"If you weren't drunk," replied the down." Andruss was not drunk, and the passengers who knew him knew that he was not. Andruss therefore called upon the citizens for aid. The citizens, many of them members of the society, started in to render it. But the young man was himself. He parried blows and tripped up men wth wonderful impartiality. He seemed to enjoy the thing. But they were too much tor him. Finally he had to yield. They pushed him up into the corner of the car, and a half dozen men seized him.

As they hustled him out of the car he shouted out to somebody in a loud voice, But the crowd never heeded his cries. They hauled him out and down the steps, and the car went on.

As it went on, the young lady, who had been in a great state of excitement, now burst into tears and uttered incoherent things.

As for Trevelyan, he was locked up overnight, and every anti-masher and promoter of propriety promised to be or hand to prosecute him in the morning. "You fellows will be sorry over this,"

he said, as he was led downstairs. The next morning Andruss and his followers were all on hand. As this was a very flagrant case, Andruss on his way down had called upon the Rev. Jonathan Boggs, a new clergyman in the city, who was interested in the movement. Mr. Boggs' sermons were always up to date, and Mr. Andruss knew he all about it.

letter from Ottawa, Canada, tates that the question of reciprocrity between Canada and the Unite. States is by no means dead, as was clearly shown by the recent debate on the Canadian budget in a number of speeches, which, while they admitted that the United States did not appear to care for reciprocity, it would if it could be brought about on mutually advantageous terms, se a good thing for both sides of the line. Many of the crown ministers and even Sir Wilfrid Laurier himself, the premier, and described in England as the foremost statesman in the British Empire, are favorable to Canadian-American reciprocity, if it can be had. Sir Richard Cartwright, minister of trade and commerce, said recently that there could be no better British policy than to do everything possible to encourage good relations with the United States.

Senator Lougheed, the concervative leader in the Senate, stated that he fore the succession of her husband to thought no higher work could be found the earldom she was Lady Brooke and by King Edward than to promote the good relations of the two peoples, and o bind more closely together the two Anglo-Saxon nations. REPRESENTATIVE MANN PLAYS SALESMAN AND DRUGGIST TO UNMASK FRAUDS.

Short Weight and Fraudulent Foods the Lure of Many Department Stores and Mail Order Houses. Honest Dealers Handicapped by

When the pure food bill was before the House of Representatives a few weeks ago, intense interest was displayed by the members of that body in a "grocery store" established by Representative Mann of Illinois, Mr. Mann had been given a special privilege by the House committee having the bill in charge to demonstrate the manner in which the ordinary food

But they were reassured by the "groceryman" that it was not harmful, for while it was called pepper it was nothing but ground olive pits. He convulsed the House when he read the price list of adulterants showing that they were offered to the trade for $20 a ton in five-ton lots, and that at that rate they were guaranteed to make the finest black pepper which, as everyone knows, is sold by the ounce. He made the statement that even the pepper berry itself was adulterated by a cleverly contrived manufacture of tapioco colored with lamp black. Possibly the most striking demonstration of the afternoon was one with a bottle of red cherries. These cherries, it was explained, were picked green, and that after being bleached out white by the use of a powerful acid, had been colored the brilliant red by the use of coal tar dye-e deadly poison if used in large quantities. Representative Mann dipped a piece of white cloth in the "juice" of these cherries, and it partook of a brilliant red as though it had just come

In many instances the counterfeit is merely American cotton seed oil-a wholesome and satisfactory dressing for salad, but it costs about 14 as much as real olive oil, and the American buyer certainly does not care to purchase a dressing for four times its actual worth.

To Whom Does Taft Refer?

Secretary Taft said of a certain domineering statesman:

"He fills me with dread. They quail before him. They can't call their souls their own in his presence. Altogether, he makes me think of a waiter I once met in the West.

"In a small Western town, many years ago, I put up at the Palace Hotel.

"There was no water nor towels in my room, and I rang.

"There was no reply.

"I rang again.

"'I did,' I answered. "'Well, don't do it again,' said the waiter, with a menacing scowl, as he withdrew."

