleeves, detachable undersleeves made use of.

Almost all the summer frocks for young girls are made with short sleeves. One pretty model has a rather full sleeve confined above the elbow by up and down tucks, the frill flaring being a part of the sleeve, the tucks stitched just so far. And becoming to the round, girlish arm is the puff with insertion band a little above the elbow. There is also a neat sleeve, a sort of Bishop, which is three-quarter length. The sensible, all-round useful shirt waist should be made tall or style and with a long sleeve.

On Track of Perfect Light.

The German chemists have been searching the very bowels of the earth in an endeavor to discover some material that will form an efficient substitute for the present incandescent lamp filament.

The incandescent lamp in general service is satisfactory as a lamp, but the amount of energy it consumes for the degree of illumination produced is all out of proportion. Some encouragement is to be found in the new tantalum lamp which has been discussed during the past year. This element is exceedingly rare and very difficult of manipulation, being fusible only in the electric furnace and being resistant to all reagents save hydrofluoric acid, which attacks glass. Many reliable tests made with sample lamps of this construction show a consumption of about two watts per candle power, this being less than two-thirds the energy consumption of the ordinary lamps.

These lamps sell abroad for $2 apiece, in comparison with a cost of about one-fourth of this for the usual lamp; nevertheless they are cheaper in the end, owing to the small energy consumption.

Another rare element, osmium, has been requisitioned in the hope of evolving an economical lamp, but this metal is so rare and costly that the lamps are rented instead of sold. These lamps have even a smaller consumption of energy per candle power than the improved tantalum lamp, but are very brilliant. In this country a new graphitized carbon filament is making commanding attention in the scientific world, and, while the energy consumption is greater than in either the tantalum lamp or the osmium lamp, there is still a wide margin between the cost of operating them and the accepted style of lamp.

Dr. Louis Bell of Boston before a recent meeting of technical men predicted that within a year or two the two-watt lamp would be a reality.

How to Break Up a Cold.

It may be a surprise to many to learn that a severe cold can be completely broken up in one or two days' time. To do this, however, prompt action is necessary. The first symptoms of a dry, loud cough, a profuse watery discharge from the nose, and a thin, white coating on the tongue. When Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is taken every hour on the first appearance of these symptoms, it counteracts the effect of the cold and restores the system to a healthy condition within a day or two. FIFTEEN KILLED

Strikers Attack and Slay Guards at Plum Run Mines in Ohio.

Steubenville, Ohio, June 4.—Fifteen guards were shot down about midnight last night in a fight at the Plum Run mine between forty guards and four hundred coal mine strikers. It is not known how many of the guards were killed. The guards who were not wounded in the fight are in the mine and are afraid to come out to remove or attend to those who were shot.

The miners, as usual, held numerous meetings throughout the county yesterday, and most of these were stormy, the leaders urging the men to remain firm. The latter have been in an angry mood for a week because their strike benefits have not been paid. As a result they left these meetings with a bitter feeling against the strike breakers and guards.

Soldiers have been ordered to the scene of trouble and are now on their way there.

Paying The Cherokees.

The Cherokee nation literally rolled in money when the $6,500,000 received from the sale of the Cherokee strip was disbursed among the tribal citizens. The per capita share was $255.70. The payment was made usually with two $100-bills, one $50, one $10, one $5 and 70 cents in silver.

The money was disbursed by Zeke Starr, treasurer, and Henry Eoffrt, assistant treasurer of the nation. Most of the Indians were in debt, and creditors swarmed in towns where the payments were made. T. A. Latta, who attended these payments, in recalling incidents lately said:

"Much has been told of the dishonesty of the Indians, but in this payment there were many examples of integrity. At Talequah an old fullblood woman, drew for eleven participants in the fund. She had traded with many of the merchants who sat at the tables between which she had passed. After the money had been counted out to her apron and, holding a corner in each hand, she passed from trader to trader, pausing before each until each had taken a sufficient amount to balance her indebtedness. Not once did she count the change or investigate the account. She was honest, and conscious of her own integrity did not question the honesty of another. This was only one case. There were scores like it, and, though not pleasant to relate, the confidence thus placed was sometimes betrayed. There are cases where the greedy creditor took a handful and gave back no change.

"When a mixed blood of some astuteness came to settle his account he discovered a charge for a side saddle, amounting to $15. He had not made such a purchase and had the bill remedied without trouble, the wily old trader merely telling his bookkeeper to place the item to John Doe's account. The bookkeeper himself is authority for the statement that in this way that selfsame saddle was collected for eighteen times."

