Sorrest Road to Success Says W. H. Coghe

BUILD UP YOUR OWN TOWN

In a Place to Enlarge Enough for a Man to Make Money It Is Good Enough to Spend It In.

IN SUCCESS WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

Mr. W. H. Coghe, the prominent real estate expert, has just returned from a trip through the leading mining and building up towns of the country, and after an inspection tour of over 10,000 miles, reports that he has found that the successful real estate operator is one who builds up his own town with his own money and without advertising.

"We are proud of our special class of real estate operators who build up towns and make them into great cities," said Mr. Coghe. "But we have found that the majority of the men who build up towns do not advertise at all. They build up these towns by working for a long time at it, and when they have made their towns successful, they sell them and get back to work.

"The reason why the successful real estate operator is one who builds up his own town with his own money and without advertising is because he has a greater stake in the success of the town than any other man in the town. When a man builds up a town, he is not only building it for himself, but he is also building it for the people who live in the town. He is building it for the future, and he is building it for the people who are going to live in it, and he is building it for the people who are going to buy the real estate in the town.

"The reason why the successful real estate operator is one who builds up his own town with his own money and without advertising is because he has a greater stake in the success of the town than any other man in the town. He is building it for himself, but he is also building it for the people who live in the town. FISH IN RIDDEN BOAT

The story of how the owners of the fishing boat named "Knock Out" got caught in a terrible storm off the west coast and were rescued by the U.S. Coast Guard is a tale of adventure and survival.

The boat, owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, was out fishing when a severe storm hit. The waters became rough and the wind picked up, making it impossible for the crew to return to the harbor.

The Smiths and their crew were stranded in the boat for several hours, battling the elements. The U.S. Coast Guard received a call for help and dispatched a rescue mission.

The rescue mission took place in the early hours of the morning. The Smiths were finally rescued and brought back to safety.

The story of the "Knock Out" is a testament to the bravery of those who risk their lives to save others.

FAVORITE TELLER OF GRANDSTANDS

The State College of Kentucky will be featuring its favorite teller of Grandstands, as the college embarks on a new academic year.

The teller, known for his entertaining and engaging storytelling style, will be a part of the college's cultural program. He will be featured in several events this year, including the annual storytelling festival and the new Grandstands series.

The teller's unique storytelling style has earned him a devoted following among students and faculty alike. He is known for his ability to captivate an audience and bring together stories from different cultures and time periods.

MERCHANTS LIABLE

To Every Home for Being Under Insured.

President, July 16—There are plenty of men 20 to 25 years in age who are not insured for business protection, nor does the age leave as an excuse. The rates do not appear to be very much above the current ones. This is the time of the year to get all your customers to have their insurance arrangements made so that it will be in force in case of disaster. We have prepared a plan that will fit the local conditions.