Miners Return to Work.

Harrisburg, Pa., July 17 .- Operators and miners of the central Pennsylvania bituminous coal field reached an agreement today. The agreebitration and checkweighman's fund, and an advance of 5-55 per cent. on the scale paid prior to 1906.

The agreement affected forty thousand miners who are out in fourteen counties, and is subject to ratification by the district convention.

The agreement is regarded as a compromise, the miners getting the wage advance and the operators the open shop, arbitration and checkweighman points. National Secretary Wilsen, when asked tonight regarding the agreement and scale made said: "The thing that gratifies us is that it gives us the 1903 scale, and that is all we contended for.

The writer while pursuing some industrial investigations had occasion to visit a thrifty little city in the Southwest. MEANING OF HOMECROFT.

The word "Homecroft" has been coined by Mr. Maxwell to fit the thing fority of individuals in every com-munity. We are too near to see the "croft" means a very small piece of opportunities at our feet. We pass land farmed intensively by its occuthem over and leave them for some- pant but not large enough to yield him a living and constitute him a farmer. The Homecrofter, therefore, under the The twentieth century for the United conditions being developed, is a laborhours and at other times when they forced into some one of the street trades to help maintain the home. many more, almost two hundred in all, have applied for space. It is an interesting sight, and a poor commentary on our public school system, to see the wistful look of the children "not in it" as they watch the fortunate ones and inquire of the instructors as to Many children not connected with the school watch the workers and play on the grounds, so that it has become a children's center for the town. The opening of the garden school has aroused an interest among other private organizations in the neighborhood and the Women's Club of Watertown has established another garden school, also under Miss Hill's supervision, as is still another opened by the Women's Showing Social Science Club of Newton, whose garden is on Jackson Road near Nonantum. On the outer boundry of the town, the old Emerson Place has been purchased and set aside as a garden school for boys and even men who desire to do practical work. The plots in this garden are large enough to permit supply quite a quantity of vegetables. which each gardener is allowed to ap propriate to his own use. The only requirement is that each gardener provide his own tools and seed and pay sufficient attention to the instruction and to his work to keep his plot in fair condition and in harmony with the garden as a whole. There is in this garden plenty of space not taken and it offers a unique and valuable opportunity for any one desiring such work. The garden is supervised by a young man with practical experience in market gardening.

WEAVE BEAUTIFUL THINGS.

The weaving department, the only handicraft department as yet developed in the Gild, is supervised by Miss J. A. Turner, formerly with the experiment station for the blind in Cambridge. Miss Turner, assisted by her sister, has several looms already in working order and instruction has been taken up. The aim of the work in weaving, as it will be in other homecraft work, is not to have a weaving establishment for the production of goods, but to conduct a school in weaving and design where women in the community may learn to do work which may be carried on in their homes. This, as in the case of the croft work, will enable them to occupy spare time, which would be otherwise wasted or improperly spent, in congenial, healthy and remunerative employment. It is hoped and believed that such work will enable many women who have to supplement their pose in view. A curbstone real estate The Homecrofters Gild offers garden be forced into factories and other unincome to do it in their homes and not satisfactory conditions A system will be developed whereby looms will be supplied by and the product sold through the Gild. By this method expenses will be kept at a minimum and the highest profits accrue to the PLAN.

The movement is not intended to be an isolated one as the shops and gardens are open to any one who will use them in the right way. Mr. Maxwell feels that isolation has been the cause of failure in such attempts and that the people of the community must agencies, might also be brought me movement if it is to succeed. Here dustrious and ambitious new con again the scheme resembles that of to their farms and smaller Bournville. There, though practically all the houses have been built by the management, only forty-one and twotenths per cent, of the occupants work in the village. Eighteen and six-tenths per cent. work in villages within a mile and forty and two-tenths per cent. work in Birmingham. Fifty and seven-tenths per cent. of them are employed at indoor work in factories, thirteen and three-tenths per cent. are clerks and travellers, and thirty-six per cent, are skilled workers and professional men. By this arrangement a normal community life is maintained. The Homecroft Gild is being developed along the same lines.

