BEING MARRIED

A wedding anniversary of more than three scores of years was celebrated at the home of Mrs. C. H. Merkle of Washington, Ill., when Rev. George W. Ireland, jr., and Miss May M. Brown were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. J. Woods of Rock Island, Ill.

AFTER LONG YEARS

The Norsemen and Scandanavian Club of this city held a meeting for the purpose of hearing a paper on the 'Grippe' by Dr. R. H. Mills, the club's medical advisor. The meeting was attended by a large number of members and guests. Dr. Mills discussed the cause and treatment of the disease, and gave valuable information on how to prevent its spread. The club's plans for future events were also discussed.

PREPARED FOR THE CORONATION

A magnificent demonstration of the power of the new royal couple was seen in the pages of the New York Times. The paper reported that the coronation would be a magnificent affair, with the queen to wear a crown of jewels worth millions of dollars. The Times also reported that the queen would be accompanied by her consort, who would wear a suit of armor weighing several hundred pounds.

ANCIENT CITY CROWDED

The old city of Rome was crowded with tourists, many of whom were there to witness the ancient ruins. The tourists were guided by guides who were well-versed in the history of the city.

NARLY COST TWO LIVES

Although of Delhi, India, the New York Times reported that two lives were nearly lost due to a fire in a building in downtown Chicago. The fire was caused by a short circuit in an electric wire, and it quickly spread to the adjacent buildings.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS

The League of Nations was established in 1920, with the aim of promoting world peace. It was created by the Treaty of Versailles, which was signed in 1919, after World War I. The league was created to prevent future wars by promoting international cooperation and understanding.

POISONED BOLSUGAS

A bill to direct the Board of Education to establish a system of public schools in the city was introduced. The bill was sponsored by Rep. John Smith, who argued that the city needed a better system of public schools.

CONGRESSMAN LEAST DIES OF HIS INJURIES

The Times reported that Rep. John Doe, who was injured in a car accident, has died from his injuries. The congressman had been in critical condition for several days, and his family had been watching him closely.

DEAD!

DROPPED DEAD!

You pick up a paper each day for two blocks north of Main Street, where you shop for groceries, and suddenly there is a story that makes you stop in your tracks. It's not just any story, but a story about a murder. The victim is a prominent local politician, and the suspect is none other than the mayor of the city. The crime has shocked the entire community, and everyone is trying to figure out what could have happened.

The victim, a popular and respected figure in the community, was found dead in his home last night. He had been shot multiple times, and there were no signs of struggle. The police are currently investigating the case, but so far they have little information to go on.

John D. Smith, the owner of the local newspaper, is running a story about the murder on his front page tonight. He has interviewed witnesses and sources close to the victim, and is trying to piece together what happened.

"It's a tragic event," Smith said. "The community is in shock. We're all trying to figure out what could have motivated someone to do this.

The police are doing everything they can to solve the case, and we'll keep you updated as soon as we have more information."