Sore Muscles.

Prominent athletes throughout the country find that the best treatment for sore muscles after severe exercise or hard work of any kind, is a hot bath at bed time, which opens the pores. This should immediately be followed with an application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm vigorously rubbed into the skin. This liniment removes all stiffness and soreness and has become a favorite rub down, as it acts promptly and keeps the muscles in excellent condition. For sale by Haynes & Taylor, the enterprising druggists, of Marion.

Southern Men of Wealth.

Reviewing the wonderful progress made by Richmond, Va., since the wreck of 1905, the Times-Dispatch of that city says that there are in Richmond two citizens worth $5,000,000 to $10,000,000, four worth from $1,000,000 to $5,000,000, five worth from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000, six worth from $750,000 to $1,000,000, fifteen worth from $250,000 to $500,000, forty worth from $200,000 to $500,000, and seventy worth from $100,000 to $200,000, the 1906 assessment of personal property being likely to show about $40,000,000. With very few exceptions these men of wealth are Southerners who have made their money in Richmond since the war. These are interesting facts, but none more interesting than the fact that other fortunes equally great may still be made in Richmond, as well as in many another Southern city. For the most part, Southern men of wealth have succeeded against tremendous odds, hard to be realized by anyone who had not been through the battle. But these pioneers have really only brought the South to the beginning of its development, in which all its cities should have a share. The pioneers have wrought great work in demonstrating what Southern men may do with their own resources, but those resources for manufacturing, agriculture and commerce are in large part still to be thoroughly handled. The prospect is enough to induce Southern men who left the South to make their fortunes to return and cast in their lot with the stay-at-homes, and join with them in seeing to it that in all respects the South shall keep pace with its material progress.—Manufacturers' Record.

New Machine For Getting Out Tobacco.

The new machine for the setting of tobacco in dry weather was given a trial on the farm of Henry Berry, west of the city on Saturday afternoon, says the Owensboro Inquirer. The ground was in excellent condition and about as dry as it gets at this time of the year, and the test proved satisfactory.

There were about twenty spectators present, and although there was considerable trouble in operating the machine at first, it finally worked well, and most of those who saw the transplanting done by it believe it will prove a very valuable aid to tobacco growers in the dry season especially. About one-fourth of an acre was planted, and its future will be watched with interest, as the inventors of the machine claim that the setting even in dry weather will do better than when the plants are set by hand in damp, because the roots are not unduly pressed. It required three to operate the machine, one to drive and two to ride the rear of the machine to place the plants. A tank of water is carried, from which a small amount of water is furnished to the roots of each of the plants.

Obituary.

The death angel has come again. This time he took from Mr. and Mrs. Press Belt their daughter, Elsie. She was born March 23d, 1892, and died April 1st, 1906. Dear little Elsie has gone from earth to glory to live forever more, but her leaving has brought a deep sorrow to our hearts and leaves a void that can't be restored on earth, but we must so live as to have that void again woven in heaven, never more to be broken. Sleep, Elsie, sleep, and pass the time away. We must sleep the sleep you are sleeping before we can see your sweet face again. To know Elsie was to love her. It was sad when she closed her sparkling eyes in death. Medical skill and tender nursing strove to save her life and many prayers went up that her days might be prolonged, but it was God's will to call her to brighter scenes of the upper world.

Weep not; she has gone to rest. With angels in heaven—God knows best. The sting of death now has past, And she has reached her happy home at last.

Wants Picture Papers.

We insert the following squib from a well known citizen of the Tribune neighborhood which is rather expressive. If the well known citizen's pseudonym does not thoroughly hide his identity we will certainly be sufficiently sorry and will then proceed to beg the pardon of said well known citizen.

Dear Editor: Please send me per Silas Guess, to-morrow morning, to wit: one half dozen papers, with pictures in—or any thing you can concur that will divert my attention from brooding over the late "show."

To see it—I was curious. I saw it—and was furious. Because—the thing was spurious; And—"That's no lie."

With kindest regards, and profoundest respect imaginable,—believe me—Yours Truly, O. G. WHILLIKINS.

Unknown Friends.

There are many people who have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with splendid results, but who are unknown because they have hesitated about giving a testimonial of their experience for publication. It is a good medicine to have in the home and is widely known for its cures of diarrhoea and all forms of bowel trouble. For sale by Haynes & Taylor, the enterprising druggists, of Marion.