OVERCOMING PHYSICAL

DEGENERACY. The Gild is not making the mistake of trying to make farmers pure and simple out of city workers. Such a hard and fast line between city and country will always lead to failure. Mr. Maxwell says: "Give the city worker a home in the suburbs, where he can have a garden and a poultry yard, and where his children can have sunshine and fresh air without stint, and you have largely done away with the terrible evils that are cursing the denizens of the congested quarters of our great cities-physical degeneracy tuberculosis, and social, moral, and political dangers too numerous to be enumerated." Henry W. Grady described the antithesis when he said, The citizen standing in the doorway of his home-contented on this threshold-his family gathered about his hearthstone-while the evening of a well-spent day closes in scenes and sounds that are dearest—he shall save the republic when the drum tap is futile and the barracks are exhausted."

The Homecroft Gild has other plans in immediate contemplation. Near America can take care of its hopeless thousands in the same way, first by putting hope into them and then by putting them where they may attain it. It is to the promoters of our great industries that we must look for help in great part, but public sentiment and sympathy will move the promoters and reach the problem. The Homecrofters Gild promises a start which ought to weld together the country and the city into one indestructible whole and, supplemented by proper charity administration and sane vagrancy laws, remove entirely the possibility even of a "submerged tenth."

Packing for the Town. The town parks, or the town village square are the lungs of

If the town is growing, it is none too oon to start a movement to provide for the securing of ample town parking. The land is increasing; when the town has doubled and has become a small city, it will not be so easy to secure sites, readily accessible to the people, without paying an exorbitant price. Secure first the land; it is not important that a large amount of money should be at once expended upon its beautification, possibly it needs but little, since nature may have made it more beautiful than can man. It is not necessary that it should be transformed into carpet bads of flowers and trimly kept lawns. If it affords sunlight and a green relie of grass and trees for the eye, it becomes a civilizer and an equalizer, for the poor as well as the wealthy, a resting place where a man may forget, for the time, some of his struggles and his anxieties in a contemplation of what God has made The park should be kept, in fact, as natural as is consistent with its use as such. It is never too early, however, building up of the community, when land values will necessarily increase.

This process has been discovered and elaborated by W. C. Darst, of Great Falls, Montana. Moreover the grower will have no potato bugs to contend with. He will have no turning out of the soil at certain intervals, and there will be no contest with grub worms.

The product of Mr. Darst's process is termed the "vineless potato". from the fact that, grown under the apparently strange conditions there is no surface vegetation. Because of business at the cave in the same line abled to produce at least twelve normal size tubers.

Mr. Darst has demonstrated the rapidity of growth and the proportions that the potatoes may attain by showing that in sixty days fifteen potatoes will raise a bushel. In the character of his experiments and the success that has attended upon them, Mr. Darst has the endorsement of Luther Burbank, the eminent horticulturist and bo'andst.

SOME NEW PARISIAN LINGERIE.

Colors in Blouses Very Fashionable, Especially the Delicate Tints. BERTHA BROWNING.

Didn't you?" In the new Paris lingerie, the ashion is to have sets of chemise, drawers and short petticoat of the same material and type, and all trimmed in the same manner. Nainsook and very fine batiste are the materials usually employed for their construction, the mode of silk underwear being for the time abandoned. There are two new fabrics called silk nainsook and silk chiffon, both cotton, but of very fine weave, and which do not lose their glossy appearance in washing. These materials have much the appearance of silk and in garments made of them lace is profusely used. The lace composes much of the upper portion of the chemise and the sleeves which are of bell shape reaching al-

A pretty finishing to take the place of sleeves and shoulder parts on a garment to be worn with decollette dress, consists of ribbons which tie on the shoulders and may be untied and slipped beneath the bodice when worn with the evening gown. The Japanese nightgown of quite cose cut is a decided novelty. This has rows of little tucks descending from the shoulder and extending half way down the figure. A double band of insertion starts at the foot of the gown, passes by the side of the tucks over the right shoulder and around the neck at the back, meeting in the centre of the front at the waistline. The sleeves are loose and flowing as befits a garment of this nature. Few nightdresses have collars, most of them being finished with straight

These are entire y accordeon pleated, except for a por on of the sleeve. Lace and insertion urround the throat, and for those of Empire cut, a band of the same marks the high waistline in back and in front rises over the bust to be fastened with ribbons. Another new comer is the blouse waistcoat of embroidered linen, batiste or mousseline de soie. This is made without sleeves and drawn in about the waist with a tape to adjust the fulness in front. These are designed to be worn with lingerie suits of which a long or short jacket forms a part.

Lingerie petticoats are of increasing daintiness. They are for the most part elaborately trimmed, the top portion being of sheath-like cut and fitting without a bit of fulness. They are completed with broad flounces of tucks, embroidery and lace. Some of these flounces show several frillings of lace or embroidery, while others are elaborate with hand-embroidered designs.

A BECOMING DRESSING SACK

Designed by BERTHA BROWNING.

Simplicity is a great factor in the designing of beautiful apparel. Some of the most attractive gowns are aimost unadorned. Here is sketched a little dressing sack of white Swiss lined with pale blue, while the only decoration consists in the French knots of blue adorning the front facing, cuffs and belt. Four small tucks provide an extra fullness over the bust, the fullness being then drawn down trimly into the belt. A simulated box pleat relieves the back from too much plainness. The design is excellest for home construction, as so little labor is involved in the making. As to materials,—lawn, dimity, a soft silk or cheftis may serve. In the medium size 3½ yards of 36-inch material are needed.

know that it can be stopped with Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills; and without any bad aftereffects, and this without danger of forming a drug habit or having your stomach disarranged. They positively contain no opium, morphine, cocaine, chloral, ether or chloroform in any form. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain, and leave only a sense of relief. The reason for this is explained by the fact that headache comes from tired, irritable, turbulent, over-taxed brain nerves. Anti-Pain Pills soothe and strengthen these nerves, thus removing the cause. They are harmless when taken as directed.

"We use Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for the cure of headache, and we think that there is nothing that will equal them. They will cure the severest spell of nervous or sick headache in a very few minutes. I headache in a very few minutes. I am of a nervous temperament, and occasionally have spells when my nerves seem to be completely exhausted, and I tremble so I can scarcely contain myself. At these times I always take the Anti-Pain Pills, and they quiet me right away. It is remarkable what a soothing effect they have upon the nerves."

MRS. F. E. KARL, Detroit, Mich. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first package will benefit. If it falls, he will return your money. 25 doses. 25 cents. Never sold in bulk. Old Hatchet Found.

Barboursville, Ky., July 18 .-- A hatchet with which it is supposed Daniel Boone blazed his way thro' the Kentucky mountains was discovered three miles from here Sunday, and is now on display at a local bank. The instrument was discovered by a farmer named Betts, who found it in the top of a high walnut tree, which he had cut down. The tree had been dead for twelve years. The hatchet had been hung in the fork s of a limb and was almost eneased in the wood of the tree. The handle had almost decayed.

Within a hundred feet of where the hatchet was found was formerly rock cliff, on which the name of Boone was engraved. It is believed the hatchet was hung in the forks If I were a bit of sunshine, of the walnut bush by Boone and forgotten. The limb which encased I'd touch you in golden glory the hatchet was fifty feet from the ground. The instrument, because of Primary Department its crudeness and probable history is attracting much attention.

A Modern Miracle.

"Truly miraculous seemed the recovery of Mrs. Holt of this place. writes J. O. R. Hooper, Woodford. fenn., "she was so wasted by coughing up pus from her lungs. Doctors declared her end so near that her Ross Crane-Cartoonist family had watched by her bed-side forty-eight hours; when, at my urgent request Dr. King's New Discovery was given her, with the astonishing result that improvement began and continued until she finally completely recovered, and is a healthy woman to day."
